

Administration Moves To Salvage Program For Food Subsidy Payments

OWI Chief May Resign Position

WASHINGTON —(AP)— With some indications of at least partial success, the administration took hasty steps in the Senate Saturday toward salvaging the food subsidy program, left hanging on the brink of oblivion by a House revolt against the price rollback.

Acting Democratic Leader Hill of Alabama said strenuous efforts will be made to restore $35,000 in Office of Price Administration funds cut off by the House and to lift a restriction against use of OPA money to finance the administration of subsidy payments.

There was less hope in administration quarters of restoring $5,500,000 to the Office of War Information budget for OWI's domestic operations, and OWI Director Elmer Davis said he'll quit if the Senate concurs with the House in abolishing these home-front activities.

Davis To Quit

Both Hill and Chairman McKellar of the Senate appropriations committee declined to comment on House action to abolish OWI's domestic branch.

Davis told a press conference that if the Senate concurs "There will be no OWI, and that is that."

"It will be the job of somebody else to take care of whatever they choose to do in foreign information," he said. (The House left $28,972,000 in the bill for foreign propaganda activities by the agency.)

Some Senate Republicans indicated immediately it will be perfectly all right with them if the OWI is abolished. Among them Senator Nye of North Dakota, a member of the appropriations committee, said he supported the House action in trimming OWI and OPA funds.

Subsidies Opposed

"I don't think there is any such need to sell the American people this war as the plans of the OWI would seem to indicate," Nye said.

As for OPA, Hill told reporters: "We will try to give the OPA what it must have to operate. I think the Senate realizes that Congress cannot destroy something in times like these without having something better to offer."

That this move would face stiff bipartisan opposition seemed indicated when McKellar (D-Tenn.) announced that he is opposed to subsidy payments to roll back the price of food to consumers.

MADRID —(AP)— A La Linea dispatch said Saturday 12 Allied landing barges of a type much larger than those previously seen in the Western Mediterranean had passed through Gibraltar Strait enroute from England to North Africa. It reported an 18-ship convoy had entered the Mediterranean from the Atlantic at noon and that air traffic in the Gibraltar region was heavier than in many weeks.

Italians Reported Asking Peace Terms

LONDON —(AP)— Reuters said in a dispatch wholly unconfirmed by other Allied sources and denied by the Axis—that there were rumors that high Italian peace envoys were in Algiers Saturday as Premier Mussolini called his cabinet into another war conference.

Official London and Algiers sources declared they had no information on the Reuters report from the French African capital that Crown Prince Umberto, an Army group commander, and the deposed Marshal Pietro Badoglio had come to the Allied camp bearing the olive branch.

A German broadcast quoted a Rome dispatch as saying the report about Umberto and Marshal Badoglio on a peace mission was "so absurd and senseless that it denies itself."

Mussolini Defied

A little earlier, the same radio had said Umberto "has been visiting for several days Calabria localities hit by air raids." Calabria is the toe of the Italian boot, the nearest part of the mainland to Algiers. Both broadcasts of DNB dispatches were recorded by the Associated Press.

The Morocco radio said that the Fascist party directorate had asked Mussolini to hand over the entire conduct of the war to the party. The Morocco radio has been a source of frequent misinformation. This report suggested that a party revolt might be brewing which would put Il Duce on the skids in a move preliminary to eventual bargaining with the Allies.

The Italians know, however, that "unconditional surrender" is the only Allied term because it was thus pronounced in January at the Casablanca conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill. The rumor of an Italian peace bid was the latest of a series of three. Reports of similar feelers from Rumania and Hungary were denied violently by Axis spokesmen.

Chutists Worry Axis

A Berlin broadcast said all Italian men from 18 to 36 and women from 18 to 24 not otherwise engaged in war work had been ordered placed under labor conscription effective July 1. The Ankara radio quoted a Zurich dispatch saying (Continued on Page 2)

Reporter-Telegram Will Tell How Army Bombardiers Do Job

The first of six installments will be found on page one Monday.

Allies Blast Rabaul Base

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA —(AP)— Allied Flying Fortresses and Liberators dropped 33 tons of bombs on Rabaul, New Britain, Saturday, the high command announced.

Attacking Vunakanau airdrome just before dawn, the raiders struck at ground aircraft, setting them afire and started a fuel dump blaze which could be seen for 100 miles.

This brought to 145 tons the weight of bombs to fall on Rabaul airdromes in five raids, starting June 10.

Rabaul, second only to Truk as a mighty enemy air and shipping base in the Southwest Pacific, is on the extreme northern tip of New Britain, 500 miles northeast of the Allied New Guinea base of Port Moresby.

Bena Bena Attacked

The Japanese, meanwhile, struck for the fourth time in five days at the Bena Bena area of New Guinea, 90 miles northwest of Lae. They sent over only eight planes, however, in contrast with 57 employed in the first raid.

These enemy raids have brought into prominence a battle sector which hitherto has not figured in the communiques. It is known only that before the war there were emergency landing fields in the area. The Bena Bena sector is more than 100 miles northwest of the only ground front in New Guinea mentioned in communiques, that at Mubo, 12 miles below Salamaua.

MAAF Graduate Killed In Crash

Mrs. R. E. L. Taylor, 116 West Maiden Lane, has been informed of the death of her brother-in-law, Lt. Howard Dalley, 21, in the crash of a plane near Columbia, S. C., Friday.

The plane in which Lieutenant Dalley was flying as a bombardier instructor was reported to have crashed in 50 feet of water in Lake Murray, near Columbia. None of the bodies had been recovered late Saturday, the was informed, but papers belonging to Lieutenant Dalley were found floating in the water. No other details had been learned by the family.

Lieutenant Taylor graduated from the Midland Bomber School last October and was assigned as bombardier instructor at the South Carolina school. His wife, who now resides in Dallas, has been a frequent visitor at the home of her sister here.

French Dispute May Be Settled Monday

ALGIERS —(AP)— Belief that the long-standing dispute between French factions may be ended officially Monday grew Saturday after both Generals Charles De Gaulle and Henri Giraud and their followers indicated increasing satisfaction over a proposed compromise plan for control over the French military forces.

The compromise, which would install De Gaulle as defense commissioner and retain Giraud as commander in chief, will be considered Monday by the committee for national liberation.

The plan provides that the defense commissioner and commander in chief would be members of a separate committee of national defense along with three others—Jean Monnet as commissioner of armament and supply, Andrew Philip as commissioner of the interior and resistance in France, and either Gen. Georges Catroux, commissioner of Moslem affairs, or Gen. Alphonse Georges, commissioner without portfolio.

Seven Men Killed In Camp Hood Accident

CAMP HOOD, Tex. —(AP)— A six-wheel kitchen truck struck and killed seven enlisted men and injured 15 others when the driver was blinded by dust late Friday, the public relations office said Saturday.

The officials gave this account of the accident:

A group of men was walking down the Copperas Cove road inside the reservation about 5 p. m. Friday. Tank destroyers and other vehicles were moving down a dusty, parallel road. So much dust was raised that the driver of a kitchen truck coming in from the field was blinded and did not see the group of men. They did not see the truck.

The fifteen injured men are expected to recover.

New Coal Strike On

WASHINGTON —(AP)— With another coal strike already spreading, John L. Lewis and the operators recessed their joint bargaining conferences Saturday night until Sunday at 11 a. m.

There was no indication from either side of the wage controversy of any results from Saturday's conferences, called to consider the War Labor Board's decision against ordering portal-to-portal pay in the soft coal industry.

Some 50,000 miners, about a tenth of the total, already had quit their jobs in anticipation of the end Sunday midnight of a truce declared by Lewis' United Mine Workers after the last work halt.

Mine Officials Meet

Lewis met with his district presidents Saturday morning, and arranged for a joint conference with the operators at 2:30 p. m. After this conference convened, the operators held a private caucus while the union's policy committee met at 4 p. m. to discuss the WLB order that they sign a contract including a pledge of no-strike for the duration. This session recessed shortly after 6 p. m. until Sunday.

Up for discussion were these fateful questions:

Whether the UMW would defy the War Labor Board and refuse to sign a new contract providing only about 20 cents a day more for the miners than they received under the old one.

Truce Ends Sunday

Whether the nation is to undergo a general tie-up of coal mining, also in defiance of the government agency, of potential serious injury to the war effort.

