

His Life Dedicated to Fight on Tuberculosis

Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau, the pioneer in the modern treatment of tuberculosis in America, was himself a sufferer from the disease. In spite of his illness, however, he did much experimental work as well as diagnosis and treatment. Dr. J. A. Myers, in a sketch of Doctor Trudeau's life in Hygeia Magazine, observes that not- withstanding the whole field of medicine in the last fifty years has done so much directly and indirectly to relieve suffering and extend the years of usefulness of so many people as the principles that this physician laid down at the sanitarium at Saranac Lake.

Sacred Stone of Erin Lodged in Cathedral

The ancient Clough-Oir stone from which Clough, Ireland, is said to have derived its name, has with the consent of the bishop of Clough, been placed in the vestibule of St. Macnevin's cathedral, to preserve it from the weather. The Clough-Oir stone is said to have been one of the three sacred stones of Erin, the others being the Lin Fall, or Stone of Destiny, which rests under the coronation chair in Westminster abbey, and the Crown of St. Edward, which is supposed to have crowned before St. Patrick. This famous stone, which has hitherto rested against the north wall of the cathedral, was visited at one time by Conqueror MacVessa, high king of Ulster. Canon Maguire, who wrote a commentary on the register of Clough in 1830, states: "This sacred stone was preserved on the right of the entrance into the church, and traces of the gold with which it has been covered by the worshippers of the idol Geomrod Celsetuchi are still visible."

Early Street Lighting

Some form of artificial light must have been in use for domestic purposes from the very earliest times, but though large cities and a high state of civilization existed among the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans, the systematic lighting of streets was unknown to them. From the writings of Libanius, however, who lived in the beginning of the fourth century after Christ, we may conclude that the streets of his native city, Antioch, were lighted by lamps, and Edessa, in Syria, was similarly illuminated about A. D. 500. Of modern cities Paris was the first to light its streets. In the beginning of the sixteenth century it was much infested with robbers and incendiaries, so that the inhabitants were ordered in 1524 to keep lights burning after nine o'clock in the evening before all houses fronting a street.

Louisiana Purchase

In the treaty providing for the Louisiana purchase there was no definition of the boundaries of the territory. When the American commissioners insisted upon a definition of the extent, they were informed that the boundaries were the same as they had been when the land was in the hands of the French, that is according to Earth's original treaty of retrocession. It included Louisiana west of the Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota west of the Mississippi, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, most of Kansas, Indian territory and Colorado west of the Rocky mountains.

Famous Building

The Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City is 250 feet long by 150 feet wide and 81 feet high, and seats from 1,000 to 2,000 people. Its self-supporting roof rests on pillars or buttresses of red sandstone which are from an inch to four feet apart in the entire circumference of the building. No nails were used in making the roof, the timbers being tied in place with cowhide and held together with wooden pegs. It was begun in 1863. In its shape the Mormon tabernacle is a perfect ellipse.

River Divides States

The north bank of the Ohio river is the northern boundary of the state of Kentucky, the exact boundary line being fixed by the low-water mark of the river. The jurisdiction of the state of Kentucky extends to the low-water mark on the Indian side. The United States government has jurisdiction over the whole river, as far as commerce is concerned. According to the Constitution the federal government has a right to regulate commerce, and the Ohio river is the commercial highway.

The Three Mortgage Lifters

WHEN THE COWS COME HOME

The past four years have witnessed an increase of $475,000,000 in the annual cash income from the sale of dairy products in the United States. Dairy products lead all other sources of cash income on our farms.

Nearly three billion dollars is the annual farm value of milk and dairy products. Dairy cows account for $1.00 of every $5.65 paid to farmers. Of every $3.00 spent by the American family for food, $1.00 is for dairy products.

The dairy cow is the starting point of diversification. She is the manufacturing plant that turns the raw products of the fields into cash stabilizing and insuring the income of her owner whether crops succeed or fail or prices crash due to surpluses.

Wherever she has taken her rightful place, farm prosperity has replaced the poverty that characterizes one-crop farming. The hog and hen keep her company forming the trio that brings home-grown food for family food for the livestock and fertility of soil.

