Fireworks Users Warned of Hazards

Fireworks users and their parents are being warned of the hazards associated with the fireworks as the Fourth of July holiday approaches.

Fire Chief Flute Hutsell reminds that everything is very dry and fires are easily started by fireworks. Children need the supervision of parents to make sure fireworks are used in reasonably safe areas, away from the homes of older citizens who may not enjoy the noise made by fireworks.

If you don't enter the photo contest, you'll sure be sorry, because while everybody else is looking and guessing, you'll be wishing you had put your sweet little face in the contest. Stampede-future new models. The "promoters" of this event want to use this opportunity to thank the willing and unwilling participants for the willingness to do what they can to make the Silverton Stampede a day to remember.

The entertainment on stage all day promises to be more entertaining than Hee Haw on television. There will be several country bands throughout the day intermingled with cowboy poetry by Louise Vaughan and Johnnie Burson. Mandy Rampley will be doing several songs and Brandon Sarchet also will be performing. Anyone else wanting to be on the program should contact Connie Smith to see if there is an available spot.

Lottie Garrison has graciously donated a new quilt to be auctioned off at the Briscoe County Task Force auction along with other items.

Following the BCTF auction, the courthouse will have an auction of unneeded furniture, etc. The proceeds from this auction will go back into the county treasury. So don't forget your checkbook.

Money raised by the BCTF auction will be used to promote activities that will benefit the county, such as expenses to send two delegates to the Texas Historical Commission Fund-Raising Workshop. It is there they can learn how to obtain corporate grants, etc. for projects that will preserve and revitalize the business district. To learn more about some of these opportunities, such as Main Street USA, Heritage Tourism, or Federal Project Revues, you can attend the monthly meetings of the Briscoe County Economic Task Force the second Tuesday of each month. This is a county-wide project, so the meetings alternate between Quitaque and Silverton, with the July meeting to be held at the Quitaque Community Center.

You might want to "fast" all week so you can come good and hungry, as the BCTF will be serving grilled hamburgers at the noon meal and the PTA will be serving sandwiches for the evening meal. Sandwiches will go on sale about 4:00 p.m., so you can choose to eat early if you like. There'll be about 15 freezers of homemade ice cream to keep you happy in between meals with plenty of baked goods to go along with it. Now's the time to buy your baked goods to stock your freezer for the rest of the summer.

More fun things will be going on all day Saturday in downtown Silverton. You can roam around and visit the crafts booths and when you get through buying, you might want to go over and dunk your favorite enemy or your least favorite friend. The FFA will have a dunkin' board just for that purpose. There are plans in the making for horse-shoe pitching and washer pitching; football throw, a fishing booth and a chicken plop, and possibly a face painting booth. If you want to have a booth, you can see or call Spud or Betty Nan Tiffin, and pay the $10.00 booth rental fee.

So, Briscoe Countians, get out your old "gray bonnet with all the frills upon it", your pioneer garb, your lawn chair, and your billfold, and be prepared for the Stampede! Who knows, you might just be the winner of some Silverton Stampede Bucks that are to be given away by Silverton merchants every hour on the hour or the big jackpot to be given away near the conclusion of the Stampede activities. Don't forget: you must be present to win!

vice, Tiffin's Dept. Store, Verlin B. Towe Agency, First State Bank, M & M Country Crafts and Fleming Well Service.

The Stampede Bucks will not be exchanged for cash and no change will be given on purchases made with the Bucks.

The Bucks must be redeemed by July 31, 1990. After July 31, 1990, they will be void.

Owners of the participating businesses, their families and employees also will be eligible to win the drawings.

The person whose name is drawn for Stampede Bucks must be present on the courthouse square at the time of the drawing to win. Purpose of the drawings is to bring a large crowd to town and keep them here throughout the day.

Each person may register for the drawings only once, and when a person registers for a drawing, he or she will be required to sign a roster. Registration for the drawings will be conducted on the courthouse square on Saturday, June 30, only.

