LUEDERS ENCAMPMENT DATE SET FOR JULY 16TH TO 26TH

Ahlene, is chairman of the board of directors.

The objective of the Lueders Baptist encampment has always been to foster denominational work, to promote Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. interests, to train in essential church activities to help in spiritual knowledge, to instruct in Baptist doctrine and history, and to enlist in all forms of missionary endeavor through existing denominational organizations.

Buildings Erected

The buildings which are at present located on the encampment grounds have been erected as money was available. The first year tents housed the worshipers and the preaching was done under a large tent. There were no permanent buildings until 1924 when the business office was built. This was followed the next year by the mammoth tabernacle, which has dressing rooms on both sides and includes a book store. Six teaching pavilions were also erected that year. In 1926 the little town of Rochester, whose entire population is probably not more than 1,500 erected seven or eight cottages to be used by its citizens during the encampment. This practice is being followed by citizens during the encampment and erect buildings on them, which can be used at any time during the year, but which are always full during the annual religious encampment. In 1926 a Teachers Home and Keepers Cottage in which an attendant lives on the grounds the year around were constructed. In 1928 a two-story 36-foot square building designated as the Young Women's Auxiliary Hut was built. This building is modern and has 30 screened windows with shutters.

Farm News

By W. M. FREE
Field Editor

Wednesday, March 20th

This date finds us still working on the Route 2 farm out of the progressive city of Rochester. The farmers in the section around are very prosperous and thrifty. Most of them have their feed grown from last year's crops and are beginning the year of 1929 with much zeal and determination.

B. M. Hicks

Prosperity with the farmer in most cases brings happiness and contentment. This should be true with all classes of people. There is no greater thing for man than to have plenty of work and have the strength and means to do it. The real progress of a home is where the man and wife pull together. We find this to be manifested in the home of our friend and reader B. M. Hicks. He has not undertaken to cultivate more land than he has teams and tools to handle, but has just enough crop to cultivate thoroughly under the most adverse circumstances should they arise. He is well up with his breaking and is ready to plant his feed crop when the season gets here. He has good teams, good tools, and by the way he has some of the best Holstein cows in the country. The kind that give at least 5 gallons or more of milk per day and he does not have to buy butter as some folks think about the Holstein cows. Mrs. Hicks is a progressive poultry woman. Last year she sold more than $500.00 worth of baby chicks from her fine Buff Minors flock and this year she has sold more than $200.00 worth of the same. She is just opening up good. If Mack needs any money we are sure he does not have to go to the bank if he has a good rating with Mrs. Hicks. She will soon be in the banking business if she keeps this record up. We enjoyed our visit with this family, and Mr. Hicks renewed for the Free Press while in his home.

H. G. Newberry

To be a good tenant farmer is just as honorable as to own land, but of course a fellow does not feel that security that the home owner feels, but this is the way that thousands of our home owners began life and through good management and close work they reached their goal. This is the plan of H. G. Newberry a young tenant farmer on the Mrs. R. C. Stanfield farm. He and his wife are working hard farming, raising chickens, milking cows and selling eggs and cream to help out the family expenses. Mr. Newberry has hope for next year plenty of feed for his stock and the 75 red hens in which Mrs. Newberry takes as much pride as a mother in her children. Mr. Newberry was busy in the field or had gone some where and we failed to meet him.

J. E. Moore

There is no guessing with J. E. Moore when it comes to farming. He knows his job in this occupation. He has been on the job a long time. He has confidence in the fertile soil of mother earth, and he is not afraid to put both money and sweat into the project of tilling the ground for his means of support and profit. He with some hired help will cultivate this farm of 100 acres and see that nothing grows there but the things he plants. He has all his ground flat broken for this year's crop and when seed time comes he expects to put the seed in the ground in tip-top condition. He made a good crop on his farm last year and has plenty of feed for his teams until his 1929 feed crop is harvested. He was remodeling his hen house and was making it a comfortable habitation for 50 select White Wyandotte hens which Mrs. Moore is looking after in person. These hens are paying their way and keeping their master reimbursed for all favors. She sold 24 hens a few days ago for $27.00 and she also has a fine bunch of young birds for next year's layers. Mr. Moore has a photograph and he enjoys music made by the artists of the United States and he is able to sweeten his life with music and song when his days work is done. We enjoyed our visit with these folks. We took a look at the yard which will be in a few weeks a flower garden of rich colors and sweetest fragrance.

