Taking Over All Bus Lines In Nation, Starting July 1

Around The BULL PEN
By Ray Camp
Perhaps... this should be called... The Ram Pen... today, for we are talking a bit... about sheep. But... we'll graze them off your range... for we remember when... years ago... sheep men who ranged their flocks... right across your pasture... and all about... were not so popular. But... those days have gone... sheep runs are fenced... these days... for pastures are owned... fenced against wolves... and to keep from having to have so many herders.

Leonard and Foy Proctor... among the biggest cattle operators in the country... are also considerable sheep men. A few days ago... they sheared more than... 17,000 head. Which is a lot of sheep... in anybody's range. About 75 men... 60 Mexican shearers... and the rest cowhands to herd the sheep in... sheared these near 18,000 sheep in less than two weeks... and that is stepping about, too.

There were two chuck wagons... two shearing crews... and each man shearing 100 to 112 sheep a day... and packing the wool as he sheared it... in sacks. Operated by power... the shears are always almost... gathered about a central wagon... from which the power comes... and the various drop-power lines gathered.

Shearing started each morning... after the dew had dried... by the sun... for a wet wool is never sheared. But the work went on as usual... and stand up to the fast pace that is set. Crews were fed... each having its own cook... with goat meat as the principal diet... along... of course... with lots of coffee... and the coffee is kept hot all day... and most of the night.

Each morning... the herdsmen would drive in the sheep... and then the fast work began. The sheared sheep were driven off... new ones driven in constantly... round and round... hundreds sheared per day. And... it took a good many railroad... freight cars... to carry off this shearing... from more than 17,000 sheep... seven to eight pounds... or more... from each.

Leonard and Foy... have their sheep... in well-fenced pastures... broken up into comparatively small ranges... so that no herding is needed... protection from varmints is no problem. Pastures are in an area... southeast of Midland... running in the corners of four counties... Midland, Upton, Reagan and Glasscock. They run Rambouillet sheep... a fine-wool, French variety.

Cattlemen have gone in for sheep... pretty heavily... last few years. But... on the other hand... many men who once ran sheep exclusively... later turned all their time to cattle. There was... for a good example... Uncle John Scharbauer... uncle of Clarence Scharbauer... and the first of his family to hit Texas.

City Trucks Ready To Collect Salvage

City trucks Wednesday will start collecting trash, salvage and scrap in Midland's Victory Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up, Fire Prevention and Salvage campaign. Emphasis by leaders in the drive is on the salvage and scrap metal collection. All persons should stack salvage material or scrap in one pile, and trash in another in alleys. The trucks will start collections Wednesday and another collection will be made Friday. After that date, any person having scrap metal or salvage material, needed in the victory drive, should call the city hall and a truck will be sent to collect the material. Waste Paper Not Wanted. It now develops that there will be no immediate market for waste paper, it was announced Tuesday by L. T. Boynton, who stated that citizens should place all waste paper to be disposed of with their regular garbage, and not with materials to be salvaged.

Unified, Duplicate Runs Eliminated, No Amusement Service

Lines Must Show Real Need, Report Percent Of Capacity In Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation took war-time control Tuesday over all of the nation's inter-city bus operations, ordering present routes frozen, competitive service pooled, and all express service discontinued. The order is effective July 1. NO AMUSEMENT RUNS

After that date, ODT directed, no inter-city buses may be operated "for the primary purpose" of serving golf courses, athletic fields, race tracks, theaters, dancing pavilions, or "other places conducted primarily for the purpose of amusement or entertainment."

An ODT spokesman said this would affect the bus service to beaches and other resorts provided the buses were used primarily to take passengers to such places. MUST PROVE NECESSARY

In addition, except for one daily round trip, bus companies must discontinue schedules which fail to show an average load in both directions of more than 40 per cent of the seating capacity of the buses used. Operators are required to keep records of passenger miles and seat miles and report to ODT any round trip schedule which fails to show the seating capacity requirement.

AUSTIN (AP)—Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission which regulates buses Tuesday pledged the state agency to enter into cooperation with the Office of Defense Transportation in freezing bus routes and eliminating unnecessary service.

Jap Premier Will Report To Mikado

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts)—(AP)—Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo was received by Emperor Hirochito Tuesday for a report on the war.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Japanese government may be preparing its people for bad news concerning the great naval battle of Midway. A Tokyo newspaper article, quoted by the Berlin radio, suggested that the Japanese are being warned that they may have to learn soon of the loss of important warships. Nowhere in the broadcast, however, was the battle of Midway mentioned.

So far as New York radio listeners know, the Tokyo radio has not yet said a word about the conflict.

Texas Mother Receives A Letter From An Australian Mother, Who Sends Good News

To these folks who have fathers, sons, brothers, husbands or sweethearts in Australia, the following letter should add much to their happiness, as it seems to be typical of the way in which the Australians have welcomed and are treating the American boys.

This letter was written to Mrs. L. H. Sanders of Coleman, regarding her son, Durwood Sanders, who has been in Australia some time. He is a brother of Miss Ruby Sanders of the Scharbauer Hotel Coffee Shop.

New South Wales, Australia.

Dear Mrs. Sanders: No doubt you will wonder who ever I am, writing to you from so far away. But the fact is I see quite a lot of your son, and I know you must be wondering just how he is getting along. He is keeping very well, and seems very happy. He is in a camp not far from us here. He is a lovely fellow, and I love to spoil him. He is awfully like my nephew who is missing in Malaya. Durwood seems to fill an empty space in our home. He talks much of his mother and sisters and home. I know you must miss him. Last Sunday he and three of his pals were home

Phillips No. 8 Well In Andrews Swabs Oil To Hold Short Lease

By Frank Gardner Oil Editor Phillips Petroleum Company No. 8 University-Andrews, in the West Andrews pool of Southwestern Andrews County, Tuesday apparently validated short-term quarter-section lease when it swabbed one to two barrels of oil per hour.

