OH HOW I HATE TO GET UP IN THE MORNING

The 'Awkward Squad' in 'Corporal Eagen' to be given at the High School Auditorium Monday and Tuesday nights. Sponsored by the Magazine Club, under the direction of Universal Producing Company.

DATES CHANGED FOR 'CORPORAL EAGEN' from Jan. 10 to Jan. 11 and 12. The show is a comedy and they start out to find the real spy and were shot. By a curious accident they capture the real spy and give the long hoped for resolution.

Others that make up the cast of this interesting comedy are the two nurses, Marie and Mary, played by Lois Egan and Mrs. Reed, the spy's father, Michael Eagen, and Abner Kinsman, played by My Daugherty and Mr. H. Davis. The old maid war worker who was known for a husband played by Mrs. Bernard, and her victim played by Mr. Southern. There is also the famous awkward squad composed of Bill Holden, Thelma Cahill, Leo Dunbar, Walter Green, Ben West, Chuck Hendrix, Ora Pippin, Helen Atherton, Virgil Mason, Captain Dennis Radloff, Glen Johnson, and others.

The show is opened with a Patriotic Parade of approximately 100 children and Mr. Glasper as a special reader giving 'My Dream of the Big Parade'. Other specialties run over include the men's solo chorus, which includes Dr. Headley, Merwin Crow, Tom Holland, Eugene Hunter, Tom Pinkerton, James Smith, A. H. Warr, Pat Lewis, Ben Adams, P. A. Womble, Harry Bates, Vaughn Bailey, Travis Everett, Mr. Burton, Elmer Irwin, Alton Pearson, Harry Redler, J. L. Swanson, Mr. Henry, Mr. Richey and others; the girl's singing and dancing chorus, composed of Misses Beane, Ben, Kasper, Vannie Lee, Mary, Lillian, Kasper, Elizabeth Gilbert, Henrietta, Isbell, Vivian, Bernard, Lena, Bell, Kemp, Wilda, Pippin, Katherine, Wingo, Anita, Collier, Madge, Hambleton, Annabel, Burt, Frances, Walling, Matie, Muriel, Walling, Vada, Thomas, Janie, Lyle, Martin, Irene, McGregg, Virginia, Sibley, Lucie, Gilbert, Agnes, Orson, Louise, and Nancy, Guent, Lorene, Newsum, Madeline, Napier, Olive, Franzer, Ola, Frazier, Mary, Frances, Collier, Nave, Dorell, Lois, Stokes, Frances, Radloff, Edith, Foote, Selda, Napier, Mary, Wills, Anna, Maude, Taylor, and others; the famous team of black face comedians, Tom Patterson, Ben Bagwell, Tom Donohoe, Horace, Oliver, and Cate Britton.

Come to see this show and spend two hours laughing. The auditorium will be comfortably warm, and you will not regret that you came.

Mrs. C. J. Koonce and daughter, Miss Ella D. Koonce, visited the former's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cooper and also the Carlisle Cavers, N. M. during the holidays.

'10 Commandments To Wives' Subject For Sunday Eve

The subject at the Methodist Church Sunday evening will be "Ten Commandments to Wives." This is a companion sermon to the one the pastor, Gaston Foote, preached last Sunday evening to a packed house on "Ten Commandments to Husbands." Letters from local Haskell business men will be read revealing their ten commandments to wives. Service starts with what the pastor calls a Big Sing Song at Seven Seven.

The following commandments to husbands, written by Haskell women were read by the pastor during the course of the sermon last Sunday evening.

1. Must be a Christian gentleman.
2. Contented with his home.
3. Liberal with home allowance.
4. Remember his wife's birthday and their wedding anniversary.
5. Should not smoke cigarettes.
6. No snorter Sunday papers upon the floor.
7. Hang his clothes in proper place when not in use.
8. Should not "sit" to his wife.
9. Must not complain about going to good entertainments.
10. Not be a "chronic acher" about the weather and financial conditions.