G. A. Riddle

For the first time we visited the home of G. A. Riddle who with his family recently moved from De Leon in Comanche County to one of the Webb farms near New Mid. He will cultivate 175 acres of fine sandy land from which with good seasons he can make a bountiful crop and in a few years he will be able to buy a farm in this, the best county in the west. Mr. Riddle was busy with his farm work and is almost ready for planting. Mrs. Riddle's father, W. T. Henderson was visiting them. He is a fine old gentleman and has been blessed with ripe old age and enjoys good health.

Lee Jones

After living two years in Haskell and working for wages Lee Jones moved on Rochester, Route 2 to one of Joe Hester's good farms and farmed last year. He made a fine crop. He has plenty of meat and lard and made plenty of feed for this year and 38 bales of cotton for a money crop. Mrs. Jones has 38 hens and is planning to raise a nice flock of chickens for next year. Some of these days Mr. and Mrs. Jones if they keep working and saving will own a good home.

J. H. Goble

When you see try the many opportunities Haskell county has to offer, you seldom move away from here until you are able to buy land and move onto it. That is about the only way we ever lose a good citizen. He seldom goes other places to be a tenant farmer. Some farmers have come to Haskell county and made a stake to go some where else and buy homes, but many of them make the purchase here. J. H. Goble is making the effort to be a real home owner in the near future. He is a good farmer and there is nothing in the way of success. The family was away from home when we called but from the things we observed we make the prediction.

G. A. Hancock

Planting half feed and half cotton on the farm is the motto of G. A. Hancock who is running a 2 row outfit of planters and cultivators on his brother Ben Hancock's farm. Is he prosperous? Of course he is. If you could have seen the good teams which was hooked to his plow the barn full of feed, the chickens scratching on the barn yard, the cows roaming over the pasture you would have been enthused as we were. Making almost a living selling eggs from a fine flock of Rhode Island Red and Buff Leghorn hens with the cream can making its weekly trips to market is the plan of Mr. Hancock and selling the surplus cotton grown for a profit. He is not worrying about conditions. He is happy and contented. He is giving his children an opportunity by sending them to the splendid school at Rochester.

Earnest Griffith

Making a living is not the worry of Earnest Griffith a good farmer whom we called upon. He was in the field plowing getting ready to plant his crop of feed and cotton in due time. This family always makes feed if there is any made in the county. They make good corn, and it is said that last year this farm made some of the best corn in the county planted in late June or early July. They have plenty of meat and lard home grown. The children are going to the Rochester schools.

W. A. Cameron

The man who won first prize at the Haskell County Fair last year on

"Golden Beauty Corn" was none other than W. A. Cameron who is this year being on the Ballard farm which is one of the best 100 acre tracts of land in the county. Mr. Cameron is not only a good corn farmer, but last year he made 38 bales of cotton on 15 acres of land. He was reared in Stonewall, Jones and Haskell Counties and is fully acclimated to the west and knows how to farm in this section. He is running a one row outfit from choice. He has two full blood Poland China Pigs and last year he made plenty of treat to do him. He keeps a good cow and plenty of Red chickens. One of these days Mr. Cameron will own his own farm. He is headed that way and he is sure to make the landing with his excellent plan and good management. There is a good orchard on the farm where he lives and one thing worthy of mention is 4 of the largest apricot trees in the county with a wonderful record for bearing fruit almost every year.

T. J. Martin

Just starting out in life and farming on the Mrs. Dudley Hamilton place we found T. J. Martin. He was away from home at the time we called, but Mrs. Martin was very busy with her yards in making them look tidy and clean. He moved from Llano county about the first of the new year and has been transplanted in the best section of West Texas. He will work a crop with his father-in-law J. H. Goble this year. We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Martin to a home in Haskell county and if Llano county has any more good citizens like these to give us we will make room for them.

J. W. Faulkner

Just before the sun had gone down we reached the home of J. W. Faulkner a reader of the Haskell Free Press and a good farmer. He is a tenant farmer on a large place but owns some good land on the south plains, which he has rented out. He was getting his land ready for the seed to be put in the ground when the spring bursts forth with its warm days and showers. He is growing what he calls High Land Special cotton seed, better known as Half and Half. He ships lots of cotton seed of this variety to other parts of the country. He makes an effort to grow the best. He was away from home on business at the usual hog killing time and came home and killed three fine hogs weighing more than 300 pounds each about the middle of March, put the meat up by the sugar cured method and he says he never had meat so do better in his life. This seems to be a wonderful method among the farmers this year and all of them have had fine success. He is milking three good Jersey cows and they have lots of chickens and turkeys. They are living at home.

