Gandhi Asks For Roosevelt Backing

Allied Leaders Asked To Back Independence For India's Millions

BOMBAY (AP)—The working committee of the All-India Congress Party voted Friday to appeal to President Roosevelt, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador to Britain, to support its demands that Great Britain grant India immediate independence.

Maulana Abdul Kazan Azad, president of the congress, was authorized to dispatch the appeals as soon as the congress committee passes upon a resolution calling for a mass campaign of passive resistance to continued British rule.

Endorsement of the resolution, drafted by Mohandas K. Gandhi, was regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Gandhi himself sent a message to the Chinese Friday to "Let China know that this struggle is as much for her defense as it is for India's liberation."

He declared that India's "ability to give effective assistance" is dependent on her freedom. In an incongruous setting under a canvas tent's top, the 360 militant committee members assembled to begin deliberations on throwing into motion what may become India's grimest bid for independence.

They had the scrawny little leader's own word again that the time for non-violent action is now and that time would show what strength the congress could marshal from his masses of disciples.

There was not the slightest hint from Gandhi's headquarters of any wavering. His statement seemed merely to reiterate that Britain must yield now—not, as she has proposed, wait to grant independence after the war—or see the congress party act.

All that Bombay was asking was: When would mass disobedience begin? How widespread would it be? What forms would it take? Boycott? Highway stoppages? The shunning of dealings with foreigners? Even a general strike?

Phillips Cements Pipe In Its Third Piper, In Andrews Embar Pool

By Frank Gardner

Phillips Petroleum Company has cemented 5 1/2-inch casing at 7,870 feet with 500 sacks in its No. 3 University-Andrews, third producer and one-quarter mile southwest extension to the Embar pool, of the Southwestern Andrews County.

The well is bottomed at 7,991 feet in Ellinger, lower Ordovician, dolomite. Prior to setting casing it flowed an estimated 100 to 125 barrels of oil per hour, rated, the last 28 minutes of a 54-minute drillstem test from 7,850 to 7,901 feet.

Approximately 12 miles northwest of the Embar pool, Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-A Texu is drilling one mile past 8,234 feet.

Mascho Oil Company of Midland has completed cellar and pits and is moving in material to No. 1 Mrs. A. C. Means, Northwest Central Andrews, westward three miles southwest of Shafter Lake.

The Texas Company No. 1 J. Bay Robertson, scheduled 8,000-foot test in Southern Gaines County, is drilling unchanged at 7,552 feet in lime.

In Eastern Terry County, Continental Oil Company No. 1 Dan Auld is drilling below 3,050 feet in anhydrite and red shale. With elevation of 3,237 feet it topped anhydrite at 2,204 feet, about normal for the region.

J. R. Sharp No. 1 Ira Elliott, Northwestern Lubbock County wildcat one mile southwest of Shal-lowater, is drilling at 3,752 feet in hard lime. Sample analysis placed top of brown lime at 3,220 feet and top of solid lime at 3,500.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 W. T. Newman, Western Scurry County 3,500-foot Ordovician test, is drilling with rotary at 700 feet in red beds.

Nelson Approves Construction Of Big Flying Boats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Donald M. Nelson said Friday the WPB had approved construction by Henry J. Kaiser, West Coast ship-builder, of 500 huge "Mars"-type flying boats, with an initial order for 100 to be placed by the Navy shortly.

The other 400 seventy-ton cargo carrying planes will be built Nelson said, in the initial program is accomplished successfully in Kaiser's Pacific Coast shipbuilding plants.

"This is all contingent upon the construction not interfering with our combat plane program," Nelson added.

Asked whether WPB believed it could be done without hampering war plane production he replied: "I have hopes—at least we can try."

Nelson said Kaiser now in Washington, would go to the coast and then "come back and tell us what materials and facilities he needs, when he can get started, and where he will build them."

Other WPB officials said they believed Kaiser planned to construct the big sky freighters at Richmond, Calif., on San Francisco Bay.

Nelson said no other builder would participate in the program under present plans.

Texas Railroads Income Increases Over 200 Per Cent

AUSTIN (AP)—Net income of Texas railroads increased 226 per cent in the first six months of 1942 over the same period of last year, jumping from $11,840,588 to $37,455,325.

The information was presented in testimony at a joint hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Texas Railroad Commission called to determine if the state transportation regulatory agency was justified in withholding full freight and passenger rate increases ordered by I. C. C. in January.