Any person found to have registered more than once for the drawings for Stampede Bucks will forfeit his opportunity to win any hourly or grand-prize drawing. Each winner will be required to endorse his Stampede Bucks at the time they are exchanged for merchandise.

Why Buy Cotton?

Cotton and the Consumer...

For many consumers, cotton and comfort are synonymous, whether thinking of shirts or socks, jeans or slacks, underwear or towels, consumers associate cotton with the comfort they want. And tests prove comfort is a determining factor for consumers in selecting clothing. Just what are the elements of cotton's comfort?

SOFTNESS. To consumers, the feel of the fabric next to the skin is a key factor in determining comfort. Why does cotton feel softer than other fabrics? Because cotton's fiber surfaces are finely textured, trapping air, which cushions the contact with the skin. The naturally tapered ends of the cotton fiber yield to the touch and contribute to the pleasurable sense of cotton's soft touch.

BREATHABILITY. Another primary criterion for personal comfort is the removal of body moisture. Cotton facilitates this process by absorbing moisture and wicking it away from the skin. Through its fiber structure, cotton also transmits water vapor more easily into the air.

ABSORBENCY. Cotton is also highly absorbent because it actually absorbs water within the individual fibers themselves. This extra capillary storage accounts for cotton's impressive absorption properties, familiar to anyone who has ever used a cotton towel, and particularly important for physically active people.

PROTECTION. Cotton's fiber structure translates into fabrics with good bulk and cover that weigh less. This structure also allows for a greater insulative protection than could be provided by garments made from other fabrics.

TEMPERATURE CONTROL. The cushion of air that makes cotton soft also insulates and is responsible for the warmth of cotton fabrics. In cold weather, cotton fabric protects against the wind without trapping body moisture. In warm weather, cotton garments help keep the wearer cool by facilitating evaporative cooling of body moisture and release of moisture vapor.

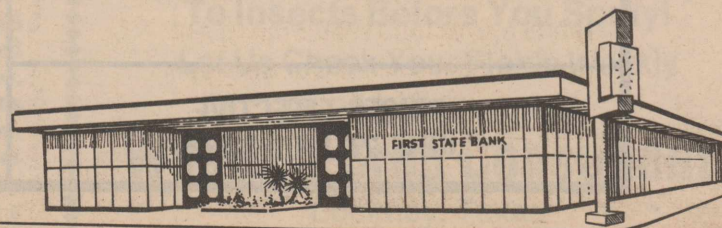

Imitated but never duplicated, cotton is nature's own miracle fiber. Cotton fiber has proved amazingly adaptable to all sorts of fabric forming and finishing processes, while retaining its basic desirable properties. That's why consumers buy cotton.

Texas Visitors Fond of Flowers

The beauty of Texas, freshened by the green of springtime and splashed with the color of roadside flowers, is highly rated by visitors to the state, according to the latest edition of the Texas Auto Visitor Survey.

The spring survey was taken during March, April and May. Almost 62 percent of short-term visitors (those staying less than 30 days) gave "scenery" as one of their answers to the question "What did you enjoy about Texas?" And nearly 47 percent of them mentioned wildflowers.

Long-term visitors liked our wildflowers, too. That was the second most popular answer, right behind the perennial number-one response, Texans' legendary friendliness. Scenery was cited by 70 percent of long-term visitors.

The most-visited city in this quarter's survey for all visitors was San Antonio. For short-termers, Dallas and Houston ranked second and third, as usual, while those staying more than a month reported Brownsville and Harlingen as the second and third most-visited cities.

The Texas spring also brings migrating birds—and migrating birders. More than 46 percent of long-term visitors reported bird-watching as one of the activities they engaged in, as did 18 percent of short-term visitors.

The survey report includes statistics for the previous four quarters and an annual average. The 17 survey questions include the age of the travel party, accommodations used, miles driven, and attractions visited.

