Urge Passage New Tax Bill

More Axis Troops And Machines Are Thrown At Stalingrad Lines

Needed To Stabilize Price Rise

By FRANCIS J. KELLY.
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Calling for speed in the race against inflation, Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance Committee Thursday urged final passage of the new tax bill before the November elections. The revised text, now in the hands of printers, will receive a final inspection by the committee Friday, George said it would be called up for action in the Senate Monday, or Tuesday at the latest. He foresaw only two or three days of debate and said he hoped to have it in the hands of a joint Senate-House conference committee the week of Oct. 12.

Natural Gas Program Is Studied

CHICAGO, (AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission, representing 12 petroleum producing states, Thursday turned over its quarterly meeting to a study of the importance of natural gas conservation as a factor in the national economy. The conferees attached national interest to their sessions because of the war which has necessitated rationing of fuel oil and gasoline and utilization of every national resource. Commission members planned to look into the future of expanding pipeline facilities, developments in the liquefied petroleum gas industry, Bureau of Mines research, technical developments in gas synthesis, gas utilization for synthetic products, and natural gas conservation.

Speed Limit Of 35 Miles Now In Effect

A wartime speed limit of 35-miles an hour for privately owned automobiles went into effect throughout the nation Thursday and officers announced it would be enforced here. Enforcement methods varied in various sections of the country from imposition of strict penalties to appeals to patriotism. Police Chief Lon Tyson reminded motorists that Midland's speed limit is 30-miles an hour and said this would be enforced. State highway patrolmen and the sheriff's department also are checking speed. The Office of Defense Transportation ordered the speed restriction to help conserve the nation's rubber stockpile. It said all 48 states were (Continued on Page 2)

MOSCOW, (AP)—Backed up by a stream of reinforcements from across the Volga and barges from the roving guns of the Volga flotilla, Russian infantrymen under fresh, telephoned orders from Joseph Stalin to yield no more were reported crunching forward Thursday northwest and southwest of Stalingrad. Dispatches to Red Star from Stalin's namesake city frankly pictured it as in the "most decisive moment" of its trial as an increasing weight of Axis troops and machines was thrown into the fight.

Taylor Cole Named Vice President Of Jaycees Of Texas

Midland Jaycees have a representative on the executive committee of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce with the appointment of Taylor Cole as executive vice-president, John Ben Shepperd, Jaycee state president, announced in Gladewater Thursday. He will replace Earl Bunkley of Sweetwater, who resigned to join the Army Air Corps. Cole, former state chairman of the Jaycee post-war planning committee, will continue his work with post-war planning since the importance of the project has increased to such an extent that Shepperd believes that it merits a portfolio of vice-president. As state chairman, Cole has visited 20 organizations, attended five regional conventions and traveled more than 6,000 miles on Jaycee business since July 1. He recently attended the directors' meeting of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce in Chicago where his post-war planning program was adopted on a national scale.

The counter-offensive strokes on the wings of the constructed front evidently were designed to wipe out or offset a new wedge driven into the northwestern flank by a fresh German tank division, as reported in the Kremlin's midnight communique. Even with the arrival of that panzer division and two fresh infantry divisions, the Germans seemed unable to deal the decisive blow. At the same time Volga boatmen were keeping communications open across the river, bringing up Russian reserves under fierce German air attacks. Red Star said that from 600 to 1,000 planes had been bombing Stalingrad each day, piling debris on debris. Thursday's mid-day communique said that the enemy had been dislodged from one village at the southwestern outskirts of Stalingrad, and Red Star said that in that southern sector three settlements had been recaptured, with Rumanian troops thrown into panic at one place. Another height was seized in the Russian relief offensive northwest of Stalingrad, where several Axis divisions were reported massing in support of the drive already estimated to be employing as many as 500,000 of Hitler's troops. The newspaper Pravda said thousands of civilians were aiding the Red Army in street battles. Dozens of tanks and other implements of war were reported assembled in bomb-damaged factories and sent into the fray. Volga River sailors and dock workers continued at their jobs, moving troops and supplies despite aerial raids.

Army Men Instructed To Observe 35-Mile Hour Speed Regulations

All officers, enlisted men and civilian employees of Midland Army Flying School were put on notice Tuesday to observe the 35 miles per hour speed limit ordered by the Office of Defense Transportation. In a special order, Brigadier General Isaiah Davies enjoined all members of his command, both military and civilian, to observe the rubber conservation measure.

Davies Urges All Citizens To Aid U.S. War Program

Brigadier General I. Davies told Midland Rotarians at their meeting Thursday in Hotel Scharbauer that every person who fails to do his full duty in the war-effort is a traitor. "This is no time for smooth water sailing," the Midland Army Flying School's commanding general declared. "We are going to miss a lot of things. We now are missing some of them including speeds faster than 35-miles an hour, tires, used tires, rubber boots. But we are going to miss a lot more. Rubber is one of the most critical items in the war effort. Most people are thoroughly in sympathy with the conservation program. "Observe the new speed limit and conserve our tires. You'll get twice the mileage from tires by driving 35-miles an hour than you will at 60-mile an hour speed. Save your tires. You'll probably get no more when these wear out. "Score Against Us" "So far as the war is concerned, America hasn't been to bat yet. The score now is against us, but when we go to bat we hope we can reverse it. "Very few civilians actually have been subjected to actual sacrifices and they are not fully appreciative of the problems ahead of us. "We are fighting two wars in two hemispheres. It is a tremendous problem. We should unite and think only about one thing—winning this war. (Continued on page two)

