AUTO RACE ENTRY BLANKS IN DEMAND

Manager F. N. Clifford of the Haskell County Fair states calls are being received daily for entry blanks by automobile race drivers. They are coming in from various sections and states and drivers who heretofore asked for guarantees, seem to have become better acquainted with Haskell's race meets, and purses, and are now asking for entry blanks and no guarantees. Rules means just what it implies. Free for all and no favors to any one.

COTTON PICKERS AND ORGANIZATION

Manager F. N. Clifford of the Chamber of Commerce offers the following information to the farmers and business men of this section, in keeping with Bulletin No. 3, from the U. S. Employment Service Farm Labor Division, Ft. Worth, Texas.

In order to avoid the usual mix-ups and extra expense and the delay in gathering the cotton crop it is urged that the farmers in each section organize and through organization handle the cotton picker matters systematically and save money, as well as time.

One lot of farmers will offer free transportation and one dollar per 100 pounds without board. Another lot will offer to advance transportation or delivery provided pickers will agree to return the money advanced out of work performed. Another lot of farmers a few miles away will offer one dollar and twenty-five cents per 100 pounds and no transportation.

The different inducements cause the pickers to mill. Many refuse to work on arrival until increased prices are offered. Farmers cry shortage of labor when the real trouble is due to the lack of stabilization of prices and inducements.

The Farm Labor Division of the U. S. Employment Service can only quote the offerings of the farmers, but when one lot offers one thing and another lot offers something quite different it can be readily seen that it is impossible to direct the pickers without loss of time. Too, the different offers cause the pickers to fail to go where sent, and thousands remain at home until prices jump because of the demand when cotton is ready to pick and weather damages threaten. Where communities organize and the pickers are sent to that community to certain farmers the organization representative can easily make delivery and no inducement be in the way to check proper delivery to each farmer as his requests are filled.

The Farm Labor Division suggests that as many farmers as can do so arrange to care for single hands; meaning by this, to arrange to board as many pickers as possible, because if this is not done families will soon be exhausted and thousands of good cotton pickers will remain at home.

It is respectfully urged upon every community, to get farmers together without further delay and discuss plans under which cotton pickers might be handled to advantage in their respective territory and get in touch with the Farm Labor Service office at 806 Taylor Street, Fort Worth Texas, and avoid delays when pickers are in demand and delay means losses.

Last year the Chamber of Commerce spent as high as $9.00 in a day telegraphing and telephoning for pickers and because the farmers did not wait for those requested through the Chamber of Commerce, others got them. In other instances the pickers requested from other points were offered better pay and did not reach Haskell County at all.

The farmers can work out their own plans, work through their own organization, and be better satisfied in the end than attempting to cover the entire county through one organization, stated Mr. Clifford, so the Haskell Chamber of Commerce will not attempt to act for all sections, but, where assistance can be rendered every possible aid will be given, regardless of the location of that organization that might feel inclined to ask the Haskell Chamber of Commerce to help.

Families will be arriving daily at Haskell and those who have houses for families and those who desire to leave word at the Chamber of Commerce and pick up these stray parties the service will be rendered free of charge and every effort made to help every one soliciting this service.

HABITS

The other morning we were talking to our friend on the subject of habits came up. He asked us why didn't we write something about habits, for folks to read and we told him we didn't think the people had formed the habit of reading what we wrote and beside there were already enough had habits being practiced without teaching the public any more. But he kept on, so we finally asked him whose habits he wanted us to write about, his or ours and he said he didn't mean anybody's habits in particular, just habits, you know habits, which was very explicit for a starter.

There are three kinds of habits—your habits, our habits and bad habits.

The first two classes we won't discuss much, but the other ones are the worst kind so we will talk about them a lot.

The dictionary says that a habit is the ordinary course of conduct and everybody knows that the other fellow's course of conduct is very ordinary so that must be habit.

We knew a man once who had a habit of going out with other men's wives, but he got broke of that habit and now he has a habit of ducking every time he sees a husband.

One time I had a habit of going out with a girl who had a habit of getting hungry every time we went out, so I learned the habit of only calling her up after supper and she formed the habit of not being at home when I called.

Men's habits are the best kind, because they give the women folks a right to nag them, and women folks are very obedient when they can't find anything to nag the men folks about which is never.

All good husbands give their wives plenty of excuses to nag them, but most wives don't need any excuse.

