Eight words make a line twelve lines an inch. Where long notices are desired, this merely nominal charge will not certainly be objected to. When instructions do not accompany obituaries to charge for excess of space, we shall take it as an indication that we are expected to condense to proper limit. Writers will be better pleased with their productions if they will do their own condensing.]

Obituaries.

CHILDREN.—Sister M. E. Childers, daughter of John and F. E. Bury, was born in Warren county, Tennessee, May 22, 1850; joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, August, 1878; was married to John Childers January, 1879, and departed this life March 29, 1881. She was an earnest Christian and a devoted wife. She died in great peace. She leaves a husband and two little babies and many relations and friends to mourn her loss, but their loss is her eternal gain.—C. ROWLAND.

RODGERS.—Bro. Albert Rodgers is gone. On the 24th of March one of Leon county's most honored and useful citizens, and one of the church's strongest props, passed peacefully away. He was universally beloved. His great heart was so full of charity that it was forever running over. His was the kind of charity that "sought another's good." He has left a sorrowing wife and a large family of growing-up children to mourn his loss. He leaves a large and useful life of pious usefulness and good deeds.—J. H. SHERRARD.

DOWELL.—Mary Lucy, youngest child of G. W. and M. C. Dowell, died near Walton, Van Zandt county, March 10th, 1881, aged five years, five months and twenty days. Little Lucy was the light of her home; by her gentle and winsome ways she drew all hearts to her. "The Angel of Death" came down, plucked the sweet bud and lovingly bore it to a fairer clime, where it shall burst into perfect bloom. We would say to the sorrowing parents, mourn not for the loved one. Sometimes mists and fogs hover around the river of life; yet it borrows no gloom or sadness; neither will it roll one turbulent wave to sweep away the flowers that yield lovely odors that delight to linger on its peaceful banks. If the clouds have grown darker, the house all lonely and sad, remember, the bow of eternal promise, one end resting on the earth, the other in the firmament, the stones of the "New Jerusalem" will be girted with livelier colors on the dark receding vapors of the storm.—H. H. VAUGHAN.

WATKINS.—Ora, in Uvalde, Monday morning, April 25, of consumption, Mrs. Susan T. Watkins, aged twenty-six years and ten days. She was the wife of Mr. John W. Watkins and daughter of Bro. and Sister A. B. Dillard. Again are the already grief-stricken parents called upon to part with another daughter. May God—and we know He will—give them grace to endure this additional trial. Although not a member of the church, yet the parents have reason to believe that Mrs. W. trusted in Jesus as she died. She leaves a weeping husband and two children, parents, brothers and sisters.—FELIX A. KNOW.

PRICE.—Bro. S. S. Price, after a lingering illness, died at his residence, near Lewisville, on the 18th of April, 1881, in the sixty-first year of his age. He was for forty years a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. He is spoken of by those who knew him as a kind husband and father, a good neighbor and a zealous Christian. His sufferings, at times, were very great, but God's grace was always sufficient. Death had no terrors for him. He could say at any time during his sickness, "O death! where is thy sting?" and shall hereafter be able to say, "O grave! where is thy victory?"—P. P. REESE.

PARRY.—Morgan L. Parry was born in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, August 15th, 1817; removed to Louisiana in 1838, and in 1842 came to Galveston, and was one of the pioneers of the cotton compress business of the State. He was married to Catherine A. B. behind a widow and one child, Mrs. Breach, to mourn the loss of the husband and father. His last illness was painful and protracted; he sent for the writer at an early period of his sickness. He had then no ray of recovery, and was deeply concerned about his spiritual welfare. He had been raised religiously but like many others had never made a public profession of his belief; he was now intensely concerned; he was a man of nerve, of strong will, and now when confronted with the issues of life and death, he sought with deep earnestness the assurance that his peace was made with God. In the many interviews the writer had with him he ever found him honestly examining the motives of his heart and seeking a clear evidence of his salvation with God. Humbly he renounced all confidence in his own worthiness, and rested alone in the atonement of Jesus Christ. His loved ones hope to meet him in a better world.—G. C.

