

THE ROTAN ADVANCE

Volume 55 Rotan, Fisher County, Texas Thursday, June 22, 1961 No. 19

Rain forced postponement of games last Thursday and Friday, so Little League action was confined to Monday and Tuesday. Monday night the Rebels led Yankees 10-2, going into the last inning when the Yankees aided by wildness on the Rebels pitchers staked a 14 run uprising to tie the score 16-16. Hurling for the Yankees were Ramon and Van Loon, while Overby and Kelley pitched for Rebels.

Tuesday night the Prune Peddlers escaped the same fate when they finally retired the Vets 14-11, after blowing a 10 run lead to the Vet 7 run last inning rally. McCall increased their league lead to one and one-half games over the Vets while the Rebels trail by two and one-half with Yankees two games behind.

Farming Operations Delayed Last Week

Heavy rainfall again caused a standstill to farming operations of the area Thursday and Friday of last week. The precipitation varied over the territory, but all received more than needed a present. Fred Byerly gauged 2.80 inches during the 36 hours of damp weather.

This brings the total for June, thus far, to 5.32 inches, which is far above normal. Year's total to date is 12.16 inches in Rotan.

Much of the territory has good crops up and growing, with needing plowing, but an estimated 25 per cent will have to plant over. Some farmers hope to get replanting started on the higher ground the last of this week, but majority expect it to be about July 1st, and some even later. Good cotton crops have been made on July planting in past years, but chances of early freeze or frost endangers late crops.

The rain last week caught many farmers replanting. Of course the bright side is that all have ample moisture at this time.

Most stock tanks are full and this moisture should carry range-land well into the summer.

If the trucks should miss any trash ready for hauling, citizens may call the City Hall.

County Agricultural Agent

We received our Brucellosis Certification from the Texas Animal Health Commission last week. Fisher County is now a Modified Certified Area. The following is a statement from Dr. R. G. Garrett, Executive Director of the Animal Health Commission: "We wish to thank the livestock owners of Fisher County for the splendid cooperation given our representatives while work was being conducted in Fisher County."

Livestock owners of Fisher County will now enjoy the privilege of shipping cattle with few restrictions insofar as brucellosis is concerned. Any change in the status of the County due to violation of requirements would result in the imposition of regulations which would restrict the movement of livestock from that County.

The more than forty livestockmen are to be commended for the fine job they did helping with the program here in the county. Through this type of cooperation and work, the job was finished in a much shorter time.

The popular bulletin, "Know Your Grasses," has been revised and reprinted and copies are available from Texas County Agents. Revisions include broader descriptions and more details of the distribution of each grass.

Extension Range Specialist G. O. Hoffman says this publication has proved valuable to ranchmen, 4-H and FFA members and others interested in learning more of the key grasses of the State. The most important native and introduced grasses in Texas are illustrated, along with the common and scientific name and basic characteristics and grazing values of each.

Copies of the bulletin, "Know Your Grasses," may be obtained from the County Agricultural Agent's office.

Increasing numbers of Texas dairymen are feeding expensive mineral-vitamin supplements because they have been advised this practice would improve milk production and general health of dairy cows.

A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist, points out that researchers at Cornell University, in four separate experiments, using a complex mineral-vitamin mixture similar in composition to many now being sold, failed to increase milk production, milk fat test, weight gain, feed intakes or digestibility. Also, says Meekma, no improvement in the general health and appearance of the cows was evident.

The specialist further points out that the Cornell researchers used widely different qualities of forage and proportions of concentrates to forage in their studies. It is Meekma's belief that the negative results of this research can be applied to many Texas dairy farms.

Summer brings an assortment of hungry insects to attack ornamental plants. Determining the kind and amount of insecticide to use on the different insects becomes a problem.

To answer these and other questions, extension entomologists of the A&M College of Texas have prepared a leaflet entitled, "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants."

The leaflet defines the most common insect pests, described the type of damage and gives directions for treatment, complete with dilution chart for mixing sprays.

Copies are available from the county agent's office.

The period from July 23-29 has been designated by President Kennedy as National Farm Safety Week in the United States. In Texas, plans are going forward for special programs on the local and county levels with statewide activities being planned by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. Agriculture is the nation's third most hazardous occupation with almost 12,000 deaths and more than a million crippling injuries each year in the nation. Every citizen is urged to participate in the observances.

Mrs. Ed Warren returned to her home in Post Monday afternoon after spending several days here with her mother Mrs. A. R. Tyson and her sister Mrs. J. R. Strayhorn and Mr. Strayhorn.

