Cadenheads honored for 100 years of medical service

by Caron Yates

One hundred years and counting! Three generations and a century later, there continues to be a Dr. Cadenhead seeing after the medical needs of the people of Haskell County and the surrounding area.

This most unusual accomplishment was recognized during the ribbon cutting ceremony at the newly remodeled Haskell Memorial Hospital. Presented to the Cadenhead family, was a beautiful framed picture of all three Drs. Cadenhead with inscriptions in calligraphy by Suzanne Starr.

The story began when the original Dr. Cadenhead or James Frank, was born in McKinney in 1891. He spent his youth in Bellvue, where he graduated from Bellvue High School in 1910. He then attended the Fort Worth Medical School of Texas Christian University. In 1915, after an internship at Harris Memorial Hospital in Fort Worth, he surprised his medical school friends, by announcing that he was leaving the city to practice medicine in the small town of Weinert.

According to a family history published in "Just Passing Through Weinert" written by R.S. and Betty Sanders, Dr. J.F. Cadenhead, Sr. became the partner of Dr. E.E. Cockerell, an established physician in the surrounding area. This was both a help and a hindrance to the young doctor. He received valuable counseling concerning the farm folk he had come to treat, but he found that they often considered him too young and inexperienced to really be able to help them. It didn't take long for people to change their minds on that issue.

With war clouds gathering in July of 1917, Dr. Cadenhead, Sr. volunteered for the Army Medical Ambulance Service Corps 359.

Before the end of World War I, Lt. Cadenhead was promoted to Captain Cadenhead and served several months in the Army of Occupation. After his discharge in 1919, he returned to his practice in Weinert. He married his wife Jewel in February 1920.

Dr. Cadenhead, Sr. had an office in the back of the Weinert Drug Store to see patients, however the majority of his "doctoring" was done through house calls. People in the surrounding rural areas, would send for the doctor, who always answered the call, no matter the time or the weather.

Dr. Cadenhead, Sr., although an extremely busy country doctor, found time for both his family and the needs of the community. He was very involved in all aspects of the town, as well as working diligently to help establish the Haskell County Hospital in 1939. He served on its staff until his death.

After a long battle with cancer and a thirty-two year career, Dr. J.F. Cadenhead, Sr. died at the age of 56, in November 1947.

At about this time, the eldest son of Dr. Cadenhead, Sr. and Jewel, Frank Cadenhead, was completing requirements to enter the medical profession himself. He knew at an early age he wanted to be a doctor, following in the footsteps of his father.

Dr. Frank Cadenhead

graduated at the age of fifteen from Weinert High School, and then enrolled at Hardin-Simmons, graduating in three years with a degree in chemistry and biology. He attended Vanderbilt University Medical School in Nashville, Tennessee, where at the age of twenty-one, he earned his medical degree.

Dr. Frank went to San Antonio to intern in family practice at Medical and Surgical Memorial Hospital. It was there he met a young nurse from Mississippi by the name of Billie Buntyn, who soon became his wife. Although he was serving in the Air Force Reserve at the time, he was allowed to return home to help his ailing father.

In July 1947, Dr. Frank began practicing medicine locally, as he joined Dr. Ernest Kimbrough at the Haskell Clinic. For more than five decades, he worked in surgery, obstetrics and saw patients in his office and at the hospital. Like his father before him, Captain Frank Cadenhead answered the call to military service in 1953-54, serving during the Korean Conflict.

Dr. Cadenhead, Sr. did not live to practice medicine with his son. However, that hope for Dr. Frank did come to pass, when his eldest son, Dr. Wayne Cadenhead, joined the practice in 1978.

Influenced by his father, and knowing he wanted to live in a rural community, it was in high school that Dr. Wayne decided a family practice doctor was what he wanted to be. Dr. Wayne received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Baylor University and then his Medical Degree from UT Health Science Medical Center in San Antonio, where he happened to meet Yuvi, the young woman who became his wife. After a residency in family practice at Texas Tech School of Medicine, Dr. Wayne was ready to come back home. He had the privilege of working alongside his father for the next twenty-two years, until Dr. Frank retired in 2000.

