No. 32

Lions Lose First Game To Hamlin

Hamlin's Pied Pipers overpowered the Yellowhammers last Friday, 41-13 at Hamlin, in opening game for both teams.

The Yellowhammers drew first blood with 1:20 left in the first period when Eddie Mac Lang smashed 14 yards over guard for a touchdown. Jimmy Heathington kicked the extra point.

Pearce and company evened it up about five minutes later when Johnny Overman pived over from the one on a quarter-back sneak. Pearce had just passed 35 yards to Shivers to put Overman in scoring position.

On the next series of downs, Pearce took a Rotan punt and galloped 60 yards for another touchdown. Also in the second quarter, he skirted left end and went 11 yards for the Piper's third touchdown.

Rotan fumbled the kickoff and Hamlin recovered on the Yellowhammers' 15. Pass interference was called in the end zone and Hamlin got the ball on the Rotan 1. Overman again sneaked over. Hamlin drew a 15-yard penalty on the extra.

The 'Hammers got their second attempt for the conversion failed - the only effort the home team failed in that department.

The 'Hammers got their second touchdown in the third quarter when quarterback James Tompkins passed to Lang for 15 yards and the score. The play was set up by a Hamlin fumble which Rotan recovered on the Piper 17. The extrapoint play was fruitless.

Hamlin also scored in the third quarter for a 32-yard touchdown. Pearce converted his fourth extrapoint of the game.

The Pipers' final tally came late in the fourth quarter on a 40-yard pass play from Pearce to Shiver. Fullback Rupert Compton kicked the extra point.

The Hammers journey to Spur Friday night for second game.

Sam Baugh Gives His Source of Information

The following article from the Houston Post was mailed to Rotan's Ideal Barber Shop this week by a former Rotan resident, Gayle Cayce of Houston. Sam Baugh has given Rotan much favorable mention and now he reveals the source of much of his information come from - Ideal Barber Shop: "Baugh can make living as speaker long after football days are over.

Football being the type of game that it is, if you gauge it by fan reaction, amusing words Head Coach Sam Baugh of the Houston Oilers put together at the Thursday luncheon of the Downtown Rotary Club could again glitter or suffer sarcastic comment according to the scoreboard.

Yet the impression here is that football's greatest passer could charm a gathering as thoroughly in the wake of a 0-40 loss as he could a celebration of a 40-0 win. Actually, the Rotan Rancher detests speaking engagements. But he made an obvious hit with Thursday gathering, not so much for information or comment on the Oilers but on his manner.

SAM WAS A RARE combination of perhaps Will Rogers, Casey Stengel and Dutch Meyer in homespun approach, blunt analysis, sharp stories and rambling words from an angular stance at the microphone. There was some Rogers in stories about the Ideal Barber Shop in Rotan and introductions of guest speakers. A little Stengel in his pronunciation of rookies as "rawkie" and some TCU Meyer in gesture and manner.

"We'd be here all afternoon if I gave you all the details on the accomplishments of our speaker," said Tugh Pitts by way of introduction, then cited some of Baugh's records in passing at TCU and in the NFL. "I want to thank Hugh for that introduction," said Baugh, "but it's the first time I ever heard an introduction longer than a speech. It reminds me of a man who was introducing people at a gathering like this when he saw a fellow in the back of the room he thought he better introduce.

"SO, HE STARTED," Baugh rambled on. "He said, 'There's a man here who used to live here but moved to California and made a million in oil.' When the man had been introduced and got to the microphone, he told the guests: 'I'd like to straighten the master of ceremonies out. It was Pennsylvania, Not California. It was in coal, not oil. It was $1,000, not a million. It was lost, not made. And it wasn't me, it was my brother.'

"That's how they get the facts messed up in these introductions," grinned Baugh.

"I notice you men have a man read the news to you," Baugh continued, referring to Fred Nahas. "You must be busy people, so what you really need is a direct line to the Ideal Barber Shop in Rotan, where I live. On that wire you not only could get all the news but all the answers. They have 'em there."

Pond Spillway Importance Stressed

According to Jack Cadenhead, Soil Conservation Aid who assists the Upper Clear Fork Soil Conservation District the importance to maintain a good farm pond spillway can never be overemphasized.