Women folks don't have any habits. They only do things because the other women folks do, or because they want to. The first reason is no excuse but the last is plenty, as any married man will tell you.

Physicians have habits but by the time you get used to them it is time to trade your favor in toward a larger expense.

Everybody has habits, babies and politicians and husbands and mules and wives and the weather.

Some people have habits of sending you bills on the first of each month. And folks with that habit are very unreasonable, they expect you to send them a check. And some people have a habit of sending checks when they haven't got any money in the bank.

The Fort Worth baseball team has a habit of winning a pennant every season and William Jennings Bryan had a habit of talking too much and our pants have a habit of wearing out where we use them the most.

The barber has a habit of getting soap in our ear and the tallest man in town has a habit of sitting down in front of us at the movies.

There was a fellow once who had a habit of driving with one hand and now he has a habit of saying "good morning to St. Peter every morning before breakfast.

Then there was a merchant who had a habit of refusing to advertise in his home town newspaper and now has a habit of working for the man who had a habit of advertising every week.

As we said before everybody has habits, most of them bad except ours. We have a habit of finding fault with other people's habits which is the worst habit of them all—Collingsworth Standard.

Miss Mary Emma Whiteker left Tuesday of this week for Stanton to be present in a house party honoring six nieces at the beautiful ranch home of her aunt, Mrs. E. R. Walcott.

"A Thing of Beauty Is a Joy Forever"

This is one of the beauty spots of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia. The exposition celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The view shows the tower of one of the main exhibit buildings rearing its head up from among the gorgeous landscape which artists have built around the giant structures which house exhibits from forty-three nations of the world. The Exposition continues until December 1.

GETTING READY FOR THE POULTRY SHOWS

The poultry department in most fall fairs is growing more and more important. Each year the competition at these exhibits is keener, the classes bigger and birds better.

All exhibitors should have some educational value. The better the birds sent to the fairs, the more people learn of good quality in their poultry, the greater the demand for good stock.

Much of quality is measured by condition. Birds that are shown should be in splendid health, full of pep, properly grown and carefully selected. Even though a bird does not win a place a good bird is a living, breathing recommendation for its owner anywhere.

Old birds are likely to be in poor feather, but remember that the other fellow's old stock may look worse than yours, and that the good judge recognizes quality, other things being equal, even in molting birds.

Do not show disqualified birds. It is simple to learn the standard qualifications of your breed and variety.

All birds should be trained to stand quietly and carry a good type pose. A couple hours a day for a week or two prior to the show in a temporary coop similar to show coops, placed where someone will have to pass it several times, and a smooth stick to coax the birds to pose, will have a lot to do with the birds' winnings.

Coop-birds never show up to their best. Birds to show should be clean. Use a piece of soft silk on the palm of the hand to polish and clean the feathers. Never use a brush. The comb, wattles and face should be washed several times with cool water, just before judging, in cold water if possible. Clean the feet and shanks thoroughly, use a stiff brush and soapuds. Olive oil or cod cream will help clean and brighten them. Use orangewood stick if necessary to clean under the scales. Every little bit helps to improve them.

If possible see your birds every day at the show. Be sure they have clean water in a clean cup and are not overfed. A little cold or roup remedy in the water is a possible safeguard, although good health is the best preventive of illness.

Most important of all—quarantine all birds brought home or bought for at least ten days. Better safe than sorry.—Farm and Ranch.

GETTING THE MOST FOR ONE'S INCOME

The development of a plan for spending the family income to best advantage means not only better household management, but a margin with which to secure worth-while things, and money for labor-saving devices which help the homemaker to gain time for the children, for self-improvement, or for community activities.

This is the underlying thought in Miscellaneous Circular No. 68-M "Planning Your Family Expenditures," by Chase G. Woodhouse, of the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture. All business concerns from manufacturing plants to the United States Government have budgets or spending plans, no different in principle from the family budget.

There is no such thing as a standard household budget. Mrs. Woodhouse points out. Each family must make its own. The circular gives a number of helpful suggestions for doing this. It is necessary to get the whole family interested. The probable income for the year must be estimated. The next step is to list all the known needs of the family and their anticipated cost. This total must be compared with the estimated income, and if necessary, pruned until it is evident that all expenditures can be taken care of by the money that will be received.

