Agricultural Agent

Science in agriculture has contributed much to our nation's ability to produce an abundance of food. Thus we have become a generally well-fed nation of people who enjoy a variety of foods costing only one-fifth of our disposable income.

Yet many Americans fail to understand the important role that science plays in modern farming, says Reagan Brown, Extension Sociologist, Texas A&M University. They also indicate a lack of knowledge about modern farming and reflect an awareness of the dependence of urban and industrial growth upon a highly productive agriculture.

Brown believes this lack of knowledge perhaps arises from the great variation in size and productivity of our farms. Over 90 percent of all farm products sold in our country are produced on 44 percent of our farms. Thus more than half the farms are so small and unproductive that they produce less than 10 percent of our food and fiber supply. Unfortunately, says the sociologist, these small and inefficient farms provide the image that many Americans have of farming.

This image, in turn, leads to a belief that recent advances in scientific knowledge have had no impact on farming; that farming is unscientific. Nother could be further from the truth.

Science has enabled a single farm worker to produce enough food, fiber and tobacco to satisfy the demand of 30 people. Between 1950 and 1962, a span of 12 years, it made possible a fourth increase in livestock production breeding unit, an increase of 2,000 pounds of milk produced per cow, and 38 more eggs per hen per year.

Even more spectacular has been the reduction in time required to produce a three-pound broiler -- from 13 to nine weeks, and on half the feed. Similar advances in crop production have occurred. Within the last decade, crop yields increased at a rate of 2.8 percent annually.

If the American farmer had disregarded recent scientific achievements and produced the 1957 agricultural production by methods available to him in 1939, the cost to the nation would have increased by 7.5 billion dollars.

Scientific research and the farmers' ability to adopt its results have released 29 out of 30 people to build cars, television sets and other material goods. We should be justly proud of this achievement, says the sociologist, and we need to become more aware of the importance of science in the accomplishment.

Furthermore, so long as food production is limited by utilization of seven to 10 percent to the earth's surface, conversion by the animal of only 10 to 25 percent of its feed to human food, and fixation by the plant of no more than five percent of the radiant heat it receives, there will be a need for science in agricultural production.

Cotton Farmers can fight pink bollworms, boll weevils - With cotton harvest about over in many parts of Texas, farmers should take measures to reduce or prevent winter carryover of pink bollworms and boll weevils. Where stalk destruction is recommended, it should be done immediately after harvest. Low temperatures eliminate the need for this practice in Northwest Texas. Although stalk destruction is recommended for the Trans-Pecos area, the residue should not be plowed under as in other areas.

 "Sparkle" McKinney; "Ding Dong" DeLeon; "Pistol Pete" Garcia; "Charlie" Brown; "Pooky" Hale; "Hud" Hudnall; "Babs" Eades; "Beaver" Randolph; "HorseFeathers" McCombs; "Buddy" Day; "Gina" Ferris; "Dip" Tankersley.

PP&K Contest Is To Be Saturday

More than 50 boys eagerly are awaiting the opening gun at 9:00 a. m. Saturday, October 10th when the 1964 Rotan Punt, Pass & Kick competition gets under way. Friday October 9th, is the last day to enter. Only 1, 13 year old is entered.

The public is invited to watch the grade and junior high school entrants punt, pass and place-kick at the competition site, Rotan Football Field.

In Rotan, as in all other local competitions, 8-, 9- and 10-year old boys win first prizes of Dallas Cowboys warm-up jackets, place kicker outfit and autographed footballs for second and third place. Boys 11, 12 and 13 can win gold, silver, and bronze trophies. There will be 18 prizes in all -- three for each age group.

"I'm sure we're going to have a great event," said Fred Schkade, Competition Director. "I know the boys are looking forward to competition with each other, and with other boys their age throughout the country. I'll bet we ave some winners in the district and area eliminations, too. I wouldn't be surprised if a Rotan boy made that trip to Washington, D. C."

Mr. Schkade said members of his committee have been busy getting the Rotan Football Field competition site ready for Saturday, October 10. Competitors will punt, pass and place-kick. They will be scored a point for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly, minus a point for each foot the ball lands to the left or right of the center line. Distances will be measured to the half-foot, and half-points awarded or subtracted.

