Spur Overpowers Hammers 25-0

Spur Bulldogs drubbed the Hammers in a 25-0 game at Spur last Friday night. The game was on a muddy field, but this failed to slow the speedy Bulldogs.

Led by halfback E. L. Patterson and fullback Larry Powell, the Bulldogs rang up 240 yards on the ground to Rotan's 134.

Spur scored first at the 9:40 mark of the initial quarter when Patterson scampered 39 yards on a counter play. Powell kicked the extra point.

In the second period, Patterson again showed his power by dashing 30 yards up the middle for a six-point. er with four minutes gone in the stanza. Quarterback Reynolds passed to Harvey for the 2-point conversion.

With the third quarter only three minutes old, Powell kicked a 15-yard field goal for the victors.

Near the end of the quarter Powell scored a line plunge from four yards out and he again booted the point after.

All told, the 195-pound Powell accounted for 11 of Spur's 25 points.

Trades Day Event In Planning Stage

A meeting of business people of Rotan has been set for 7:30 Tuesday night in Community Room of First National Bank.

Some planning has been done on a special day to be held each month in Rotan, along the general plan of a Trades Day, some side attractions are being discussed, and the meeting is to see if such a project is practical and if the merchants want such.

Several customers from the outer edge of our trade territory have asked why Rotan didn't have some special event and show our customers we do appreciate them and do have prices and merchants that compete with stores in the larger towns.

Similar events have proven successful here in the past and with added inducements we feel such will benefit both customer and merchant, which naturally helps the entire town — let's try to do something about it!

'As It Looks From Here'

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D.C. — The concentration of great power and authority in the Federal Government is an accomplished fact. For the past several years, the issue of Federal controls, particularly as it applies to our schools, has been an issue, but this is no longer the paramount question.

The question now is how much control is to be applied in the administration of the many Federal programs.

The one single legislative enactment which has granted the most power to Washington is not contained in any of the grant-in-aid programs and, in fact, in the case of Federal Aid to Education, certain sections of the Law disclaim the intent to control.

The key to the power of control is contained in Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. This Section authorizes the withholding of funds under all programs if the local authorities fail to comply with conditions laid down by the Federal Government. This Section of the Law becomes the silent partner to Federal grant-in-aid programs but has only been applied thus far to any considerable degree, to public education.

Title VI of the 1964 act gives broad powers to any Agency of the Federal Government which approves funds in support of State and local programs. Local Administrators who fail to comply in support of State and local programs. Local Administrators who fail to comply with directives called "guidelines" in the administration of such programs can have funds withheld or withdrawn. he authority is in the Law for Agency officials to actually exercise dictatorial powers not envisioned by many when the Law was passed.

Direction and "guidelines" are issued from Washington purportedly for the purpose of assisting local officials in the drawing up of plans for compliance. It is a simple matter of saying to officials that they will follow directives issued by Washington officials as if they had the force and effort of Law. The directives are not, in fact, spelled out in the Law, but are derived from such phrases as "under such Rules and Regulations as may be formulated." This simply means that local officials must follow the Rules and Regulations to be able to secure Federal funds.

Guidelines have been issued to school officials as to what they must do if they are to receive funds, and unless they can comply, funds will be cut off.

There are signs that more stringent and exacting directives will be forthcoming in the not too distant future.

The education and labor committee of the House of Representatives recently held a series of hearings which point to greater demands from Washington that certain things be changed to conform to the Federal view and contrary to local custom and State Law.

The hearings before the committee were presumably to investigate the extent to which textbooks and library materials used in public schools failed to accord proper reflection for minority groups. It is plain that the hearings began under the assumption that not enough emphasis and credit has been placed upon the contribution of various minority groups to our society. The real purpose was to conclude that ways should be devised to rewrite textbooks for public schools in such a way as to change meaning and impressions from those now being used.

This would seem to be a sort of reverse book-burning proposition. Apparently there is no real difference between burning books for what they contain and burning books for what they do not contain.

There have been those in the past who have made great issue of eliminating books and literature because of their content, but nothing has yet been heard from these same people on eliminating texts which do not express a certain viewpoint.

If books can be banned for these reasons, they can be banned for other reasons. Textbooks can be changed because of the interpretation of history or because they teach an "outmoded" variety of economics or because of the treatment of alien philosophy, such as Communism. Some in our intellectual community have been saying that we dwell too much on the bad aspects of these alien ideas and do not present a "balanced" picture for students.

Now that we have the many and varied programs of Federal Aid, we can only hope and insist that the planners here in Washington will apply reason, respect, and moderation to control of local affairs.

Gun Safety For Young Hunters

Austin — Gun safety training for young hunters was urged by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department after noting the first wild game harvest fatality, actually occurring before the regular season opened, involved youngsters.

A 16-year-old Hill Country boy was shot by another lad while rabbit hunting. He walked in front of a .22 rifle as a boy tried to dislodge a spent hull. The weapon was discharged, striking the victim in the back.

The Department observed that the tragedy pointed out need for adult guidance when youngsters go afield with guns. Responsibility in such instances rests strictly with the older persons, it added.

Hopeful of impressing Texans of the need to help young people enjoy the outdoors, the Department reported the sordid details of last fall's casualties when ten of 21 hunters killed were 17 or under and that only one fatal wound was self-inflicted.

Here is how tragedy struck them.