McClintic Brothers Sell Choice Steers

McClintic Brothers sold 61 steer yearlings, high grade Herefords, to V. Lee Matney of Amarillo late Thursday. Delivery will be made Friday, the stock going out by truck.

Matney is shipping the steers to his ranch, 40 miles north of Amarillo, where he is putting them on sudan pasturage for finishing out for the market.

Roy Holloway of Midland made the sale of the steers for McClintic.

Expect Boost In Production Of Texas Oil

AUSTIN (AP)—Indications of a substantial boost in production from various Texas oil fields came Friday as operators attending a state-wide proration hearing before the Railroad Commission offered no objections to a recommendation from the Office of Petroleum Coordinator for larger allocations.

The commission read a telegram from Ralph D. Davis, deputy petroleum coordinator, certifying increases were needed on grounds sufficient to meet the demand for war products.

Davis specifically recommended these field increases on a calendar day or average basis:

Conroe up 13,225 to 45,500; Lovell's Lake up 743 to 5,300; Raccoon Bend shallow up 529 to 1,490; Raccoon Bend creek up 4,818 to 7,500; Amelia up 1,173 to 4,600; Cotton Lake up 85 to 4,600; Cotton Lake South up 85 to 2,500; Hattings up 7,717 to 23,600; Sugarland up 577 to 2,200; Turtle Bay up 414 to 1,600; Webster up 3,110 to 12,100; Greta Deep up 326 to 690; Heyser up 4,315 to 12,000; Melch Creek up 394 to 760; Plymouth up 428 to 11,000; Tom O'Connor up 17,301 to 34,500; Henderson up 1,518 to 4,500.

Davis further urged, without a specific quantity recommendation, an immediate increase for the Conoco-Driscoll field in order to avoid the "necessity for a greater increase in subsequent months."

The commission has been taking testimony on the Humble Oil and Refining Company's petition for greater allocations after the OFC recommendations were made public.

$205,514,657,286 Is Authorized For War Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compilation of Congress' fiscal activity showed Friday that the staggering sum of $205,514,657,286 had been appropriated or authorized between June 1, 1940, to June 30, 1943, for expenditure to provide the nation's defense and war needs.

The figures, including a breakdown of both war-necessitated and "normal" appropriations, voted this year were prepared by the Bureau of the Budget and were placed in the congressional record by Senator Glass (D-Va.) and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the House and Senate appropriations committees.

Explanation of the $139,770,114,641 appropriated during this session, Cannon pointed out that approximately $133,370,000,000 was earmarked for war purposes while approximately $6,400,000,000 was tagged for ordinary costs of government.

Glass, in his analysis of the figures, declared Congress had reduced appropriations for the normal activities of government by $1,667,005,150.89 below last year's figures, and made increases in that category.

RAF Bombers Again Attack Ruhr Valley

LONDON (AP)—A strong force of RAF bombers Thursday night attacked the big German industrial center of Dusseldorf, target of repeated raids in July, and other points in the Ruhr Valley, the Air Ministry announced Friday.

Nazi airbases in the low countries also were attacked by British raiders, six of which failed to return from their night missions, a communiqué said.

The size of the strong force was not disclosed officially but a British source said that in the days before the British hurled more than 1,000 bombers against Germany in a single night, Thursday night's total would have been considered "a whopper."

The foray was the third successive night assault upon the Ruhr region.

Acknowledge Damage.—The German high command acknowledged material damage to buildings by both high-explosives and incendiary bombs and said there were some casualties in RAF raids on "residential quarters" in several towns. It claimed seven British bombers were shot down.

The German command said German planes bombed military targets in Southwest England on Thursday and Harbor and armament works in East England and on the east coast of Scotland Thursday night.

The raids were not on a heavy scale, however, and, although there were some casualties, first reports indicated the number was not large.

Little Fire Damage.—Britons had been prepared for the new phosphorus bombs the Germans dropped by a bulletin from the Ministry of Home Security, which gave explicit instructions for dealing with these incendiaries. As a result fires which were started were extinguished with a minimum of damage.

The new phosphorus bombs the Nazis raided demolished a section of a hospital, causing several fatalities and trapping a number of patients in the debris.

A coastal resort, crowded with vacationists, was attacked by a single low-flying plane which sprayed the streets with machine gun fire. Several persons were injured.