United States Flag For Burial Purposes

A flag may be furnished to drape the caskets of the following classes of persons: (1) a veteran of any war, including the Korean Conflict, who was discharged or released from active service under conditions other than dishonorable; (2) a veteran of peacetime service, discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, if such veteran served at least one enlistment, or was discharged before serving a full enlistment by reason of disability incurred in service in line of duty. (3) any person who has died while in the Military, Naval, or Air Service of the United States after May 27, 1941.

Memorial Flags may be furnished in those instances in which a person dies while serving in the Armed Forces where the remains of the deceased are interred outside the continental limits of the United States, or the remains are not recovered (lost at sea, etc.) or where the remains are recovered and not identified.

Flags may also be furnished after the burial of the deceased veteran in those instances where circumstances existing at the time of death prevented the securing of a flag to drape the casket. Circumstances which prevent the securing of a flag would include those instances in which the next of kin certifies that he had no knowledge of the availability of a flag at the time of burial of the veteran.

Flags for burial purposes may be obtained from most Post Offices or from VA installations. Flags for burial and memorial purposes are issued, when in order upon presentation of proof of honorable service in the Armed Services under conditions outlined above.

Maybe we are developing a tendency to be timid about waving our flag. Just look around over town on Memorial Day or any national holiday. Take July 4, it is our nation's birthday, we should be proud to have the flag flown at every opportunity, but just check at the stores, homes, county buildings and even some of our Federal buildings and see how many flags are flying on these days set aside specifically for days that are supposed to be sacred in our world history. The flag is a symbol of our National unity. It is the spirit of our undying devotion to our country. It stands for the best that is for us, for loyalty, character and faith in Democracy. Should not every business, school, home or other establishment, more especially the ones that are connected with our government in any way fly the flag? Flying the flag is a symbol of this nation. Isn't it time for us to stop our mad rush for these things that are material successes and remember ourselves and teach our children the so-called old fashioned way of patriotism, teach them as well as ourselves the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded. When you look at the flag don't you think of the Alamo, Corregidor, Pearl Harbor, Korea, Flanders Field, Bataan, Iwo Jima and Normandy Beach. The great events of our past and present are wrapped up in our flag. Can we wave it too much? Why don't we as a people start putting the Flag up and show some of these other people that we are still real Americans?

Thank you and come to see me,
Steve Kelley, Your County Service Officer.

Ford Helping On Cars Pedestrians and Drivers For Driver Education

Dearborn, Mich. — Ford Motor Company moved today to make it easier for schools to borrow new cars for use in teaching students to drive.

James O. Wright, vice president - car and truck group, said Ford is doubling the amount of its rebate to dealers for new units loaned to schools for use in driver-training programs. Mr. Wright said the increase in the rebate from $125 to $250 a unit will be retroactive to the beginning of the 1960-61 school year.

At present, 2,689 Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers are participating in the program to provide cars for driver training. Of the 3,912 units now supplied by these dealers for driver-training, 2,663 are loaned. The remainder are either bought or leased by schools or program sponsors.

In 1956, Ford became the first company in the automobile industry to install front seat belts and padded dashboards and visors on all its products used for driver-training. Ford supplies seat belts without charge on driver-training units.

The National Safety Council recently awarded Ford a plaque for its 1960 series of motion pictures on driver education. The three films, a joint effort of the company's Motion Picture Department and traffic Safety and Highway Improvement Department, are entitled "City Driving", "Driving Under Special Conditions", and "Highway Driving".

Mr. and Mrs. Bright Newhouse of Miami spent last week end here with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Noles and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Newhouse near Roby, who celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary Sunday with open house in their recently completed new home. Mr. and Mrs. Newhouse returned to Miami Sunday, accompanied by their children Kim, Mike and Bright III, who had spent the past month with their grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ogle of Dublin visited her mother Mrs. Hattie McWhirter Sunday.

The man who earn what he gets will be under obligation to no man. What is the use of the intelligence of the race of you do not know what it is?

From time to time one hears the opinion expressed that auto. drivers seem to seldom give pedestrians their legal "right-of-way" on crosswalks.

We are delighted to remind drivers that the pedestrian has the right-of-way if crossing the street, or intersection, during the approach of an automobile. Moreover, the pedestrian, unless he is crossing on a green light, is assumed to have the right-of-way at intersections, and automobiles should wait for him or her, as the case may be.