Sunday at midnight, the two-week truce authorized by the policy committee of the United Mine Workers expires and as the deadline approached work stoppages dotted the great producing states of the Appalachian area.

About 50,000 of the nation's half-million mine workers were idle last May 4, Secretary Harold Ickes, as fuel administrator in charge of the mines, ordered a six-day week in all mines to assure that coal output met the needs of war industries.

Miners Dissatisfied

At Birmingham, Ala., International Representative John J. Hanratty of the UMW declared the walkout was "a spontaneous demonstration of dissatisfaction with the War Labor Board's decision" denying additional pay on the basis of time spent underground by the miners.

The walkouts began Friday night in Alabama and Pennsylvania. Saturday morning more than 12,000 stay-at-home in Pennsylvania's soft coal fields, and similar reports came from other states.

In Alabama some 12,000 were idle. In Kentucky 8,182, Ohio 6,660, Illinois 4,200; Virginia 4,000; West Virginia 2,000; Tennessee 700 and Indiana 750.

Oklahoma Scouts To Collect Old Clocks For Midland School

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Bombardier students at Midland Army Air Field in Texas are going to be given every worn-out alarm clock Boy Scouts in Oklahoma City can find.

The old clocks are needed to provide springs, wheels and other tiny parts for mock-ups of bomb sights. Boy Scouts here have promised to collect at least 250 no-good clocks, Kermit Hardwick, War Services chairman for the Last Frontier Council, said Saturday.

Calm Settles At Beaumont

AUSTIN —(AP)— Acting Governor A. M. Aikin, Jr., announced Saturday night that martial law would be lifted at Beaumont at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

"Order has been restored and we feel the situation is well in hand and that the local officers are in position and well-able to preserve order," the acting governor said in a statement accompanying the official order restoring civil law.

Martial law was ordered for the Southwest Texas city June 16 at the request of civil leaders and public officials there.

The order was issued as a request of race rioting precipitated by the alleged assault upon a white woman. Two lives were lost and considerable property damage was inflicted in a section where negroes live.

Military courts of inquiry at Beaumont Saturday completed their investigation of the rioting and turned over to authorities 28 men against whom charges may be preferred.

Suspects Released

Others were liberated, and of the remaining 21, 10 were charged in corporation court with drunkenness, assault and battery and unlawful assembly. These charges were filed by City Attorney Albert Tatum.

Others remaining in custody will not be charged before Monday, County Attorney Shelby Long said.

Col. Sidney Mason, in command here under martial law, said his authority over those in custody ended at the time the courts of inquiry relinquished their findings to the local authorities.

All suspects in the alleged assault upon the white woman were freed by Sheriff W. W. Richardson.

Jap Plane Toll In Great Battle Revised Upward

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Navy added 17 planes Saturday to the total of enemy aircraft destroyed in Wednesday's great battle over Guadalcanal Island, making the ratio of enemy losses to American losses almost 16 to 1.

A communique gave new details of the action. Only 26 Japanese aircraft out of 120 in the striking force escaped the American guns. Of six U. S. planes shot down two pilots were rescued.

The communique further disclosed that Thursday night an "unknown number" of enemy planes attempted to raid the Guadalcanal area but caused no damage or casualties.

Rekata Bay Hit

Earlier Thursday a force of Dauntless dive bombers and Wildcat fighters had raided Jap positions at Rekata Bay, a seaplane base on Santa Isabel Island north of Guadalcanal and scored hits on enemy anti-aircraft.

The war bulletin threw fresh light on the Japanese objective in sending 60 bombers and 60 fighters into the South Pacific area where the enemy has taken a beating in the air for many months. A supply convoy was in the vicinity of Guadalcanal at the time and approximately 30 of the Japanese dive bombers maneuvered to attack it. They succeeded in damaging a cargo vessel and a landing craft, as previously reported, and also in inflicting minor damage on a second cargo vessel.

LOVINGTON, N. M. —(AP)— The Glover Packing Plant which provides most of Lea County's meat supply and part of the market in two neighboring counties, was almost totally destroyed by fire Saturday.

Sicily Is Battered

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA —(AP)— American warplanes, lashing out with their heaviest blows since Pantelleria collapsed June 11, blasted Axis shipping, troops and air fields in Sicily and Sardinia Friday, Allied headquarters announced Saturday.

Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle's Strategic Air Force—one of the two sections of the North-west African Air Command—ranked up its greatest single-day victory, downing 89 enemy craft.

Eight American planes were lost as the mighty air arm punched at Mussolini's island fortresses, spreading destruction in Messina and Milo airfield in Sicily, and ripping at shipping, airfields and communications in Sardinia.

393 Planes Downed

The 393 enemy planes downed in air battles were the largest toll in any day by the Strategic Air Force—the aerial division assigned to strike at enemy bases, communications and supply lines.

Larger numbers of Axis planes have been destroyed, however, in one day in combined operations of the strategic and tactical air forces and Middle East fliers.

Twenty-three of the 39 were smashed down in a great dogfight over Golfo Aranci in Northern Sardinia, where B-25 Mitchell bombers laid hits among docks and railway yards.

The communique did not disclose the number of participating American aircraft, but the force was described as the largest winging out in pre-invasion aerial assault since Pantelleria capitulated to air power.

Axis Strikes Back

Messina was struck in daylight by Flying Fortresses and hits were made on the ferry terminal leading to the Italian mainland, on railway yards and upon the power station.

(The Italian communique said 27 Allied planes were shot down Friday.)

Wavell Appointed Viceroy Of India

LONDON —(AP)— Unofficial observers suggested Saturday the possibility that an American general was being considered along with several British officers for commander in chief of the new separate East Asia military command which may take over operations of a knockout blow against Japan.

The formation of the new command was promised in a London announcement of the appointments of Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell as viceroy of India and Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck as military commander in chief in India to succeed Wavell.

Britons cheered the appointments, which were interpreted as fitting into the Allied grand strategy of a multi-front war.

No disclosure of the names under consideration for assignment as East Asia commander came from any authoritative source, but a decision was expected within a few days.

Of American generals now in the Orient, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell is the senior. He is commander of U. S. troops in China, Burma and India.

No matter who gets the appointment, some reshuffling will result in the present British general staff, where chances might be necessitated by withdrawals to fill posts in the new command.

Stockmen Opposed To Federal Subsidy Plan

CHICAGO —(AP)— P. O. Wilson, secretary of the National Livestock Producers Association, Saturday said livestock farmers were opposed to a government subsidy program which "has already helped reduce the price of cattle, hogs and sheep on the leading markets of the country."

"The uncertainty and chaos caused by the subsidy program," Wilson said, "has served to decrease the actual production of tonnage of meat in this country and delay the whole meat producing process."

Bond Demand Not So Tough

Secretary of the Treasury Henry W. Morgenthau Jr.'s crack the other day that by the end of 1943 "the average American family should be investing approximately 25 cents of every dollar of income in war bonds," has been worrying a number of people, but it may not be as bad as it looks at first glance.

The average Joe or Jane, now patriotically contributing 10 per cent of his or her pay check to buy War Bonds, is apt to figure it out like this: "Ten per cent is okay, but where do they get this 25 per cent stuff? Withholding taxes after July are going to be 20 per cent under this new tax bill so I understand, and if they want me to kick in with another 2¢ per cent for bonds, that makes 45 per cent of my pay, and what do they expect me to live on? Wages are frozen, cost of living is still going up, and I'm supposed to get by on 55 cents out of every dollar I make. What do they expect me to do—sell the house or the car? Give up my life insurance? Starve?"

Take it easy, chums, for it really isn't that tough. In the first place, the 20 per cent withholding tax called for under the next tax bill is a gross figure. Exemptions will run from nothing at all to a maximum of 20 per cent. For the majority of the taxpayers, withholding taxes will average only about 12 per cent.

In the second place, this 25 per cent of payroll contribution the Treasury is talking about is an average figure. It doesn't mean that every wage-earner is expected to kick in with 25 per cent of his pay for war savings, as was the case with the campaign to get everyone to contribute 10 per cent of his pay. Some people obviously won't be able to boost their 10 per cent to 25 per cent. Others will be expected to do as much as 50 per cent. A number of cases are actually on record now in which some members of a family, all of whom are working, are saving the full 100 per cent of their wages.

The idea is simply that every wage-earner should get a pencil and paper, make out a new budget for the remainder of 1943, figuring in new taxes and cost of living expenses at present prices, then determine what his maximum contribution for War Bonds can be.

