JOHN LEE SMITH ANNOUNCES FOR CONGRESS DISTRICT 13 Austin, July 29—Judge John Lee Smith of Throckmorton stated to friends here today that he would be candidate before the Democratic primaries in 1930 for Congress from the 13th district. Mr. Smith was for a number of years county judge of Throckmorton county and is widely known in West Texas. He declared that the principal issue before the Democratic party at present is one of leadership.

Judge Smith is now urging the present Texas members of congress to secure the passage of an act providing for a government paid visit of fathers as well as mothers of soldiers who are buried in France to the graves of their sons. It would be much better for the fathers and mothers to make this long pilgrimage of love to the tomb of their hero son together. They should be together as a matter of right and justice on such an occasion and the additional cost is not to be complained at when we think of the price these fathers and mothers paid for our nation's freedom," Judge Smith declared.

Judge Smith is 34 years old, a World War veteran, and is described by his friends as an able campaigner.

More Milk From Fewer Cows

The number of milk cows on the farms of the United States has changed only slightly in recent years. The number increased from 21,408,000 in 1921 to 22,523,000 in 1925, and then decreased to 21,824,000 last year and 21,820,000 in January 1, 1929. Production has kept up largely because of better breeding and feeding of the smaller number of cows. The number of yearling heifers and heifer calves kept for milk cows is now larger than for last year, but is less than one percent larger than the number ordinarily required to maintain the present number of milk cows. Changes in the number of cows milked during the next two years will depend, says O. E. Reed, chief of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, largely on the relation between the price of beef and the price of dairy products. For this affects both the age at which milk cows are sold for slaughter and the number of beef-type cows milked.

"Queer" Seeds

Seeds may seem like commonplace things, but there are some interesting ones in the 35,000 lots collected by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which has one of the most complete collections of economic foreign seeds in the world. The airplane seed from the East Indies comes from a large dry squash growing in the tree tops. The squash when ripe opens and sets free the seeds, which have wings on each end so paced that the seeds in falling describe a spiral about 20 feet in diameter. The seed of the traveler tree from Madagascar is covered with a bright green silky fringe, and the seed of the bird-of-paradise flower is black with one half covered with a brilliant scarlet plume. One kind of eucalyptus seed resembles a tiny boomerang, while another is a model of an Eskimo kayak, with a round spot on top for the paddler to sit in.

WICHITA MAN TALKS ABOUT TROUBLE

Lost Steadily and Could Not Find Relief; Every Sign of Indigestion is Gone After Taking Orgatone

The remarkable experience of C. N. Ritter, resident at 2102 Kemp Blvd., is another striking evidence of the extra ordinary merits of Orgatone. In speaking of his long time suffering from indigestion and head aches and subsequent relief, Mr. Ritter said:

"I'm telling all my friends about Orgatone and all of my family are taking it after seeing what it has done for me."

"My trouble had been growing worse instead of better, all the time, he continued. "It was almost impossible for me to eat a meal without suffering from gas and sour stomach afterwards. I began losing weight and had fallen off until I only weighed one hundred pounds, a way below my weight, and could not find anything to relieve my pain or build me up."

"After I had suffered month after month without getting any better, some one gave a statement on Orgatone that convinced me and I started taking it. As I have said before, I have gained in health and strength and I haven't felt a sign of the old indigestion trouble since. I have taken Orgatone only a few weeks so far, but from the way I have improved already, to recommend it to every Genuine Orgatone may be had in Haskell from the Store.

The consolidation of the Marland Companies and the Continental Oil Company has combined the producing, refining and marketing facilities of these widely known manufacturers and distributors of petroleum products.

The high standards of manufacture which have established and maintained the reputation of the high quality products heretofore sold under the Conoco and Red Triangle brands will be strictly maintained.

The same chemists and engineers, the same refineries and, above all, the same policies, will support the new trade mark "A new symbol of a greater service."

WHAT THE ADEQUATE DIET SHOULD CONSIST OF

College Station, Texas, Aug. 7.—A few well prepared foods in pleasing combinations to give the essentials of the adequate diet is the ideal for the home maker to set up for picnic meals.