J. E. Adams

We drove by the field where Jess Adams was laying off rows with a two row outfit and he was doing a good job. He says he is in no rush about plowing up his sandy farm until he gets a big rain. He says he has plenty of moisture to bring up crops, but he just wants that big rain before he plants his feed. He made enough feed last year to do him two years and has it stacked in his feed lots. He has plenty of chickens cows and hogs. He brings something to town to sell every time he comes. He gets his mail from Route One, but his farm touches Rochester Route two. More next week.

Mr. Duncan will be connected with his father, W. A. Duncan, in the Duncan Gin Co. A wide circle of interested friends wish for the happy couple every prosperity and happiness in the future. ## With the Churches.

Last Easter Sunday, March 31st, was a banner day with most of the Sunday Schools of the city. Especially was this true of the Methodist Sunday School. Special efforts have been put forth for the last few weeks to increase the attendance from Sabbath to Sabbath until Easter, when the number was a record-breaker. There were present in all classes, 523. Several classes were taught in the parsonage and one class went to the sidewalk and overflowed into the street. It was unanimously voted that the new annex now under construction is badly needed. At the eleven o'clock hour there were five adults who joined the church.

All the churches were beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and large congregations heard the Easter Story in each of these places of worship. The Christian Church had one hundred and forty-three present for Sabbath school and there were two additions to the church. The Baptist Sunday School did not have on a special drive, only a friendly rivalry between two of the classes, and their attendance was 426. The Presbyterian Church reports 83 present at the Sunday School. There has been no accurate report on The Assembly of God Church, the Church of Christ, nor on the church for colored folks, but we believe the attendance upon these will easily swell the number to more than fifteen hundred.

Messrs. and Mesdames, C. R. Cook and Huey Cook and Huey Cook Jr. were in Albany last Wednesday attending court. They were accompanied home by Mr. L. K. Cook who visited them a few days of this week.

W. E. Stanford of Roberts was in the city Saturday and stated that he would plant his maize crop next week if the weather remained good.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Park of the Myers community were shopping in Haskell Saturday. F. W. Park of Flivanna, a brother of Mr. Park, is visiting him and was also in the city Saturday.

Mrs. Joe Free of the Pleasant Valley community is now in Phoenix, Ariz., visiting her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle West.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Adams of the Foster community were in the city Saturday shopping.

"Spring Trips North Again This Year..."

Spring is generally regarded as a time of repairing and re-stocking. Spring housecleaning is the housewife's inventory of her household needs—and there are always roofs to be repaired and fences to be fixed.

Perhaps that's the reason spring has come to be regarded as the biggest merchandising season of the year. The merchants recognize it as such, and their stocks are never better or more complete than in the spring.

Right now here in Haskell the store windows are reflecting the new merchandise for spring. And by simply passing through the front door into our business houses, you can see that the windows are only a reflection of the complete stock.

A visit to our stores will convince you that Haskell merchants have stocked everything for your needs.

Plan to spend a day just visiting the stores here in Haskell and looking over the new spring merchandise. It will be worth your while.

"BUY IT IN HASKELL"

SUFFERS 20 YEARS; THEN FINDS HEALTH

"I suffered from inactive liver for twenty years and about three years ago I became so terribly rundown I could not attend to my household duties without stopping to rest.

MRS JULIA OAK

"I would have such severe pains in my stomach after meals that I would have to run for the soda box. Dieting did not help me, and even the best medicines I could buy did not reach my case.

"But Sargon went right to the root of my trouble without losing a minute's time. I never saw anything like it. I felt better from the very first dose, and now I eat anything I want without any ill effects. I am not the least bit nervous and I feel so well and strong that even after I get through with my housework I want to be up and on the go.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills completely overcame my liver trouble and constipation. They act so gently that they did not upset my system or make me the least bit sick.

"I know from experience that the Sargon treatment will end stomach and liver complaints. I feel just like I have been made all over like new, and I want all my friends to know what this grand medicine will do."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Julia Oak, well known and highly esteemed resident of R. F. D. 1 Box 157, San Antonio, whose motherly kindness has endeared her to hundreds of friends throughout her community.

Sargon may be obtained in Haskell from the Gates Drug Store.

