QAFA countdown

Week 4

The Air Education and Training Command Inspector General Quality Air Force Assessment Team is scheduled to arrive at Reese on Sept. 11.

This condensed checklist will help prepare for the visit by highlighting key areas to clean up on a day-by-day basis. For more information call Lt. Col. John Shackelford at 3033.

Monday

✓ Suspenses

Track down each and every open suspense. Keep the paperwork flowing properly.

Tuesday

✓ Contingency procedures

Are unit emergency action checklists current and accurate? Are unit UCC/DCG members properly trained? Do all key players know their rules during deployments? Status board available, kept current during exercises.

Wednesday

✓ Wallpaper Day

Be sure that everything that hangs on walls is current and accurate. Unframed items should be on bulletin boards.

Thursday

✓ Publications review

Get rid of out-of-date and unneeded publications. Double check all pubs for revisions and currency.

Friday

✓ Training catch-up

Is previously scheduled training done? Recheck and reschedule accordingly.

JA cautions against abuse of AMEX government card

by Maj. Jim Moody
64th FTW Judge Advocate

A new and widespread problem in the Air Force is the abuse of the government American Express Card.

This card is issued to military personnel for expenses associated with official travel only.

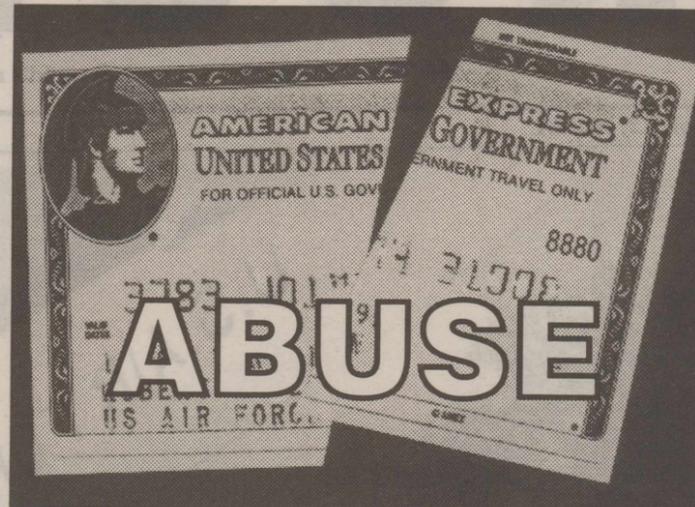

For example, if someone is assigned to go on a temporary duty assignment, he or she can get cash advances using this credit card.

This replaces the old procedure of going to travel pay for an advance. In addition, the member may use the card to pay for meals, lodging, and other expenses related to official travel.

However, it is most emphatically not appropriate to use the card for personal expenses unrelated to any TDY.

For example, if a member holding an AMEX Card wishes to make some private purchases—say, pay for a meal at a restaurant here in Lubbock or use it for expenses incurred in a family vacation—it is illegal to do it with this credit card.

Such purchases go beyond the intended purpose of the card and, in fact, can be the subject of

Remember: The "CARD" is for TDY related use only disciplinary action under the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

There have been courts martial at other bases and we have given out some Article 15 punishments here at Reese for improper use of these credit cards.

Make sure that you only use the cards for expenses associated with official travel. Any other use spells big trouble.

Mentor Program

Frenship, Reese gear up for new year

by Betty Donaldson
Frenship Independent School District

The 1995-1996 school year is about to begin for area children.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the men and women from Reese for the time and energy they put into the Mentor Program. Over 80 children from Frenship Intermediate School were served this past school year in a way that is immeasurable.

We are planning another successful year this fall and sincerely hope that past mentors and other new members from Reese will participate in this worthwhile program.

If you would like further information regarding the Mentor Program please call Cheryl Ortiz, Family Support Center at extension 6495.

Once again, our heartfelt thanks from me, Frenship Intermediate School staff and the students.

Remember to submit your suggestions on an AF Form 1000

Alcohol, excessive speed cited in death of sergeant at Vance

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AETCNS) — Alcohol, excessive speed, and possibly failing to wear a seatbelt was a deadly combination that proved to be the last mix for a 33-year-old staff sergeant from Vance Air Force Base, Okla., in June.

He died shortly after being thrown from his vehicle after it left the road and rolled.