Farm ponds are designed for a fifty year rainfall frequency. The size of the drainage area above the pond then determines the width and depth required for a spillway. Actually, the spillway of the pond is a safety device to keep the dam from breaking or to keep the excess water from cutting a ditch around the end of the dam. To attain this objective, continued Cadenhead, a spillway design is even more important than the design of the dam. The spillway should be designed so that it only functions a few times annually. It should be broad, shallow and covered with a permanent grass. Many ponds have natural spillways which is excellent. However, many spillways have to be cut and shaped. Where cutting and shaping is required in a spillway every effort should be made to get the area established to a permanent grass as soon as possible. Often this requires the spillway area to be fenced out so that cattle won't be forming trains in the spillway and destroying the vegetation as it begins to grow.

Mr. Glen Webb, SCD Board Chairman urges landowners to inspect their pond spillways and to do the necessary maintenance before our rainy season begins.

Mrs. Joe Malouf and daughter Terry of Dallas spent Friday night here with Mrs. Phil J. Malouf and went to Lubbock Saturday where Terry registered at Texas Tech. Mrs. Malouf went by plane to Santa Fe, N. M. to visit a niece before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheffie Mansour and two of their three sons, John and David of Dallas spent last weekend visiting her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Phil J. Malouf and Mrs. J. T. Smart.

John, the last prophet of the Bible, dreamed of a place where there would be no night. There is such a place. We live in an X-ray world. While we may not be conscious of it, a light is forever falling upon us. God's light falls upon this man. Brother, your could not make it alone! We must have Him. How foolish of anyone to try to walk in darkness... to walk alone. Why, you can't do it. Even the way to church is lighted with His presence when you head that way. God watches over His children, and doesn't that make you glad? Look at the friendly, ever watchful eye of God pictured on our one dollar bill. He is watching over the destinies of our America. He will guide the steps of His children, if they allow Him... will you?

A new Ruelene "pour-on" formulation, Ruelene 8R, is now available for controlling hornflies, lice and grubs on cattle.

The ready-to-use formulation has been approved by the Pesticides Regulation Division, Agricultural Research Service, USDA, and has not been known to cause burning as severe scurfing of the hide. It employs an oil base that facilitates close adherence of the toxicant to the skin and lessens the run-off problem.

Ruelene 8R should be applied in a backline application at the rate of one fluid ounce per 100 pounds of body weight to any animal weighing more than 800 pounds.

A single treatment as soon as possible after hefly activity ceases will control grubs, hornflies and lice. Hornfly reductions may be obtained for as long as three weeks following treatment.

Cattle treated for grub control may be retreated in the fall, winter or spring months when lice become injurious. Ruelene 8R should not be applied during October, November, and December to animals not previously treated for grubs.

Restrictions concerning use of its material include the following:

Do not apply within 28 days of slaughter.

Do not apply to lactating dairy cows or dry dairy cows within 28 days of freshening.

Do not treat animals or those under stress from castration, dehorning, disease, over exertion or excitement; nor within 10 days after shipping, weaning or exposure to disease. Such animals may suffer toxic side reactions.

Cattle should have free access to water and feed before and after treatment. If cattle react normally, encourage exercise. Should abnormal conditions persist, consult a veterinarian.

When branding at treatment time, brand first; then treat with Ruelene 8R to avoid the possibility of hair

It's poor business to guess at the quality of your irrigation water. Rather than be in doubt as to possible harmful effects of the water on future soil productivity, Jim Valentine, area Extension, soil chemist, suggests you have the water evaluated by a chemical analysis. The ideal time to collect samples is during the highest period of water use.

This need is particularly acute with new wells and in instances where wells are deeper than average for the area. It is known that common salt in high concentration may exist below the red bed formation. If wells extend into this strata, there is a greater possibility of dangerous salt levels in the water. Soils vary widely in their ability to tolerate salt without being harmed -- and some crops are more tolerant than others. Clays, where the water intake rate is already slow, can be made even less porous by a water high in sodium. Obtaining stands can become a problem on lighter soils due to sodium accumulation that "seals" or crusts the surface.