"The adequate diet," Dr. Whitacre pointed out, "consists of 1 1/2 pints of milk daily, at least one serving of butter, whole cereal once a day, leafy vegetables at least three times a week, and one serving each daily of starchy and other vegetables."

A lunch to be put up in paraffin paper and paper sack for carrying was suggested by Dr. Whitacre as follows: sandwiches of white bread, butter, peanut butter and jelly, sandwiches of whole wheat bread, butter and pimento cheese; and lettuce, salt, orange and oatmeal cookies.

Away From Home

Things the Farmer Should Know

During the summer the heifer needs no supplementary feed if the pasture is good. Late in the season she may need a little hay and grain to keep growing steadily.

The wise livestock feeder soon learns that the proper use of all by-products, waste, and surplus crops for feed often constitutes the main difference between profit and loss in feeding.

A horse at hard work in the summer needs from 1-14 to 1-13 pounds of grain and 1-14 pounds of hay to each 100 pounds of his weight. The work horse should be fed at regular intervals during the summer.

If the dairyman is to get a fair return on his investment and labor, his dairy herd must average 300 pounds or over of butterfat a year. Figures show that cows producing 100 pounds of butterfat a year return only $14 over cost of feed, while cows that produce 300 pounds of butterfat return $96 or almost 7 times as much.

The average yearly loss in transit of livestock from "shipping fever" and similar ailments is estimated at fully a million dollars, and in some years runs as high as three or four million, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which has recently published Leaflet 38-L, Maintaining the Health of Livestock in Transit. This leaflet can be secured free from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The meat packer makes profitable use of every by-product of the packing business, and the farmer can do the same by salvaging the dockage, or screenings from his grain, and feeding it to livestock. The average screenings are comparable roughly to oats in composition. Heavy screenings from which the chaffy material has been removed are nearly equal to corn, wheat or barley in percentages of the various nutrients. To avoid contamination of the soil through weed, seeds, all screenings used as feed should be thoroughly ground except when fed to sheep.

Eggs are scarce on most farms during the fall and winter because the chickens do not get enough protein for rapid growth during the summer. An egg, aside from the shell, contains 13.4 per cent protein, while poultry flesh contains 21.5 per cent protein. A mixture of corn, wheat, and other grains contains only about 10 per cent protein and should be supplemented with a mash containing high-protein feeds. Proteins from animal sources are generally better than those of vegetable origin. Meat scrap, fish meal, milk and tankage are good sources of animal protein. Such feeds not only increase egg production but lower the cost of production.

Rats appear to have strong aversion for certain odors, such as creosote, carbolic acid, and other coal- and wood-tar derivatives, kerosene, and peppermint and wintergreen oils, and this fact may be taken advantage of in protecting stored grain from the rodents, or in preventing reoccupation of old rat burrows. Flake naphthalene scattered on the floor and over the bags of sacked grain will keep away the rats and may not injure the seed. Non-odoriferous compounds that rats avoid can be used where an odorous material would be objectionable, as where foodstuffs are kept. Among these are powdered sulphur, lime, lye, and copperas. Sulphur particularly has been found to be excellent in protecting stored grains from the ravages of rats.

Feed For Molting Hens

The same poultry feeds that give good egg production are best adapted to grow new feathers. During the molt, mash, which is the egg-producing part of the ration, should be fed freely. Scratch feed should be fed sparingly so that the hens will eat more mash than scratch feed.

The mash should make up from one-half to one-third of total feed. Increased mash consumption may be induced by feeding one light meal of moist mash in addition to keeping dry mash always before the hens. Mixing the moist mash with milk instead of water increases its palatability and tends to increase mash consumption. Sudden changes in the ration or in the method of feeding should not be made, as this may throw the hens into a premature molt. Such changes as moving them to a new house, or closely confining them after being on free range, also tends to induce molting.

A sympathetic bootlegger will tell you that some of his stuff will straighten you out. And all too frequently it will do just that.

