Haskell, Texas

History of Early Settlement In Haskell County

Below we give a brief history of the early settlement of Haskell from information given by Mrs. John La Briere, Mrs. W. F. Draper and others of the family. We are not making the effort to write a history of the city but just giving the connections which identifies these people with the early settlement of Haskell. Mr. and Mrs. John La Briere live in Arizona and were here visiting relatives and friends a few days ago and this story was given out while they were here.

Situated in one of the finest agricultural sections in all West Texas is the city of Haskell, the county seat of Haskell county. Its population will now reach the 3,000 mark and is steadily moving forward. It has never experienced an inflated boom or mushroom growth, but has grown with the demands. It was destined to be a city the day the first white man set foot on the banks of what was first known as Rice Springs from which pure water flowed in abundance. Water in the early days was a big factor in the settling up of the great west and it is the same thing today in the building of a city. Haskell is blessed with an inexhaustible supply of pure water which lies at a shallow depth under the entire city and the spring mentioned above was only the indicator which pointed to this bounty.

The great rolling prairies which make up the principal territory of Haskell county covered with long waving grass were an attraction which caused men of stern spirit to come to this section and brave the hardships of the early settlers. Among the first to come to these parts was W. R. Standifer who set up a camp near the water flow which was at that time called by stockmen Rice Springs which was a well known watering place for the white men and Indians. It was in the spring of 1883 that Mr. Standifer who was a surveyor came to this section. He was followed the same year by John La Briere who erected the first house in the city of Haskell in August of 1883. The building was a two roomed structure when first built but later on a gallery and another room was added. This building is standing today near the Fair Park and is owned and occupied by Mrs. John McGregor. The lumber in the building was hauled by wagon from Albany as were also the groceries, mail and all other supplies. And the road to Albany at that time was nothing more than a cow trail with no bridges across any of the streams.

This great section was one of the finest ranges to be found in all the west and cattlemen with large capital were first to place their massive herds in this section. It was in the year of 1884 that John La Briere drove the first herd of cattle ever driven from Haskell county, consisting of 3,000 fat steers for the Hazard Bros. Cattle Company to Caldwell, Kansas to the market. It took about two months to make the trip and Mrs. La Briere was left at home to look after the affairs while her husband was away. Her sister Miss Cora Ballard who is now Mrs. W. F. Draper of this city came to spend the time with her while her husband was away. She was the first young lady to come to Haskell. She came from Granbury where her parents lived who later on moved to Haskell and made their home here.

In the spring of 1885 Mr. La

Briere purchased what is now known as the Colbert Ranch on Paint Creek and erected the first house on the ranch and moved there when his home was completed. Here he resided until the year of 1888 when he sold the ranch and moved his family to what was at that time known as "No Man's Land" which is now Beaver county Oklahoma. After living there for a number of years he moved to Arizona and he now resides about 25 miles from the little Mormon city of St. John Arizona, where he is operating a sheep ranch. He and his wife were visiting relatives and old timers here a few days ago and Mrs. La Briere who is a sister to T. E. Ballard, Mrs. H. S. Post and Mrs. W. F. Draper of this city by the assistance of Mrs. Draper gave the contents of this story while here.

When Mr. and Mrs. La Briere moved from here to Oklahoma they went by wagon to Quanah where they took the train. Doubtless this was the nearest Rail Road point at that time in that direction. Mrs. La Briere said they were several days getting to Quanah after leaving here.

According to Mrs. La Briere the first store of the city was established in the spring of 1884 and was conducted by a man known as "Pretty Smith". He did not win this title by his fine appearance but otherwise, and the fellow seemed to be a good sport and enjoyed the joke and accepted his name with pleasure. This store according to the informant, stood not far from the site of the Tonkawa Hotel but east of the street going south by the hotel. This was only a grocery store and carried a very small stock.

The first dry goods store came to Haskell in the summer of 1884 and was erected and operated by a man by the name of Harvey. This of course was the second store for the city and it is said that quite a number of people had arrived here and located so that it was necessary for the stores to come with the settling up of the country.