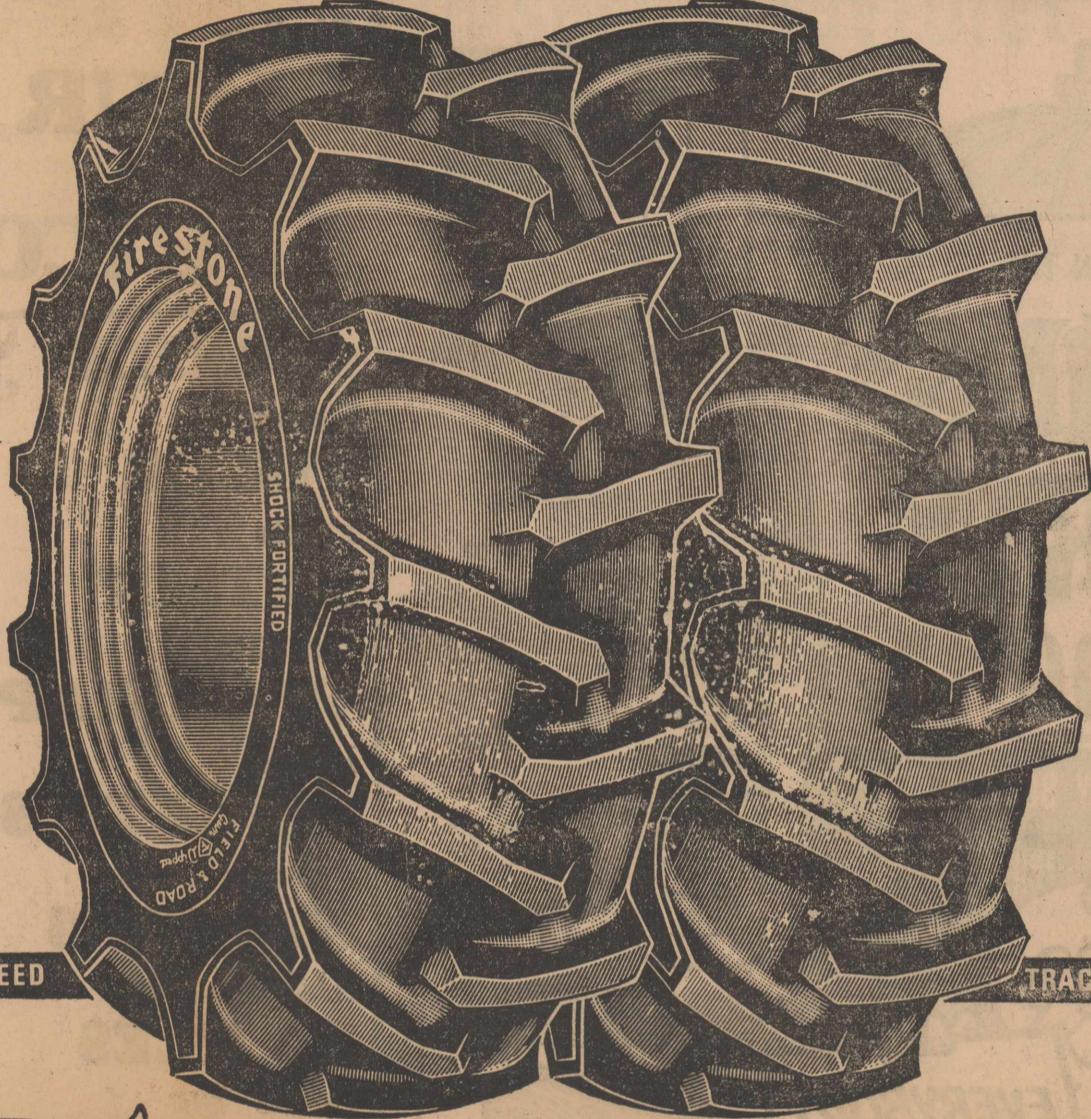

Water samples may be submitted to the Soil Testing Laboratory at Texas A&M University. Samples must be accompanied by the completed Information Sheet D-617, available at the local county agricultural agent's office. The present fee is $5.00 per sample.

The analysis will also show whether or not the water is suitable for livestock consumption.

Forage testing allows today's farmer to become more efficient by helping him utilize his forage, improve management practices and strengthen his feeding program. A forage testing service at Texas A&M University is available to all Texas farmers and operated similar to the Soil Testing Service. Stop by our office for more information on this service.

Mrs. Alice Sutton and son, Doc Sutton of Lubbock and her granddaughter Susie Sutton of Irving visited her sister, Mrs. C. C. Roach and other relatives here last weekend. Susie went home with her grandmother for a visit.

Methodist Circles Hold Joint Meeting

W. S. C. S. and the Joy Circle had a joint meeting and covered dish luncheon, Tuesday Sept. 8 at 12:30 o'clock at First Methodist Church in Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Phil J. Malouf and her committee had charge of arrangement of tables and decorations.

Bro. Marvin Fisher gave Thanks before the meal.

