Presbyterian Girls Team Wins Over Baptists

By winning their baseball game over the Baptists, the Presbyterian girls assumed a 2-1 lead over their opponents last week. They dropped their second game with the Methodists 14-10 Wednesday afternoon which makes these two teams even in their standing. Miss Velma Frierson, the Presbyterian manager and pitcher, announced that they would play the Methodists again next Wednesday afternoon at 6:30 in the school grounds.

Monday afternoon saw the Intermediate boys lose to the Intermediate girls 16-14 in the Presbyterian league. Woodrow Frazier is manager for the boys and Alberta Orr for the girls.

The older boys contest for the week was won by the Methodists over the Presbyterians 2-1 in a hotly contested game throughout. They play again next week.

A FALL GARDEN TO COMPLETE THE PANTRY BUDGET

There are seventy-five women in the county who have made and had a part of the food preservation budget to fill the 4-H pantry. Every woman representing the 2,300 farms in the county should have a planned garden either to completely fill the food preservation budget or to add to the supply of food already canned.

August 1st to 15th is the time to plant that fall garden which is responsible to the family for the winter food supply. For those who yet need to add to their food preservation budget for winter, practically all the vegetables which are well liked and regularly used can be grown in limited space during the fall months. A fall garden does not mean a large patch but a variety of plants to supply fresh ones for the winter months.

The supply of canned goods for the winter months is made up of carrots, beans, corn, chinas, tomatoes, cabbage, and other leafy vegetables which are planted several times in the fall. Spinach, Swiss chard and green beans. Some success has been had

LOCAL AGENCY CHEVROLET CARS IN NEW HANDS

In a deal which closed last week, Marvin H. Post of Amarillo, and O. W. Maloy of this city purchased the local Chevrolet agency, Bettis Chevrolet Company, which has been operated here for the past several years by Harry and Herman Bettis. Messrs. Post and Maloy also took over the local agency for the Magnolia Petroleum Company which has been conducted by Harry Bettis.

In making announcement of the change, the new owners state that the firm name will be changed to that of Post-Maloy Chevrolet Company. In addition to the sales and service for Chevrolet automobiles in this territory, a complete garage service will be maintained as in the past.

The new owners are no strangers to Haskell, Mr. Post having been engaged in the insurance business here for a number of years prior to moving to Lubbock and Amarillo several years ago. Mr. Maloy has resided in Haskell for a number of years, and for a part of this time was local dealer for Chrysler and Plymouth automobiles.

Following the closing of the deal, Messrs. Harry and Herman Bettis have made no definite announcement as to their future, further than to state that it was likely they would remain in Haskell, which will be welcome news to the many friends here of both these young men.

Texas Farmers Have Abundant Food and Feed

Farmers of the Southwest may not get as much this year for their cotton, corn and wheat, but not many of them, their children nor their work animals are going to go hungry, in the opinion of statisticians of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

"From the standpoint of physical production," declares the Aug. 1 monthly business review of the bank, "the farmer's program of diversification has been very successful and has provided the farmers with ample food and feed for home consumption."

"While the prevailing low prices for agricultural products mean low returns for the surplus above home requirements, the large supplies will be a material aid in holding down the cost of production during the coming year."

"Marked improvement in the field of business failures is reported for the States in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District. There were sixty-one commercial failures during the month of June, as against seventy in May and sixty-two in June of last year. The indebtedness of firms defaulting during June was $1,522,700, compared with a total of $3,008,589 in May and $4,454,806 in June, 1930.

The report shows that there was an increase of 16.1 per cent in the distribution of agricultural implements at wholesale during June, which brought the dollar volume of sales in this district to a level of 52.1 per cent above that of June one year ago.

A feature of the financial end of the report is the fact that commercial loans of reserve city banks, for the first time since last fall, showed slight increase between June 10 and July 8, indicating greater business activity. The same banks added materially to their investments during the period, as reflected in heavy purchases of Federal Government securities. There was an easing of rates on commercial and commodity loans.