These always fast, still in the milk, Go crashing down with out a sound. These have well-meaning hands who turn out a bread which we might have left. Who knows how they'll be pleased and stung? The word we had not come to see— Who knows how grandly it had rung? —Edward H. Still.

Simple Desserts

A TAPICCA pudding may be prepared with different kinds of fruit, making variety. Pineapple, apple, peach, apricot all are good.

Apple Tapioca.—Pick over and wash three-fourths of a cupful of pearl tapioca. Pour over one quart of boiling water and cook in a double boiler until transparent; stir often and add one-half teaspoonful of salt while cooking. Cook and puree six good flavored apples. Arrange the apples in a good sized baking dish, fill the cavities with sugar and lemon juice. Pour over the prepared tapioca and bake in a moderate oven until the apples are soft. Serve hot or cold with cream sugar and nutmeg.

Loganberry Bavarian.—Soak six-fourths of a tablespoonful of gelatin in three tablespoonfuls of water twenty minutes; then dissolve in one-fourth of a cupful of hot loganberry juice, add one-half cupful each of sugar and lemon juice and stir until the mixture begins to thicken. Fold in the stiffly beaten white of two eggs and continue beating until the mixture holds its shape. Pipe lightly into shallow glass cups with cream around the top of the glass and garnish with a sprig of cream in the center.

Speedy's Fruit Sauce.—Cream one cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar gradually, stirring well. Add one-half cup and one-fourth cupful of flour, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt; mix to the first mixture alternately with one-half cupful of milk, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and one teaspoonful of orange extract. Mix well, fill buttered cups two-thirds full, cover with buttered paper, and steam thirty minutes. Serve with a fruit sauce.

W. C. Brite of Midway was in the city Wednesday morning and stated that two inches of rain fell at his place Monday afternoon. He further stated that he had the best growing crop he has ever had since he has been farming in the county. He has a perfect stand of cotton and feed and has it all in a fine state of cultivation. Clyde is one of our best young farmers and takes a great pride in his farm work. He is also a diversifier. He keeps chickens and cows and brings eggs and butter to town to sell each week.

POULTRY

TURKEYS RAISED IN CONFINEMENT

Better Results Secured Than Where Poults Are Free.

In times past many people felt that turkeys could not be raised in confinement, but that they should have a large area over which to range. This contention has changed now, however, and in several localities turkeys have been raised in confinement with a great deal of success.

The Minnesota and Nebraska experiment stations have been among the leaders in investigational work in turkey production in recent years, with some such work being done at other experiment stations in various parts of the country. At both of the stations mentioned it was found that better results could be secured if the poults were raised in confinement than if they were allowed to range over a large area, the method once followed in turkey production. In view of these findings, those who wish to go into turkey production, either on a small or large scale, are no doubt interested in the practices to be adhered to in this method of turkey raising.

The United States Department of Agriculture has found that turkey production has declined consistently since 1900, in the face of an increase in the production of all other lines of poultry and live stock. This decrease in production cannot be attributed to a decrease in demand, for the demand has always exceeded the production, or at least, there has never been a surplus of turkeys on the market with which to contend.

This decline in turkey production can be explained almost altogether by the fact that farmers have always felt that turkeys should have unlimited range. Because of following this method of production the turkeys came in contact with the chicken yards, to the detriment of the turkey business. The disease problem among turkeys which come in contact with chickens is great enough that it has tended to cut down on production among farmers and farmers' wives who have, in the past, raised turkeys and chickens together on the same range.

How Much Does Pullet Cost Till Able to Lay?

The North Carolina State college has conducted several tests to determine the amount of feed required to start a Red, Barred Plymouth Rock or Wyandotte laying pullet. In one series of tests the entire animal feed was milk and in the other meat meal. In the case of the milk-fed pullets it required 20 pounds of feed from the time the pullets were hatched till they began to lay 21 weeks later. This feed cost 71 cents. In the meat meal flock, nine and one-half pounds of mash and nine and one-half pounds of grain were used and the cost was 57 cents. Adding the cost of the chick, and other costs, the Rhode Island Red, Barred Plymouth Rock or White Wyandotte pullets just in lay would cost $1.50 when milk fed and $1.17 when meat fed. These pullets sell for $2 each at laying time. If you have surplus milk, feed it to the growing birds.