Production is natural and the well likely will get a shot of acid before completion. Oil still is showing a slight percentage of drilling water. No. 8, located 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 14, block 11, University survey, is bottomed at 4,460 feet in Permian lime. String of 8 5/8-inch pipe is cemented at 4,269 feet, permitting later deepening to the 7,855-foot Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, pay found several miles to the south-east by Phillips No. 2 University-Andrews, discovery well of the M Bar Ellenburger pool.

Another well in the area, Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A University, in the center of the south-east quarter of the northwest quarter of section 12, block 11, was virtually assured of Permian production when cuttings from 4,264 to 4,380 feet showed oil. Hole was bottomed at 4,430 feet, and 7-inch casing is being run to approximately 4,200 feet.

Atlantic No. 1-A Texu, scheduled 3,700-foot test farther north in section 9, block 12, is drilling at 5,861 feet in Clear Fork, lower Permian, lime topped at 5,500 feet.

Humble Deep Wildcat. In Northwestern Andrews, Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 H. O. Sims et al, deepest active test in the county, has passed 6,966 feet in Clear Fork lime.

In the Fullerton deep Permian pool of Andrews, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2-11-37 Ralph is drilling at 5,200 feet in lime, while Fullerton Oil Company No. 1-A H. M. Wilson has reached 2,250 feet in salt.

Texaco's proposed 3,000-foot test in Southern Gaines County, the No. 1 J. Bay Robertson, is drilling below 1,705 feet in red beds and sand.

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 Granberry, Western Gaines wildcat, was spudding Tuesday morning. In Southeastern Martin County, Magnolia No. 1 Earl B. Powell is drilling plug from 9 5/8-inch casing cemented at 2,815 feet. Present depth is 2,319 feet in anhydrite.

Cement Pipe in Reagan. Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 J. F. Nunn, Northeastern Reagan County wildcat, is rigging up standard tools after cementing 7-inch casing at 3,274 feet with 50 sacks. To a depth of 3,279 feet in lime. To a lime top has yet been picked.

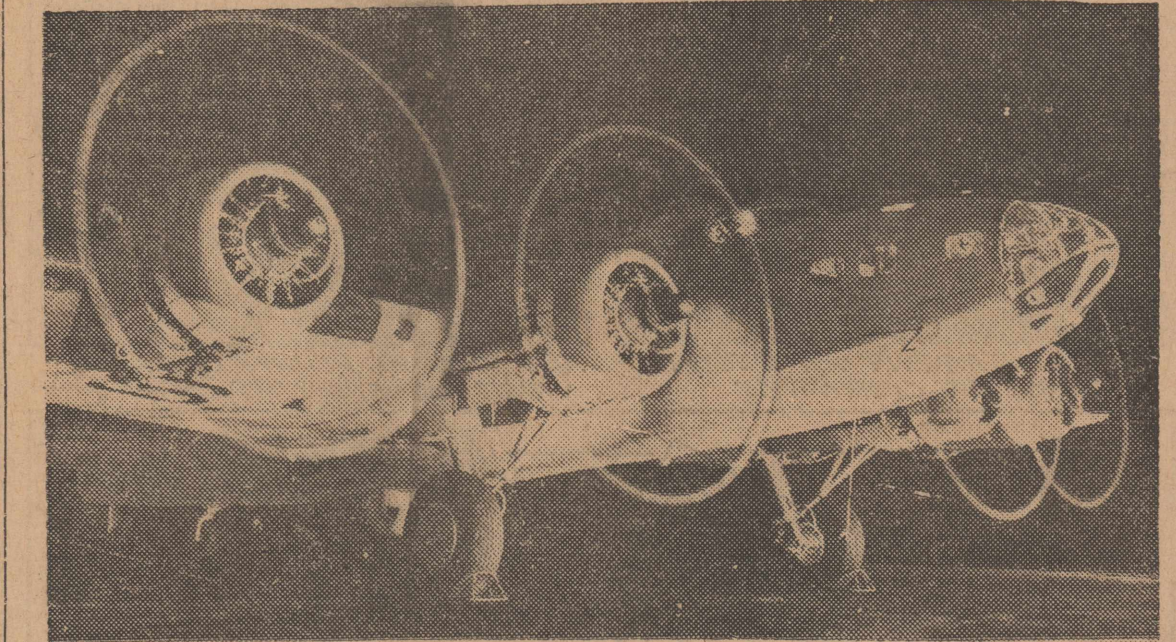

In West Central Reagan, Rowan Drilling Company No. 1 Duwan E. Hughes is drilling past 2,252 feet in anhydrite.

Gulf-Wentz No. 3 L. H. Miller et al, indicating the first Cambrian sand production in the State, is drilling plug with cable tools from 7-inch casing cemented at 4,355 feet in Cambrian sand. The well is one-half mile northwest of Gulf-Wentz No. 2. Miller, Ellenburger producer and discovery well of the Lea Falls pool.

Reclaimed Rubber To Furnish Tires For War Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate committee was considering a bill to permit the allocation of 3,500 tons of crude rubber and 85,000 tons of reclaimed rubber each year for recapping and retreading of tires, was told Tuesday that this would permit operation of "at least 200,000 passenger cars" to be used to carry workers to their jobs.