Red Cross Seals Sales in Haskell Total Nearly $100

Mrs. O. E. Patterson, County Chairman of Red Cross Seals states that she is grateful to all who purchased Red Cross Seals and that the aggregate sale amounted to $92.62. This is the amount sold in Haskell and the school children did their part to put it over. Miss Ruby Fitzgerald's room of the North Ward sold the largest number as a room, and was awarded with a "First Aid Kit." This room sold $20.06 worth of the seals. Miss Alma Sprowls room at the South Ward school and Miss Mary Sherrill's room of the North Ward tied for second place. Louise Pearson of the North Ward school sold the most as an individual and Sarah Lee Walling of the South Ward school won the second prize.

Sam A. Roberts and "Uncle" Wesley Applegate returned Monday night from a several days business trip to Henrietta and Pecos.

Mrs. W. B. Smith of Fort Worth is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Whitmore of this city.

'BLACK GOLD'

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Pioneer of the Eighteenth Century- Discovered Gold in Printers Ink.

Two hundred years ago, Benjamin Franklin, whose birthday is this month, inaugurated his belief that Printer's Ink had a great bearing upon merchandising. He bought the Pennsylvania Gazette, and incorporated, for that early period in American history, some original and successful ideas on advertising.

Today, Printer's Ink is the flowing gold of retail merchandising—If it is used advisedly. Newspaper advertising, in the proper medium, and correctly planned, will build the smallest business into largest ones.

This newspaper enjoys leadership in effective advertising. It is due to our tremendous library of facts on profitable merchandising and advertising methods—and in addition, to our free Advertising services, and cuts available to all merchants.

Time to Pick Out the Ring

By LILLIACE M. MITCHELL

ETHEL FIELD had beautiful hair. Beautiful? Why, it was magnificent. And in this workaday world of smart hats of shoulder-length curls fastened daintily together, Ethel's hair made her stand out against the group of other girls of her age as one apart.

"I wouldn't marry a girl who was unwomanly enough to snip off her hair like a—m-m-m," Jim Ford had a habit of saying.

Perhaps this was Ethel's reason for wearing her hair long. Those great swirls of copper-lustered bronze took nearly an hour to make each morning. And then in the evening, if Ethel planned to go anywhere or have any special company (like Jim Ford) she patiently sat before her mirror another hour with her arms high above her head, eyes anxiously on the mirror before her, while she redressed it. It was long enough to sit on. Ethel's mother was proud of telling.

Then one day in late August Mrs. Field was called away from home. Hardly had the taxi drawn away from the curb than the telephone rang. Jim wanted to tell Ethel that he would be away on a business trip for a month.

Ethel felt bleak and lonesome when she turned away from the telephone. "I want you to remember, Ethel, whenever you marry and go away from home that the first time you feel blue and out of sorts the thing you need is a crack good meal and a new hat. Now you tuck that away, child, for future reference, because the day will come when you'll be glad of the advice. And advice is something I seldom give, knowing it's never welcome!" If Mrs. Field had told her daughter this once, she had told her a hundred and twenty-seven times.

Consequently, Ethel traveled towards the lexbox. After a thick chunk of chocolate cake that would not be tolerated on the eighteen-day diet and two glasses of ice-cold milk, she began to feel a little less lonely.

"Now for a new hat?" But the thought of trying too persuade some clerk to hunt out a smart hat with a double head-size was too much for Ethel. "I might," she told herself softly, "cut off just a little of that hair. Silly stuff! I wish to heavens I'd had it cut and never let it get long in the first place. But if I had it cut now, mother would be just sick and Jim—Jim—"

The bleak look again came into her face as she moved towards her own room. "I could cut it off just below the shoulders," she said. Suddenly she found herself cutting, cutting, cutting—hair wasn't as easy to cut as she had supposed. It had a tendency to cut square ended in a crooked line across the bottom.

