Roosevelt Vetoes Grain-Rubber Bill

Says War Production Board Should Handle To Coordinate Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting it would block progress of the war effort, President Roosevelt vetoed Thursday legislation to create an independent agency to stimulate production of rubber from grain and simultaneously created a committee to look into the whole rubber problem.

Bernard M. Baruch, who was head of the War Industries Board in the last war, will be chairman of the committee named to recommend the best program to produce the synthetic rubber necessary for the war effort and for essential civilian use.

Serving with Baruch are Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, and Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Roosevelt said the bill he was vetoing—passed by Congress with the backing of the farm block—would hamper instead of aid the war effort.

The measure, the President said in a message to the Senate, would break up an existing logical coordination of centralized control in the War Production Board and override priorities established by WPB for materials necessary to make hundreds of products essential in war.

Nothing that the board had allocated a certain amount of rubber to be made from both agricultural products and petroleum, Roosevelt said that both types of plants now are being constructed and that others are planned for construction at the greatest possible speed.

The President said that to take the problem out of the hands of an experienced board with an overall knowledge of military and civilian needs would disrupt a unified and expeditious war production program.

Need Grain For Food
The production of rubber from grain, even under the present program, Roosevelt said, would require almost 100,000,000 bushels. Despite great grain reserves, he added, we must bear in mind a steadily expanding demand for grain for the making of food for the armed services of both the United States and the other United Nations.

Discussing creation of the three-man committee, the President spoke of confusion over the rubber situation, saying:

"In recent months there have been so many conflicting statements of fact concerning all the elements (Continued on page four)

Japs Occupy Three More Small Islands
(By The Associated Press)
Imperial Japanese headquarters asserted Thursday that Japanese naval forces had occupied three more islands between Timor and New Guinea, thereby completing the tight-linked chain of potential invasion bases spreading in a vast arc above Australia.

A communiqué said the Japanese had taken Kei, Ari and Tamibar islands, which lie 375 to 500 miles north and northwest of Australia.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported quiet on the New Guinea front, where the Japanese have started a menacing drive toward the key Allied outpost at Port Moresby.

Attack Outposts
Chinese headquarters announced that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies were attacking a string of Japanese outposts between the port of Wenchow and the Kiangsi-Chekkiang rail line to the northwest.

The town of Suichang, midway between the rail line and Japanese-held Lishui in southern Chekiang Province, was reported recaptured.

Meanwhile, admiring Chinese pinned the nickname of "Sky Dragons" on the U. S. Army Air Forces which on July 4 absorbed the "Flying Tigers" of Burma fame. A Chinese Army spokesman said the aggressive American fliers were making Japanese authorities at Hankow "rather jittery" with their hard-hitting attacks.

An Allied military spokesman said the new Japanese foothold in New Guinea offered no special threat.

Army Emergency Relief Board Is Organized Here

An Army Emergency Relief board at Midland Army Flying School, which will administer cases in this area, has been organized and is receiving applications from men who need assistance.

"Establishment of Army Emergency Relief is one of the most important morale steps that has been taken because it promises each member of the Army that his dependents will be provided for regardless of where he may be, Brigadier General Isaiah Davies, president of the board at MAFS, declared.

"We want all dependents in towns and cities in this area to feel free to call on us for assistance, and we promise them that their problems will be kept confidential."

The military board for Army Emergency Relief at Midland Army Flying School is composed of: General Allen M. Floyd, Capt. Gordon R. Willis, First Lieut. Nora Capps, Schoech, First Sgt. L. E. Whitehead, First Sgt. Antonio Mendosa, First Sgt. Wendell R. Jones and Pvt. Dudley J. Soper.

Phillips Well In Embur Pool Tests Large Flow Of Oil
By FRANK GARDNER
Phillips Petroleum Company has brought in another big well in the Embur field of Southwestern Andrews County in its No. 3 University-Andrews. The well is the third deep producer in the area and marks a one-quarter mile southwest extension.

No. 3 University-Andrews was drilled to test for 54 minutes from 7,850 to 7,901 feet through 1/2-inch bottom-hole choke and started flowing oil and gas 26 minutes after tool was opened. At the end of the test it was flowing at the rate of an estimated 100 to 125 barrels of oil per hour and an estimated 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Schlumberger survey was run and operators now are preparing to set string of 5 1/2-inch casing.

The third well is producing from the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, topped about flat with the first two oiled in the field. Its performance on drillstem test is comparable to that of the other two. Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 from the west line of section 31, block 10, University survey, offsetting the discovery well diagonally to the southwest.

Twelve miles northwest of the Embur field, Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A Texu is drilling past 8,784 feet in lime and sand. In Southern Gaines County The Texas Company No. 1 Robertson is drilling in hard lime at 7,510 feet. J. E. Sharp No. 1 Ira Elliott, scheduled 6,400-foot test in North-western Lubbock county, is drilling below 3,515 feet in lime. Fraser Resumes Drilling

Texan Charges Major Oil Companies Conspire To Control Rubber Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charges of a "conspiracy" to control synthetic rubber production Thursday occupied the attention of the Senate patents committee, exploring the operations of international cartels and their effects upon the nation's war effort.

The committee, suspending its public inquiry for a day, studied the assertion of C. R. Starnes, independent oil operator of Gladewater, Texas, that representatives of the major oil companies, working "inside the government and out," were in control of the synthetic rubber program.

Starnes declared the "conspiracy" was being promoted by "certain international cartels and patent pools," and that their "stratagems have included evasions intended to stop the production efforts of any group not a member of their own patent pools."

Claims His Plan Blocked
The husky Texan, who brought together six oil refineries and who estimated that he could produce basic ingredients for synthetic rubber and explosives at costs lower than the estimates of the large companies, declared:

"I have been blocked at every turn, blocked by Americans, blocked by Standard of New Jersey and men who are affiliated with an influence by the Standard Oil."
He told the committee the "conspiracy" was directed from outside the government by Mr. Frank A. Howard, of Standard Oil Development Company, x x x and managed and directed from inside the government by Mr. Richard J. Dearborn, vice president and general patent attorney of The Texas Company.

"These," he added, "are the two men who were leaders in the formation of the contracts between Hitler, I. G. Farbenindustrie (big German chemical trust), Standard Oil, Kellogg and Company, and The Texas Company, which resulted in the G. R. A. cartel."
Dearborn was described by Starnes as the "shrewd and unscrupulous" technical advisor to the assistant director of the government rubber reserve corporation.

"As there was in France," Starnes said, "it seems to me there is in this country a group of corporate (Continued on Page Two)

Max Stephan To Hang For Aiding Nazi

DETROIT (AP) — Max Stephan, first person in 148 years to be convicted of treason in United States courts, was sentenced in federal court Thursday to be hanged.

U. S. District Judge Arthur J. Tuttle directed that Stephan, German-born American citizen, be hanged Nov. 13, 1942, within the walls of the federal detention prison at Milan, Mich.

Stephan was convicted in Federal Court here of aiding the flight of a Nazi flier escaped from a Canadian concentration camp.

"The life of this traitor, Max Stephan, is less valuable than the lives of our loyal sons which are being given in the cause of the United States," said Judge Tuttle in pronouncing sentence.

"We have been too soft, to the extent of being mushy, there are too many in the sob squad and too few in the fighting squad. This is no ordinary war. We talk of soldiers and we think of death not in figures of thousands but in figures of millions. If the lives of many of our boys are to be taken to help such a cause, this court should not hesitate to take the life of one traitor if it, in turn will help that same just cause."

Judge Tuttle said, before he pronounced the sentence that he asked himself, "will the sentence of death be a greater deterrent than any other to fifth columnists who also want to adhere to Germany?"

"The court sees only one answer," the judge said. "It is the affirmative. Disloyal citizens known even better than the court does that a prisoner sentenced to life is eligible to pardon after 15 years and also that after the war such prisoners usually are paroled or their sentences commuted."