11-year old shot in head with .410 shotgun at close range by a young bird hunting companion;

15-year old shot in head with .12 guage single barrel, with "tricky trigger" by 17 year old companion;

15-year old boy shot self when he stepped into a hole and his shotgun discharged;

14-year old killed with shotgun held by a 12 year old companion;

17-year old killed when young hunting companion tripped a loaded shotgun causing it to fire;

16-year old killed when companion's shotgun jammed, then fired unexpectedly;

16-year old killed by own pistol-grip rifle while rabbit hunting;

13-year old killed when hunting companion discharged a rifle while unloading it.

Worship with us and you will feel at home - Welcome

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Man's first reactions to another is based on outward appearances, and only time will help him to know the heart of another. God knows, immediately, every attitude of the heart, whether it is good or bad.

"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God."

There are many rewards for those that follow the Lord. "Let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord." Attend church Sunday and share in the joy of worshipping the Lord.

Banks Do Most Farmer Financing

Texas banks were serving farms and ranches with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to Walter F. Johnson, president, Texas Bankers Association, and president, First National Bank of Abilene.

During 1965, Texas banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services.

Based on the 25th annual farm and ranch lending summary of the Agricultural Committee of The American Bankers Association, Mr. Johnson reported that at the beginning of 1966, Texas banks were helping farmers and ranchers with $708 million in loans, 7 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $591 million in production loans and $117 million in farm and ranch mortgages. At the same time, $521 million in farm and ranch loans Banks; $159 million by Production Credit Associations; and $88 million in non-real estate loans, plus $56 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 71 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutes to Texas farmers and ranchers came from banks.

Mr. Johnson said that "bankers in Texas are conscious of the large capitol in culture today and are making investments required in agriculture a concerted effort through improved lending changing credit demands of programs to meet these the state's farmers and ranchers.

The increased use of credit by farmers and ranchers, according to Mr. Johnson, has been accompanied by a substantial gain in the total assets of farm and ranch families. Therefore, in the aggregate, the equity position of farmers and ranchers contrary to public opinion, is being maintained at a satisfactory level. Nationally, farm and ranch families have $212 billion of their own funds invested in agriculture. This represents 84 per cent of the total capital requirements of farmers and ranchers.

Mr. Johnson stressed the importance of farmers, ranchers and bankers working closely together to improve farm and ranch financial arrangements. He reported that nearly 89 per cent of the banks in Texas were extending credit to farm people.

SS Claims Should Be Filed Early

"Filing social security claims promptly has never been more important than it is now," R. R. Tuley, Jr., District manager of social security in Abilene, said today.

"While benefit claims may be retroactive for a year or more, the enrollment period for medical insurance is greatly restricted," he said. "Protection under the 'doctor bill' part of medicare can start on the first day of the month you attain age 65 only if you apply for it in one of the three months before the month you reach 65."

"This restriction, incidentally, does not apply to hospital insurance; it applies only to medical insurance," he added.

The first enrollment period set by law covers seven months: the three months immediately before the month of attaining age 65, that month, and the three months immediately thereafter, if the application is filed in the month of attainment or later, the effective date is postponed one to three months.

If application for medical insurance is not filed during the first enrollment period, protection cannot be obtained until the next general enrollment period, which will be the last three months of odd-numbered years. Premiums for these delayed enrollments will be higher, and coverage is not effective until July 1 of the following year.

Even though the applicant is still working, a claim for hospital and medical insurance can be approved whether or not any retirement benefits can be paid. Moreover, with the increase in allowable earnings, many applicants will receive some cash benefits as soon as a claim is filed.

Information and help in preparing the necessary application forms may be had from the social security office at Room 2321 Federal Building, Abilene, or check the Schedule of Visits posted at your post office to see when a representative will be near you.

Farmers Urged To Watch Moisture Content During Harvest Work

Memphis, Tenn. (Special) The inherent quality of cotton can best be preserved when the producer maintains moisture and trash at low levels during machine harvesting.

By keeping moisture and trash content to a minimum, more cotton goes into the trailer that can give a higher quality product and a greater dollar return. On the other hand, excessive moisture and trash lowers picker efficiency, creates quality problems in storage, and requires more drying and cleaning at the gin. Overdrying and overcleaning at the gin are considered to be major causes of fiber damage, and subsequent poor mill processing and yarn quality, the National Cotton Council reports.

The use of harvest-aid chemicals helps to keep moisture and trash content low. Such factors as plant and field conditions, amount of open cotton and green leaves on the stalk, weather outlook, and method of harvest will largely dictate the use and timing of harvest-aid chemicals.

Deciding when to start picking each morning will depend primarily on the moisture content of the seed cotton. Moisture varies each day depending upon the amount of dew, relative humidity, rainfall, amount of green leaf cover, sunlight, wind velocity, and other factors. Also, moisture exceeds critical levels as humidity rises in late afternoons at different times on different days. As a general rule, it is safe to harvest when seed cotton moisture is 10 percent or less.

In addition, the harvesting machine must be in good order and adjusted and operated in accordance with plant and field conditions. Operators should be trained and supervised. Only water should be used in the spindle moistening system and only enough to keep spindles clean. When using hard water or when excessive green leaf conditions exist, a small amount of detergent may be added (a ratio of about 1 to 500.)

Since conditions and materials may vary from area to area, cotton producers should consult local agricultural authorities on specific recommendations for their area.