In the fall of 1884 the first Post office was established in the home of W. R. Standifer and Mrs. Standifer acted as postmistress. This was not a regular U. S. Postoffice with an established route but the mail was brought in through some kind of a volunteer service by the settlers and it only came once each week. But when the mail was expected the inhabitants of the county gathered and each name on the letters was called aloud and given out to those who had gathered to receive it. It was mostly letter mail very few papers and no packages were received in that day in Haskell. It was with the establishment of the Postoffice that the name of Rice Springs was changed to Haskell in 1884. There seemed to be another Rice Springs some where in the state and this was confusing.

The first burial in the county was that of a little girl who was bitten by a rattle snake and was laid to rest in what is now known as Haskell's beautiful burial park. This occurred in September 1884. The next funeral was that of Miss Mattie Ballard, sister of Mrs. Post, Mrs. Draper, Mrs. La Briere and Mr. T. E. Ballard, who was laid to rest in the cemetery in the summer of 1885. The young lady was 22 years of age at the time of her death. Her going was soon followed by the mother who had moved with the family to Haskell in the spring of 1885. The principal illness those days was typhoid fever, but it was serious in its consequences and much dreaded by the settlers.

The first school in the county was taught by a man named Ruble beginning in the fall of 1885 according to Mrs. La Briere and Mrs. Draper and the building in which the school was taught stood near where the South ward school building now stands. This was the beginning of the fine school system that Haskell now enjoys.

The Methodist Church was first to organize in the city in the early days and some of the charter members still live in the city. Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Alexander were among this number. The date of this organization was overlooked by our informants and it can not be given in this article. But the first preacher to visit Haskell was a Baptist by the name of Sublate and he would preach at the residences in the city and most all the population would turn out to hear him.

The first white child born in the county was Mrs. Hez Warnick (nee Miss Eula Bowman) daughter of the late J. T. Bowman and wife who were citizens of the county for many years. We did not get the date of this birth and could not give it without exposing the ladies age and although she does not live here still it is forbidden.

Mrs. La Briere stated in giving some of her personal experience that the principal meat was that of Antelope outside of the domestic cattle and the Indians did quite a business trading Antelope flesh to the settlers. She stated that a band of the Tonkawas came to her some one time and noticed some polish and other things she had in some bottles on a shelf and they thought it was whiskey, so they offered to trade her some Antelope meat for the things in the bottles and she had to show them that it was not whiskey before they would go away. These like all other tribes of Indians were crazy about Fire Water.

She further stated that wolves, panthers and other wild animals would come into the yards of the settlers which would frighten the women when the men were away. She stated that, on one occasion she shot at some wolves which was the first gun she ever tried to shoot. The aim was not successful but the noise of the gun frightened the wolves away.

The Ballards moved here in the spring of 1885 and the Post family came in the fall of the same year. These two families are identified very closely with the settling up of Haskell and Haskell county.

According to our information the late C. D. Long was the first single man to come to the city and Mrs. Draper was the first young lady so they were the first young couple of the city and laid the foundation for the society of all our younger set who have followed after.

The first dance in which most all of the inhabitants took part was held in the new store building erected by Mr. Harvey before he placed his stock of dry goods inside. This was in the summer of 1884 and a great time was experienced and most of the surviving old timers were among those who tripped the fantastic.

SPELLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me," says Mrs. J. W. Jimright, R. F. D. 2, Troy, Ala.

"Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was. "When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui."

Mr. and Mrs. C. Schroeder of the Roberts community were in the city Saturday doing their weekly shopping. Mr. Schroeder stated that his crop was late but growing nicely. He has his crop in fine state of cultivation. He will make plenty of feed with rain. He is one of our leading farmers.

POULTRY

FINDS NEW WAY TO STORE EGGS

Small Amounts of Carbon Dioxide Will Be Big Aid.

Eggs can be better preserved if they are stored where there is a certain amount of carbon dioxide in the air, according to Paul F. Sharp of the New York State College of Agriculture who has just published the results of some experiments on eggs in Science.

Eggs stored in ordinary air spoil rapidly after they lose the carbon dioxide which is a part of the egg. As soon as an egg is laid it starts to become more alkaline and this hastens decay. This alkaline tendency, however, can be easily and conveniently neutralized and controlled if the eggs are placed where the air contains small amounts of carbon dioxide.

