Many farmers are terracing in the county according to County Agent Trice, who is being kept busy at the present time doing this work. We believe that this is one of the most valuable pieces of work ever started in the county and will, where properly done, bring the greatest returns to the farmers in dollars and cents of any work that can be done on his place.

There are only two ways to terrace according to the County Agent, they are: the right way and the wrong way. Ask anyone that has had experience with terraced land and he will readily tell you that the right way is to properly construct the terraces which have been properly run then run the rows parallel with the terraces. Some of the farmers by to comprimise with the terraces and run their rows across them at various angles which is the wrong the rows run parallel with the terracer even though this does cause short rows in the field. Where the rows cross the terraces it is impossible to hold the water where it belongs, for the rows are either running up or down hill even though that may be to a very small degree it will cause the water to run against the terraces and will soon wash them away. The terraces will hold the water for a time, but then if they do break the water will rush down the hill and wash breaks in all terraces down the hill and will carry more dirt than if the land was not terraced.

MISS ESTELLE TENNYSON ANNOUNCES DISTRICT CLERK

The honors of being the first candidate to announce subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July goes to Miss Estelle Tennyson, the present District Clerk, who makes her announcement for re-election.

Miss Tennyson has discharged the duties of the office in a very efficient manner during the past, and needs no introduction to the people of Haskell County on this score. She has proven a very capable and efficient officer, keeping the records and discharging the duties of the office in a complimentary manner to herself and the county at large. During this time she has probably been called upon to handle a larger handled by the District Clerk's office volume of business than has ever been before. The duties of the office are of such a nature that the general public does not come into contact with the work as much as in some of the other offices, unless they have business in the District Court, but nevertheless the office is an important one and the Payne Drug Store) at 7:30 o'cle must be discharged by a capable and trustworthy person. Haskell, Texas, Friday Jan. 8, 1926

Let us begin the new year with a greater determination to raise more poultry, especially chickens and tur-keys. Through our poultry house we have a car shipping rate now which is the first time in the history of Haskell that the producer has not had a high local freight or express rate between him and the destination of his product. Mr. Caldwlel informs us that one reason why he could pay more for hens this fall is because he has been able to load them into cars on the track in Haskell and save the heavy express and local freight rate which carries a heavy shrinkage as well as expensive rates. In the car the birds are fed and properly cared for which prevents the shrinkage that express shipments are subject to. Of course the producer always pays both the freight and suffers the shrinkage. When this is eliminated with the cost of cooping and extra handling it adds much to the profit of the producer and makes the poultry business more profitable. The poultry industry is the only product that the more you raise the better the price. It is not always the case with turkeys as they are a seasonable bird and sometimes they suffer from over production, but the old hen is an all-season product and will bide her time and pay her way to the time of most profit without inconvenience to her or her master. Let's make this the banner year for poultry production. We are going to have a large public hatchery in Haskell which will greatly assist the breeders in getting early friers for the

MEETING CALLED FOR COUNTY POULTRY BREEDERS

We have been talking with some for two permanent trade days for poultry and poultry products. One in We would like to the voice of a number of poultry beeders on this subject. The object of the organiza-tion is to sell breeding stock and set-ting eggs to those who want them and then they can see just what they are buying and get the record straight on the stuff they purchase. These days could be made very useful if they were put over and would serve a great purpose for the seller and the buyer. We request that as many as wish to organize for this purpose call at the Free Press office at 2. p. m. Saturday Janwary the 9th and discuss the question of organization. There is nothing to put over there are no fees to pay. Just a time in which the breeders will meet twice a year and discuss better poultry and sell, buy and exchange with each other. # She spends his earnings wisely

MAN earns and woman spends. For many years this has been the popular plan in the American home. And in most cases it is a very good arrangement.

Too seldom, however, does the wife-and-mother receive due credit for her part in the enterprise. Earning a comfortable income today is a mighty fine accomplishment— "a man's job," sure enough. But the wise investment of the family funds is also far from child's play. This most often is Mother's task, and she deserves a medal for her able handling of it.

Women as a rule are good buyers, because they study their problems. They budget their resources, adjust their purchasing schedule to the budget, and buy carefully.

The best help they get in marketing comes from the ads in their home newspaper. They find that intelligent study of ads means economy of money and time.

The woman in your home knows how true this is!

NEW YEAR RULES

By KATHERINE EDELMAN

Be of Good Cheer. A merry heart is a thing to be de-sired more than riches—for out of it grows many of earth's greatest gifts and blessings.

Be Helpful. Lend a hand to the other fellow's need, help him to his feet signin. It may take money, and it may take only a smile or a kind word. Whoever you are you possess one or all of these gifts.

Se at Peace. It is good for all of us to be at peace. If there s something in your life that keeps you from enjoying the blessedness of this great gift root it out if you can, even though it hurts pride and self to do it. If the something is beyond helping, then try like a man to make the best of it-to put it behind you, as it were. You will be surprised to see that you can do this if you will, and that peace will come.