The survey is completed by visitors who stop at Texas Travel Information Centers. The centers serve as Texas' front doors, where travel counselors extend hospitality to tourists arriving from all directions. On the average, more than a third of survey respondents say their information-center stop influenced them to see more attractions, and more than a third say they were induced to see more of the state.

A free copy of the detailed report is available by writing Texas Auto Visitor Survey, Box 5064, Austin, Texas 78763.

A Voice From the Country

Earl Cantwell
Gems & Allegorys

Almost daily we are called upon to assemble about the final earthly resting place of a friend or neighbor. We stand and ponder what would their last words have been had they spoken them to us. If a christian, he has already spoken by his life, if not from his death-bed, and his illuminated spirit whispers from the heavens, saying with quiet eloquence, this admonition. "You mortals hastening to the tomb, and who were once companions of my pilgrimage, take warning and avoid my errors; cultivate the virtues I have recommended; choose the Savior I have chosen; live disinterestedly toward the things of this troubled world; live for immortality, and if you would rescue anything from the final dissolution, lay it up in God." Death to them that be God's dear children is no other thing than the dispatcher of all displeasure, the end of all travail, the opening of the door of one's deepest desires, the door of eternal happiness, returning the soul to its own original and glorious home; swinging wide the gate of gladness, to go no more out forever. The port of paradise, the haven of heaven, the entrance to felicity, the beginning of all blessedness. It is a passage to the Father, a chariot to heaven, a deliverance from bondage, the Lord's messenger, a dismissal from war, a security from all sorrows. So, should we be so dismayed at it? Should we be troubled to hear of it?

A christian's dying day will be his ENLARGING day freed from the prison in which he has been so long detained, and being brought to his eternal home. A christian's dying day will be his RESTING day, when he shall find rest from all care and all trouble, his REAPING day when he shall reap the fruit of the seed sown in tears and faith. His CONQUERING day when he shall triumph over every enemy, even death. His CORONATION day; the day of his glory, the beginning of his eternal bliss with Christ. Thanks be to that fatal decree that dooms us to die! Thanks to that gospel that opens the vision of an endless life! And thanks above all to that Christ, our Savior friend that has promised to conduct all the faithful through the sacred trance of death into scenes of paradise and endless delight!

(Ode to my friend Bob (Rasum Hill) Life! We've been long together, through pleasant and stormy cloudy weather; 'Tis hard to part, when friends are dear; perhaps it will cost a sigh, a tear; then steal away, give little warning, choose thine own time; say not goodnight, but in some brighter clime bid me a joyous good morning."

In the language of the Prophet: "Let me die the death of the righteous."

The most benevolent soul lives nearest to God.

To do good is noble, to BE good is nobler.

Stephen Stephens Named to Amarillo College Honor Roll

Stephen Wayne Stephens, son of Wayne and Betty Stephens, made the scholastic honor roll for the spring semester at Amarillo College, according to R. E. Byrd, vice president and dean of instruction.

"Turn-Row" Buyers Report is Clarified

The story concerning "turn-row" grain buyers that quoted Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower needs further clarification. Turn-row buying of grain from the farmer is not an illegal act. The report was hoping to advise farmers to know who they are selling to and take precautions to avoid losses to unscrupulous operators.

The information concerning dealing with licensed grain warehouses and securing scale tickets is sound business advice and should be used by producers in an effort to protect themselves.

Minmizing Waste Of Crop, Livestock Protection Chemicals

Disposal of unused crop and livestock protection chemicals is often expensive and time consuming.

In addition to the expense incurred in the purchase of a product that is not used, there are costs associated with transportation to a disposal site and disposal. Disposal at an authorized site includes the completion of a manifest, a permanent record of the disposal. Estimates of the cost of disposal range into the hundreds of dollars for a five-gallon container of liquid product.