"The last month witnessed a substantial seasonal reduction in the deposits of member banks," adds the report, which is compiled July 15. "The combined daily average of deposits and time deposits declined to $775,025,000 during June, which was $21,949,000 less than the May average, and $72,011,000 below the June average one year ago."

"Federal Reserve Bank loans to member banks reflected a net increase of approximately $500,000 between June 15 and July 15. While some liquidation was obtained from banks in the wheat-growing territory, it was more than offset by the demand from banks in the other agricultural sections."

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Casey from Calif. are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. Whisker, the latter being a niece of Mrs. Whisker.

RAPID PROGRESS ON PAVING HIGHWAY 30 MADE THIS WEEK

Work of paving Highway 30 has progressed at a rapid rate during the past week, and contractors state that the stretch between Haskell and Stamford will be paved by Friday noon. The sub-grading crew which has been at work on this stretch of the road were moved Thursday to the north end of the paving, between Haskell and Wernert, and only a few hundred yards of paving remained to be laid Friday to complete the paving of the entire fifteen mile stretch from Haskell to the Jones county line.

All of the machinery which has been used on the southern end of the road will be moved to the north end, it is stated, which will speed up construction on the road from Haskell to the Knox county line.

The paving from McConnell south to Stamford will be ready for traffic as soon as the road bed on each side of the paving is "shouldered up", and a large crew of men and machinery is at work on this phase of the work now, having started this week at the Jones county line.

POTASH RESOURCES MAY BE DEVELOPED ON UNIVERSITY LANDS

Development of the potash resources that are known to underlie lands owned by The University of Texas is not improbable in the near future, it is thought. Dr. Hal P. Bybee, who has charge of the geologic matters relating to those lands, is preparing to make investigation of the commercial possibilities of the potash deposits. In drilling oil wells on lands owned by the University in Ector, Upton and Crane counties and probably in other counties of West Texas, strata of potassium sulphate were encountered at what was said to be workable depths. While some analyses have been made of the cores from these wells, no authoritative information as to the commercial properties of the potash beds is said to be available. From time to time, however, during the last few years, highly favorable reports have been made of the vast potash wealth that the University possesses in this undeveloped mineral. At one time, negotiations were pending for the leasing of some of this land for development purposes to a private enterprise, but no final action was taken. In Midland County, steps toward developing a large potash deposit on privately owned lands are reported to be under way.

Interest in this undeveloped resource of West Texas has been recently stimulated by the opening of what is said to be a vast potash deposit near Loving, N. M., by the United States Potash Corporation. This company has expended up to this time nearly $1,000,000 in preparations for work. The mineral is now being mined at the rate of 200 tons a day. It is believed by persons who have a knowledge of the underlying potash wealth of West Texas that what is now being done in New Mexico in the matter of commercializing this mineral may be carried on with equal success in this State, especially in the development of the beds that exist beneath the surface of lands owned by the University.

MORE INDUSTRIAL USES FOR COTTON

We imagine that when cotton is mentioned the average person thinks in terms of either bales or manufactured cloth of some kind. Farm and Ranch frequently receive letters in which the suggestion is made that we ought to have a lot of farmer owned cotton mills in order to consume the surplus. Of course, the sale of the cloth is not considered a matter of importance.

However, it is interesting to note that only 30 per cent of the cotton consumed in the United States, goes into cloth for wearing apparel. Seventy per cent goes into industry of one kind or another, and new uses for cotton are being discovered with great regularity. Only recently it was announced that a composition made largely of cotton, was about to be used in construction of golf clubs. There are millions of golf clubs used in America and throughout Europe. Cotton is now being used in approximately 165 different ways. Give the chemists a little more time and they will add to this number. There are enough mills to spin all the cloth that can be used, but there are probably other uses of cotton not yet discovered, which will eventually increase the demand for the fibre and make it a profitable crop for the Southern farmer.—Farm and Ranch.