So much has changed in the field of medicine from when Dr. Cadenhead, Sr. opened his practice in 1915 to Dr. Wayne's practice today. While they all three made house calls, that need greatly decreased through the generations. Dr. Wayne recalls that in his early practice, the four doctors in the clinic, including Dr. Joe Thigpen and Dr. Colbert, saw as many as two hundred patients per day, delivered sixty babies a year and usually performed at least three surgeries per week.

The shrinking of the population in rural West Texas, a more mobile population, the increase in specialists in many areas of medicine, as well as extensive government regulations, has changed the practice of most "country doctors." The need for these doctors, however has not changed.

While all three of the Drs. Cadenhead have delivered many babies in the county, rising insurance costs among other things, forced local doctors to discontinue delivering babies and performing surgeries.

Dr. Cadenhead, Sr. said he would only do surgery until he lost a patient. True to his word, he loaded up surgery patients on the train and sent them to a surgeon in Abilene.

While Dr. Wayne performed many surgeries in his medical practice, he says he did not have the same passion for it as his father, Dr. Frank. Dr. Frank was a very skilled surgeon.

The advancements in the medical field over the past one hundred years have almost been unimaginable. When asked what he thinks his grandfather would be most surprised by, Dr. Wayne answered, "The number of medicines available now to treat so many different things. My granddad had twelve to fourteen medicines he mixed to treat everything." He continued, "Also the availability of lab testing, x-rays, etc. to help diagnose. He really just had to make his best guess and treat it."

Like many professions, being a good doctor, especially a family practice doctor, requires a sacrifice not only for the doctor but his family as well. When they are called upon they go, and consequently miss family time and other events. Nevertheless family, church and friends have always been of utmost importance to each of these men.

It is a calling the Cadenhead family has felt and carried on for a century and continues into the future. All three men knew they wanted to be rural doctors, where you know your patients on a very personal level. They are friends, as well as patients. While Drs. Cadenhead experienced many ups and downs in their medical careers, such as being the bearer of bad news, Dr. Wayne sums up the motivation to continue on in a few words, "Because every once in a while, you do something really right—and it's good."

Dr. Frank Cadenhead was often heard to say, "I have found that there are no coincidences with God." Like his father before him, and his son after him, he knew the Cadenhead family was where God put them, and the people of this area for three generations have been blessed by their work.

Ribbon-cutting ceremony held at Haskell Memorial Hospital

by Caron Yates

The recently expanded and remodeled Haskell Memorial Hospital held a ribbon cutting ceremony Tuesday, June 9.

Hospital administrator Fran McCown, welcomed visitors and recognized members of the hospital board of directors, medical staff and McKinstry Contractors, the company completing the construction project. She also thanked the hospital staff who continued to care for patients amidst the upheaval of construction. In addition she expressed the hospital's gratitude to the Hospital Auxiliary, who have helped to purchase needed equipment.

Hospital board member Robbie Peiser, spoke to the crowd about the new additions to the hospital. He said, "It takes someone with vision to make a project like this happen." He credited former administrator Bill Nemir with having the vision to find a way to keep the hospital financially viable. Earlier Emmett had taken notice that the Cadenhead family had practiced medicine in Haskell County for over a century. Feeling that accomplishment certainly should be recognized, he talked with his supervisor who agreed. Emmett presented to the Cadenhead family a beautifully framed picture of all three Drs. Cadenhead with inscriptions depicting their years of practice.

Peiser also commended McCown, who has strong financial expertise in hospital administration, for having the vision, knowledge and foresight to see this project to its completion. Peiser said this expanded project was the result of the board and administration listening to the community. It was a stated need, originating from concerns of citizens during town hall meetings held earlier.