Bobby in Policeman's Uniform

By JACK WOODFORD

THE policeman's suit, star and club were exciting enough things in themselves, without the policeman's hat. . . . but when Bobby saw the policeman's hat, he was in heaven. And all his. Certainly his; for they had obviously been thrown out. And they fit him perfectly. The boys who lived in the huge flat building were, he knew, rich boys. They had so many toys that was nothing unusual for them to throw them out. Or perhaps the servants threw out the toys, when they thought the rich boys were through with them.

For as far back as he could remember, which was about five years, Bobby found playthings in the long chute which led up past all the floors of the flat building, ending, at the bottom, in a huge bin which was each day emptied.

His mother worked at night, scrubbing floors in an office building. His father worked during the afternoon, at some sort of work at which his mother frowned dubiously. Bobby did not quite understand it. It had something to do, he knew, with horses. He had heard his mother many times curse horses.

"You work for a bookmaker all afternoon," his mother would point out bitterly, "and then lose all you make playing the horses yourself. Take my word for it, something will happen some day. I'm telling you, something will happen some day."

It was nice with father home alone, and it was also nice with mother home alone; but it was never pleasant when they were both there. When mother went to work, father was often in a playful mood. He'd say: "Come here, lad; tell me about how it went in school today. You got to learn a lot, so you'll be worth something when you grow up—see? I ain't no good. For why? Because I ain't got no education."

Something was badly the matter now though. Father had been home for a week. He hadn't gone to work in the afternoon. He walked the floor and read all the papers that mother brought in. They talked in low tones. Mother was frightened about something. Frightened as she had never been frightened before. And father was blue. Bluer than he had ever been before. Maybe he would cheer up and laugh when he saw the policeman's suit. Bobby put it on when he reached the back of their building. Slid through the back entryway, climbed the stairs. When he entered father was leaning upon a table, his head upon his arms. He looked up. Startled.

"Where'd you get that stuff?" he demanded angrily. Bobby was determined to keep up the joke. "I've come to pick you. You're pinched!" Bobby showed his star and walked up to take his father by the arm. "Come along now! Don't make no trouble!" Suddenly a strange look came into his father's face. He snatched up a piece of paper and wrote upon it hurriedly. Then straightened up.

"All right, officer," he said, though he wasn't laughing, and his eyes looked terrible. "I'll come along with you."

"Are you going outside?" asked Bobby in amazement, as they headed for the door. "Sure—take me to the station."

FIVE YEAR OLD CHILD RELIEVED AFTER SUFFERING

ORGATONE HAS LITERALLY MADE MY BOY," SAYS MRS KINDER

"My little boy had suffered with his stomach for the past two years," said Mrs. Ella Kinder, 401 S. 17th Street, Waco, Texas, while telling of the benefits her child has received from the Orgatone treatment, at her home a few days ago.

"My little boy did not have any appetite at all, and what he did eat caused him such suffering from indigestion that it was terrible. Gas would form on his little stomach, and sometimes he would blot up so bad it was hard for him to breathe.

He was constipated most all the time, and I kept giving him medicine for this. He was very restless and didn't sleep well at night's at all. He never seemed to have any energy at all and never cared to play like children should.

"Orgatone was recommended to me, and I was so desperate over the condition of my child, that I decided to try it. I have given him three bottles already, and he is certainly much better. He has a wonderful appetite now and can eat most anything without it bothering him. He doesn't have indigestion anymore at all and gas is a thing of the past for him. He is not at all constipated now and he feels fine all the time. Now he loves to get out and play like other boys do and to look at him you would think nothing had ever been wrong with him. I have found Orgatone a harmless and very beneficial medicine for children. It has literally made my boy, and I am glad to recommend it to anyone."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained at Oates Drug Store.—Adv.