NEWS FROM OVER WEST TEXAS

Tourist Complains He Was Sold Coal Oil In Place of Gasoline.

From the Sanford American.

A tourist arriving in the suburbs of Stamford Monday drove into a small filling station and gave instructions to "fill 'er up." After driving a short distance, his car began showing signs of motor trouble and he had to be towed in. Service station men who examined the car decided the tank had been filled with coal oil instead of gasoline.

The tourist mentioned the matter to A. C. Cooper at the Inn, who notified officers and reported the occurrence to local newspapers. Mr. Cooper pointed out that any such fraudulent practice would give Stamford a bad name, and said officers were on the lookout for any repetition of the offense.

This action by the Game Commission followed a flood of objections to the announcement of a few days ago which announced that the splendid Goodnight herd of the old monarchs of the plains would be slaughtered. Telegrams and letters by the thousands have poured into the hands of the members of the legislature vigorously protesting the proposal. Other letters would not hurt the chances of the retention of the herd, and if any others have time a few lines to the governor or the legislators would help save the dwindling band of animals.

From the Knox County Herald.

Mr. S. E. Youngblood's 28 Ford Roadster was stolen Monday night from its parking spot at the house. It was taken between the hours 11:30 and 3:30. Wednesday afternoon no trace of its whereabouts was learned.

The same night Mack Sweeney had his spare tire, rim and all stolen from the back of his car, while Z. A. Hammock's car was stripped of every thing obtainable except the tires. Even the gas was drained out. About the same time twenty five chickens were stolen from Mr. Parr. He lives west of town.

It seemed that the dirty work of stealing has started and it is most beneficial to everyone to protect their possessions.

T. B. Bagwell Robbed Sunday Night.

From the Rochester Reporter.

Last Sunday night when T. B. Bagwell, Jr. returned home from his cafe, after putting his car in the shed, he was accosted by two men and told to "put 'em up," with a fierce looking revolver pointing at his breast. T. B. lost no time in complying and while one stood guard in the rear the other relieved him of his wallet with all the earnings of Saturday night and Sunday in it. When this had been accomplished the man to his rear hit him with something in the back of his head, supposedly to be a sandbag, as it did not break the skin, rendering him unconscious. His family knew nothing about it, as no noise was made, and he laid where he was all night and his mother found him in that condition the next morning. While no seeming serious results have yet followed the assault, still T. B. complains a good deal of his head hurting him and it is feared that some complications may yet arise to give him trouble. His many friends hope not, however.

Officers have been working on the case all the week and while no definite clue as to the guilty parties have yet been gained, suspicions point to certain parties who may soon be brought to justice. The men were masked, therefore T. B. was unable to recognize either of them, even though they might be men whom he knew. The wallet contained about $25.00, mostly in checks.

Three Abilene Men Are Charged With Hamlin Burglary.

From the Stamford Leader.

A large, clear, thumbprint on a window glass smashed Saturday night at a Hamlin service station led today to the filing of charges at Anson against two Abilene men and a local woman in connection with the burglary of the Hamlin Station.

The trio charged with burglary is W. J. Powell, Calvin Bush and Della Walker, arrested here Sunday night, and returned to Anson today by Sheriff Tom Hudson of Jones county.

Hudson brought the broken glass here yesterday morning, and these here yesterday morning, and the day were arrested on suspicion. R. T. Redies, fingerprint expert of the local police force, identified that of the left thumb of Powell. Following a statement by Powell, charges were filed against the three, officers said.

Five tires were taken when the Hamlin station was entered.

Throckmorton Miller to Exchange Flour For Wheat.

From the Throckmorton Tribune.

Farmers are reminded of the fact that they can get 35 pounds of flour for a bushel of wheat. Making a 48 pound sack of flour cost in the neighborhood of 40 cents. The mill now has all the wheat in storage that they can handle but will start grinding about September the first, according to F. B. Stribling of the Throckmorton Milling Company.

