BY W. H. ANDERSON, D.D.

TO THE ADVOCATE.

Religion is, with many, the act of the intellect influenced solely by the word of God, our own convictions of duty, and by association with the church and with Christians.

There is the recognition of any divine influence as of the grace and spirit of God, it is always either indirect or immediately connected with sacraments or ritual observances.

SUMMARY STATISTICS, NORTHWEST TEXAS CONFERENCE.

Table with columns for various districts: Eastern, Central, Western, etc. and rows for statistics like Local Preachers, Members, etc.

Northwest Texas Conference.

Among the many things for which this session of the conference is to be remembered, the chief, in my opinion, is the educational enthusiasm kindled on Thursday night of its session.

By order of the conference, Thursday night at each session is the anniversary of the Board of Education. At the appointed time F. A. Mood, rector of the "Southwestern," was in the chair, surrounded by the board of which he is president.

Style in Composition.

My very good Lord, it is a very hard task, for a man to write, who has nothing to say, like the man who writes in the time of the "Great Awakening."

What on earth is the matter with Bro. H. J. Harris, of Pittsburg? I refer to his criticism on my "Dots from Dallas."

These "dots" were neither intended for an argument nor an essay; but merely a series of short paragraphs on the course of a few minutes, designed more to amuse than instruct, and certainly neither to wound nor to laze.

When I read the critic's caption, therefore, knowing that I had taken no pains in the composition, I expected to get a scholarly and of course courteous lampooning.

Religion, like its Lord, often suffers between two opposite agencies. The charge against Jesus was, that he was too severe and rigid, and then that he was too lenient and indulgent.

Religion in itself is a glorious emotion, but it is always connected with duty, trial, responsibility and labor before the idea of personal enjoyment should be considered.

Dr. Wright, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, S. ended the preaching part of my mission to Austin.

My visits to Austin were most pleasant, and will be repeated upon call of designation.

What is the matter with the little boy standing on the street in the city of Coahuila? He leans against a lamp-post, and he has with him, and he is not a beggar, for he wears costly clothing, and has his satchel and tablets as if some great trouble had come upon him.

Two Visits to Austin.

Having served the past year as junior preacher, I had no reports to make, and so felt no need of being in haste to return to my home.

My mother, child, what does Virgilia? The lady asked, "No, no, I go there will kill you as well as me," the child said, drawing back from the approaching slaves.

My father is so stern, I did not think Fatherius would banish his only child and thus bring him to the notice of the Judge.

With bound hands, but undimmed eyes, little Cyril stood before the crackling flames. Take back your money, I shall not give it to you.

My father is so stern, I did not think Fatherius would banish his only child and thus bring him to the notice of the Judge.

A boy of twelve years of age, who seemed disposed to emulate the character of George Washington in one respect at least, was brought up before the police magistrate at the Market Court recently.

A Barefooted Groom.

About twenty years ago a young fellow named Johnson, in the wilds of the Cheat Mountains in West Virginia, made up his mind to be married.

On the day of the wedding Johnson appeared in a whole coat and trousers, but barefooted.

"This is hardly decent," said the clergyman; "I will lend you a pair of shoes." "No," said Johnson; "when I can buy shoes I will wear them—not before."

The man who would seek to increase his physical strength by refusing to eat food would be on the same line as the Christian who expects to maintain his spiritual strength while he neglects his prayers.

A memorial bust of John Rogers, who aided Tyndale in the translation of the Bible and who was burned at Smithfield, has been unveiled in Derwent, England. The memory of the martyr is fragrant in the church.

Prohibition failed by a small vote to carry the State of Ohio; but we see no evidence of jubilation among the liquor dealers. Only a few more defeats of this character and prohibition will prevail in every State where the issue is tested.

The following, which we copy from an Ohio paper, indicates that the real spirit of the liquor interest when it can control the civil arm in behalf of its trade: "The Cincinnati saloon-keepers are terrible sticklers for 'personal liberty,' but they want it all on their side. It has been the custom of certain poor women to keep coffee stands at the public markets.

Two new trans-Atlantic cable companies are being discussed in New York—one to be under the control of the Merchants Company, the other under the leadership of James W. Mackay, the California millionaire, and Bennett, of the New York Herald.

The prohibition campaign in Ohio brought out the general recognition of the fact that under the present constitution the General Assembly of that State has the power to pass a prohibitory law if it deem such legislation necessary to arrest the evils resulting from the liquor traffic.

The board of trustees of Paine Institute will be held in Augusta, Ga., November 21st. Though the movement has not met that general response which its friends had expected, it is no less the cause of Christ and of humanity.

There are encouraging hopes that the Waldensian Church and Free Church of Italy will unite. In theology these churches belong to the Presbyterian school, and there is no reason they should remain apart while in the same field.

ANOTHER PLEA.