This Treasury figure of 25 per cent average income savings hasn't been simply pulled out of the air. Treasury experts know that this surplus money is available, in savings accounts or as hot money burning holes in the pockets of people who want to spend it on something—anything—just to get rid of it. As loose spending money, this excess purchasing power is an inflationary threat and the idea is to blot it up with War Bonds, not only to check inflation now, but to help finance the war effort, hold down the war debt, and indirectly provide savings for spending money in the post-war period when the boom is all over.

It is a fairly simple matter for an economist to sit down and show that for 1943 there is approximately $43 billion excess money floating around loose. Gross income from wages for some 63 million American wage-earners will be around $142 billion. Subtract $16 billion taxes and you have left $126 billion net income to be spent. But there will be only about $83 billion worth of goods and services to be bought for the simple reason that under wartime restrictions there can't be more than that produced or available. Subtract the $3 from the 126 and there's your $43 billion.

The job is to find out which wage-earners and which families have this extra money and take it away from them via the 25 per cent average, voluntary purchase plan. But it is to be an average and not 25 per cent flat payroll deduction, straight across the board and regardless of income size or other conditions.

Learning To Travel

"When I get my feet planted in the old home town, you won't see me doing any more traveling," say most of the Americans who have been sent all over the world to fight this global war. But an awful lot of them, having realized how much there is to the world, are going to want to see it again as civilians.

The more adventurous, who will hit for African deserts or sub-Arctic snows, will do well to tuck away copies of the Army's two guidebooks, "Jungle and Desert Emergencies" and "Arctic Emergencies." The latter, second in the series, is filled with such useful information as the fact that polar bears' livers are poisonous, a diet of rabbit will lead to death through "rabbit starvation," but seal hearts and kidneys and broiled reindeer, most are edible.

A Good Trick--If He Does It

Texans On Hand To See Launching Of New Houston

NEWPORT NEWS, VA. — (AP) — Texans leaned over the platform rail and watched the cruiser Houston as she took to water Saturday at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

Above her bow, beautifully billowy with foamy champagne, billowed red, white and blue banners against a cloudless sky. "There she goes," someone said in a typical Texas drawl. He added: "God bless her." The cruiser Houston not only received her name Saturday as a naval ship which soon will be commissioned for fighting duty. The Houston received a faith to keep with the cruiser Houston which died in battle with the Japanese in the Java Sea, with the men who died heroes serving her guns, and with the people of Texas who put up more than $72,000,000 to provide her.

One thousand volunteers joined the Navy in a body at Houston to replace the crew of the lost ship.

Italy Has Suffered Terrific Pounding, Texas Flier Reports

BROOKS FIELD — (AP) — Lt. Daniel F. Derrick, back from seven months' fighting in North Africa, told Brooks Field cadets and officers that the Italian peninsula has been taking a terrific pounding.

Derrick, 24, is the son of Mrs. G. W. Derrick of Paris, Texas. When Flying Fortresses bombed the Italian cruiser Trieste in the harbor of La Magdalena, "there were 24 planes in the raid, and all but three hit it," Derrick said. "You can guess what happened."

In another raid on Axis shipping off the North African coast, a tanker, hit by American bombs, exploded with a violence that tossed his Fortress two hundred feet higher—even though it was flying at 11,000 feet, he said.

Photographs of the hit showed debris a mile in each direction. "There wasn't even enough left to sink," Derrick declared. During his service with the 8th Air Force in Britain and the 12th Air Force in Africa, Derrick was responsible for dropping 196,000 pounds of bombs.

Jap Sub Crew Tries To Shoot Survivors Of Torpedoed Ship

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Three Navy gunners of a United States merchant ship Saturday related how the Japanese, after torpedoing the vessel somewhere in the Southwest Pacific, began a methodical job of attempting to machine gun the weary survivors.

The crew of another merchant vessel, which also was sunk in South Pacific waters, told of hitting sharks with oars to prevent them from getting into boxes of food which had been dropped by rescuing planes.

The Navy, in announcing survivors of the two ships had been landed in San Francisco, told of the Japanese tactics in stories by Arvid Glenn Newton, coxswain, Los Angeles; Eugene N. Hudson, S. C. V-6, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Homer Glenn Krueger, S. C. V-6, Grand Haven, Mich.

Immediately after the ship sank, the Japanese submarine came to the surface and began a methodical job of passing by all life boats and rafts, except one, and machine gunning the weary survivors.

Not a single man was lost, however, because the Navy said all men rolled off their life craft, and remained submerged until the firing had ceased and the submarine again submerged.

Ration Board Action Leaves Woman Dunkless

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — (AP) — One Chattanooga lady told the ration board she simply had to have more coffee.

"You see, I haven't any teeth and I have to dunk my food in coffee to eat it. With the amount of coffee I get now, I just don't get enough to eat," she explained. The ration board was very sorry and all, but it refused the request.

Big Spring Man Testifies Of Attack By Tollett In Cosden Hot Oil Trial

DALLAS — (AP) — Albert P. Groebel of Big Spring testified Saturday at the hot oil trial of the Cosden Petroleum Company and three individuals that he became a director of the company at the solicitation of Raymond L. Tollett, president of the company and one of the defendants, and soon discovered that it was the company's practice to process illegally produced oil. Groebel testified that he took Tollett to task about it and was informed that Tollett had instructed R. Weldon Thompson, former pipeline superintendent and another defendant, to run an overage of 10 to 20 per cent "to make a good showing" for a New York man. Groebel said Tollett referred to another director of the company, Friendship Ended. "I'm going to make a big showing," Groebel quoted Tollett as saying. "I'm going places."

Around Town

We live and learn. We'd seen electric nail snips, electric tooth brushes and most other kinds of electrical gadgets, we thought.

But Saturday we stumbled on to a new one in the Midland office of the State Highway Department—an electric crasser. And it works. The boys down at the office brag about its value in work on drawings, charts and tracings. Most people are trained to rub out their own mistakes. But now this can be done quickly by electrically. Just another labor saving device.

Among the happiest men in the world the other day when a strong wind storm suddenly swept through Midland was a sergeant and corporal from the communications detachment at the Midland Army Air Field. The two soldiers were working on a radio aerial atop the tall water tower at the City Hall when the wind struck. They quickly lashed their tools to the tower and descended.

On the ground, the sergeant jumped up and down. He was so happy to be safe again. The new radio aerial will serve the Military Police radio station being installed in Police Headquarters. It will have a range of 150 miles and is a two-way system.

Italian

The jittery state of Italian officialdom, as well as of the Fascist public, was reflected in two swiftly succeeding orders. The first fixed hard penalties for Italians falling to report landings of Allied parachutists or other agents; the second offered cash rewards to soldiers discovering parachutists or Allied secret works in Italian cities.

The ministry of information recorded a broadcast which said the menace of landings of single Allied "chutists had become acute of late." This was followed by another Rome broadcast boasting that "so far, not a single Allied soldier has set foot on European soil."

Radio Algiers reported that "tension between German and Italian troops occupying Greece is rising steadily."

There are about 100 parks in Buenos Aires, largest city of Latin America.

On cross examination, James V. Allred, attorney for Tollett, drew from Groebel the admission that the company's board of directors had requested his resignation several months before he resigned. Referring to the fight, Allred asked: "You are mad at Tollett, aren't you?" Groebel hit, too. "I am very displeased with his actions," Groebel replied.

"You hate him, don't you?" Allred asked. Groebel attempted to sidestep the question, but Allred insisted. Finally Groebel answered the question this way: "I don't know what the passion is, but I haven't liked him since he choked me."

"You did some hitting yourself, didn't you?" Allred asked. "I certainly did," replied Groebel. Groebel denied on questioning by Allred that he carried a gun and had threatened to kill Tollett.

SUSPENSE
CHAPTER XVI

IT was Deputy Shaw who took charge. He phoned the doctor and told him to bring a stomach pump. Then he ordered us all out of Margaret's room except Clara and Sarah and Mattison. He said they'd be needed to help.

I went down to the big square white-tiled kitchen and put some coffee on to boil. Maybe a cup of it hot and black would bring me out of the nightmare in which I was moving with the clogged and frantic efforts peculiar to bad dreams.