Next on the program was Brett Emmett, rural hospital liaison and Director of Regional Services for Hendrick Medical Center, which covers nineteen counties. He emphasized the importance of rural hospitals and the part they play in providing the best care possible for patients. He added that initial care is often essential for the successful outcome of patients being transferred to a larger hospital like Hendrick Medical Center.

The project itself was accomplished in two phases. Phase 1 was for improvements in the existing facility and included all new HVAC systems and controls, lighting system improvements, solar heated hot water systems, window improvements, asbestos abatement, fire sprinkler system improvement, new roof, fire pump and med gas system. McCown says, "Many of these improvements were needed and required in order for the hospital to get up to code per the Texas Department of Health guidelines for hospitals."

The cost of this phase of the project was approximately four million dollars and was funded from a combination of reserve funds and energy savings over the next fifteen years of more efficient systems. McCown added, "It is a guaranteed energy program with McKinstry that we will see the savings or they will pay us the difference."

Phase 2 of the project included a new four bed emergency room and a four bed walk-in clinic. Renovations to the cardiac rehab, physical therapy, lab and some office areas were also completed. A CT Scan has been added, along with isolation and decontamination rooms. The approximate cost of three million dollars plus an additional one million for equipment and furnishings was funded through the issuance of bonds, grant programs and increased reimbursement from some payers for the asset improvements.

Although it took a little longer than first anticipated, the results are impressive. Haskell Memorial Hospital is now a top notch facility, ready and capable of serving the medical needs of area citizens for many years to come.

How Waterlogged Soils Impact Cotton Growth and Management Decision by Gaylon Morgan, Professor and Extension Cotton Specialist

Much of the South Texas, and possibly some of West Texas' cotton acres, will be down due to the excessively wet weather both prior to planting and following planting. Planting the seed and stand establishment were initially the concerns in South and East Texas. Now the concern is how long can cotton handle saturated soils and cloudy conditions. Below is some information and considerations when trying to make management decisions on cotton during this wet spring and summer.

In waterlogged soils, water replaces air in the soil and plant roots become deprived of oxygen. Clay soils can become depleted of oxygen after just 2 days of standing water, especially where high nitrogen levels are present in the soil. As roots become deprived of oxygen, plants are unable to maintain normal respiration, which provides energy and the building blocks for shoot and root growth. As seen this season, cotton can handle saturated soils for quite some time; however, plant growth will remain slow and each developmental stage will be delayed. Previous research has shown that under short-term flooding (7 days) leaf growth is decreased by over 25% and photosynthesis by over 15%, while root growth was not hindered much.

However, under continued saturated conditions, I suspect root growth will also be significantly impacted and may have a long-term detrimental impact on total root growth, root distribution, and yield potential.

Typically, cotton roots grow 0.5-2 inches per day and plants will have a root system extending 3+ feet deep by the first flower growth stage. The vast majority of root growth occurs the first 60 days after germination. In waterlogged soils, root growth will be slowed, and roots will tend to proliferate near the soil surface where more oxygen is present. Reduced growth and shallow depth of the roots make plants more susceptible to drought stress later in the season. Additionally, producers should be careful when cultivating to minimize root pruning, which can further hinder the crop growth. Because of these impacts on root growth and function, saturated soils also inhibit nutrient uptake, specifically phosphorous and potassium, along with nitrogen and other nutrients. An obvious response for some producers may be to apply foliar nutrients to remediate observed or anticipated nutrient deficiencies. Foliar applications of nutrients may result in a slight improvement in appearance, but are not likely to result in an economical yield increase. Soil nitrates (plant available form of nitrogen) also can be lost from the soil as a gas once anaerobic conditions occur.

As a result, supplemental N may be needed in some cases to meet plant needs for the season. See the publication from Mississippi State University titled "How to Estimate Nitrogen Loss resulting from Saturated Soils." However, in most cases once waterlogged conditions subside and sunshine returns, normal plant growth and nutrient uptake will resume, and nutrient deficiency symptoms typically will go away. Regardless, plants cannot compensate for this lost time and crop harvest will be delayed as a result.

