Increase Is Retroactive To June 1; Covers Up To And Including Second Lieutenant, Or Same Rank In Navy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A measure boosting the minimum base pay of the nation's fighting forces to $50 a month was signed into law Wednesday by President Roosevelt.

For most of the men, it means at least $20 more each month for necessities and entertainment on time-off, or to send back home to dependents. The bill carried a clause making the increase retroactive to June 1.

Jaycees Urged To See War Through

DALLAS (AP)—Problems arising from the conversion of business to war production highlighted opening general sessions of the Junior Chamber of Commerce national convention Wednesday.

Interspersed among the usual addresses concerning organizational structure were discussions of the impact of business war needs and of post-bellum influences on industry.

Immediately after registration of delegates, a forum was scheduled on "Internal operations under wartime conditions," with William Shepherd, past vice president, acting as chairman.

Speaking at a Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting preceding the national convention, Commander James G. Stahlman of Nashville, Tenn., declared Wednesday that "I'd like to see us level Germany just as flat as this table, bomb every Japanese city, chase the people back into the hills, become the greatest missionaries of mass murder in history and kill every last one of them."

Stahlman, assistant recruiting inspector of the Southern Division in charge of the Navy V-1 program and president of the Nashville Banner, urged the Jaycees not to listen to talk of a short war because "we've taken a shelling and you're nuts if you think the war will be over by the time Santa Claus hits the chimney."

Elect Stubbeman Lion Tail Twister

Frank Stubbeman, one of two "dark-horses" shoved into the campaign at the last minute was elected lion tail twister of the Midland Lions Club at its meeting Wednesday noon in Hotel Scharbauer. It was one of the most riotous meetings in the club's history, with dignity thrown aside for the election.

In an address, nominating J. Leo McLaughlin for re-election to the position, Stubbeman pictured the place as tops in the realm of Lions, describing it as the highest honor which could be granted a member of the club.

At the conclusion of the address, Claude O. Crane nominated Stubbeman and he carried away the honor.

The second "dark-horse" was Ed Prichard who was nominated by Boyd Kelly.

L. T. Boynton was nominated by Bill Collyers, Dan Hudson by James L. Daugherty, R. C. Harkins by Merritt Hines and Buck Harris by Berte Haigh.

Midland Merchants Promise 100% Cooperation In "Retailers For Victory" Campaign Next Month

One hundred per cent cooperation in the nation-wide "Retailers For Victory" campaign during July was promised by Midland merchants attending a mass meeting of retailers at Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday. The meeting was called by the Midland Chamber of Commerce and Ralph M. Barron, president, presided.

A plan for the campaign here was adopted and committees were appointed.

Paul A. Nelson was named general chairman in charge of the event. Other committees named were: advertising and publicity, John B. Mills, chairman, J. B. Hoskins, S. M. Vaughan, and Jim Allison; radio publicity, T. R. Wilson, chairman, Jack Daniels and Boyd Kelly; special feature contest, T. Paul Barron, chairman, John Casselman, C. O. Fredregill, J. C. Smith, and A. E. Cameron.

Midland merchants will join with other merchants over the nation in reaching the national quota of one billion dollars in war bonds and stamps during July.

Pecos Cambrian Strike Swabs 107 Barrels Oil In Four Hours On Test

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor

Gulf Oil Corporation and L. H. Wentz of Ponca City No. 3 L. H. Millar et al, Northeastern Pecos County strike opening the first Cambrian sand pool in Texas, swabbed 107 barrels of 33.8-gravity oil in four hours after cleaning out shot cavings to bottom at 4,406 feet.

The discovery well had been shot with 45 quarts from 4,378-92 feet, in the sand section. It had 3,400 feet of oil in the hole when cleaned out to bottom and part of the oil recovered during the first four hours of testing represented accumulation. Operators still are swabbing the No. 3 Millar, which is only one-half mile northwest of their No. 2 Millar, an Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, producer in the Wentz pool.

Addison Oil Company No. 1 University, Pecos shallow wildcat, is drilling in sand at 345 feet. Choate & Brown No. 1 University is drilling anhydrite below 850 feet.

Reagan Deep Producer

In the Barnhart Ellenburger pool of extreme Southeastern Reagan County, Ogden & Hawn (formerly M. H. Reed) No. 2-A University, has been completed for potential flow of 281 barrels of oil in four hours through one-half inch choke on 2-inch tubing swung at 9,142 feet. The well was acidized with 10,000 gallons in Ellenburger dolomite pay from 9,086 to 9,172 feet, the total depth.

In the same pool, Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-RF University is preparing to drill plus from 5 1/2-inch casing cemented at 8,900 feet. Total depth is 9,000 feet in dolomite. The firm's No. 1-RG University has passed 6,200 feet in line and shale.

Big Lake Oil Company No. 20-C University, Ellenburger test in the Big Lake field of Southwestern Reagan, is drilling at 6,535 feet in shale.

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 J. F. Nunn, Northwestern Reagan wildcat, encountered sulphur water at 3,435 feet which increased to one barrel hourly at 3,439 feet. It is drilling ahead at 3,450 in lime.

In West, Central Reagan, Rowan Drilling Company No. 1 Duwain E. Hughes has rigged up standard tools and is balling water preparatory to drilling plug from 7-inch pipe cemented at 2,881 feet. Total depth is 2,894 feet in lime topped low at 2,851.

M. & M. Production Company and Malone Drilling Company, Midland, No. 1 Goode, Southeastern Upton County wildcat, is drilling anhydrite past 3,720 feet.

Anhydrite In Cochran Test

John J. Redfern, Jr. of Midland, No. 1 Dela Slaughter Wright, Cochran County wildcat five miles northwest of the Slaughter field, is shut down for repairs at 3,695 feet in anhydrite and shale. With elevation of 3,733 feet it topped anhydrite at 2,210 feet, according to driller.

Stanford Oil & Gas Company No. 1 J. W. Hoppling, Lamb County deep test, has passed 9,100 feet in chert.

Ed McAdams and George F. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 W. D. Johnson, Western Borden County wildcat, is drilling at 4,928 feet in lime.

A scheduled 7,700-foot test in Southeastern Martin County, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Earl B. Powell, is drilling anhydrite at 3,630 feet.

In South-Central Gaines County, The Texas Company, No. 1 J. Bay Robertson halted drilling at 2,965 feet in anhydrite and is running 10 3/4-inch casing.

Arco No. 1 H. B. Granberry, Western Gaines County wildcat, is drilling past 1,610 feet in red shale.