The nightmare which had begun the moment Mattison and I broke into Margaret's room and saw her gray face and touched her clammy hands. The nightmare which had sucked me into its depths when I glanced at the table beside her bed. The glass that I had left there was empty, and the small envelope which had contained the remaining sleeping tablets was torn raggedly open.

Clint Mattison's voice sounded miles away. "I think we need a doctor, Mrs. Kraik."

All the phones at Kraiktower are downstairs. I remember holding tightly to the banister as I started down the steps, for I was faint with shock. I was nearly at the bottom when someone banged the knocker on the hall door. He lifted his cap, smiled, and swallowed what he was going to say. I must have looked ghastly.

"What's happened?" he barked.

I told him, trying to keep my voice steady. He took over without any foolish preliminaries.

IT was the longest day of my life. The doctor went away to make his morning calls and came back and went away again.

Deputy Shaw used the phone and another police car came with three men in it. They lugged an nhalator up to Margaret's room. Then Shaw went away.

Clint Mattison came down about

1 o'clock and ate with us. He lit his pipe afterward and said he was going out for some air before he went back upstairs.

He saw the question in my eyes and shook his head. "We can't tell yet, Mrs. Kraik. We keep her walking, one on each side of her holding her up, and we talk to her and try to concentrate her attention. But she's only half-conscious."

Kathy got up suddenly from her chair. "Do you mind if I walk with you?" she asked Mattison. Of course he didn't. I watched them wander off down by the lake. Mattison was broad-shouldered and half a head taller than Kathy. They made a nice-looking couple.

The doctor came back again about 6 o'clock and was upstairs for more than an hour. When he came down he hunted me up in the living room. Walter had mixed cocktails and we were sipping them and waiting for the dinner gong. We were all there except Will Grady's wife. She had been acting queerly all day, staring at me whenever I went upstairs and moving away to avoid speaking. The middle of the afternoon she had gone over to their room in the tower and sent word back later that she had a headache and didn't want any dinner.

The doctor looked very grave as he crossed the room toward me and my heart drew into a knot. He took his glasses off, polished them with a handkerchief, and said slowly, "She's going to live." He held the glasses up to the light and then polished them vigorously again. "But her mind—"

My heart stood still, and the horror of my quick guess must have shone in my face.

"No—it isn't that," he added hastily. "She's not insane. She understands what you say to her and answers quite sensibly. But her memory's gone. She doesn't remember anything that's happened. Not even her grandson's death."

The doctor's voice seemed to come from a great distance as he finished in his deliberate fashion: "What she needs now is rest and quiet, and—her memory may return in time. Mrs. Grady is with her now!"

SO he went away and left me standing there, rather stupidly trying to take in the full import of his words.

Connie, too, acted as if she couldn't quite grasp it all at once. She walked stiffly over to a window and stood staring out at the deepening dusk. After a time over her shoulder, without looking around: "The doctor says Margaret doesn't even remember that Derek is dead. Isn't that odd?"

Kathy jerked her head up and looked at Connie intently.

Will Grady acted the most normal of any of us. He polished off another cocktail, set the glass down, and rubbed his hands together. "The old lady's tough. Guess it would take more than a sleeping tablet to finish her off."

Walter agreed with him in an absent-minded sort of way.

Then the dinner gong sounded and we went into the dining room. Will Grady sat at Walter's right. He made clumsy mistakes with his silver and his big voice boomed constantly. It occurred to me finally that he was talking too much even for a man embarrassed by the presence of servants and more implements beside his plate than he knew how to use. He had something on his mind and was trying to cover it up with a flood of talk.

I wondered what it was.

Kathy disturbed my reflections with some remark, and when I turned my head to answer her, I caught Clint Mattison watching me as I had been watching Will Grady. I remembered with unease the same speculative intentness in his eyes when he had looked at me that morning in the breakfast room. Another man with something on his mind!

Navy Announces Creation Of New Amphibious Unit

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Organization of a powerful Army-Navy amphibious force which probably would spearhead American troops in any major invasion of Europe was announced Saturday by the Navy Department.

A statement which described the formation and training of the outfit that now numbers untold thousands of soldiers and bluejackets declared it was "ready to carry out with speed, precision and perfect co-ordination the most difficult of military assignments—a landing on a fortified hostile shore."

Already Seen Service

Some units of the force already have been in service in the Pacific. The operation against Atafu Island was initiated by those units under the direct, personal supervision of Rear Admiral Francis W. Rockwell, commander, amphibious force, Pacific fleet. Rockwell's counterpart in the Atlantic is Rear Admiral Alan G. Kirk.

The Navy said that one of the objectives of the training program directed by Kirk and Rockwell was to eliminate differences in Army and Navy practices and terminology so complete "that there will be no misunderstanding in an actual operation."

Marines Not Mentioned

There was no mention in the official statement of the part which the Marines will play in amphibious operations in connection with the special Army-Navy force. Amphibious operations are the essence of Marine training. Absence of the Leathernecks from the special corps gave rise to speculation that the new force probably was designed for operations in which the Army would be heavily engaged after the landings were made.

The Army, therefore, would be able to carry through from start to finish. The bluejacket part of the amphibious force probably would be primarily concerned with handling landing boats and setting up beach defenses and facilities.

Mrs. Rockwell uses the Warren slam convention, a bid of four no-trump, asking partner to show aces and kings. Aces count two points and kings one. A response of five diamonds would show two points; five hearts shows three points, and the bid is stepped up one for each additional point. Therefore, five no-trump shows a count of five. Foremen At Ford Plant Walk Out

DETROIT—(AP)—More than 500 Ford Rouge plant foremen, members of the Ford chapter of the Foremen's Association of America, walked out Saturday and the question was whether their action would disrupt war production in the huge plant.

The dispute started, a company spokesman said, early Saturday afternoon when several foremen posted an ad which appeared in a Detroit morning newspaper. The company asked them to remove the ad, and 28 foremen walked out in protest.

Foremen on succeeding shifts also refused to work, the walkout reaching its height when 250 foremen in aircraft engine production failed to report.

Meeting Called

Whether a walkout of foremen would stop production remained to be seen, but the question was whether production workers who are members of the United Automobile Workers-CIO would go through a picket line should it be established by the foremen.

The walkout was unauthorized, a foreman's union spokesman said, adding that a meeting of the union was scheduled for Sunday morning in Dearborn.

The advertisement placed in the paper was captioned, "We Do Not Want to Strike," but asked the question as to how long the group would be able to keep the members from striking unless the company agreed to accept the union's interpretation of wage clauses in an agreement.

Reds Confident Of Victory In Less Than Year

MOSCOW — (AP) — After battling through two years of the hardest war people ever have been compelled to fight, the Russians are confident that they and their Anglo-American allies will complete the destruction of the Teuton aggressor before another anniversary rolls around.

That is what they thought last year, too. But this year there is every reason to believe that their confidence will be borne out.

The great victories by both the Allies and the Russians in the last year plus encouraging words uttered by Joseph Stalin in his May Day order of the day have boosted their confidence to a higher point, perhaps than at any time since Hitler attacked that Sunday dawn on June 22 two years ago.

Lauding the Allies as never before, Stalin on May Day told the Russian people that the Americans and British were going to follow up the African successes by opening a second front in Europe.

Shortly after Stalin's remarks appeared, Yanks, Tommies and French soldiers finished knocking the Axis out of Africa and now, having taken Pantelleria, are poised for the long awaited invasion of the continent which Russians hope and expect will come any day.

On their own ledger the Russians proudly cite the monumental defense of Stalingrad and the terrific winter counter-offensive that freed a thousand towns and won back 180,000 square kilometers of Soviet soil.

The Russians have achieved sensational success in stepping up production of their own weapons, according to reliable technicians.

With new weapons and great confidence, the Russians enter what is expected to be the decisive summer of the war.

Count Expected To Win Arlington Run

CHICAGO —(P)— If Count Fleet shakes off his ankle injury, he should have a good chance of shattering horse racing precedent during the combined Arlington-Washington 67-day meeting—the richest session in Chicago history, with purse and stake distributions totaling $1,500,000.

Winner of the Kentucky Derby, Proakness and Belmont Stakes, the Hertz hurricane will try to become the first "triple crown" winner in history.

Even Whirlaway failed to accomplish the grand slam in racing. The Calumet comet came to Chicago in 1941 wearing the "triple crown," but Attention beat him in however, came back to capture the Arlington Classic, Whirly, the American Derby.

