If you are like most other Texans, you have some ornamental plants in your yard that were damaged by the recent hard freezes. The natural inclination is to remove the damaged growth, but Helen Smith, extension plant pathologist, advises against being too hasty.

If there is any doubt that twigs and branches have been killed it is best to wait a few weeks until such damage can be easily seen. At that time prune the plant back to live wood making the pruning cut several inches below the last sign of dead wood.

To find out how much of a shrub has been killed, use a knife or the thumbnail to scratch into the cambium layer, just beneath the bark. Discoloration of this layer is a sign that the plant needs cutting back below such damage. If any bark has been split or cracked, this area should also be cut out. Often the damage is to the outside twigs and branches, and the plant will need only a slight clipping back.

Pruning shears should be dipped in a disinfectant such as 70 percent denatured alcohol between cuts, the specialist advises.

With trees and large shrubs the cut end should be painted with shellac. After the shellac has dried, a wound dressing or disinfectant tree paint should be applied to the exposed area. You will get best results if you inspect the dressed surfaces periodically and recoat them once or twice a year. Before recoating, clean the wound with a stiff wire brush to remove all blisters and loose flakes. Be careful not to cover the new growth with these additional applications of wound dressing.

One way to lessen damage in case of another freeze is to water the plants thoroughly as soon as pipes thaw. This prevents drying, which causes more damage than the cold.

For more information on pruning, stop by our office and ask for a copy of B-977, "Modern Pruning Methods."

How does a well fed dairy cow react to cold weather? Shannon Carpenter, area dairy specialist at the Tyler Experiment Station, got a chance to find out during the recent cold snaps.

Two and one-half inches of snow and temperatures of 5 to 20 degrees prevented the 33-cow herd from going to the silo for three days. During this time an additional 430 pounds of Coastal Bermuda hay replaced 1,420 pounds of cane silage. Daily milk weights were checked to determine what effect this had on production.

On January 6, 7, and 8 the 33 cows produced 884 pounds of milk per day while consuming 430 pounds of Coastal hay and 1,420 pounds of cane silage. On January 9, 10 and 11 the cows were kept in the shelter barn and they consumed 860 pounds of Coastal hay while producing 879 pounds of milk per day.

The 5 pounds decrease in milk production is only about 50 percent of normal for cows at this stage of lactation, says Carpenter. During this time, no change was made in the grain ration and water was available at all times. Carpenter says keep 'em watered and well fed, and cold weather won't bother them too much.

Result demonstrations in Hale County have shown just how valuable a soil test really is, reports Charles Cypert, associate county agent. On the Charles Buey farm, treatment with the soil test recommended rate gave an extra return of $30.60 per acre. Bert Lane got an added net return of $112.00 per acre on land treated according to soil test recommendations. Have you had your soil tested?

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Roberts spent Sunday with the family of their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jess Stinson and two children in Lubbock. Mrs. Stinson and their 2 year old daughter, Elizabeth Ann has just returned from Houston where Elizabeth Ann was in Childrens Hospital for examination and treatment for rheumatoid arthritis in the arms and hands. She has been treated by doctors in Lubbock and they had sent her to Houston for examination.

'As It Looks From Here'
Omar Burleson, M. C.

Washington, D. C. -- More than three years ago this column attempted to discuss "automation." We were reminded that in the years immediately ahead it would become a common term.

This is now the case. The effect of automation is reflected in numerous pieces of legislation now before the Congress and has a relation to practically all Government operation. It becomes a part of a proposal to retrain workers displaced by machines; public housing; recreation; international trade; and even the farm problem.

Technology is even overtaking the planners. By reason of it, the planners become more bold and ideas projected for meeting the advances of automation become more drastic.

Referring to new farm legislation, the President recently said, "We will enjoy the fruits of the technological revolution only if we recognize its implications." Apparently, the President was saying that farm policy has not kept up with farm technology. If it is true in agriculture, it is equally noticeable in human welfare problems.

Relief rolls represent, to a very large degree, the consequence of machines. Many of them are people left behind by these complexities in our society.

A study of the problem of automation by a private institution comes up with the title "The Silent Conquest." This publication shows how machines are displacing white collar workers, professionals, and particularly the middleman in management. It also shows how business must adjust to these changes the same as the individuals.

