

Former Kent Co. Man Dies At Oklahoma City

Funeral service for Virgil Clarence Gee Sr., was held in Oklahoma City. He was born June 28, 1898 in Winters, Texas and passed away Feb. 17, 1962 at his home in Oklahoma City. He was a member of the Free Methodist Church and YMCA and church groups, also an active worker with Camp Fire girls and Girl Scouts. Mr. Gee suffered for many years of asthmatic condition, later diagnosed as emphysema. Since 1942 he had been in school bus contracting business, servicing Oklahoma City school and vicinity.

Mr. Gee was son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gee. They moved to Kent County in the ABC community, 17 miles southwest of Jayton when Virgil was a small boy. He attended the ABC school and Betan High School, joining the Navy in WWI. He and Vivian L. Kingery were married in Jayton and moved to Oklahoma City, where they resided until his death.

Survivors are the wife, one son, Virgil Clarence Jr., of the home; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy J. Rathbun, Oklahoma City, three grandchildren; three sisters three nephews and two nieces. His parents and two brothers preceded him in death, being buried at Claremont.

Laundry Costs

Alice Kemp, Co. HD Agent

As a homemaker, have you wondered whether you should buy laundry equipment or use coin operated equipment at washaterias?

Alice Kemp, County Home Demonstration Agent, reminds that an important factor for good laundering is plenty of good, hot water. "The softer the water, the better the job," she says.

So if the water is hard and you cannot install a water softener, it may be wise to use the public equipment. Regardless of whether you do your laundering at home or at a washateria, you will have the expense of laundry aids.

Some points which may help homemakers make a decision, have been outlined by Miss Kemp. Results of the research follow.

In determining the estimated cost of wanting a automatic washer, the average cost was set at $225; anticipated life of washer, 10 years; average total service and repair costs, $52; and estimated average loads washed per week, 7.1 loads. The average cost per load of clothes washed at home, from the standpoint of equipment and utilities, totaled about 14 cents a load. This included an estimated of .061 cents for equipment, and .014 cents for equipment service, or a total of .075; plus for utilities, .010 for water, .0025 for electricity, and .030 for heating the water, or a total of .065 for the utilities.

The average cost per load of clothes at a washateria was figured at 20 cents service per load, plus a transportation cost of .08 cents a mile.

Other points to be considered by the homemaker are poor planning so that other things can be done while the clothes are washing, and could the time spent at the washateria be better used at home? In some instances, the lifting and carrying of the wet clothes can be quite difficult. So the number of loads to be washed each week, and the amount of clothing on hand may be other determining factors.

A FORM OF GOVERNMENT THAT GROWS

I notice there is still a few old fuddy duddys who are still holding out to keep our 2 party system. People like old Tom Anderson, Barry Goldwater and even our good friend, Mr. Cecil Lotief. Now if it was possible we could rid the country of people who think along this line and have just one party we could elect our leader for life and they could put all their family in top jobs and in a very short time we could have an ideal government just as good as the people enjoy in Communist Russia, and not have to fool around with the kind of life we have enjoyed for the last 150 years. Nobody would have to work or pay taxes, 'Oh, what a Utopia.'

Hub Cole.

County Agricultural Agent
Texas A. & M. College
Extension Service

Each dollar spent for the proper kinds and amounts of fertilizer for use on pastures and meadows will return from 2-10 depending on the crop, moisture and management, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

A soil test is the best guide for determining how much and what kind of fertilizer to use. Three major reasons for using fertilizers: to maintain and increase production; improve forage quality and make efficient use of water.

On irrigated Coastal Bermuda at College Station, Trew said 17.5 inches of water was required to produce a ton of forage when no nitrogen was applied. An application of 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre increased the yield from 2.5 to 4.5 tons an acre and only 10.5 inches of water per ton was required. When 400 pounds of nitrogen was used, the production climbed to 8.5 tons an acre with only 5.5 inches of water required to produce a ton of forage.

He suggests that fertilizers be applied to temporary pastures—summer or winter—at planting time followed by top dressings with nitrogen after the pastures are grazed down if more growth is desired and moisture is available.

For permanent grass pastures, he says to fertilize with nitrogen and phosphorus plus whatever else is needed in the spring about the time grass begins to grow. Nitrogen topdressings are recommended throughout the growing season—after each time the grass is grazed down, if more growth is needed and moisture is available.

Laying hens need a starter, developer and finisher type ration during the production period. At least that's what research conducted recently at Texas A&M College indicates.

At the beginning of the laying period the test birds were fed an 18 percent protein ration, which was gradually reduced as the production period progressed. This practice increased early egg size rapidly and reduced the size late in the laying period when the eggs were of sufficient size to bring optimum price. By following this practice, the researchers also maintained rate of production and feed efficiency at a comparatively high level.