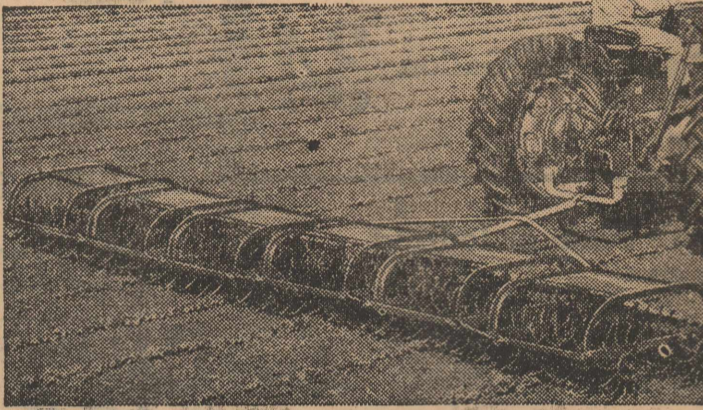

There are abuses on the other side, of course, and the primary one is for pedestrians to start crossing an intersection just as the light is turning green, thereby forcing the motorist, and those waiting behind him, to wait while the pedestrian, sometimes leisurely, strolls across the street.

However, we agree that the greatest weight of abuse on this question is on the shoulders of automobile drivers. Sometimes it seems that many drivers assume that they have the right-of-way, primarily because they have three thousands pounds of steel around them, and they almost take delight in making those on foot scamper, jump, quick-step out of their path.

Obviously, drivers of Rotan need to give thought to the fact that pedestrians have the right-of-way, and courtesy in allowing them to cross the street, is not exhibited on two many occasions, in this regard.

The committee decided that the two runners-up would fill out the remaining time left by two previous scholarship winners who had to withdraw.

First of these runners-up is Peggy Sue Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vern Hale of Canyon, who plan to enter West Texas State College, Canyon.

Second of the runners-up is Carolyn English of Lubbock, daughter of Mrs. Madeline English, who plans to enter Texas Tech.

I am now come forth to give thee wisdom and understanding.—(Dan. 9:22).

When we are not sure what course we should take or what decision we should make, let us turn to God for help. He will give us the wisdom to take the right course. He will shed light on our way.

FU Opposed To General Sales Tax

Denton, Texas Texas Farmers Union issued a call to all of its officers and membership to rise up in arms to fight the General Sales Tax proposal for the State of Texas. State President, Alex Dickie, Jr., stated that the Farmers Union Program calls for all out opposition to any further addition of sales tax as a source of state or national revenue.

Generally speaking, there is no question that a retail sales tax would have a considerably heavier impact upon farmers, either per capita or upon a farm family basis than the impact of the same tax upon non-farmers per capita or per family.

This is obvious from the fact that farmers buy considerably more at retail than do non-farm families. Farm purchases for household and family living purchases are very near to being on a par with those of the typical non-farm family. Besides, farmers buy their machinery, equipment, and other capital items at retail, plus hundreds of smaller supplies and materials in the field of lumber, hardware and various durable goods.

In Iowa, farmers pay an estimated 21 million a year under the 2 per cent sales tax, and according to the Iowa tax department figure, farmers pay 50 per cent more taxes per capital than non-farmers. Wouldn't Texas farmers also pay this much more than non-farmers?

Christian Science Service Sunday

The need to follow Christ Jesus' examples by healing the sick compassionately through prayer will be stressed at Christian Science churches Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon on "Christian Science" will include (Matthew 9): "and Jesus went about all the cities and villages teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. But when he saw multitude, he moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd."

A correlative selection to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 37): "It is possible, —yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman, — to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holeness." The Golden Text is from Revelation (12): "Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ."

Donham-Davis Wedding Vows Said Saturday

Linda Jeanett Donham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Donham, became the bride of Tommy Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Davis of Weinert, in single ring rites read in Hillcrest Baptist Church Saturday.

Officiating was Rev. Neil Shepherd, pastor.

Wedding music was by Sandra Rodgers. Soloist was Pat McClung. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Drew Dawkins, and her cousin, Shirley Farnsworth of Hamlin, were candlelighters. Ushers were Richard Alls and Ward Shamblin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin with overskirts of illusion and fitted lace jacket.

Her shoulder length veil of illusion, accented with blue phinestones, was caught to a bandeau of satin jeweled with whinestones.

She carried white carnations, nested in satin and maline, atop a white Bible.

Attendant was a sister, Carol Donham. She wore a blue gown with mateau neckline in deep V in back, pouf sleeves and knife pleated skirt. She carried a cascade of white carnations, tied with satin.