After the soil begins to dry out, there will likely be the urge to apply plant growth regulators (PGRs) to control plant size and possibly promote earlier maturation. However, we must keep in mind that waterlogged conditions also inhibit plant hormones, which contribute to growth and leaf expansion. So, be cautious about applying PGRs too soon after waterlogged conditions, because applications too early could further decrease the yield potential, especially for some varieties. Please consult with the seed company about the recommended PGR regime for each variety.

The 2015 season has been a challenge. The flooding and waterlogged soils will definitely delay crop development; however, once established, cotton is a tough plant that can compensate for many adversities. So, do not give up on our 2015 cotton crop too early.

County Conservation Partners host Local Work Group meeting

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Haskell County and the Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District cordially invite the public to attend their FY16 Local Working Group (LWG) meeting June 19 from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.

The purpose of this annual LWG meeting is to set local conservation priorities and bring conservation stakeholders together to discuss conservation topics and issues relevant to helping Haskell County farmers and ranchers better conserve on-farm natural resources.

The agenda of the meeting is to update attendees on recent conservation efforts and to collect public input to help guide future conservation activities. Through regular identification of conservation opportunities, effective Farm Bill investment can continue to benefit Haskell County. For more information, please contact Cody Mathis, district conservationist, at 940-864-2617 ext. 4. For more information, visit the NRCS Web site at <http://www.tx.nrcs.usda.gov/>.

Finley, Hinds reelected to CTFC board

Each year, shareholders vote to elect their peers to serve Central Texas Farm Credit and continue to advance the Farm Credit's mission to provide financing for rural America. This year, shareholders voted to reelect Mike Finley and Philip W. Hinds to serve three year terms.

As board members, Finley and Hinds both bring valuable insight and experience from their own agricultural operations and businesses.

"Our board members are essential to this organization's success," says Jimmy Chambers, chief executive officer of Central Texas Farm Credit, "Our nominating committee always provides a slate of quality candidates to choose from in selecting representatives to serve on our board of directors."

Finley and Hinds rejoin fellow board members Robby A. Halfmann, chairman; Kenneth D. Harvick, vice chairman; Burl D. Lowery, director; and Steven R. Lehrmann, director.

Finley was first elected to the board of directors in 2008 and currently serves on the association's audit and compensation committees. Finley is a farmer and rancher in McCulloch and Coleman counties. His principal business consists of various crops along with cattle and sheep operations. He is a member of the McCulloch County Conservation board and the McCulloch County Tax Appraisal District board. Finley has also served on the Lohn Co-op Gin board, the McCulloch County Soil and Water Conservation board, the Lohn School board, and the Millersview-Doole Water Supply Corporation board.

Hinds was first elected to the board of directors in 2009. Hinds owns and operates the Bargain House, a furniture business, and a small stock-farming operation in Coleman. He has been a member of the Coleman County Farm Bureau and the Coleman County Rodeo Association. Hinds currently serves on the association's audit and compensation committees.

Texas Chiefs hold annual open house

The Texas Chiefs annual open house was held Sat., June 6 at the Haskell Model Airport.

The weather was the best in a long time. Since many of the modelers are farmers too, this meant that wheat cutting and cotton planting had to go on.

Those that were able to fly had a good day. No crashes and only one minor mishap, that was repaired at the field, occurred.

No competition was held, just a chance to fly and visit.

Two members from Abilene brought "big" planes which put on quite a show. One called "The Beast" had smoke and was able to outline its maneuvers. Sailplanes, electric powered planes and a drone were flown. The drone had the ability to return to its takeoff spot just by telling it "to go home."

The next event is Aug. 1, which is National Model Aviation Day.

SKIN CANCER FACTS

How many people get skin cancer?