"People need to understand that drinking and driving is not smart," said Herm Dean, chief of ground and explosive safety for Air Education and Training Command.

He said the sergeant had a blood alcohol content of .13, well over the legal limit.

Reports indicate the sergeant and his friends met at the base NCO club for drinks around 6 p.m. the evening of the accident, then went downtown a couple of hours later.

He was traveling at an estimated speed of 70 mph when he entered a sharp turn, according to reports, well over the posted speed limit of 45 mph.

The car rolled, throwing the sergeant from it. He died a few hours later at an area hospital.

In addition, said Dean, the vehicle's tires were worn to the absolute minimum legal tread depth, which investigators feel also contributed to the sergeant losing control of the car.

Colonel Gelwix stresses integrity during 64th FTW Officers Call

Integrity is the cornerstone of officership, according to Col. Randy Gelwix, 64th Flying Training Wing commander.

That was one of several messages delivered by Reese's new wing commander during his first Wing Officers Call, Aug. 4 at the Reese Club.

Gelwix said integrity is "at the very top of the list" for all officers, all of the time.

"Wearing this (Air Force) uniform is a seven-day-a-week, 24-hour-a-day job," said Gelwix. "We are not always at our duty station, but we are always on duty."

Gelwix also commented on the importance of the chain of command.

He said it is vital to the successful operation of a military organization.

"The chain of command is what makes the military work," said Gelwix.

The colonel cited watching a combat fighter wing erected from "bare sand" during Desert Storm as an example of how the chain of command enables the military to efficiently perform difficult tasks, even under extreme conditions.

The colonel also talked about the Quality Air Force Assessment scheduled for early next month.

He said all wing members should look forward to QAFAs as an opportunity to "show our stuff" and be recognized for the great job this wing does every day.

"As the birthplace of 'Global Reach and Global Power', we will continue this wing's proud tradition of training the world's best pilots," said Gelwix.

The colonel said providing student pilots with the best training possible remains the 64th FTW's top priority.

A close second to training is the wing's preparation for the QAFAs.

Gelwix said following the QAFAs, the wing will turn more attention to the issues of base closure, facility reuse and civilian reemployment.

"We owe it to every student to ensure that he or she has the same opportunity for quality training today that every student, including myself, has had at Reese for more than 50 years," stressed Gelwix.

Interesting and Unique opportunities

□ Interested in working with high-ranking dignitaries and traveling around the world?

— Andrews Air Force Base, Md., is the location of highly motivated, professionally minded airmen

— Duty to include flying on Air Force One and Air Force Two

— For more information on specific duty requirements and application procedures call the Reese Military Personnel Flight at 3276 or the Air Force Military Personnel Center contact, Tech. Sgt. Cheryl Wells, at DSN 487-5462

□ Sensor operator

— This front-line, operational assignment includes operating infrared and low-light level TV sensor systems, illuminator equipment to search for, find, and identify hostile targets for destruction

— Duty location is Hurlburt Field, Fla. This is a flying AFSC and you'll receive flight pay

— See AFI 36-2108 for duty description or visit the Reese MPF for application requirements or contact Tech. Sgt. Cheryl Wells at DSN 487-5462

□ Air Force Academy needs NCOs

— Air Force Academy is placing technical sergeants as Military Training managers in each cadet squadron

— Forty techs are needed immediately to assist cadet squadron leaders and active-duty air officer commanding

— Duties include general military education and to serve as NCO role models for the cadets

— Technical sergeants from any AFSC may apply

— Strongest candidates will be contacted to arrange an interview

— If you're interested in applying, contact TSgt. Bonnie Houston at the Air Force Academy at DSN 259-2810 or TSgt. Jeannie Hedges at the Air Force Military Personnel Center at DSN 487-4464.

Family and community programs unchanged

□ Air Force has decided not to change our family and community programs organization

— General Fogleman asked for a review of family/community programs to see if there should be a single point of contact for all such programs

— Concerns: Current programs are fragmented (Family Support in Mission Support, Family Advocacy in the Hospital, youth services in Services); people need to know where to go when they need help

— Key remains stability...Air Force people will be better served through existing programs in a stable environment

— The AF can get the necessary focus on family programs by re-emphasizing the role Support Group commanders play in integrating these functions

New majors list out Tuesday

□ The Air Force plans to release the majors list Tuesday

— The list of those selected for promotion will be available on the Air Force Military Personnel Center's Home Page at 5 p.m., CDT, Aug. 15.