Fijians Convinced of

Devil in Automobile
Although the automobile is steadily gaining in popularity in the Fiji islands it encountered great opposition on the part of the natives when first introduced. The first self-propelled vehicle was used in the colony in 1905 by an American, who was touring the islands. This car was viewed with awe by the inhabitants, being considered the contrivance of an evil and conservative spirit. It is suggested that the owner be deported as a dangerous character.

Age Not Determined by Number of Years Lived

I must confess that I have arrived at the time of life when I do not like to be asked how old I am. What in the dickens do the number of years matter? Many of us old stagers are really as young as the lads in the air force. At least, that's the way we feel. Youth is not a time of life. It is a state of mind. It is determined by how you think and how you feel.

Viola East and West

A leading music house says: "We have no record of ever having heard of the Chinese making a violin, and the instruments made by the Japs are of the very cheap commercial quality. The violin took root in Japan during the World War. Since the peace Germany and France have furnished practically all of the cheap instruments for America, and the Japs are out of the picture. We have no records of any well-known Russian makers. However, the violin is an extremely popular instrument all through eastern Europe, and doubtless thousands of them have been constructed in Russia, and perhaps there are some good makers there. None of them, however, seems to have been outstanding." - Washington Star.

Ireland's Famous Hill

There is the name of a hill in County Meath, Ireland. It was here that the tribal convention of the Irish kings was established by Ollam Fodhla, about 900 B. C. According to tradition the palace of Tara was 300 feet square, containing 150 apartments and 150 dormitories. The early kings of Ireland were said to be crowned here in a tradition further states that Tara at the time of the advent of St. Patrick to Ireland was the principal seat of Druidism in Ireland. It is said to have been abandoned through the curse of St. Brendan 450, on account of its idolatry.

The Foods We Eat

A commission man, "shopping" in New York city, found spinach from Mexico, honeydew melons from South Africa, fresh almonds from the Holy land, new potatoes from Florida, green peas and asparagus from California, butter from Denmark, eggs from China, meats from New Zealand and Argentina. That's what modern transportation and cold storage refrigeration does for us. -Capper's Weekly.

Dows in Rio

That a Frenchman in a new country will open a cafe, a German a general store, and a Briton a bank, has long been an axiom regarding the men of these races in foreign lands. That regarding the Briton might be amended by stating that along with the bank goes the Church of England. Here in Rio, a correspondent, which is a city of churches, an English church has been the meeting place for the British community for 119 years.

Singing Promotes Health

"If you want to be healthy sing as often as possible," advises a French doctor, who has experimented with cases of overexcitement and sympathetic nerves. He says that when patients were kept in a cheerful mood, singing gay music, the equilibrium of the nervous system was restored in a few weeks, and badly damaged appetites began to reappear with full force.

Farm News

Going south from Haskell Friday morning we wished to see some of the farming conditions south of town. Some of this section during the rainy season suffered a number of overflows from heavy rains, but since rain is badly needed. While the cotton in most places looks good, the old feed is burning up rapidly. Only in a few instances did we see old feed that looked like it might make a good yield.

R. D. Lackey

R. D. Lackey, living in the Weaver community, has some old feed which will make a fair yield without any more rain, but his better feed is only on the lower ground in the field. The crop is not universal but spotted. His cotton is growing nicely and he had it in fine condition. He and his children were going over it with the hoes taking on the bunch grass and a few scattering weeds. His cotton is of different ages. The older cotton is better according to Mr. Lackey. He is planning on increasing his milch cows and his flock of laying hens another year. He is making the effort to grow more feed this year to mature his plans, but he is going to need some good rains if his feed makes what he expects to put his plans over. He has four good cows now but only one is giving milk.

W. L. Davis

On the old Waldrip farm lives W. L. Davis who has a fair crop. He is cultivating about 180 acres in feed and cotton. The feed, according to Mrs. Davis is not very good and is needing rain, but the cotton is growing nicely. Mr. Davis is among our best young farmers and sticks closely to his farm work. Mrs. Davis has some fine Plymouth Rock chickens and the chickens and cows are helping out on this farm with the family expenses.