Storing unused crop and livestock protection chemicals on the farm for extended periods of time may create problems. A product may deteriorate over time, leading to poor results when the product is used later. A product may become obsolete as a result of regulatory actions or market, or pest-related developments. Containers may deteriorate and leak, leading to such severe consequences as illness and injury.

Contamination of water, soil, the storage area and livestock feeds or commodities also may result. Time and effort will be required to clean up the spilled material.

Clearly it makes good sense economically and environmentally to avoid the accumulation of unused crop and livestock protection chemicals. Here are some suggestions for minimizing this problem.

*Carefully plan farm chemical needs to the extent possible, purchasing only the amount required for one growing season. Take the time to calculate exactly your anticipated chemical needs.

*Triple-rinse empty containers, returning the rinsate to the spray tank prior to completing the mixing and loading operation.

According to the National Agricultural Chemicals Association, an average of two to four ounces of product may be left in a container during normal emptying. If a product costs $20 per gallon, four ounces left in a container has a value of 60 cents per gallon container.

It takes only a few minutes or less to properly rinse a container; with pressure rinsing it takes less than one minute. At that rate, your time is worth $36 per hour for the time it takes to rinse the containers. Sixty dollars worth of $20-per-gallon product is wasted in 100 unrinsed one-gallon containers. Product remaining in unrinsed containers represents a hazard and may cause environmental problems.

*In spite of your best efforts, product carry-over from one season to another may be unavoidable. Use any carried-over products first during the next season of use. This prevents unused products from accumulating from season to season.

*Be alert to the opportunity to employ left-over products for other uses listed on the product label.

Farmers Markets Help Farmers, Consumers, Environment

"Texans who shop at farmers markets aren't just getting the ripest tomatoes, the sweetest corn, and the juiciest watermelons, they're taking yet another little step to save the planet at the same time," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said, announcing that the Texas Department of Agriculture would assist more than 90 farmers market facilities this year.

"Locally grown produce doesn't need expensive and often environmentally damaging preservatives and packaging, and it doesn't drain energy resources by having to be shipped here from California, Florida, Washington, and other faraway states. Many Texas farmers markets feature organically raised produce certified by TDA," Hightower said.

Since 1983, TDA has provided organizational, promotional, and marketing assistance to communities and producers seeking to operate or expand a farmers market.

TDA-assisted markets now operate in such major Texas cities as San Antonio, Fort Worth, El Paso and Austin, and in such smaller communities as Elgin, Comfort and Mineola. Farmers markets also are popular in major agricultural areas of the state, including Lubbock, Plainview and Amarillo.

Four new TDA-assisted markets, in Addison, Fairfield, Three Rivers and George West, will hold grand openings this summer.

"For the past few weeks, a lot of Texans have been giving special thought to the little things each of us can do for the environment. I can't think of any more pleasant and satisfying way to do your part than stocking up on fresh, healthy fruits and vegetables right off the farm," Hightower said.

"Across the state this year, some 3,700 farmers will reap a larger share of the fruits of their labor by selling directly to consumers. Last year, sales at TDA-assisted farmers markets topped $30 million, with the average farmer earning about $8,500 through the market sales. Sales are expected to increase 15 percent this year," said Paula De la Fuente, TDA farmers market coordinator.

"Farmers markets won't solve the most serious economic problems facing agriculture today, but they are certainly making it possible for participating farmers to diversify their production and increase their acreage," Hightower said.

For John Doak of Bowie, selling produce at the Fort Worth Farmers Market may have been more of a good thing than he had in mind. After retiring eight years ago from the Soil Conservation Service, Doak planted 12 acres of peaches just to give himself a reason to get out of bed in the morning. He may be wishing he'd bought an alarm clock, because he's now working just as hard as ever running a full-scale diversified vegetable and melon operation at the Fort Worth market. He farms more than 100 acres and employs two full-time workers, with as many as six workers during the busy summer months.