For business, it is "Who will own the machines." A line in a recent business letter published in Washington is as follows: "If machines are to be masters of people, who will be master of the machines?"

Machines and automation will affect just about all of us in one way or another. Aside from the farm program, retraining of displaced workers, retirement and pension plans, international trade, programs and all these other involved matters, is the matter of land use for recreation.

The outdoor recreation resources review commission made a report to the President in January after three years of extensive study showing that 90 per cent of all Americans 18 and over participated in some form of outdoor recreation in 1960. Recreation involves water pollution, which is already a subject of legislation. The manufacture and sale of boats and equipment is a rapidly expanding business. More fishing means more fish hatcheries. Conservation of land and water mean more reclamation, more dams, more of everything along this line. It means more de-

Christian Science Service Sunday

The nature of true happiness will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Selections from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Soul" include those verses from I Chronicles (16): "Glory in his name: let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord . . . Glory and honour are in his presence; strength and gladness are in his place."

One of the 'citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 57): "Happiness is spiritual, born of Truth and Love. It is unselfish; therefore it cannot exist alone, but requires all mankind to share it."

stumping hillsides for skiers, more fish ponds on farms and more equipment for skin divers.

As all of these industries grow and expand, more workers connected with them will be employed. It seems the big problem is the shift over. The question seems to be as to how many of the approximate 140,000 mine workers in the small State of West Virginia can be employed in some of these industries without some sort of Federal direction. When Federal direction comes, it inevitably brings the Federal Government into the individual lives of people, which means more Federal controls and, of course, more Federal expenditures.

This is an example of the complexities of this rapidly growing Nation -- a growing population and a growing dependence on automation.

Apropos of election year: There is nothing bad about political differences -- the bad thing is political indifference.

Boys Ranch Is Changing Name

San Angelo, Feb. 13--The name of Boys Ranch of West Texas at Temkorsly has been formally changed to West Texas Boys Ranch in order to avoid conflict in identity with other institutions with similar names.

A budget of $199,000 has been adopted for this year, up slightly from last year to allow for an increased enrollment of 64 boys. The ranch has recently had an average of 54 boys.

A new 100-seat chapel now under construction will be finished this spring and two new $39,000 dormitories are virtually complete and will be occupied within 10 days. A new house for the ranch superintendent is expected to be built this summer.

Roy A. Minear of Midland is in his third term as president of the board. H. L. Davis of Rotan is Fisher County range boss (chairman).

Former Resident With Big Spring Bank

The following article taken from Big Spring Herald in regard to Carlton Chapman who was reared in Fisher County. He is the son of Mrs. Nell Parks, who now resided in Sweetwater:

"The State National Bank has often expressed its desire to contribute to the growth of Big Spring. One of the less publicized ways in which they do this is through their progressive agricultural loan department.

This office, headed by Vice President Carlton Chapman, is one of the most active in the institution. During the past year, over 400 loans have been processed here to assist farmers and ranchers to expand and improve their operations.

The majority of these loans have gone to individuals in Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties, although other areas have been served also.

These production loans have been requested for various endeavors, however they generally are used for expenses incurred which relate directly to increased farming and ranch production. Whether the customer has dry land or irrigated farming, capital is always needed for seed, fertilizers, fuel or farm machinery. The rancher, too must have equipment and money to invest in livestock to improve or enlarge his herd.

Carlton Chapman is a West Texan who was raised on a farm. He is acquainted with the problems

A Weighty Problem

by Alice L. Kemp

Should you be concerned about your weight?

Both extreme underweight and extreme overweight are detriments to good health.

Excess weight may shorten life because overweight persons are poor surgical risks, show less resistance to infection, and are more prone to have diabetes, high blood pressure, heart and blood vessel diseases, arthritis or a stroke.

In regard to blood vessels, five pounds of extra fat calls for three additional miles of blood vessels. The death rate for persons over 45, who are 10 to 90 pounds overweight, are 8 to 116 percent greater than for persons of normal weight.

Your weight is determined by the ratio of energy expended to caloric intake.

