This is a short prayer but it wil teach us all we need to know about how to pray and what to pray for. I notice that it begins by calling God, Father.
That was the characteristic Chrisian address to God. In Galatian 4:6; Romans 8:15; I Peter 1:17 tells us that in prayer we are not coming to someone out of whom tracted, but to a Father who delights to supply His children's needs.
II. Notice in Hebrew the name means much more than merely the name by which a person is called. The name means the whole charand known to us. Psalm 9:10 says, "They that know Thy name will put their trust in Thee." That means far more than knowing that God's name is Jehovah. It means those mind and heart of God will gladl put their itrust in Him.

The Midwest Electric Cooperative has been so successful that more than 95 per cent of rural areas now have electricity. Some people say The job is done, its time for the co-op to get out--which only goes to prove that all of the nuts are not on trees.

The people reckon without the need for heavier lines, larger poles, bigger transformers and improved facilities to serve the ever increasing loads in rural areas . . . areas developed by the Midwest Eectric Cooperative.

The challenge for Midwest Electric is still a great one. They will meet this challange as they have in the past with an efficient, dependable, economical electric service that will stay ahead of demand. Theirs is a continuing job of service to their member-owners and to the community.

Texas Reading Club

For Seventh Grade

For the second year, Mrs. James 3. Day is sponsoring a reading club for seventh-grade students in Rotan. This year the club has 96 members.
To retain membership in the club a student must read at least ten books during the school year, five of which must be fiction and five non-fiction. Included in these ten nust be a biography, a history, tra-rel, and at least one book must be el , and at least one book must be Mayberry Award winner, which is the best.
These books are reported on one each six weeks - and the reports one each six weeks - and the reports are then recorded in a folder which are then recorded in a folder which each student keeps. This provides the student with of titles and authors. These folders are chegked each six weeks; the students receive a grade on these folders at the end of the olders at the end of the year, as well. Not all books read are report ed on, but the studert must be able be asked about any bat mige ported on. The book reports are given orally, and the student must include a freehand illustration of the book. Notes are allowed, but the reports are never just read. April 1 is the deadline for completion of these reports. This type of reportin benefit to the student; it teache poise, and speech training, both of which are tremendously importan to those taking their places in the

Orange and White

 On FridayThe Student Council has passed a rule that each student and teacher must wear orange and white er must wear orange and white on Friday. Those not participating will have their have their names placed on the bulletin board as non-supporters. A fine of ten cents will be charg for removing someone's name.

The Football Fans By Judy. Whitefield Every year as the football sea son draws near, excitment rises almost everyone's heart. The foo ball boys are tuned to a fine degree in physical fitness, and everyone looks fonward with growing hip and competition displeyed hip and competition displayed by clashing teams. Of course, the main figures in all eyes are turned on them. Howver, a spectacle almost as interest ing is going on around them during he game, sponsored by the multiNex of waving, cheering fans.
Next to the players, the fans Next to the players, the fans and ake up the most important part of gan the football game. The bands play and pep squads cheer, and the home town fans gather each to their own side to join in a great effort of empathy to help their team to victory.
When things are looking good, the fans cheer from exultation.
When things are looking down the fans cheer, but this time to pust their team back up to victory. Another group of fans who should have notice are the concession stand workers who brave some of the most brutal onslaughts of those present at the ballgame.
However, after all the work, the strain, the discomfort, and slightly damaged vocal chords, the excitement and thrill still draw back more and more fans every year and every game.
Fire Prevention
In High School