Judge Tuttle said it was now impossible to impose a sentence that would "teach Max Stephan a lesson so he won't do it again."

Stephan was taken into custody April 21 by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents after 21-year-old Oberleutnant Krug passed through Detroit in an attempt to reach Mexico and thence Germany after his escape.

Krug, who was recaptured in San Antonio, Texas, by FBI agents, was the government's most important witness.

Russian Reserves Are Rushed Into Battle; Tikhoretsk Captured

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor
Germany's mechanized armies, fast closing an octopus-like stranglehold on the Upper Caucasus, reported the fall of Tikhoretsk on the Caucasian Railway 90 miles south of Rostov Thursday and developed a new pincers threat to the great Volga River steel center of Stalingrad.

Tikhoretsk is on the Stalingrad-Novorossiisk Railway terminating at the Black Sea, just below Kerch Strait. Soviet advices said Russia's carefully saved reserves were going into action against the terrific Nazi offensive, fighting bitterly to stem the new threat to Stalingrad.

Dispatches from Moscow said the Red armies, taking up new positions along a strong line east of the Don River, were driving back powerful German tank assaults 95 miles southeast of Stalingrad.

A second big-scale battle was in progress in the Kletska sector, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, where the Russians said the upper claw of a German pincer aimed at Stalingrad was stopped dead.

The danger in the Caucasus increased, however, as the Germans drove new wedges into Soviet lines at a great sacrifice in lives, front-line dispatches said.

A bulletin from German field headquarters said Nazi spearheads, racing southward from Voroshilovsk, had reached the main Trans-Caucasian railway linking the Black and Caspian Seas.

Sieze Rail Line
This apparently meant that the invaders had seized the rail line below Armavir, key junction on the route, somewhere in the vicinity of Nevinnomysskaya, which lies due south of Voroshilovsk. It would represent an advance of about 235 miles into the Caucasus.

As the crisis mounted, with the Red armies huddled in two key sectors during bitter all-night fighting, Europe's capitals rang with new talk of an Allied second front in Western Europe.

"Every day brings nearer this time when the agreement signed between Britain and the U. S. S. R. on the urgency of establishing a second front in Europe will be put into effect," the Moscow radio said.

Says Tide Is Turning
In London, Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy of the Netherlands government-in-exile broadcast to his countrymen in Nazi-occupied Holland, declaring that the tide of war was turning.

"Await with patience the moment when the call comes from here not only to take a passive but also an active part" in the opening of a new Allied front, he said.

Simultaneously, a fresh flood of Nazi-inspired propaganda emphasized the asserted strength of German defenses to combat a cross-channel invasion attempt. One dispatch told of "mighty fortifications of concrete and iron" extending deep inland from the English Channel coast.

Reds Retreat
On the Russian front, massive battles raged throughout the night, and at midday the Soviet command acknowledged that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies had been forced to retreat in the Belaya Glinka sector, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, and in a new zone at Kotelnikovsk, 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Masses of German tanks and infantry were reported surging toward (Continued on page two)

Expect Roosevelt Appeal To Gandhi In India Crisis
(By The Associated Press)
A deadlock in the crisis arising from India's demand for immediate independence from Great Britain appeared inevitable Thursday amid conjecture that President Roosevelt might address an eleventh-hour appeal to India not to complicate the task of those who are fighting for the preservation of human freedom.

The quotation is from Secretary of State Hull's recent broadcast, in which Hull, without mentioning India by name, emphasized that American sympathy for freedom-seeking peoples was reserved for those who "by their acts show themselves worthy of it."

In a session starting Friday, barring a last-minute compromise, the All-India Congress is expected to authorize Mohandas K. Gandhi to lead India's 390,000,000 in "a mass struggle of non-violent lines on the widest possible scale" against British rule.

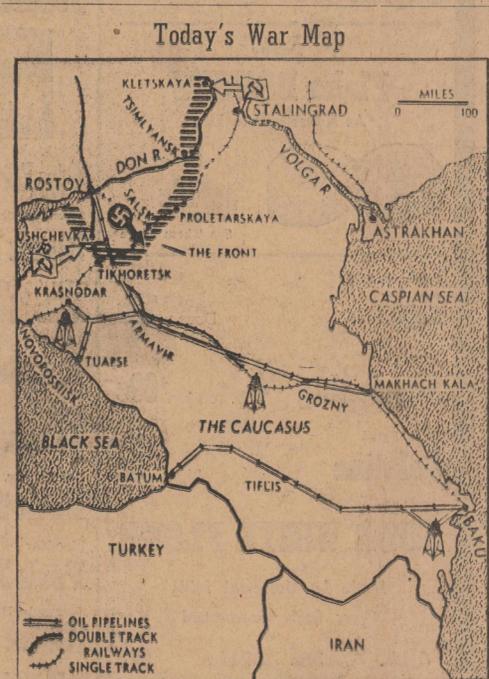

The chances of a solution appeared meager.

British Are Firm
In London, Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal and Prime Minister Churchill's deputy in Parliament, declared firmly that Britain intended to "preserve law and order" in India until after the war.

"The hard facts of war make a complete change in India's government (Continued on page four)

Asks Speedup Pay For Dependents
WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting that failure to make immediate cash payments to service men's dependents under the pay allotment and allowance act was causing severe hardships, Representative Rankin (D-Miss) opened a new drive to speed them up.

Rankin was sponsor of recently enacted legislation under which dependents receive financial aid from the government to supplement payments taken directly from service men's monthly checks. However, while the benefits started accruing on June 1, the law stipulated that the initial payment be withheld until Nov. 1, when the accumulated amounts will be released.

Isolated Nazi raids on Britain, which caused few casualties and only minor damage, stretched from evening to the hours before dawn.

Aleutian Command

Perhaps the establishment of unified command in the Aleutians will clear up some of the fog which has surrounded those outposts of the continental United States.

The physical fog probably will not prove amenable to orders from the unnamed naval officer now in charge. But, as so many have pointed out already, fog sits alike upon the just and the unjust, Americans and Nipponese.

The whole Aleutian situation has been surrounded by a tragic surplussage of mental fog, and this a competent naval officer, given proper weapons and sufficient authority, can dispel.

President Roosevelt must be presumed to have known what he was doing when he gave the Navy supreme command there. The decision has at least one unfortunate aspect. The Navy's high command has insisted consistently that occupation of this western hemisphere territory is of no importance and no concern—a bit of trivia, hardly worthy of mention.

It is no reflection upon the ability of whatever naval subordinate has the Aleutian command to wish that the task of sending the Japs back home had been handed to a department which was willing to admit, even to itself, that it is disgraceful and alarming for us to permit an enemy to stay on our hemisphere soil so long.

The Army has realized, for years, the potential menace of Japanese seizure of key spots in the Aleutians, and sought vainly to get appropriations for their defense long before we were at war.

Now that the Japs are in, the Army won't talk. But in Army circles one can find an awareness of the strategic menace of the Aleutian situation which is not apparent in Navy circles.

Outside the Navy, expert after expert who knows the geography of the Pacific insists that the situation at Attu, Kiska and Agattu bears disturbing resemblance to that in Malaya and in the Philippines where the Japs first seized "unimportant" points, from which no human could make his way to our strongholds, and then pushed us off the scene completely.

What are we waiting for? Do we expect to convert the Aleutian fogs to democracy, and make them our allies?

Incendiary Bombs

Magnesium is the lightest metal known which is capable of being fabricated into usable forms. Its development was long delayed because scientists were trying to overcome the tendency of magnesium to burn or explode when it came into contact, at high temperature, with oxygen. Water contains a high percentage of oxygen.

That is why, all along, those who knew magnesium insisted that the only safe way to extinguish an incendiary bomb—made of magnesium, was to smother it with a spray of water so thin that, instead of providing the bomb with oxygen, it would deprive it even of the supply available in the air.