Gallant Fox in 1930 and his son, Omaha, in 1935 won the Classic after taking the "triple crown," but they did not start in the Derby.

Education has been compulsory in Chile since 1920.

Gil Dodds Wins 1,500-Meter Race To Warm Up Track For Swift Swede

NEW YORK —(P)— By way of warming up Randall's Island cinder path for Gunder Haegg's Swedish sizzling Sunday, Gil Dodds of Boston danced in with the National A. A. U. 1,500-meter championship Saturday and California's contenders dominated the junior title competitions.

Proving that there actually were some other fireworks to be set off in this two-day National A. A. U. meet besides the American debut of the swift Swede, Dodds turned in a snappy metric mile of 3:50 and successfully defended his crown by 30 yards.

Helping him along in demonstrating that Gunder's thunder in Sunday's 5,000-meter duel with Greg Rice wasn't the only noise in his party, two of the juniors gave the record books a going-over for the entertainment of the 1,000 or so fans in the municipal stadium on this East River island.

Burnham Runs Last

One of these was the junior pole vault standard, which was raised to 13 feet, 10 7-8 inches by Irv Moore of the San Francisco Olympic Club, as he brought home one of the six championships Californians captured during the day. The other was a 20.9 second dash for the 200-meter sprint, posted by George Guida, Villanova College's crack speedster and which lopped one tenth of a second off the old mark.

In addition to their half-dozen championships—three on the track and three a-field—the invading Californians also hit for six second places.

However, the icing on the cake Saturday was the 1,500 meters, and in this one Dodds was the whole show, especially when his expected tussle with Don Burnham failed to materialize. Dartmouth Don, who has been working with Haegg in the New Hampshire hills, wound up a well-walloped last.

Sunday Golfer Is Looking Forward To Better Times

SPOKANE, Wash. —(P)— William M. Welch Jr., is strictly a Sunday golfer, even as you and I.

But one of these days Bill Welch, national public links champion, will be striding around a golf course again with the eyes of the nation upon him and "Skipper"—Mrs. Welch—and William M. Sr., of Houston, Tex., following as he wallops a golf ball in defense of his title.

That's the day Bill is working toward as he operates his power press in a Spokane war industry.

"The war won't hurt golf and golf won't hurt the war," said Bill Saturday, speculatively caressing a bandaged left thumb which had lost a night-of-way argument with the press.

Doing All Right

"Service men are flocking to the courses in their spare time. Civilians are continuing to play their Sunday and spare-moment golf, and not letting it interfere with their war work. After the war, the game will resume its old place in the national sports picture without a slack period."

As to his own golf, "What," Bill asked, "can you expect?" He has no time for practice and "don't want any as long as this more serious game of war is going on."

As a once-a-week golfer, Bill isn't doing badly. In spite of the one-eighth inch dent in his thumb from the kiss of the power press, he turned in an all-three-under-par 69 and has an all-course average of 73 for the season.

With the end of the first round in the hotly contested enlisted men's softball league in view, a three-way struggle is taking place for the coveted first place position. In what has been a topsy-turvy league with no one team remaining on the top rung very long, the 491st B. T. S. is at present in first place. As many experts had predicted at the beginning of the season, no team has been able to maintain a clean record. The leading team has dropped three games. The 491st leads the league with 13 wins and three defeats, followed closely by the Ordnance and 83rd Air Base which are tied for the second spot with 12 victories and four losses. The sensational comeback of the 83rd B.T.G. team has put it in third place with 10 games won and seven lost. The 486th B. T. S. topped the 11 cent games to the fourth slot with a record of nine and seven.

The other teams are a good distance from the top. It begins to appear after some 17-odd games that the battle royal will be between the Ordnance, 83rd Air Base and 83rd B. T. G. The second half begins on July 12. As reported previously the winner of the first half will play the winner of the second half for the field championship in a series of playoff games. According to the Physical Training Department, batting averages will now be compiled only at the end of the season.

Several things have made the softball league an unusual one in comparison with past league play on the field, in that one team has come up steadily from the cellar to third place. Manager Carrigan's 83rd B. T. G. team has surprised the entire loop with its fight for the key position. After dropping six straight games the team turned about and won nine straight. In climbing up the ladder they have knocked off the top teams. Next week, which marks the end of the first round, there will be some tight games in which anything can happen.

Plans are getting underway in earnest in the Physical Training Department for the Enlisted Men's Track and Field meet to be held on the 24th and 25th of this month. Entries are pouring in from every squad, some of which are more track minded than others. An interesting innovation will be the weight lifting contest, which will give the "muscle men" an opportunity to display their prowess. On hand will be the champions of the track meet which was held on inception day. Eleven events will be held but this time the arrangements will be more complete as far as judges and facilities in general are concerned.

Many men are taking advantage of one of the more unusual features of the coming meet, which is the fact that anyone can enter six events, three track and three field. The tennis courts are receiving more attention from everyone on the field. Later on when other matters have been dispatched, a tournament will be conducted. From the looks of things this competition will be every bit as keen as the softball league. The field personnel is eagerly awaiting the opening of the swimming pool which will be out by the service club. There will be a diving board for the artists of the graceful leap.

New Numbers Game Is Helping Get Uncle Sam's Mail Delivered Right

NEW YORK —(P)— Uncle Sam has invented a new numbers game, and it's sweeping the country.

Did you ever wonder how postal clerks can memorize all the streets of a large city, so you receive even that post card from Aunt Minnie addressed to "Monroe Street" when you really live on "Mongoose Avenue"?

Well, postal clerks in all large American cities will soon find their jobs immeasurably simplified under the "key" system of addressing that is being introduced by the post office department.

Senders of letters to these cities will be expected to include the correct postal district number along with the regular street address.

New York Plays It

Long used in Europe and Canada, the system has recently been started in New York City, with successful results. Correctly addressed letters to this metropolis now include the name of the borough and the district number, as: "Bronx 63."

Previously, says Postmaster Albert Goldman, New York City mail sorters had to memorize approximately 3,700 place names—streets, alleys and public buildings. Two years was the usual time required to achieve the feat. Under the new system, even a beginner can quickly learn his postal division number and notify his correspondents.

The post office has issued instructions to start the plan in 178 major cities in 42 states, including Chicago, San Francisco, Washington, D. C., and Cincinnati. First step for the city dweller is to learn his postal division number and notify his correspondents.

War Angle

Uncle Sam's numbers game meets a wartime need.

In the New York City postal district 2,800 employees have entered the armed forces, while an additional 1,800 have resigned to do war-plant work. Breaking in more than 4,600 new men has shown the necessity for a more exact system of addressing.

Twenty-five years ago the European plan was tried in Boston but failed. This time the innovation is nationwide, and the experience of the largest American city indicates to postal authorities that it will not only succeed but become a permanent, and unnoticed, part of letter-writing.

Your post office will tell you your number in Uncle Sam's new game.

Fall Styles Go Ultra Feminine

NEW YORK (AP)—With all the lush fanfare of pre-war Paris, New York's big-time designers are staging their fall openings a full month earlier than usual this year, revealing the new silhouette.

Ultra-feminine is the word for it. Though fall styles are straight and narrow, cut on minimum yardage and faithful to the WPB-decreed body basic, they are artfully cut to glorify the female form divine.

Interest is concentrated above the belt, with draped necklines, square shoulders and a feminine molding of the torso the most important notes. Skirts are slim and straight, but designers achieve a graceful softness by use of tied belts, slight front fullness, fake pleats.

Nettie Rosenstein concentrates on her superb "little black dress," usually innocent of trimming but beautifully sculptured to accentuate the bustline, minimize the waist. Her models wear huge gobs of solid costume jewelry.

Foxbrownie presents a collection of Chinese-influence short dinner gowns worn with beaded ornaments that perch just above the eyebrows, in the manner of Chinese ladies of high degree. She combines vivid colors in slim one- or two-piece street dresses.

Claire McCordell makes warmth her watchword for fall fashions, presents long underwear in vivid colors, reaching unashamedly to wrist and ankles and worn with short sleeved jumpers of corduroy or wool.

Marion, Kas. (AP)—Dr. Ed Freedland wanted to know why the duroc hog died, from no apparent cause, and so he performed an autopsy. Inside the hog's stomach he found thirty nails; four fence staples; automobile side curtain fasteners, pieces of tin, glass, china and a flint arrowhead besides metal parts of a soldier's uniform—total weight one pound.