The Air Ministry issued a summary Friday of aerial operations in all theaters for July which placed British losses at 432 planes and credited the RAF with destroying 420 Axis aircraft.

1,700 Cows Sold By Mabee & Pyle; Oklahoma Buyers

Mabee and Pyle sold 1,700 head of high grade Hereford cows Thursday afternoon in Midland to Oklahoma buyers, and made delivery at once by truck on 200 head. Fifteen hundred will be delivered October 15, after calves are weaned. No calves were sold.

The cows, ranging from two to six-year olds, sold at two price levels, those delivered Thursday bringing $90 per head, and those to be delivered in October selling at $82.50.

This is one of the strongest cattle sales made in Midland for some time. Mabee and Pyle ranches are located in Martin County, northeast of Midland.

Bruce Goode, Midland, Invents Robot Sandman Which Loads Bombs For Midland Army School

A bomb-loading machine, invented by Bruce Goode of Midland, and now pouring sand into practice bombs at the Midland Army Flying School, has attracted much attention from the flying school authorities and from visitors here from fields throughout the nation.

Watching the soldiers at the field load the bombs with shovels, Goode conceived the idea of a machine which would be faster and require few men to operate. And, he solved the problem to perfection with what he chooses to call the "Anti-Japanese Sandman."

Dry, Pours Sand.—Basically the invention is a combination of sand dryer and distributor, for gas jets are so arranged that they dry the moisture from the sand as it runs through the loading hoppers, thus enabling it to pour quickly into the bomb shells. Running from the hopper are loading vents which handle twenty bombs at a time, giving each the exact weight of 73 pounds of sand. A small model of the machine first was perfected, and tried. Then Goode began the construction of the machine for actual use. It is in constant use at the field, for loading bombs is a big job. There have been 150,000 of these sand-and-powder bombs used since the bombing practice began in March. As the days pass, the number per day is fast being increased.

Goode, an old Navy man himself, is having a good time doing his part to speed up the work of training men to bomb Tokyo. And the Army is happy to have had the speedier-upper put into operation.

Russian Tanks Crush Nazi Troops In One Of Greatest Battles

MOSCOW (AP)—Hurling its own huge tanks against the mechanized Nazi onrush, the Red Army checked the Germans Friday along the whole Stalingrad front in one of the great tank battles of the war, with infantry crushed by the hundreds under the treads of the steel war wagons, battlefront dispatches said.

Only in the critical Belaya Glina sector 100 miles into the North Caucasus were the Russian defenses still reported sagging before the big Axis offensive. There dive bombers blasted ceaselessly at the Russian lines as they jattered the way for German gains.

The Russians reported rolling the Nazis back in hard counter-attacks at the Don Bend approaches to Stalingrad, and said fierce-charging Don and Kuban Cossacks sabred more than 3,000 Germans.

By Roger D. Greene Associated Press War Editor

Adolf Hitler's blood-for-oil drive into the Caucasus was slowed in two key sectors Friday, Russian accounts said, as Red armies beat off repeated mass tank assaults and mopped up fresh swarms of Nazi parachutists and plane-transported troops behind the Soviet lines.

An entirely different version came from German field headquarters, which declared Gen. Fedor Von Bock's armies had captured three strategic towns and advanced to a depth of 160 miles on the road to the Caucasus oil treasures.

Drainage Ditches To New Airport Are Being Built

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters asserted Nazi troops swarming across the Kuban River had advanced to within 30 miles of the Malkop oil fields. The Malkop wells are important but far less vital than the huge Baku fields which lie across the towering Caucasus Mountains hundreds of miles to the Southeast.

The Nazi communiqué also asserted Axis columns were approaching Krasnodar, 150 miles southwest of Rostov, on the rail line to the Black Sea.

Arrival of Soviet reinforcements in the critical struggle below the Don River was acknowledged by the German command, which said the Russians were counter-attacking North of the Sal River—apparently in the Kotelnikovsk sector, 95 miles south of Stalingrad.

The high command emphasized the role of Nazi dive-bombers in helping German troops "in their heavy defense" against Soviet "relief attacks" in the Rzhev sector, northwest of Moscow, and conceded that the Red armies were striking back in the big bend of the Don River before Stalingrad.