FORD.—Another star in heaven, Estavia Ann Ford was born July 10, 1842, died April 18, 1881. She professed faith in Christ in 1859, at Harper's chapel, Bradley county, Arkansas, having been for some years previous a member of the church. She was a member of the United Friends of Temperance and most of her life an active worker in the church. She led her husband and family to Christ, exhorted them to duty, especially family prayer, and her efforts were not in vain. She was a sufferer most of her life, but exhibited true Christian patience. Her last end was peace with man and God; her last request to her family was to meet her in heaven; she joins five loved children gone before, and leaves husband and six children behind; one, the little infant, has followed after. May God enable each of the bereaved ones to be as well prepared to meet Jesus in death; "glories await them there." The many friends tender their sincere regards to the bereaved family.—W. W. HENDERSON.

HOLCOMB.—Maggie L. Holcomb, daughter of James H. and Lizzie H. Holcomb, of Erath county, Texas, was born January 10, 1876, and died March 25, 1881. She was an interesting child of five summers, and gave promise of the out-croppings of a bright intellect of a time when she would be an accomplished lady and an ornament to society. She was the center of attraction, and now her sweet form lies in the cold grave, and her fond parents are sad and lonely in their once happy home; but they rejoice to know they have a bright jewel in heaven.—U. J. MORTON.

LYLE.—William Eugene M. Lyle was born June 25, 1880, died January 13, 1881. He was the son of H. E. and E. E. Lyle. The angels came down and took him up to heaven. Grieve not parents, but trust in God and live faithful and meet your children in heaven; for they are there waiting for you. "Death may be the cords of life unloose, but can't dissolve our love."—J. W. KIZZAR.

LYLES.—Mary E. Lyles was born May 2, 1840, at Russellville, Ky.; married to Major R. Lyles October 3, 1859; united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in September, A. D. 1878, under the ministry of the Rev. James A. Walkup, and departed this life April 20, 1881, at her home in Cameron. Sister Lyles exemplified in her life the graces which adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things; having consecrated her life to God's service, she became alive to all the interests of his kingdom on earth. Her house was the itinerant's home. Those of our brethren who have had the privilege of the canon circuit will hold in grateful remembrance the welcome they have received from her, and with what elegance and grace it was her pleasure to minister to their wants, as God's messengers of peace and mercy. It had been her custom during each term of the district court to give a dinner in honor of her husband's friends at the bar, and she had made extensive preparations to receive them during the present session; but the Judge of all the earth and heaven suddenly intervened for the great advocate of men to walk unshackled the courts of heaven and receive the reward of her well-doing. At the news of her death the district court adjourned, and a large concourse of people, together with resident and visiting lawyers, met to attend the funeral. After the imposing ceremony of our form of burial, we lowered the body in the grave, to await the life-giving power of God's glorious resurrection. When the mists have rolled in splendor from the valley of the hills, When the sunlight, warm and tender, Falls in kisses on the willow, We may read love's shining letter On the rainbow of the sky.—HER PASTOR.

In the statistics of this country's foreign commerce for 1880, New Orleans shows the greatest proportionate increase of all the great ports except Boston, and a larger increase in amount than any port except New York. The total exports for 1880, as compared with the previous year, show a value of $880,000,000 against $765,000,000. New York increased from $419,000,000 in 1879 to $407,000,000 in 1880, an increase of 16 per cent.; New Orleans from $81,000,000 to $102,000,000, an increase of 25 per cent.; Boston from $31,000,000 to $60,000,000 or 22 1/2 per cent.; Baltimore from $68,500,000 to $74,500,000 or 8 1/2 per cent.; while Philadelphia decreased from $50,500,000 to $45,500,000, and San Francisco from $15,500,000 to $28,500,000 or 8 per cent. each. This remarkable increase in the volume of business done at New Orleans, it is claimed, would have been impossible without the increased depth of the channel through the jetties.