An alligator mother's highest ambition for her son is that he may some day be a traveling bag.

By industry and thrift these days the average citizen can accumulate almost enough wealth to assure him a decent burial.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pitman spent last week end with relatives in Seymour and Wichita Falls.

Miss Helen Harbison has returned from a ten days visit to her mother in Fayetteville, Ark.

POULTRY NOTES

It pays to worm the poultry. Care must be taken that chicks do not crowd in corners and smother.

Coccidiosis usually occurs in young chicks from two to six weeks of age.

When the poulters are about eight weeks old, they can be removed to the rearing ground.

Tapeworms have been named as the cause of death of 50 per cent of the chickens in some flocks.

Changing breeds every year has never yet been found a safe foundation for a profitable poultry business.

A month lost in growing pullets means the loss of a month's production next fall when eggs are a good price.

Any variety of wheat is good for poultry. In fact, small undeveloped shriveled wheat, if dry, is even better than the fully developed kernel.

The farmer who produces eggs of uniform color, weighing an average of 23 ounces per dozen, and which are held in a cool cellar, can ship to eastern markets by express to advantage.

The profit from the farm flock depends to a large extent on the number of eggs the hens lay.

Hens cannot lay eggs without protein. Skim milk is one of the best forms of protein for use with all classes of poultry.

Mongrel geese plucked regularly yield one pound of feathers a year. Pure bred geese yield twice as many and, besides the good prices of feathers obtained, the goose is worth as much as it ever was.

Tight floors should be provided to protect the ducks from attacks by rats and other rodents.

Ground oats and ground barley are of equal value in a ration for chickens. Both of these feeds run rather high in crude fiber.

Egg production cannot be increased by crossing two high-producing egg strains, nor can vigor and vitality be increased when both parent stock possess these qualities to a high degree.

Tomatoes, fresh, raw or canned, are a good source of vitamins A, B, and C. Include them very frequently in your menus. Young children and even babies may be given tomato juice.

Variations of the V-shaped neck-line are usually becoming to the round, plump face, rather than a round neck-line which repeats the lines of the face. A square neck is also becoming to this type of face.

Be careful not to cook corn on the cob too long or it will be tough and tasteless. Have a large kettle of water boiling rapidly and drop the corn into the water for from 8 to 10 minutes, if there are not many ears.

To clean burners on a gas stove take them out of their sockets, brush off all loose dirt, and a solution of washing soda, adding 1-2 pound of soda to a gallon of water, for 15 minutes, and wipe dry, then put on light the gas to finish drying.

Shirred eggs are a change for breakfast or lunch. The eggs into a shallow baking dish, sprinkle butter crumbs on top, and bake moderate oven until the set. Individual baking dishes may be used, and the eggs set to the table.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL. Every day that is born into the world comes like a burst of music, and rings itself all the day through; and thou shalt make of it a dance, a dirge, or a life march, as thou wilt.—Carlyle.

A Few Tid-Bits

THE unusual always appeals to the average appetite. Anything out of the ordinary will be tried once by most people. Sauerkraut and Carrot Salad.—Wash and scrape eight new carrots, then put through a meat chopper, add two cupfuls of sauerkraut, one cupful of cream dressing, one-half cupful of halves of English walnuts; mix and serve on lettuce.

California Mock Duck.—Take one and one-half pounds of steak from the flank, poach it well. Brown quickly on both sides in a hot frying pan. Mix other seasonings as follows: One cupful of chopped pines, one and one-half cupfuls of crumbs, one beaten egg, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and small pieces of suet. Roll and tie. Lay pieces of suet over the top, place in a roasting pan, add hot water and bake one hour. Thicken the gravy and serve.

Red Star Inn Sauerkraut.—Place the kraut on the heat with enough of the liquor to cover. Add a ham bone and a few sliced onions, cook for an hour. Add enough grated potato to thicken slightly; a few juniper berries and caraway seeds may be added while cooking to enrich the flavor.