Skin cancer is the most common of all cancers. It accounts for nearly half of all cancers in the United States. More than 3.5 million cases of basal and squamous cell skin cancer are diagnosed in this country each year. Melanoma, the most serious type of skin cancer, will account for more than 76,600 cases of skin cancer in 2015.

What are the risk factors for skin cancer?

Risk factors for non-melanoma and melanoma skin cancers include: Unprotected and/or excessive exposure to ultraviolet (UV) radiation (sunlight or tanning booths); Pale skin (easily sunburned, doesn't tan much or at all, natural red or blond hair); Occupational exposures to coal tar, pitch, creosote, arsenic compounds, or radium; You or other members of your family have had skin cancers; Multiple or unusual moles; Severe sunburns in the past.

What are the signs and symptoms of skin cancer?

Skin cancer can be found early, and both doctors and patients play important roles in finding skin cancer. Contact your doctor if you have any of the following signs/symptoms: Any change on your skin, especially in the size or color of a mole, growth, or spot, or a new growth (even if it has no color); Scaliness, oozing, bleeding, or a change in the way a bump or nodule looks; The spread of pigmentation (color) beyond its border, such as dark coloring that spreads past the edge of a mole or mark; A change in sensation, such as itchiness, tenderness, or pain.

Can skin cancer be prevented?

The best ways to lower the risk of skin cancer are to avoid long exposure to intense sunlight and practice sun safety. You can still exercise and enjoy the outdoors while using sun safety at the same time. Here are some ways to be sun safe:

- Avoid direct exposure to the sun between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Teach children the shadow rule: if your shadow is shorter than you, the sun's rays are at their strongest.

- Seek shade, especially in the middle of the day when the sun's rays are strongest.

- Follow the Slip! Slop! Slap! and Wrap! rules:

- *Slip on a shirt: Cover up with protective clothing to guard as much skin as possible when you are out in the sun. Choose comfortable clothes made of tightly woven fabrics that you cannot see through when held up to a light.

- *Slop on sunscreen: Use sunscreen and lip balm with broad spectrum protection and a sun protection factor (SPF) of 30 or higher. Apply a generous amount of sunscreen (about a palmful) to unprotected skin at least 30 minutes before outdoor activities. Reapply every 2 hours and after swimming, toweling dry, or sweating. Use sunscreen even on hazy or overcast days.

- *Slap on a hat: Cover your head with a wide-brimmed hat, shading your face, ears, and neck. If you choose a baseball cap, remember to protect your ears and neck with sunscreen.

- *Wrap on sunglasses: Wear sunglasses with 100% UVA and UVB absorption to provide optimal protection for the eyes and the surrounding skin.

- Sunscreen doesn't protect from all UV rays, so don't use sunscreen as a way to stay out in the sun longer.

- Follow these practices to protect your skin even on cloudy or overcast days. UV rays travel through clouds.

- Avoid other sources of UV light. Tanning beds and sun lamps are dangerous. They also damage your skin.

What questions regarding home care do you have for the nurse? Send your questions to Haskell Home Health Agency, 417 S. First, Haskell, TX 79521 or call 940-864-5074 or 1-877-864-5074.

developing a final decision on the application. The deadline to submit public comments is 15 days after newspaper notice is published. After the deadline for public comments, the executive director will prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic safety and zoning are outside of the TCEQ's jurisdiction to address in the permit process.

After the technical review is complete the executive director will consider the comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. If only comments are received, the response to comments, along with the executive director's decision on the application, will then be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments or who is on the mailing list for this application, unless the application is directly referred to a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING You may request a contested case hearing. The applicant or the executive director may also request that the application be directly referred to a contested case hearing after technical review of the application. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court. Unless a written request for a contested case hearing is filed within 15 days from this notice, the executive director may act on the application. If no hearing request is received within this 15 day period, no further opportunity for hearing will be provided. According to the Texas Clean Air Act §382.056(o) a contested case hearing may only be granted if the applicant's compliance history is in the lowest classification under applicable compliance history requirements and if the hearing request is based on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission may only grant a hearing on those issues raised during the public comment period and not withdrawn.