The W. S. C. S. was hostess and Joy Circle entertained. Mrs. Wayne Harris spoke about the program for the year, which is called "The New Age."

Mrs. Dwight Nowlin gave a poem on "how to get new members and hold their interest."

Bro. Fisher closed the luncheon with prayer, and the group joined in unison with The Lord's Prayer.

This was followed immediately with both Circles working out their programs for the coming year. Mrs. R. T. Williams, who is president, had charge of this phase.

Eighth Grade Elects Officers For Year

September 2 was election day for Rotan Junior High's Eighth grade.

The three rooms of Eighth grade filed quietly into study hall for this, their election.

Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Weatherman and Coach Jackson guided us to a speedy election, with officers as follows:

President, Jimmy Gruben, 8-3.

Vice-President, Roger Graham, 8-1.

Treasurer, Jerry Dean Edwards, 8-1.

Reporter, Karen McKimney, 8-2.

We feel like we elected officers able to lead us this year, as we take one step farther into our future, where we will be the leaders of tomorrow.

Reporter.

Stubble Valuable For Soil Conservation

How much is a ton of wheat stubble worth? Many people think grain stubble has very little value, but this is not true of a conservation farmer. Conservation farmers such as John "Dickey" Ferguson, Hamlin or Robert Scott, Jr., Sylvester and many others in the County recognize the value of grain stubble in protecting the land. These conservation farmers plan their farming operations so that stubble is kept on the surface where it will do the most good. Stubble managed on the surface proves its worth in terms of increased crop yields in future years.

Properly managed stubble is an excellent conservation measure. When kept on the surface of the soil it helps conserve moisture that can be used by the next crop. Stubble is especially valuable on the heavy soils in helping to get the water into the soil. The stubble protects the soil from the hammering of the raindrops and prevents it from crusting over and sealing out the rain. Soils that are protected by stubble will allow the rain to soak in and be stored in the subsoil. Soils that are left bare often seal over during hard rains causing the water to run down the slope and stand in the terrace channels or run off the field and be lost. It is not uncommon to see water standing behind terraces for several days on fields that are plowed clean, while adjoining fields with good stubble cover have drunk up the water and stored it for future crops.

Reduced evaporation, according to Milburn Cook, local Work Unit Conservationist, is another value of good residue management. Fields that have been tested have shown that soil shaded by grain stubble will run 15 to 25 degrees cooler than bare ground in mid-summer. Lower temperatures means less water lost.

Draft Boards Surveying Eligible Men

Austin, Texas, Sept 2. -- State draft boards will forward 1,430 18-year-old males for Army mental-physical examinations in October, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Wednesday.

These tests are the result of President Johnson's action this year which ordered the Director of Selective Service and the Secretary of Defense to examine all newly-registered men who are out of school and available for service.

Colonel Schwartz stressed that these youths will not be considered for armed forces service at this time. Normally, draft for service is about age 22.

In addition to the 18-year-olds, 1,139 older males will be sent for the examination. It is from these that inductees for service will be drawn in the future. Most of these will be 20 years old.

Only 236 men will be drafted for Army service in October. Quotas for induction and the pre-induction examinations are scheduled to be mailed to local boards September 9.

Males married at age 18 and those known to be in school at that age will not be examined.

The 18-year-olds who fail the Army's mental examination will be referred by draft board letters to local offices of the Texas Employment Commission, where they will receive advice and counsel on jobs

Area Products To Be Shown at WT Fair

Abilene - The first comprehensive display of products manufactured in this West Texas area will be held at October 5-9, according to Sonny Bently, president.

"We believe that this is the very first opportunity that West Texans have had to see exactly how much their area is growing from a manufacturing standpoint," said Bently, who is also president of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

Manufacturers from a 60-mile radius of Abilene have been invited to display their products at the association's main office, North 4th and Cedar during the week beginning October 5th.

"The display is being held in conjunction with an occasion recognizing the growth of Abilene Savings to $50 million in assets, and the people, the area and the industry which have helped make this growth possible," Bently said.

Products manufactured within a 60-mile radius of Abilene include electrical appliances, air conditioners, household cleaning products, Western gear, clothing, watches, violins, band instruments, foods, plastics, oil field equipment and many others.

Several West Texas manufacturers in this area also sell their products in Europe and other overseas outlets.

Manufacturers who wish to display their products are requested to write Bob Jordan, Abilene Savings Association, P. O. Box 90, Abilene.

There is no charge for displaying products and, whenever possible, Abilene Savings will assist in transporting the products to and from Abilene.