In Central Texas, Andy Viduare of Natalia is beginning his fourth year of selling at the San Antonio Farmers Market. Viduare, his wife, Blasa, and their two children, Nancy and Buddy, work jointly to raise and sell produce at the market. The family farms about 20 acres and has just purchased "his and hers" tractors with some of the proceeds from market sales.

"Raising produce to sell at the farmers market has helped us catch up on our bills and to work together as a family," says Viduare. "We like the atmosphere of the market, and we like getting paid immediately for what we sell."

Fruit and vegetable farmers aren't the only ones who make a sizable share of their profits from these markets. Jorge and Silvia Hernandez, operators of Garden View Growers of Midland, raise and sell decorative plants and tomato and pepper seedlings through local farmers markets.

The Hernandez family belongs to the Permian Basin Farmers Market Association, which was formed with TDA assistance. The association sponsors four farmers market sites, two in Odessa, one in Midland, and one in Big Spring.

Farmers markets throughout the state participate in a variety of food programs to benefit children, senior citizens and others.

Several new programs for low-income Texans have helped expand the customer base of farmers markets and encouraged the opening of markets in low-income neighborhoods. More than 30 markets now accept food stamps as payment for fresh produce. Last year, some 57,000 low-income women also were able to buy farm-fresh produce

Fourth of July Holiday Approaching

Major V. J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said, "Everyone looks forward to happy holidays, especially the Fourth of July, but the sad thing about all holidays is that a number of people will lose their lives in traffic accidents."

He stated that as in years past, the Department of Public Safety will conduct "Operation Motorcade," whereby, all available state troopers will be on the streets and highways attempting to make them a safe place for the Texas traffic to travel.

Major Cawthon stated, "Our troopers will be especially watchful for those hazardous drivers who refuse to slow down, run stop signs, pass in no passing zones, and who drink and drive."

He encouraged all drivers and passengers to buckle up and to reduce the chances of death or injury in case of an accident. He stated that this practice should go hand in hand with the voluntary compliance of the traffic laws.

"If you, as a motorist, would drive and treat your fellow motorist as you would like to be treated on the roadway, you can help in making this a safe holiday. Remember to slow down using WIC farmers market coupons at local farmers markets as part of the federally sponsored Women, Infants and Children Farmers Market Coupons Program. Texas is one of 10 states receiving federal funds for this three-year program, which was launched as part of legislation sponsored by the late Texas Congressman Mickey Leland. In 1989, the program brought in more than $1 million in new sales to 11 TDA-certified farmers markets. This year, markets in Jacksonville, Gonzales and Tyler also will participate in the program.

Last year, markets in Beaumont, Corsicana and Stephenville shared $20,000 in funds provided by the Texas Department on Aging to make fresh produce available to needy senior citizens. TDA is currently working to secure funding to continue this popular coupon program.

and "Drive Friendly, The Texas Way," stated Major Cawthon.

Keep in mind to slow down a little and live a lot. Don't drink and drive, and buckle up at all times.

Renewal of Highway Sign Permits Mandatory

Vance L. Castleberry, P.E., Childress District Engineer of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, announced today that the owner of each off-premise advertising sign which was erected and permitted before September 6, 1985 in Texas is required by recent legislation to renew each sign permit no later than September 5, 1990.

The new law is known as Highway Beautification Program under the Texas Litter Abatement Act 1990 Sign Permit Renewal and refers to an off-premise sign as a sign which advertises a service or product not principally sold on the premises where the sign is located.

Cost breakdown for the new permits are as follows: $50.00 for each sign no larger than 100 square feet; $87.50 for each sign larger than 100 square feet, but no larger than 300 square feet; $125.00 for each sign larger than 300 square feet; for each year being renewed with a maximum renewal period of five years at any one time.

Should the permit tag be missing from the sign, a new permit tag also must be purchased at a cost of $25.00 per tag.