Now comes the Office of Civilian Defense with advice to shoot a stream of water on such a bomb. The New York Fire Department tries out the OCD's method—fortunately out of doors—and has a nice big explosion. The OCD retorts that a quick explosion is better than a slow fire.

Maybe. We'll bet that no magnesium plant worker will agree with the OCD. Those men know magnesium, and what happens to anybody standing around when it explodes.

This Is The Army

Local 802, American Federation of Musicians, probably made its most serious error when it prevented 19 members of the "This Is The Army" orchestra from playing at the opening of the Times Square Service Men's Center.

Up to that time the Department of Justice had shown no apparent interest in Jimmy Petrillo's plan to stop the making of transcriptions and recordings. Suddenly Attorney General Biddle announced that he had authorized an injunction suit against the Petrillo ban.

The asininity of the union local, in forbidding soldier musicians to help dedicate a service man's recreation center, was unspokeable. But perhaps that very ill wind did blow some good. That may have been the straw that broke the back of official complacency toward the Petrillo union.

Dutch Never Will Surrender, Queen Tells Congress

WASHINGTON (AP).—Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, the first queen in her own right to visit the United States, told Congress Thursday that "no surrender" remains the motto of her people, suffering though they are under the alien rule of an invader in Asia and in Europe.

The grandmotherly monarch, addressing a joint session of the House and Senate, said: "Imagine what it means for a liberty-loving country to be in bondage, for a proud country to be subject to harsh alien rule."

"What would be the American answer if an invader tried to cover his wholesale systematic pillage with the firing squad, the concentration camp and the abomination of the hostage practice?"

The 61-year-old queen, who issued a proclamation of "flaming protest" and sent her armies into battle when the German forces invaded Holland in May, 1940, continued:

"I doubt not that your answer would be: Resistance, resistance until the end, resistance in every practicable shape or form."

"This is exactly the answer my people have given, and are giving every day. Inside occupied territory and outside, the fight goes on."

Army Emergency Relief is a non-military, or private, charitable association incorporated. The association has the full co-operation of the Army.

Services of the section were enumerated as follows: 1. Outright grants of money to families in great need; 2. General Davies pointed out that a service man need not be a member of Army Emergency Relief for his family or himself to get aid. "And the service man rank will in no way be considered in determining the amount of aid to be given," he concluded.

Kotelnikovskii in a drive menacing the southern approaches to Stalingrad. From here, the Germans also could strike toward the vital Caspian Sea port of Astrakhan, at the mouth of the Volga, 240 miles across comparatively flat country.

Bloody Toll Inflicted
Once again, Soviet dispatches stressed the bloody toll inflicted on the invaders:

"In the Kietskaya sector, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, the Red Army threw back repeated attacks and killed 1,200 Germans. Night-fighting Cossacks dashed into a Caucasus village, slaughtered more than 600 Germans and disappeared swiftly in the darkness. Soviet cavalry cut down untold numbers of Nazi parachute troops who dropped behind Russian lines in groups of 100 and 150."

U. S. General Arrives
Amid this gloomy outlook, Major General Follett Bradley, former chief of the First Air Force, U. S. Eastern Defense Command, arrived in Moscow with a letter from President Roosevelt to Premier Stalin.

"I am here to facilitate any possible way to make aid to Russia more effective," said Bradley, who piloted his own plane, a B-24 bomber, part of the way on a 10-day flight from Washington.

Observers believed his arrival foreshadowed intensified American aerial aid for the Red armies.

O'Daniel Opens Campaign Friday

(By The Associated Press)
At 12:45 p. m. Friday, W. Lee O'Daniel will pour into a network microphone his first speech of the senatorial run-off campaign.

From the moment Senator O'Daniel utters his familiar "How do you do ladies and gentlemen and hello there boys and girls" the battle will be on between two former governors who have made Texas political history.

Some Statistics
The records of past races in Texas might give aid and comfort to adherents of either O'Daniel or James V. Aldred.

Some facts: Run-off totals have on two occasions exceeded that cast in the first primary (gubernatorial 1924 and 1930).

On several occasions the runner-up has finished first in the runoff; Gerald Mann came from far behind in 1938 to beat out Walter Woodul for lieutenant governor; Coke Stevenson won out in the same election after trailing Pierce Brooks for lieutenant governor.

In two of three senatorial runoffs in Texas the second man in July was the first man in August.

But no man ever pried up the majorities over strong fields as did O'Daniel in his races for governor in 1938 and 1940. His 645,000 ballots in 1940 represented a vote from every ten men, women and children in the state.

Miss Dozier And Miss Jones Are Hostesses For Bridal Shower In Compliment To Miss Betty Shockley

Honoring Miss Betty Shockley whose marriage to Leland Foster will take place in the First Christian Church at 8 o'clock Friday evening, Miss Jo Dozier and Miss Frances Jones were hostesses for a surprise miscellaneous shower at Miss Dozier's home, 311 N. Marienfeld, Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

Summer flowers decorated the house and a color scheme of pink and white was featured in appointments.

The bride-elect's sister, Miss Doris Jean Shockley, presided at the guest book.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. John Lee Stoops and Miss Mary Lee Seider.

The honoree was met at the door by the two hostesses and presented to Miss Elma Jean Noble, who escorted her to the dining room and read an original poem before presentation of the gifts.

The lace covered table on which the gifts were displayed was centered with an oblong crystal bowl holding delicate pink amaryllis, white daisies, and yellow pompon chrysanthemums.

Tea napkins were lettered "Betty" and "Leland" in gold and the party plate carried out the chosen colors of pink and white. Favours were corsages of pink gladioli, the flowers chosen by the bride-elect for her wedding.

The invitation list included: The honoree, Misses Elma Jean Noble, Frances Ellen Link, Maxine Stewart, Ethel Anne Tolbert.

Misses Louis McClain, Hilda Vogel, Norma Jean Stice, Opal Whatley, Janice Pope, Dora Evans, Eucelle Foster, Elaine Hedrick, Patsy Collins, Lou Nell Buchanan, Pauline Wingo, Carolyn Oates, Myrabelle Lamb, Alberta Smith, Mary Bett Welborn, Betty Carney, Marjorie Warner, Mary Lee Snider, Jessa Lynn Tuttle, Mary Lou Hoskins, Mmes. FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

Most intriguing of the kitchen gadgets we've seen in our downtown wanderings are the plastic sanicles designed for use in freezing ice or desserts instead of using dividing sections of rubber or metal in the trays. We like these little transparent individual dishes (for that's what they are, flexible though they be) ideal for individual dessert molding.

That ruby glass, whose deep richness we all admire, is available now, not only in the regular glasses and sherberts, but in complete dinner sets. Something to think about if you're addicted to dramatic effects and like gracious white linens for your table cloths.

Now we know why the beauty editors always stress that a girl must be neat and perfectly groomed, every day and EVERY day, and EVERY DAY of her life. That's because almost certainly if she wears her oldest skirt and blouse and they are not immaculate, or if her shoes need polishing, she'll be called upon to go somewhere where she wants to look and feel her best. There are times when life is a hard taskmaster—especially for the plain girl. We wouldn't be knowing what troubles the glamorous beauties have, if any.

Speaking of beauty—the beauty code for the fall of 1942, as given by a famous cosmetic house, is: A scrubbed, fresh clean look; shining perfectly cared-for hair; clear, glowing skin; bright, alert eyes; sparkling white teeth; and healthy, true-red lips.

It sounds like a sizeable order to us to obtain, or even to maintain, that much beauty. Certainly any girl would be attractive who had all the things listed. Describing how to be good-looking is so much easier than actually contriving to be so.

Post Chapel Scene Of Morning Wedding

Miss Joyce Edgerton, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, and Corp. Gilbert H. Northey of the 494th School Squadron of Midland Army Flying School, were married at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in the Post Chapel by Chaplain Theodore G. Schoeb.