Overweight occurs when daily energy expenditure is less than the total daily energy intake or total calories consumed. To determine if you are overweight, take a deep pinch of skin on the side of your body just over your lower rib. If the distance between the thumb and index finger is greater than one inch, you are probably too fat.

For additional weight control information, why not attend the March meetings of the Home Demonstration clubs. The program will be given by foods leaders in the clubs and will be "Low Calorie Meals."

Leaders will be trained in a meeting conducted by Alice Kemp, County H. D. Agent. This meeting will be Wednesday, February 21 at 2:30 p. m. in the Agriculture Building in Roby.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Waddell and daughters Lisa and Jen of Fluvanna visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Turner several days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Denton of Abilene spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Denton.

Hillcrest WMU Holds Youth Banquet Friday

Hillcrest Baptist Church Women's Missionary Society honored the Intermediates and Young People with a banquet Friday night, February 9th.

An Indian theme was carried out in program, table and room decorations and even food had Indian names.

Centerpiece for the head table was a large mirror with an arrangement of dried vegetables, such as was common to Indian use; a small Tee-Pee with Indian dolls sitting outside the door. Three candles stood on each side of the arrangement.

Crepe paper streamers of yellow and green were down the center of each table and all tables were candlelight. Little twigs were wrapped in red cellophane to depict burning logs and arranged between each candle.

Program folders, which also served as place cards were brown construction paper, decorated with bows and arrows made of pipe cleaners and glittered. Nut cups were made as cones and filled with Krazy Korn and corn candy.

A colorful Indian blanket was draped across the top of the piano and a campfire scene with the "boiling kettle" hanging above the fire. A large beautiful Totem Pole stood in another corner and a large Tee-Pee gaily decorated stood in another corner of the banquet hall. A large baby doll was hung, papoose style on a cradleboard on one wall and on another wall hung a large Indian spear. Master of ceremonies was Ward Shamblin. Neal Shepherd, church pastor, led the "Thanks to the Great Father."

Menu consisted of food with Indian names and was served by members of the WMS. Welcome was given by Mrs. L. L. Ward and Richard Aills gave response. Mrs. Carroll Murphree, Young People Training Union Director and Rev. Shepherd recognized 6 girls and 2 boys who were 100 percent in all services at the Hillcrest Church during the past 5 weeks. They were Ellen Hariman, Carolyn Shepherd, Geneva Ward, Judy Ward, Katy Paske, Donna Murphree, Freddie Aills and Richard Aills. Names were drawn from two groups and Bro. Shepherd placed Indian head bands and feathers on Chief Richard Aills and Princess Katy Paske.

Tribal chants were sung by the group, led by Carolyn Cooper and Richard Johnston read the "Indians 23rd Psalm." Judy Ward and Donna Murphree sang "Indian Love Call", accompanied by Carolyn Shepherd. "Big Chief" Rev. Gerald Tidwell, pastor of McCaulley Baptist Church gave a very challenging message. Mrs. Tidwell was present also and L. L. Ward, Student Training Union leader said the benediction.

INSTITUTE OFFERS BIG HOMES LIKE THESE

Ready to live in for less than you'd pay for "shell" alone

Affiliated with some of the major manufacturers of building materials and the world's largest finance company, The Institute For Essential Housing can actually finance a completely finished house for less than you'd pay per month for a "shell" alone.

FOR AS LITTLE AS
PER MONTH

The Institute is the only organization that offers houses in various stages of completion. Typical: the "basic" or "shell" stage; the "basic plus materials package" stage; the "ready-to-live-in" stage and the "finished" stage in which the house is completely finished and decorated. These big homes are built from the ground up by skilled local craftsmen on your own land . . . on farm land, rural site or lake side. And no down payment if you own your own land.

Texas HE Assn. To Meet In Dallas

The program for the annual meeting of the Texas Home Economics Association in Dallas, Feb. 16 and 17, will be developed around the general theme, "Professionally Yours."

Approximately 400 home economist in extension, homemaking, business and related fields are expected to attend sessions in the Adolphus Hotel, according to Louise Mason, president of THEA and extension foods and nutrition specialist. Attending from Fisher County will be Alice Kemp, County Home Demonstration Agent.