Sliced Lemon Pie.—Grate the rind of one lemon, peel the white part from one and one-half lemons and slice the pulp very thin, discarding the seeds. Beat two eggs until light, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of sugar, the grated rind, one-fourth cupful of water, one tablespoonful of melted butter and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt; add the lemon slices and bake between two crusts.

Authentic Styles In Ready-To-Wear

To be perfectly frank about it, we don't know what they are!

We don't know whether skirts will be lengthened or shortened next season. We can't tell you what are the most popular colors, and we don't know where the waist line is likely to go next.

We do know, however, where we can get this information, and that is the point of this little message.

Merchants and clerks in Haskell who deal in either masculine or feminine apparel, are informed on the style tendencies. Not only do they have the merchandise, they also have the information.

We have never found a merchant or salesperson yet who was not willing to give this information if we asked for it. It is a part of the retail business—of store service.

The stores of Haskell welcome the opportunity, always to discuss the prevailing styles with visitors. It is a convenient and never-failing source of reliable information. We know, because we have tried it.

Farm News

By W. M. FREE
Field Editor

We made a special trip south of town last Friday going through quite a lot of Haskell county's best farming territory.

We found a condition that is frequently seen in this section of Texas, "Dry weather and crops badly needing rain." Just when the rain will come, we are unable to say, but many times in our experience of 13 years spent in Haskell County it has rained when it looked like we could not do without rain any longer, and we would soon forget that we needed rain so badly.

Our farmers are courageous and have had much experience in farming in the west. They know to keep planting, working and trusting in Providence and they have thus far been successful in building up one of the best farming sections in this part of the State.

Most of the farmers we met on this trip were not dispondent but hopeful that the crises would soon pass and good rains would fall in a few days and bless their efforts. Along the roads the crops were very spotted. Some crops of cotton were holding up splendidly while others were burning very badly and without a rain in a few days will make very little cotton.

The middle planting of feed is in very bad condition while some of the earliest maize is making some crop and the late maize has a chance with rain and cool nights to make a good crop but in this section south of Haskell there is very little late maize, planted.

We stopped at the Post school house where Rev. W. C. Harrison and Freddie Cole were holding a revival meeting. Here we met a number of folks who gave us about the same expression regarding their crops as we have mentioned above.

We accepted an invitation from our old friend M. L. Middlebrook to go to his home for lunch and we enjoyed the many good things to eat Mrs. Middlebrook set before us. One of their sons and wife and also their daughter and Miss Mildred Harrison were present at the noonday luncheon and all enjoyed the occasion.

Mr. Middlebrook stated at this time that his cotton was in fair condition but his feed crop would be very short even with good rains. The good wife in this home is a great chicken raiser and she says their chickens and cows are a wonderful help with their living expenses and with this help they are going right along as usual.

They have lived on the same farm for 17 years and they are very well acquainted with the conditions of the west. Mr. Middlebrook is a very quiet unassuming man who always attends to his own affairs, works hard and manages well, and he is not complaining although conditions with him are not very flattering. We enjoyed our visit very much in this home.

From the Middlebrook home we drove to the home of our friend, R. L. Livengood who has been sick for quite a while. Some of the time he was closely confined to his room and bed. But now he can get out of bed by himself, get into a wheel chair and go about the place and get into his car and ride to church and over his farm. He is improving nicely and if he keeps on he will soon regain his health. Mr. Livengood has always been very active in his life and it goes hard with him not to work like he has all his life. But he is patient and jovial and makes the best of the condition he can.

His son Earl and wife are living in the house with his father and he, Mrs. Livengood and the other children are going forward with the farm work and they have a fine crop for the year. And by the way they gave us some of the finest roasting ears grown on their bottom farm that we have seen in many years. Of course rain is needed on their crop very badly but they have a better crop than last year at this time.

Earl is planning to build a new home on his farm near the Midway Filling Station on the Haskell and Stamford road. He already has his windmill set up and some of the material on the ground for his residence. When he gets his building completed, he expects to build a Week's poultry house. He already has the pullets for the building.

This family was among the first settlers of this section of the county. Mr. Livengood came here in the 80's and settled where he now lives. We enjoyed our stay in this home and are glad Mr. Livengood is improving in health.