Witnesses and attendants were Jack Norby, 494th School Squadron and Miss Norma Koger.

Mrs. Northey attended Cedar Falls High School and Iowa State Teachers College. She is a teacher in the West Branch, Iowa, grade schools.

Corp. Northey attended Waterloo, Iowa, high school, Iowa State College one year and Coe College at Cedar Rapids three years.

Pelley Convicted On Sedition Charge

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—William Dudley Pelley, convicted on 11 counts of criminal sedition and conspiracy and facing a possible maximum sentence of 220 years in prison, based his hopes for freedom Thursday on a new trial. A motion for a new trial will be filed within three days, Defense Attorney Floyd Christian said, and if it is denied the case will be appealed promptly to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago. Convict Two Associates

The spruce little man who once headed the Silver Shirts of America was convicted Wednesday night by a federal court jury which also convicted two business associates, Lawrence A. Brown and Miss Agnes Marian Henderson. Brown and Miss Henderson were found guilty of one count of conspiracy to commit sedition. The three were officers of the Fellowship Press, a publishing house at Noblesville, Ind., where Pelley's magazine, The Gallilean, was printed once a week. The government charged statements in The Gallilean were made "willfully to cause or attempt to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny and refusal of duty (in U. S. Military Forces), and also to obstruct recruiting." Judge Robert E. Baltzell said he would pronounce sentence next Wednesday.

WOMAN COMPLAINS BONUS IS NOT BONUS

KEENE, N. H. (AP)—Told that the No. 7 coupon of her sugar rationing book represented a "bonus" of two extra pounds of sugar, one woman here took the word literally, and wound up at her rationing board demanding clarification. "Isn't the No. 7 coupon a bonus?" she asked. "It is, Madam," a board member replied. "Well," she said, "the storekeeper made me pay for it."

of the rubber situation—statements from responsible government agencies as well as from private sources—that I have set up a committee of three men to investigate the whole situation—to get the facts—and to report them to me as quickly as possible with their recommendations.

The chief executive emphasized that meanwhile the manufacture of synthetic rubber from oil and grain would continue "without interruption."

Determined To Get Rubber

Roosevelt said he was "just as determined as anyone" to get rubber and get it as quickly as possible, but he added that it was necessary to "weigh the need for factories to care for civilian luxuries against the needs of our fighting forces." "Therefore," he told the Senate, "to take the determination of this question away from a board which is equipped by personnel and by experience and by an over-all knowledge of all our military and civilian needs, and to place it in an agency which is concerned principally with the manufacture of only one commodity, rubber, is in itself a disruption of a unified and expeditious production program. To go further, and to say that these materials can be taken away from ships and guns and ammunition and to put them to work producing rubber, so that some people might use it for automobiles for idle-hour pleasure, is to fly in the face of the realities of the present grave military situation which threatens all the world and civilization itself."

CHRISTIE'S LAST FLIGHT CHAPTER XII

"It was in our World War that I got that letter from a French girl—one of those Mademoiselles from Armentieres that the song is written about, I guess," Bart's mother was saying. "Anyway, Christie, she wrote that she was in love with my husband; and what, in so many words, was I going to do about it?"

"What did you do?" Christie asked. She had come to Bart's mother after a visit to the doctor.

"Why, I wrote back that I could understand how she felt because I was in love with him, too. But I didn't tell her she could have him, as she probably wanted me to do.

"One day, a long time after the war, my husband said he wanted to get something off his chest. There had been a romance—a very mild romance it was. He had danced with this French girl, taken her out to dinner a few times, kissed her under a moon—which is just as romantic in France as it is anywhere else in the world. There might have been a different ending, if I had been hot-headed and suspicious, my dear."

"But you don't understand, Mother Sanderson. Bart is in love with Sandra."

"Then why was he so miserable and upset about you last Friday night? Walking up and down his room like a caged animal; not eating his dinner, staring into space. Why, he acted like a crazy man, Christie."

"Last Friday!" Christie cried. "Was Bart here last Friday?"

"Mrs. Sanderson nodded. "He came to see you; that girl came along for the ride into town. Then, he went by the apartment and you were out. Somebody told him you were in a little park nearby. When he came back here, he was in an awful state. He said he would spend the night here. I asked him if he didn't find you in the park, and he said, 'Yes, I found her.' The way he looked—wild. You all had quarreled, hadn't you, Christie?"

"Oh, Mother Sanderson, you're an angel," Christie breathed. "If I had only come before!"

Christie grabbed Bart's diminutive mother, spun her about dizzily, and then put her down in a big, cushioned chair. "I've got to rush off to undo a lot of damage I've done," she said. "You can count on it—I'm not going to hand Bart over to some Mademoiselle from Armentieres."

his familiar quizzical smile that was half a scowl. "What's up, Christie? Decided to finish those flying lessons?"

Christie shook her head. "Just one more lesson. I want to take my solo cross-country flight."

"All right. You can have your old plane. By the way, you haven't forgotten that promise you made Bart about flying?"

"No, but he won't mind, this time."

She watched the plane being warmed up; climbed in and took the controls with a sure, firm grasp.

This was different from that first solo. How frightened she had felt when she found herself up in the air alone. And different, too, from that trip to Lakeville with Stephen, racing against time. But today she felt secure and confident. The world which had crashed around her a few days before was so absolutely right again that nothing could go wrong.

Fifteen minutes later, Christie was circling over the air port.

She spoke into the microphone: "Christie Sanderson speaking... wife of Lieutenant Sanderson. Give me landing directions."

In a moment, stern and curt, came the reply: "You're not to land, Mrs. Sanderson."

Christie's excited voice again: "I've got to land. It's something of utmost importance to Lieutenant Sanderson. I've got to come in."

"These are orders. You're to go back where you came from."

staged that little reception—an extra rough one—to get you back here quick. Lucky I was at our apartment when Russ called and I broke all speed limits to beat your plane."

Bart kissed her long and hard. "I had come home to wring the truth out of you," he said after a moment, "to find out why I had seen you in another man's arms."

Christie laughed softly. "We were racing, and there was a little ditch. When I stumbled, Stephen caught me. I suppose you would have preferred having me pitch straight down on my nose."

"Much preferred." Bart's voice was grim. "That little ditch was big enough to plunge me straight into hell. Darling, all I had to do to put myself back on the torture rack was to think of it again. Then, today, something snapped. Somehow, I knew you weren't to blame, and that your letter didn't make sense. So I came home."

"When I found out you'd come to town with Sandra and didn't come near me—"

"So that was why you wrote that letter?"

"It made sense to me, then," Christie said.

"Sandra was coming back for good," Bart explained. "Seems she got fed up entertaining the boys and gave up her job. She asked if she could drive back with me."

"Bart, we were a pair of idiots."

They stood, arms close about each other. Nearby was the plane. To Christie it seemed symbolic of something; its strong silver wings outspread. Wings like these, and the men who flew them, would keep her country free.

Bart's thoughts must have been traveling along with hers, for he said, slowly: "This war isn't a private affair of men. There's probably going to be a real place for women flyers before it's over. Civil air patrol, transporting planes. Just a moment ago, I watched you come down from the sky, Christie. I could feel how sure and calm you were. I was proud of you. That's my wife, and she's a born flyer," I said. Darling, I'm going to release you from that promise. It wasn't fair of me. It's up to you."

Christie's arms tightened around him. "I guess you're going to do all the flying for our family, Bart." She was smiling. After a moment, she said: "I'm very well satisfied with ground work. Besides, there's a lot of knitting I'm going to have to do. Not only for the soldiers and sailors, but for one of Uncle Sam's future young Americans! It's likely to keep me very, very busy."

SHE drove straight to the airport. Russ came to meet her with CHRISTIE wheeled her plane, fighting back the tears. Now that she thought about it, it seemed there was a rule about civil planes landing at army fields—something about shooting first and asking questions afterward. Heavens, of course you must have special permission. Just because Bart was assistant to the commandant of cadets, she had acted exactly like she owned the place. Back at the airport, she brought the plane down, taxiing across the field.