Each sign owner or sign company that has a sign affected by the new law will be sent a permit renewal form along with the cost per permit to be renewed. Should no permit renewal form be received for a particular sign, the permit will be considered cancelled.

TO ALL FORMER AND CURRENT INTRASTATE WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE (WATS/800) SUBSCRIBERS:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has instituted a Class Action Lawsuit seeking judicial approval of a settlement reached in Docket No. 7297, an inquiry of General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas into possible overcharges which occurred between September, 1976, and February, 1987, due to rounding practices, on bills of intrastate WATS/800 customers sent by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies which concur in Southwestern Bell's tariff. The suit is styled "Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Plaintiff, vs. MCI Telecommunications Corporation, A Member of the Class of Texas Intrastate WATS and 800 Service Customers Who Paid Overtime Charges From September 1976 Through February 1987, Defendant," and identified as Cause No. 471,460 in the 126th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas.

Pursuant to the settlement, while not admitting liability, Southwestern Bell, the other local exchange telephone companies in Texas, and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. have agreed to pay refunds to those WATS/800 customers who paid overtime charges attributable to the rounding practices for intrastate WATS/800 services at any time between September, 1976, and February, 1987. The refunds will be based upon either the actual or estimated amount of overtime charges attributable to such rounding practices. An exact refund will be determined for customers able to produce copies of their WATS/800 service bills. For customers who do not have copies of their WATS/800 service bills to establish actual overtime charges paid, an average refund of $4.53 to $5.95 per WATS/800 service line per month will be applied. All claims will be subject to verification. The refunds will also include interest at the rate of 7.80% per annum.

Children Most Frequent Victims Of Fireworks Eye Injuries

Sometimes the Fourth of July "bombs bursting in air" are the last things a child's eye will ever see. Last year more than half of all fireworks-related eye injuries happened to children, warns the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness.

Fireworks injuries of all kinds soared 10 percent in 1988, up to a new total of 10,200. Eye injuries in particular tend to be severe. In one study, 40 percent of the reported cases caused permanent eye damage, visual disability or destruction of the eye.

"No fireworks are safe in children's hands," said William Carpenter, president and chief executive officer of the society. "Even sparklers, which burn at temperatures of more than 1800 degrees F, can cause serious burns to the eyes and skin, and can easily ignite clothing. Sparklers alone accounted for more than half of all fireworks injuries reported last year.

Consumer Product Safety Commission statistics show that in 1988, 45.6 percent of fireworks eye injuries requiring hospital emergency room treatment struck children five to fourteen years old. This is a sharp increase from the year before, when the same group accounted for 32.9 percent nationwide. Even very young children were injured. Last year 7.6 percent of fireworks-related eye injuries occurred to tots under the age of five, up from 6.1 percent from 1987.

Most injuries result from mishandling fireworks. Accidents occur when they are held in the hand, when attempts are made to relight apparent duds or when bending directly over fireworks to ignite them.

While a number of states have banned the private use of fireworks, most still permit Class C devices to be used. This category includes pieces that contain no more than 50 mg of black powder. Bottle rockets, roman candles and sparklers are common examples. Together these have caused the overwhelming majority of serious injuries to the eyes.

The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness warns against the private use of fireworks. Unfortunately, the range of state laws and illicit markets make fireworks readily available. If you are going to use fireworks, the following safety rules are recommended:

*Check local laws regarding use of fireworks. It may be illegal to use fireworks within the city limits, or within the county where you live.

*Never allow children to use fireworks. Even sparklers are dangerous.

*Fireworks should only be used outdoors in a clear area away from homes, buildings and combustible materials.

*Be sure others are out of range before lighting fireworks. Many fireworks injuries occur to innocent bystanders.

*Never handle or attempt to relight a firework that does not go off. Keep water nearby for emergencies and for dousing malfunctioning fireworks. Drench thoroughly before discarding the dud firework.

*Never ignite fireworks in a container. Glass and metal containers can easily shatter.