Grossness Traffic While head-bunting formerly was practiced by all the Malay races and survives even today among the Dyaks of Borneo and elsewhere, the striking of heads is a custom peculiar to the Jivaro and undoubtedly was perfected by them alone. It has only been in recent years that these heads have acquired a commercial value, but the fact that they are now offered for sale as far south as Buenos Aires indicates the importance of the traffic.

Matter of Nerves Ticklishness depends upon the sensitiveness of the nervous system. Susceptibility to tickling is also partially under the control of the will. If no restraint is exercised, hypersensitiveness is apt to result. Considerable resistance can be developed.

SOCIETY and Club

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Post at Home On Husband's Night For Colonial Bridge Club.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Post were at home on last Tuesday evening, January the 31st, when they entertained members of the Colonial Bridge Club and their husbands. A Christmas tree was lighted and laden with gifts from each other by the members, and the husbands were given trinkets and toys that provoked much laughter. A salad plate was served by the hostess and afterward bridge was played by the guests: Messrs. and Mesdames. Dennis Ratliff, V. W. Meadors, Lynn Pace, John Draper, and the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Post.

Federal Survey Agent Praises Windows in Methodist Church.

Mrs. Fern D. Bernard who was in Haskell early in the week, doing Federal survey work, attended the First Methodist church on last Sunday evening and she stopped on the south side of the church and was loud in her praise of the stained glass windows in this edifice. We quote Mrs. Bernard verbatim. "I have traveled extensively over both the north and the south and I have never seen prettier windows, even in the largest churches."

Mrs. H. M. Smith Hostess to Golf Widows and Club Husbands

It has been the annual custom of the Golf Widow's Club to include husbands at an evening party sometime during the year. Mrs. H. M. Smith had the honor of giving such a party on last Thursday evening, January the 2nd. Eighty-four was the diversion. Mrs. Smith served her guests French toast, jam cake, and hot chocolate. The special guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Grissom, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Lewis, Mrs. A. J. Lewis, and Mr. Hollis Atkinson. Club members and their husbands were: Messrs. and Mesdames R. C. Montgomery, O. E. Patterson, R. C. Couch, A. J. Couch, S. A. Roberts, J. L. Southern, A. H. Wair, Judge and Mrs. W. H. Murchison, Judge and Mrs. Bruce W. Bryant and Mrs. John W. Pace and host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Smith.

Teacher Training Class Taught by Emory Menefee.

A class of fifteen was taught in the Methodist church all of last week by Mr. Emory Menefee. The book was, "Teaching in The Sunday School." The class met each evening during the week except Saturday and their papers were sent to Nashville, Tenn. to be graded. This book is the equivalent to a book's studies, sometime in the past by some twelve or fifteen teachers who already have their diplomas.

Methodist Choir Rendered Special Music Sunday.

At the morning hour last Sunday morning a beautiful anthem was sung by the massed choir and then followed a vocal duet by Mr. R. D. Baughman and son Roy Baughman that would do credit to any choir and that was appreciated by the vast audience. The choir rehearsed on Wednesday evening a ter prayer meeting. There was also a special anthem last Sunday evening.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Gaston Foote At Home to Members of Choir.

Rev. and Mrs. Gaston Foote were at home to members of the choir last Friday evening. The guests were told that they were to imitate babies and in caps and bibs, they vied with each other for more than an hour in tricks supposed to belong entirely to babyland. There was a crying contest in which Mrs. R. D. Baughman excelled and she was given first prize; then an eating and drinking contest, in which Mr. Bob Harrison won first place for fast consumption and Mrs. Parks Woodson for drinking milk from a bottle.

A baby walking contest created a great deal of merriment. Prizes were sticks of candy, shewing gum and all day suckers. Officers for another year were elected: Choir Director, Mr. R. D. Baughman; president, Mrs. C. L. Lewis; secretary, Mrs. Bob Harrison.

