QAFA tests Reese ability to mobilize

Airman 1st Class Lloyd Dehnert assists Senior Airman Steve Oravec, 64th Communications Squadron, during a chemical warfare test Saturday. The evaluation was part of the Air Education and Training Command's 12-day Quality Air Force Assessment of the 64th Flying Training Wing. The QAFA ends today with an outbrief to Maj. Gen. Nicholas Kehoe, 19th Air Force commander, at 11:30 a.m. in the Simler Theater. The outbrief is open to Reese personnel. Because of space limitations, attendance at the briefing will be determined by individual units. A video of the briefing will be shown on the Commander's Access Channel at noon Monday.

Combined Federal Campaign begins Thursday

Reese will officially begin its quest to raise at least $65,000 for the Combined Federal Campaign with a kickoff cookout Thursday.

The kickoff is scheduled for 6 to 8 p.m. at Reese Park and is open to CFC loaned executives, keyworkers and guests.

The annual fund drive is scheduled to run for six weeks.

Col. Randy Gelwix, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, said, "The CFC provides a great opportunity for us to show we care and to make a difference in the lives of many people."

According to Maj. Robin King, Reese CFC project officer, campaign contributions help many thousands of individuals, both in the international community and locally.

Among the many health and service organizations receiving support from CFC contributions are Reese Youth Activities, Red Cross Big Brother/Sister of Lubbock, Salvation Army, Early Learning Centers of Lubbock, and many others.

"All the agencies maintain a local presence to help meet our needs in the community," said Major King. "Your contribution goes for everything from helping to prevent blindness to providing food for the needy or helping the elderly."

The major stressed that participation in the CFC is strictly voluntary and that contributors can select specific agencies or can elect to have their contributions distributed through the general fund to all agencies.

Every contribution goes to the agency designated.

While cash contributions are accepted, most federal employees elect to use the payroll deduction program and make contributions through allotments, she said.

"Payroll deduction allows us to make a year-long, significant impact on the quality of life we share in the Reese and Lubbock community without sacrificing too much out of a single paycheck," said the major.

Reese personnel will be contacted by individual unit keyworkers over the next few weeks.

You are the greatest!

by Col. Randy Gelwix
64th FTW commander

Be sharp, be confident, be proud! That's what I asked each of you to do last week before our Quality Air Force Assessment.

You all did it...you were sharp, confident and proud. Congratulations to each one of you...you were truly outstanding.

Our assessment concludes today with an outbrief at 11:30 a.m. in the Simler Theater. I encourage everyone to listen closely to the feedback from the IG team, then use it to improve existing processes if they need improvement.

Test new ideas, if you think you can make the process better. We all worked very hard to get ready and the IG Team worked hard to evaluate our programs.

Let's take this advice and "run with it."

To cap off the Quality Assessment we will host a German style picnic at 1 p.m. in Hangar 82.

This is our time to relax. We've earned it. Let's all enjoy the good food, camaraderie and great music by a Bavarian fest band. But let's celebrate smartly and safely.

Please don't forget our mission remains the same...to train the world's best pilots and maintain our warfighting skills.

As we add base closure to our list of missions, we'll focus on closing the base in late 1997 with "style and grace" while we work hard to get the best possible job assignment for everyone—military, civilian, contractor...when the time is right.

Thanks again for the super effort during the inspection.

You all are the greatest!

Reese JA warns against government card abuse

by Maj. James Moody
Staff Judge Advocate

A new and widespread problem in the Air Force is the abuse of the government American Express Card.

This card is issued to military personnel for expenses associated with official travel only.

For example, if someone is assigned to go TDY, he or she can get cash advances using this credit card. This replaces the old procedure of going to Travel Pay for an advance.

In addition, the member may use the card to pay for meals, lodging, and other expenses related to official travel. However, it is most emphatically not appropriate to use the card for personal expenses unrelated to any TDY.

For example, if a member holding an AMEX Card wishes to make some private purchases—say, pay for a meal at a restaurant here in Lubbock or use it for expenses incurred in a family vacation—it is illegal to do it with this credit card.

Such purchases go beyond the intended purpose of the card and, in fact, can be the subject of disciplinary action under the Uniform Code of Military Justice. There have been courts-martial at other bases and we have given out some Article 15 punishments here at Reese for improper use of these credit cards.

Make sure that you only use the cards for expenses associated with official travel. Any other use spells big trouble.