"I believe it has been definitely established," Senator Ellender (D-La.) informed the Senate Banking Committee, "that in order for this country to carry on its war production program and maintain a sound civilian economy, we must have at least that number of passenger cars in operation."

Ellender, chairman of a Senate small business subcommittee on tires, explained the rubber allocations would permit recapping or retreading of 30,000,000 automobile tires, "without in any way affecting adversely our war program."

Emergency Tire Promised Soon

DETROIT (AP)—There will be an "emergency" or "interim" automobile tire, designed to keep most of America's motorists in operation until the government-sponsored rubber substitute program bears fruit, if the combined technological resources of the nation's automotive and tire industries can produce it.

A spokesman for both industries, which are represented on a committee of the War Engineering Board, emphasized, however, that the solution to the present rubber shortage was not "just around the corner."

The committee, headed by James G. Zeder, chief engineer in charge of laboratories for Chrysler Corporation, has been exploring for more than a month all possible sources of relief for the impending tire shortage. Zeder said the tire and automotive companies have pooled all their information from many years of experimentation in rubber substitutes.

2 Navy Blimps Destroyed, One Man Survives

One Man Rescued, And Feared All Others Lost In Queer Crash

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP)—Twelve of 13 Navy and civilian occupants of two U. S. Navy training blimps were missing in the Atlantic Ocean Tuesday after an apparent mid-air collision.

The Lakehurst Training Station, where the blimps were based, said they were on "an experimental mission" and flying at an altitude of 400 feet at the time of the mishap late Monday night.

An officer-spokesman said it was doubtful whether any other survivors would be found before daybreak. He said all were lifejacketed.

Both blimps were lost four to five miles off Manasquan, which is about 16 miles northeast by air from Lakehurst.

Charles Watson, Jr., city editor of the Lubbock Avalanche, is here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Watson. He has resigned his place on the Avalanche, effective July 15, and will enter the Navy. He will be in Midland through Wednesday.

American Bombers To Fly Direct To Strike At German Industries

British Bombers Hit Great Factory Area With 450 Planes; Destroy Ammunition In France And Holland; Losses Are Heavy

By The Associated Press. LONDON.—Air Chief Marshal A. T. Harris suggested Tuesday that 10,000 bombers a night soon might fly over Germany and that many might fly directly from America "with formidable bomb loads."

Speaking in a news reel, the commander in chief of the bomber command declared the present massive raids on Germany were but preliminary warmups for terrific punishment in store for Japan. "One day in the near future, it might not be impossible to have 10,000 bombers over Germany in one night, including hundreds which could fly directly from America with a formidable bomb load."

Axis Defeated In Desert Push

CAIRO, Egypt. (AP)—Free French and British Imperial defenders of the tiny oasis of Bir Hacheim, which is fast becoming the new Tobruk of the Libyan campaign, beat off one of the strongest Axis assaults yet unleashed on Allied positions in North Africa in a day-long battle Monday, the British reported.

For the sixth straight day, the garrison commander, General Pierre Koenig, an Alsatian who fought at Narvik and in the Battle of France, flintily rejected a ceremonial Italian demand for surrender of the post, the inland anchor of Britain's Libyan line 50 miles southwest of Tobruk.

German armored units were rushed from Knightsbridge, 25 miles to the north to join Italian prepared forces and Axis infantry in the attack.

The RAF and German dive bombers fought hour after hour as the battle went on but the British Middle East command reported officially that the attack was repulsed.

Sevastopol Holding Against All Attacks

MOSCOW (AP)—German troops, tanks and planes pressing an offensive against Sevastopol, the fortified "August City" of the Crimea, were reported to have been repulsed in fierce battles in two sectors where they attempted to deal death blows to the Soviet Black Sea fortress.

The army newspaper Red Star, in the first detailed dispatch from Sevastopol since the start of the offensive June 5, said the Russians broke a wedge which the Germans succeeded in driving into one sector and hurled the enemy back in the other sector, improving their own positions.

WPA Money Will Be Cut In Half

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $280,000,000 WPA bill designed to give employment to 400,000 persons a month starting July was sent to committee Tuesday with a warning committee said it: the appropriation that a sharp retrenchment program was inevitable.

In an accompanying report, the committee said that the appropriation, recommended only two weeks ago by President Roosevelt, would mean a reduction of 575,000 persons from the average of the current fiscal year.

Tuberculosis Exams To Be Held Tuesday

An X-Ray unit of the State Health Department will be in Midland Tuesday, to examine all who may have had contacts with tuberculosis cases, and who wish to be given a thorough test. The unit will be at the present clinic, the old Heidelberg Building, throughout the day. More than 150 already have arranged for the examinations.

The free service is confined to those who are eligible for such, and any who are in doubt as to whether or not they may get the examination free should telephone the Health Office, 348.

Materials Arrive For Wall Street Paving

Materials for the widening of Wall Street paving from 20 to 50 feet from Pecos Street to the West city limits are arriving almost daily and construction work will be started in a few days. The construction is under the supervision of the State Highway Department.

Chinese, Japanese Fighting See-Saws

CHUNGKING (AP)—An Army spokesman said Tuesday that a Japanese force which penetrated the walled city of Chushien in Chekiang Province had been wiped out after three days of violent fighting and that the Chinese were again in full possession of the city, but he warned that China's situation in general "remains grave."

He said the Japanese were trying to by-pass the town, chiefly important because of its nearby airfield which is within bomber range of Tokyo, in an effort to trap large Chinese forces by closing a piners with forces 180 miles to the west in Kiangsi Province.