This study also showed that starting birds on the higher protein level and gradually lowering the level as the laying period progresses results in a lower feed cost per dozen 24-ounce eggs. During the tests, feed cost per dozen 24 ounce eggs was lowered to 10.64 cents.

The study indicates that much research remains to determine the exact composition of the diets that will give maximum performance at minimum cost for a given kind of bird in a specific environment.

Here's a reminder to all you grain sorghum producers. March 31 is the deadline date for declaring intent to comply with the Feed Grain Program at the county ASCS office. This notice must be given in writing.

Your county ASCS office personnel can give all the details on the program and the alternatives from which you may choose. Drop by and discuss the matter with them.

Also, we have some sample budget forms that are useful in figuring the possible effects of the program on your net farm income. With these you can figure how the alternative decisions followed may influence net profit from grain on your farm.

These important events coming up might be of interest to some of you interested in beef or swine:

March 29—Beef Cattle Field Day, Substation No. 23, McGregor.

April 2-3—Swine Short Course, College Station.

April 10—Cattle Feeders Day, Substation No. 7, Spur.

Good year-round management can help homeowners have that beautiful lawn. Ted Trew, extension pasture specialist, says it's about time to give the lawn an application of fertilizer. Do it when the lawn grass begins to grow. He suggests a soil test to determine what kind and amounts of plant food are needed. Bulletin No. 203, Home Lawns, is a very good covering all phases of lawn management and is available at our office.

Week after week carefully tabulated figures published in "Automotive Market Reports" show that Chevrolet trucks are worth more in resale value.

why?

If you were a professional used truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?

There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

1. A greater demand for the product

2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them—double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

See your Chevrolet dealer for a quality '62 Chevrolet Jobmaster truck.

"Automotive Market Reports" is a weekly authoritative wholesale publication which reports the average prices paid for used trucks and cars by professional buyers at auctions all over the U.S.

Christian Science Service Sunday

The healing power of scientific prayer will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scripture readings in the Lesson Sermon entitled "Matter" will include an account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the lunatic boy, together with his reply to the disciples who asked him why they could not heal him (Matthew 17):

"And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you. Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (p. 1): "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God-- a spiritual understanding of Him, an unselfed love."

On March 12, 1962, approximately 3 1-2 million girls and adult members of Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. celebrated the 50th anniversary of the organization. Juliette Low established the first troop of 12 girls on March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Georgia. She brought from England the principles of Scouting as set forth by Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Scouting movement, and adapted them to the needs of girls in the United States. Since 1912, almost 18 1-2 million girls, women and men have belonged to the Girl Scouts. They carry on their program in every state of the Union, in its possessions and in 49 other countries where American families live. The program itself, according to Mrs. Charles U. Culmer of Libertyville, Illinois, Girl Scout National President, has expanded and changed to keep pace with our changing times. "The basic purpose of Girl Scouting, however, has remained the same," Mrs. Culmer added. "It is to inspire girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism, and service that they may become happy and resourceful citizens." Girl Scouting is part of an international movement. In many other countries, Girl Scouts are called Girl Guides. The Girl Scouts and Girl Guides are linked through membership in the 51-nation World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. GIRL SCOUTING IN THE WEST TEXAS COUNCIL The West Texas Girl Scout Council was chartered in 1946 with Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. Scouting had existed earlier in this area; but these

Lone Troops with no affiliation any council. Lone Troops register and receive information direct from the National Headquarters in New York City; there is no professional help available directly to them as there is for troops under council's jurisdiction. Neither is there available the use of such facilities as an established camp or Official Equipment Agency. The existence of a Lone Troop is a lonely one indeed! The council's jurisdiction was defined by the original charter of 13 West Texas counties; Taylor, Jones, Nolan, Scurry, Coke, Fritch, Mitchell, Sterling, Glasscock, Ward, Borden, Dawson, and Mitchell. This has remained unchanged since January of this year, 1962, when the Council Delegates voted to add 3 counties to the north--Haskell, Stonewall, and Kent--which previously had been in no council. The only organized Girl Scout Troop in these additional counties was in Haskell, which had 6 Lone Troops established in the summer of 1958. Professional service, Leadership training, and similar advancement will now be available to these troops because of their entrance into the council. The first year after the West Texas Council was chartered, membership was a total of 56 Brownie Troops, 59 Intermediate Troops, and 8 Senior Troops--totaling 503 adults registered to serve as leaders, co-leaders, committee members, board members, and board committee members. Since that time the membership Scouts participate in the Day Camps near their home each summer. Brownie Scouts may attend Day Camp, which lasts from six to eight hours a day for five or six days. The girls go to the campsite in the morning and return to their homes in the evening, so it is not a resident-type camp. All Scouts may attend Day Camp, but many Brownie Scouts have their very first experience in camping in their local Day Camps.