First general session of the two-day meeting will open at 10 a. m. Feb. 16 and will be highlighted by an address by Mrs. Florence Low, president-elect of the American Home Economics Association and assistant director for home economics with the Extension Service. "Blueprint for Progress, AHEA-THEA" will be the subject of Mrs. Low's talk.

Registration will take place the evening of Feb. 15 and the following morning from 8 til 10 a. m. The association's executive council also will meet Feb. 15.

Miss Mason will preside at the business meeting of THEA which will follow Mrs. Low's address.

Featured speakers for the Friday general sessions also will include Bill Moyers, associate director, Peace Corps, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Eugene R. Been, economist, Sperry and Hutchinson Co.; and George McKinney, rural development specialist, Texas Power and Light Co. Banquet speaker Friday night will be Charles H. Rutledge, manager, special services, DuPont Co. The "home economist of the year" will be presented at the banquet.

Saturday speakers will include Dr. Ivan E. Danhof, professor, department of physiology, Southwestern Medical School, Dallas; Dr. Gladys Brown, clinical physiologist, Dallas, and Dr. H. Guy Moore, pastor of Fort Worth's Broadway Baptist Church, who will address the closing luncheon session Saturday.

If people would intelligently give what they foolishly spend there would be no social problems in the United States.

Electric Automobiles Show Promise

From 1928 until 1961, there were no electrically driven automobiles on the market. There is one electric car on the market today, and it is known as the Henney, offered by the National Union Electric Corporation, at about $3650. The range in speed of this vehicle is limited, but it is cheaper to run -- less than a cent a mile. Electricians make good taxis or commuter cars. They go only about forty miles an hour, but they have few moving parts and, consequently, service charges are low.

It is interesting to note that in 1898, an electric car held the world's first official land speed record of approximately forty miles per hour. A year later, the record was raised to about sixty-five miles an hour -- again it was an electric automobile. Three years later, an electric car raced at the unheard speed of one hundred and twenty miles per hour, but electric automobiles have done nothing so spectacular since that time.

There is some speculation that electric cars may return in force. An Englishman by the name of F. T. Bacon has invented a remarkably new power source called the fuel cell.

According to N. W. Purdy, writing in the Atlantic Monthly, it is possible that the fuel cell may bring us an electric automobile in the near future with a range of up to five hundred miles and speed of up to seventy miles per hour.

Mrs. W. F. Edwards Sr., returned this week after a visit in Lubbock with Major and Mrs. A. H. Nelson and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hill and family in Odessa.

Homeowning Can Be Hazardous Too!

The racing car driver knows the hazards of his profession because his life depends on it.

But too often the homeowner may not be fully aware of the hazards he faces—an overloaded circuit, a careless match, or a spark from a neighbor's burning trash, could leave his home in ruins.

A tornado or explosion could wipe out his home and property.

Put your mind at ease today. Call an expert who knows ALL the hazards of homeowning. Call your local Capital Stock agent for a thorough analysis of your property insurance needs.

Here's what QUALITY has done!

At last count there were 1,499,927 Chevrolet trucks over 10 years old still working—424,381 more than any other make.

1962 CHEVROLET JOBMASER TRUCKS

built better...work longer!

When Chevrolet builds a truck, it builds a quality truck. This policy makes sense. Chevrolet trucks work a long time . . . cost less than many other makes to operate and maintain over the years . . . consistently bring a higher trade-in price . . . and, as a result, are bought by more people.

We invite you to come in and examine this quality closely and to take a 1962 demonstrator out for a good long test drive. Note the cab comfort, the good visibility, the smooth ride, the solid feel of its quality. Compare Chevrolet truck features with those of other makes. Then decide which are your wisest investment. We're sure it will be Chevrolet's.

Note how this Chevrolet cab roof is made of two sheets of metal, instead of one, with a layer of felt in between as insulation against cold, heat and noise.

A Chevrolet truck tailgate is sturdier because it has double-wall construction and strong steel chains in tough rubber casing to support it.

Quality independent front suspension fights road shock more effectively than other types—provides more protection for the truck, load and driver.

The standard 235-cu.-in. 6-cylinder Chevrolet truck engine has worked more miles than any other. There are nine more engines to choose from.