Gauge Fullerton Well In Andrews At Record Yield

By FRANK GARDNER.
Oil Editor.
Record well of the Fullerton deep Permian pool in Northwestern Andrews County is indicated at Fullerton Oil Company of California No. 2-A H. M. Wilson. The big producer, on test of the upper and intermediate pays, flowed 104 barrels of oil the first hour and 30 barrels the second hour. Total depth at the time was 7,170 feet in line. Tubing was set on bottom, with packer at 7,035 feet, but packer failed, consolidating the pays. The well had been acidized with a total of 14,000 gallons at various depths. It now is drilling ahead past 7,225 feet in line and will be bottomed between 7,250 and 7,300 feet for completion. No. 2-A Wilson is in the southeast sector of the pool. On the east side of the pool, the same firm's No. 1 McKean & Eilers is drilling past 3,640 feet in anhydrite. Deeper of all wells now drilling in West Texas, Atlantic Refining Company, No. 1-A Texas, southwest Central Andrews field, has passed 9,966 feet in line of the Simpson, middle Ordovician, topped at 9,900 feet. Phillips Petroleum Corporation No. 12 University-Andrews, three-fourths of a mile northwest of Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, production in the Embar pool of Southwestern Andrews, is preparing to drill stem test after coring to 8,195 feet in dolomite. It topped the Ellenburger at approximately 8,128 feet. Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 D. N. Leaverton, Northwestern Gaines County wildcat, has coring below 5,198 feet in line streaked with anhydrite and shale. A drill stem test from 5,016 to 5,138 feet with tool open 32 1/2 minutes returned 900 (Continued on page 4)

National Newspaper Weeks Starts Thursday

NEW YORK, (AP)—The men who make a business of converting the world's events into ink so that all may read and know paused Thursday and figuratively took stock of their record. The occasion was the opening of the National Newspaper Week. America's press had plenty to pat itself on the back about. But it was too busy helping to win a war—not alone any more than is any single fighter or worker or industry, nor even any single nation. Its Commander in Chief, Franklin D. Roosevelt, put it this way: "Our free press has not only survived—it is an essential part of the steady ballast which enables our ship to ride the storm. DISTRICT ATTORNEY HERE ON BUSINESS. District Attorney Martelle McDonald of Big Springs was in Midland on business Thursday.

Speed Action On Inflation Bill For FDR

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON, (AP)—A speedy adjustment of Senate and House differences which would send the administration's anti-inflation legislation to President Roosevelt for his signature within 24 hours was forecast Thursday by congressional leaders. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, said he saw no reason why the bill should not be laid before the President by Friday at the latest. That would be one day beyond the deadline set by Mr. Roosevelt. Backed by an 82 to 6 vote in the Senate, administration lieutenants sought an agreement with House members to the major features of a compromise Senate version directing the President to stabilize prices, wages and salaries at Sept. 15 levels, so far as practical. After Party Basis This would entail a reversal of the House vote to alter the basis of computing farm parity standards and acceptance of an administration-sponsored amendment inserted by the Senate directing the President to raise price ceilings where they did not reflect to growers the increase in labor and other costs since Jan. 1, 1941. Senator Brown (D-Mich.), floor manager for the measure, told reporters he and others of like views were satisfied with the compromise because they believed it reposed in the President discretionary authority which would have been denied to him if the farm bloc had prevailed.

Two Transports Sunk In Solomon Islands

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Destruction of two Naval transports in the Solomon Islands as a result of separate Japanese aerial and warship attacks was announced Wednesday, by the Navy department, which reported that loss of life was small. The ships were the USS George F. Elliott, formerly the 8,378-ton liner City of Angles, and the 1,060-ton USS Gregory, a converted destroyer. Torpedo Victim The Elliott was the victim of a Japanese torpedo plane assault against American invading forces on the second day of the Solomon offensive last Aug. 9. The torpedo plane attack was made by 40 or more Japanese craft. The Gregory was sunk more recently by enemy gunfire when she was operating off Guadalcanal island.

Solomon Islands Battle Theater

BATTLE OF SOLOMONS continues with Japs striking from numerous air bases north of Guadalcanal; U. S. and Australian flyers bomb enemy positions repeatedly.

Naval, air and land fighting goes on in the southern Solomons as the Japs make continued attempts to wrest back the islands seized by U. S. forces. Center of activity has been Guadalcanal Island, where U. S. Marines still fight Japs, and the surrounding waters, scenes of many air-sea clashes resulting in losses for both sides.

Plan Drive For $1,500 To Furnish City's Soldier Recreation Center

Plans for a $1,500 campaign to finance purchase of adequate furnishings and equipment for the Soldier Recreation Center here were outlined at a meeting of civic leaders late Wednesday afternoon. Curt Inman, leader of many of Midland's successful financial campaigns, was named general chairman of the drive and given authority to designate its workers. He is planning a whirlwind campaign to collect the necessary money. As soon as campaign plans are perfected a date for the drive will be set and hopes are held that it can be completed in one day. Meanwhile, persons who desire to contribute to the fund should send their checks to Inman or leave them at the Midland Chamber of Commerce. Sinclair was given a preliminary permit to lay a gathering system from Corpus Christi to Damon Station in Brazoria County where the company operates a line for transportation of oil, gas and products, to Simco, near Houston.

America Needs It NOW!

Red Browder Rides Again

We have returned to normalcy. Earl Browder, secretary-general of the Communist party in the United States, again is telling us how to manage our affairs.

It would be more courteous than truthful to say that we had missed Browder's voice since he was confined in a federal penitentiary for deliberate, repeated violation of federal statutes.

Truth to tell, we had been getting on quite well. There were flaws, some serious, in the conduct of our war effort, but none which had deteriorated since we were deprived of Browder's guidance.

For example, here and there local unions had been conducting silly but vicious outlaw strikes, slowdowns, "vacations," and similar unfortunate interferences with the production of badly needed armament. This, many of us think, was inexcusable under present circumstances.

But surely that was not for lack of Browder's personal attention. Because his Communist party for more than two years deliberately instigated strikes in key war industries for the purpose of slowing down our armament manufacture.

Why did Browder want to prevent us from making arms? Because they were for use against Adolf Hitler, then the ally of Kussia.

Perhaps Browder personally did not instruct Communist units to promote such strikes. Perhaps all he knew about them was what he read in the newspapers.

It is a matter of court record, however, that Browder made several trips to Russia. It is officially established that, in order not to make a record of those trips, he used phony names in procuring passports, for which he was convicted in federal court and sent to the penitentiary.

There are men who will swear that they saw Browder in attendance at the Comintern's "universities" where sabotage, espionage, and other methodology of world revolution was taught to party agents stationed in capitalist nations.

For the world, we wouldn't be uncharitable, but Earl Browder's record does not inspire trust. We feel that the democratic people can get along quite well without his advice and assistance.