H. C. Wyche

After a number of years spent at the carpenter's trade as one of Haskell county's leading carpenters, H. C. Wyche has retired to farm life. He once owned a farm east of the city on the Throckmorton road which he sold and bought a farm near Weaver school house which he improved and put into cultivation and he now has a splendid farm and in a fine state of cultivation and he and Mrs. Wyche are living happily on this good farm. He is only cultivating 30 acres in feed and the other part of the farm he has rented out to a good tenant farmer. He is milking five good cows and selling the whole milk which is bringing him between $18 and $20 per week. He and Mrs. Wyche are fanes of the Brown Leghorn chickens and these hens are paying them a nice little profit. They do not have very many hens, but expect to increase the number for another season.

J. T. Mullis

We ate a good dinner at the home of J. T. Mullis and we enjoyed the association of this good family. Mr. Mullis is cutting some early feed with hoes and stated that he had around fifteen hundred bindis cut and tied up. He has something else that much more to put up. Then he expects to replant the ground to late feed and make the effort to make two crops on the ground this year. He stated that his cotton was looking good. He has a fine garden and Mrs. Mullis has earned quite a lot of vegetables. He stated that he has had more worry in trying to make this crop than any crop he ever planted. He has two good cows and Mrs. Mullis has lots of fryers and the one she cooked for dinner was very appetizing.

Can't Assign Credit for Invention of Compass

The origin of the mariner's compass is obscure. By some students the instrument was said to have been introduced into Europe from the East. Others say it was a western invention. It was certainly known to European navigators as early as the Twelfth century. Guyot de Provins, whose satirical "chanson" is supposed to have been completed in 1205, described "a contrivance" of sailors which never deceived them.

"They have an ugly brown stone which attracts iron," he wrote. "They mark the exact quarter to which the needle points, which they have rubbed on this stone, and afterward stuck into a straw. They merely put it in the water, in which the straw causes it to swim; then the point turns directly toward the (North) star, with such certainty that it will never fail." Guyot wrote about the compass as if it were a new thing, but other writers reveal that the English in the Twelfth century had already mounted the needle on a pivot and so done away with the straw and water. -New York Times.

No Prize Offered for "Mare's Nest" Discovery

"Mare's Nest" is a phrase which we occasionally hear and which we understand to refer to almost any sort of a discovery which upon its face and at first sight seems to be of considerable importance, but which subsequently is ascertained to be a hoax. By inference, therefore, a "mare's nest" has acquired the meaning of something that does not exist. Just how the expression originated is not clearly established. However, it is authentically conceded that it was first employed over 300 years ago by John Fleischer, and that he himself probably adapted it from an earlier phrase, "horse's nest," which, in the then vernacular, referred to any story worn thin by constant repetition. This latter is said to have been first used by Stenbushurst at the end of the Sixteenth century. The line, "He's come upon a mare's nest and is laughing at the eggs," is frequently heard in Ireland to express derision at somebody who thinks he has discovered something startling when it is in fact something known to all. -Kansas City Times.

Sweden Lovers of Beauty

To keep the Swedish railroad stations cheery, the state-owned railroads maintain a special flower garden and greenhouse outside of Stockholm. About 50,000 potted plants and 100,000 perennials are annually distributed to the stations of the Stockholm district alone and the big central station in Stockholm gets not only huge potted plants but also flowers every day. In the country practically every railroad station has its own flower beds, cared for by the personnel between trains and like the spotless buffets or restaurants inside, they add considerably to the joy of travel. Such refinements the Swedes call "trafik kultur."

"FOUR YEARS ago, I suffered with heartburn and bilious indigestion. Whatever I ate disagreed with me. Gas on my stomach made me very uncomfortable. My tongue was coated and my color was bad. I needed a good laxative, and so my mother-in-law gave me some Black-Draught and told me to take it. I found it helped me very much, so I bought it for myself. Seems it was the very thing I needed. It is a fine family remedy, and I use it when I need something for constipation. I also give Black-Draught to my children whenever they need something for colds or upset stomachs. Tired Business Girl Is Under The Microscope of Science

Dr. Thaddeus Bolton (above), head of the Department of Psychology, Temple University, Philadelphia, is now engaged in a research investigation to determine how far laboratory instruments. The reducing diets are responsible for fatigue and frayed nerves under the strain which modern business imposes upon the feminine office worker. Groups of girls are supplied on designated days with a mid-afternoon lunch having a fairly high proportion of sugar, one of the highly concentrated and quickly digested energy foods. The effect of the additional food ration is measured by specially prepared laboratory instruments. WHEN IS A "RUINED FARM"—RUIN By BESSIE MEACHIM, Home Economist I HAVE two very dear friends who are long past the heyday of life. While Father and Mother Franklin have to count the pennies both are epicurean in taste and delight in surrounding themselves with beautiful things. Their latest bit of wisdom is budgeting $-nance with art centered about an old ruined farmhouse. This they took over from a neighbor at nominal rent because of the delapidated condition of the building.