Mrs. Elmer Sellers and Miss Lonetta Wright left Thursday for San Angelo to be at the bedside of their father, who will undergo a major operation.

For Nice Skin, Keep Powder Loose

"Stir your powder every day to prevent it packing," suggests patented Faye Emerson, featured in the new film "Air Force."

"You'll find that a fluffy powder goes on ever so much more smoothly and evenly, and is really the secret of a petal-smooth skin," she explains.

And another thing Faye says is most important, "always make certain that your powder puff is clean." After a few days, a certain amount of natural oil from your face, foundation lotion and rouge becomes imbedded in the puff and mats down the nap. Powder won't adhere too well to such a puff, and not only causes an uneven distribution of powder but wastes it.

Rayon Clothing Supply Will Be Cut To Provide More Tires For Bombers

BY DOROTHY ROE
AP Fashion Editor

If you have to get along with one new rayon dress next winter instead of two, you may be comforted to know that the extra one is going into a tire for an army bomber.

Growing military demand for heavy-duty rayon cord is cutting a large slice out of the American civilian wardrobe this year — and the slice is due to grow steadily larger, as the production of synthetic rubber increases.

Pagoda Pool Here Has Swim Classes

Much interest has been shown in the Pagoda Swimming Pool, which is open for girls aged 6 to 18, on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:00 a. m. to 12 noon.

Mrs. J. Gordon Bird and Mrs. Richard Peters, life-guard supervisors, assisted by Mrs. A. P. Loskamp, swimming instructor, have given tests to sixty young girls, each of whom has been classified as her ability in swimming.

The red ribbon badge designates the beginner class. The white ribbon is given those who have passed certain necessary swimming tests, and the blue ribbon indicates that the swimmer has passed the highest test for swimming.

Plans are now under way to give Red Cross swimming tests to the more advanced swimmers, according to Mrs. Selman J. Lones, who heads the High school P.T.A., a sponsor of the swimming for girls.

For the remainder of the summer each swimmer will be known by the color of her badge. The girls now are working hard to get in the higher class.

White Ribbon Group
Swimmers in the white ribbon badge classification are: Betty Chanslor, Tommie Darnell, Patsy Collins, Billie Dean, Virginia Stewart, Evangeline Theis, Grace Baker, Susan Hemphill, Frances Puett, Rosalyn Leggett, Ruth Hall, Bobbie Jean Hale, Melba Clark, Bobbie Lee Lassiter, Betty Bobo, Glenna Graham, Betty Jean Merriweather, Patsy Bray, Mary Barbara Aiken, Sally Secor, Mazia Secor, Jean Devereaux, and Diana Dabman.

The blue ribbon badge indicates the best swimmers, who may enjoy the deeper water of the pool. In this class are: Patricia Mix, Shirley Ann Cooper, Dora Aikre, Patricia Flannigan, Marion Giddings, Mickie McDonald, Pat Garner, Shirley Culbertson, Margery Barton, Gene Holmes, Elsie Schlosser, Patsy Butler, Lois Black, Marcille McClure, Orelia Flint, Mary Fern Bray, Cle Winder and Becky Bird.

Make-Up Stays

MISS McNELLIS, tells secret.

By Alicia Hart
NEA Staff Writer

Supper club singers have what seems to be a magic means of looking just as fresh at 4 o'clock in the morning as they did when they made their first appearance several hours earlier.

Maggie McNellis, whose sultry style of singing songs has made her a great favorite of New York night club goers, says the secret of an ever-fresh make-up is its foundation.

Select a cream powder base that blends with the color of your skin, Maggie recommends, and smooth it on in a thin layer from hairline to just under your chin. Use a facial tissue to blot any excess base so that it will be evenly distributed. Then, blend in a small bit of cream rouge and powder generously.

Now, here is the "magic" touch: Dash cold water over the powder and pat dry.

Rayon fabrics for civilian wear have been drastically simplified, with only a few basic weaves available. In the spun rayon group, you will be able to purchase the following staple classics: gabardine, twills, men's wear suitings, flannels and tweed type fabrics.

Instead of the myriad rayon crepes and similar dressy fabrics formerly on the market, you will now find in the shops a smaller selection of weaves. The heavier rayon crepes are being eliminated in order to produce more yards with fewer pounds. Important in the summer fabric lineup are the following rayons: light - weight prints, rayon broadcloth, printed rayon jersey, staple sheers, faille, bengaline, shantung and linen-textured spun rayon fabrics.

All these are available in a wide range of colors and many striking prints. Some of the new wartime fabrics are even handsomer than their predecessors. The difficulty lies not in the quality but in the quantity available.

Dads At Home Can Honor Fathers In Service By 'Adopting' Their Children

By Ruth Millett
Giving special honor to the fathers who are in service on Father's Day is a nice gesture.

But if all it amounts to is having them spoken of in glowing terms—it won't mean very much either to the men in service or to their wives and children.

There is one way that a movement to honor fathers in service could amount to more than a lot of spoken and written words.

That would be for every father still at home with his family to "adopt" a child whose father is in service.

Children, growing up in a home that is temporarily fatherless, miss out on a lot of things.

They miss the thrill of having a man play with them, of having a man teach them.

A kid needs a man to take him to the circus, to help him with his model airplanes, to teach him to fly a kite, to take him to the ball park and give him pointers on the game.

Mothers aren't much good at those things, try as hard as they do.

Even when mothers are competent at them kids respect a man's opinion far more on such things.

So, why couldn't the fathers at home "adopt" the children of fathers in service?

It wouldn't be much harder for Mr. Brown, who is taking his own son to a ball game to take along an extra kid.

And it wouldn't be much harder for Mr. Smith, who is teaching his own boy to make model airplanes, to get another one interested in making intricate things with his hands.

Mothers whose husbands are away are doing their best to be both mothers and fathers to their children. But they need a little help, once in a while. And the fathers who are still lucky enough to be at home could easily give that help, by way of saying "Thank you" to the fathers who are fighting.

Betsy Beckham Bundy's Advice To The Lovelorn

Q. Most of my friends are getting married and I feel I ought to be marrying too, but I am not interested in any one man and no special one is interested in me. Do you think all women who marry are sincere, and are in love with the men whom they marry? I am 22, and it seems as if I will be the only one of my set and of our senior class who is unmarried.

Can you explain to me why some girls marry early and others do not?

Bewildered.

A. I think that practically 50 per cent or even 75 per cent of the girls who marry do so for reasons other than being in love. Women are much more mercenary than men. I think men usually marry for love. They know that they can always earn a livelihood, and they plan to work in the business world or elsewhere all their lives, so they marry only when they fall in love. I have known a few men, however, who have married girls whose fathers were worth millions, and in those instances they did not marry for love.

I knew of one "weaking" who would never go with a girl unless her people were very wealthy, and he now is married to a widow who has one million in her own right, left her by her deceased father. This man does not command the respect of his friends, and goes about attempting to curtail his wife's expenses. He does not work, and is a most disgusting individual to all who know the truth about him.

But women are the ones of all the people in the world who marry for various and sundry reasons. I know a girl who got mad at the man she loved and turned, the next day, and married a man she cared not one thing for. She has been married to this man for 20 years, and he knew she was not in love with him when he married her. I know another woman who got afraid she was going to be an old maid and fail to get married, so she accepted a man for whom she cared nothing. I know of other women who have married because they did not want a woman friend to get the man who was showering attentions upon her. And I know dozens and scores of women who have married for a livelihood. Women as a whole get afraid that they will be left alone, and that they will be compelled to work in the business world. There are many women who prior to this war looked upon the business woman of highest character and perfect sincerity, as the "dirt" under their feet, because she was being forced to make her living, while they were idling time, living in luxury, because they had married men whom they cared nothing for. Of all the low, unprincipled people in this world today, a woman of this kind is the worst.

In my opinion the woman who married a man whom she does not love is little better than the lowest of women. The woman who can juggle the marriage vows and toss away all the fineness of her character in order to have luxury and a man to accompany her places, is no better than the woman who was sold into slavery during the dark ages.

One reason for so many divorces today is the fact that women are so thoughtless in marrying. They seem to think they have to marry, regardless of whom. They seem to think that just because Sally Ann had a big wedding, that a wedding must absolutely take place in their lives.