RUPTURE SHIELD Expert Coming to ABILENE

ON MONDAY AND TUESDAY APRIL 15 AND 16

At GRACE HOTEL From 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Evenings by Telephone Appointment Only

TWO DAYS ONLY

No Charge for Consultation

Mr. C. F. Redlich, the successful expert says:

The "Perfect Retention Shields" hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief, contract the opening in a remarkably short time and strengthen the weak tissues (the real cause of rupture) so that they frequently recover their previous natural retaining power, needing no further outside support. Stomach trouble, backache and constipation often caused by Rupture promptly disappear.

Truly remarkable and prompt results have been obtained not only with recent and not fully developed ruptures but with old, long neglected ones.

Ingenious, recently perfected devices are now holding ruptures firmly which heretofore never had been retained.

No elastic belts nor filthy legstraps are used.

I guarantee to hold the rupture and also the durability of my absolutely sweat and moisture proof, sanitary appliances.

75 per cent of ruptured children recover completely through expert mechanical treatment according to statistics.

Do not waste your money on widely advertised mail order contraptions. You cannot fit yourself.

C. F. REDLICH, Rupture Appliance Expert, Home office, 535 Boston Block, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

PAINS In Side and Back

"I HAD BEEN miserable for a long time. My health was poor, and I suffered a lot from weakness. At times, my strength was so little that I could not stand on my feet. I would have to give up and go to bed. My sides and back hurt dreadfully.

"I grew discouraged, for I could do so little. I worried about myself, and almost gave up hope of ever being strong and well. I could scarcely lift a bucket of water. My house work went undone, for I was not strong enough to do it.

"After I had taken Cardui for a little while, I began to feel better. I grew stronger, soon found that I could do my work with less effort, and the pains in my back and sides left me. I think Cardui is a wonderful medicine. My health has been excellent since then."—Mrs. D. L. Beckner, W. Main St., Salem, Va.

Wichita Falls Man Gains Seven Pounds On Orgatone and Strength and Energy Returns

"I've gained seven pounds on Orgatone already and feel better than I have in two years," said J. W. Beasley, a well known painter and paperhanger residing at 506 Adams St., Wichita Falls, Texas, in a conversation with the Orgatone Representative.

"I was bothered almost constantly with my stomach for about two years," Mr. Beasley continued, "and I would have severe sick headaches almost all the time. Sometimes I could hardly bear to stand up. I suffered so, and even when I would lie down it didn't seem like I could get any relief. I felt dull and listless and without any strength or energy and I was so racked by the pain that I kept on falling off in weight and my nerves started going to pieces so that I couldn't sleep hardly any. Then on top of all these troubles I suffered from gas formation, which just made life miserable for me and no matter what I did or what treatments I took, nothing seemed to do me any good, but I just kept going down hill and getting worse from day to day."

"I read a lot of statements in the papers about Orgatone from Wichita Falls people that I knew or had heard of and some of them described their troubles just like mine, so I decided to try the medicine, too. Well, sir, it did me a lot more good than I ever hoped it would. After the first few doses my stomach eased so I could eat without suffering afterwards and I began feeling better every day. The pain stopped and my nerves didn't seem to be on edge like they had been and I could sleep in peace once more. I have just finished my first bottle and I can truthfully say I am feeling one hundred percent better and I have gained seven pounds in weight and my strength and energy is coming back and I feel fine—like life is worth living again. All those pains in my head, which I have been trying to get rid of for two long years, are gone and my stomach seems all right now. It didn't take me long to see that Orgatone was the right medicine and was just the thing I had been looking for all the time and I am always ready to pass the good word on and let others know what Orgatone will do."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Haskell from the Oates Drug Store. (Advertisement)

A Great Discovery
When Pasteur discovered, in 1882, that the infection of wounds was caused by malignant bacteria, he performed a service of inestimable value to mankind. Since then medical science has been producing better and better antiseptics to kill these germs that may enter the smallest cut and give us diseases such as typhoid, tuberculosis and lockjaw. Now, all you have to do to be sure that these dreadful germs will not infect a wound, is to wash that wound, how ever small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the modern antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone, in a dose to fit your needs and purse, from Reid's Drug Store or Payne Drug Co.

WANTED

Twenty-four new pupils are wanted in the Baptist Sunday School for next Sunday. This number will increase our attendance to 450. We are not seeking after a mushroom growth, but are building permanently. The fact is worthy of notice that a year ago last Sunday, there were 403 in Sunday school and last Sunday there were 426. This permanent work is worthy of your consideration.

The Children of the Kingdom Cast Into Outer Darkness

Many tests come to us in life that prove the strength of our character. Regardless of the temptation it always pays to be a man. In the Sunday evening service we will deal with a man who refused to sell out.