Seeking deep production in Andrews County, Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 H. O. Sims et al is drilling Clear Fork lime at 7,406 feet; Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A Texu is drilling the same formation at 6,302 feet; Phillips Petroleum Company No. 3 University-Andrews is drilling in lime at 5,203 feet, and its No. 4 University-Andrews is drilling below 5,020 feet in lime. Memolia No. 2-11-37 B. B. Ralph, Fullerton pool northwest outpost, is drilling lime below 5,973 feet, while Fullerton No. 5 H. M. Wilson, southeast outpost, is drilling in anhydrite past 2,840.

Cross & Johnson No. 1 University, in the Mascho pool of Southern Andrews, is drilling at 1,975 feet in anhydrite and salt. Neville G. Penrose No. 1 University, in Southern Andrews' Siemonet area, is drilling salt and anhydrite at 2,280 feet.

A. N. Griffith of the Baroid Company will talk on "Mud Logging."

Two War Films Will Be Shown Defense Workers

Two splendid civilian defense pictures will be shown at the high school auditorium Thursday night, both of which are required courses for those taking the air raid defense work; and both of general interest to all who might like to attend.

The program will begin at 8:30, sharply, said Berte R. Haigh, who heads up all civilian defense work of Midland County, who pointed out that instructional value and the human interest of the films made them particularly valuable at this time.

"The Warning" is the title of the first film to be shown, which shows the devastation of air raids, and illustrates how the civilian worker conducts himself during an actual raid. Of great interest in itself, the film is also of great value from the standpoint of practical instruction.

"Fighting The Fire Bomb," the second film to be shown, is one that was shown before here with such great interest that many not taking the class work have requested a reshewing. It is, also, a required course in the class work.

Interest in these courses has grown locally, and throughout the nation, as air raids are becoming a stronger possibility in view of the turns which the war has taken.

WAR BULLETINS

MELBOURNE, Australia—(AP)—Australian Prime Minister John Curtin, declaring flatly that "Australia can be lost," warned Wednesday that if the commonwealth fell to the Japanese, Hawaii and the whole North American coast would lie open to Japanese attack.

LONDON—(AP)—An Italian naval squadron in the central Mediterranean was so battered and hurt by United States Army Airmen and the RAF that it never made contact with the Tobruk-bound convoy it had set out to intercept, a British source stated Wednesday.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee termed the maintenance of relations with the Vichy French government "desirable from several standpoints," including the possibility of enlisting support of the French people if a second front were established.

LONDON—(AP)—British convoys which fought through to Malta and Tobruk under heavy Axis and naval attacks delivered necessary supplies "at considerable cost," it was stated officially in London.

Scrap Rubber, Found Everywhere, Is Pouring Into Gathering Centers

Rubber scrap continued to pile up in a hurry here Wednesday, as the oil companies continued their search for any sort of scrap, accumulating it at the bulk and filling stations; and as the citizen continued his search through his garage, barn and attic for all old objects made of rubber.

Several hundred tons of the precious product are expected to be collected in Midland County within the week.

Farmers and ranchmen were appealed to Wednesday to make a special search of their barns for old tires and other waste rubber. One rancher who said that he would look about the place discovered that some old tires that he thought were gone were stacked with other waste material, and as he continued his search he found more than 100 pounds of good rubber.

Here in the city, men, women and children were ransacking their homes and garages, and thousands of pounds have been brought in Wednesday which were thought to have been permanently disposed of long ago.

Bulk stations are being used as cumulative points, as the major oil company dealers were a hard drive to uncover all old scrap. Fred Girdler called in that more than 4,000 pounds came into Gulf yards; Percy Bridgewater reported more than 7,500 pounds at Sinclair; Anton Thies reported a heavy amount at Conoco; Fred Wenple said it was coming in fast at Izagnolia; Dick and Harry Hinkle are having fine pickups at Standard of Texas; Ralph Lowe reported heavy intake at Texas; and Johnson Phillips has accumulated more than 45,000 pounds here, with more in Odessa and Big Spring.

Petaim Admits Is Hard To Enslave French Populace

VICHY (AP)—"Discontent is growing," Chief of State Petaim admitted Wednesday in a brief broadcast to the French people on the second anniversary of his suing for peace with Germany.

The 86-year-old chief said, however, that he hoped to realize his country's salvation "even after my death."

"Frenchmen," he began, "on June 17, 1940, at the tragic hour of the armistice request, I summoned you to silence your anguish so as to hear only your faith in the destiny of your country."

A year later, on June 17, 1941, I declared to you that the trail would be long and hard. Today I cannot speak to you in different terms.

He went on to say, "I do not at all hide from myself the feebleness of the echoes my appeals have met with... The workman suffers—and his enforced passivity cannot be taken for resignation; the peasant grows impatient."

Credited With Major Victory Over Strong Mediterranean Fleet

Strike Big Battleships Second Time; Turn One Squadron Homeward, Beaten, Torn; Convoy Goes Through To Tobruk Bases

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor.

Big U. S. Army bombers were credited Wednesday with scoring 35 direct bomb hits on two Italian battleships in the great sea-air battle in the Mediterranean last weekend and a British source declared the American fliers had so battered the Fascist naval squadron that it never made contact with a British convoy it set out to intercept.

"It was like shooting fish in a barrel," said Maj. Alfred F. Kalberer, who led the Americans on their first battle flight against the Axis in the Mediterranean theater.

One Fascist battleship was hit 20 times, the other 15, Kalberer said. In addition, a cruiser was set afire and a destroyer damaged.

Altogether, in this single phase of the running two-day battle, American and RAF planes left two battleships in flames, sank a 10,000-ton cruiser and two destroyers, and damaged two cruisers and two destroyers before the Italian squadron wheeled and fled back to its Taranto base.

Second Attack Made

Simultaneously, the RAF announced that a second air attack Monday night had resulted in another hit on one of the two Italian battleships set afire by U. S. Army and RAF fliers Monday morning.

An RAF communique said the battleship was hit despite a heavy smoke screen laid down by four escorting destroyers, which were also attacked again.

The communique said 14 Axis planes were definitely shot down in the central Mediterranean fighting and many others were "so badly damaged that it is unlikely they returned to their bases."

The British themselves acknowledged sharp losses in sending much-needed supplies to Malta and the beleaguered north African fortress at Tobruk, but said the results would not be disclosed until the information would no longer be of value to the enemy.

Circle Bar Ranch House Is Burned

Blondy Awall, foreman, was slightly burned late Tuesday when the Circle Bar ranch house burned. Awall was taken to an Odessa hospital for treatment.

Circle Bar is about 20 miles northwest of Midland and is a part of the C Ranch, and belongs to Glen McClellan of Lubbock.

Fire started with the explosion of a kitchen stove, and the house was totally destroyed, along with most of the effects of the Awall family. An estimate of the damage was not made.