Drew Dawkins of Rotan, the bride's uncle, was best man.

Reception was hosted at the church. Guests were registered by Charlotte Donham. Cinda Stewart and Annie Carol Ragan were at the reception table.

Following the wedding trip the couple will live in Sweetwater.

The bride attended Rotan schools. The bridegroom attended school at Graham. He is employed at Texaco Service Station in Sweetwater.

Safety Has 25 Yr. Span Texas Dept. Public

The Texas Department of Public Safety on August 10, 1960, rounded out a quarter-century of service and protection for the people of Texas in an area of trail and transition during which the present-day concept of law enforcement evolved.

Since its inception over 25 years ago, the department has become recognized as one of the most respected organizations of its kind in the nation.

The department was created by the legislature on August 10, 1935, at a time when it was realized that the state's part in crime prevention and traffic control was inadequate and improperly organized.

A meager Highway Patrol at that time was under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, and the only existing state police force for criminal activity was the Texas Rangers, then under the supervision of the Adjutant General.

These two formed the nucleus of the department at it exists today, although it has been given many and varied duties and responsibilities since then.

The history of law enforcement in Texas is, in a sense, the history of Texas itself. It began in 1823, when Stephen F. Austin, having received permission to colonize the territory, realized that he would have to provide some form of protection for his colonists. He hired 10 men, and because they were required to range over a wide region to scout for marauding Indians, they become known as Rangers. These were the forerunners of the Texas Rangers, whose tradition as fearless and competent lawmen has been carried forward into modern-day Texas.

In 1927, the legislature, because of the increasing truck traffic problem resulting in actual and potential damage to highways and bridges and endangering the public safety, authorized the Texas Highway Department to employ 18 license and weight inspectors and one chief inspector to enforce existing regulations.

The principal reasons for the increases in truck traffic during 1927 and immediately prior to 1927 were the transportation of baled cotton from Central and North Texas to Houston for export, and the discovery of oil in the Burkburnett area.

The increasing use of motor trucks, many of them home-made and makeshift contraptions, with inadequate brakes, steering mechanisms and tires for the loads they were carrying, created a serious menace to the safety of the travelling public.

The highway system, although satisfactory for normal passenger car traffic of the time, was not conducive to safety when these cumbersome affairs called trucks were operated over narrow, hog-backed highways at 40 to 50 miles per hour, and many of these operators took their half out of the middle of these roads in order to keep their loads level.

Two years later, the legislature authorized the expansion of this group to 50 men, to be known as the State Highway Patrol, and to be charged with the duty of enforcing all laws relating to vehicles and their use on the public highways. This force was increased to 120 in 1931.

The law creating the Texas Department of Public Safety ested in the agency "the enforcement of the laws protecting the public safety and providing for the prevention and detection of crime."

The law provided that the department be composed of three divisions: The Texas Rangers, the Texas Highway Patrol, and the Headquarters Division. The Rangers were transferred from the Adjutant General's office, and the Patrol was transferred from the Highway Department, to the new Department of Public Safety.

The control of the department is vested in a Public Safety Commission of three members, each of whom serves a six-year term with one member's term expiring each two years. Commission members are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The commission names the director and the assistant director.

On September 1, 1957, the legislature authorized a major reorganization plan proposed by the Texas Research League after an exhaustive study. Under this plan, the Department of Public Safety decentralizes work loads and brought its personnel closer to the people.

This was done by creating six regional commands, each headed by a senior officer with the rank of major, who was placed in charge of the Highway Patrol, the License and Weight program, the Motor Vehicle Inspection program, Driver License examinations, Communications and the Safety Education Service in his region. Each regional headquarters maintains a limited crim laboratory.

The Texas Rangers are assigned to six companies with the same boundaries as the regional commands, each headed by a Captain directly responsible to the director of the department. The Narcotics Section and the Intelligence Section each headed by an agent-in-charge, are part of the Director's Staff, operating statewide out of the Austin headquarters.

The supporting headquarters divisions, sections and bureaus all were consolidated into four major divisions - the Identification and Criminal Records Division, the Personnel and Staff Services Division, the Driver and Vehicle Records Division, and the Inspection and Planning Division.

The responsibilities of the department fall into three general categories:

1. General crime suppression and control.
2. Motor vehicle highway trans-

BILL'S TEXACO STATION

'As It Looks From Here'

Omar Burleson, M. C.

Washington, D. C. -- For many years the Congress has sought ways and means within the Constitution, as interpreted by the Supreme Court, to deal with the Communist menace within our borders. Many measures have been placed on the statute books for this purpose, and many have been nullified by the courts. Some have yet to be fully interpreted.