The Driver's Seat

Woman drivers have borne the brunt of many heated conversations, cartoons and jokes. However there probably is much truth to these stories when you consider the little driving practice women get.

Many women drive as seldom as a few times a month, usually because their husbands take the family car during the day and then drive the family wherever they are going at night. The only time many women get an opportunity to drive is to an occasional club meeting or on a night out with the girls.

Some women may have the car during the day, but their driving practice is limited to taking the children to school, visiting the local shopping center or running errands in their own neighborhoods. All their driving practice is limited to daylight driving in an area well known to them.

It isn't any wonder that these women are unsure of their driving ability and make mistakes when they drive at night or in unfamiliar areas.

In order for a woman to become a better driver at night, she should learn to depend on signs rather than the familiar landmarks she uses during the day. Because many road signs are reflective and can be seen for long distances at night, the woman who chooses routes with these highly visible signs to guide her will have little trouble.

A woman who drives infrequently at night should familiarize herself with special night driving regulations such as the reduced speed limits in some states.

She should also exercise more caution when passing other cars at night because the entire outline of an oncoming car cannot be seen and she will have to judge its distance from her only by the distance of the car's headlights.

Red Cross Has Many Training Courses

Efforts of the Red Cross to provide instruction in first aid, swimming and lifesaving, and small craft safety to Texas families resulted in a total of 140,409 residents receiving instruction in these courses during the past year. A report released this week in St. Louis by Phillip Schenkenberg, manager, Midwestern Area Office, also noted that 149 residents have been awarded Certificates of Merit for applying Red Cross safety training to the saving of human life since the program was established over 50 years ago.

Schenkenberg said that renewed emphasis was given to first aid training among industrial workers, police, firemen, youth, families and community groups, and efforts to widen public knowledge of the simple and effective mouth-to-mouth resuscitation method were continued both in formal courses and through news media. Formal first aid training was completed by 57,779 persons.

In the field of water safety, Texas Red Cross chapters offered parents a home instruction course, Teaching Johnny to Swim, for their children and focused attention on using the rapidly growing number of farm ponds and residential pools to teach the safe use of these facilities. Throughout the state, 73,678 residents also received certificates for completing swimming classes, and 12,272 successfully completed formal instruction in lifesaving.

As part of the national emphasis in physical fitness the Red Cross has initiated the new swim and stay fit program, designed to encourage regular and frequent swimming. The ultimate goal for participants is to swim 50 miles, accumulated in segments of one quarter mile, with certificates issued for each 10 miles covered. The program has met with great success. Throughout the nation, many have already completed 50 miles and are working toward additional awards, proving that with the proper incentive, swimming can be not only good recreation but also an important factor in total physical fitness program.

The increasing need for safety training in the use of small boats also received the attention of local chapters, and 582 Red Cross certificates were issued to persons completing these courses. The need for education in the safe use of small craft is so great that, with more than 40 million boating enthusiasts throughout the country, Red Cross is placing emphasis on this program.

In addition to the individuals who received formal instruction in these Red Cross safety courses, Schenkenberg indicated that more than 240,717 were given some kind of informal first aid, water safety, or small craft safety instruction through demonstrations, film showings and educational talks.

These essential programs depend upon voluntary contributions of funds, Schenkenberg said, and it is vital that the 1962 campaign goal be met in order that such services may continue for safety's sake in Texas.

What's in it for ME?

"I'm not a member of an electric cooperative. I don't use their electricity. They don't serve my town. What do they mean to me?"

They mean a great deal to you my friend. Their member-owners buy one billion dollars worth of appliances every year from home town merchants like yourself. The nation's rural electric systems provide a broader industrial base for national security. They provide jobs in rural areas. They create a healthier, happier community. They make farming, ranching, dairying and other rural pursuits more efficient. In short the nation's rural electrics are good for everybody.

It's value that puts Valiant on the best-seller list!

Make book on it.

What follows is fact—not fiction—and no names have been changed to protect anybody.

Chapter I starts with style. It asks who is the only compact ever to receive the Society of Illustrators' award for design excellence. Answer: The Valiant Signet 200—America's lowest-priced hardtop with bucket seats—that's who! Read on...

Chapter II talks about performance. The Valiant can, and has, run circles around every competitively priced compact, including the Falcon, Corvair and Lark.

All of which leads many to suspect they know the plot—Valiant is priced with the so-called "super-compacts." Not so, reveals the surprise ending in Chapter III. Valiant is priced competitively, model for model, with Falcon, Corvair, Rambler and Lark.

Why not drive one this week? Could be you'll want to join those 347,000 folks for whom Valiant's a kind of love story that is continued every month. The title of our story: NOBODY BEATS VALIANT FOR VALUE!