The Chekiang-Kiangsi operation is the most important Japanese land operation, but he also admitted that the invading forces along the Burma Road have been reinforced and again are on the west bank of the Salween River after having once been driven back nearly to Lungling, 25 miles from the river.

Let's Whip Japan Now

For five years, come July 7, China has fought her losing war against Japan without a whimper. Now, for the first time, she sends an SOS to her occidental allies.

Both decency and common sense dictate that the United Nations—specifically the United States—give China what she asks:

"First, bombers and pursuit planes; second, bombers and pursuit planes; third, bombers and pursuit planes!"

She doesn't ask for men. She has five million, brave, hardy, experienced, moderately well-equipped at long last, eager to push the hated Japs into the China Sea. She doesn't ask for ships. Apparently she is satisfied with the other material we are managing to get through.

But planes she wants—1000 planes, much less than a month's output of our vast aviation industry.

In sheer good fellowship, based upon gratitude for what China has done and is doing for us, we never can hold up our heads in international society if we will not or can not get a thousand bombers and fighters to China now, when her very life depends upon them.

But going beyond decency, gratitude and the finer emotions to the first instinct of mankind—self-preservation—how about making it 2000 planes?

Brig.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault, chief of the Flying Tigers, says that with 2000 planes the Japanese air force can be utterly destroyed. He may be wrong, but his record as both fighter and strategist entitles him to a lot of credence.

If again we send too little too late, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, Chinese spokesman, warns that "the immediate future of China is very grave." The Japanese three-pronged attack, designed to knock China out of the war, could easily succeed.

Thereupon victorious Japanese forces, which already have taken everything between Hawaii and Australia away from Americans, British and Dutch, could turn their undivided attention on Australia, India, Siberia, Alaska, Hawaii.

But if we send the planes with which Japanese air power can be destroyed, and five-million happy Chinese push 800,000 little brown heathens off the mainland of Asia we shall have Nippon on the run.

We shall have preserved the ideal jumping-off place first for air raids and later for land invasion of Japan.

We shall be on our way to victory.

Music Hath Charm

This ought to be good. If the succession of 1000-plane raids hasn't done the job, German morale should be shot soon after we start dumping grand pianos, E-flat alto horns, bell lyres, 14-inch Chinese crash cymbals euphoniums, picolos and B-flat trumpets on Berlin, Tokyo, and Rome.

The brass bands and symphony orchestras won't fall on the Axis quills in their original forms. Rather, they will appear as shells and bombs made from metals which no longer are going into musical instruments. They will be fabricated by skilled workmen no longer tied up in a desirable but not indispensable industry.

Now that the manufacture of musical instruments is banned, it is pleasant to toy with the possibilities. A plane equipped with precision instruments made by brass horn experts will tow a glider manufactured by a piano house. The pilot will have received preliminary training with blowers made by a pipe-organ fabricator. He will drop demolition bombs made with steel and copper, incendiary bombs made with magnesium originally destined for musical instruments. And charming music it will be, to all but the Axis.

Save Gasoline

Uncle Sam wishes to remind his eastern nieces and nephews—almost half of them all—that they are not obliged to use all the gasoline their ration cards permit. He promises that if they will hold back and save, they will not be penalized when the time comes to get new cards.

It shouldn't be necessary to remind motorists that waste of gasoline involves waste of rubber. Wasting of rubber is treason, says Donald Nelson, and we agree. Anyway, we pass on Uncle's suggestion.

Speedy Work Of U. S. Mission In London Shows That Dynamic General Arnold Is Running True To Form

He "Wants Everything Done Yesterday", And British Like His Work

By Tom Wolf
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON. (AP)—If faster, harder blows at Hitler is what the average Englishman demands, he couldn't ask for a better man than Lt. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, joint leader of the special United States war mission just arrived in London. For the head of the Army Air Forces is a man who refuses to believe that "it can't be done" and who, as one of his aides remarked, "always wants everything done yesterday."

Britons got a taste of typical Arnold action on the day he arrived in London. Less than two hours after he hopped off the train that brought him from a trans-Atlantic plane, he was in his office at American headquarters, up to his neck in American air operation plans, and arranging conferences with British air chiefs.

HE'S BEEN FLYING FOR 31 YEARS
"General - Wants - It - Done - Yesterday" Arnold got off to his flying start in 1911, a young lieutenant of infantry four years out of West Point—where he acquired the nickname "Hap" (for Happy) and an aversion to tobacco (because some prankster gave him his first chew just before a relay race). He won his wings—and U. S. pilot license No. 29—after two hours and 20 minutes of flying at the Wright Brothers school in Dayton, Ohio.

During the next few years aviation history and Hap Arnold were almost synonymous. He was the first flyer in the world to report and regulate artillery fire from the air; first air-mail pilot in the U. S.; first to fire a machine gun from the air. He would have been first to drop a bomb from a plane had it not been for the fact that his plane would not take off with both bomb and Arnold, and he had to surrender his seat to a man 35 pounds lighter.