Designing mothers often are to blame for their daughters' poor marriages. Many mothers throw it up to their daughters if they do not marry when the other girls are marrying. Many mothers had rather see their daughters marry the biggest swindler and thief in the community than to be an "old maid."

The world is filled with "misfits" on this very account. There are many unhappy children in the world as a result of this one fact.

It would be my advice to you that unless you can marry a man whom you love, and know that he is an honorable and fine man to remain single until death overtakes you. It is one of the greatest sins, tolerated in polite society today.

Some day, it is hoped, women will rise to a higher standard of honor, principle and deep thinking, by which she will attain a higher spiritual understanding, but until that day comes scores of the brainless will rush madly to the altar with the first masculine escort who will be willing to parade with her.

Men are very often deceived in the women they marry, and when they wake up a trip to Reno is the offering. Utter reasons in marriage cause many thousands of unhappy lives.

Q. I have been doing a great deal of church work here and at other places. I have found that there are several people with whom I have been working who have told falsehoods about my work, and who have misrepresented me to others higher up in my church. I feel very keenly hurt over the matter and wish to ask you what you would do under such circumstances?

Injured.

A. When you have done your good conscientious work in any place, church, office, school or elsewhere, and your own conscience is clear, you should not stoop to attempting to straighten out the lies of other people, except in such diplomatic way as it would never be known even to the person with whom the straightening out took place.

When you find that some unkind person has made misrepresentations to another about you, just very diplomatically cultivate the other person to whom such misrepresentations have been made. In your conversation with that person, if you think quickly and with care, you will be enabled to clarify any misrepresentations made, if you have some little time with that person. Never bring the matter out in the light, but just watch, and keep alert, and the undermining one will be shown up, just as surely as day follows night. Right will gain the ascendancy every time, without your stooping to the level of the low, undermining person who sends out false representations. I have found this method to be the best in dealing with deceptive people, who continuously push themselves and slander their fellowman.

Vacationing At Home Is Restful

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If you haven't already made up your mind where you are going on your summer vacation this year, why not consider spending it at home?

With buses, trains and planes packed to capacity with furlough-bound service men and war plant executives traveling between production centers, you'll be doing not only your patriotic part, to help relieve the strain on communications by not going far afield for a holiday, but saving yourself the added strain of an uncomfortable, tiring trip.

"Really, it's quite surprising how much fun you can have vacationing at home," says film star Claire Trevor, who is currently appearing in "The Desperados."

Uncle Sam Is Able Guardian For Women Who Are Wearing Uniforms

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

In a city where recruiting of girls for the Marine Corps is lagging, the captain in charge of recruiting had a word of advice for the parents who assume that a girl should stay at home instead of getting into uniform.

His comment was that it is quite possible that women in the Marine Corps are better protected than they are in many homes.

As an example, he pointed out that parents might tell a girl they didn't want her to go to certain places—but for all they know the warning may go unheeded.

But in the Marine Corps, a warning becomes an order—and the girl who disobeys it faces the consequences, with court martial as a possible punishment.

There is another way in which Uncle Sam is a good guardian of the young women in uniform. Their health is of the utmost concern to him.

If a girl is ill, there is no fooling around. She isn't permitted to decide whether she wants to go to the doctor or not. She is ordered to sick bay, where she gets good medical care, does exactly what is best for her health, and she stays there until she is fully recovered.

She keeps busy.

Parents aren't always able to keep a girl home from a dance when they know she should be in bed. That's a simple matter for Guardian Uncle Sam.

Also, a girl who has enlisted in her country's service has a job of which she can be proud. Many girls, who live under their parents' roofs, get into trouble because they have too few real interests in life and too much time on their hands.

So it seems as if parents of a daughter old enough to enlist in one of the services are being overly-cautious when they refuse to let her do so because they think she won't be safe out of their sight.

If she is a girl of sound principles and average common sense, Uncle Sam's guardianship ought to be all that she will need.

Midland County 4-H Club Boys Make Tour Of Randolph Field

Sturkie, made a tour of Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, Thursday as the Army paid tribute to boys who had produced the equivalent of the food needed by one soldier in a year. Only 600 boys in the state were given this recognition.

Accompanied by boys from Tom Green, Coke, Concho and Reagan counties, the group inspected Randolph Field and was honored at a luncheon in the Cactus Hotel in San Angelo Thursday evening. The commanding officer and other officers of the field made short talks and R. C. Vest, Jr., spoke for the Midland group.

Think Twice Before Discarding Old Shoes

By Vivian Brown
AP Features Writer

Shoe rationing has taught us to think twice before we discard that "old pair of shoes."

To save our three pairs a year, we must remember to brush suede shoes daily with a suede brush; dust and polish kid, calf and patent leather shoes before putting them away.

The same shoes should not be worn two days in succession or be dried on a hot radiator, which burns and cracks leather.

In rainy weather we should always wear overshoes—a new pair of shoes can be ruined beyond repair by a drenching of rain.

Get new lifts when heels become run-down, new linings when necessary, new soles and new laces. Be sure to repair shoes at the first sign of a rip in any seam.

Avoid bad habits of walking, such as scraping soles on floor, knocking heels together, and running over on one side or the other, which wear shoes out rapidly.

We should never wear street shoes around the house and should keep shoe-trees in shoes when not being worn.

Always buy shoes that fit well, because shoes that are too large or too small will lose their shape quickly. No one these days can afford to make the mistake of buying shoes that will have to be discarded because of poor fit and discomfort.

Free Ton Of Coals Is Hard To Get Rid Of

AKRON, O. —(AP)—Members of American Legion Post 19 thought they really had something worth giving away when they offered a ton of coal as a door prize at a recent social function.

They drew numbers for the prizes and the winner of the coal was Ed Wagner, local manager for the East Ohio Gas Co.

"I burn gas," Wagner protested. "I don't want it."

They drew another number. The winner was Dave Brown, the coal dealer who had donated the prize.

The ton of coal finally went to C. H. Brillhart, of the Dime bank. "I," said he, "can use it."

People In South Have Best Chance To Get Married

BY H. W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK — Your chances of getting married are greatest if you live in the South.

Second comes the northern states and last the far west. These figures are from the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

As these figures were gathered recently, the far west was coming up with a rush. Its marriage rate was rising faster than that in the south or north. In all three areas the marriage rate has been rising since 1940, because of the war. Some married before war parted them, others probably because they had more money from war jobs.

In the south 9 per cent of eligible persons of 15 years and over wed each year. In the far west this rate has been 5 per cent.

Age does not seem to make much difference in the south. The rate there at 45 and older is twice the rate of northern marriages of similar ages and about three times the western rate. Among women under 20, relatively twice as many southern girls go to the altar compared with their northern sisters.

As people grow older men remain marriageable at much higher rates than women. Between 60 and 69, the national marriage rate of eligible men is 12.9 per thousand and only 2.9 per thousand for women.

Ox-Joints And Noodles

Surprise Dad on Father's Day (or any day) with a big serving of braised ox-joints, made this way: wash 2 ox-tails which are cut in 2-inch lengths. Broil for about 10 minutes, turning frequently, until golden brown on all sides. Meanwhile, fry 1 cup minced onion in 3 tablespoons fat in a large, covered kettle until tender. Add meat, 2 cups hot water, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon minced garlic, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, and 1 tablespoon granulated sugar. Cover, and simmer 3 1/2 hours, or until meat is tender, replenishing water with boiling water if necessary. Remove meat to a hot platter and keep warm. Thicken gravy, using 2 tablespoons flour blended with 3 tablespoons cold water to each cup of liquid. Serve with meat and hot noodles. Serves four.

Former Banker Sees Need For Precision On Bombing Missions

A misplaced decimal point can allow an enemy cruiser to escape. That is one of the axioms of modern precision bombing which Cadet Elmer E. Wallace of Dallas is now learning during his intensive 12-weeks of bombardier training at the Midland Bombardier School.

To Cadet Wallace, however, the importance of decimal points is nothing new. Analyzing numbers was his civilian job. He was employed as credit manager of the Republic National Bank in Dallas.

Cadet Wallace recognized that there is the same need for complete accuracy in bombardiering as there was in banking, so he signed up.

The son of Mrs. E. E. Wallace, Dallas, Cadet Wallace hopes to return to the banking business after he has dropped his last bomb squarely on its enemy target.

"I'm going to be sure to have my decimal points in the right place," he says.