Sober-eyed, she stepped out on the ground, only to be lifted up again—higher than any ship could carry her. Straight into heaven!

"The first thing you must learn, young woman, is discipline," came Bart's voice. "No army man's wife runs after him. He runs after her."

"Yes, Lieutenant," Christie whispered, her arms tight around Bart, her sunny head pressed close to him.

"Russ phoned the field to have me meet you. They told him I had left for town, and so they impossible at the moment," Sir Stafford said.

In Bombay, the All-India Congress working committee was equally adamant, declaring it was hopeless to appeal to Britain again. Bombay observers agreed that the program for a mass civil disobedience campaign was almost certain to be ratified by the All-India Congress Friday.

U. S. Watches Developments In Washington, the State Department watched the ominous turn of events closely.

Officials avoided comment, however, either on India's proposed whole-hearted cooperation with the Allies if independence is granted, or on Britain's charges that Gandhi and most of his colleagues were "appeasers" of Japan.

Pandit Jawaharlal, former president of the All-India Congress Party, told an audience of 10,000 Indians in Bombay "the first step should be for Britain to withdraw," but declared this did not mean that Allied armies should leave India.

Truman Charges Navy Negligent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate advocates of a cargo-carrier expansion program which would combat the submarine menace searched Thursday for a solution of the steel problem, which led the Maritime Commission to swamp the plan of A. J. Higgins, New Orleans ship-builder, to make 200 Liberty ships.

The defense investigating committee called Reese Taylor, chief of the iron and steel division of the War Production Board, to tell what he could of the steel slippy and allocations.

Chairman Truman (D-Mo), meanwhile, condemned the Navy Department's bureau of ships for "negligence and willful misconduct" in dealing with a "vehicle important to the success of any invasion attempt." He transmitted a committee report to Secretary of the Navy Knox as a basis for his charges, leaving it to the Navy to decide whether the report should be made public.

Truman also accused the bureau of ships of "biased and prejudiced treatment" of the Higgins industries in insisting that the shipyard use models of the bureau's design "despite the repeated failures thereof."

Meat Shortage Is Predicted For Texas

(By The Associated Press)

An anticipated shortage in Texas of choice, first grade beef is due primarily to the fact that Texas feeders usually feed lightly during the hot summer months and few "finished" heaves other than pasture fattened cattle now are available, meat packers at the Fort Worth livestock market said.

Pasture-fattened steers, either grain-fed or cake-on-grass fed heaves, rarely grade "better" "good" of "low choice" under United States Department of Agriculture grading, it was pointed out.

The Fort Worth packers explained most feeders of good beef in Texas place livestock on the heavy fattening ration in drylots during the cooler months so cattle will be bothered less by flies and high temperature.

Another difficulty was said to be ceiling prices of corn fed loin and rib cuts, purchased in corn belt markets and going to the select club and hotel trade.

Shippers have been reportedly losing from two to five cents a pound when marketing these cuts in Texas, but some packers felt they should take this loss to furnish their customers with an assortment of meats, trade sources said.

Expect Shortage Next Week

Fort Worth packers believed Texans will have to take "medium" and "good" grades of meat, until fall supplies of grain fed heaves arrive at market, because of the demand of military establishments and the scarcity of choice beef.

The Dallas News said the first meat shortage of the war will be felt next week and that independent packers attribute the situation to ceiling prices on processed meat products and no ceiling prices on livestock.

Packers were quoted as saying they were losing money because rising livestock prices had passed the packers' ceiling price.

"Packers insist that a simple, direct solution is a ceiling on livestock on the hoof, with the full 110 per cent parity permitted." The News said.

WASHINGTON — When the Swedish diplomatic liner Gripsholm recently arrived at Lourenco Marques, in Portuguese East Africa, her cargo wasn't purely one of Japs, but was swapped for repatriated Allied nationals. The Gripsholm's hold also carried 20,000 Red Cross food parcels, a million cigarettes, 10,000 tins of smoking tobacco, $50,000 worth of medicine and quantities of clothes— earmarked for American prisoners of war in the Far East.

The International Red Cross already has representatives in Shanghai, Tokyo and Hong Kong, and presently is angling for a delegate in the Philippines. The Manila outlook, according to Red Cross sources here, is good, since Japan has granted requests for delegates in the Far East.

American, Canadian and British Red Cross are pooling resources and working cooperatively in China, Singapore, however, and as far as Australia's Red Cross will ship supplies to the South Pacific and the Netherlands East Indies.

There has been no word from the International Red Cross delegate in Singapore, however, and as far as it is known here, no extra provisions have been made for the care of Allied prisoners there.

Red Cross Ships Food Gifts From Folks At Home To U. S. Prisoners Of War In Far East

Mrs. Aarlson G. Foster, District of Columbia Red Cross volunteer, is pictured packing one of the standard food parcels which "folks at home" throughout the country are sending to Americans held in war prison camps abroad.

Kong before the city's fall, and in Shanghai were 50,000 bags of cracked wheat. This grain was saved from confiscation and has been released for distribution to imprisoned Allied troops.

If the Japs abide by the Geneva Convention's rules for the treatment of war prisoners, Americans in their clutches should be fairly well off, as the Convention is very specific on such factors as degree of confinement; food, medical treatment, pay for labor, recreation, and the reception by prisoners of parcels containing food, books, medicines and similar items.

All information concerning prisoners is transmitted through the International Red Cross Committee, which is composed entirely of Swiss citizens, or through a neutral power appointed to protect belligerents' interests in enemy territory.

Trigonometry Class Will Be Organized

Final plans for a refresher course in trigonometry, at no cost to those taking it, will be completed at 8 o'clock Thursday night at a meeting in room 204 at the high school. The course will be offered through the efforts of the West Texas Geological Society, and will be taught by Ronald K. DeFord. The aim of the course is to prepare men for entry into the armed services.

There will be eight classes of two hours each. The first will be held two nights a week. The course will consist of a thorough but rapid review of trigonometry from the beginning, and will give special emphasis to military applications of the subject.

Trigonometry may be considered the basis of military mathematics, and is used in navigation of both planes and ships, in directing artillery and anti-aircraft fire, and in all kinds of mapping. Military experts have advised that such a review is highly desirable in all cases of men who wish to enter the Army or Navy, and suggested the refresher course.

All interested in the course should attend the first meeting. If that is not possible, someone should represent them, so the schedule of classes can be completed at Thursday's meeting.

Death Sentence Is Faced By Albertson

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Oscar Albertson, 43, San Pedro blacksmith and church elder, convicted of first degree "murder by mail" faces a mandatory sentence of death Monday.

The first jury to try him disagreed. The second, composed of nine women and two men, late Wednesday found that Albertson had mailed John Kmetz, 54, poison capsules labeled "vigor restorers," causing his death Oct. 12.

The state charged that Albertson was infatuated with Kmetz's wife, Esther, 33, church school teacher, who had lived at his home.

He Wants Wife Not An Army Uniform

BASIN, Wyo. (AP)—A Mexican sheepherder and his son, not speaking very good English, walked into the office of Sam Chilcote, who registers men for the draft.

Sam registered the son in Class I-A. Then the son explained that what he wanted was a marriage license.

"Maybe you won't want it now," said Chilcote. "You're practically in the Army."

But the youth insisted on the license, anyway.

Bufs Take Two From Exporters To Boost Stock

(By The Associated Press) The Houston Bufs advanced their Texas League cause mightily Wednesday night by taking two games from the top-notch Beaumont Exporters, 6 to 0 and 3 to 2.

Paul Dean, working in the second game, scored his 15th victory of the season. Ed Knoblauch drove in all the runs.

In the first game, George Kleine recorded his 13th triumph of the year. The crowd cheered some good fielding by Jake Satar. Buff first baseman, and Joe Wessing, the Shippers' second sacker.