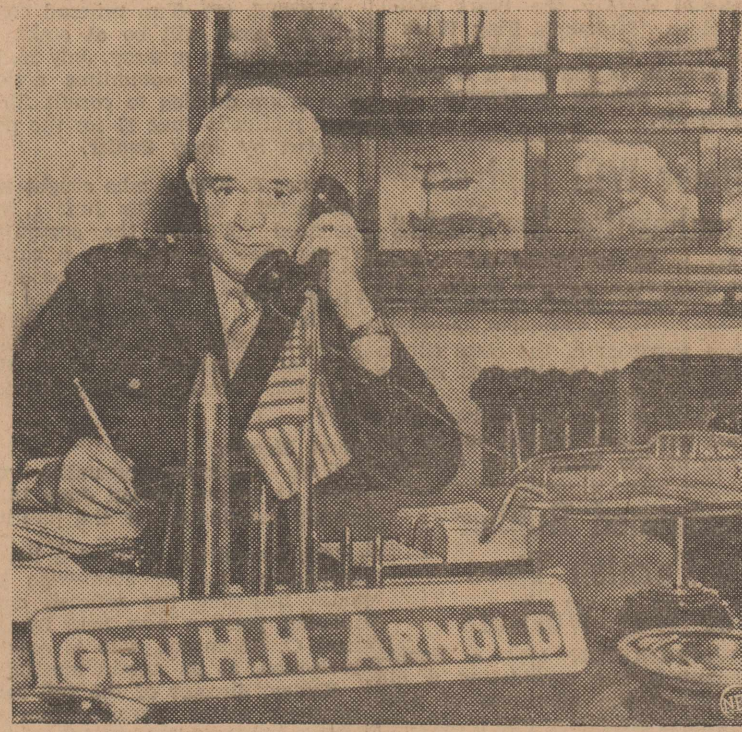

If further proof were needed that the Army Air Force commander is no arm-chair general, it could be found in the feats for which—a quarter of a century apart—he won the Mackay Trophy.

ONLY TWO CRACKS
HAP MARRIED CAREER
In 1912 Hap Arnold won the first Mackay Trophy to be awarded. Sitting on the wing of a 40-horse-power Wright biplane (whose propellers were connected to the motor with a bicycle chain and sprockets) he completed a 40-minute reconnaissance. In 1934 he won the trophy a second time for leading a flight of 10 bombers 9,300 miles to Alaska and back.

Today, at 36, Hap Arnold shows few signs of strain from a long flying career. He looks younger than he is, though his blond hair is getting white. His dancing deep blue eyes account as much as his smile for his nickname. A slight chin scar speaks of one of his two airplane accidents.

Having spent so much of his life at air speed, Gen. Arnold can't seem to adjust his pace to ground speed. "He does everything at triple time," said one of his aides. He has a gigantic capacity for work and an uncanny memory for detail. He usually arrives at his office at 7:30 in the morning, stays there for 12 hours straight.

The walls of his office here, near the War Department Munitions Building, are covered with pictures of famous flights and flyers. The windows are filled with black and white transparencies of planes, old and new. On his desk—where Billy Mitchell once worked—are two model bombers, and other models hover over the safe. Two clocks, one with Eastern War Time, the other Greenwich Civil Time, remind him that American planes are flying on many fronts.

URNS HIS PLANE INTO OFFICE AT HOME
In peacetime Gen. Arnold spends from 200 to 400 hours a year in the air. His plane is equipped as an office and a home. Bedding is always on board. And for a man who has spent a good part of his life in the air, Gen. Arnold is remarkably proficient in ground activities. He golfs in the low eighties, is a crack shot and fisherman.

Two of the general's three sons are in the army, and his daughter is married to a naval aviator. But before the war there was nothing he liked better than to spend hours in his wood-working shop making model planes with his children.

Gen. Arnold discovered many other abilities when he started doing things for his children. The flying stories he started writing for his sons' amusement turned into the popular Bill Bruce boys' books. And the animal cakes he made one Christmas to decorate the tree have turned into an annual institution by popular demand.

Today, of course, these hobbies are things of the past and future. Even with his great ability for work (he wrote his last book by working from midnight to 6 a. m.) his full time now is too little to do everything he'd like for the Army Air Force.

That's why, more than ever, "he wants everything done yesterday."

Dependents Will Be Cared For, Is Plan Of Congress

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Dependents of Army and Navy men had Congressional assurance Tuesday their financial needs would be taken care of, in a moderate way at least, by Uncle Sam and his fighting men.

House passage late Monday of legislation embodying the general pay provisions of a bill previously approved by the Senate put both branches overwhelmingly on record in favor of the same scale of payments, leaving extraneous provisions to be worked out by a joint conference committee.

At the same time the Senate agreed, 58 to 20, to raise the minimum monthly pay of service men to $50, effective as of June 1. The measure probably will reach the President for final approval late this week.

Disagree On One Point
On the dependents' allowance bill, the only disagreement of any consequence between Senate and House was over a Senate proviso under which the definition of dependency for draft purposes would have been broadened to include factors other than actual financial dependency, such as the family relationship.

Members of the House military committee, who have gone on record as being opposed to the disruption of established families, told the House the scale of payments provided in the legislation purposefully was kept moderate to prevent local draft boards from getting the impression they could draft family heads indiscriminately.

Scale of Help
The scale calls for a $22 deduction from the service man's pay, to which a federal allowance of $28 would be added for a wife, $12 for the first child and $10 for each additional child.

In all cases involving "class A" dependents—wife or children, or both—the deductions and allowances are mandatory.

Allowments and allowances for "class B" dependents, such as parents, brothers and sisters, provide for a $22 deduction from the service man's pay and federal additions of $15 for one parent, $25 for two parents and $5 for each dependent

How to Get More Light from Your Lamps*

Good light that permits faster and better work is important these days, both in the factories and in homes. Dust and grime absorb much of the light that is needed for eyesight protection and better work.

To get all the light from bulbs and fixtures, wipe them with a damp cloth regularly and dust shades. Glass shades and diffusing bowls should be washed periodically, especially those in ceiling fixtures that cannot be wiped frequently.