Public interest in railway construction is directed largely on Mexico. The large number of projects in different stages of progress, the prominence of the men who are fostering the enterprises, and the fact that all the money is fully warranted the general interest that is taken in the subject. The Mexican treasurer, to date of last mail advices from the City of Mexico, had paid, in subdivisions to new railway companies, for sections recently completed, the sum of $1,200,000. The statistics framed by the Central Railroad company have been approved by the executive head of the government, and work is being accomplished with dispatch. The National Mexican construction company is making energetic progress in construction of the line between the City of Mexico and Toluca. The Sonora Railroad company has delivered to the federal agent the second section, comprising ten kilometers of the track; and, according to the latest intelligence, forty more kilometers were to be received, lacking only the completion of a few small bridges. The company is in possession of six American eight-wheeled locomotives, which afford the advantage of facilitating the passage through the curves on the steep grades. Materials are being locally received, and it is believed that before the next rainy season sets in, the track will reach Hermosillo, one of the most important points on the line. During the early part of April construction was commenced on the Jalapa and Vera Cruz railroad. Work has also been commenced on the line running from Jalapa to Chalchicomula. The construction of the Puebla and Izucar de Matamoros railroad is being carried on with utmost dispatch. In the section between Puebla and Cholula, already in operation, there was a movement, during the months of January and February, of over 13,000 passengers. The work of the branch which is to connect the Morelos and Vera Cruz trunk lines, as well as that of another branch which is to connect the capital with the town of Texcoco, having its junction at the Los Reyes, station on the Morelos line, has already been begun. The twenty-seven kilometers of the line from Puebla to Tulancingo is now completed, and trains are running the sections already completed. The reconnoissances for the railroad from Tampico to San Luis Potosi, to be constructed by the Mexican central railroad company (the layers of the concession), are being continued. The work of the San Martin Texmelucan line is being pushed on. The concession made by the federal government to the State of Chihuahua for the construction of a railroad has been transferred by the latter to the Mexican Central railroad company. According to the returns received at the department of public works, 1057 1/2 kilometers of railroad have been built, and on every one of the different lines work is being carried on with the utmost activity. The Mexican railroad, which was between the capital and the port of Vera Cruz, with branches to Puebla and Jalapa, carried during the year 1878, 287,326 passengers and 177,831 tons of freight. During the year 1880 there has been a larger traffic, and the number of passengers amounted to 313,318, while the freight transported reached the amount of 223,359 tons and 315 kilogrames.

Public executions will be discontinued in Russia.

PROHIBITION.
Our spicy exchange, the Waco Telegraph, submits an argument against extreme whisky legislation. One family in Kansas having bought twenty ten-gallon kegs of whisky from a drummer—the Telegraph assumes that this is the legitimate outcome of the prohibition law. Let us suppose a case: The female head of that family will take the twenty kegs and supplementary supplies and set up a private family bar. In a year or two she will be wealthy at the expense of the old man and her sons. This will keep the wealth in the family—so that when the tides of the household become helpless from indulgence, she will have something to take care of them on. As the Telegraph would have it, the only remedy of the family has been reduced to helplessness, as of course they will be, the wife and mother goes down with them. This is all a supposition and slightly ridiculous, of course; but it is as logical as the Telegraph's assumption that every private family in Kansas will be transformed into a whisky den, as typified by its twenty-ten-gallon-keg illustration. Try another criticism, Mr. Telegraph.

(From the Galveston Weekly Journal.)
In calling attention to the fact that prohibitionists of Lamar county were moving in the matter of holding a State convention for the purpose of furthering the temperance cause, the San Antonio Express, of April 20th, had the following language: "The temperance cause is a good one, and every temperance movement made in the right direction and properly conducted will meet the approval of all good citizens. We believe in temperance societies, temperance conventions, temperance lectures, and everything calculated to do away with dissipation and drunkenness, and the crimes that so frequently follow their excess, just as we are in favor of all christian denominations and every-thing calculated to improve the moral and social condition of the people; but the name of prohibitionist implies force to carry out the temperance doctrine; it means interference with individual liberty of action; and those who vote for the authorization of such a force are bartering away a liberty. If it is right to declare a man shall not drink certain liquors because they are injurious, it is right to say a man shall not eat of certain food because it is injurious. A man may injure himself and his family, and his neighbor, by such a force as bartering away a liberty. If it is right to declare a man shall not drink certain liquors because they are injurious, it is right to say a man shall not eat of certain food because it is injurious. and the frontier of Mexico. Results will supply the answer to this proposition. The rumor is that Gould has for weeks been quietly negotiating for the interest which is to insure him the control which he has set about securing. These negotiations are with the foreign shareholders and bondholders of the Illinois Central and Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans roads. Whether he shall succeed in his purpose, if such be his purpose, will shortly be known; but in the meantime it may be safely assumed that, if the negotiations have progressed to the point indicated by the rumors, his object is practically accomplished at this time. These roads are now both owned by one association of shareholders, and are operated under a mutual traffic agreement. The two roads, with all property lines, present a total mileage of about 1800 miles.