Social Actions clarifies article

by Capt. Eric Bass
Chief, Social Actions

To clarify some information printed in the September 15 edition of the Roundup, Social Actions does not tell commanders what punishment to give confirmed offenders.

Social Actions simply offers advice to commanders on the trends regarding particular punishments of past cases so that there can be a degree of fairness and standardization. Commanders coordinate final decisions on punishment with the Legal Office. Every case is different; however, commanders need to be aware of what common types of punishment coincide with certain discrimination and sexual harassment offenses.

Vice commander gets new orders

Col. William Reynolds, 64th Flying Training Wing vice commander, has received a new assignment as the Inspector General for Air Education and Training Command, Randolph AFB, Texas.

The colonel is expected to assume his new post in October. He will be succeeded at Reese by Col. Kodak Horton, currently serving as Chief of Inspections, AETC IG.

Earlier this year, Colonel Reynolds had been slated for assignment at the Air Force Personnel Center.

Reese sets POW/MIA observance

Reese will hold its annual Prisoner of War and Missing In Action observance here Wednesday.

The local observance begins at 3:30 p.m. with a POW/MIA service at the Reese Chapel.

A retreat ceremony is scheduled at 4 p.m. A T-38 fourship fly by is scheduled for 4:20 p.m. The T-38s will fly the "missing man" formation.

More than 90,000 Americans — most of them from World War II — are still listed as prisoners of war or missing in action since the first world war ended in 1917.

Air Force officials said the the war in Southeast Asia and previous wars led the United States to take steps to ensure that no U.S. servicemember remained a POW or MIA following Desert Storm. This included establishing a joint rescue coordination center before hostilities began in the Persian Gulf and working with other defense agencies to rapidly locate and identify downed flight crews and crash sites.

Twenty-three U.S. servicemembers were captured and Reese instructor and student pilots salute during the POW/MIA Day retreat ceremony here last year. This year's observance will be held Wednesday and will include a four-ship T-38 fly by.

released during Operation Desert Storm and 29 others were killed in action.

More than 2,100 Americans are still unaccounted for in Southeast Asia, including 783 Air Force members. The majority are believed to be in Vietnam or adjacent countries that were under the control of Vietnamese forces during the war.

While the level of cooperation by the Vietnamese government has fluctuated over the last 20 years, joint U.S.-Vietnamese field activities since 1988 have resulted in the recovery of the remains of 314 Americans who were previously unaccounted for, officials said.

The United States has acknowledged Vietnam's increased cooperation in several ways, including, lifting the trade embargo and announcing the normalization of relations. These actions are aimed at achieving the fullest possible accounting of American POWs and MIAs, officials said.

Some 8,100 people are still unaccounted for from the Korean War. Since 1990, Korea has turned over 194 sets of remains which are being analyzed at the Army Central Identification Laboratory in Hawaii.

To date, only five sets of remains have been identified.

Although the United States had access to World War II battlefields for extensive searches after the war, more than 78,700 Americans remain unaccounted for.

Since 1977, the United States has recovered only 122 sets of remains from crash sites in Europe and the Pacific.

FSC expands services to Reese civilians

by Senior Airman
Tim Dempsey
Staff Writer

The family support center here has expanded its programs to assist all of the Reese community.

The programs are now available to all Reese civilians along with active duty military and their families and retirees.

"We're trying to prepare people for the probability of base closure," said Pamela Appell, a transitions assistance specialist at the family support center. "We want to make the transition process as easy as possible for everyone."

The center offers a wide range of programs and workshops to help base people relocate. It carries relocation brochures on Air Force bases, Naval bases and the communities surrounding them.

Also, the center is working closely with the Lubbock community to find jobs for people who want to stay in the local area.

The center offers the following computer programs to the Reese community:

□ Resume Maker — for developing resume, coverletters, broadcast letters, and thank you notes;

□ SF 171/ OF 612 Forms Maker — Federal Employment Application;

□ Defense Outplacement Referral System (DORS) — a national employment referral system;

□ Transition Bulletin Board (TBB) — ads for employment opportunities;

□ DUNN's Job Search — profiles of more than 5 million companies across the nation;

□ America's Job Bank — nationwide jobs in state and private sector;

□ Job Opportunities — list available each month;

□ Civil Service Opportunities — worldwide federal job listing by region;

□ Wordperfect and Microsoft Word — for typing cover letters and printing resumes;

□ EZ Dot — compares military jobs to civilian jobs;

□ Automap — plans your trip by the shortest and quickest route;

□ Economic Assessor Series — compares relocation, salary and geographic cost of living and □ Money Maker — financial organizer.