Backed by the liberty permitted a friend of long standing, I mildly protested against what seemed an act of extravagance. My friends only smiled. Some months later, they explained.

Gregg Sees Shorthand As Future Form of Written Communication

Time Saving Trend of Modern Era Will Make Shorthand an Everyday Form of Communication, Predicts Noted Authority

JOHN ROBERT GREGG

The modern demand for speed in everything, getting things done quickly, and for taking short cuts to accomplish in minutes and hours tasks which formerly required days and weeks will eventually cause shorthand to become one of the principal mediums of business correspondence and personal communication. This is the prediction of John Robert Gregg, publisher, internationally known as the author of the system of shorthand bearing his name. Mr. Gregg foresees the day when everyone will use shorthand as the average person today uses long-hand writing. "Within twenty years the art of shorthand will be studied and practiced by at least three times the number of people studying it today. Eventually shorthand will become an everyday means of written communication. The time-saving trend of our age will make it imperative."

EGG PRODUCTION DURING SUMMER

Poultry Men Agree That It Depends on Best Care.

Facing poultry men during the summer is the problem of preventing a rapid drop in egg production with the coming of warm weather, when eggs bring good prices. Standard egg production in New Jersey for June is 18 eggs per bird, for July it is 16 eggs, and for August, 13 eggs. Whether or not a flock makes standard production during these three months depends entirely upon the care it is given by the poultry man, announces the poultry department of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station.

Mistake With Geese

A common mistake made in raising geese is to try to feed them upon grass to which sufficient grazing. If the geese have good green feed they will need but little additional. Grit and oyster shell should always be accessible. During the summer a satisfactory method consists in providing one feed a day of equal parts of corn meal, bran and ground oats. During the winter the same grains are satisfactory, but steamed clover or alfalfa hay should be added.

Pedigreeing Chicks

For pedigreeing chicks the eggs of each female may be kept separate by partitioning the egg tray, but the more usual method is to use wire baskets or net bags. Mosquito netting is hardly substantial enough for making pedigreeing bags. Bags of heavier material made with well bound seams will prove more satisfactory. Bags may be made of different sizes to care for varying numbers of eggs. A careful record of the eggs is absolutely necessary.

Watch Young Birds

Watch young and delicate birds very closely as they are most susceptible to the deadly rotting germs. The same is true of fowls suffering from common cold or catarrh. The throat and nasal passages, being already sore and inflamed, are easily infected. Sick birds should always be isolated. They can be much more effectively treated when away from the flock and they cannot contaminate the healthier ones if the disease should prove to be contagious.

SARGON IS SMASHING ALL WORLD RECORDS

When Sargon was first given to the world just one year ago, it was hailed as a triumph in the field of modern medicine. Many well known authorities who watched its development freely predicted that it would become the one great outstanding, health-giving remedy of the age. But the men of science who labored for years to perfect it little dreamed it would become such a great boon to humanity in so short a time.

But that is just exactly what is happening right here in this state. Not only has it brought them new health and strength, but it has given them new energy, new vitality and a new lease on life itself. In many cases, the results have been so remarkable that many people have bought it and sent it to friends in other states, while other thousands have written grateful letters of praise.

The wonderful success that Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have achieved in only one year's time simply staggers the imagination.

In the state of California alone where it was introduced on April 16 of this year, it has required the astonishing total of nine solid carloads, or more than 200,000 bottles, to supply the demand. Kansas City retailers and wholesalers have sold and distributed over 300,000 bottles in the states of Kansas and Missouri. Minneapolis and St. Paul dealers have required nine entire carloads in five months. The demand in practically every state and section where Sargon has been introduced has been correspondingly large.