M. A. Armstrong will return to Midland soon from Los Angeles, Calif. His father died June 10 in Los Angeles and interment was in Inglewood cemetery there. The elder Armstrong formerly lived in Amarillo. He had been in ill health some time.

Curtin Warns Australia In Grave Danger, That Japs Step Up Attacks

MELBOURNE, (AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin told Australians somberly Wednesday that the war news was not good, that "Australia can be lost," and that the fall of this continent would lay Hawaii and the whole North American coast open to Japanese attack.

In a radio address appealing for war loan subscriptions at the rate of $9,000,000 a day for the remaining five days of a current drive, Curtin based his statements on confidential official telegrams.

Axis Powers Win

He declared the Axis was engaged in three powerful separate thrusts against the United Nations an dthat each was of vital importance to Australia.

The dynamic operations now proceeding, said Curtin, are the powerful German onslaught against Russia, the thrust in Libya and the sustained and widespread submarine attacks on Allied shipping.

"Australia is irrevocably linked with the wars in Libya and Russia," he said.

Others Also Warn

Simultaneously in Wellington, New Zealand, Prime Minister Peter Fraser and United States Minister Patrick J. Hurley issued warnings against over-optimism on the part of the United Nations.

Curtin said that a complete setback for the Allies in the Middle East would gravely affect Australia because it would give the enemy command of the Suez and the gateway to India, leaving the Indian Ocean open for enemy approach to Australia.

"It is vital to the Allied cause that Japan shall not take Australia," the Prime Minister told his people in a dominion-wide broadcast.

"The viewpoint is now recognized in places where it is vital that it should be recognized.

"The war against Japan can only be won if Australia is held."

Doing The Impossible

Now it's an army of 8,000,000 men by the end of next year and a seven-ocean navy. Since Pearl Harbor $72,603,000,000 have been appropriated for weapons and equipment that will beat the Axis. That's the victory news from Washington these days. Production schedules are so huge that you begin to ask if all that work can be done, and done in time, even in the wonder world of America's mass production factories.

But when the first war schedule was announced after Pearl Harbor it seemed so impossibly huge that the Axis called it propaganda and said that for all our manufacturing skill and great resources we couldn't do it. You remember that schedule—125,000 airplanes, 75,000 tanks, 10,000,000 tons of shipping by the end of 1943.

Today our factories are turning out these planes and tanks and ships so fast that in many instances they are actually ahead of schedule. Proof of that is given in the stories written by the newspaper men who made a tour through several of the country's closely-guarded war plants. They reported some astonishing facts.

Liberty ships are now being built in 100 days and less, instead of the original estimate of 200. A factory manufacturing machine guns has doubled its production since February. The United States is now far ahead of the Axis in the number of machine tools it is making for use in war plants.

In almost every instance weapons are being produced faster today than most people thought possible only a short time ago. Big as the original schedules were, they are actually being exceeded. And the new ones will be exceeded, too, for our industries have hit their victory stride. Doing the impossible is for them almost a routine job today.

Inventions For Victory

"Never say anything can't be done. Say instead that as yet no way has been found to do it."

That's the advice of a man who knows what he's talking about—a famous inventor and engineer who has given us things like the self-starter and octane gasoline, to mention two of many. According to him, mechanical advances are being made even faster than usual today because of the pressure of war needs. Already we have new devices on our planes and tanks that enable them in many instances to outperform those made by our enemies.

We haven't stopped improving them and our other weapons, either. New war inventions are being produced all the time. More than 45,000 suggestions were sent in to the Patent Office last year by America's inventors, and 3,000 of them have been adopted to date. Some of these inventions have to do with new machines, like the outrigger tank that is really a rolling fortress, and the ground straffer airplane with guns in the belly of the plane. Others concern such things as emergency food rations and lightweight armored clothing.

The last war hastened the development of several new products—the radio, stainless steel, and dozens of new alloys and metals. There's no telling yet what things will come out of today's shortages and needs. Necessity is the mother of invention, all right, and she gets in some good licks in a country like this where inventors are encouraged by industry and by our traditional patent system that has been protecting their rights for more than 150 years.

Sound Theory

Recent Supreme Court decisions, notably that on the Jehovah's Witnesses case, suggest that we cannot abolish split decisions by changing the court's personnel. Nine smart men, well-informed and accustomed to forming their own conclusions, inevitably will differ often on moot points, which supposedly are the only matters which reach the highest tribunal.

The decisions indicate also how deep-grained is the American concept that the courts are not super-legislative bodies—that within certain broad bounds, the people must be permitted to suffer for the errors of their chosen lawmakers. That was the expressed theory of the "conservatives" or "reactionaries," who used to make up the court; that is the theory of the "liberals" or "radicals" appointed by President Roosevelt. It is a very sound concept.

'Exaggerated' Accounts Of His Death Bring Smile To Lips Of Bombardier

Probably no one has shown more lively interest in the recent news of Corporal Morris E. Petty's death or capture at the hands of the Japanese than Corporal Morris E. Petty himself, who is very much alive at Midland Army Flying School.

In fact, Corporal Petty reached home a good six months ahead of the sad tidings about himself. "At least I got home in plenty of time to arrange for my funeral," he says.

Corporal Petty, 21 years old, now assigned to the 486th School Squadron at Midland Army Flying School, arrived in the Philippines in June, 1939, as a member of the Thirty-first Infantry. While stationed at Manila he was a platoon leader, with the grade of sergeant. The Thirty-first, he recalls proudly, was a good outfit. It had excellent equipment and fighting spirit.

Little did he realize when he said good-by to his buddies last fall and sailed for the United States that in many cases it was to be the last farewell. Due for an honorable discharge, he landed in San Francisco Nov. 9. For some reason his discharge did not become effective until Nov. 26. On Dec. 2 he rejoined his parents in El Paso, Texas.

Five days later the Japanese struck simultaneously in Hawaii and the Philippines, but Petty was ready for action. The day before he had re-enlisted, this time with the Army Air Forces.

During the winter, while he was training at the Army Aircraft School at Lowry Field, Denver, Petty impatiently followed radio and news accounts of his former command's heroic battle against the Philippine invaders. Then came the siege on Bataan and the desperate last stand. The last radio report that mentioned the Thirty-first stated that only 200 of 2,000 that brave group had managed to escape to Corregidor. Then Corregidor fell.

On March 26 Petty had been transferred to the Midland School. On June 6 his mother received a letter from the office of the Adjutant General in Washington saying that, since records of her son showed that he was serving in the Philippines, he would have to be considered as among the missing.