If the farmer can store his wheat until the mill starts grinding, he can have enough flour ground to last him until another wheat crop and his greatest family necessity will be arranged for.

Newcastle Road Surveys Completed.

From the Graham Leader.

State Engineer McKim, in Graham the last of the week, reported he had completed two surveys of a road from Newcastle west to the Brazos river. It is thought his report will soon be forwarded to the state Highway Department and there is a possibility of some action soon. Business men of Graham are anxious to see the road built and the bridge replaced. The State Department has agreed to build an all-weather highway from Newcastle to the Throckmorton county line if the county will participate to the extent of one half the cost of the highway and one third the cost of the bridge.

Pampa Man Has Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Chillicothe Valley News.

Attempting to swim across the neck at Lake Pauline Sunday afternoon, nearly resulted in the death of S. P. Morgan, 26, of Pampa.

Morgan attempted to swim across in order to fish with a casting rod, but when he had reached the middle of the water, became entangled in the test line which had rolled from his reel. It forced him to the bottom, and while there he disentangled his feet from the line but by that time was overcomen by the water. Friends witnessing his predicament rushed to his aid.

First aid methods were applied and attending physicians say this was what saved his life. He was taken to the hospital in Quanah, but had recovered sufficiently the pulmotor was not brought into use. He was released from the hospital Monday afternoon.

Knox City Road Planned.

The Knox Advocate.

A Knox City delegation conferred yesterday with W. R. Ely, chairman of the state highway commission, on right-of-way for highway 51, from the Haskell county line north to the town.

Distance on the present route is three miles. Grades and drainage structures have been completed on

No. 51 to the Knox county line; and a new and shorter route to Knox City will be created, cutting distance in half.

The delegation asked the state highway department to finance the grade and bridges on this stretch, Knox City interests in return furnishing the right-of-way. Judge Ely said he would support the proposal if the community also would furnish the gravel, the state spreading it.—Abilene News.

Mississippi Tourist Dies In Snyder Tourist Camp.

From the Scurry County Times.

Three hours after Mrs. Herbert B. Miller, 64, of Gloster, Mississippi, became ill in a local tourist camp, she died of heart trouble. She had just driven into the camp with her husband Thursday morning when she was attacked. A physician failed to give her relief.

The Mississippi woman was enroute to California, with her husband, to visit their daughter. Mr. Miller is postmaster at Gloster.

The body was prepared by the Odom Funeral Home and shipped to Vicksburg, Mississippi for burial.

Melon Crop Will Be On Market In Few Days.

From the Munday Times.

As a result of a movement that was started last winter there is a considerable acreage of Watermelons over the Munday country and reports from farmers who have interested themselves in the movement are to the effect that the crop is very fine and that many tons of melons will be ready for shipment within the next few days and efforts are being made to induce buyers to come here to buy the crop. Reports from Weatherford and other melon centers indicate that the price of good melons ranges around $7.00 per ton, which seems like a very low price, but farmers who have any number of acre planted to melons tell us that the revenues from melons at this price will far exceed the revenues that they may expect from cotton or other crops at prevailing prices.

Rate Cut Asked In Telephone Rates.

From Ford County News.

R. B. Fairly, general manager of the State Telephone Company, operators of the local system, and E. W. Gilpin, both of Lubbock, and E. C. Throop, district manager, of Memphis were visitors here Wednesday.

A petition was recently circulated here, to which about 120 names were signed, requesting the telephone company to reduce the business rates to $2.50 and the residential rates to $1.50. The telephone officials met with a number of local men in the Lanier Hardware Company store.

They explained that they could not change the local schedule of rates but that patrons could take advantage of lower rates by changing to party line service. Plans along this line are to be worked out by them and next week the company will have a man in Crowell to explain this service to those having telephones.

Anson Couple Charged With Kidnapping Child In County.