A person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the facility is entitled to request a hearing. If requesting a contested case hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representative), mailing address, daytime phone number, and fax number, if any; (2) applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing;" (4) a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the application and air emissions from the facility in a way not common to the general public; (5) the location and distance of your property relative to the facility; and (6) a description of how you use the property which may be impacted by the facility. If the request is made by a group or association, the one or more members who have standing to request a hearing and the interests the group or association seeks to protect must also be identified. You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns. Requests for a contested case hearing must be submitted in writing within 15 days following this notice to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

If any requests for a contested case hearing are timely filed, the executive director will forward the application and any requests for a contested case hearing to the Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting. Unless the application is directly referred to a contested case hearing, the executive director will mail the response to comments along with notification of Commission meeting to everyone who submitted comments or is on the mailing list for this application. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact relating to relevant and material air quality concerns raised during the comment period. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic, safety, and zoning are outside of the Commission's jurisdiction to address in this proceeding.

MAILING LIST In addition to submitting public comments, you may ask to be placed on a mailing list for this application by sending a request to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. Those on the mailing list will receive copies of future public notices (if any) mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk for this application.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION Public comments and requests must be submitted either electronically at www.tceq.texas.gov/about/comments.html, or in writing to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Office to the Chief Clerk, MC-105, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087. If you communicate with the TCEQ electronically, please be aware that your email address, like your physical mailing address, will become part of the agency's public record. ## This Week's Devotional Message:

Faith helps us appreciate a father's wisdom

Despite a variety of unflattering images depicting a father as either too stern or too spineless, the true picture is more likely that of a kindly, hard-working provider and protective shield for his family; the wise arbiter of right and wrong; the author of firm but loving discipline; and a tower of strength at all times. A father tries to conceal his anxieties while setting the example of character and courage for his children, and must provide the answer to any physical or moral crisis that may arise. The Bible is filled with passages in praise of a father's wisdom and guidance, and you should learn to honor and respect your father at the church of your choice; not merely on special occasions, but every day of the year.

FSA Co. Committee nominations underway

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the nomination period for local Farm Service Agency (FSA) county committees started Mon., June 15.

"Through the county committees, farmers and ranchers have a voice. Their opinions and ideas get to be heard on federal farm programs," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "It is important for county committees to reflect America's diversity, so I encourage all eligible farmers and ranchers, including beginning farmers, to get involved in this year's elections. We've seen an increase in the number of nominations for qualified candidates, especially among women and minorities, and I hope that trend continues."

To be eligible to serve on a FSA county committee, a person must participate or cooperate in an agency administered program, be eligible to vote in a county committee election and reside in the local administrative area where they are nominated.

Farmers and ranchers may nominate themselves or others. Organizations representing minorities and women also may nominate candidates. To become a candidate, an eligible individual must sign an FSA-669A nomination form. The form and other information about FSA county committee elections are available at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections. Nomination forms for the 2015 election must be postmarked or received in the local USDA Service Center by close of business on Aug. 3.

FSA will mail election ballots to eligible voters beginning Nov. 9, 2015. Ballots will be due back to the local county office either via mail or in person by Dec. 7, 2015. Newly elected committee members and alternates will take office on Jan. 1, 2016.

While FSA county committees do not approve or deny farm ownership or operating loans, they make decisions on disaster and conservation programs, emergency programs, commodity price support loan programs and other agricultural issues. Members serve three-year terms. Nationwide, there are about 7,800 farmers and ranchers serving on FSA county committees. Committees consist of three to 11 members that are elected by eligible producers.

You can read more in the City's Emergency Handbook located at www.city-of-haskell-texas.org.