The Tulsa Oilers and Fort Worth Cats divided a double bill, the Cats taking the first, 6 to 2, and the Oilers the second, 9 to 4. The seven inning nightcap lasted two hours and 27 minutes.

The Oklahoma City Indians took their third straight game from the Dallas Rebels, 4 to 1, as pitcher-manager Clay Touchstone of the Tribe gave six scattered hits, and his mates gathered nine safe blows.

The Shreveport Sports edged the San Antonio Missions, 6 to 5. The Missions were hopeful in the ninth when Jerry Witte hit his 12th home run of the season with nobody on, but the rest of the Padres were retired in order.

Canadians Have Little Hope Of Winning Open

TORONTO (AP)—The Canadian Open golf tournament started Thursday with the first-round gallery debating a question as old as the meet itself—whether a Canadian could beat the top-notch imported talent to the $1,000 first prize and the Seagram gold cup.

Opposing such professional stars from the United States as Ben Hogan, Clayton Hearner, Craig Wood and Paul Runyan was a battery of capable Canadians headed by Stan Leonard and Gordon Byrdson among the pros and Phil Farley in the amateur section.

Big Cargo Plane Production Will Be Double Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Production Board's committee on cargo planes has recommended that doubling, at least, of cargo plane production, Chairman Donald M. Nelson announced Wednesday night.

Three major recommendations of the committee, Nelson said, called for: 1. An increase in cargo plane output to at least twice the present program, through an increase in present procurement and through conversion of certain bombers to cargo type.

2. Further impetus to development of longer-range land and sea planes.

3. "Large increase" in facilities for the manufacture and transportation of aviation gasoline to meet the needs of a greatly expanded movement of cargo by air.

"If we now undertake to build a substantially larger number of cargo planes than is already provided for in our schedule, we must of course cut down the number of some other airplanes in our program," Nelson said in releasing a digest of the special committee's report.

"That is a decision for the chiefs of staffs to make, since it is essentially a matter of high military strategy."

"Meanwhile the War Production Board will continue to study the situation to see whether it is going to be impossible to expand our production of cargo planes through new facilities or by using other industries such as shipbuilders."

Hurlers Have A Great Day In The Majors, As Five Pitched Shutouts

(By The Associated Press) Pitching always is the main spring of baseball, but Wednesday it was almost the whole works in the major leagues.

In the greatest one-day concentration of pitching prowess this season, five of the seven games played ended in shutouts and not a single home run was produced in the entire card. There was only one triple.

Brookie Max Macon, pitching his first complete game since joining the Brooklyn Dodgers several weeks ago, miffed the New York Giants to two hits in winning 4-0 and for the first five frames had a no-hitter.

John Beazley of the St. Louis Cardinals and Cecil (Tex) Hughson of the Boston Red Sox each pitched three-hitters, the former trimming the Cincinnati Reds, 5-0, and the latter stopping the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-0.

Wild Cotton Tale

But Hal Newhouse pitched five-hit ball and lost in the rarest game of all as Don Kolloway stole home to give the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

This was the second start for Lefty Thornton Lee, the outstanding hurler of the American League a year ago, and it apparently proved that the mysterious arm ailment which kept him out of action for more than half the season has vanished.

Lee allowed only seven hits and fanned six. With the help of four double plays Newhouse matched his opponent's shutout pace until the sixth, when Kolloway led off with a single and moved to second as Wally Moses beat out a bump.

A moment later Myrl Hoag hit into a double play and Kolloway reached third. Then with Luke Appling at bat, he streaked home and was called safe in a close decision which catcher Eddie Parsons debated so vociferously that umpire Bill Summers waved him out of the game.

It was the fifth straight triumph for the White Sox.

Stage Slug Fest

The Red Sox backed up Hughson's fine hurling with a 14-hit offensive spread over every inning and gained half a game on the New York Yankees, who were kept idle by weather at Washington.

The only other American League game was the one contest that developed into a batting melee, Cleveland curbing the St. Louis Browns 8-5 in a night tilt with a six-run rally in the fourth inning after being held to one hit for three stanzas by Denny Galehouse.

In one of the best games Truett (Rip) Sewell blanked the Chicago Cubs, 3-0. The Pirates put an end to a scoreless pitching duel between Sewell and Les Fleming by getting all their runs in the seventh on a walk and four singles after two were out.

Although he didn't get a shutout, Tommy Hughes pitched five-hit ball at Philadelphia to lead the Phils to their second straight victory over the Boston Braves, 5-2, with the help of Danny Litwhiler, who hit triple and double good for three runs.

Sports Roundup

(By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr., Wide World Sports Columnist, NEW YORK. (AP)—Short ration rushin'—So many high school coaches have left Oklahoma for the armed services that the state high school athletic association has put out a manual, intended for women, on how to coach. . . . One big prep league there has lost all its basketball coaches in two months. . . . And in Texas they made special arrangements at the annual football clinic for superintendents looking for coaches. Some school heads even figured on registering for the course just in case. . . . And word from the South is that they may even run out of football officials, since attendance at spring meetings of the Southern Football Officials Association was off 20 per cent.

Today's Guest Star
Howard Preston, Cleveland News: "It must be very comforting to the St. Louis Cardinals to have historians recall that the Dodgers blew a late season 17-game lead and the pennant to the Cards back in 1930. And it must also be very comforting to the Dodger management to recall that those 1930 players no longer are playing with Brooklyn."

Gene Dupuy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dupuy, has returned home after spending two months' vacation in New Mexico, Arizona, and California.

Another good scrap, if not the best on the card, was the Angelo De Bellis-Roy Kendrick set-to. It was private versus sergeant—Kendrick is of the 486th and a sergeant and De Bellis a private from the 486th. Angelo, short and mighty, feinted the taller Kendrick out of position and patted him hard. His hardest blows were stinging lefts. Both fighters tired and waltzed in the last round.

Special Service Officer Capt. Russell B. Brown announced there would be more "fite nites" in the future.

Mrs. Wm. V. Penn and children left Thursday to visit her husband in Oakland, Calif., where he is stationed with the Army.

Sprouse, Vindish In No-Decision Fight At MAFS

Difference in weight, reach and height didn't bother bouncing Joe Vindish a bit Wednesday night, and the 83rd Air Base Squadron scrapper carried "Aie Right to Larger Bob Sprouse of the Security Detachment in the feature bout of Midland Army Flying School's first "fite nite."

There was no decision. Referee Lieut. Col. B. C. Harrison lifted hands of both the boys. Decisions were mainly left up to the large crowd of soldiers, officers, and cadets, with a few civilians mixed in who attended the event. The MAFS band furnished music.

The peppy Vindish at 170, giving away 15 pounds to Sprouse, bobbed, weaved, crouched and rattled Golden Glover Sprouse not a little. The M-P never opened up and threw few punches. So the crowd rode with Joe and yelled for more.

Louie Snyder, 488th S. S., at 120 pounds had the edge of Primo Galvago against Harvey Brink, red-head from the 489th. The fight was all Galvago, who tapped Brink's face until it matched his hair.

You might call Lewis Johns' win over "King" Koenig a TKO. Referee Harrison stopped the fight in the third stanza. Windmilling and throwing fancy footwork, Johns, 494th S. S. boy, backed the blonde Koenig, of 494th, all over the square.

In one of the best fights of the night, Jersey Bomber Joe De Marco, 494th, was licking Chester Ratajczyk, of the 83rd, but had to stop when he injured his neck. Shorter Joe cleverly ducked Ratajczyk's looping lefts and got in his own damage.

Another good scrap, if not the best on the card, was the Angelo De Bellis-Roy Kendrick set-to. It was private versus sergeant—Kendrick is of the 486th and a sergeant and De Bellis a private from the 486th. Angelo, short and mighty, feinted the taller Kendrick out of position and patted him hard. His hardest blows were stinging lefts. Both fighters tired and waltzed in the last round.