Obviously, Red Browder is not constrained by any sense of shame to hide his head in oblivion. He insists upon foisting himself upon a public that is interested in nobler things.

Well, we're not helpless. We have a ready recourse. We can ignore Browder's advice completely and look to those whose line does not run on orders from a foreign government.

Good Teamwork

Appointment of Ferdinand Eberstadt as a vice chairman of the War Production Board with complete power over the flow of raw materials, while cheered by all, is apt to be the subject for more and more discussion in coming weeks.

Because Eberstadt comes to WPB from the chairmanship of the Army and Navy Munitions Board, the first Washington reaction to the switch was that this was a "victory" for WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson. This thought emanates from the bench of Washington sideline experts who have been trying to make the most of a feud between Army and WPB over who is to be the real boss of war production.

The fact that Nelson takes a man from the Army, even though that man is a civilian, is therefore translated that man is a civilian, is therefore translated into a touchdown for WPB and a shutout for Army. In such manner are Washington feuds supposed to be scored.

We guys at the War Department just smile at this particular bit of naive experting, for the Army brass hats think they know where the Eberstadt sympathies and interests lie and if anything, the Eberstadt move gives the Army a better in at WPB than it had before.

But all this talk of a feud between Army and WPB is a lot of balderdash anyway, for if this war is to be won on the home front, it will be won by all these water boys carrying the bucket for the same varsity team.

Rubber Czar

Appointment of William M. Jeffers as rubber administrator will be judged by his accomplishment. There are those who feel that somebody familiar with the rubber business should have been selected. But there is a strong counter-argument.

The rubber shortage has been so befuddled for so long that outsiders had to be called in to assure the public that a crisis actually existed. Much has been made of the fact that most of those who did run the government's rubber agencies were graduates of the Big Four in the industry.

Perhaps it was best to get somebody against whom no possible suspicion could be cast on that score.

A cabled message can go around the world in a few minutes. But, of course, gossip is much cheaper.

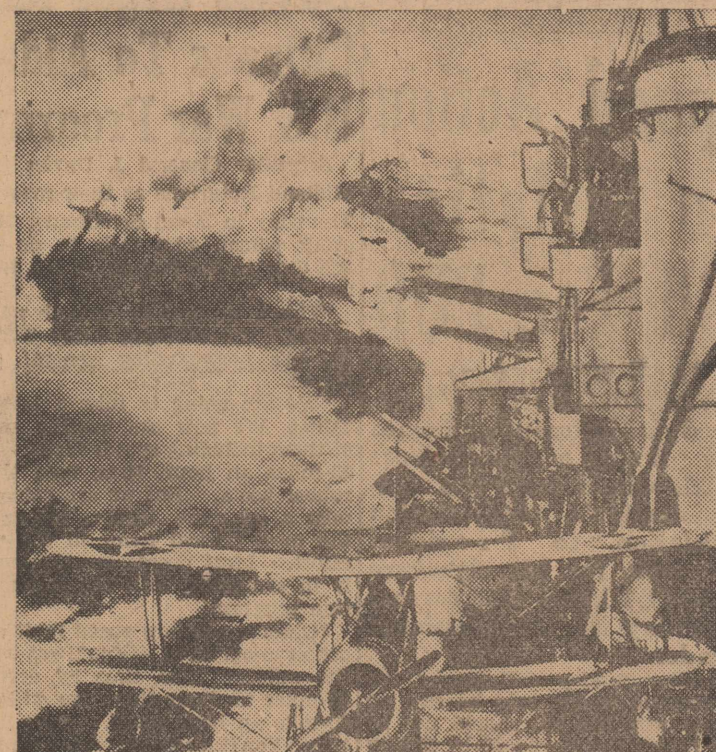

Every man's aim is to be as good as the man his wife could have married.

Quitters win just about as often as winners quit.

Allis work much better if you remember to tell them the same the second time.

taking some steps for enforcement. Freeze Used Tires

Additional efforts at rubber conservation came from the Office of Price Administration which froze the sale of used tires and tubes pending completion of a new rationing program governing these articles just as present regulations control use of new and recapped tires.

The ODT said the order for the national speed limit sets no penalty and that enforcement rests largely on voluntary cooperation by the motorists and on action of state and local authorities. All governors empowered to set state speed limits already have fixed the 35 miles an hour figure, it added.

Mix shredded cabbage with salt, using 1/2 table-spoon salt to each quart cabbage. Pack firmly into clean glass jars, fill with cold water, adjust covers tightly, and store where it will keep comfortably warm and where possible overflow of liquid will do no harm. If scum forms remove it. The kraut will ferment for a few days, and will be ready to use in a month. At that time, drain off juice, heat to boiling, pour over kraut again, and seal tight. ## SERIAL STORY OF BRIGHTNESS GONE

BY HOLLY WATTERSON. COPYRIGHT, 1942. NEA SERVICE, INC.

REMEMBERING PITY CHAPTER XIX

MARTIN appeared already dead. His head had a crushed look and from his nose and the corner of his mouth trickled a thin dark stream. For the space of a breath that seemed ages long they stood, Peter and Candace, arrested in attitudes of horrified disbelief. The shocked group gathered in the doorway understood that after all, Dr. Martin Corby, one of their own!—"out on the highway," the policeman was saying. "They hit the back of a truck. You should see their car. Folded up. Like an accordion."

Peter spoke, releasing her. His voice, cool, peremptory, was the voice of a doctor ordering her to duty; mechanically she moved to obey.

Peter's hands were moving swiftly, cutting away cloth, deftly probing. Under those searching fingers Martin stirred, his eyelids fluttered open. He managed what was almost a smile. "No—use, Pete," he gasped painfully. "Number's up."

Peter said gruffly, "Nonsense, boy," but when he straightened from that hurried examination his own face was gray.

Martin's gaze slid beyond him, seemed to search for something; when his eyes fell on Candace he had found it. "Candace," he said, "Candace." Painfully. A mere breath of sound. "It's been all wrong. Wrong. You shouldn't have let me—"

Peter nodded at a hovering orderly, then walked away, and a screen was put round Martin and Candace, closing them in alone in a cold white stillness.