This discovery has a practical result because carbon dioxide can be introduced into cold storage rooms in amounts which greatly retard the destructive changes in the eggs and yet the amount in the air will not be enough to prevent workmen from entering the storage rooms. Carbon dioxide can be used in shipping containers and in refrigerator cars.

A convenient source of this gas can be used, such as the solid form of the gas form in cylinders. Professor Sharp says the only method of preserving eggs which approaches this one in cheapness and practicality is the oil dipping method in which eggs are dipped in a suitable oil which very nearly seals the pores. The carbon dioxide method is superior to the oil method, because the whites of the dipped eggs become cloudy in orange. Eggs preserved by the carbon dioxide method are not "cloudy" after the gas is removed from the air which contains the carbon dioxide.

Concrete Runs Outside

Brooder House Are New

Concrete runs outside of the outer house are a comparatively new addition to poultry farm equipment, but are coming into use because of several advantages. They are able to use a brooder house without danger from contaminated air near them, save the labor of moving portable buildings and make possible to keep chicks near the selling or hatching, says a writer in the Rural New Yorker. As they do not have to bear heavy weights, two-inch thickness of concrete is sufficient, except at the edges, where double that thickness is needed to prevent breaking. They should be smooth for easy cleaning, have a slope for drainage, and three inches, according to some, need not be roofed. They, of course, may be of any desired size, so that they give an ample outdoor run, preferably not less than 100 square feet for the same number of chicks. They may have permanent fences, or movable wire mesh frames to set upon the concrete. Movable frames will facilitate cleaning. They may be tightly roofed with end, lean or litter, with the essential thing is that they be kept clean to prevent infection from droppings picked up by the chicks running upon them.

Provide Natural Shade for All Young Poultry

An ideal range will provide natural shade where the young birds find protection from the hot summer sun. Many poultry flocks do not have this natural protection, say poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State college, so some form of protection must be provided. Moving the colony houses a cornfield makes ideal range situations. Sunflowers planted around the colony house also will provide satisfactory shade. If the colony house cannot be moved near a field and sunflowers are not available, some form of artificial shade should be provided. Old feed bags on a frame about two or three feet above the ground will provide the needed protection.

POULTRY HINTS

- Newly-hatched pullets produce and winter eggs.
- Crowding in the poultry house discourages production of eggs.
- Laying hens should be dusted with sodium fluoride before being in the nest.
- Clean the eggs frequently to the dirt that may be carried by the hen's feet.
- Chicks hatched so as to begin the first of October are usually most profitable.
- Many farmers have found that with poultry can easily be fed by better feed and care.
- Small poultry flock properly cared for is more profitable than a large flock given indifferent care.
- Fish meal is a constituent of feed which is used by chickens building muscles and tissues, in addition to the production of feathers.
- Feathering and early crowing means early maturity. Early crowing means early profits. Always select the cockerels that first and then select from one that crows first.

SOCIETY and Club

Program by Music and Pupil.

The summer classes of Mrs. C. H. Morrison, piano and Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, expression, closed last Friday afternoon with a joint program at the First Methodist Church, directed by Mrs. M. L. Baker who shared two organ numbers. The program began with class demonstration work by Mrs. Morrison's pupils, which was splendid and interesting. Members of both classes, with the exception of two in each class, had never studied before. A number of the piano pupils, seated at blackboards and as the notes were struck upon the piano, made the notes in their proper places, besides the class work, each pupil did creditable work in rendering piano solos and as stated above most of them have only had six weeks of training. There was no work demonstration by pupils of Mrs. C. M. Kaigler but these little tots ranging from four to six, learned in six weeks quite a bit about proper breathing, physical exercises, stage appearance, how to sit in a chair, how to stand, when and when not to announce a title and when to read. The numbers selected for Friday's recital were also other classical. KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL

Every day that is born into the world comes like a burst of music, and rings itself all the day through; and thou shalt make of it a dance, a dirge, or a life march, as thou wilt.—Carlyle.

A Few Tid-Bits

THE unusual always appeals to the average appetite. Anything out of the ordinary will be tried once by most people.