For more information on preventing blindness and preserving sight, call the Amarillo/Panhandle Branch of the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness at 359-4431. The National Center for Sight, an information resource of the National Society to Prevent Blindness also has a toll free number: 1-800-221-3004.

Skin Cancer Risk Increases With Sun Exposure

About 400,000 new cases of skin cancer, the most common form of human cancer, will be diagnosed in the United States this year. According to health officials, most of them will result from repeated overexposure to the sun's rays.

If scientists are correct, because air pollution has begun to destroy the planet's ozone layer, skin cancer may be even more common in the future. Therefore, the Texas Department of Health (TDH) urges Texans to take special precautions.

Dr. Patti Patterson, TDH Acting Associate Commissioner for Personal Health Services, said, "Texans are used to the outdoors, and they sometimes accept sunburn as no more than temporary discomfort. But each sunburn contributes to perman-

July 20, or when not more than five percent of the total property value in the district remains under protest.

The State Property Tax Board has issued a pamphlet called "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities," which explains how to prepare and present an appeal to the ARB. The pamphlet is available at the Briscoe County Appraisal District office. For a copy, contact the appraisal district staff at the county courthouse.

Hunting Lease Directory For 1990 Available

"Hunting has always been a way of life for many Texans. The sale of hunting leases is helping many Texas farmers and ranchers make a living, and the publication of the 1990 edition of the 'Texas Hunter's Clearinghouse Directory' will assist a growing number of rural Texans in making use of this valuable source of extra income," Deputy State Agriculture Commissioner Mike Moeller announced.

The 1990 directory, along with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Deer Hunting Lease Register, lists 956 available leases covering a total of 4.3 million acres in every region of Texas. The 118-page directory, which is available free of charge, is a joint project of TDA and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Interested hunters ent radiation damage that may go unnoticed, sometimes for years."

Dr. Patterson stressed that repeated ill effects from the sun are cumulative. "Every individual has his own tolerance for how much of the sun's ultraviolet light he can stand in a lifetime." She explained that children and older people, especially those with light skin, generally have a lower tolerance to overexposure than people with dark skin. She added, though, that even dark-skinned people have their limits.

Dr. Patterson said that the likelihood of skin cancer increases with age. Warning signs include sores that do not heal or any unusual skin condition, such as a change in size or color of a mole or birthmark.

The American Cancer Society recommends a monthly skin self-examination for symptoms. Teens and adults should use a full-length mirror and hand mirror to study the whole skin carefully for overall condition and tiny changes, including the skin of the scalp and between the toes. Parents also should thoroughly examine their young children. Any noticeable change warrants a medical opinion.

To reduce the risk of overexposure to the sun, Texans are advised to:

*Wear protective clothing, including hats, long sleeves, even gloves.

*Choose—and use—sunscreens which are best suited to skin sensitivity. Apply a waterproof sunscreen (rated 15 or higher) at least an hour before going into the sun, and reapply after swimming or heavy perspiration.

*Avoid sun exposure between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., when the sun's ultraviolet rays are most intense.

*Do not use sunlamps, booths and rural landowners will receive copies of the directory upon request.

"More than 200 listings in this year's edition of the directory are new, and a large number of these listings have never been hunted on a lease basis before," Moeller said.

"The directory listings are arranged by county in alphabetical order, and the directory includes a wide range of fish and game. Hunters can find leases to hunt and fish for wild turkey, bass, catfish, javelina, and white-tail deer. We've also got listings for exotic game species like axis deer and blackbuck antelope. The listings also include useful information such as the location of the nearest airports and hotels, as well as services and amenities provided on leases.