When national distribution has been completed it will require millions upon millions of bottles to supply the ever-increasing demand for this celebrated medicine.

Back of Sargon's triumph in the drug stores is Sargon's triumph in the homes. Everywhere it has been introduced it has become a household word and it is unquestionably the most widely talked-of medicine in the world today.

a new independence

In July we celebrate the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence. And it is good that we set aside one day each year to rejoice over the freedom for which our forefathers fought and died.

There is still another kind of freedom which we of this modern age enjoy—freedom from the slavery of drudgery, disease and discontent. This new freedom is the result of years of experimenting with that great discovery—ELECTRICITY.

By reason of its cheap and abundant supply, life has ceased to become a struggle merely to exist. The sweat shop has faded like a bad dream in the fog of time. Aemic, spindle-legged children have given way to a race of sturdy, red-blooded youngsters. Disease, to a great extent, has fled before the development of modern science.

Through the extension of its facilities, industry is moving to the country. The vermin of the tenement has been eradicated by bright electric lights. The electric washing machine and iron, vacuum cleaner and similar labor-saving devices has swept drudgery to the forgotten past.

We are proud of the fact that this company has a part in spreading this new freedom to 110 prosperous cities, towns and communities in West Texas. Fed by three major generating stations and fifteen auxiliary plants, more than 2,000 miles of transmission lines of this company carry an unlimited supply of electrical energy to the people of this "Land of Opportunity."

A little more than a quarter of a century ago the Methodists of Haskell replaced the little white frame church building with a brick edifice that stands today just across the street from where the first church was built. It was well known at that time that they were building for the future as well as the present for they left ample space to the rear of the choir platform for a pipe organ. And now the present officials and members lead by their pastor, Rev. E. Gaston Foote, have fulfilled the dreams and faith of the early church fathers and installed a beautiful pipe organ. The choir has adopted the surplice and wore it for the first time last Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour. Miss Katherine Rike played one organ number while the offering was being taken and Mrs. O. E. Patterson concluded the service by rendering Humoresque.

KITCHEN CUPBOARD

By NELLIE MAXWELL.

I think that I shall never see
A room so lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth
Is seldom sated.
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

—Joyce Kilmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Post of this city had for their guest last Tuesday for lunch quite a number of people who were the first settlers of Haskell county and were the ones who paved the way for our present city and all of its civic pride. They braved every hardship that primitive settlers could have undergone in the settling up of this country and their names will ever live among those who love the high ideals which they established and have been perpetuated down to the present day.

Those present at the noon hour were Mr. and Mrs. John Labriere who erected the first house in Haskell, who now live about 25 miles from St. John Arizona; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meadors and daughter Olive of Dickens City, Texas; Mrs. W. F. Draper and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Ballard of this city. This occasion was Mr. Labriere's 67th birthday and was an enjoyable affair. This is the first time he has been to Haskell in 41 years.

In the Free Press of next week will appear an account of the first settling of Haskell given principally by Mrs. Labriere who is a sister of Mrs. Post, Mrs. Draper and Mrs. J. H. Meadors.

Young People Who Attend Kerrville Conference Return

Misses Lucile Roberts, Dixie Orr, Mary Frazier and Rachel Solomon and Mr. John Solomon returned from Kerrville Thursday evening where they have been attending the Young People's Conference for the past ten days. They were accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Baker. The conference this year was perhaps the best that has been held. The attendance was very large and there were quite a number of fine leaders and teachers directing the conference. Among them were: The Rev. Conway Wharton, D. D., for thirteen years a missionary to Africa. Dr. Samuel M. Glasgow of North Carolina, Dr. W. H. Anderson of the First Presbyterian Church of Dallas, Dr. W. A. Alexander of the Highland Presbyterian Church, Dallas, Dr. McLeod of Cuero, Dr. C. H. Story of Corpus Christi, Dr. L. H. Wharton of Austin, Dr. R. C. Bang of Atlanta, Ga., Dr. W. P. Dickey of Kerrville, Okla., Julia Lake Shinner of Louisville, Ky., and others.

Last Sunday evening the young people who attended the conference gave a very interesting program in the Presbyterian Church in the nature of a report on what they had received from the conference. All are hoping to attend the conference again next summer.