From Western Enterprise, Anson.

Thomas Adams and Laura Adams, husband and wife, have been in the Jones County jail since Wednesday.

They explained that they could not change the local schedule of rates but that patrons could take advantage of lower rates by changing to party line service. Plans along this line are to be worked out by them and next week the company will have a man in Crowell to explain this service to those having telephones.

afternoon following their arrest in Abilene on a charge of Kidnapping a child, a daughter of Mrs. Adams from her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Patterson of near Hamlin, who are said to be the legal custodians of the child. The couple are awaiting the action of the grand jury.

PROVES WHEAT AN EFFICIENT FEED

Many farmers and livestock men have fed cheap wheat profitably during the past year, but it remains for Professor W. L. Blizzard, Head of the Department of Animal Husbandry, A. and M. College of Oklahoma, to present comparative figures relative to the value of wheat as a livestock feed.

Professor Blizzard does not make statements in a haphazard manner. He does not practice guessing but gets the facts before he writes or talks to the public. Knowing that there was a great surplus of wheat and a shortage of corn in this country, Professor Blizzard set about to learn whether or not it would pay to feed wheat, and at what price. As a result of his feeding experiments he found that the lowest cost per 100 pounds of gain in weight was attained by feeding wheat priced at 60 cents per bushel as compared with 90 cent corn. In fact there was 99 cents difference, which is quite an item with any feeder of livestock. He then made his calculations as to how high wheat could go before it ceased to be a cheap animal feed, and basing the price of corn at 60 cents per bushel, he learned that one may feed wheat profitably up to 87 cents per bushel. Of course if the price of corn or other feedstuffs advance, wheat at a relatively higher price could be used.

Wheat is always on the market before corn, and with a large surplus available, livestock men have the

of this cheap and most efficient feed at anytime. The best and most profitable way of reducing the surplus seems to be in the feeding of wheat to livestock.—Farm and Ranch.

SCOUT CAMP PLANS MAPPED

With the probable dates only two weeks off, plans for the annual summer camp at Buffalo Gap for Boy Scouts of the Chisholm Trail area will be brought to completion this week. The camp will run from August 18 to 27th, and if registration warrants, a second period will be conducted.

The camp fee will be less than $10 for the entire period, this registration covering all costs except incidentals. Every scout must take a physical examination by a doctor before registering.

New features are to be added to the camp program this year, including canoeing, pack hikes, and making of rustic furniture. Archery tournaments are to be held, and medals will be given this year for winners in horseshoe pitching tournaments.

Work of constructing the mess hall, started Monday, will be rushed, for completion at the opening of camp.

Scout leaders are anticipating a record attendance at the camp, the Buffalo Gap site being centrally located in the area. Several experienced scoutmasters will serve on the camp staff, and a junior officer staff is to be created for instruction work.

Mrs. Carl Maples of this city, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Owens and Miss Florine Maples, both of Wichita Falls, spent last week-end with friends and relatives in Lubbock.

MANY WOMEN Have Been Helped Like This

"ABOUT four years ago, I suffered a great deal with pains in my back and side," writes Mrs. D. A. Bush, of Roston, Texas. "I did not feel like doing my housework, or anything else. I would get nervous, and my back would hurt worse. One of my neighbors asked me what I was doing for myself. I told her 'most everything.' Then she asked me if I had ever taken Gardol. I told her 'no' but I would try it. Before I had finished one bottle I could tell the difference in my feelings, but I kept on taking Gardol until I felt strong and well again."

Friday and Saturday

If you can picture William Haines as a wolf in sheep's clothing you will have some idea of the fun in store for those who see the comedian Friday and Saturday at the Texas Theatre in his latest laugh-getter, "A Tailor Made Man."

In this characterization Haines in his own inimitable way embodies the spirit of the man who rises from poverty and obscurity to fame and financial success. He starts out as an innocent little pants presser but ends up as a wolf of the commercial world.