Texas May Double Sea Food Output

AUSTIN (AP)—Mushrooming food demands of Uncle Sam and his fighting Allies may double the 17,500,000 pounds of sea foods now being yanked from Texas coastal waters each year.

J. B. Arnold, director of the coastal division of the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, said Friday that development of the mackerel, mullet and crab fisheries would bring into production food supplies equal at least to the total amount of fish now produced on the Texas coast.

Urging fuller utilization of all potential food resources to meet stringent domestic and lease-lend requirements, Arnold declared that the present annual production of 13,000 pounds of Texas crabs "is minute in comparison to what Texas could produce."

Government May Aid College Students

WASHINGTON (AP)—Education sources disclosed Friday a special committee of the War Manpower Commission was considering a proposal for wartime "democratization" of American colleges through direct money grants to students, as a means of assuring an adequate supply of Army and Navy officer material and other trained personnel for the general war program.

An educator, who preferred not to be quoted directly, predicted that unless the government subsidized higher education the number of students in colleges and universities might drop as much as 30 per cent during the next school term.

Junk Junket Aids Rubber Program

You never know what you'll find till you start to look for it, and that applies particularly to the collection of junk in wartime. Take the experience of Wright W. Gary, for instance. Gary is director of refining in Harold Ickes' Office of the Petroleum Co-ordinator for War, known for short as OPC. Gary has just returned to Washington from a month's tour of U. S. oil refineries, and he has found existing, idle refinery equipment which can be assembled in some 30 different refinery areas and by the end of the year be put to producing 200,000 tons of butadiene a year.

Now this is important news. Butadiene, you'll recall, is the essential raw material that goes into synthetic rubber. Mix approximately 80 per cent butadiene with 20 per cent styrene, let 'em polymerize, which is the fancy chemical name for "build up" and Buna S synthetic rubber comes out here.

The government's synthetic rubber program calls for the manufacture of Buna S synthetic rubber at the rate of 700,000 tons a year, 480,000 tons of it to be made from petroleum products.

The building of new plants requires a lot of critical materials, particularly copper and steel. In fact, a big part of the drawback in expanding the synthetic rubber program has been the scarcity of critical materials for the plants. Gary's discoveries of suitable butadiene refinery equipment already in existence are important, therefore, because they show that about 30 per cent of this 638,000-ton productive capacity may not have to be built, or that butadiene can be produced sooner than had been hoped, or that the butadiene and synthetic rubber programs can be expanded, or that 30 per cent of the critical materials scheduled to go into the butadiene plants can be diverted to something else.

Gary's report makes it clear that this old equipment is not 100 per cent complete for use as is. But he estimates that it is 90 per cent complete, and will require only 10 per cent more critical materials to put it into operation.

Putting this equipment into operation simply requires that the refineries which now have the idle units swap among themselves or pool spare parts in such a way that complete plants can be assembled.

Meeting The Challenge

The major part of the conversion of America's peacetime industries to an all-out war production basis has been accomplished. Schedules set for the manufacture of planes, tanks, guns, ships, rifles, shells have been met and passed.

The main load formerly carried by the larger units is now being shouldered to a greater extent by smaller plants through sub-contracting and through out-right changes from so-called luxuries to implements of war. Typical is the fact that small machine gun parts, gun sights and gun mounts on through heavy tank parts, are now being manufactured by plants which formerly made home laundering appliances.

"Overnight, the face of American industry has changed almost beyond recognition," William P. Witherow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said in a recent article describing the all-out conversion of industry from peacetime to wartime production.

"A factory that made orange squeezers before Pearl Harbor is now turning out bullet pouches. A peacetime manufacturer of roller coasters is now producing signal towers for the Army. A firm that used to make brassiers is fabricating mosquito netting for our soldiers in the tropics. A wallpaper company is filling incendiary bombs. A plant that made footballs is today producing gas masks."

Yes, industry with typical American ingenuity is meeting the challenge. As Witherow says, "Lock, stock and barrel, American industrial and business management has moved to the firing line, to turn out the wherewithal of warfare. It is proving its world leadership not only with techniques and ingenuity that blaze new trails but with record-shattering output. In making decisions, industrial executives use only one yardstick: "Will it help win the war?"

U.S. Bombardiers Smash Jap Planes

CHUNGKING (AP) — United States bombers attacked a Japanese airbase near Canton Thursday, destroying at least 10 grounded enemy planes. Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwells headquarters announced Friday.