We drove home late in the afternoon rejoicing over the association and visit to our good friends.

WAS COMPELLED TO STAY HOME MONTHS

"Stomach trouble and indigestion had me in a terrible nervous, rundown condition. I was so weak and worn out I would have to stay in the house for months at a time. Constipation was a helping to make my life miserable and there were times when I didn't care whether I lived or died. A good friend of mine told me about Sargon and how much it helped her so I decided to try it.

"What a blessed relief it is to be free of the troubles that worried me for 12 long years. The Sargon treatment has literally made me feel like a new woman. My stomach is now in perfect condition; my appetite is fine and I eat just anything I want, without any ill effects. My nerves are back to normal and I sleep sound and get up feeling just fine. Sargon Soft Mass Pills ended my constipation without ever griping or nauseating me.

"I'm so happy over regaining my health that I'll be glad to tell anyone what Sargon has meant to me. Just have them 'phone 2-7783 if they want to know what I think of this wonderful treatment."—Mrs. W. H. Higgins, 507 W. First St., Fort Worth.

Sargon represents the dawn of a new era in the field of modern medicine. It is turning old-fashioned, moss-grown health theories upside down and is restoring countless thousands by methods undreamed of only a few years ago.

"We have used Theodor's Black-Draught in our family for nineteen years. I have found it of great help in raising my family."
 "I give it to all six of my children. Whenever they complain of upset stomach, or begin to look pale and sick, I make a tea of Black-Draught and begin giving it to them. In a day or two they are all right."
 "I give it to them for constipation, and my husband and I both take it. I always give it for colds in winter, for I believe a way to prevent them is to keep the system clean."—Mrs. Doshie Terry, 1205 4th Ave., Decatur, Ala.

DAYS FARMERS SHORT COURSE PLANNED AUG. 22-24

Crop Conditions Still Favorable, But Rain Is Needed Soon

WITHIN FEW DAYS WOULD OBTAIN GOOD YIELD OF COTTON

Crops Will Be Short Regardless of the Infall Unless a Sucker Crop Is Made.

The extremely hot dry conditions of the past few weeks, the crop conditions of the country seem to be the general trend throughout West Texas. With a good general rain in the next few days, the crop conditions will be improved to a considerable extent, but with continued dry conditions the prospects for a good crop is anything but bright.

Very few farmers have mentioned the boll worm this year but some claim the boll worm millers are showing up in large numbers. With occasional rains reported this week in North Texas, cooler weather is in prospect for this section, with the possibility of local showers and rain in West Texas, which would materially improve crop conditions and practically assure a bumper cotton crop under ideal conditions this fall.

Second Arrest Made In Connection With Recent Burglarizing of Rule Store

Sheriff W. T. Sarrells and Deputy Sheriff Henry Townsend of Rule returned Monday from Palestine, where they had gone to return Darrell Woods, wanted in connection with the robbery of the J. L. Jones Store of Rule May 21st. The young man was arrested by officers near Palestine, and a quantity of the merchandise taken from the store was found in his possession, all of the goods being identified upon the return of the officers to Haskell with their prisoner.

Examining trial of the young man was held Tuesday, and his bond set at $750 and $1,000 in two complaints, one charging theft and one for burglary. Bonds had not been perfected Wednesday and the young man was being held in the county jail. This is the second arrest made in connection with the burglarizing of the Jones store, and officers state that one other party is being sought in connection with the affair. Woods is a former employee of J. L. Jones & Co., having worked for several months in the Rule store.

In connection with the recovery of the merchandise in Woods' possession, it was noted that two of the men's suits recovered had been stolen and recovered by the officers for the second time, this being the second time the store had been robbed this year. On March 2nd, thieves entered the store and carried off a quantity of merchandise which included several men's suits. Three men were arrested at Rule shortly afterwards by Sheriff Sarrells, and the merchandise recovered. The suits were taken again by the persons who burglarized the store May 21st and were recovered when Woods was arrested this week.