The picture is based on the play of the same name which enjoyed a long run at the Cohan & Harris Theatre, New York, in 1917.

Dorothy Jordan, who scored as the waterfront waif of "Min and Bill," has the leading feminine role Joseph Cawthorn, the well-known stage actor; Marjorie Rambeau, last seen in "Inspiration;" William Austin, Ian Keith and Hedda Hopper have prominent parts.

Cobbler Welcome Guest in Homes of Colonists

In the early days of the American colonies and for some years after the Revolution it was the custom for cordwainers, or traveling cobblers, to go from house to house for many miles repairing the old boots and shoes of the family or making new ones. Sometimes the cobbler would remain at one house for two or three weeks, receiving free board and lodging while employed on the footgear of master, mistress and children.

He carried with him not only his kit of tools but also different kinds of leather. The men usually wore heavy cowhide boots, well greased with mutton tallow to keep out the wet, as rubbers were then unknown. The children wore en-skid and the young women of the family morocco or kid, sometimes red or blue—and tied with silk tassels. The cordwainer set up his bench in a corner of the kitchen, and while he hammered away or stitched industriously at his work regaled his customers with the news he had gathered in his travels. He was a welcome guest in the absence of newspapers.

Enoch Crosby, the famous Revolutionary spy exploited by Cooper in a novel, was a cordwainer and gained much valuable information for General Washington while pursuing his trade among the Westchester farms.—New York Times Magazine.

Bathtub Frowned On by People of Middle Ages

It was the boast of Queen Isabella of Spain that she had had out two baths, one when she was born and one when she was married. But alas, the poor queen, who befriended Columbus, according to legend, was given another after her death, in preparation for her burial. The children of Edward I of England were given baths on certain religious holidays; they averaged four a year. No wonder Voltaire characterized the Middle Ages as "A Thousand Years Without a Bath."

From the famous Roman baths came much of the rottenness of the decaying empire, but it is a question whether or not there was a reason for this, or a mere coincidence. When the Barbarians entered Rome, in the reign of the feeble Romulus Augustulus, they found him in the baths, a sad Caesar compared to the hardy Julius of an early and sterner day.

Bathing was considered so much a sin in early Christian days that the first Pope Gregory had to issue a decree to permit communicants to take baths. The decree permitted them to a moderate extent, and only on Sundays.—Exchange.

Photographer's Troubles

A photographer, compelled by the exigencies forced upon him by the physiognomies of his customers, having a neatly framed sign in his studio bearing the epigram of Oliver Cromwell, spoken to the artist who pointed him without the warts which are said to have ornamented his countenance: "Paint me as I am, moles and all, or, by my halldome, I won't pay for the portrait!"

To the gentle insinuation promulgated by this sign, one of the photographer's sitters added in pencil: "When I pay you, it will be for making me look handsomer than I am. When I wish to behold myself as I really appear, I can always look in the mirror."

George Washington Hill ("Don't Spit," "Reach for a Lucky.") evidently is worth $2,281,000 a year as president of the American Tobacco Company. In the battle of ballots, brought on by some disgruntled stockholder, Hill was re-elected—in fact, he got more than 90 per cent of all the votes cast. It would seem that he is entitled to the American knighthood of "Whataman."

The Boy Scout Movement is celebrating its 21st anniversary in the United States. Since it started in 1910 more than 5,000,000 men and boys have been identified with it. Those who know what Scouting stands for agree that it has been and is a great force for clean living and good citizenship. It gives the boy an outlet for his desire to belong to a "gang."

Texas is one of the seven states which registered more than 1,000,000 motor cars in 1930, and one of the 27 states which showed a gain that year over 1929. In 1930 Texas registrations totaled 1,159,139, on which Texas paid, in taxes and fees, $13,961,263. On their more than 26,000,000 automobiles Americans paid last year, taxes and registration fees, $23,701,800, which, incidentally, was $7,861,317 more than in 1929.