"The Japanese were taken completely by surprise," a headquarters communiqué said. Besides the destruction of grounded Japanese planes, the bombers scored hits on the airbase runway, it said.

All of the American planes, including bombers and fighter escort, returned safely to their bases.

gory of $579,872,154, leaving a net cut of $1,087,132,896.71.

In citing the three-year $205,514,657,286 total on the books for war expenditures, Cannon emphasized that the figure did not represent actual expenditures.

Plan Appropriations and authorizations," he said, "need to be made far in advance in order that programs of orders for material, weapons, naval vessels, merchant ships and all other war-effort requirements may be integrated with the recruitment and training of manpower, and the long range planning and conduct of the war in the various theatres of action where that war may be fought."

The Budget Bureau's figures on actual expenditures for war purposes:

Fiscal year 1941—$6,301,000,000.
Fiscal year 1942—$25,954,000,000.
Fiscal year 1943 (estimated)—$67,000,000,000.

Simultaneously, Cannon reported that the total gross public debt on June 30, 1942, was $72,422,000,000, and estimated that it would reach $125,443,000,000 by that date next year.

Red Army Bulletin
By contrast with the Nazi claims, a mid-day bulletin from Red Army headquarters gave this picture of the 350-mile battlefront:

Kotelnikovo Sector, 95 miles south of Stalingrad—"The Germans are sending in large numbers of tanks in attempts to smash our defenses. Our troops have repulsed these attacks."

Kushchevka Sector, 50 miles south of Rostov—"The Germans launched repeated attacks against our positions, but were repulsed with heavy losses."

Kletsakaya Sector, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad—"Our troops launched a number of counterattacks and pressed the enemy back, destroying nine German tanks and killing about 800 enemy officers and men."

The lone setback conceded by the Russians was in the Belaya Glna Sector, 100 miles southeast of Rostov, where Red Army troops withdrew at several points Thursday.

Nine of 10 big Junkers transports which landed in one area were reported set afire or wrecked and the sky troops accounted for to the last man. Front-line dispatches said new showers of parachute troops were being exterminated or rounded up almost as fast as they landed.

While Soviet accounts indicated that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's defenses were hardening, the German radio reported that Nazi spearheads had reached Kursavka on the Rostov-Baku railway, 230 miles southeast of Rostov, nearly one-third of the distance to the great Baku oil fields in the far South-eastern Caucasus.

Midland Couple, Wed At Memphis, Is At Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. William Everett Shipp are at home at 607 W. Kansas following their marriage July 28 at Memphis, Texas, and a honeymoon trip to New Mexico. Mrs. Shipp is the former Miss Eloise Norman, teacher in the Midland Schools for the past three years.

The wedding was a morning ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Norman, brother and sister-in-law of the bride. The Rev. Russell A. Wingert, Presbyterian minister, read the service before the fireplace where the mantle was flanked by giant white daisies and gladioli intermingled with greenery. Tall candelabra held lighted tapers.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Ethan Allen, sister of the groom, sang "At Dawning" accompanied by Mrs. Henry Tiley who also played the wedding marches and "Liebestraum" and "Ave Maria" softly during the ceremony.

Bride Wears Suit
The bride wore a full suit with jacket of saddle tan wideawake silk corduroy and skirt of aqua blue. Her hat was a large off-the-face felt in aqua and her other accessories rust. She wore a corsage of pink Briarcliff roses and gypsophylla. For the traditional "something old" and "borrowed" she wore a brooch belonging to her mother, Mrs. J. H. Norman, and carried a lace handkerchief used by Mrs. W. E. Shipp, Sr., the groom's mother, at her wedding.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held. Beverages centered the refreshment table appointed with a silver coffee service. The three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom.

When the couple departed on the wedding trip, Mrs. Shipp wore a navy crepe dress with white daisy trim and matching accessories.

The bride attended Southern Methodist University and Texas Christian University where she received her degree. She is a member of Play Readers Club here.

Mr. Shipp is a graduate of Texas Christian University and did post-graduate work at the University of Texas. He is chief clerk for the Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Company in Midland.

Mrs. Shipp, Sr., attended the wedding from Midland.

The Adirondack open pair event was won by Mr. and Mrs. Willis G. Barnett of Albany, N. Y. They were out in front at the end of the first session and remained there to finish as winners. Mrs. Barnett is a rather tricky player and likes to take a chance, as shown in today's hand.