Jackass Looked Fit To Eat, But Seamen Couldn't Catch Him

AN EAST COAST PORT (AP)—Wild jackasses on an otherwise uninhabited Caribbean isle looked good enough to eat to 47 survivors of an American merchantman after drifting 32 days in a lifeboat, but the exhausted seamen, plagued by hunger and thirst, were too weak to catch them.

The coveting long-eared animals, however, saved the mariners by leading the way to a water hole, survivors said on finally reaching American soil 39 days after their ship was torpedoed by a U-boat far out in the Atlantic.

After two days on the desolate isle, they sailed on to an inhabited island and were taken to the Bahamas aboard the yacht of Betty Carstairs, noted English speedboat enthusiast.

The sinking of their craft, officially announced by the Navy Wednesday together with that of another U. S. ship and a British vessel, raised the Associated Press tabulation of announced wartime ship losses in the Western Atlantic to 414.

Potassium Nitrate Of Explosives Can Be Grown On Farms

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Wide World Science Editor

NORMAN, Okla. — Saltpeter, the potassium nitrate of explosives, may be grown on farms under a proposition of Prof. A. C. Shead, University of Oklahoma.

Fields of waving grain and of tall corn will be the source, the stalks of these plants being fed by sewage so that they become chock full of the explosive.

Prof. Shead gets his evidence of this possibility from studying the records of cattle poisoning in the midwest, and in the Rocky Mountain states in the last 45 years. In many cases the poison was saltpeter, which had concentrated in the plant stalks.

Arabian Prince Now In American Army

FORT KNOX, Ky. (AP) — The Free French lost a prince of a soldier when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

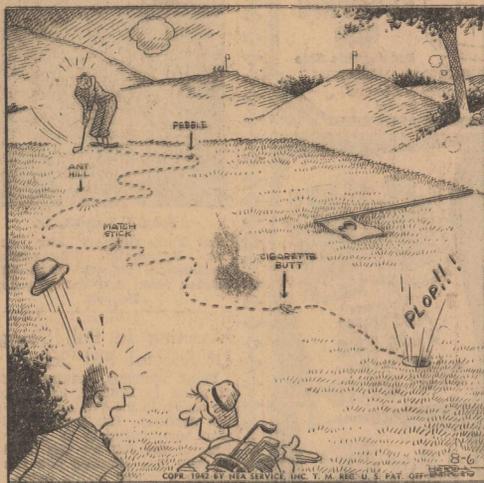

That is true literally as well as figuratively, because Alfred H. M. Shehab, prince of the Arab Kingdom of Grand Bahan, had planned to join the Free French prior to the Jap assault last December, but volunteered with Uncle Sam when the United States was forced into war. He is enrolled in the officer candidate-training school.

His Arabian name is Emir Fuad H. M. Shehab.

LONDON (AP) — President Roosevelt has a royal prince of England named in part for him.

The prince is Michael George Charles Franklin, infant son of the Duke and Duchess of Kent.

Born July 4, the prince, seventh in line for succession to the throne, is the first member of the royal family ever to have an American godfather.

Slim Pajamas

The government wants us to conserve materials, even in our lingerie! Our designer, therefore, has saved on material by keeping these pajamas slim — but she suggests that you make them very decorative and very feminine by trimming them with gay strawberry appliques. Two at the neckline and one on the pocket!

Pattern No. 8234 is in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Size 14, short sleeves, requires 3 7/8 yards 35 or 39-inch material, 1/8 yard of each contrast for appliques, 3 yards bias fold to trim.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to The Reporter-Telegram, Today's Pattern Service, 211 W Wacker Drive, Chicago.

We suggest the new Fall Fashion Book as a complete guide for all home sewing plans. The new copy is just out. Send for one today.

Pattern 15c, Pattern Book 15c, One Pattern and Pattern Book, ordered together 25c. Enclose 1c postage for each pattern.

Holds Record For Number Of Descendants

FORT DAVIS (AP) — The mother of Hugh Yancy Burdine of Fort Davis is being credited as the nation's record-holder for descendants. She has mothered 13 children, has 66 grandchildren and 40 great-grandchildren.

This 79-year-old mother is Mrs. G. W. Burdine of Chester, Choctaw County, Mississippi. Her son Hugh said she knows the names and birthdays of all her grandchildren.

It has been stated authentically that T. R. Fowler of Colorado recently relinquished to W. P. Eddis of Alabama the title of the world's greatest grandparent, and that now Mrs. Burdine stands unchallenged for the honor because Eddis has only 95 descendants to Mrs. Burdine's 119.

How To Hobble An "Iron Horse"

A tank goes over a "ramp" obstruction, designed to cut down speed before it hits the "stopper" crib of logs. Note how ramp forces tank's forepart up, exposing vulnerable belly to anti-tank fire.

Entertainment Unit For Combat Forces

CAMP SHELBY, Miss. (AP) — The third special service battalion is undergoing intensive training here for front-line duty and expects to go overseas for one purpose—to entertain troops returning from the front.

The unit, as mobile as a jeep, carries equipment weighing only seven tons. It can be packed within a couple of hours and contains everything to boost a fighting man's morale from letters from home to the latest in boogie-woogie recordings.

Commanded by Captain Anthony J. Bandura, a former auditor of Minneapolis, the unit is second only to the original unit at Fort Meade, Md., home of the special service training school.

The unit's work begins long before it reaches the fighting zones. The minute it boards a transport the men start making the troops as comfortable as possible.

Special games have been invented that can be played in the cramped quarters of a transport, or in beds, or during a blackout.

Additional equipment designed for use several miles back of the front lines includes 8,000 books, 500 records, symphonic and five, motion picture projectors, musical and theatrical equipment, games, short-wave radio sets for receiving home programs and a public address system.

Woman From England Says Food Is Beautiful

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — American food is "beautiful," says 21-year-old Heather Steele, who arrived recently from Surrey, England.

Miss Steele came here to marry Noel Merritt, auditor, whom she met two years ago while he was serving as an air raid warden in Southampton. She was a member of the Women's Ambulance Defense Corps.

Miss Steele's first Atlantic crossing was made in a convoy of ships, one of which was torpedoed by an enemy submarine. She could not decide which was the more memorable experience—falling flat on the deck during the shelling or a five-day round of seasickness.

Gets Souvenir From President Roosevelt

CHANUTE FIELD, Ill. (AP)—The pen used by President Roosevelt when he signed the new pay bill for enlisted men and officers was loaned to him by men of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command here. Sent to the White House with the request that it be used in signing the bill, President Roosevelt complied, sent it back to Chanutte Field with thanks.

Pup Eats Book On Training of Dogs

By NEA Service

FT. BELVOIR, Va. — Tanks are tough babies to stop, as everyone who has faced the Nazi panzer divisions knows. U. S. Army engineers here, whose chore it is to figure out the tank's limitations, have decided the best way to knock a tank out is to catch it in some narrow passage, such as a gorge or a bend in a country road running through close tall timber, which prevents passing of a trap.

Really Stops Them

Fort Belvoir engineers have devised brand new traps for just such spots. The photos above show how some of these work out. Essentially, the plan is to slow the speeding monster before he hits a main stop-trap. Sometimes this is done by a couple of loose logs on the road. Their effect is about the same as when you step on a lead pencil on the floor. You skid. So do the tanks. If logs are staked down diagonally, the tank may skid off into a ditch or crater at the roadside.

Because tanks are armored heaviest on the sides, less so underneath, another basic form is the ramp-logs arranged so that they force the tanks nose up, exposing its vulnerable belly to concealed fire.

These preliminary obstructions are slower-uppers. From them the enemy tank runs into, at reduced speed, triangular and rectangular "cribs" which stop it and make it a sitting duck for defensive sharpshooters. These cribs are made of huge log-posts imbedded in the ground, trussed together with barbed wire, and the space between them filled with dirt and chunks of logs.