Floor and table lamps that are out of order usually can be repaired by an electrician. By adding a new, white-lined shade you can have an attractive and useful lamp.

Glamor's A Stern Master Who Forbids All Shirking

HOLLYWOOD—You can's ever afford to let down, especially if you have chosen glamor for your profession. Least of all can you get sloppy, leisure-time clothes must be smart despite shortages, priorities and other wartime restraints.

Patio gowns are being stressed here. Adrian shows dozens—full-skirted, aggressively feminine, patio dresses, almost all of gingham in new patterns.

As old-fashioned as great-grandmother's cameo are some of the patio and -at-home-slip-in dresses shown by other designers, worn by stars and starlets alike. Ann Baxter, above, right, bought a plaid of the real, Sunday-go-to-meeting sort for home wear. Of stiff rayon taffeta, it is silver on navy. The shirtmaker top ends in a slim fitted waistband and the full skirt is loose-pleated, falls to the floor.

PEASANT MOTIF CAPTURES HOLLYWOOD
The peasant motif is a "must" in Hollywood. Sheer blouses have captivated the town. Typical is the pert home frock of Jane Wyman, above, left. It is a triple-duty frock. The skirt is a floral print in brick red on black, its gathers topped by a moulded felt belt, piped in print and fitted like a cummerbund.

The dress-up blouse Jane loves is 1936—batiste and eyelet embroidery with a square yoke and lovely deep cuffs. But she also wears tailored white blouses with the skirt, and she has one brick red jersey, dropped blouse to change the costume completely.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett
A man ought to be just as leery of the girl that other women don't like as a girl is of the man who doesn't get along with other men.

But men aren't leery. Instead of steering clear of such girls, they kid themselves into thinking that the only reason other women don't like a girl is because they are jealous of her—and, believing that, they marry her.

Later, the men either realize they got a bad bargain or decide that all women are like the little number they picked out for themselves.

It isn't that men don't know when a girl is on good terms with other women. They know all right. They just don't think it is important.

But it is. A woman can't hide what she is from other women. If she is jealous, greedy, bad-tempered, not to be trusted or just plain mean, other women know it after they have seen her in just one revealing situation.

So, they turn thumbs down on her and let her strictly alone. That is why it would pay a man to notice whether or not a girl has any real friends among her own sex, before deciding she is the kind of person she wants him to think she is.

WOMEN CAN'T FOOL OTHER WOMEN
For girls are smart enough to appear to be any kind of girl they think a man likes. They can put on an act that would fool anybody—but another woman. And that is exactly what they do when they are around men.

But they can't put on a convincing act for other women. Knowing that, they seldom bother to try. If they do, they don't fool any woman but themselves.

There would be fewer married men with a low opinion of the feminine sex if men paid attention to women's opinion of a woman, and didn't always chalk up feminine disapproval as jealousy.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority
From Syracuse I went down to Binghamton to attend the Southern New York tournament. Arriving just as the women's pair game was completed, I had an opportunity to congratulate the winners, Mrs. C. M. Flaherty and Mrs. R. M. Devo, both of Binghamton.

Today's much discussed hand

Mrs. Devo	♠ 3	♥ A 6	♦ A J 10 8 6 4	♣ Q J 4 3
Mrs. Flaherty	♠ K Q 10 9 5	♥ 9 7 3	♦ 9 5	♣ 10 7 2

Duplicate—N-S vul.
South West North East
1 ♠ Double Pass Pass
Opening lead—♣ K.

was one that helped them win. Of course South's opening bid was a psychic, but North snowed through well by not taking out in diamonds. East was probably justified in passing the double, especially with North and South vulnerable. After winning the first trick, West shifted to a heart, dummy played low and East won with the king. She hesitated to lead a trump, for fear of establishing too many trump tricks for the declarer. A heart was returned, won in dummy with the ace, and at this point Mrs. Flaherty, the declarer, made a nice play. She led the queen of clubs from dummy, West won with the ace and returned the club. This Mrs. Flaherty was able to win in her hand with the ten-spot and ruff the third heart in dummy. Now the ace of diamonds was cashed and the fourth club led. East refused to ruff, so Mrs. Flaherty trumped with the nine-spot and led a diamond. East was forced to trump. She returned the eight of spades and Mrs. Flaherty was now assured of two spade tricks and her contract.

War Demands A Different Tune

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Production Board order halting manufacture of almost all musical instruments except violins, cellos and some guitars is expected to result in large savings of strategic metals.

The musical instrument industry used up about 15,000 tons of these metals in 1940, the last year for which complete figures are available. This total included 10,000 tons of iron, 3,000 tons of steel, 1,300 tons of brass, 375 tons of copper and 25 tons of aluminum. The iron would have made castings for 11,500 6-ton army trucks; the steel, 83 medium tanks; the brass, 49,000,000 rounds of .30 caliber cartridges; the copper, 500 155 mm. field pieces; and the aluminum, 40,000 aircraft flaps.

Railroad Executive Died In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO (AP)—G. O. Harris, San Angelo attorney and Republican leader, died here Monday.

He was vice-president and director of the Orient Railroad of Texas, district legal representative of the Santa Fe, an executive committee member of the Texas GOP and trustee and elder of the First Christian Church of San Angelo.

As patronage dispenser for the Republicans in West Texas, Harris named a score of postmasters.