Corporal Petty's father is first sergeant of the 309th Military Police Prisoner of War Escort Guard Company at Fort Bliss, El Paso. An old army man who served in the Mexican campaign in 1916, saw 18 months' action overseas in the World War and, prior to 1940, was quartermaster for a number of years at Fort Lawton, Seattle, the elder Petty readily understood how, in times of war, such a slip might occur in the vastly complicated machinery of a huge military organization.

It was probably with a deep sense of thankfulness that he returned the War Department's letter "through channels," noting the correction for the official records. At present Corporal Petty is serving at Midland as an aircraft armorer, holding the rating of Air Mechanic, Second Class. But he has applied for foreign service, preferably in the Far East. Fate has played a far grimmer trick on many of his closest friends. Their parents, too, have received letters similar to the one sent to his mother.

Corporal Petty feels there is a score he wants to even.

British Approve Huge War Fund

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons promptly voted a new 1,000,000,000-pound ($4,000,000,000) credit for war purposes Wednesday at the request of Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, who said it brought Britain's total authorizations during "the costliest war in history" to 10,050,000,000 pounds ($40,200,000,000).

Britain's rate of government expenditure recently has risen to $4,250,000,000 ($37,000,000) a week, Sir Kingsley said.

He said that votes of credit already given, not counting the new request, exceeded the total of those granted from 1914 to 1919 by 300,000,000 pounds ($1,200,000,000).

White's Auto, Bankers Win Softball Games

The White's Auto softball team gave Safeway a 5-2 leave-ho in the first game in Midland Tuesday night while the First National Bank team won on default over Piggly Wiggly.

The women's softball games scheduled for Wednesday night has been postponed until sometime next week, it was announced by Truett Fulcher, league director.

Games scheduled in the men's league for Wednesday night are White's Auto against the Midland Army Flying School Bombers and Safeway against the MAFS Mechanics.

Texan Describes Attack On Japs

HONOLULU (AP)—Pilot Lieut. Edward Steedman of Sherman, Texas, described the desperation of Japanese airmen as they attempted futilely to refuel from their crippled aircraft carriers during the recent battle of Midway Island.

Steedman and his co-pilot Lieut. D. K. Carpenter of Monroe, Ore., said that the Japanese were stunned by the suddenness and ferocity of the American attack.

Steedman said that his flying fortress "contacted the enemy the afternoon of June 3. We selected a transport for the target and dropped all our eggs, scoring several direct hits, and did not draw a single burst of ack-ack."

Steedman credited his bombardier, Staff Sergeant R. M. Collision of Harrisburg, Pa., with spotting the Japanese fleet the following day through a hole in the clouds under him. Collision dropped the bombs through the opening, hitting

Dorothy Turner Chosen Leader

HUNT (Spl)—Camp Waldemar, stretching along the Guadalupe in the shadows of the Davis Mountains, 20 miles southwest of Kerrville, focused its attention recently on the selection of tribal leaders for the two tribes, the Tejas and the Comanche, into which the camp is divided.

Dorothy Turner of Midland was elected junior divisional leader for the Comanche tribe and in such capacity will help to guide the activities of Waldemar's friendly rivals for the first term of camp for the summer. She was selected because of her record of achievement and service to the camp.

Enthusiastic in their endorsement of her as leader were the other campers from Midland: Phyllis Ann Chancellor, Allyne Kelly, and Marjorie Welch.

Slip Covers Made For MAFS Day Room

Under the direction of Mrs. Butler Hurley and Mrs. W. E. Hankla, women of the Presbyterian Auxiliary made three slip covers for the 48th Squadron's day room at Midland Army Flying School, in a meeting Monday morning at the church.

Women assisting in the work were: Mmes. Ray Pool, R. L. Miller, Andrew Fasken, C. J. Lambert, and John Elliott.

RIGHT WRONG

FEMININE FANCIES
By Kathleen Eiland

Nevada is pioneering in the parachute field, with the first experiments in having a doctor and nurse land by parachute. The first jump was successful.

It's a good idea. If soldiers land by parachute for purposes of destruction, there's no reason why physicians, nurses, Red Cross workers or others doing constructive work could not follow the same route.

Good for Nevada, we say! Maybe mines, divorces and gambling won't be its chief claim to fame in the future.

We're rarely surprised, though sometimes vastly intrigued, by the vagaries of fashion. But to sprinkle an off-white bathing suit with a design of giant bright-colored strawberries is something we can't understand. Or is it that we don't understand art?

These little white paper bags of sugar that are given customers who eat away from home these days always make us smile. Really, it is a clever idea and a satisfactory one. But there's something about getting that lonesome little bag of sugar every time we order a cup of coffee or a tall glass of tea that affects our Irish sense of humor.

Fresh summer fruits are beginning to appear in ever-increasing quantity and variety in the grocery stores. And we're beginning to be afflicted with our yearly siege of longing to make shortcakes (doing practically nothing about it, of course), salads, and all kinds of fresh fruit dishes. By the way, we notice that some of the little-sugar recipes capitalize on very simple desserts of fruits. Which is all to the good, in our opinion.

Merchants Will Observe Only 5 More Holidays

Midland retail merchants Tuesday voted unanimously to observe five holidays during the remainder of the year.

The holidays are: Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, September 7; Armistice Day, November 11; Thanksgiving Day, November 26; and Christmas Day. They also voted to close the stores New Year's Day.

The retailers also discussed proposals for an earlier closing hour, but no definite decision was reached. Ralph M. Barron, chamber of commerce president who presided at the meeting, requested the chairman of the various retail classifications to contact members of their groups relative to a 6 p. m. closing hour during summer months. A majority of those voicing opinions favored the earlier hour for closing. Thirty persons attended the meeting at Hotel Scharbauer.

Discuss Rodeo Plans
The underwriting of the 1942 Midland Rodeo by Midland merchants was discussed and a committee was appointed by Barron to meet with officials and members of the rodeo committee of Midland Fair, Inc. Members of the committee are T. R. Wilson, J. C. Smith, John Casselman, J. B. Hoskins, and John B. Mills.

Those present at the session adopted a resolution, addressed to rodeo officials, calling attention to the uncertainty of transportation and asserting the merchants would not be resentful if a rodeo is not held this year, but that if rodeo officials have worked out a plan for staging a stream-lined and perhaps less-expensive rodeo, the merchants will cooperate as usual. The motion was offered by Delbert Downing.

Texas And Pacific Official Named To Defense Position

W. T. Long, Jr., superintendent transportation of the Texas and Pacific Railway, has been appointed deputy associate director, Office of Defense Transportation.