— The Home Page address is: <http://www.mpc.af.mil/> and then click on "major's list" to view those promoted.

64th Medical Squadron schedules Retiree Appreciation Day, Sept. 29

The 64th Medical Squadron will be host a Medical Screening Clinic for retirees and their adult dependents on Sept. 29, from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

This clinic will screen for diabetes, glaucoma, heart disease and hypertension. This is a basic screening clinic. Retirees with active health concerns will be better served by making a regular appointment with a primary care provider, say medical officials

The required laboratory testing this year for the annual physical will include a blood test for cholesterol, triglycerides, and glucose screening. In order for the physician to review the results, these tests must be drawn prior to making an appointment for the retiree screening.

These lab tests require fasting, i.e. nothing to eat or drink, except water, for the 12 hours preceding the blood test. Prescribed medications should be taken as needed. The Primary Care Clinic can provide lab slips on any duty day between 11 Sept. and 22 Sept., from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. Once the lab test is drawn, primary care clinic personnel will schedule an appointment for Sept. 29.

A Third Party Collection Program Insurance Information form will be completed again this year. The form will be completed on the day the appointment is made. Therefore, you will need to bring any insurance information with you, i.e., policy numbers, address, etc.

If there is an independent insurance company, the visit will be charged to them—never to "the patient."

Additional tests such as routine pap smears (no other complications), EKGs, chest x-rays, mammograms, audiograms, and pulmonary function tests may be ordered by the physician at the time of the appointment.

Every effort will be made to accomplish these on the day of the screening. If the 64th MDG cannot accomplish these on the same day, arrangements will be made to have them accomplished at a later date.

On the day of the physical, patients should arrive at the 64th MDG one hour prior to the scheduled appointment.

Officials oppose changes in retired pay computations

WASHINGTON — A Senate and House recommendation to change how military retired pay is computed in an effort to help balance the federal budget has some military officials "up in arms."

The recommendation, called High-12 Month Averaging and dubbed "High-1," would cut 3 percent to 5 percent — and as much as 8 percent in some cases — from the retirement pay of people who entered the armed forces before Sept. 8, 1980.

Deputy Secretary of Defense John P. White said High-1 "is the wrong thing to do" and "unfair" to people who have "already done their part."

White, who met with the internal media from each service Aug. 4, said Secretary of Defense William Perry has written to Congress opposing the High-1 proposal.

The Aug. 4 letter notes that although Congress has significantly reduced retirement benefits in the past, it had always "grandfathered" those who were already on active duty.

White said the Department of Defense understands that Congress is trying to find ways to decrease the federal deficit and that DOD "will have to bear some of the pain." But, he said, "you just don't do that by breaking faith with those who are serving. That's just wrong," he said.

If passed into law, High-1 could take effect Oct. 1 and affect nearly 334,000 active-duty and 319,000 Reserve members who would be paid based on the average of their last 12 months of basic pay rather than the amount they received prior to retiring.

This means people who ordinarily would have received a longevity increase — which occur every even year of service up to 26 years — would lose that money.

Also, people retiring the same year they get a pay raise would also lose money because of High-1.

Although the congressional budget office said High-1 could save $649 million over the next seven years, the Joint Chiefs of Staff maintain that savings would never be realized because military people would delay retiring to get the full benefit of their longevity pay.

Giving an example, the letter cited an E-8 retiring with 26 years of service.

Under the current plan the NCO would get $1,914 per month in retirement pay — 65 percent times the active-duty pay of $2,945.

However, under the proposed plan, that person would only receive $1,753 per month — an 8.4 percent reduction over the current plan.

But, if the NCO stayed on active duty another 12 months, his or her retirement pay would be $1,988 per month.

By staying an extra year, "the member's annual retirement pay would increase by $2,820 over the proposed High-12," the Joint Chiefs of Staff letter stated.

"Over a 30-year life-span, this would translate into an $84,600 difference, providing a significant inducement to stay an additional year" and offsetting any anticipated savings in the retirement account.

Additionally, the military would experience "unanticipated increases" in programmed military personnel accounts.

In the above example, the NCO would get almost $49,000 in allowances by staying on active duty another 12 months, the letter stated.