The whole public is interested in the iron worker who apparently laughs at the law of gravity, as witness the crowds around any skyscraper being built. This interest may be fascination—and it may be a secret expectation that somebody will fall. They do fall. Records show that in the last 20 years 2,000 have been killed out of 15,000 who work aloft. Life insurance rates for these boys is high—as much as $450 per $1,000 at certain ages.

A NEW PRODUCT

We used to boast that we would "try anything once," but now we are inclined to revise this statement since our experience the other day. A friend of ours strolled into the office and after the usual generalities he produced a cardboard box which he passed across the desk for examination. The box contained a crystal substance, not unlike brown sugar. He elaborated for a while on the food value of the mixture—on the proteins, calories, etc., that it contained and insisted that we taste the stuff.

Having read a great deal of the harmful effects of T-bone steaks on the digestive organs and being somewhat perturbed at our growing wastefulness our visitor found a sympathetic audience. Yet, we had read that in the future man would take his nourishment in the form of capsules. If we were thus permitted to lift the curtain of the future and had his assurance that the stuff was harmless we would taste it. We did and our jester friend then informed us that we had partaken of city garbage.

It seems that he had procured this sample from a new garbage reduction plant which an enterprising company had built for the purpose of reducing wet garbage to hog, cattle and chicken feed. In effect what we had eaten was quite harmless, being absolutely pure and fit for human consumption. If we had not known where it originated we would not have felt so bad about it.

ALMS AND ADVERTISING

There's a crippled colored man who regularly sits at his location in the downtown district that "it pays to advertise."

We don't know how many unfortunates earn a living on the streets by peddling pencils and similar small items, but we have noticed quite a number handicapped by the loss of a leg or an arm or by loss of sight.

All have a claim on our sympathy. Some there may be whose disabilities are greater—whose need may be more pressing. But, in the hurry and bustle of downtown traffic they are lost in the shuffle. Doubtless their cases have merit but we hasten by, occupied by our own affairs. They do nothing to compel our attention and so they are lost in the mob.

As in every walk of life, competition is keener today than it has been for a long while. Our crippled friend realizes that he is in competition for our nickles with the rest of his fraternity and so he has rigged up a swinging stand on which he places his wares. This stand is suspended from a stick so that with little effort he is able to keep his pencils in constant motion and since there is no movement in the background of the doorway where he sits, his swinging stand attracts the attention of the passing crowd.

He is selling the same kind of pencils that the rest are but he lets the world know that he is in business and cashes in as a result of his enterprise.

In normal times he collects more nickles than his competitors and today even tho the times are not so good he is still collecting more. He's selling the depression less; he has found that it pays to advertise.

A GREAT COUNTRY

Prime Minister of England, Ramsey McDonald recently spoke of the United States as the greatest country in the world. There will be few to dispute that statement. The tremendous extent of its territory, its richness of mine and farm and forest, its unparalleled industrial organization, the inventive genius and initiative of its people—all these have united to make it great.

But while the world looks upon these things and calls us great because of their possession, the enduring greatness of our country rests rather in matters of the spirit than in material things.

Our country is generous. This is a characteristic of our country, expressed in individual giving to alleviate the suffering of our countrymen and the distress of the whole world, and manifested by our government in its dealings with other nations. But mixed with our generosity is a bit of hard sense which prevents our becoming easy marks. We may allow ourselves to be called Uncle Shylock because we do not choose to forgive our debts, but the money we collect we will return manifold to the world which pays it. The recent moratorium is a practical example of our generosity.

We are friendly toward the whole world. We covet the possessions of no other nation and have no enduring enmity for any people. In time of war we may be stampeded into hatred, but it does not linger in our hearts. We play the fierce game of commercial rivalry, but to us it is only a game and we can applaud the good play of a rival and admit the virtue of a foe.