Outside in the room a girl was crying. She screamed once, a shrill crescendo of pain and loss, "Martin, Martin!" When he didn't even stir at that, when she knew finally, irrevocably, that Martin never would stir again, Candace left him there and stepped out behind the screen, drawn unwillingly, like a sleepwalker, to that cry.

CANDACE had seen Faith Hartshorne often, driving about in her open car with her bright curls blowing, or sitting outside the hospital in it waiting for her fiancé, Dr. Corby. The curls were matted now, the young face smeared with tears and dirt and discolored by an ugly forehead bruise, the eyes that Candace had seen crinkled with laughter were bruised and discolored too.

Blue, those eyes, blue as a smiling inland lake, but clouded now ### with a grief too terrible to be borne, a wild look, a lost look. Candace had seen a look like that once before, in eyes that had stared back at her from a mirror in a lonely hotel bedroom; the pansy-dark eyes of another girl who had lost Martin a long, long time ago. . . . In swift remembering pity she bent to touch the girl's straining hand.

Faith clutched at her fingers, searching her face with a fierce hunger. "Nurse, did he—did he say anything?"

The way of Martin's going had left the other girl with a festering core of bitterness; for her sake this should be a clean wound, one that would heal. Candace lied gently. "He asked for someone named Faith. He said, 'Tell Faith I love her.'"

She turned swiftly, made blindly for the door. Peter would cover her, he would know she couldn't stand any more.

He was at the doorway as she reached it. "Candace," he said. His voice was warm, and compassionate. For a dizzying instant she fought with a longing to clutch at that girl had done.

The moment passed, pity! She hardened herself. She wanted no one's pity. She said bitterly, "Your perfect machine in operation, Doctor. The patient's condition called for something special in the way of treatment, and your machine trotted it out."

His own expression hardened. "Perfect machines don't break down in the middle of a job."

Peter worked with one eye on her and another on the clock. He watched Candace moving about, obeying orders as in a daze, and he was grateful for the confusion that would keep anyone from noticing that or his own distraction.

He dreaded the blank moment that would come after the Hartshorne girl had been moved upstairs.

Dr. Patterson had been summoned, other staff members swarmed about; he hoped that the confusion would last until the nurse who was to relieve Candace, and his own relief, had come. He was almost prayerfully thankful when the two turned up practically simultaneously and they were at last free to go.

He threw his topcoat about his shoulders and waited to catch Candace at the outside door through which she must pass. He grasped her elbow and steered her firmly past the nurses' home, down the path to the road. If she was feeling even remotely as he himself felt she wanted to run, she wanted to scream, to release all the emotions pent up inside her. It would be better to walk her. Walk her until bodily exhaustion matched that of mind and nerves.

They were walking for an hour before he felt her pace slacken, falter. Wordlessly he turned her about and started back.

At the door of the nurses' home he held her hands in his. "Candace, I want to tell you: I let you in for this, and I'm sorry. I asked Patterson to fix it so you'd work with me because I knew that you wanted to run away from me, from everything. And I didn't want that. I didn't think it would be good for you. I wanted you to stand and face things. Now I'm not sure I did right."

She looked up at him dully. "That isn't true. I let myself in for everything, from the beginning." She added questioning, "The girl? What of her?"

"There's a slight concussion, but no skull fracture. Multiple contusions and abrasions elsewhere but no fracture by X-ray. There may be some internal injury, it's too soon to know definitely about that, and she's badly in shock of course; but as far as I can tell now, she should be all right." His concern wasn't for her, it was all for Candace. "You'll be wanting to get away now, I imagine?"

She said with weary surprise, "Why now, more than before? All this—this losing Martin," she said, stiff-lipped, "that really happened a long time ago for me. Tonight—doesn't make any difference. Nothing—has changed."

A sudden wave of bitterness engulfed him. Martin living and married to another girl would have been one thing to fight, Martin so tragically dead would be quite another. Even in death Martin was playing dog-in-the-manger.

And here he was, Peter thought, still hanging around hoping that sometime, somehow, Candace would snap out of it; hoping that he'd be around when it happened. It didn't look as though she ever would now.

He said to her, "You'll sleep?"

"Yes." But she had begun to shake. She said, panicky, "Peter, I can't go back to Emergency! I can't!"

"All right," he soothed her, "it'll be all right. Report yourself sick for a few days. After that we'll see—"

"Private duty?" she suggested anxiously. "I've been thinking about that for a long time."

"Yes, that's good," he reassured her. "Yes. It should be easy to arrange."

His Car Did All This And He's Still Alive

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—J. R. Griffith of Oxnard, Calif., can't explain, but the Arizona highway patrol says his small coupe struck and knocked aside a heavy detour blockade on the highway.

Then it climbed a sandpile, sailed over a 12-foot ditch, landed so solidly both rear tires blew out. Next it rolled into the rear end of a truck. Projecting lumber crashed through the windshield of Griffith's car.

The coupe finally stopped with Griffith's nose almost nudging the timber.

Major General Donovan, an Army man of over 30 years service, now stationed at Fort Sam Houston, will address oilmen attending the Texas Mid-Continent oil convention on the subject of "The Functions of the Eighth Service Command." His address will be of unusual interest to Texas oilmen since it will stress the importance of cooperative effort in defense work.

"The kids scrapped my tools," sighed Tabor. Now he's hunting a repair man as well as scrap.

NYACK, N. Y. (AP)—Here's man-bites-dog news: a skunk was used here to trace the origin of an odor so bad it made work at the Bear Mountain Trailside Museum impossible.

Officials of the museum brought the skunk into the museum, then followed it as it tracked down the odor. Source of the scent was found to be rotting meat, stored by rats in the walls of a nearby building.

PORT WASHINGTON, L. I. (AP)—When air raid signals sounded here the other night, one mother got busy. She whisked her children to the basement. She unlatched the front door so the air raid warden would have easy access, if necessary. She filled pails with water. She was so busy she failed to hear the all clear signal 5 minutes after the alarm. So for two hours she and her children sat in the basement, listening to trucks and things that sounded suspiciously like approaching planes. It was nearly 5 a.m. when she got back to bed.

Hitler Pops Out On U. S. News Front

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Ignoring Pancho Villa's astute precedent of 25 years ago, Hitler, clean-up man on the Axis ball club, walked up to the American publicity plate and popped out Wednesday.