Mrs. Foote assisted by Mrs. Hill Oates, Mrs. J. L. Southern and Mrs. Mack Martin served a delicious plate luncheon with hot chocolate to Messrs. and Mesdames C. L. Lewis, R. D. Baughman, Bob Harrison, Jack Sills, Miss Charlene Baughman, and Mesdames Mack Martin, O. E. Patterson, J. L. Southern, Parks Woodson, Hill Oates, C. M. Kaigler, and hostess, Mrs. E. Gaston Foote.

Executive Board Meeting of M. E. Missionary Society.

The Executive Board of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met in the home of the president, Mrs. J. U. Fields last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock and appointed committees and consummated plans for the new year. Twenty officers and chairmen were present and each gave an outline of what she hoped to accomplish during the year. It was decided to have a silver tea at the church Monday afternoon, January the 13th. Every member of the missionary society is urged to be present and help start the new year off right. It was also decided to have a Fellowship Party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Sanders on Monday evening January the 27th, to do honor to whom honor is due, six outstanding pioneer members of the church, Judge and Mrs. P. D. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. Burl Cox. Following is a list of the officers and chairmen: President, Mrs. J. U. Fields; Vice President, Mrs. Guy Mays; Corr. Sec., Mrs. H. M. Smith; Recording Sec., Mrs. John Wilson; Connectional Treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Southern; Local Treasurer, Mrs. Andrew Shriver; Supt. Young People, Mrs. Gaston Foote; Supt. Mission Study, Mrs. F. T. Sanders; Supt. Bible Study, Mrs. S. R. Rike; Supt. Social Service, Mrs. W. H. Murchison; Supt. Supplies, Mrs. C. L. Lewis; Supt. Local Work, Mrs. E. Martin; Missionary Voice, Mrs. J. M. Martin; Supt. Children, Mrs. Jim Isbell; Supt. Primary, Mrs. Harris; Supt. Babies, Mrs. C. B. Breedlove; Supt. Publicity, Mrs. A. H. Wair; Chairman Gibson Aux., Mrs. P. A. Womble; Chairman church, Mrs. Harry Bettis; Chairman of Church yard, Mrs. C. M. Kaigler; Chairman of Entertainment, Mrs. E. Gaston Foote; Chairman of Music, Mrs. O. E. Patterson; Membership Chairman, Mrs. Elmer Irwin; Conservation Chairman, Mrs. S. R. Rike; Emergency Chairman, Mrs. A. H. Wair; Circle Leaders, Mesdames Bruce W. Bryant, F. T. Sanders, Bob Harrison and R. C. Montgomery. Mrs. Fields served a salad plate and tea before adjournment.

The Four "G's" Bridge Club Entertained Jointly by Misses Ruby Martin and Cecil Bray.

It fell to the lot of Misses Cecil Bray and Ruby Martin to entertain The Four G's Bridge Club on last Tuesday evening and this did very charmingly in the home of Miss Martin. Honoring the advent of the New Year, decorations, place cards and score pads were New Year motifs. The club was organized early in the present school year and meets tri-monthly in the homes of the members. All of the fourteen members were present except two, these were: Misses Mary Kimbrough, Mary Sherrill, Louise Kaigler, Marguerite McCollum, Bessie Terry, Aline Mitchell, Nettie Mullino, Lillian Paxton, Hazel Wilson and Beatrice Weinert of Weinert, and the hostesses Misses Cecil Bray and Ruby Martin who served their guests sandwiches, olives, mints and hot tea.

First Missionary Meeting Of New Year at M. E. Church.