Be Courageous. Drive fear and all its kindred ills out of your heart. Look the world in the face, unfaitering, unafraid; convince yourself that you are as good as the next man and that you can do the things he does. Do not carry an inferiority complex with you through the days. The world usually rates us with the measure we have put upon ourselves.

Be Content, Thank the Lord for the many gifts that are yours and do not envy your neighbor. Perhaps if you but knew it he is thinking how much more you have, for wealth is not measured in things that money can buy. All of us have much for which to be grateful, and if the truth were really known things are evened out pretty well in this world. Remember, however, that being content does not mean that we must not strive to get ahead, for doing and achieving is one of the best means in the world to bring content to

Be Kind. The man who is kind In his home and abroad is a man among men. No one can gauge or fathers what kindness has done for the world. It has brightened more lives and uplifted more human beings than any other one thing. It makes homes happier, business relations more pleasant and helps him who gives as well as him who receives. To be kind at beart is to be all things.

12th day of May, in the same year of I equipped three vessels well suited for with many sailors, on the 3rd day of August of the same year, being Friday, half an hour before sunrise, taking the route to the islands of Canaria, belonging to your highness which are in the said ocean sea, that I might thence take my deporture for navigation until the letters of your highnesses to those princes, so as to comply with my orders As part of my duty I thought it well very punctually, noting from day to day all that I should do and see, and that should happen as will be seen further on.

Thursday, October 11, 1492.

The course was W. S. W., and there was more sea than there had been during the whole of the voyage. They saw sandpipers and a green reed near the ship. Those of the caravel Pinta saw a cane and a pole, and they took up another small pole which appeared to have been worked with iron; also another bit of cane, a land plant, and a small board. The crew of the caravel Nina also saw signs of land, and a small branch covered with berries. Everyone breathed afresh and rejoiced at these signs. The sun until sunset was 27 leagues.

After sunset the admiral returned to this original west course, and they went along at the rate of twelve miles an hour. Up to two hours after midnight, they had gone ninety miles. equal to twenty-two and one-half leagues. As the caravel Pinta was a better sailer, and went ahead of the admiral, she found land, and made the previous night, being on the firm it was land

The admiral asked and admonished the men to keep a good look-out on the forecastle, and to watch well for and; and to him who should first cry out that he saw land, he would give a silk doublet, besides the other rewards promised by the sovereigns which was ten thousand maravedis to him who should first see it.

At two hours after midnight the land was sighted at a distance of two leag ues. The vessels were hove to waiting for daylight; and so on Friday October 12, they arrived at a small island of the Lucayos, called, in the langpage of the Indians, Guanihani. Preseently they saw naked people.

The admiral went on shore in the armed boat, and Martin, Alonzo Pincon, and Vicento Yanez, his brother, who was captain of the Nina The admiral took the royal standard, and the captains went with two banners of the green cross, which the admiral took in all the ships as a sign, with an F and a Y and a crown over each letter, one on one side of the cross and the other on the other. Having landed, they saw free very green, and much water, and truits of divers kinds. The admira! called to the two captains, and to the others who leaped on shore, and to Rodrigo Escovedo, secretary of the whole fleet, and to Rodrigo Sanchez of Segovia, and said that they should bear faithful testimony that he in the presence of all, had taken, as he now possession of the said island for the king and for the queen, his lords making the declarations that are required, as is more largely set forth in the testimonies which were then made in writing.

Presently many inhabitants of the sland assembled. What follows is in the actual words of the admiral in his book of the first navigation and discovery of the Indies.

"That we might form great friendship, for I knew that they were a people who could be more easily freed and converted by love than by force, I gave to some of them red caps, and glass beads to put around their necks, and many other things of little value, gave them great pleasure, and made them so much our friends that it was a marvel to see. They afterward came to the ship's boats where we were swimming and bringing us parrots, cot-ton threads in skeins, darts, and many other things; and we exchanged them for other things that we gave them such as glass beads and small bells. we gained several new ones. Our school organized a Litreary this week and elected the following of ficers: Olga Bowman, President; G. C. Newsom, Vice President; Vera Riddling, Sec.; Hoyt Gilbreath, Treas.; take an X-Ray Mrs. Margaret Miller, Critic; and Alber-

As the holidays are over and all are in school, we are confronted with some real problems. Pupils who were pro-moted last year, but have missed three months, now want to enter in the mid-dle of the grade. We realize their position and are going to do the very best we can, but parents must see the point, that a child can not enter the middle of the subject and succeed. I feel sure we seem arbitrary to some, but really we are not. Those who have been com-ing are entitled to go on without inerruption on being held back for those who through no fault of their own, have missed the first half of their

These were all fine pupils and we suffer a real loss by their leaving school. We wish that each may have bettered their condition by the change. We are again asking that parents co-operate in seeing that your children start in time to get to school by nine. It hurts them and the school to come in late.