In addition, workshops taught in conjunction with the center by the Texas Employment Commission and members of the Society for Human Resource Managers include: Humon Risk and Change, Change Management, Job Search Seminar, Entering Job Force, Interviewing, Job Search/ Career Planning, Preparing a Resume, Communication, Employer Expectations and Networking.

To attend any of these workshops or use any of the programs, an initial intake form has to be filled out by the center. To fill out a form people need to set up an appointment with the center by calling 885-3305.

JPATS aircraft slated for Randolph

First joint trainers to arrive in early 1999

by Jim Sandefur
AETC Public Affairs

WRIGHT-PATTERSON AFB, Ohio (AFNS) — Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, headquarters of the Air Force's Air Education and Training Command, will receive the first production Joint Primary Aircraft Training System in early 1999, according to Air Force officials.

That first delivery will be followed by deliveries to three other, specialized, AETC undergraduate pilot training bases. The three bases are:

Laughlin AFB, Texas; Vance AFB, Okla.; and Columbus AFB, Miss.

While delivery schedules are tentative, depending on when JPATS contracts are signed, the Air Force eventually will receive 372 of 711 aircraft in scheduled production increments.

U.S. Navy primary training bases are scheduled to begin receiving the other 339 JPATS aircraft in early 2002, with the last delivery in 2017.

JPATS will replace the Air Force's T-37 aircraft and the Navy's T-34C aircraft as the primary aircraft trainer.

It will incorporate several features that are not available on current Air Force and Navy training systems.

Improvements will include missionized ejection seats, improved birdstrike protection and electronic flight instrumentation. Other improvements are digital cockpit display, pressurized cockpit, and flexibility to accommodate a wide range of pilot candidates, both male and female.

The program is managed here by Aeronautical Systems Center's Flight Training System Program Office, directed by Col. John L. Hudson.

September promotees miss mid-month increase

DENVER (AFNS) — A communication line failure kept about 3,600 Air Force promotees from receiving their mid-month salary increase, said Defense finance officials.

Those affected are Air Force members who were promoted on Sept. 1. The problem occurred when a communication line failure kept promotion transactions sent by the Air Force Military Personnel Center at Randolph Air Force, Texas, from being received by the Denver Center on time.

The error will be corrected in the end of month pay.

Captain Sampayo and Sergeant Geffre

New ADC team serves Reese

Capt. Jaime Sampayo and SSgt. Kimberly Geffre are the new area defense counsel team for Reese and Cannon Air Force Base, N.M.

Their mission is to provide quality criminal legal defense services to all Cannon and Reese active duty military members involved in Uniform Code of Military Justice and administrative actions, in an effort to ensure all the military members are accorded due process of law under the United States Constitution and laws of the United States.

As the ADC, Capt Sampayo reports to a separate chain of command within the Air Force Legal Services Agency, headquartered at Bolling AFB, Washington D.C.

Capt Sampayo is available for appointments here on the third floor of Bldg 230, Suite 324. Call DSN 681-2915 to make an appointment.

With U.S. Savings Bonds, the more you give, the more you receive.

Every day, we pass a little of ourselves on to the next generation. When it's best to go fishing, which bait to use, how to cast, what makes a keeper. The knowledge that we give stays with them forever. And we hope we've made their lives a little richer for the learning.

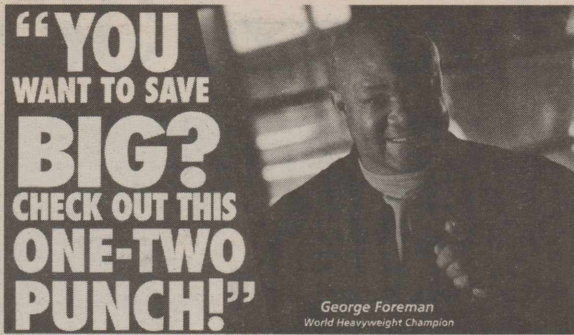

Giving U.S. Savings Bonds also passes an important lesson on to the future generation. Bonds can teach our children how to save, how interest grows and how a small investment can help make their dreams come true.

Buying U.S. Savings Bonds contributes to a solid and secure America for generations to come. What a great way for you to say, "I believe in your future!"