On last Monday afternoon there were thirty present at the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church in the first meeting of the new year under the incoming president, Mrs. J. U. Fields. The outgoing president Mrs. C. L. Lewis gave a resume of the year's work and among other things, the financial statement showed that the largest sum of money that has ever passed through the organization (something over $1,400.00) is credited to the administration of the year 1929, with all debts paid and a balance in the treasury. This is the nearest year possible of chronicling actual achievements. Mrs. Lewis then as the pastor, Rev. E. Gaston Foote to install the new officers, their names appear in the "Executive Board Meeting" article in this issue of the paper. This Rev. Foote did after which Mrs. J. U. Fields assumed her new office and gave her message to the society. She stated in the beginning that the year's theme would be Reverence and asked that while Mrs. O. E. Patterson played the official song for the year, "Take Time To Be Holy," that the ladies meditate on theme and song. A transportation committee was added to the committees named at Saturday's meeting. These comprised Mesdames E. Gaston Foote, A. J. Lewis and J. L. Southern. This committee will take care of all living at such a distance from the church that they can not walk and who do not have cars. At any time any one knowing some lady who would like to have a car sent for her, just ring one of the committee. All incoming officers told something of their plans and pledged to be loyal throughout the year. In conclusion the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Welsh was dedicated by a song as the society's mascot. Judging from the large attendance and enthusiasm throughout the meeting the society will be able at the end of the year's work to chronicle another success.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawson of Cochran Co. Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawson of Cochran county entertained with a Christmas tree and dinner Dec. 24th and 25th. Relatives and friends from three states and eight Texas counties were present. A beautiful tree loaded with useful and beautiful gifts was presided over by Santa Claus. Then after Santa had bid each one good bye, promising to return if we would be good, Dec. 24, 1930, 42 and 84 kept things lively until some one announced that the "old folks" were having an old fashioned square dance in the dining room. Mr. Lawson surely must have been an expert caller in his younger days, and while he hasn't forgotten yet how to call, we sometimes lost our partners and had to start over again. Those who did not come Christmas eve night, came early next morning. It is useless to describe the dinner, for our friends of Haskell who have been fortunate enough to be invited to one of Mrs. Lawson's good dinners, know what a good cook she is. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Whitman and son Billie of Spring Lake, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Squires and son Billie Warren and daughter Dorothy Jean of Bula, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stegall and daughter Christine of Shallowater, Texas; Mrs. Tom Reed and daughter Kathleen of Tulsa, Texas; Miss Hazel Pendley, Amarillo, Texas; Miss Twilight Baker, Shallowater, Texas; Misses Ruby and Ione Brown, Bula, Texas; Miss Ethie Pendley, Tulsa, Texas; T. M. Lawson, Dallas; E. H. Lawson, Canyon; R. E. Guthrie, Canyon; Bill Munday, Wichita Falls; Cecil Hill, Oklahoma City; W. C. Humphrey, Enochs, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Will Chastain and daughter Helen of Lingo New Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lawson and family, Mortor, Texas.

G. G. B. C. Business Meeting.

Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. the Glad Girls Bible Class of the Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. I. N. Simmons for a regular business meeting. There were eight members present: Eula Quattlebaum, Vera Bradley, Elsie Bradley, Selda Maples, Winona Johnson, Hazel Boatwright, Clara Lamkin, Eudora Bradley and Mrs. I. N. Simmons, teacher.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Bible School at 9:45 a. m.
Preaching and communion at 11 a. m.
Preaching at 7:00 p. m.
Mid-week services at 7:00 p. m. Wednesday.

If you are not attending the services of the church you are missing something worth while. It is the duty of every Christian to attend the services of the church. A poll of the membership last Sunday morning showed that First Christian Bible School in five years. A fine record for that one person. Why can't we all have the same record?

We can, if we but try as he has. Remember that the early Christians continued steadfast in the apostle's teaching and fellowship and in the breaking of bread and in prayer. (Acts 2:42) Luke tells us that they came together upon the first day of the week to break bread. (Acts 20:7) Plans have been laid to have the whole membership of the Churches of Christ everywhere, every member of every church, to greet Pentecost Day, June 8, 1930, by a 100 per cent attendance at the Lord's table, each in his own place. What a fine thing to begin now and attend the Lord's table each Lord's Day until June 8, 1930. Why not do this? We invite you to begin next Lord's Day.

SPILLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me," says Mrs. J. W. Jirright, R. F. D. 2, Troy, Ala.

"Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was. "When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui."