In practice, these cribs, built in 90 minutes, stopped 28-ton M-3's dead every time, and Belvoir engineers believe no tank ever could get through one of these babies.

"Objective Destroyed" --- Then RAF Bombers' Troubles Start

"The long trip back home . . ."

By Paul Manning
NEA Service Correspondent

LONDON — Some of the worst hazards encountered by RAF airmen who bomb Germany at night come after they have blasted the target and start the long trip homeward.

British bombers back across the Channel and because their engines no longer have the desynchronized roar which always identified them at night, they can now mix in and pick off the slow-heavy ships—vulnerable when they begin to land on home airfields.

The recent experience of one crew of young Canadians underlines more graphically than usual the problems of an RAF night raid.

A Wellington with Flight Sergeant "Swede" Swanson of Edmonton, Canada, at the controls, had completed a trip to the target and was well started on the return trip when troubles began. First the rear gunner, on his first operational flight, passed out, due to the freezing of his oxygen.

Passing over Holland at 15,000 feet, they ran into a load of "flak," which tore through the bottom of the big ship. It missed the navigator, Flight Sergeant Erick Bright of Toronto, and wireless operator Flight Sergeant K. (Bing) Crosby of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. The second pilot, however, was badly wounded.

A moment after this happened, more AA shrapnel passed through the starboard side of the plane and quickly the belly of the Wellington was on fire. Swanson put his ship into a steep dive as it stalled, while Crosby and Bright moved forward to stamp out the flames.

Most of the fabric covering the fuselage had burned away, but finally they succeeded in stamping out the fire and kicking the flaming floor through the bomb doors. They had dropped to a thousand feet at this juncture when more flak tore away the hydraulics and the remainder of the forward floor and both wheels dropped away.

Flight Sergeant George Wilkinson, of Ottawa, who had just stepped down from the forward gun turret, found himself dropping through this hole, but hooked his arms over the few remaining spars

Sky Fleets To Tote Armies And Supplies Just-Around-Corner

By John Grover
Wide World Features Writer

WASHINGTON — Sky-filling fleets of flying boxcars, toting whole armies and their supplies to the world fronts at 200 miles an hour are a just-around-the-corner development in the military picture.

Henry J. Kaiser, the West Coast miracle builder, wasn't just talking through his hat when he proposed conversion of nine major shipyards to freight-plane plants turning out 360 seventy-ton cargo planes a month. The Army has announced construction of an Illinois plant to make planes of "two-boxcar" capacity. That's the way the wind's blowing.

Necessity's Baby

This accelerated development of the air-freight program is strictly necessity's baby.

Military air freight is being flown right now. In the first five months of 1942, U. S. pilots flew 5,000,000 miles with supplies for Australia. The Chungking Ferry Command under Brig. Gen. Earl Naiden is in some measure taking the place of the lost Burma Road. Critical materials have been flown to Britain, Russia and the Near East.

The cargo planes now being used are largely converted commercial planes, some 200 of which were requisitioned from U. S. airlines. The bulk of them are 13-tonners.

Cora Is Terrified By A Cow's Bellow

ELGIN, Ill.—Cora, the elephant, two and a half ton member of Wallace Brothers Circus, was so upset by a cow's sudden bellow that she broke away from her trainer and thundered for several miles through Elgin. Fences were smashed, grape arbors crumpled and victory gardens squashed before she was recaptured, but no one was hurt.

FIVE MEN ARE KILLED IN ARMY PLANE CRASH

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Five men were killed and two were injured critically when an Army bomber crashed in landing at the nearby Columbia Airbase Tuesday.

FOUND HIS TEETH

ATCHISON, Kas. (AP)—F. E. Murphy searched everywhere for two teeth from a dental bridge that he couldn't find after awakening. An X-ray film disclosed that he had swallowed them.

and hung there until he could climb back into the machine. Still losing altitude, the bomber was at 200 feet when White, the rear gunner, regained consciousness to find a nightfighter on their tail. The pilot maneuvered the ship into a cloudbank.

They passed over the English coast at 150 feet, going through fog and rain. Pilot Swanson all the time trying to pierce the black void for landing lights below. Gas was low, the tanks virtually empty, when he saw a village and a flat field.

The landing was perfect, a belly slide along a barley field. But it was one of the few meadowland fields in England with a Dutch-type windmill. They climbed out of the Wellington, took one look at the windmill, and said: "My God, we're back in Holland!"

Lighting Ban Hits London Shop Windows

LONDON (AP) — The government's committal to waste no fuel has put an end to all artificial lighting of shop windows and show-cases.

The West End's still handsomely-dressed windows now must depend upon daylight for illumination. Some stores may close basement departments.

Showcases in hotels, restaurants and subway stations also are dark.

Four Women Struck By Lightning; Kills One

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lightning struck four women in a night storm and three lived to tell about it.

One was killed when a bolt struck a tree and surged along a wet clothesline as she stood in her yard near Westminster.

Two others suffered shock when a bolt hit an air-raid siren post near Baltimore. The fourth sustained a possible skull fracture when she was struck while walking along a Baltimore street.

Farmers Cooperate In Hauling Produce

OLDHAM, S. D. (AP) — A "keep 'em moving co-op" has been worked out by farmers in a tri-county area here to eliminate hundreds of half-load trips to market. The group pooled equipment and members take turns hauling. Each contributed 50 cents to cover incidental expenses for the season. The plan saves tires, wear and tear on trucks. It has been endorsed by the Department of Agriculture.

FORTUNE TELLER ARRESTED BUT HE WANTS MONEY BACK

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Patrolman L. Johnson's evidence led to the arrest of a fortune teller, but he's not quite satisfied.

"I paid her 75 cents for having my fortune told and would like to have her return same," his report stated.

He Didn't Remain For Just One More

MAZATLAN, Mexico. (AP) — A blessed event is rocking the West Coast of Mexico. Two bona fide contractors have lived for years in the patio and lower floor of a seaside hotel here. They keep down rats and amuse the tourists. Then one day there were 20 or 30 young boys, about 18 inches long, and they showed up most any place.

One night an American tourist, who had just arrived and knew nothing of Mazatlan life, stopped in the hotel bar for a nightcap. Suddenly he practically had d.t.'s under the bartender's startled eyes. A young boy had wrapped himself around the tourist's leg. He left on the next train, but Mazatlan dismisses him with a shrug as not "sympatico" and is still mighty proud of its mass blessed event.

He's Willing To Give Roosevelt The Time

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Ray H. Cannon, a Texan enrolled in the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command's officer candidate school here, is losing his favorite clock, but, since it's going to his commander-in-chief, he doesn't mind.

The clock is an invention of his which shows the time all over the world. Its fame spread to Texas' veteran Senator Tom Connally, who asked if he might present it to President Roosevelt for service in the White House.

Caucasus Farmers Save Wheat Crops

MOSCOW (AP) — A dispatch to the government newspaper Izvestia said the battles south of Rostov were being fought on fields covered by grain stubble, indicating that farmers in the Caucasus had saved much of their crop despite the speed of the German advance.

He'd Give First Aid Or Take The Tires

PRATT, Kas. (AP)—In a first aid class, the instructor asked a student what he would do if he came upon an automobile with the driver slumped over the wheel.

"Well," was the reply, "if he were conscious I would remove him from the seat, lay him on the ground and apply treatment.

"If he were unconscious, I'd jack up the car and remove the tires."

PIGGLY WIGGLY

Uncle Sam heartily endorses meat for at least one meal a day—more if possible as proven by the tremendous amount of meat our boys in service consume. Medical authorities all agree that meat is one of the richest sources of all the vitamins, minerals and proteins which are necessary for the health of everyone. Build your meals around meat—buy the choicest at PIGGLY WIGGLY where you know you'll get a guarantee of satisfaction or your money back!