Various ways of recording expenses are described, with particular attention to the needs of the farm home. The circular shows how to group the different classes of expenditure conveniently and in sufficient detail, so that it will be possible later to analyze them. It concludes with a number of questions, each suggesting others, which will be found useful in reviewing these records at the end of the year when making a new spending plan. Copies may be obtained free while the supply lasts by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

BRINGS WRITER BUCKET OF FINE HOME-GROWN BERRIES

J. J. Pace, one of the city's progressive citizens, brought to the writer a gallon of home grown huckleberries. These berries are new in this section. They are planted in the spring and ripen in late summer, and according to Mr. Pace they are a very prolific bearer. Mr. Pace believes that this berry will help supply West Texas with fruit, and where the bushes can be watered they will prove to be a wonderful success in production. He takes pains in showing his neighbors and friends this excellent fruit and he has many gallons of these berries already put up for winter. We thank Mr. Pace for his kind remembrance and we are going to plant some of these berries in our garden next year.

GRECIAN DANCERS AT THE SESQUI

These dancers have selected for their graceful performance the keystone shaped pool in the court yard of the Pennsylvania State Building at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia, which celebrates 150 years of American independence. The spot is one of the most beautiful and stic on the exposition site. The Exposition continues until December 1.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Tonn took a drive over the north and northwest part of the county last Sunday—through Rule, Rochester and O'Brien and adjacent communities and Mr. Tonn stated that he never knew crop prospects to be better. In a few instances, sand storms had blown the early crops but these had been promptly re-planted and all up to a good stand.

Misses Mabel, Fannie Jack and Elizabeth Baldwin were recent guests of Mrs. Levi McCollum of Mc'Auley, Texas. Mrs. McCollum is a well known Texas writer and is remembered by many Haskell residents when she lived in our town and contributed largely to our literary and artistic atmosphere.

40 YEARS YOUNG!

FRANKLIN COUNTY WILL SEND YOUNG FARMERS TO 1926 STATE FAIR

Four hundred boys and girls from Franklin county—members of the county agricultural clubs working under the extension department of A. & M. College—attended the State Fair of Texas in 1925 on "Franklin County Day."

That's the advice from W. D. Seale, county agricultural agent of Franklin county, who has written Secretary W. H. Stratton of the Fair association, asking whether the thousand youngsters can be accommodated.

Mr. Stratton has replied that they can, and they'll be at the Fair on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 15 and 16. Those dates follow the close of the regular boys' club encampment on Oct. 14.

Franklin county merchants and business men, appreciating both the educational advantages of the State Fair, and that the farm boys and girls of today are the prosperous agriculturists and producers of tomorrow, inaugurated the State Fair trip last year, as a part of their program of keeping in close touch with the embryo farm owners and operators.

AN INTEREST SHOWN IN COUNTY EXHIBITS FOR 1926 STATE FAIR

With enthusiasm already at high pitch as a result of the various activities toward agricultural effort in Texas, keenest interest is manifest in the $10,000 cumulative premium over a five-year period, offered by the State Fair of Texas, according to J. A. Moore, superintendent of the State Fair agricultural department.

Mr. Moore is convinced that at least sixty Texas counties will enter the State Fair contest, and declares that every section of the state will be represented. This conviction was expressed after visits in East, West, and North Texas counties, following announcement of the county contest.

Mr. Moore said, "should prove revelations in every particular. Interest is the keenest I have ever seen it. Those interested in showing the advantages of their several localities, are already diligently at work gathering every variety of grown product to be placed in the various county exhibits. They are carefully considering the requirements of the score cards and selecting their exhibits accordingly, and in the work of preparing exhibits the matter of attractiveness is also entering to a greater degree than ever before.

HASKELL THEATRE THE COOLEST PLACE IN TOWN

With the advent of August has come the first real hot weather of the season, the first inclination that presents after work hours, is to find the coolest place possible. The coolest place in Haskell are the vaults at the plant, but there is no provision for guests. The next coolest place is the Haskell Theatre with its air-washed air plant and numerous fans. Next to finding solid comfort comes the desire for entertainment. Haskell Theatre furnishes first entertainment each afternoon and evening. It will do this on this afternoon and evening, (Thursday) showing "Saddle Cyclone", with Buffalo Bill, Jr. The hero Bill Dening, foils a plot of conspirators to foreclose the mortgage on a friend's ranch. Bill imprisons his friend and is forced into marriage with a strange girl that later turns out all right for all concerned; mystery and action.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM THE WEINERT SECTION