Bonds are as easy to buy as they are to give. Buy them at half their face value through your local bank. U.S. Savings Bonds are like friendships — the longer they're kept, the more they're worth.

So share the tradition of U.S. Savings Bonds. They're the gift that gives back more than you've given.

PEOPLE FIRST

Quality of life: More than just talk

Secretary of Defense William Perry has allocated $2.7 billion to the services for quality of life programs.

□ The Marsh Commission was formed to address how best to spend the money

□ The Air Force received an initial allocation of $201.6 million. We'll spend it over the next six years on:

-- CONUS cost-of-living allowance for 2,700 members at 14 locations

-- Child development programs: 13,000 additional spaces, training, supervision, equipment and supplies

-- Reduce basic allowance for quarters gap; increase BAQ in fiscal year 1996 affecting 298,000 members

-- Dormitory revitalization: $17 million to renovate existing dorms

-- Military family housing: $30 million for new construction and improvements of family housing

More information to follow once the Marsh Commission submits its final report at the end of September.

Assignment opportunities for enlisted

The Air Force needs Vietnamese/Cambodian/Laotian linguists.

□ Joint Task Force Full Accounting needs members who can translate these languages

□ Duty locations are at Camp Smith, Hawaii (36-month tour) and in Vietnam (12-month tour)

□ Top Secret/special compartmentalized information security clearance required before departing for assignment

□ Staff sergeants through master sergeants in any Air Force specialty may apply

□ People who don't speak the required languages must take the Defense Language Aptitude Battery Test

If interested, call Staff Sgt. Jim Castro at DSN 487-3047 or Staff Sgt. Mike Babas at DSN 487-5797.

White House Fellowship program open

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AFNS) — Air Force members wishing to learn how the nation's government works are eligible to apply for participation in the White House Fellowship program.

□ All U.S. citizens, with the exception of federally employed civilians, can apply with no restrictions on age, sex, race, grade, or physical requirements, according to Air Force Military Personnel Center officials.

□ Active-duty members can apply by requesting an application from the President's Commission on White House Fellows, 712 Jackson Place NW, Washington DC 20006, or by calling (202) 395-4522.

Applications must arrive at the commission by Dec. 1.

