Extending The Draft

Now that President Roosevelt has given a green light to the step which the Army has been demanding, majority leaders in Congress are free to consider lowering the draft age to 18 years.

The Army has asked for the 18 and 19-year-oldsters because they make the best soldiers, and in this war we need the best soldiers. Nobody who has served in the armed forces in wartime, or who has been in position to observe closely, can question that the younger men are superior in every way, except in that judgment which comes through experience and long training.

We have millions of older men in uniform, among whom there is abundant material for leadership. Now we need men who can fight.

But the President brought out another angle which is at least equally vital to those who saw American troops in action in World War I.

'Good training will save many, many lives in battle. The highest rate of casualties is always suffered by units comprised of inadequately trained men."

Nobody who realizes what we are up against in this war has any doubt that the younger men must be called into service. We face the choice. Shall we call them now, while there still is time to train them in the use of their weapons, and give them a chance to fight for their lives, or shall we draft them at the last minute, send them di- Rita Jo Sturkie rectly into the fighting lines and watch them die?

We are not unaware how the parents of such lads Music Club Meet feel at a time like this. Neither is the President. One of the rare notes of emotion broke through his elaborate elocution when he said: I can thoroughly understand the feeling of all parents whose sons have entered our armed forces. I have an appreciation of that feeling—and so has my wife." Indeed they have, with four sons of their own in the armed forces, at least one of whom has participated in a major engagement.

-Buy War Bonds And Savings Stamps-Still Not Enough

The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce's report on the magnitude of this country's unpublicized air cargo program is very pleasing. But let's not forget that we're still behind the eight-ball.

Two things about the report should be noted, in view of the fact that, necessarily, it deals only in generalities. One is that the chamber represents the old line plane builders who do not wan to see Henry Kaiser get a foothold in their business. The other is that the report came sneed. right on the heels of Donald Nelson's experimental cargo plane order to Kaiser, and would seem to minimize the importance of Kaiser's potentialities.

There may be more cargo planes built and building than the public knowo. But experts outside the industry concede that there aren't nearly enough. -Buy War Bonds And Savings Stamps-

How Many-To-One?

At the moment some experts are saying that behind every man in uaiform must be 18 industrial and agticultural workers.

For an Army of 10,000,000—exclusive of our arsenalof-democracy function—this would call for 180,000,000 workers, out of a population of 135,000,000 minus fighters ern town. and minus children, the physically unusable, the too aged,

Obviously this is impossible. There is a question how many are needed to back each fighter. In view of current production, a better estimate may be 10-to-1, which still would push us hard.

-Buy War Bonds And Savings Stamps-Follow Through

When a golfer fails to follow through, he slices, and his ball, curving, dissipates much of its energy in that curve, which is wasteful and very annoying to the golfer.

The Citizens Emergency Committee suggests that the American taxpayer is like a duffer at golf. He pays his taxes, but he doesn't follow through to see that they go straight into the sinews of war. So the taxes slice, are diverted to dispensable non-war uses, and lose much of their power to harm the axis.

The new tax bill may remind us to follow through. -Buy War Bonds And Savings Stamps-

Upinion Audit

An interesting experiment is under way in Kansas nations diplomatically than any City. The Civic Research Institute is conducting a continuing poll to ascertain public recation to the onduct of the city's business. The "audit" is intended, of course, to probe public opinion. It has the secondary function of discovering how much the people really think about municipal problems. And an inevitable effect would seem to be to make the voters do more thinking about their government, know more about it, realize more alertly that it is their creature to be improved or degraded at their will.

Beret Is Long-Shot Winner In Fall Hat Field

Or Fine-Wrought Hat,

Dark horse of fall and winter 1942 is the peret. It's stylish and popular-every version of it from the classic Basquet top-piece once worn by every careless kid with a Buster Brown haircut, to finelyworked-out hats like these Henri Bendel originals.

Narrow strips of felt are sewn together and then stitched some more, decoratively, to make the "beau beret", upper left. A jersey band in black keeps the little number in place. It's luscious hunter green, and its illustrates one way to wear any beret fashionably-forward, way down over the forehead.

Other berets are worn on the back of the head, as shown at center. This one is fine wool, quilted in trapunto effect, with merry grosgrain ribbon band and bow. Color is marine red, a true red. The pancake beret, right, shows a third smart position for a beret-flat upon the This felt one with white stitching is ordnance red, a color that's

It may be that the beret's adaptability to various positions on the head, and hence to many different hair styles and face shapes, partly accounts for its current popularity. This prominence is a fashion surprise, for early forecasters didn't pick the beret as a 1942 winner. -Marguerite Young

Van Vleck felt that he had stretched his hand in opening the bidding with one spade, and now, wanting to put the brakes on the bidding, he bid five clubs, denying an ace. That was exactly what Von Zedtwitz wanted to hear-that South held four kings and no ace. You can see that with four kings and a five-card heart suit, Von Zedtwitz' hand is cold for seven hearts. If Van Vleck had bid five diamonds showing an ace, Von Zedtwitz would have stopped at six hearts, realizing that he could be off one of the kings, as he was.