The funeral will be Tuesday. Harris are first cousins to the weapons of destruction. An ordinary piano contains enough steel, copper wire and brass to make a dozen army bayonets, a signal corps radio set and 66 .30 caliber cartridges. A brass drum contains the steel for two bayonets, and a trumpet enough brass for about 60 .30 caliber cartridge cases.

SERIAL STORY

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

BY EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

HAPPY ENDING CHAPTER XXV

BILL TALCOTT shed his coat and cleared the rail with a running headlong leap. Down he swept in a graceful arching dive with the startled cries of passengers and officers alike in his ears.

After the clean, warm tub of the Caribbean, New York Harbor was chilling cold and foul. But it was water. He went deep, opening his eyes. In Anegada Passage he could have seen his quarry. He couldn't here. Kicking off his shoes he came up for breath.

The black head was bobbing a short distance away; the wig must have been cemented on. Webber-von Stampf was making a lot of motions but he wasn't making much time. There was a launch, though, that was taking more than casual interest in the proceedings. Its occupants were pointing and it began to swing in a wide circle.

Talcott went down again and shed his pants. When he came up the launch was perilously near. Its purpose was evident; to come between him and his quarry. As with three points of a triangle, with the apex moving fastest, the launch closed in. And then from the rail a smoke puff showed and a shot zinged the water.

Talcott went under. Kicking, sweeping like a frog. He felt the pressure as the launch passed above him, and then directly ahead he saw the Nazi agent's thrashing feet. He was almost on them when the thrashing stopped, and the feet started upward. With a powerful kick he closed in with a smashing tackle about the knees.

The other must have been taking in a mouthful of air when his hand was wrenched from the boat-rail. Air bubbles followed him down. His struggles were violent, terrified. Talcott rolled him over. The old game, water polo in the best accepted style. Swimming tank mayhem—his fingers closed in the waist of the Nazi's trousers and he yanked them to his knees. Then he came up beside the launch for air.

A boat was coming from the Blue Petrel, another from the Quarantine scow. Shots from the launch were being answered, with interest, from both quarters. When a yell of surprise from the launch announced that Talcott's presence had been discovered, he went down again.

HAPPY ENDING CHAPTER XXV

Constantine - Webber - von Stampf, he that could "come and go as he willed," was on the surface a short distance away, attempting to rid himself of the burgeoning pants. Bill Talcott gave him a new source of worry by hooking into his coat collar and starting to swim straight down.

Utterly powerless, the man who had offered June Paterson's life in exchange for paper, followed. His wig was gone. His eyes were distended in terror and great bubbles arose from his mouth. And as they went ever deeper, the ineffectual struggles ceased.

And then Talcott turned. The red bottom of the launch was gone; the white of the lifeboat had taken its place. Grinning, he grasped the baron's chin and pulled him to the surface.

WHEN Bill Talcott came up in dry clothing, she was waiting. And so was her cousin. Her cousin said something that sounded like "Beautiful of you. Couldn't have done better myself."

But that didn't matter so much. What did matter was that she sighed and said, "You are wonderful," as though she'd lost an argument with herself.

And although Captain Pringle and Leonard Halsey too had come up by that time, it was mainly to her that he said, "I suspected Constantine and Webber of being the same person when I realized that I had never seen the two of them at the same time. The night after I was attacked I came down from the boat deck and almost fell over him, supposedly asleep in a chair."

"He had come down from New York as Webber, a tailor on his first vacation in twenty years. Yet, instead of taking the trip through the islands, he stopped over in Saint Thomas. That gave him opportunity to contact Martha Swenson—Swantzig, his agent in Martinique. In order to check up on Struthers the pair of them had Jackson, the smuggler, drop them at Abas Island to give credence to the girl's story that she was a refugee. But the professor's being there just didn't click, and I'd have suspected him then if I hadn't had a few things of my own to worry about."

"You see, he had taken advantage of a technicality in the Federal Chemical setup, the business of having the auditor take over when a shortage was discovered. He worked it carefully, getting his operative in as Old Man Winters' private secretary; sending von Stampf down on a different boat to make contact at the island so that MacDowell and I could be disposed of on the way home. They wanted to make it appear as if I was so guilty I'd killed MacDowell and then jumped overboard to swim ashore. They killed Sebastian because they wanted him out of the way. They could brook no interference in what they planned to do on Abas Island.

"I have an idea what that was. I recall that at the time I thought it was rather strange Struthers should order 500 barrels of oil before he'd even set foot on the island."

"Exactly. The plan was to make Abas Island a base. Acting as conservator of the company's assets, Struthers could carry on the business as usual. He could order double the amount of oil and food he needed and have Jackson transship the surplus to raiders lying off the coast."

"Their biggest trouble was that they overdid it. Instead of making up some kind of a report which might have worried me plenty, he was so damned sure that Halsey would deliver the report straight to Winters' secretary he just filled the envelope with plans of defense works that had been traced in invisible ink by Martha Swenson—Swantzig. She didn't dare bring them into New York for fear of discovery, and Baron von Stampf could never be sure how long his disguise as 'Constantine' would serve him. So Halsey was made the goat, and when I broke into his cabin and stole the report from him, they hit their second snag."

"From then on von Stampf had to get me, but he had to keep me alive until the plans were delivered. His other accomplice, the steward, was in irons and he needed help so he made his greatest mistake by putting the finger on Martha Swenson. Even his re-appearance at the door as Constantine and his heroic disarming of her were unconvincing. She could have shot me a dozen times if she'd wanted to."

June Paterson murmured, "But of course she didn't want to. Not you, you big handsome Casanova!"

Bill Talcott flushed to the roots of his hair. "I've taken just about enough from you, young lady! I'm going to turn you over my knee right now!"