That the native preachers will do the chief work in spreading the gospel in heathen lands is no longer a subject of debate among the different mission boards now engaged in this great field. It is not until the gospel has taken root in the native soil that it begins to yield the harvest which every earnest missionary desires to behold.

Synopsis of Sermon Preached in St. John's Church, Sunday, November 11th, by the Pastor, Rev. G. W. Briggs.

The Wesleyan Advocate of the 14th copies the article in a late number of the TEXAS ADVOCATE on the Missionary to China and appends to it the following generous comment: This is truly cheerful news.

A FRENCHMAN named Deryo, in Akron, Ohio, has bequeathed to the city his estate, valued at $15,000, to found a hospital.

REV. BENJ. LABAREE, formerly president of Jackson College, Tennessee, died at Boston, Nov. 16, age, eighty-two years.

THE Presbyterians, as well as the Methodists, purpose commemorating in 1884 the organization of their church in this country.

At a recent State convention of the Universalists of New York a loss in ten years in Canada and the United States was reported of fifteen parishes and 3500 members.

REV. JOHN INSKIP, the well-known evangelist and editor of the Christian Standard, was stricken down with paralysis, Oct. 24, but by latest accounts is regaining his strength.

It is stated at Rome that the Pope has consented to appoint a Nuncio for the United States. It is believed in the Vatican that the American congress will approve the appointment.

At a recent meeting held by Mr. Moody some one shouted out that his former meetings had been a failure. Mr. Moody at once put this question to a vote. The judgment was 3,000 to one that the meetings were successful.

Mrs. ROBERT STEWART, of New York, has handed over to Princeton College $150,000 to provide for the salaries in the new department in philosophy. It is given in memory of her late husband and his brother Alexander Stewart.

The alumni of the University of Virginia, for the first time in its history, refrained from having wine at the alumni dinner. This supplies another token of the change in moral sentiment respecting the evil of intemperance.

China and France. In an interview in Paris, Nov. 18th, Marquis Tseng declared that during the last few days the situation between France and China had become very critical, owing to the proceedings of the French government and the repeated notes of the Chamber of Deputies and the juxtaposition of the Chinese and French troops. Many well-armed Chinese regulars have crossed the frontier and encamped at Bao-Ninh, where they closely watched the movements of the French, notwithstanding the presence of the French fleet. Three army corps of 1000 men each, and equipped in European fashion, can, on short notice, march from three different routes against the French. Among the Chinese troops are many European and American engineers. The French may be able to throw a few bomb-shells into Canton, but it will be difficult for their fleet to approach the place, as the water is too shallow. France must first give warning, if she contemplates a hostile demonstration to merchant vessels to all nations there. The French cartridges are energetic, the Canton mardins are energetic, and the French will find them worthy foes. China is receiving encouragement and offers of material aid from all sides. I have good reason to believe that the French government since my arrival in Paris. I shall return to Foikese one almost immediately.

Concluding he said China ardently desires peace, and deplores the fact that the situation daily becomes more aggravated. He will recognize, however regretfully, accomplished facts and leave to France the towns and forts captured south of the Red River. China has determined, however, to hold Bao-Ninh against all comers with the greatest energy.

A Gentleman well-known in Zanesville, Dresden and Cohasset, writes from Paris, Ill.

Dear Sir-In the Winter of 1871 I was told by three prominent doctors that my wife had Consumption, and that she could not live until Spring. Soon after this a friend, who lived in Dayton, Ohio, recommended your medicine to her, but having been told that she was incurable, we had no faith in them. Her friend finally brought her a bottle of your Pulmonic Syrup, and insisted on her giving it a fair trial. She did so, and thank God, by its use her life was saved. She is now entirely well.

I am well-known here, as well as in Zanesville, Dresden and Cohasset, and would refer you to the druggists and others in those towns who will remember my wife's case as a very decided one. I have recommended your medicines to a great many, and have never known them fail in making cures where they had been given a fair trial. I am induced to send you this by the thought that it will be of great aid to suffering humanity. A. W. WHIT E, Proprietor White House, Fulton, Ill. Nov. 13, 1878.

Another Case of Consumption Cured at La Porte, Ind. Dr. SCHENCK. About twenty years ago I was languid, only ill with Lung Fever. I had great trouble in breathing; every breath I drew caused me pain. I had three doctors treating me, but I grew worse all the time. I was at that time connected with the Lake Shore R. R. Co. One of my fellow clerks induced me to get some of your medicine, saying that he had used it himself with entire success. I sent for some of your Pulmonic Syrup, Senechal Tonic and Senechal Tonic. I used them according to the directions, and in a short time noticed a marked improvement in my health, which kept up as I continued using your medicines. After taking a few bottles, I was helped by any medicine, and I was entirely cured of my sickness. Since that time I have recommended your medicines to many other people living in La Porte who used them with great success. F. W. NEBELTHAUS, Ex-Minister of La Porte Co. La Porte, Ind., Jan. 31, 1881.