"The four-year-old clearinghouse program has become popular with hunters and rural landowners alike. More than 1.3 million Texans hold hunting licenses, and land capable of producing huntable wildlife is limited. The directory puts hunters in contact with rural landowners who need the additional income generated by hunting leases. In previous years, farmers and ranchers who leased their land through the clearinghouse program added an average of $2,200 to their income. Hunting leases generate about $146 million each year for Texas farmers and ranchers. As the demand for hunting leases increases, many rural landowners are putting more emphasis on wildlife management practices in order to satisfy this demand," Moeller said.

Farmers and ranchers with land available to lease may apply to the Texas Department of Agriculture for a free listing in the directory. Applications for inclusion in the directory are accepted throughout the year. For more information on the Texas Hunter's Clearinghouse, call TDA at (512) 463-7679 or write Texas Hunter's Clearinghouse, Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

*Be especially cautious of sunlight when using prescribed drugs, since some tend to increase the skin's light sensitivity.

"These precautions and plain common sense can help most people avoid skin cancer. And when people do develop skin cancer, they will find it early, if they routinely examine themselves," Dr. Patterson said.

She added that with early detection most cases of skin cancer can be cured.

ARB To Hear Protests Starting Friday, July 6

Property owners in the Briscoe County Appraisal District will have an opportunity next week to protest proposed appraisals of their property for local taxes. The district's appraisal review board (ARB) will begin hearing taxpayer protests on Friday, July 6.

After the ARB concludes its hearings and approves final property appraisals, local governments will use these appraisals to assess property taxes for 1990.

The ARB is a group of citizens who live in the appraisal district and who are appointed by the district's directors. Their responsibilities are outlined by the Texas Constitution, which requires that property be appraised equally and uniformly and that exemptions and productivity appraisal be properly granted.

Property owners may appear before the ARB to protest any of these specific actions of the appraisal office:

*the appraised or agricultural value of the property;

*unequal appraisal of the taxpayer's property compared to other property in the district;

*inclusion of the property on the appraisal records;

*denial of a partial exemption, such as a homestead exemption;

*denial of agricultural-use, open-space, or timber productivity appraisal;

*determination that agricultural or timber land has had a change-of-use and is subject to a rollback tax;

*identification of the taxing unit or units in which the property is located;

*determination that the taxpayer is the owner of the property;

*any other action of the appraisal office that adversely affects the property owner.

Carlye Fleming, chief appraiser for the district, outlined the steps by which a property owner files a protest. First, the property owner must file a written "notice of protest" with the ARB. This must be filed within 30 days after the taxpayer is mailed a notice of appraised value by the chief appraiser.

However, if the ARB sends a property owner a notice of any other kind of change in the appraisal records, or if the chief appraiser issues a prior-year omitted property notice, the property owner has only 10 days from the mailing date to file a protest.

Official forms for a notice of protest are available at the appraisal district office. "A letter from the taxpayer is also acceptable," Mrs. Fleming said, "as long as it identifies the property owner and the property that is the subject of the protest and indicates dissatisfaction with some decision or action of the appraisal office."

Each protesting property owner may offer evidence or argument, either in person or by filing an affidavit with the ARB. Property owners should be aware that the ARB has no authority over tax rates or taxing-unit spending and will not hear protests on those matters.

The ARB will schedule hearings as property owners file protests and will inform them of the time, date and place of their individual hearings at least 15 days before the scheduled hearing date. Mrs. Fleming said that protest hearings will be held for one day and that the ARB expects to approve the final appraisal roll within a few days after the hearings. State law requires the ARB to review and approve the appraisal records by

St. John wasn't his last name — that was French and usually mispronounced. But around Cape Cod, he was known simply as St. John, after his home town in Canada.

His appearance seemed far from saintly. Yet it never seemed awkward calling him that. He loved people. He loved the sea. He loved hard work. Most importantly, he loved his church and God. And his enthusiasm was contagious — somehow you felt better after you'd been with St. John.

It's refreshing and exciting to run into someone who tries hard to put his religion into living and working.

Remember that every day. Then folks might feel that same excitement when they run into you and me. That's something to strive for.