On the opening lead dummy played the jack of hearts. East the king and South the ace. Mrs. Barnett, sitting South, now saw that in order to make the contract, she would have to win five clubs, two hearts, and two tricks in the other suits. She decided that the best chance was to try to sneak a diamond trick through, then give away a club trick, and hope that the defenders would break the spades for her.

The plan went like clockwork. The jack of diamonds was led and allowed to win. Then Mrs. Barnett led a low club and West was in. Seeing that dummy had two more stoppers in hearts, West abandoned the suit and shifted to the four of spades. East took his ace and returned a spade—and now it was all over. Nine top tricks were established for the declarer.

SERIAL STORY

LUCKY PENNY

BY GLORIA KAYE

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

FLAMING skies were no novelty to Penny Kirk. She had seen London's inferno of bursting bombs. She had raced against death in blazing France.

Now Penny drove leisurely along a road canopied by heavens of red—but this was different. The glare in the skies was friendly, comforting, reflecting the glowing furnaces of the Kirk mills—her mills.

This, Penny knew, was where she belonged. In all the years she had spent abroad she had never before thought of Kirktown as anything more than the setting for Grandfather John's stories of a career that had brought him excitingly from poverty to riches.

Now the Kirk mills belonged to Penny. For the first time in the 23 years of her leisurely, lazy life, she felt a sense of responsibility, a sense that here she would find a constructive outlet for her energies, a meaning to living.

She had been sheltered, too carefully, by indulgent parents who had sought to protect her from harsh reality. They had never taken an interest in the mills. Their life, and hers, had been luxuriously idle. Now, alone, she would have to rebuild her life from foundations shattered by the thunder of war over Europe.

Penny felt as if she were riding in a fabulously rosy toy balloon. How different, she reflected, from her last long ride through France. There, too, the skies were red. Death and destruction rode in the clouds that awful day.

Penny shuddered, remembering that wild ride from her villa to the safe haven of a port from which she could embark for the United States. She had been crowded into an army car maneuvered by a sullen poilu in uniform. Her companions were a diplomat's heavy-set wife and a trench-coated correspondent. The diplomat's wife fainted regularly every five minutes. The newspaperman betrayed his shakiness by smoking a maddeningly endless chain of cigars. All about them were havoc, destruction, misery.

Penny had never realized how much the simple initials "U. S. A." could mean. Not until she had crossed the dangerous Atlantic in a blackened refugee ship. Not until she stood on deck and wept unashamedly, with all the rest of the passengers, at sight of the Statue of Liberty.

That trip had done something to Penny's point of view. Having Pierre create a new coiffure for her every week didn't seem so important. He would have called the way her naturally beautiful tresses now lay loosely on her shoulders "ter-rific!"

Her blue eyes had once expressed a carefully affected boredom, a coolness and hauteur. Aboard ship she had discovered they could inspire confidence and warmth in frightened fellow passengers.

So Penny learned to smile and to laugh. Her quiet "smile up" inspired new courage in others, even when she shared their dread of what the next few minutes might bring.

In New York, Penny had gone to only one cocktail party. It was no good. She couldn't help contrasting the false, forced gaiety of her placid friends with the natural laughter of the ship-board children who were so sincere in their appreciation of her half-remembered stories.

Without fanfare, without so much as a single newspaper interview, without posing for a single rotogravure picture, Penny had left New York. "I'm somebody new," she had said herself. "I left the old Penelope Kirk in France. Now I had better go home—really home—and find myself again."

THE Kirk estate, overlooking a valley that was green along its upper slopes and brown along the river that served the steel mills, was more beautiful than she had dreamed it would be. Kirktown nestled like a doll village down below.

Penny stared up at the gracefully colonnaded edifice, so like a Grecian temple. At the foot of the hill stretched the giant busy mills, making fiery sacrifice to this shrine of their founder.

Late in the afternoon of her unheralded arrival, after cautioning the caretaker and his wife to tell no one she had come, Penny selected a gray roadster and started out for Kirktown. The winding road down to the river was pleasant, cool in lengthening shadows.

As dusk deepened, the furnaces lit the somber skies with an ever brightening glow. The summer night was calm and peaceful. The roadster neared a fork in the road. One tangent stretched invitingly upward, toward a white building that dominated the street, and past little houses whose lights were just now beginning to blink.