The women of Weinert and vicinity are indeed glad to have the meeting of the County Federation on the 3rd of August. A very interesting and profitable afternoon was spent discussing home demonstration work. Our women are taking a great deal of interest in this work. The outstanding and most interesting feature of the program was a wonderful talk on the subject given by Mrs. J. C. Fields of Haskell, President of the Federated Clubs. Mrs. J. H. Rilling of Branson, Colorado, former Haskell County Commissioner. J. H. Rilling is visiting friends and relatives at Weinert this week. Mrs. Rilling will visit her daughter, Mrs. Percy Finley at Crosbyton before going to her home at Branson.

Here are Americans, visitors to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, riding about the lagoons in an Italian craft, a gondola, from which they view the buildings and displays from many lands. In the distance can be seen the mammoth Sesqui Stadium; to the right is the signal tower of the United States Coast Guard building and exhibit, and to the left is one of the Japanese pagodas which dot the exposition grounds. The Grecian pavilion is one of the permanent structures on the site before the city government decided to build the Sesqui at the front door of the great Philadelphia Navy Yard. The Exposition continues until December 1.

SENATOR F. C. WEINERT VISITING BROTHER IN COUNTY

Senator F. C. Weinert of Seguin spent a few days this last week with his brother H. Weinert and family of Weinert. He seemed to enjoy shaking hands and discussing the past and the future with his many friends. He commented on the splendid condition that Texas and especially the Weinert section is in. His heart and interest is with the farmer. He claims that the burdens of taxation are unjustly unloaded on the farmer without the possibility of shifting the burden or equalizing his load.

Judge Weinert believes in good roads, but asserts that a gasoline tax is the only equitable medium to build and maintain them. Senator Weinert further states that the constitution protects from levy the home of all, but that our present system of exaction makes it possible for the irresponsible to confiscate under one pretext or another the home and all a family has honestly acquired. He says that idleness is a curse and the right to honestly acquire and enjoy property is generally conceded; but according to our system of taxation the idle and the spendthrift enjoy the fruits of the other man's labor.

While here, Judge Weinert, who, in his home town, is interested in the Guadalupe Creamery, bought from T. J. Turner of Stamford eleven head of picked Holstein heifers and dairy cows at a fancy price, admitting that the best at any price are the cheapest.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

THE WAIL OF THE OLD TIMER

Give me back my wide gray prairies
Give me back my rolling plains
Give me back my lazy river
Winding like a silver chain.
Let me ride with herds a-winding
In the sunset's golden sheen
With the astral shafts a-blazing
Out across the swards of green.
Let me sit astride a buckler
That is lean and lank and tough
While the saddle creaks and rattles
As he struts his wicked stuff.
Let me prow the range at sunrise
Where the nimble coyote sneers
Where the prairie dogs are bashful
Where the Summer Zephyr sighs.
Give me back my roll of blankets
Let me range again, afar
Let me rest and sleep in quiet
'Neath the blinking of the stars.
Give me back my wide gray prairies
For I love their very sod
Let me gaze in rapture on them
Where the stillness is of God.
—W. H. Cousins.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS (By West Texas C. of C.)

Borger.—This city has recently voted for the establishment of an independent school district. Only one vote was cast against the issue. Property will be conferred for the building, and the board of trustees has been elected. A committee has been appointed to take the scholastic census of the city.

Slaton.—Three additional credits of high school work have been granted this institution by the State Department of Education. The total number of affiliated credits at the present time is twenty-four. Fourth year English is the only course offered without affiliation.

Roswell, N. M.—The construction of a new highway which will connect Roswell with the recently discovered oil field in Lea County, is to begin at once. This road will make the Malhamar field less than eighty miles from this city.

San Antonio.—The highway in Bexar County between San Antonio and Converse on the Seguin Road, has been completed, inspected, and accepted by the State for maintenance. Its completion gives San Antonio unbroken pavement virtually the entire distance to Gonzales.

Stamford.—President Arthur P. Dugan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and his party, made up of Chamber of Commerce officials will tour the southern districts and two New Mexico sections of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory within the next two weeks. Tax revision, diversified farming, and the work of the West Texas organization will be discussed before all local commercial clubs.

ducers Association began functioning in April, 1925, with no assets. $1,800 was advanced by the Clisco Chamber of Commerce to help the beginning of the organization.