On June 5, the United States Supreme Court rendered a decision which gives hope that, aside from the narrow legal view, the "public interest" is being taken into consideration.

In two decisions the court placed at least a preliminary stamp of approval on legislation intended to help this Government cope more effectively with the Communist conspiracy.

After ten years of litigation the Court held that "Communist front" organizations must register with the Attorney General.

The second case upheld a section of the Smith Act of 1940, which makes it a crime to belong knowingly to an organization which advocates the violent overthrow of the Government.

The Court did not reach the proposition of deciding whether the penalties provided in the present Law will be sanctioned. This will probably have to be decided later and, of course, is important to the enforcement of it.

At some time or other a conflict in the two decisions must be reconciled. In the first, it requires the Communist and Communist front organizations to file their membership lists with the Attorney General. The second makes it an offense to belong to these types of organizations. In other words, if and when they are required to register, they automatically become chargeable under the Law.

The narrow issue decided was that Congress can compel an organization dominated by a foreign power to register and that the requirement is in violation of the First Amendment to the Constitution.

In the opinion, Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter said, "The present case differs from others in the magnitude of the public interest, which the registration and disclosure provisions are designed to protect. . . ."

The effect of these two decisions is to place the Communist conspiracy into the most crippling device ever aimed at a group which claims to be a political organization. In other words, the Court recognizes that the Communist Party is not a political party at all, but a conspiracy, and it should be called that. Although the decision was split 5 to 4 it is encouraging and important in dealing with a situation made complex by our system, which guarantees so many freedoms and liberties. The enemies of our Nation are able to hide behind these legitimate freedoms and liberties and use them as a license, rather than what they were originally meant.

A subsequent newsletter will discuss the text of a measure I have in-

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. MOLLE, B. S. Commissioner of Health.

Cancer Society Cites Work of Three Groups

According to Texas Division of American Cancer Society, the area of most marked advance in the cancer control program of the Texas Division during the past five years has been the work of physicians, dentists and nurses.

Society-sponsored meetings of physicians, for example, numbered only 19 in 1955 compared to 298 in 1960. Meetings for dentists increased from none to 18, and meetings for nurses (graduate, practical and student) increased from 128 to 380.

Total attendance at all these professional meetings in 1960 was 20,374, compared to 7,411 for similar meetings in 1955.

These increases indicate the measure of active professional leadership on the state and county, level, and also reveal a strong response from county unit professional education committees.

In addition to these, at meetings of other kinds, physicians, dentists and nurses numbering 16,892 attended 485 professional film showings. Five years ago, only about 1,000 attended such showings.

Information for these groups during 1960 also included professional exhibits and monographs available from the Texas Division, and a comprehensive mailing of information to all members of the Texas Medical Association.

The Texas Division also furnished financial support to 13 Tumor Clinics in the state serving as diagnostic and consultation service for physicians.

Continued goal of the professional program is to bring new information to physicians, dentists and nurses on cancer and the latest developments in diagnosis and treatment.

roduced to provide for the denial of passport to persons knowingly engaged in activities intended to further the International Communist movement.

The greatest public health campaign since Teddy Roosevelt's day is underway across the nation and Texas. This time the enemy is polio instead of "Yellow Jack."

If the same relentless attack is pursued in the eradication of polio, it too may become almost a memory as yellow fever became in a few short years following Dr. Walter Reed's discovery that mosquitoes are the carriers of dread "Yellow Jack."

Vaccination is the key to complete victory over the crippling effects of paralytic poliomyelitis. The Salk vaccine has proven overwhelmingly effective as a preventive against the disease.

With the advent of the Salk vaccine, the incidence of paralytic polio has steadily declined in Texas from 816 cases in 1955 to a recent low last year of 118.

So far during 1961, paralytic polio cases are running slightly below last year's figures. At the end of the first 18 weeks six cases of polio compared to nine cases during the same period last year and 92 cases in 1955.

However, the fact of the matter is that there is still a huge reservoir of unprotected persons who could fall victim to the disease if a severe outbreak should occur.

Especially vulnerable are pre-school age children. Records show, most polio cases strike children under five years of age.

Also, unprotected young adults - especially parents of young children - are oftentimes stricken. The intensive anti-polio campaign is directed towards "babies and breadwinners."

This slogan is the title of a pamphlet outlining procedures to follow in local campaigns. Step-by-step items for conducting successful vaccination programs are outlined.