Cross Roads Boys To Attend Rally at H-SU

Dallas--(Spl.)-- Four boys and their sponsors from Cross Roads attended the Regional Texas Baptist Royal Ambassador Rally at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, October 3.

The Climax to the program was an address by Roger Duck, missionary to Columbia.

The program began with a tour of the Hardin-Simmons campus and was followed by an assembly program featuring music by the world-famous Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band. The band has toured Europe and the Far East.

Another program feature was a "Swap Shop" where the boys traded nearly every item but snakes.

The Royal Ambassador Rally is one of six meetings which are expected to attract around 8,000 persons throughout the state, said Robert Chapman, state RA Director.

"The whole idea is to get Royal Ambassadors to attend a Rally in which they will become enthusiastic about their program, learn about missions and the RA program of work", Chapman said.

The Royal Ambassador program enlists more than 34,000 Royal Ambassadors in Aexas. They participate in programs of mission study, fellowship and recreation designed to help mold Christian character.

Delta Kappa Gamma Honors Miss Baird

Miss Delila Baird, who was recent winner of Delta Kappa Gamma 1964 State Achievement Award, was honored with a coffee recently in the home of Mrs. J. R. Strayhorn.

The affair was hosted by Gamma Tau Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society of Nolan and Fisher counties.

Mrs. Joe Benson, president of Gamma Tau Chapter, assisted the hostesses in greeting guests and in presenting Miss Baird and the hostesses with corsages of red roses.

A tribute, voicing the opinion of all the chapter's members, was given by Mrs. James B. Day. She said, in part, that "Delta Kappa Gamma means many things to many people, but to 'Our Delila' it means, loyal, dedicated service. Since that day she pledged to be loyal to all the things Delta Kappa Gamma stands for she has grown in stature through service at all levels of the society, local, regional, state, international, and in recognition of her worth to Delta Kappa Gamma, she now wears the coveted State Achievement Award pin, worn only by a chosen few.

Mrs. Day, in closing her tribute, presented a silver serving tray to Miss Baird.

The refreshment table was laid with an Irish linen cloth and an arrangement of red roses centered the table. Serving coffee from a silver service were Mes. C. J. Dalton and Mrs. Herman Phillips.

The coffee was hosted by the chapter committee on awards 1963-64: Mrs. Strayhorn, Day, Dalton and Phillips; and the committee for the current biennium: Miss Louise Bollinger, Miss Janette Marbut, Mrs. T. E. Knapp and Mrs. R. G. Witherspoon.

Following the coffee the chapter met in the Roughneck Room of the Rotan First Baptist Church for a salad luncheon with Mes. Ralph South, Day, John W. Clark, Charles McCall and Bartlett Strayhorn as hostesses.

Invocation was voiced by Miss Baird. A sing-song was held with Mrs. Robert Higgins, pianist, accompanying.

Guests were seated at U-shaped tables which were laid with pink cloth and centered with an arrangement of red roses.

Mrs. Benson was in charge of a short business session. The report of the treasurer, Miss Faye Rhea, was accepted and Mrs. Clark program chairman, gave an outline of programs planned. Each committee chairman told of the activities planned.

Plans were made for the Chapter's part in the regional meeting to be held in Abilene, November 14. The group will write and give a skit on "How We Succeeded in Expanding Our Chapter". The chapter will also be in charge of exhibits.

Attending the meeting were, from Highland, Meses Helen Etheridge, Rhea, and Marbut; from Sweetwater, Meses Bollinger, and Jeanne Lee and Meses. Benson, Higgins, Knapp, Phillips, Virgil Wolfe and Roger Eaton; from Rotan, Meses D. Baird, Josie Baird and their mother as special guest, Mrs. Amos Bostick, Louise Callan, Day, Clark, his initialed symbol of justice, represents law and order. The whole problem of reverence for God and respect for the law is up to you. Father, Mother, when your child gets out of control for lack of discipline, when you fail, the Law must step in to keep your child from becoming a menace to others. The church stands for right, for order, for law enforcement. Children who go to church most, need the judge and policeman least. We must keep our children in church...keep them under the influence of good, so that our homes may remain our castles and we shall not walk in fear."