But the most compelling reason to dismiss High-1, the Joint Chiefs of Staff said, "is its break of faith with people who have been serving this country since before 1980."

Summer Escapes Earn Travel Savings For Fall And Winter

(NAPS)—What's your favorite form of summer escape—cultural explorations in the big city, a romantic secluded hideaway or a sporty trip to catch baseball in full swing?

Any of these escapes can now earn you travel savings for fall and winter, because Marriott Hotels, Resorts and Suites, and Visa U.S.A. have teamed up to make this summer a season of savings.

Marriott's Two For Breakfast™ Escape® weekend discounts—starting as low as $79 a night—are available at more than 200 participating locations, including 26 resorts. It's a savings of 30 to 40 percent.

Offered Thursday through Sunday nights at participating Marriott Hotels and Suites and seven days a week at participating Resorts, rates include deluxe accommodations and a delicious breakfast for two, each day of the stay.

From Memorial Day through Labor Day weekends, May 25 to Sept. 4, 1995, customers who pay for Marriott purchases with a Visa credit or check card will automatically earn 20 percent (double the amount earned at other Visa merchants) of their purchase value in Visa Rewards for Dining and Diversions credits good toward future savings at Marriott Hotels, Resorts, and Suites, other dining and entertainment alternatives.

A summer escape is even more fun when you're earning money for another getaway in the fall or winter. Summer vacation packages make it possible.

Marriott's Two for Breakfast Escape next fall or winter could save as much as 60 percent off the regular rate.

Visa Rewards for Dining and Diversions credits may be redeemed for Visa Savings Certificates valid at more than 200 Marriott locations, both within and outside the U.S., from Oct. 1, 1995 to March 31, 1996.

This means saving $150 on a five or more consecutive night stay or $70 on a three or four consecutive night stay at participating Marriott Resorts.

Or you can save $40 on a three or four consecutive weekend night stay, or save $20 on a two consecutive night stay (Thursday through Sunday).

Woodworking Carving Out A Big Niche

(NAPS)—Whether you like to whittle for fun or build bookshelves for decoration, you are one of millions of Americans who enjoy working with wood. Here are some tips from the experts at Woodcraft on how to get more pleasure out of what has been called one of the world's oldest crafts.

- Planning and design. Careful planning can prevent mistakes and save time and materials.

- Cutting wood to the right size can be done with a variety of hand and power tools, including saws, chisels and planes. Power tools, however, are quicker and more accurate.

- Gluing. A unique environmentally friendly glue has been developed that requires no mixing or additives to cause it to harden. Aptly called Gorilla Glue™, it is incredibly strong, very stable over time and does not become brittle. This all-purpose adhesive can be used for interior or exterior work and will bond common softwoods, hardwoods, teak and other challenging resinous woods.

- Sanding and Finishing. Sanding removes tool marks and makes wood surfaces smooth for finishing. Remember to always

By using a remarkably strong and environmentally friendly glue that requires no mixing, you can unclamp your work much sooner.

sand with the grain of the wood, not across it.

Remember, by using the right tool for the job you can prevent accidents, save time and make your hobby a lot more rewarding.

After years of bitter fighting and millions of casualties, the Allies prevail and ...

WWII ends at last

The war in Europe had been over since May. Vicious fighting on the island of Okinawa and the high U.S. casualty figures for that battle indicated the coming invasion of Japan would make the recent U.S. assaults pale by comparison.

U.S. strength was flowing to the Pacific. In addition to the service members already in the theater, battle-tested divisions from the fight against Nazi Germany were arriving. The Eighth Air Force—which had rained death and destruction upon Germany—was now headquartered on recently captured Okinawa. U.S. submarines had virtually eliminated the Japanese merchant fleet, and Navy task forces sailed the waters adjacent to the home islands, sinking ships and striking targets on land.

U.S. B-29 Superfortresses bombed the Japanese mainland, burning out square miles of their cities. But the Japanese were not ready to give up. Under the slogan "100 Million Die Together," the Japanese high command stockpiled weapons and expected everyone capable of handling a weapon to join the fighting.

The main Japanese armies waited on the home islands. The United States had taken almost 200,000 casualties breaching the outer defenses of the Japanese Empire. How many more would die trying to take the home islands?