Special Music and Vocal Selections at Both Services

LORRAINE had climbed the granary without a thought of trouble. Her pet Brahmin had stolen a nest somewhere and since Lorraine had searched all the likely places, she had turned to the unlikely. The ventilators were too high for chicken flights—especially for the short-winged, heavy-bodied.

Adventurously climbing the ladder by whose help the high openings were shut, she saw, amased, upon a few loose boards, and a handful, no more, of bright straw, seven beautiful big eggs, white at first view but pinkish when you studied them. Clean out of reach unless you took chances. The boards lay loosely upon the wind frame, so might tip if one strained to reach.

A swift thought set her laughing. If she fell, the clean wheat beneath below would save her bones, but what a mess the breaking eggs would make of it! And dad, so proud of it—its bright color, its weight and lumpiness, its uniformity, scarcely a seed to a bushel. Already he had sent samples to the state fair which opened next week, and chary as he was of jiltings and outings, she had almost a certainty that he would go himself and take her with him. He wouldn't think of it, though, if she spoiled more than a handful of the wheat.

But she wanted her prize eggs. Lorraine's neck ought to be wrung for what she had done—only one does not wring necks of feathered folk that winter.

By crawling lightly across the wind-frames, Lorraine reached the insecure nest and gathered all seven eggs. Her heart beating with excitement, she thought, "What can I do with them. Then the sleeves of her blouse flashed across her consciousness. Carefully she swiftly she stripped it off, knotted the sleeves together at the ends, weighted them as equally as the number seven made possible, slung the improvised carrier over her back, and began a slow and cautious descent, followed by a merry: "Don't shoot—"

"Nothing worse than a wheat buyer coming up to see the wonder crop all the neighbors have been bragging about."

"Better not! It's three dollars a bushel just to look at it—and thirty a take away half a handful," she cried, intent only on sending the man away. He laughed, a merry, wholesome peal, mounted the steep stair steps at a time, and darted out to the wheat bins, to plunge arms and hands into the splendid grain, then he buried his face in it, before looking about him.

The granary was oddly dusk, yet dimly lighted—cross-lighted indeed on the double row of ventilators. These westerly let in narrow ribbons of gilded notes that criss-crossed into weird lattices with the gray-blue beams from the east. They wove a magic garment about the girl upon the ladder, her bare arms flashing white against the brown dusks of the wooden wall.

Huddling herself into the narrowest passage she said plaintively: "Oh, please go away—I'll fall in just another minute."

"Not with me here," the stranger said alertly, darting to the tipping ladder, and firming it with his shout. "You come down—quick! I can't look—on my honor! Now!"

"Take care! Eggs are the meanest things!" Lorraine cautioned.

"Right you are," he assented, then setting her feet on firm floor: "I'll wait outside—and never tell anybody but how and where I found you."

"So to the house—dad's at home—maybe I'll see you later," Lorraine murmured, making haste to nest the eggs in the far corner of the farthest bin.

Cliff Byram, wheat buyer, obeyed, somewhat dazedly; the girl had laid something inside him never before stirred. His pulses had leaped, he lifted her down. He did not put the words what he had felt—simply because he could not. He'd see her again—many times unless he lost his sight. By this time he had reached the porch where a comfortable looking gentleman sat smoking a cob pipe.

Followed explanation. By time that all settled came the call to supper. Byram accepted it in matter of course fashion. It was the custom of the country to feed the stranger with the gates. He could not vision any more.

He sat next to Lorraine, but without any appetite for the light rolls, coffee, and butter, such as he had dreamed of, yet never before tasted.

The state fair was the very best. The Burton grain swept the boards, and Lorraine's yearling heifer carried the blue ribbon in her class, also sweepstakes prize. Possibly that was why, when Byram ended his stay at the Burtons', the squire called with a chuckle: "I'd a-sept the eggs on you if I had known in time that you were up to. But no use crying over spilt milk—nor crossing fingers, because they are young again, young man, when you can see the time."

"I'm coming in two weeks—it's all fixed. Lorraine's going back with me. We agree there can't be a better time for the wedding—no use in taking two bites to a cherry."

But Burton whistled—then being in words to speak.

Diversified farming is steadily gaining ground. Farmers who practice it never go back to the heart-breaking uncertainties brought about by depending on a single crop. Raising as much of the living at home as is practical, having something to sell each week, and the raising of feed and livestock along with the main cash crops is a good policy.