"You think so? Just try it, Mr. Talcott!"

Capt. Seth Pringle hooked his hands through Halsey's and Lowell Byrd's arms. "Got something I want to show you. He remembered suddenly. And then, when they were a little distance away, "Gosh, ain't they a nice couple, though? Just look at her

Cincinnati Turns Tables On Red Sox, Over Week-End, Moving On Up

Yankees Beat Cleveland In Only Other Game In Big Leagues Monday

By The Associated Press

Houdini at his best could not have turned the tables on the Boston Braves as swiftly and completely as the Cincinnati Reds performed the trick this last weekend.

Before Friday the Reds were floundering futilely in the second division of the National League and the Braves, who had been a bold second for quite a spell, still were holding determinedly to third place.

Then Casey Stengel led his band into an ambush at Cincinnati and in four days the Reds beat the Braves six times—lifting Cincinnati to third and dropping Boston to a groggy fifth.

The Reds completed their sweep Monday with a 3-1 triumph on the three-hit hurling of big Paul Deringer.

For eight innings the right-hander had a no-hit game and the only Boston player to get on base reached first through an error in the opening inning. Deringer finally was tapped for three singles and a run in the ninth.

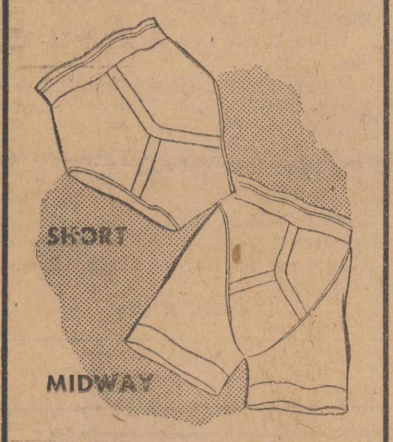

There was only one other game scheduled in the major leagues Monday and in this the New York Yankees squeezed out an 11-10 decision over Cleveland when relief pitcher Tom Ferrick made a wild throw on Joe Gordon's sacrifice bunt with two on base in the 11th inning.

It was a suitable payoff for a game in which each club used three pitchers and the World Champions made 16 hits and three errors to Cleveland's 15 hits and two mistakes. Cleveland could have recaptured second place in the American League from the idle Detroit Tigers by winning, but the Yankees made it their 26th triumph in 31. As a sideline, Joe Gordon stretched his hitting streak to 26 games and Buddy Hassett extended his to 20.

Apprentice Jockey Is Showing 'Em True Art Of Riding At Delaware

STANTON, Del. (AP)—An apprentice jockey who rode his first winner less than 10 months ago is giving turfdom something to talk about these days.

He's 18-year-old Eddie Wielander, who in nine days of racing at Delaware Park has brought home 17 winners.

Wielander has been in the money 35 times in 57 attempts. He has finished second 11 times and grabbed the show spot on seven occasions. In the 22 times he has finished out of the money he has seldom been below fourth.

"It's just luck," he says, "and willingness to keep trying." On Saturday Eddie was in the money in seven of the eight races and Monday he crossed the finishing line first in three straight races astride Neutrality, Steel Beam and Pointing.

Bobby Jones Try Come Back In Hale America

CHICAGO, (AP)—Immortal Bobby Jones, after 12 years of virtual retirement, will attempt to leap back into golfing glory in the Hale America National Open next week. Playing some of his best golf in a decade, as indicated by a par-slashing 54 holes last week-end, he's coming here to win, although he won't admit it. Observers are ready to tab him as one of the men to beat.

New golfing greats have remade the headlines since stocky Bobby collected his famous grand slam—winning the British Amateur, British Open, U. S. Open and U. S. Amateur in succession—and announced his retirement. The Augusta Masters has been his lone annual return to competition.

Army Musical Comedy Delights Audience At Yucca Theater

Midland Monday night gave "Three Dots With A Dash" the soldier produced and soldier directed musical comedy, an enthusiastic reception when it was presented at the Yucca Theater.

It was the gayest and most musical musical review seen here in recent years and netted several hundred dollars to the Army's Emergency Relief Fund. The show was produced by soldiers of Sheppard Field to aid the relief fund which is set up to relieve the strain of financial distress of dependents of men in the Armed Forces.

Tuesday the show moved to Odesa for staging in the Ector County Auditorium and Wednesday it will be presented in San Angelo. Miss Jeanne Madden, singing star of stage, screen and radio, was the hit of the show. The two piano-tone alone was worth the admission price.

Following the show, dance orchestras of Sheppard Field and the Midland Army Flying School played for dancing at Hotel Scharbauer's Crystal Ballroom.

Texas Amateurs All Set Qualify For State Meet

DALLAS, (AP)—Including two national champions and studded with stand-bys who have made Texas amateur golf tops in the country, the 36th annual State Tournament field swung into 18-hole qualifying rounds Tuesday.

Earl Stewart of Dallas, who won the National Intercollegiate title last season, playing under the banner of Louisiana State University, and Bill Welch of Houston, who fought his way to the National Public Links crown, were on hand.

Also there was Harry Todd of Dallas, who was the top amateur in last year's National Open.

Stewart was an outstanding favorite to bag the medal on the basis of his fine practice rounds. He had a 70 Saturday and Monday pulled five strokes from par with a blazing 66. Bill Roden of Glen Rose, a member of the University of Texas team, shot a 69, equalling a fine round Sunday by Todd.

Match play opens Wednesday with two rounds daily and with the 36-hole finals scheduled Friday.