Sauerkraut and Carrot Salad. Wash and scrape eight new carrots, then put through a meat chopper, add two cupfuls of sauerkraut, one cupful of cream dressing, one-half cupful of halves of English walnuts; mix and serve on lettuce.

California Meek Duck. Take one and one-half pounds of steaks from the flank, pound it well. Brown quickly on both sides in a hot frying pan. Mix other seasonings as follows: One cupful of chopped prunes, one and one-half cupfuls of crumbs, one beaten egg, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and small pieces of suet. Roll and tie. Lay pieces of suet over the top, place in a roasting pan, add hot water and bake one hour. Thicken the gravy and serve.

One of the new discoveries which will be available where the papaya is grown is that the leaves wrapped around a piece of meat for an hour or two will soften the fiber and make it more tender. It would seem that a piece of the leaf added to the meat while cooking would help, too.

Red Star Inn Sauerkraut. Place the kraut on the heat with enough of the liquor to cover. Add a ham bone and a few sliced onions, cook for an hour. Add enough grated potato to thicken slightly; a few juniper berries and caraway seeds may be added while cooking to enrich the flavor.

Sliced Lemon Pie. Grate the rind of one lemon, peel the white part from one and one-half lemons and slice the pulp very thin, discarding the seeds. Beat two eggs until light, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of sugar, the grated rind, one-fourth cupful of water, one tablespoonful of melted butter and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt; add the lemon slices and bake between two crusts.

Kindness is like the sun. Everywhere the kind man goes, he brings into being pleasant things—golden sympathies, radiant faces, glowing and grateful hearts.—Gordon.

Good Things to Eat

DELICIOUS frosting to place on a sponge cake or any other loaf or layer cake for that matter, is:

Golden Orange Frosting.—Mix the grated rind of one orange with three tablespoonfuls of orange juice and one teaspoonful of lemon juice, the yolk of one egg and confectioner's sugar enough to spread. Mix the rind and fruit juices and let stand fifteen minutes. Strain into the beaten egg and add the sugar needed.

British Steak Julienne.—Cut sirloin steak an inch thick into three-inch squares. Roll in seasoned flour and brown on both sides. Place the browned squares in a baking dish, add a teaspoonful of honey for each square, cover with tomato puree. Now place a layer of onion and celery cut into strips over each, using four strips for each serving. Cover and bake slowly for two hours. Uncover and bake for fifteen minutes.

Salmon Turnovers.—Chop fine one hard-cooked egg and one can of salmon. Mix one-half teaspoonful of cornstarch with a half cupful of milk over a slow fire. When thick add the salmon, one tablespoonful of butter and season to taste. Prepare a rich pie crust and cut the size of a saucer. Wet the edges with cold water, put one large tablespoonful of the salmon mixture in the center of each square, fold over and press the edges well together. Cut small slits in the top and place in a hot oven to bake.

Stuffed Lamb Chops.—Take ten chops cut very thick. Split each chop, being careful not to separate the meat from the bone. Put a tablespoonful of butter in a hot frying pan, add one tablespoonful of chopped onion, cook slowly for five minutes, add one-half cupful of mushrooms, one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and cook five minutes; now add a tablespoonful of flour and two tablespoonfuls of stock and cook until thick. Stuff each chop with this mixture before it cooks. Press lightly together and broil. Season well before serving.

3 L Club Picnic.

The 3-L Club of the Presbyterian Church gave the Christian Endeavor a Picnic Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock on the lawn at the church. We started the picnic off by telling jokes and riddles. There were several other games played, then the crowd was divided into two groups, a leader for each group. Each group went a different direction but met at a certain place. We all started back to the church together, but before we got to the church, Mr. J. L. Tubbs invited us to visit his peach orchard. We sure filled up

We then returned to the church where we found our lunches spread ready to eat. We had plenty to eat and plenty to drink (sodapop and lemonade). After we ate we chose sides and had several contests and games, including the twin negroes from Alabama (Misses Lucile Roberts and Beatrice Thomason) who rendered several selections on their ukies. All departed at a late hour reporting a good time.