Air Force to test new skirt designs

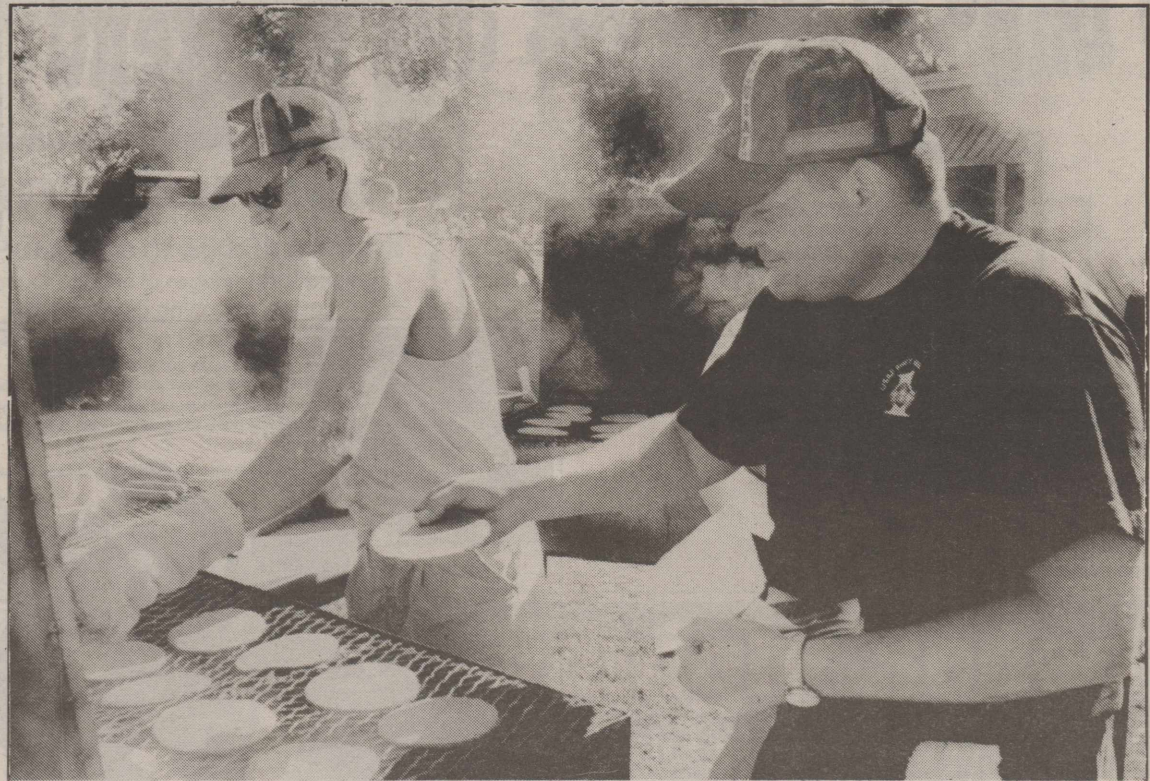

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force will test designs of two new service dress skirts this fall, as a result of a proposal to the 94th uniform board that met in January.

□ Air Force redesigned the skirt after women complained about the pleated waistline

□ One of the new prototypes is similar to the current skirt but re-sized so pleats lie flat. The skirt also features an open "kick pleat" in the back. The second prototype uses darts instead of pleats and features a closed kick pleat.

Clothing division officials at Wright-Patterson will evaluate test results in March.

Reese hosts picnic, sports day cancelled

Master Sgt. Mike Pleskovitch, 64th MSSQ first sergeant, and MSgt. Richard Miller, 64th CES first sergeant, keep the grill going during a previous wing picnic. Reese first sergeants will be cooking bratwurst for today's wing picnic.

Reese will celebrate the completion of the Air Education and Training Command Quality Air Force Assessment today with a German style picnic.

Sports Day activities, originally scheduled in conjunction with the picnic, have been postponed because of forecasts for inclement weather.

The picnic begins at 1 p.m. in Hangar 82 and is open to all Reese personnel and their families.

The picnic menu includes bratwurst, brotchen, potato salad German beer and soda.

A Bavarian fest band will provide live music during the picnic.

Military Day set at area fair

The cast of the Wizard of Oz performs during last year's fair. This year will feature performances of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

Reese military personnel and their families will be admitted free at the Annual Panhandle South Plains Fair on Sept. 29.

The fair annually sets one day each year to admit military and college students free of charge. Admission is normally $4 for adults and $1 for children. The fair begins Saturday and runs through Sept. 30.

According to fair officials, a valid active-duty military identification card is required for admission of the family.

The fair features a variety of free attractions. In addition to all of the agricultural and craft exhibits, shows such as Hedrick's Racing Pigs, Snuffy's Clown Review and W.C. Willy-Stilt Walker, perform daily.

A major attraction for children is the Outdoor Stage performance of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. The stage is located in the exhibit area. Performances are at 5, 6 and 8 p.m. daily.

Another kid's favorite is the Children's Barnyard. Located in the agricultural exhibit area in the southeast section of the fairgrounds, the barnyard is filled with a variety of farm animals that kids can hold and pet.

Activities scheduled for Military Day include rabbit judging in the morning and a mule show in the afternoon.

The carnival midway opens at 1 p.m. Recording artist Pam Tillis will perform concerts at 7 and 9 p.m. Advance tickets are required for the Tillis concert.

The fairgrounds is located between 4th Street and Broadway off Avenue A. Parking on and around the fairgrounds costs $2.

Community notes

Hispanic heritage activities continue

The Reese Hispanic Heritage Committee is seeking support for two special events.

The committee is hosting a Mexican food plate sale Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Reese Main Exchange. Delivery service to the flightline is also available. Call Joe Castillo at 3582 for advance plate tickets.

In addition, the committee is sponsoring a clothing drive for needy people in Honduras. Clothes can be dropped off at the Reese Chapel. Reese Village residents can have items picked up by calling Tech. Sgt. Linda Segundo at 6629.

Lemon Lot opens here

As a means of organizing the selling of used cars and to provide better service for Reese people, the 64th Services Squadron equipment rental office will manage a Lemon Lot at the southwest corner of the Reese Exchange parking lot.

Car owners may rent space by the week or by the month for up to three cars at a time. The fee per vehicle is $2.50 a week or $10 a month. Vehicles must have current Reese registration. Space is limited and will be assigned on a first-come, first-serve basis.

To reserve parking slots at the Lemon Lot, contact the equipment rental office staff at 3141.