The Office of Defense Transportation was created by executive order of President Roosevelt on December 18, 1941, with the Honorable Joseph B. Eastman, chairman of Interstate Commerce Commission, as director. The office was created to assure maximum utilization of the domestic transportation facilities of the nation for the successful prosecution of the war. Further, it is set up to coordinate the transportation policies and activities of the several federal agencies and private transportation groups in effecting such adjustments in the domestic transportation systems of the nation as may be necessary.

The Office of Defense Transportation will maintain close liaison with the Armed Forces in order to insure prompt and proper movements and supplies.

Within the office is a division of railway transport, of which Mr. Long will be deputy associate director. It will be his duty to cooperate with the various railroads throughout the southwestern area, and with the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and their respective air forces in the efficient handling of their transportation problems. He will also assist in coordination of Rail-Truck Transportation.

Mr. Long was born in De Soto, Mo. He was with the Missouri Pacific Railway several years serving in their mechanical accounting and operating departments. He also served several months with the Cotton Belt Railway and came to the Texas and Pacific Railway on March 1, 1918, serving as chief clerk to the general manager, assistant to the general manager, and trainmaster. He has been superintendent of transportation since March 1, 1929. He has been borrowed by the government and is on leave of absence from the Texas and Pacific Railway for the duration. His offices will be located in the Southwestern Life Building, Dallas, Texas.

American Schoolboys Are About To Take Place In Huge Air Training Program, To Join Older Brothers

Two Millions Pilots By 1943 Expected To Come From New Plan

By NEA Service
NEW YORK.—American youth demands a part in winning the war. And most youngsters want to play that part in the youngest of military arms—the Air Force.

Throughout the country today uniformed units of the Air Training Corps of America are forming in public, parochial and private schools. Boys of 16 to 18 are learning flying fundamentals through a study course prepared by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the U. S. Office of Education.

They're Training For War and Peace
If the war lasts for two years our skies are going to be filled with the finest-trained flock of fledglings the country has ever seen. And if peace comes before their two-year training course is finished, they will be on their way toward leadership in the great expansion in the aviation industry which seems certain to follow the present conflict.

As members of the Air Training Corps these boys cannot yet take an active part in flying. They can, however, build groundwork in the fundamentals of aviation, in so-called pre-flight training, so that many will be fitted to assume their roles in the Army and Navy Air Forces when the time arrives. They will be credited with the work they now are putting in as ATCA volunteers, cutting down on their active training time.

This tremendous aviation training program for high school students constitutes the most far-reaching change in curricula in the history of U. S. secondary education, according to school men. The boys are being prepared as no generation has ever been prepared before, for the realities that lie ahead.

As members of an ATCA unit, boys wear smart-looking blue-gray uniforms and overseas caps, bearing the corps insignia. Instruction includes military drill and calisthenics, besides many hours of classroom work.

Special Courses Being Planned
Special courses, which by fall will be incorporated into the curricula of schools providing ATCA training, will educate students in the various phases of basic pre-flight knowledge such as air navigation, communications, aerodynamics, meteorology, design and structure, engines and safety.

Class room work is anything but pure theory and dry textbook teaching. In one class on design and structure at Isaac Young High School in New Rochelle, N. Y., the ATCA students have learned to spot and name the various types of planes from wood models which they have built themselves. Hundreds of these planes have been constructed to scale, according to specifications provided by the Army and Navy. All are painted black so no identifying marks will disclose their types to the observer.

Speaking of Invasion?

Fighters from this side talk things over in the British Isles. Above, Maj.-Gen. Russell P. Hartle, commander of A. E. F. in Northern Ireland, consults Scrapy, his Irish kerry blue terrier. Below, U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant chats in London with Maj.-Gen. A. G. L. MacNaughton, commander-in-chief of Canadian forces in England.

One after another these model planes are permitted to slide down a wire over the heads of the "spotters" who unhesitatingly call out their names and types. Students are taught to recognize planes from any angle of light.

Former Army Flyers Are the Instructors
Another class at New Rochelle has been taught engine design, not from books alone, but from an actual airplane motor head and propeller, and other mechanical parts. Even a wind tunnel, demonstrating the effects of air currents, is provided in the class on the theory of flight.

At Horace Mann High in New York City, ATCA members drill according to a manual prepared under the supervision of the U. S. Air Force Training Command, and march before the critical eyes of an instructor who is a former Army Air Corps flyer. Many of the instructors, as a matter of fact, are former flyers.

ATCA members don't stop talking aviation when school is over. Many have built sets for sending and receiving messages in code and practice with one another in the afternoons and evenings. Others build plane models outside of school. Some have perfected inventions of their own to aid in teaching certain subjects. All of them read, talk and seemingly dream aviation.

"Teach the ATCA boys?" one high school instructor grinned. "Our only problem is to finish each class on time. They don't want to quit."

ATCA's goal was set at enrolling 500,000 volunteers by the fall of 1942 and two million boys by the end of 1943. It wouldn't be surprising if these goals were set too low.

ern States mixed team-of-four championship, only one-half point behind the winning Philadelphia team. Her teammates were Mrs. Doris Fuller, Peter Leventritt and Joseph E. Low.
Here is one of the hands Mrs. Tansill played to her teammates' satisfaction. The opening lead was won in dummy by the ace of clubs. A trump was led, and Mrs. Tansill, sitting East, played low. South's ace dropped blank, and the contract was then made easily with the loss of only two trumps and the spade ace.
Mrs. Tansill's play was based on crediting South with a genuine opening bid, in which case he must have the ace of hearts.

Stanford Coach Gets Commission In Navy

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—James Lawson, Stanford's head football coach, gave up his position Wednesday without ever seeing his team win a game.
Commissioned a Lieutenant Senior Grade, he left for Annapolis to become an instructor in the physical education department.
Lawson, assistant coach at Stanford for many years, was named head coach to succeed Clark Shaughnessy. It was the big break he had waited for, but he was head coach only through spring practice, never in the playing season.

Deep Neckline

Try the flattery of this deep neckline for your next "nice" dress! It will make you look younger and prettier, we know! In today's pattern you have not only the becoming neckline but a soft bodice, gained by gathers below the smart shoulder yokes, and a slimming skirt gained by the panel down the front! Make this frock in a flowered sheer crepe, for summer coolness, and trim with a flower corsage at the point of the neckline.
Pattern No. 8203 is in sizes 14 to 20; 40 and 42. Size 16 with short sleeves takes 4 yards 35-inch material.
For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to The Reporter-Telegram Today's Pattern Service, 211 West Wacker Drive, Chicago.
Patterns for every sewing need are to be found in our summer Fashion Book. Lingerie, aprons, youngster's styles—dresses of many, many designs. Send for your copy today.
Pattern 15c, Pattern Book 15c. One Pattern and Pattern Book ordered together 25c. Enclose 1c postage for each pattern.