PRESBYTERIANS TO BEGIN REVIVAL SUNDAY

Some time ago it was announced that this meeting would be conducted by Dr. A. F. Cunningham of Paris, Texas. In the last few days word has come that he will not be able to be here on account of sickness in his family. We have secured Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Fraser of Greenville, Texas, to conduct the meeting. They come to us very highly recommended as christian workers. Below is an extract from the Hominy News of Hominy, Oklahoma:

"Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Fraser closed a successful meeting at Osage Sunday night. The meeting was marked by deep interest and large crowds. The services opened on Tuesday evening, Feb. 19, with little advance notice but the next evening every seat in the house was taken and more seating room had to be arranged for. This, too, was soon found to be inadequate. The high mark in the campaign was reached on Thursday night of the last week when twenty-one went forward to confess Christ.

"Mr. Fraser conducted his own music, having given all of his time to this phase of religious work for a number of years. Mrs. Fraser accompanies him at the piano and helps with the young people's work. She is a master at both. Both are gifted singers, their solos and duets will long be remembered in this community because of their beauty and spiritual power.

"Mr. Fraser brought a powerful message each night that gripped his audience. He is a man of wide experience and has that unique quality of understanding young folks as well as the older ones."

These evening services will be in the open air at 8:15 p. m. The public is urged to attend these services each night.

HEAVY GAS FLOW IN HAGGARD-EVANS WELL

A wave of interest in oil circles has been centered in southeastern Haskell county since last Thursday following the news that the Haggard-Evans No. 1 Reynolds had struck a stray sand at 1,485 feet, still in the sand is making an estimated 30,000,000 feet of gas. Some operators familiar with gas flow say there may be even greater volume.

This well has been running wild since it was drilled in, but it was stated Wednesday that workmen were making preparations to attempt capping the flow of gas in order to resume drilling. The terrific pressure has thrown stones all over the vicinity according to visitors to the well, and had riddled the end of the walking beam on the rig. The roar from the escaping gas can be heard from a long distance, it is said.

The well is located on the Joseph survey, a half mile north of the four Superior Oil Company wells on the Reynolds Cattle Company land.

The last well drilled was rated a 150-barrel producer in the 1,780 foot sand, which is below the gas sand discovered in the Haggard-Evans well.

Stinson, President of the Chisolm Trail Area was also present and made some very timely remarks on scouting and its progress in this area. The report of an increase of over 400 per cent was very pleasing and gave the Scouts of Haskell renewed interest in the work. There is to be another Court of Honor on Thursday night, July 18th at the Scout Hall of the First Methodist Church and all of the fathers of Scouts are asked to be present as well as those that are interested in this work. At this meeting also will be discussed the summer camp for boys which is to be held this year at Leauders on July 30th to August 13th, inclusive, and will be attended by some 500 or 600 boys. The rate for the round trip, College Station and return to Haskell, is two-thirds of a one-way fare for the round trip, or $7.70. The fare by either Wichita Falls or Stamford is the same, according to Leo Southern, agent of the Wichita Valley Railroad. This special rate will be good for tickets purchased July 26, 27 and 28 and are good for the return trip until August 6th.

Special rates are also offered to Galveston over the week-end following the close of the Short Course at College Station. This rate is $2.50 for the round trip from College Station to Galveston.

Room rent at College Station during the week of the Short Course is $1.50 and the meals for the 5 days is $5.00. Considering the cheap railroad rates and the cost of room and meals for the week at the A and M. College this is a good time to spend several days away from home on a vacation and combine with some of the interesting subject to be offered during the Short Course.

All those who are figuring on making the trip for the Short Course should make reservations for room through the County or Home Demonstration Agents as they have blanks for this purpose.

ROCHESTER CITIZEN ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

(From the Rochester Reporter)

As Dr. D. S. Ligon was getting into his car to drive out in the country a few miles on some business, Thursday afternoon, in passing a shot gun which he intended taking with him to shoot some rabbits, in some way the gun was discharged, the load taking effect in the right fore arm. Fortunately the gun was pointed in such a way that only a flesh wound was sustained which it is thought will not prove serious but of course will handicap him in some ways and will be very painful for a while.

The car was standing in front of Dr. Gray's drug store and no time was lost by Dr. Gray in dressing the wound and getting Dr. Ligon comfortable. Dr. Ligon's many friends hope he will soon be able to use his arm again.