Washington front pages showed that on the nation's news diamond, Der Fuehrer's Sportsplatz speech played second fiddle to a hunk of horsehide out in St. Louis.

In the capital, where newspapers headlined the victory of the New York Yankees over the St. Louis Cardinals in the first World Series game, Hitler's harangue hardly raised an eyebrow.

Now, had Der Fuehrer followed Villa's example, he might have fared better. The Mexican insurrectionist was planning an attack on the town of Ojinaga in early October of 1917 when Norman Walker of The Associated Press appeared on the scene.

Publicity-conscious Pancho asked Walker for his professional advice, and the straight-faced scribe told him to wait until the World Series was over if he wanted to make the U. S. front pages.

"Gracias, Amigo," said Pancho—or something like that—and promptly postponed the attack.

When the series was over, he captured Ojinaga, and made the front pages.

Twenty Texas Teams On Undeclared List

The football season is less than three weeks old yet only ten of the twenty Texas colleges playing the game remain among the undefeated, untied teams.

The University of Texas leads the list with two victories, scoring 104 points and holding the opposition to a goose egg.

Texas' record will be in serious jeopardy in far-away Evanston, Ill., against Northwestern while Southwest Texas State meets a tartar in Schreiner Institute, Texas Tech risks everything against Texas A. and M., and Rice tackles Louisiana State in games that appear most likely to contribute to the downfall of perfect marks.

CHICAGO CITY SERIES

CHICAGO, (AP.)—Eddie Smith, the Chicago White Sox hard luck southpaw, will see how his fortunes run against National League opposition Thursday as the Sox seek their second straight victory over their city rivals, the Cubs, 3-0.

LOS ANGELES HAS BEST EDUCATION RATE

WASHINGTON, (AP.)—The census bureau has reported that a survey of 14 cities of more than half a million population showed that residents of Los Angeles had the highest average number of school years completed.

A Little Sign Tells The Real Reason For Playing World Series

ST. LOUIS, (AP.)—Thirty-five thousand persons paid $150,000 to see a baseball game that wasn't being played for them at all.

The spectators at the World Series opener between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday seem to sense they weren't the fans for whom the teams were performing.

The game had all the normal trappings and pageantry—the band, the buffoon and the bustle—but little of the usual tumult and shouting. The crowd was frequently silent and even its cheers lacked a full-throated, booming roar. There was almost a feeling of why all this fuss over a ball game when a war is being fought.

If nothing else, a little sign told why.

High on a radio booth under the eaves of the grandstand roof, it read simply: "BBC British Broadcasting Corporation."

The sign's message was plain, even without the sight of two Army bombers winging low over the field. It said, in effect: This game is being played for American forces in the British Isles, for the Navy on the seven seas, for the bullet-headed "Gazette" of the helmet-clad Marines on Guadalcanal Island.

In their dressing rooms after the little war they're fighting, the Yankees were serious, the Cardinals somber.

Series Notes:

ST. LOUIS, (AP.)—A victory in Thursday's game is a must in the books of the record-minded Cardinals. These followers point to the series history book which shows that no team ever lost the first two games of a 7-game series and then came back to win the world's championship.

About an hour before the first game started news reel cameramen asked the early customers to give out with cheers for a crowd picture. The fans obliged so willingly park yelped frantically—believing the game actually had started.

Double plays: most writers believe this will be the last series until peacetime. St. Louis then would have held both the first and last of the classics. The original inter-league contests were held here in 1885 with the Browns meeting Pop Anson's Chicago Colts. The guys who perennially insist the Yanks be broken up will get their wish. No less than a dozen of the bombers are in or plan to join the service.

BLOCKING FIND

Discovery of the year in University of Texas Longhorn football circles is Joe Magliolo, above, hard-hitting Galveston junior who is playing his first year with the varsity. A veteran of two spring training seasons, Magliolo never came back for varsity in the fall because of his parents' objections. They don't mind now, though, so he's leading interference for the No. 1 Texas backfield these days.

Amarillo-Temple Tilt Tops Grid Fest

By Harold V. Ratliff
Associated Press Sports Editor

A dozen conference games send the Texas schoolboy football field into the middle of the championship scramble this week-end but the battle for survival among the state's fast-dwindling list of unbeaten teams takes most of the interest.

Top games of them all is Temples' invasion of Amarillo, throwing together outfits with unsullied records from far-flung sections.

At least ten teams with undefeated, untied records appear due to fall by the wayside. In addition to the Temple-Amarillo game, Pashal (Fort Worth) goes to Vernon and Kerrville to Laredo for battles between unbeaten, untied evens.

District 3 Schedule Friday: Lameas at Odessa (conference); Graham at Sweetwater; San Angelo at Midland (conference); Breckenridge at Abilene; Lubbock at Big Spring; Brownfield at Colorado City.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Writer

NEW YORK.—On the way out to St. Louis some of the boys were discussing the Cardinals' speed and Joe McCarthy asked: "What are they, a bunch of Ty Cobs on motorcycles?" After the ninth inning Wednesday he probably figured the answer was "Yes" . . . At that we can't think of a much easier job than trying to second-guess Joe on the World Series . . . He doesn't leave anything for you to do . . . He picked Rufus the Red Ruffing to start Wednesday instead of Bonham or some other young pitcher with a good record and for eight innings nobody could have done any better . . . If it hadn't been for the ninth, old Rufus might have done better than Herb Pennock and Walter Hoyt in the 1926 and 1928 World Series opener against the Cards. They both tossed three-hitters.

One-Minute Sports Page
Washington fans are boosting Joe Judge for the job of managing the Senators, but how about Lefty Gomez? . . . At least he can speak Spanish . . . Mickey McConnell, who helps run the Dodgers' farms, is one up on his boss, Larry MacPhail . . . While Larry was talking about this season after running the team about his Army commission, Mickey enlisted and already is in uniform.

Headline Headliner
The Cleveland Plain Dealer didn't need to print the story about Danny Litwiler's perfect fielding record this season after running the headline: "Litwiler's only error was playing for Phils."

Keys to the powder magazines on American warships are sent to the captain each night for safe-keeping.