But for two columns of cosmic fire, the invasion would have taken place.

On Aug. 6, 1945 one U.S. B-29 named the Enola

MacArthur to Receive Surrender of Japanese

President Truman announced at 7 o'clock tonight that the war with Japan is over. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, he said, has been designated to receive the Japanese surrender, and Allied commanders in the Far East have been ordered to cease hostilities. The President—just three years, eight months and seven days after the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor—announced the end of the war and decreed a two-day holiday of celebration for the American people. The President also announced that inductions in the armed services would be reduced from 26,000 to 50,000 a month immediately. Only those men under 30 will be drafted for the reduced quotas. Government employees will have tomorrow and Thursday off under a proclamation issued by Mr. Truman as he announced the end of the war. As was previously announced, the proclamation of V-J day will wait on formal signing of the surrender terms by the Japanese.

It began in 1939 with Nazi Germany's invasion of Poland and ended with the atomic bombing of Nagasaki in 1945. Military casualties, including both Allies and Axis, reached the staggering figure of 14.9 million killed and 25.2 million wounded. Civilian deaths on both sides totaled 38.6 million.

Gay dropped one bomb on the city of Hiroshima. That city was destroyed, and just over 60,000 Japanese were killed. Three days later, another U.S. bomber, Bock's Car, dropped another atomic bomb on Nagasaki. That city was destroyed, and about 35,000 people perished. In the days and years to come, more Japanese would die from the effects of these weapons.

The Japanese emperor decided to accept Allied peace proposals. Many military leaders still wanted to fight to the end, however, and rose and tried to take control. They were stopped. On Aug. 14, 1945, the Japanese formally accepted the Allied terms.

The Japanese officially surrendered Sept. 2, 1945, aboard the battleship USS Missouri, moored in Tokyo harbor. General of the Army Douglas MacArthur presided over the ceremony.

World War II, the most destructive war in history, finally ended six years after it began. (AFNS)

A dense column of smoke rises more than 60,000 feet into the air over the Japanese port of Nagasaki. Use of the bomb forced Japan to surrender and prevented an invasion which could have cost millions of more lives.

35th FTS wins track meet

The 35th Flying Training Squadron ran away with the intramural track and field meet Saturday with 73.5 points.

The squadron finished with 13 top-three finishes including three first place victories.

Second Lt. Lisa Adams snared two of the first place victories for the 35th FTS. She set a new base record in the women's 100-yard dash at 12.34 seconds. Also, the lieutenant set a new record in the women's 220-yard dash at 28.66 seconds.

Adams was followed in the 100 by Airman 1st Class Latrik Smith, 64th Mission Support Squadron, at 13.81 and Airman 1st Class Lina Schrieber, 64th Medical Group, at 14.00.

In the women's 220, Sherry Deresky, 52nd FTS, finished second at 30.00, followed by Senior Airman Tamika Canady, 64th Logistics Squadron, at 34.61.

Lieutenant Steven Xaudaro, USN, brought home the 35th FTS third victory by setting a record in the men's discus at 119 feet, 7 inches. Teammate, 2nd Lt. James Sweeten captured second place at 118-10 and Staff Sgt. L.D. Harper, 64th Security Police Squadron, finished third at 115-7.

Trailing the 35th FTS in the points total, the 64th MDG captured second place with 69 points, the 64th LS finished in a close third with 68.

In addition to the records set by Adams and Xaudaro, there were four more records broken. Erika Davenport, 64th MDG, set a record in the women's 440-yard dash at 1-minute, 12.87 seconds; Captain Eric Bass, Senior Airman Marcus Jackson, 1st Lt. Antoine Banks and Airman 1st Class Duane Hurd, 64th Mission Support Squadron, set the men's 440-yard re-

Agricultural Wetlands Loss Is Down

(NAPS)—Wetland loss due to agriculture has slowed down dramatically during the last forty years. Although wetland losses due to agriculture continued during the 1980s, they did so at a much slower pace than in previous years. Losses caused by agriculture during the 1982-92 period were about 31,000 acres a year—around one-fifth the annual wetland losses estimated by the Department of the Interior's Fish and Wildlife Service for 1974-83, and less than ten percent of the annual losses estimated for 1954-1974. Between 1982-92, wetland losses due to nonagricultural activities outpaced those caused by agriculture.