Select Martin County Election Officials

STANTON (Sp.)—S. D. McWhorter, chairman of the Martin County Democratic Committee, presided at a meeting Monday when assessments for candidates for county offices were discussed and election officials selected. Only two offices in Martin County have more than one candidate, and the committee decided to hold one primary, July 25, with majority vote electing the candidates.
The committee selected the following election officials to be in charge of voting boxes at the various places in the county:
Stanton: (Baptist Church) H. A. Houston; (Methodist Church) S. C. Houston and Ector Thornton; Tarzan: I. E. Welch and E. L. Kay; Pleasant Valley: R. T. Hightower and Irvin Shell; Leonora: S. J. Foreman and Bill Howell; Brown: Belton Hill and Arthur Blairgrave; Flower Grove:

Was Naturalized When 108. HOUMA, La. (UP)—WPA workers have found what probably is the all-time record for naturalization at an old age. An entry in an old minute book showed that William Yarrow, born in Africa, was naturalized Oct. 24, 1868, at the age of 108.

Grandmother Title at Stake ASHTABULA, Ohio. (UP)—Mrs. Sarah Thompson, 97, of this city has two great-grandsons in the U. S. Navy, which she believes must be some sort of a record. She has 16 grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

(School House) J. B. McNew and H. H. Corbett; (Church) Fred Beckmeyer and M. T. Mitchell; Courtney: J. D. McCreless and Irvin Myrick; Valley View: S. F. Weathers and E. W. Castleberry; Bryant: Earl Bryant and O. G. Denton; Deavenport Residence: W. H. Deavenport and C. D. Willingham.

Phillips Refinery Has Big Fire Loss. BORGER. (AP)—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by fire which destroyed the butane storage division at the Borger refinery of the Phillips Petroleum Company.

The blaze broke out after a truck parked on an incline rolled into a pipe line containing butane, which ignited when it neared a boiler house and caused flames to spread to storage tanks, E. H. Bender, plant superintendent, said.

Two men were hospitalized. Frank Henthorn of Stillman was critically burned, and R. E. Freund was burned about the head, shoulders and on one arm. Several other workers were treated for minor burns.

R. C. Jopling, vice president of the company, said at Bartlesville, Okla., that the plant would be in operation again soon.

SERIAL STORY

SPORTING BLOOD

BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

FRAZIER'S ACCUSATION

CHAPTER VII

HUNTER DENT stifled an oath. Now he knew why he had never cared for Strickland Ballard's brother-in-law.

"But that about the money?" "Hank Temple asked. He was greatly worried."

"I'd bet my last cent that Dent has that money in his possession this moment!"

A murmur went up. Hunter drew back into the deeper gloom as he heard hurrying steps along the concrete walk from the highway.

He knew Red's sharp, staccato heel-click. There was a young man with her. They came momentarily into a patch of light from the window. The two stopped. As Hunter had surmised, Red's companion was young Tisdale.

Tisdale was harried, and Red was angry. For an instant it seemed they might go at it tooth and nail. Red controlled himself. "They're waiting for us. Let's not fight here. I'm sick and tired of fighting."

They went into the house. RED and Oliver Tisdale's joining the group changed the discussion. Some one came to the window. Hunter slipped away. He wanted to hear the rest of the business, but the risk appeared too great.

He was worried. Had he, he wondered, gone too far in protecting Junior Ballard? Had he, in fact, built up a powerful case against himself?

Moodily, he moved through the night, came to the parked truck. He got in, and ran with pale parking lights until he was within cover of the woods. He reached the spot where Junior's car had left the road and gone into a tree.

With the torch from the tool chest of the truck Hunter went over the interior of Junior's car. There was a bullet hole through the back. It was easy to trace the course of the bullet to the place on the seat where Junior had been sitting.

"Made by a heavy caliber revolver, too," Hunter mused. It seemed obvious the shot was from one of the policeman's guns.

Junior Ballard had been mixed in that stick-up. There was no way out of it. Hunter had tried to believe it was just a gag, done on a wager. It could have been. But the more he pondered the thing, the more he had to admit that fundamentally Ballard's boy, spoiled and pampered, allowed to run wild, was weak and maybe criminal. If only Hunter could account for the missing money.

There he was stumped. Maybe he couldn't see straight when he looked in the safe. Maybe he just dreamed the bag and its contents had disappeared.

He got into the truck and drove the car to the barn. He backed it in, and hoped until he could find a better hiding place the big barn would keep the secret. He had a feeling every step he made was that much further on a fool's journey.

Why should he be shielding Junior? It was because he loved the boy. Why did he, somehow, have a contrary affection for the kid? It got back to Red. She, too, was one he was trying to do something for. That did not make particular sense, for she and Tisdale were going to be married. They might fight, but the Ballard-Tisdale money had to be kept intact.

WITH these muddled thoughts for companion, Hunter Dent put the truck in the garage next to the barn, and walked through the heavy darkness toward the house. Save for a low light in the rear, in Warwick's quarters, the mansion was deserted. As Hunter entered the yard, however, he became aware of voices. They were not loud, but they were charged with anger. Now he could make out in the dense gloom—the sky overhead was clouded, and rain was in the air—two cars. They were parked up the driveway, some distance from the wide doors of the garage. At the foot of the stairway to the office Hunter stopped and listened.

"I'm telling you for the last time, Red," Tisdale's voice warned. "Frankly, I think you're in love with Dent and won't admit it to yourself, or you are simply stringing me along."

"Ah, shut up, Oliver!" Red Ballard said wearily. "I have never seen such a bitter, jealous person as you in all my life."

Hunter went up the stairs. He opened the door. To his surprise it was not locked, though he was sure he had locked it when he left the last time. Without switching on the light he used the flashlight he had and went to the safe. He had to make sure about that $17,000. The whole thing made him feel crazy. He had to make two trials before he worked the combination. He threw open the door. The place was just as empty now as it had been when he missed the bag.

Then it seemed to him figures came from everywhere. Voices, flying fists, oaths, a buff on the back of his head that laid him out. Just before he lost consciousness he caught Frazier's voice. "We'll hand him over to the sheriff—" The others seemed to Hunter to be the Ghibartos, perhaps Hankins Temple. He didn't know and it didn't matter, for he went out then.

Profits Of "Clip Joint" Puts Him Through College—Legitimate Too

By Odom Fanning Written for NEA Service ATLANTA, Ga.—He runs a "clip joint" so successful that it put him through college. He's George Stenhouse, 21-year-old Emory University senior. His "clip joint" is his room at college and the "clipping" is done with scissors on the scores of newspapers stacked there. He's the collegiate champ among newspaper readers, because for five days a week he reads, from front to back, 80-odd different papers.