First Game Of 1942 World Series Facked With Drama As Red Ruffing Breaks Record With Seventh Win

By Gayle Talbot

ST. LOUIS, (AP.)—The picture of lion-hearted Red Ruffing, on the brink of World Series immortality, suddenly going to pieces and being pounded from the hill under a four-run assault by the ever-fighting Cardinals still was fresh in the minds of every man, woman and child who watched Wednesday's thriller as the Yankees and the Cards prepared to clash in the second game at Sportsman's Park Thursday.

It was a game, that first one, that will be remembered a long time. Those who saw it probably will forget the final score in time—7-4 for the Yankees—but they will remember how the 36-year-old Ruffing, within one out of a two-hit World Series shutout, had his dream shattered like a thunderclap from the blue.

Beasley Pitches Thursday
Some thought the ninth inning deserved to rank in dramatic quality with the storied seventh game of the final series game in 1926, when old Pete Alexander struck out Tony Lazzeri, and with another wild inning in the '29 classic, when the Athletics scored 10 runs to overcome an eight-run Chicago Cubs' lead.

An important difference was, of course, that the rally failed to win Wednesday's game for the Cards. Ruffing, too, received credit for his seventh World Series victory, a record unmatched by any pitcher, in spite of getting his ears knocked down at the finish. But that blazing rally of the Red Birds might have an important bearing on the remainder of the series.

As the Cards went behind their great youngster, Johnny Beasley, to try to trim the Yanks Thursday and carry the series all-square into New York, they at least knew that Yankee pitching could be hit. Having blasted Ruffing, they probably stood in much less awe of Ernie Bonham, the Yankees' big forkballer, than they would have if Ruffing had humiliated them right to the end.

Cards Nervous
The youngsters really looked painfully weak while Ruffing mowed them down for the first seven and two-thirds innings. They were over-anxious and obviously nervous, a perfect setup for a crafty old star like Rufus the Red, whose fast ball isn't what it used to be. Ruffing's first pitch to Stan Musial in the opening inning, with two Redbirds perched on base as a result of walks, was a slow ball on which Musial nearly broke his back.

Up to the ninth inning, Captain Terry Moore was the only Cardinal who even looked like he might get a safety off the former coal miner. Twice he had sent Yankee outfielders chasing far back to pull down his drives before he came up with two down in the eighth inning and pumped a clean single to right field, the first hit off Red the tormentor.

Breaks Series Record
In pitching seven and two-thirds innings of hitless ball, Ruffing, at least, smashed the previous World Series record of seven and one-third frames, held jointly by Herb Pennock and Monte Pearson, who were, of course, pitching for the Yankees when they did it.

St. Louis players and fans were surprisingly light-hearted about losing the opener. The town has a lot of solid confidence in the scrapping club that set such a searing pace to overhaul Brooklyn and win the National League flag. Roy Stockton of the Post-Dispatch said Wednesday night: "They won't feel natural until they've lost the first two games."

Many of the nearly 35,000 spectators had left the park when the Cards staged their amazing outburst in the ninth. They missed something that would have renewed their faith in their team. Starting with Walker Cooper's single that Red Rolfe tagged at third base but couldn't handle cleanly, the Red Birds slugged six hits, including a triple into the right-field corner by shortstop "Slats" Marion.

Still Favor Yanks
The bases still were loaded, the tying run on first, when Musial bounced to Hasset at first for the out that ended the game. Spud Chandler, figured as the probable Yankee starting pitcher in the third game at Yankee Stadium Saturday, finally had retired the side.

The betting commissioners, to whom sentiment is only a three-syllable word, were quite frank in thinking that the Yanks, with Bonham breaking his forkball and fast

Both Running And Passing Game Are Wrapped Up In Nix

FORT WORTH, (AP)—Football coaches agree that it takes a good running game to make a passing attack click.

Well, Texas Christian University appears to have the combination this season—all wrapped up in one guy.

Emery Nix of the blond hair and buggy-whip arm sets them up, then knocks them down with pitches dead to the pin.

Nix first gained attention when he stepped into the shoes of the injured Kyle Gillispie to pass Fordham groggy last season. He followed that up by 337 yards in the air against Baylor.

He reached full stature as a Southwest Conference star, however, when he hurled the Frogs to victory over the mighty Texas.

But did you know that runs by Nix really get the job done—not passes?

Against Texas he raced 35 yards to step up the scoring pass with eight seconds to play.

Last week, as the Frogs opened the season against UCLA, Nix came into the game in the waning minutes, ran 38 yards, then calmly passed to Don Ezell for the winning touchdown.

Horse Thief Leaves Horsemanship Clue

CHICAGO, (AP)—Police searched for a horse thief and had definite clues as to his horsemanship.

He walked into a riding stable, selected a six year old mare and ordered a stable boy to saddle the steed. When the boy offered to help him mount the steed the stranger said:

"Not for me," and walked away leading the horse.

Punishment for horse stealing, in these days of rubber shortage, is 3 to 14 years imprisonment, police said.

Even Dixie Series At Two Games Each

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—With the Dixie Series now in a 2-2 deadlock, the visiting Nashville Vols are scheduled to meet the Shreveport Sports here Thursday night in the fifth game of the championship play-off.

Nashville squad the contest with a 5 to 1 victory Wednesday night featuring a homer in the seventh by batting champion Charey English, with Brewster following up with a double and scoring on Heiss angle.

Midland Bulldog's Will Not Be At Full Strength As Stickney Injured

Midland High School's hopes of meeting San Angelo's Bobcats at full strength Friday night received a setback Thursday as a result of a serious ankle injury to Billy Joe Stickney, shifty left halfback for the Bulldogs.

Coach McCollum had just about finished his practice Tuesday night when Stickney, mixing it up in scrimmage, turned his ankle. Stickney was hobbling around on his swollen ankle Wednesday night on the sidelines.

Since Stickney is not a likely starter Friday night, McCollum has shifted Charles Kelly back to left halfback position and again placed Junior Bird in the right end position.

Bulldogs Underdogs
With San Angelo boasting a strong line to open holes for Rathbone, who spearheads the Bobcats' attack from his left halfback post, the Bulldogs are definitely the underdogs in the game Friday.