Black heritage meeting set

The Reese Black Heritage Committee will meet Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Reese Family Support Center. Call Staff Sgt. James Myrick, 6545 for additional information.

Advisory council to meet

The Health Consumers Advisory Council will meet on Sept. 25 at 1:30 p.m. in the aerospace physiology classroom, Bldg. 1238. For additional information call Glenda Ward at 3542.

ACSC seeks volunteers

The Air Command and Staff College is seeking 200 to 300 volunteers to participate in a new distance learning course -- ACSC Multi Media Edition. The program will begin in October. For more information and eligibility requirements, contact the Education and Training Flight at 3469.

remains
value

Jackie Simmons, a Reese Child Development Center care giver, helps Johnathan Arellano with an educational puzzle. The Reese CDC has bucked the trend for the second straight year and will not increase student fees. The Department of Defense, which regulates CDC fees, recently authorized DOD centers to increase rates. For more information about CDC programs, call 3541.

Civilian positions available here

The Reese Civilian Personnel Office has announced vacancies in the following positions:

Maintenance Worker -- WG-4749-08; Engineering Draftsman -- GS-0818-06; Maintenance Mechanic Helper -- WG-4749-05; High Voltage Electrician -- WG-2810-10; Medical Technologist -- GS-644-07; and Supervisory Resources Analyst -- GS-0301-11.

For eligibility and application information, call the civilian personnel office at 3801.

The 1995 AETC Base Level Photo Contest will be held Oct. 10. Entries are due by Oct. 7.

Entries may be submitted in four categories: military life, people, nature/scenic and experimental. There will be three contest divisions: color prints, color slides and black and white prints.

For additional information about the contest, call Jim Lindly at 3141.

Management course offered

A Civilian Personnel Management Course will be conducted here Nov. 28-30.

The course is mandatory for supervisors of three or more civilians. Supervisors of less than three civilians should also attend. Call Nina Dailey at 3803 for information.

In addition, two books have been lost from the civilian personnel office. They are part of a five-book set of federal instructions and have green covers. Call 3803 if you have information about these books.

Smoking cessation class scheduled

A six-week smoking cessation class is being sponsored by the 64th Medical Group Behavioral Medicine Clinic. For class dates and registration information, call 3739.

Weight management class set

The 64th Medical Group is offering a 10-week weight management course. Call 3739 to register.

Base Closure Readiness NEWS line

If you have questions about the base closure readiness process, help is just a telephone call away.

You can reach the NEWS line 24 hours each day.

Just leave your question, your name and your telephone number and a base closure readiness official will get back to you with an answer as soon as possible.

In addition, those questions with base-wide interest will be published in the base newspaper.

Teams ready to kickoff new season on gridiron

Rico Dyer, 64th LS, will try to elude the grasp of defenders this season. The 64th LS is relying on the arm of Pete Adams to make it back to the playoffs. The season begins Tuesday.

by Senior Airman

The days are getting shorter and the temperature is getting cooler. This can mean only one thing . . .

It's time for intramural flag football!

Preparation for this long-awaited season began more than a month ago, as teams get ready to hit the gridiron in Tuesday's season opener.

Defending champs, the 35th Flying Training Squadron, will try to repeat this season. They are led by Stefan Xaudaro who returned an interception for a touchdown in last year's title match against the 64th Logistics Squadron.

"We're relying on our experience from last year and the speed we've acquired from new students joining the team," said Ron Bryant, receiver. This year's team returns with approximately half of last season's team. Bryant and quarterback Kevin Kilb will try to connect through the air to lead the offense.

The 64th LS overpowered its opponents last season as it lost only one game during the regular season and came up short in the championship game. The team returns this year with a powerful offense and a strong defense determined to claim the title.

"This year we have a lot of new talent and a dynamic defense," said Marion Tate, coach of the 64th LS. Tate said the experienced arm of quarterback Pete Adams will head the offense.

Two more teams that had an outstanding season but fell shy in the semi-finals of the playoffs were the 64th Security Police Squadron and the 52nd FTS. According to Curt Montez, the 64th SPS coach, his team will rely on a relentless defense to stifle its opponents. The 52nd FTS will go airborne with its offense as it tries to rack up points and yardage.

In the American League, other teams which will attempt to improve this season are the 64th Medical Group, Lockheed Martin Logistics Management and the 64th Mission Support Squadron.

The 64th MDG is plagued by quarterback controversy. It features Lee Gray who specializes in airing the long bomb and Brian Crane who runs the West Coast style offense.