Each week for the past four years, Stenhouse, who hails from Greenville, S. C., has read every paper, daily and weekly, published in Georgia—a total of 86,000. No scrapbook fan, Stenhouse reads the prolific press purely for pay. He graduates this summer from Emory after having paid all expenses from the income of his one-man clipping bureau, believed to be the only one operated by a college student.

Working in his roomy room, the tall, blond journalism student has sliced some 210,000 articles from the pages of Georgia newspapers since he first organized the Georgia Press Association's official clipping bureau four years ago. Clients of his clipping service include politicians, state agencies and private businesses which are interested in seeing how much publicity they rate each week. At present his accounts number more than two dozen.

Besides working eight hours a day reading newspapers, young Stenhouse attends a full schedule of classes, studies enough to make above-average grades and edits or writes for three student publications.

LONG HOURS TO CATCH ALEWIVES WARREN, Me. (UP)—Alewife fishing is a 24-hour job. Crews work day and night in this village catching the tiny fish that run with the tide. The record catch for one day in these parts is 184 barrels.

The Lac Du Flambeau Indian reservation includes 126 lakes within in its 160 square mile area.

Cardinals Are Coming Up, And May Prove Dangerous In National Race

Red Sox Could Give Those Yankees Hard Battle Rest Of Year

By Sid Feder
Associated Press Sports Writer
This is just to let the happy Go-wanus girls and boys in general and Larry McPhail's Brooklyn Bums in particular in on a little secret—there really is another team in the National League.

The way pats on the back are bouncing around the Flatbush side of East River these days, no one seems to realize that the Dodgers may be in a fight for that pennant yet. But just in case it's been overlooked over there, the St. Louis Cardinals are on the prowl. And with six wins in a row and 14 out of their last 17, they are serried not an outfit to be brushed off like a blonde hair on your coat lapel.

At any rate, the season's first "cross-hair" series is cooking up to start Thursday, when the used-to-be Gas Housers wheel their circus into Ebbets Field. The Cards are just 4 1/2 games away, having disposed of the Giants, 4-3, Tuesday on the strength of Enos Slaughter's tenth-inning homer and some nifty relief elbowing by Nig Beezley, the kid who is making the rest of the pitching staff look good.

And taking another chunk out of the same steak, it might be pointed out that the Red Sox, over in the American League, also can still make trouble, even if the New York Yankees are bouncing along on a nine-game lead after splitting their five-hour twin bill with Detroit Tuesday. For the Red Sox, sparked by Lefty Judd's six-hit curving knocked off the Brownies from St. Louis, 4-2, Tuesday night to run their winning streak to nine in a row.

In the American League, the Yanks and Tigers put on something new—starting a double header in Detroit at 3 p. m. The Bronx boys blew the first game 7-6 on Rudy York's 14th homer of the year and Jimmy Bloodworth's eighth. And they were on the way to kicking the afterpiece away when the Detroiters loaded the bases on Hank Borowy in the ninth inning. But Fireman Johnny Murphy arrived with his hook-and-ladder curve as usual to save a 5-3 decision and keep Borowy among the season's undefeated elbows with five wins.

Completing the American League picture, Rookie Orval Grove and husky Bob Harris hooked up in a tight tussle at Chicago under the lights, and Grove won out 2-1 as the White Sox nipped the Athletics on a ninth-inning run to climb into sixth place in the league standings. The Washington-Cleveland party was postponed.

Johnny Vander Meer had his "swift" and his slants just right at Boston and pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-0 victory over the Braves with a seven-hit performance. Another of the day's neat twirling jobs was the seven hitter served up by Johnny Podgajny. The result was the Phillies ended their nine-game losing streak by pounding the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1.

Reiser Was Last Great Find Of Barrett, Dean Of Scouts

Keeness Of Veteran Ivory Hunter Led To Modern Farm System

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK — Harold Patrick Reiser's phenomenal success reminds you that the remarkable St. Louis youngster was the last great find of Charley Barrett, the late dean of scouts.

It is too bad that Barrett did not live to see Pete Reiser fulfill his prediction, Barrett's inimitable story teller, passed away July 4, 1939.

"He's going to be one of the best," Old Charley used to say when Reiser, fresh from the knot-hole gang, first worked out at Sportsman's Park.

It was a costly blow to the Cardinals when Reiser was mixed up in their jam with Commissioner Landis, which led to 100-odd athletes being declared free agents.

Dodgers Would Pay $150,000
Reiser was tickled to pick up $100 for signing with Brooklyn after a St. Louis scout tipped Larry MacPhail.

If the Dodgers didn't have Reiser, they won't pay $150,000 for a center-fielder like him.

The boy promises to lead the National League for the second time in his second full season.

"If Reiser has a batting weakness, I don't know what it is," observes Mickey Owen. "Inside, out, high or low, he'll hit the ball. I've seen him get base hits on all kinds of pitches."

Reiser has it all, including the ability to field ground balls like an infielder. He broke in as a shortstop.

It was Barrett's uncanny knack of picking up fine ball players that led to the farm system.

Barrett, who spent his baseball career in the Texas League because he couldn't hit major league pitching, went to St. Louis from Detroit when Branch Rickey assumed command of the Red Birds in 1918.

Barrett Knew Players
You could start with Jeff Tesreau, Bill Killefer and Art Fletcher and fill a book with the names of outstanding players recommended by Barrett, starting while he was still an active combatant in the Texas League.

Scouts began scouting Barrett. The very fact that he was interested in a prospect was enough, and their outfits could outbid the Cardinals, who were having a tough time making both ends meet.

So Rickey decided to buy a minor league club, where Barrett discoveries could be developed and retained for the parent organization.

Rickey took over the Fort Smith club of the Western Association in 1920 as the first Cardinal subsidiary.

To give you a rough idea, from that club came the illustrious Pepper Martin, Charley Gelbert, Chick Hafey, Taylor Douthitt, Gus Mancuso and Flint Rhem.

The Cardinals were off to the races. Charley Barrett fed them well right up to his last move.

NEW YORK—Advance sale for the National A. A. U. track championships, which Dallas gave up because that $8,500 guarantee looked so big in these times, is around the $30,000 mark and going right up. . . . About $60,000 worth of program ads already have been sold, so it looks as if there wouldn't be much trouble passing the $100,000 set as the goal for the meet. . . . Larry MacPhail has served notice on Dodger fans that tickets bought from speculators will be refused at the gates. . . . If anybody collects a "service charge," Larry wants to do it himself. . . . Bill Tilden, one of the few "name" players missing from the pro tennis championships at Forest Hills, has just been appointed pro at the swanky Town House in Los Angeles.