Realizing that the Bulldogs face a battering forward wall in the Bobcats lineup from tackle to tackle, McCollum spent the earlier part of this week in revamping his plays to counter the strong San Angelo forward wall.

At practice sessions Wednesday, McCollum spent a great deal of time on defensive formations to try to stop San Angelo's tricky spinner plays. Both San Angelo and Midland's attack is patterned after the single wing formation made famous by Pop Warner of football fame and Friday's game should prove a real test for this style of football play.

WATCH FOR TRAINS

Gobs Take Quiz On Way To Game

CHAPEL HILL. — Every Friday is quiz day in the academic department of the U. S. ### Nourishing Breakfasts Needed For Victory Activities These Days

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer
These days of participation in victory activities call for a nourishing breakfast that will be thoroughly enjoyed. That's why the suggestions of Mrs. Searles Wilson in "What's New in Home Economics," deserve attention. Here are a few of them which you can use in your own home.

Brown quickly on both sides in hot frying pan. Core apple, but do not peel. Cut into four thick slices. Add sugar and water to fat in frying pan; bring to boil and add apple slices. Simmer for 3 minutes on each side; then place on top of sausage patties. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) until apples are glazed and brown.

Private conferences will be held between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. for those needing assistance with OPA regulations concerning ceiling prices. The conferences will be held at Hotel Scharbauer, with appointments to be made through the chamber of commerce.

Beginning at 3 p. m. a general meeting, open to the public, will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer. A special discussion is scheduled for all firms supplying services in connection with a commodity. Regulations covering the various types of services, listing to be filed and records to be kept will be outlined.

Wadley termed the meeting as highly important and urged all businessmen to attend. He said it is the responsibility of the individual to keep informed and that the clinic will afford merchants an opportunity to learn what the government expects of them in carrying out the various regulations.

Army Mess Is Model For Health Menu

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer
Here's a letter from Private Paul Ochojski of Camp Pickett, Va. It points up the importance of raw fruits and vegetables in Army diet.

"We get the diet you always talked about and in a short time it changes sickly weaklings into healthy soldiers. Every day we get raw vegetables in one form or another with at least two meals. We get milk each morning with our cereal, meat at least twice daily and eggs often. The meals are well prepared and we can eat all we want."

Private Ochojski's letter can help housewives plan their menus. Raw vegetables such as carrot sticks, celery, salads certainly are easy to get. Buy apples and other fruit at hand.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney

Miss Helen Bonwit and Mrs. Donald P. Hanson, two of New York's finest women players, finished second in national women's pair championship event this year. Miss Bonwit is a very fine rubber bridge player as well—I recently watched her play the rubber bridge hand shown today.

In match-point play, many pairs would not bid game on the North-South hands, fearing the misfit. But in rubber bridge it would be cowardice to stay out of three no trump, as the top cards assure that the contract cannot be badly hurt. Dummy won the opening lead and the deuce of diamonds was led, East winning the trick. As West had not given a "come-on" in clubs, East exited with a diamond. Miss Bonwit (North), the declarer, then cashed all four diamonds. West discarded a club, North discarded two clubs and two hearts, while East let go two hearts. Miss Bonwit continued by cashing the ace and king of hearts and leading a low spade. Now the defenders could win two top spades and a heart, besides the diamond trick already in, but could not avoid letting North win two clubs or South win two spades at the end.

Fine Cancelled, But Soldier Told To Kill Four Japs Or Nazis

PORT BRAGG, N. C. (AP)— Pvt. James Newman of New York, an inductee, was unable to appear in magistrate's court in New York to answer a traffic violation charge, and so informed the court when the summons was forwarded to him here.

He received this letter:

"The usual fine in these cases is four dollars. You are hereby directed to knock off four Nazis or Japs at $1 apiece. Best of luck to you. Your case is closed at this court as far as we are concerned. Signed, Wm. Fallon, Uptown Traffic Court, City of New York."

Marines Will Take Situation In Hand

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)— The Marines are going to get the situation in hand, take Tokyo to free a Newark girl's sweetheart, and give the couple a Japanese island for a wedding present.

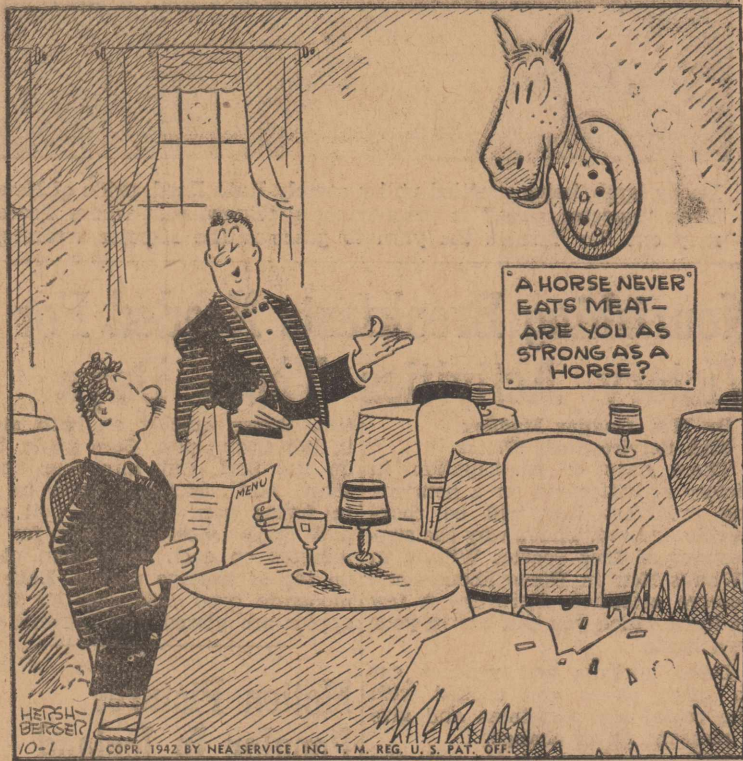

That is the promise in a letter signed by 20 Marines at Parris Island, S. C., and sent to Miss Irene McGarrity of Newark.

They had seen a newspaper article accompanied by Miss McGarrity's picture and telling how Jack W. Staff, captured at Guam, had sent his love in a letter from Japan. Staff was a sailor, but the Marines did not let that stop them from promising to produce.