Consumption Cured.-Head this Letter from Mr. Titick, of La Porte, Indiana. Dr. SCHENCK. In the year 1871 I was suffering with Consumption, and had not long to live. I had no hope of ever getting well again. I waited for death to put an end to my sufferings. There was one of my friends who was persistently trying to have me use your Pulmonic Syrup and Senechal Tonic, but I utterly refused to get any more medicine. I was disgusted with medicine. I had tried so many different medicines without any benefit. Finally, that I was not to be persuaded, he bought some of your Pulmonic Syrup and Senechal Tonic, and brought them to me. I at first refused to touch them. I did not want to be experimented on, but finally consented to use them merely to satisfy him, and that I expected they would do me any good. I commenced taking the Pulmonic Syrup and Senechal Tonic, and to my great surprise felt almost immediate relief, and was encouraged to continue using them. My condition improved under their use, until in time I grew perfectly well, so that the disease no longer troubled me. My lungs had healed up and grew stronger than ever. I was permanently cured, as I have had no trouble with my lungs since that time. I owe my life entirely to your medicines. Nothing else saved me. I will bear cheerful testimony to the great virtues possessed by your medicines. I know of several other cases here where your medicines have been used with entire success. I am well-known here, being one of the original German settlers in La Porte Co. and having been in the lively business for many years. JOHN TITICK, N. B.-I can, and will, if necessary swear before any Justice of the Peace, to all that I have said in the above statement. JOHN TITICK, La Porte, Ind., Jan. 21, 1881.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY: That we have sold the medicines mentioned in these certificates to Mr. Nebelthaus and others, and their statements are authentic and reliable. FRED'K WEST & CO., Druggists.

From Mr. Harley P. Hopkins, of Providence, R. I. He is Cured of Consumption by Dr. Schenck's Medicines, after being given up to die by some of the best physicians in the city.

Dr. J. H. SCHENCK. Dear Sir-I have been cured of what three of the best physicians of this city told me was Consumption of the Lungs, by the use of your medicines. I was first attacked with the disease in October, 1880, and although I was from that time continually under the care of a physician, I grew worse and worse, until at last I was confined to my bed. I can hardly say that I was first attacked with the disease in 1880, for my lungs had been weak for many years previous to this, and I would quite often have severe pain in my breast, if I took the least cold or exerted myself too much in any way. I grew worse, my cough became very bad. I had night sweats so severe that my bed through the night would be wet as though water had been thrown over me. I was continually raising blood and large quantities of offensive matter from my lungs, and at last had all the well-known symptoms of Consumption in its last stages.

At the request of my family, my physician called in two other doctors of our city, and they, after an examination, agreed that my case was hopeless. They informed my wife that I had better be told that I could not live, as my time would be very short for arranging my worldly affairs. They also said that no medicine would be of any use to me. The next day, my friend, Mr. H. I. Leith, hearing of my condition, sent me a bottle of your Pulmonic Syrup, thinking it might relieve my cough, and make my expectation easier. I began using it immediately. I had not used more than a few bottles when I felt that I was getting better, and I continued to use it until I had used seven or eight bottles. All this time I was in bed and was so weak that I had to be lifted. This was not a difficult thing to do, however, as I only weighed about ninety pounds. As I have said, I commenced the use of the medicine with the thought of its curing me, but after taking the eighth bottle I would sometimes feel a little hungry, a thing that had not before done for many months. I omitted to mention that after taking four or five bottles of the Pulmonic Syrup, I also began taking the Senechal Tonic, and I also took some of the Mandrake Pills.

It is needless for me to give you an account of all my feelings during my recovery. Of course it was slow, but it was so. I gradually gained strength, the character of what I raised from my lungs was changed-not being so adhesive-and at last I was able to get up and walk about my room. From this time my recovery was rapid. I gained flesh fast and soon went out doors, and now I am entirely well, a wonder to all my acquaintances who saw me when I was so low.

I weigh one hundred and sixty-two pounds, appetite good, and I can truly say that I never felt better in my life. I consider your medicines as wonderful in their effects. They have saved my life, and I feel so thankful to you that I am anxious that all who are suffering with lung troubles should know how good they are. Of course I can give a better account of my case in telling of it than in writing and if any who read this are interested, they are welcome to call on me at my residence. Yours truly, HARLEY P. HOPKINS, No. 2 West 10th St., Providence, R. I. Nov. 13, 1881.

Consumption Can be Cured! Dr. SCHENCK. Dear Sir-Looking over one of your books, in which I find so many letters recommending your medicines, I have thought to myself how negligent I have been in not making my case public; that others might take warning. In my own opinion I can give a short and true statement of my case. Consumption had been in my lungs for some time, and I had been afflicted over 7 years. One of my sons came in one day and said to me, "mother, I have heard of a Dr. Schenck that is making great cures in Consumption; will you see him?" I had given up all hope of recovery, but he induced me to try his medicine. I had taken several bottles of your medicine, and I had been afflicted over 7 years.