Another way reached downward to the mills and the river. Penny chose the upward road.

At the top of the hill, the white building she had noticed was framed in brilliant light that flooded from hidden recesses in the shrubbery. Now Penny could see the name above the entrance.

"John Kirk Memorial Auditorium" she read. Penny stopped. She read the name again. "John Kirk Memorial Auditorium." How like Grandfather John to present so fine a gift to his town.

Nothing she had ever experienced could equal Penny's thrill as she stood now, a tiny figure, staring up at the gracefully colonnaded edifice, so like a Grecian temple. How appropriate, she thought. At the foot of the hill stretched the giant, busy mills, making fiery sacrifice every night and all through the day to this shrine of their founder.

For a long time Penny remained thus, in worshipful silence, oblivious to the murmur of conversation of strollers who passed by. Her awakening was rude. She heard a bitter, vicious voice, whose words she knew could not have been directed to her. But they seared her like a hot iron pressed against her flesh.

"I'll sleep on it," she decided driving slowly, thoughtfully home. (To Be Continued)

Bufs Take Close One From League Leader Beaumont

(By The Associated Press) The Houston Bufs Thursday night again defeated the Texas League leading Beaumont Exporters 1 to 0, as Hank Polly yielded only two hits.

The Bufs gathered seven hits off Beaumont's Clarence Gann, but not until the eighth did Houston put together a couple of singles for the only score of the evening.

J. P. Wood hit a lousy triple with one down in the ninth, whereupon Polly fanned Aase and forced Dick Wakefield, the loop's leading hitter, to roll one toward second base for the final out.

The Dallas Rebels' consecutive losses climbed to 14 when they were bested by Oklahoma City in a double header, 10 to 9 and 3 to 1. The last five of the Rebels setbacks were administered by the Indians.

Gordon Maltzberger took credit for his second victory in as many nights as the Shreveport Sports bested the San Antonio Missions, 5 to 3. Maltzberger went into the fray in the eighth.

It was a 10-inning affair at San Antonio, Tony York's homer with a man on base breaking up the ball game. The Missions collected 13 hits off Doyle Lade, Al Bronkhus and Maltzberger, but left 16 men stranded.

The Fort Worth Cats subdued the Tulsa Oilers, 13 to 3. Nick Bultizer, pitcher recently acquired from Oklahoma City, walked five out of six men in the Fort Worth first, forcing in two runs.

Eisenhower Got In At Top In This War

By Robert Ruark NEA Service Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON — For a man who has been an Army officer since 1915, its taken Lt. Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower a long time to get into an actual war. He missed the last one by a hair; he was supposed to sail for France on Nov. 12, 1918, and they crossed him up by signing the Armistice on the 11th.

But Gen. Ike—that's a hangover from a kid nickname—is starting at the top in this one. He's in charge of U. S. forces in the European theater, and is speculated upon as possible supreme Allied commander, which is pretty good going for a fellow who got in the Army because Navy wouldn't have him.

No great military tradition spurred Ike Eisenhower into the Army. His father was a highly religious Kansas farmer, engineer and ice-maker of quasi-Quaker faith. Father Eisenhower never spared the rod, and he didn't spoil any children.

AGE KEPT HIM FORM NAVAL ACADEMY Ike, No. 3 in a bevy of six brothers, went to West Point because a boyhood chum went to Annapolis. Ike was a few days too old for the Naval Academy, so he adopted the Army as the next best thing.

Mother Eisenhower, still alive in Abilene, Kans., at 81, is proud of all her kids. Arthur is a banker, Ed's a lawyer. Roy, until his death an engineer and Milton, the baby, shorttime ago, was a druggist. Earl's is a government career man who recently was named second in command to Elmer Davis at the War Information Board.

But you gather that Ike was the favorite with Ma Eisenhower. Maybe it was because he was such a good cook, even though he was very sensitive about his artistry the boys heard Ma and Pa drive up. Hurrily, Ike collected the grimy remains of his master piece, dumped it back in the bowl and made his pie. The folks ate it and pronounced it good, whereupon Ike told them about the fight. They were inclined to be a touch skeptical about Ike's cooking thereafter.

According to Brother Milton, General Eisenhower was just about the most normal kid who ever lived. He wasn't especially smart in school. He never got in any real serious devilry, but Milton says there never was "any good clean trouble" in Abilene that Ike wasn't mixed up in.