The modern grocer's antecedents were known as "pepperers" and "spicers" in London about 1180.

This Enemy At Home Has A Better Aim

NEW YORK (AP)— So you think life on the battlefronts is dangerous? Figures compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show that more persons have died of bullet wounds accidentally inflicted in the peace years since 1918 than died in AEF action.

The peace-time shooting toll has reached 70,000. There were 50,000 AEF deaths resulting from front-line action.

There's Tin Salvage Even On Transports

ABOARD TRANSPORT SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC. (AP)—Uncle Sam's tin salvage extends into the Pacific. With no bottled drinks available, troops and seamen aboard a transport buy thousands of cans of pineapple, grapefruit and tomato juice daily. Every discarded can is saved. The ship's executive officer reports that 30,000 pounds of metal thus is salvaged each round trip. It's all dumped on the scrap heap each time the ship touches the mainland.

RANCHMAN INJURED
TISHOMINGO, Okla. (AP)—J. O. Chapman, who has extensive ranch and farm holdings in Nueces County, Texas, suffered a brain concussion in a fall from a horse here Tuesday.

It's a long way from home to the six major fronts where American soldiers, Marines or airmen are in action. Map shows distances as the crow flies; actual sea or air routes are much longer. The Navy, of course, is fighting in practically all of the world's waters.

It is possible to get seasick in a submarine under water just as easily as in a vessel on the surface. American soldiers serving in Alaska get 10 per cent more meat in their ration because of the cold.

Million Texas School Children Bring Scrap In

AUSTIN. (AP)—More than a million Texas school children will be commissioned as Junior Texas Rangers this week to comb the state for every available ounce of scrap metal to help meet the nation's critical need for war material.

Thornton Hall of San Antonio, chairman of the Texas newspaper scrap drive, announced that Homer Garrison, director of the State Department of Public Safety, would formally issue the commissions in bulk to the youngsters during a statewide radio broadcast Friday (TQM) from 1:15 to 7:30. The program will go out through the facilities of the Texas School of the Air, and an effort also will be made to get it into every rural and negro school in the state as well as to institutions now receiving the program.

Use of the name of Junior Rangers was approved by Garrison and Governor Coke Stevenson, and the departure from custom in using the name of Ranger for anything but real Rangers was made only because of the state officials' desire to contribute the utmost in the drive. Decision to turn to the school children for help came, said Hall, when it was realized that the "bottleneck in scrap collection to date has been in determining how to get it in."

Harmonophone Was Forerunner To The Famous Juke Box
HARLINGEN, Texas. (AP)—Juke boxes? Why they had them way back in 1916. Dr. R. E. Utley vouches for that, with the explanation that he invented them. He still has one to prove it. More than 20 years ago when he was a young physician back in Oak Park, Ill., Dr. Utley came up with a device which automatically changed phonograph records. From this he produced a harmonophone. He says they were received avidly in Chicago saloons. But the war came and he went into the Army. After the war he found that prohibition had changed things and the harmonophone dropped out of favor. He vainly tried to sell it but the big companies weren't interested until 1930, when one firm, Dr. Utley says, incorporated his basic ideas into a juke box. Dr. Utley recalls with a laugh that several juke box makers tangled in patent litigation. He received more money for his services to them as an expert witness than he ever made from his invention.

Police Assign Country To Man Without One
STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Investigating a collision between two trucks, highway officers found a man huddled in the back on one minus draft registration card or any other means of identification. Questioned, he gave the name of Emil Tore, said he had worked twenty years for a Chinese farmer, didn't know his nationality and had never heard there was a war going on. Because of his oriental cast of features, officers held him on suspicion of being Japanese and subject to internment.

Maybe They Should Draft A Pedicurist
CAMP WOLTERS, Texas. (AP)—The soldiers newspaper at Camp Wolters felt something drastic should be done. So it printed this announcement: "In the future, all soldiers will either trim their toenails or wear their shoes in bed. There are entirely too many sheets being torn."

Jr. Donald T. Knight, H. L. McClintic, J. R. McCarter, Elfred Hobbs, Lee Cornelius, O. L. Kidwell and T. J. Miles, Jr.

Bakersfield, Calif., has a bakery located on Bakers Street.

Town Prints Paper For The Men In Service

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Men and women in the armed forces never have to wonder what's going on in the old home town. Civic leaders here publish a weekly, eight-page tabloid newspaper, mailed free to some 5,000 soldiers, sailors, marines, nurses and doctors. News consists of quotations from soldiers' letters, announcements of promotions, marriages and births, and local gossip. Letters of appreciation have come from men stationed in all parts of the world.

Soldier Wants Hunting Knife For Christmas

CHICAGO. (AP)—James A. Boyle, Sr., went shopping for his son, a gunner on a dive bomber in the Solomon Islands. He carried a letter from his 20-year-old boy who asked him—not for socks, chocolate cake, or cigarettes. "He told me to buy him a 10-inch hunting knife," Boyle said. "Boyle added the letter, didn't specify for what purpose the knife was to be used, but he had a good idea.

1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt 1 well-beaten egg
1/4 cup soft butter or other shortening 1/4 cup Pet Milk diluted with water

2 tablespoons water

Turn on oven and set at moderately slow (350° F.). Grease 6 custard cups or individual molds. Sift flour before measuring. Resift with baking powder and salt. Put soft butter and vanilla in bowl. Add sugar gradually, mixing until light and fluffy. Beat in egg vigorously. Add flour mixture alternately with diluted milk. Begin and end with flour mixture, beating until smooth after each addition. Put in greased custard cups filling 2/3 full. Set in pan containing about an inch of hot water. Cover cups with sheet of waxed paper or greased wrapping paper. Bake 35 minutes, or until puddings shrink from sides of cups. Remove from cups and serve warm with equal portions of drained, cooked dried or canned sliced peaches and Creamy Peach Sauce (See below). Serves 6.

Creamy Peach Sauce

1/4 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon corn-starch 1/2 teaspoon butter
1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup Pet Milk
1 cup canned peach juice

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Stir in peach juice. Add lemon rind, remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt and the butter. Boil slowly for 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Cool slightly. Stir in milk. Serve warm on Snowball Puddings (See above). Serves 6.