Uncle Sam's

NEW FOOD GUIDE

HERE is Uncle Sam's new food guide. It's called the basic seven and consists of seven groups of foods which should be included in every day's menu.

It tells the same story which most women have learned in the widely distributed Guide to Good Eating. But it puts the same facts in a little different way.

So cut this out and tack it on the kitchen wall. If the family gets some of each of the seven groups of food each day plus anything else you care to add, they will have a well-balanced, body-building diet.

THE BASIC SEVEN

- GROUP ONE Green and yellow vegetables, some raw—some cooked, frozen or canned.
- GROUP TWO Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit or raw cabbage or salad greens.
- GROUP THREE Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits, raw, dried, cooked, frozen or canned.
- GROUP FOUR Milk and milk products, fluid, evaporated, dried milk, or cheese.
- GROUP FIVE Meat, poultry, fish or eggs or dried beans, peas, nuts, or peanut butter.
- GROUP SIX Bread, flour and cereals, natural whole grain—or enriched or restored.
- GROUP SEVEN Butter and fortified margarine (with Vitamin A added).

Labor File Will Be Maintained In Office Of Agent

Starting July 1, the county agent's office in the courthouse will maintain a complete file on labor needs of the county, County Agent I. O. Sturkie said Saturday. Questionnaires have been sent to all farmers and ranchers of the county, and they have been urged to fill out and return the blanks immediately.

Upon receipt of the completed questionnaires, an accurate picture of the labor situation will be available, Sturkie said. It is believed the general outlook at present is good and that almost enough labor can be obtained to hoe cotton fields, although some choppers will be needed. A heavy demand for more workers is expected at harvesting time.

The Extension Service has been given the job of administering the farm labor program in every county of the nation, Sturkie said. The various branches will disburse and allocate all transient labor to areas where it is vitally needed, and will make application for outside labor when the situation demands.

Should labor problems get so acute as to prevent farmers from gathering their crops, persons in the towns may be called upon to help out in their spare time, Sturkie said. Recruitment of high school boys and girls for volunteer work may also be necessary.

Increase Reported In Number Of Lost Classification Cards

A marked increase in the number of lost Selective Service classification cards has been reported by the Midland County Selective Service Board. Frequent reports of lost cards are being made to the office.

Mrs. M. B. Ayrick, chief clerk of the board, suggests that more precautions should be taken by registrants to keep from losing their cards. To obtain duplicate copies, it is necessary for the registrant to make an application and present a sworn affidavit of the loss to the board.

Ulmer Urges FDR To Sign Connally Anti-Strike Bill

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce in a telegram Saturday, signed by its president M. C. Ulmer, urged President Roosevelt to sign the Connally anti-strike bill.

Supporting the message were telegrams from scores of citizens and public officials in many West Texas communities who were notified of the WTCC stand.

The WTCC telegram to Roosevelt said:

"Our organization, composed of 185 cities with over 6,000 farmers, ranchers and business men membership, and with 104 cities entered in our inter-community War and Preservation contest which has achieved outstanding war cooperation results, urges approval of the Connally anti-strike bill, believing that war time labor abuses should be regulated and corrected the same as business abuses."

complete training at the bombardier school.

"After spending several months of active duty as a bombardier in an attack bomber squadron hunting subs off the Atlantic coast, Lieutenant Tearnan missed his chance to go across with his buddies by a fractured skull he received in a parachute jump.

Landed On Head

"The front wheel of the tricycle landing gear of our bomber would not come down," Lieutenant Tearnan said, "and since the plane was loaded with four high explosive bombs, it was necessary for me to bail out to get my weight out of the nose of the plane so it would not nose-up when the pilot tried for a two-wheel landing."

"The trouble was that we were nearly out of gas, and were only about nine hundred feet high, so that by the time I got out, and my chute opened, I wasn't more than a couple hundred feet above the ground."

"I got down all right though," he added, "but just as I landed, a gust of wind caught my parachute and dragged over backward. I hit squarely on my head on the concrete runway of the airfield over which I had bailed out.

Took Bomb Sight Course

"The pilot brought the plane in all right," Lieutenant Tearnan said, "but I spent several months in the hospital with a fractured skull, and was grounded for nearly nine months."

During that time, Lieutenant Tearnan took an instructor's course at Randolph Field, and the bomb-sight maintenance course at Lowry Field, Colorado.

"I learned a lot," he said, "but it's great to be back in the air again."

The Continental Air Lines has filed a petition for rehearing Board a petition for rehearing argument and reconsideration of its application, recently rejected, to extend its airline from Hobbs, New Mexico, through Midland and San Angelo to San Antonio.

Notice of the action was received here Saturday by the Midland Chamber of Commerce from Terrell C. Drinkwater, executive vice-president of the airline.

The Chamber of Commerce, in a letter to the CAB, is requesting also that the application be reconsidered, so air service will be available to Midland's vast territory.

The CAB examiner who conducted a hearing on the Continental application and CAB counsel both recommended that the proposed line be authorized.

Headlines Come To Life In Film At Ritz Theater

On March 8th, 1942 newspapers throughout the country first printed the shocking stories of the atrocities and brutalities that were being committed by the Japs upon the peace-loving people of the far east.

It has long been a known fact that the Japs could not be placed in the category of even a semi-civilized race because of the incidents which followed their occupation of Shanghai and the bloody occupation of Nanking where thousands of helpless women and children were raped, tortured and killed.

These press headlines have now come to life, thanks to a man who had the courage to face death in filming them; Mark L. Moody whose feature length film, "Ravaged Earth," now showing at the Ritz Theater.

The pictures are so realistic that after one sees them only one possible reaction can result, that is, to do everything possible in giving assistance and self-sacrifice to help win this war.

The film is uncensored; the atrocities shown are beyond the power of newspaper to describe and never before in the history of motion pictures has it been possible to show such scenes as are unfolded in "Ravaged Earth."

Children are not admitted because actual atrocities are shown.

Russia Will Not Seek Separate Peace Treaty

MELBOURNE—(AP)—There is no question of Russia seeking a separate peace, declared Australian Minister to Russia William Slater Saturday following his return from the Soviet Union.

The Russian people's morale is the highest in the world, he said. The Australian diplomat thought an estimate of 4,000,000 Russian troops killed or wounded in the two year war with Germany probably was correct.

Allies Won't Let Up On Japs, George Says

LONDON—(AP)—David Lloyd George, British prime minister in world war I, declared Saturday that the Washington strategy conference had decided that "the war against Japan should be carried on simultaneously with that against Germany," reversing the Casablanca decision to concentrate upon Germany first.

The Washington decision "means more shipping," he said. "The demands upon our shipping will be—I will not say doubled—but increased."

Tail Gunner Now Is Bombardier Cadet Here

"Sub off the stern."

That was what Cadet John P. Gillahanty of Denver, Colo., shouted through the interphone from his position as tail gunner of any Army bomber one day off the coast of Puerto Rico.

"It took just twenty seconds," Cadet Gillahanty relates, "to blast that submarine out of the sea, and he adds that as the bombardier dropped his last bomb squarely on the sub's coming tower, he decided then and there that he was going to join the ranks of the "Hell from Heaven Men," and have a bomb bay full of bombs as well as a machine gun to use against the Axis.

Cadet Gillahanty now is a student bombardier at the Midland Bombardier School, and at this pioneer college for Uncle Sam's "Hell from Heaven Men" he is learning the deadly art of Axis blasting under the guidance of bombing experts.

Recalls Submarine Attack

As tail gunner in a Mitchell bomber, Gillahanty searched the seas for enemy subs and the skies for enemy aircraft for six months before being called for bombardier training.

One experience he recalls as being particularly memorable was his trip back to the states in a cargo plane.

"A German submarine surfaced directly beneath us, and while we watched helplessly, it sent a torpedo crashing into a tanker near the mouth of the harbor," he said. "The submarine apparently realized that our plane was unarmed, and went on about its destructive business without paying any attention to our plane. All we could do was radio the sub's position."

Cadet Gillahanty is the son of Mrs. Lila Gillahanty of Denver. Before entering the armed forces, he was employed at the Consolidated Aircraft plant in California, where he riveted stabilizers on Liberator bombers.

Living Cost Jumps

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins estimated last weekend the cost of living rose another 3 per cent from mid-April to mid-May, bringing the average cost of living for city workers to a level 7.8 per cent above a year ago and 24.1 per cent above January, 1941.