A Soft Answer Turneth, Etc.
When Jack Zeller, the Tigers' general manager, began scouting around for another catcher in case the Army should accept Birdie Tebbets, he struck on the idea that the Braves might be persuaded to part with Ernie Lombardi. . . . His first move was to soften up Casey Stengel with an expensive dinner; then he popped the question. . . . "Well, no," Casey replied thoughtfully. "Were honest people. You see, Lom is class 1-A in the draft."

. . . Zeller wrote off the dinner as a bad investment.

The day Lew Jenkins started training for his Boston scrap with Marine Garvey Young, he hurt his hand and had to postpone the fight. Lew always did suspect there was something dangerous about training. . . . The Reds' Ray Starr, who looks like a sure-fire candidate for the all-star team (and not on his name), says that when he's through in the majors he'd like to have a small minor league club and pitch all the games himself.

Tommy Bridges Is Proof
Who was that guy that said a pitcher had to be a big-over-grown guy? I don't hear anyone claiming the phrase, but in case there is an undecided person in the crowd I give this proof that a pitcher does not have to be big in all cases:

"Thomas Davis Bridges is a working example of the fact that a pitcher does not have to be a big, rawboned bloke.

Standing 5 feet 11, Tommy wouldn't weigh any more than 155 pounds soaking wet. Yet he was still one of the great right-handers of the day. His hard one packs authority. No one ever broke a better curve in the dirt.

Bridges, off to a beginning that presages another fine year, at 35, confesses he is not nearly as swift as when he was leading the American League in strikeouts, shutouts, and games won.

"But I'm still fast enough to make the batter respect my speed," said the Detroit star. . . . Little but loud. That's Tommy Bridges.

Pitcher Pete Halford of the Midland Army Flying School Bomber softball team wins the tin-plated loving cup. He has pitched all the games in the first half of the Midland Softball League for his team without a single defeat. In fact, he has one game to spare. The first half of league play ended last week and Halford won another game Monday night.

Pitching Pete the Hurling Halford of the house of Halfords, it gives Sports Slants untold pleasure to have the honor of declaring you the best of pitchers ever to lay a hand on a softball in Midland County. You have set a record seldom equaled in anyman's town, and never equaled in Midland.

But, my honorable Halford, we must not forget your team mates. They are as solid as any team you will find in West Texas, and have been an undying help in your reaching the peak of fame in the softball world.

Although there are many top-flight softball players and teams in the Midland softball league, and with all due respect to them, Sports Slants takes sincerest pleasure in saluting the Midland Army Flying School Bomber team, and declaring it team of West Texas softball kings. . . . I also pick the Bombers to finish the season undefeated, although I doubt if Halford will get to pitch all the remaining games.

Chose Your Own Weapons
One fellow who's completely unawed by the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers is Billy Southworth.

"If they ride us, we ride 'em back—and good," says the St. Louis Card manager. "If they play nice, so do we. But if they play rough, we play that way, too. We always give 'em first choice."

The Cardinals are also giving them first division in the National League race, but not because it is a routine matter. Yeah, chum, "choose your own weapons and we'll match 'em" goes just so far against Leo Durocher's outfit. "The Bums" have what it takes in this game of baseball—with Leo's lip thrown in.

Random Sports Story
A bottle containing 50 small gray tablets, sent by Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, was delivered to Dolph Cameron in the hope that they will restore his stamina and end his batting slump. Cammill's trouble is due to a toxic condition and low blood pressure. Vitamin pills were prescribed when a similar ailment sent the Brooklyn first baseman to Johns Hopkins about this time last season. . . . Maybe a "pill a day means a hit a day."

Hale America Is Apt To Be Good; Anybody Can Win

CHICAGO. (AP)—The easy Ridge-moor Club course got a final preliminary going-over Wednesday as the nation's golf stars completed their practice for the 72-hole Hale America benefit tournament starting Thursday.

From early morning to dusk the more than 100 selected linksmen were scheduled to dissect the 6,519-yard layout in preparation for the four-day tournament. All, incidentally, will go the full distance, with no reduction of the field at the half-way point as is customary in medal tournaments.

Providing there was no slip-up in transportation, Captain Bobby Jones of the Air Corps and Bob Hope of the air lines were to play a special 18-hole exhibition match Wednesday, starting in mid-afternoon. Jones was on hand, looking slim after two months of strenuous dieting, but it was problematical whether Hope would make it from Connecticut, where he appeared in a show last night.

Practically all the big stars were present, the one prominent exception being Sam Snead, the Professional Golfers' Association champion. Sam is in the Navy, and he has sent no word whether he had been granted a furlough to play.

But even Sam's absence couldn't dull the lustre of the field of golf-dom's big shots, all shooting at the top prize of $1,100. For Jones it will be the first big tournament appearance outside of the annual Augusta Masters' event since he retired from active competition.

There is no particular sense in trying to pick the winner, or, in fact, to name a dozen of the hottest contenders. About 105 players will tee off Thursday, and almost any one of them could win the Hale America title. The meet is especially wide open because of the simple, easy course.

Dallas Takes One From Beaumont, Real Earned Win

By The Associated Press
The top-dog Beaumont Exporters not only lost a game Tuesday night, but to add insult to injury, they dropped it to the lowly Dallas Rebels. Moreover the 6-5 victory was earned by the last-play Rebs.

Lefty Clyde Humphrey's pitching, excellent as it was, for a time appeared hardly enough to give Dallas the game. The Rebels edified the home fans by driving in all six of their runs in the second inning, but the margin was threatened when an error by Rabbit Rigby put Humphrey behind the eight ball in the ninth. Humphrey was forced to pitch to Dick Wakefield and Hutch Evers, the Texas League's top hitters, before he was able to make sure of the win.

Houston moved into second place by pounding out a 10-3 victory over the Indians at Oklahoma City while the San Antonio Missions were losing a 1-0 decision to the Oilers at Tulsa. In the other contest the Cats bested the Shreveport Sports 12-0 at Fort Worth.

The Buffs ran up 17 hits off three Oklahoma City twirlers.

George Klein, although he yielded 10 hits, went the route for Houston. The Missions were able to get but one hit off Glen Gardner. Sidney Peterson, the other party to a tight pitching duel, gave up five hits in eight innings before he was yanked for a pinch hitter.

Earl Caldwell did the mound work for Fort Worth, holding the Sports to five hits while his teammates were collecting 15 safe blows off Ted Hoemann and Al Bronkhurst. Alex Hooks, who joined the Cats Tuesday, got four hits in as many times at bat, drove in three runs and scored four others.