We admit without shame to idealism. We stand in the world of ideals for the reduction of armaments, the abolition of war, and anything that will make for better and happier living. Out of our idealism came the abolition of slavery, and the noble experiment, prohibition.

If we may rightly lay claim to greatness, it is because we have made good use of a great inheritance and have not suffered the spirit of generosity, of friendship and idealism imparted to us by the Fathers, to grow dim.

A Bargain

The farmer owned fields on each side of the golf links. It so happened that he was taking a short cut from one to another when the club's worst member was addressing his ball. The worst member wagged his driver to and fro for several minutes, missed four swings, and finally hit the ball about a dozen feet. Then he glanced up and saw the farmer.

"I say," he protested, "only golfers are allowed on this course, you know."

The farmer nodded. "I know it," he replied. "But I won't say nuthin' if you don't."

KEATON FARCE HAS EXCEPTIONAL CAST

For the comedian is surrounded by beautiful young women in almost every sequence of the hilarious stage farce which has been adapted to the screen by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Among those who made Keaton's life a little brighter in the amusing story of a gay Lothario whose romances end when an irate husband's pistol comes into view—are Dorothy Christy, the attractive blonde who last played with Maurice Chevalier in "Playboy of Paris," and Joan Peers, the diminutive heroine of "Tol'able David."

Sally Eilers, who played opposite Keaton in "Dough Boys," and was more recently seen as the haughty daughter of "Reducing," and Natalie Moorhead, who comes from the part of the gangster's "moll" in "Dance Fools, Dance," also have prominent roles.

That Keaton is surrounded by an all-star group of players in the manner of his first talkie, "Free and Easy," is indicated by the remaining members of the supporting cast. The celebrated Charlotte Greenwood of the long legs and inimitable tricks is present in the riotous role of a newspaper woman who is willing to "compromise" Keaton for a consideration.

Reginald Denny, who last scored in "Madam Satan" and "A Lady's Morals," has an outstanding role as the prankster who eggs Keaton on to his ill-fated amorous adventures.

Cliff Edwards has a side-splitting part as a bellhop. "Ukulele Ike" deserts his semi-straight characterizations of "Paid" and "The Southerner" in this picture to return to his more typical style of "Those Three French Girls."

Then there is Edward Brophy, without whom no Keaton cast would be complete. Brophy is seen as the hotel detective who ferrets the star out of his hotel rendezvous.

ROMANTIC APPEAL IS HIGHLIGHT OF "ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT"

"All Quiet on the Western Front," the Universal picturization of Erich Maria Remarque's masterpiece, is primarily the story of youth—the youth of all nations—in war. Even in the midst of war, youth does not forget romance. So in the masterpiece of Remarque, there is romance. It is one of the great passages of the book, and Universal has put the book on the screen exactly as the author wrote it. There is not a scene in the picture which is not in the book.

Readers of the book—and there have been ten million of them—will recall the canal-swimming incident, when the school boys swam across the laughing girls on the other side for a midnight rendezvous, and Paul Baumer, the hero, believes himself actually in love.

This sequence in the picture has been filmed by Universal with all the care and effort which went into the making of the other sequences in this super production. The scenes were made at Venice, Calif. A canal half a mile in length, 40 feet wide and 15 feet in depth, crossed by a stone bridge patrolled by sentries and surrounded with typical French cottages and a village settlement, was built.

This portion of the picture, which shows the lighter side of war, is declared to be one of the most delightful romantic interludes ever seen on the screen.

"All Quiet On The Western Front," which comes to the Texas Theatre August 10th and 11th numbers in its cast a remarkable array of players. Louise Wolheim, Lewis Ayres and John Gray head the featured players, among whom also are Raymond Griffith, George "Slim" Summerville, William Bakewell, Walter Browne Rogers, Russell Gleason, Scott Kirk, Ben Alexander and Owen Davis, Jr.

In the romantic canal swimming scenes the French girls are portrayed by Yola D'Avril, Renee D'Amonde, and Paupet Andriot.