White Sox And Senators Recover From Bad Case Sleeping Sickness

Awakened To Win Long String Of Victories, And With No Fan-Fare (By The Associated Press) With practically no fanfare two of the American League clubs suffering from sleeping sickness as the result of staying too near the contagious cellar zone suddenly have shown unexpected signs of life.

The Chicago White Sox have won half a dozen games in succession in recent days and the Washington Senators have won seven out of nine in the last couple of weeks for what amounts to a sizzling spur for the Nationals.

Beat The Yanks Thursday night, led by the irrepressible Bobo Newson, they set down the New York Yankees 6-3 in a free-hitting affair in which Washington made 14 blows and the Yanks 11. In addition the usually flawless Yankees contributed a couple of errors to rookie Hank Borowy's second defeat of the season.

The White Sox whipped the Detroit Tigers 4-1 with Edgar Smith pitching six-hit ball and losing a shutout because Jim Bloodworth belted a home run in the eighth inning.

No more convincing evidence that Chicago's hitless wonders are soaring could be mentioned than to point out that even Smith, the unlucky southpaw who has lost 17 times, now has been able to gain his third victory.

In the only other American League game the Boston Red Sox scored their second straight shutout as Bill Butland, ordinarily used for relief chores, pitched four-hit ball to beat the Philadelphia Athletics 2-0.

Cleveland's doubleheader at St. Louis was postponed. Only one game was scheduled in the National League and in this the New York Giants released all the pent up fury of their last three days to overwhelm the Brooklyn Dodgers 8-0 with five home runs and a steady seven-hit performance by Prince Hal Schumacher.

Mel Ott hit two of New York's circuit blows, bringing his total for the season to 18, and Bill Werber, Mickey Witek and Buster Maynard accounted for the others.

Giant Cargo Planes Are Being Produced In American Plants

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gigantic cargo planes, capable of mass transport of troops across the Atlantic out of reach of lurking submarines, are not a vision of the future—they are an actuality, in quantity production.

And even greater ships, with a capacity of 400 soldiers, able to span the Atlantic in 10 to 12 hours, have passed the speculative stage to the point where the industry could begin their construction.

Industry Is Ready Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the board of Consolidated Aircraft Corp., and Maj. Reuben H. Fleet, the company's founder and present adviser, made these statements as they told the nation, in radio talks, that the industry is prepared to tackle the heavy transport problem.

"The problem calls for big planes that can carry large loads over great distances at high speeds," said Girdler in San Diego. "Such planes are being built.

Will Aid Shipbuilders "Consolidated's Coronado... has a hull bigger than a pullman car," he said. "It can remain at sea for days. It has a range of more than 5,000 miles. And we have over 3,000 men developing super-planes for the Army and Navy. If shipbuilders can build planes in quantity we will help them do so."

Referring to the 400-passenger craft, Major Fleet, in a broadcast here said aircraft engineers "have planned this greater airplane to the point where our industry could begin its production."

Featherweight And Lightweight Titles Thought Wide Open

NEW YORK (AP) — It is still a matter of argument, like how hot you like your breakfast coffee, but the Jacobs' benchwarmers were pretty much convinced Friday that there'll be a couple of new bosses ruling the featherweights and lightweights as a result of the cuffing around Allie Stolz handed Chalky Wright in the latest neighborhood beat-busting.

Stolz, a curly-haired Newarker point out as "class," cuffed the curlooned with what the beachcombers rent featherweight champion — New York State version — all over Madison Square Gardens ring for the last five rounds of their fight Friday night, and was so much the winner that he not only galloped off with a ten-round decision, but says in the final heat.

And from his showing, Allie impressed even the oldest inhabitants that next time he tangles with lightweight champ Sammy Angott, probably around October 2, he'll likely wind up taking the 135-pound crown away from Samuel. The last time they went into their walk, in May, Sammy came out with a disputed, split decision.

Ben Hogan And Company Top Canadian Openers

TORONTO (AP) — With Ben Hogan in the lead, United States professionals topped the field which teed off Friday on the second 18-hole round of the Canadian Open golf tournament.

Hogan set a stiff pace in Thursday's open round, blazing over the 6,543-yard Mississauga Club layout in 65, seven under par.

Although he shattered his competitive course record, Hogan's lead was only one stroke better than Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Ralph Guldahl of Santa Fe, Calif.