Coach Jim Stryker has LMLM ready for the competition.

Eric Bass gives the 64th Mission Support Squadron added support as he goes both ways at wide receiver and defensive back and Antoine Banks brings collegiate experience from the U. S. Air Force Academy.

The National League will feature storied competition among the 54th FTS, the 64th Operations Support Squadron, the 64th Communication Squadron and U.S. Marine Corps.

The 54th FTS will rely on the arm of quarterback Dave Cool.

The 64th OSS will feature all-around talent including coach Joe Wolfer.

Wide out Matt Fells will try to help the 64th CS offense while strong safety Korey Nowlin leads the defensive secondary.

Linebacker Mitchell Nared will anchor the tenacious defense of the U.S. Marine Corps.

Intramural flag football schedule for Week 1

Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday
64th CS vs. 64th MSS, 5 p.m.	LMLM vs. 64th MSS, 5 p.m.	35th FTS vs. 64th CS, 5 p.m.
54th FTS vs. 64th SPS, 6 p.m.	64th SPS vs. 64th OSS, 6 p.m.	USMC vs. 64th SPS, 6 p.m.
64th LS vs. 64th OSS, 7 p.m.	54th FTS vs. USMC, 7 p.m.	64th MSS vs. 64th OSS, 7 p.m.

Arts Alliance Creates Festival for Children

Lubbock's "youngest" event takes flight on Saturday, Sept. 30, as the Lubbock Arts Alliance, Inc. stages its first CHILDREN'S FEST O' FUN at Texas Tech's 19th Street & Indiana Avenue entrance from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Basing plans for the Children's Fest o' Fun on the belief that the arts hold a unique promise for educating children as we stand at the threshold of the 21st century, the Arts Alliance has created the one-day event to complement its annual Lubbock Arts Festival, and to provide a joyful educational experience for children and their families.

As one of the programs of the Lubbock Arts Alliance, the Children's Fest o' Fun has as its mission the development of alliances that promote awareness of, appreciation for, and involvement in the arts; reinforcement of the arts as an essential element in life-long learning; and, enhancement of the quality of life for children and families throughout the South Plains / Eastern New Mexico region.

The event will be free to Lubbock residents and visitors.

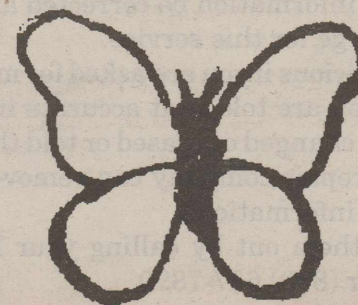

Children's Fest o' Fun Co-Chairmen Carol Jean Bartlett and LeRoy Montoya and a steering committee of community volunteers and educators have been working through the summer to finalize details for the celebration.

Early plans call for creative activities that center on a child's most important work - play.

Entertainment, food, games and experiences will additionally celebrate the imaginative abilities of children.

For more information, contact the Lubbock Arts Alliance at 744-ARTS.

The Lubbock Arts Alliance, Inc. is an independent corporation dedicated to sponsoring and funding arts and cultural activities for Lubbock and the South Plains region.

Concerning Credit

Promises, Promises, Promises...

Your Better Business Bureau advises caution if you are tempted to answer an ad that promises to 'repair' your credit report.

Credit repair companies often charge exorbitant fees. They promise to remove derogatory information from a person's credit file and 'fix' your report.

The fact is: If the negative information in your file is accurate, it cannot be removed!

Credit bureaus can report negative information for seven years and bankruptcies for ten.

The law says a consumer has the right to go directly to the reporting agency to request that inaccurate information be corrected and they cannot charge for this service.

Be suspicious if you are asked for money in advance, you are told that accurate information will be changed or erased or told that only the credit repair company can remove old or inaccurate information.

Check them out by calling your BBB at 763-0459 or (800) 687-7890.

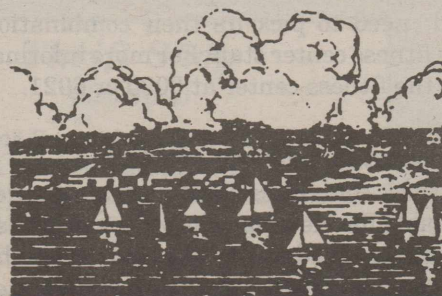

from the Better Business Bureau.
