BURGLARS LOOT FIVE STORES AT SAGERTON

Five business houses were burglarized at Sagerton Thursday night and only a small amount of cash and merchandise was taken. The burglars entered the Balsler Filling Station, Juergensen & Diers, the Postoffice, Engleman Drug Store, and Mrs. E. G. Stein's.

The cash drawers in all of the places had been opened but very little money taken, according to the sheriff's department, after making an investigation. An automobile tire and a small amount of oil and gas was taken from the filling station, one pair of No. 10 shoes were stolen from one of the stores along with a few other small items, about two dollars in pennies was taken from the postoffice.

The sheriff's department here is of the opinion that the thieves were after money and not interested in merchandise. Sagerton has been without a bank for some time and the supposition is that the burglars believed a considerable amount of cash would be kept on hand by the different business houses.

Sheriff Barrels states that his department has a good description of one of the parties implicated and that an arrest may be possible at an early date.

L. L. Chamberlain Is Candidate for Commissioner Prec. 2

The name of L. L. Chamberlain will be found in our announcement column this week as a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 2, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

Mr. Chamberlain is well and favorably known throughout the precinct and probably needs no introduction from the Free Press. He understands the needs of the county and is thoroughly qualified to fill the position with credit to himself and Precinct No. 2. In making his formal announcement for the position Mr. Chamberlain issued the following statement:

"To the Voters in Commissioners Precinct No. 2, Haskell county: "Having been solicited by a number of friends to enter this race for Commissioner, I hereby submit my claims to the voters in Precinct No. 2.

"In submitting myself for the office will say that I have been a citizen and tax-payer in your county for twenty years. Furthermore, I have been punished with fifteen successive years of schooling, not including short courses. (If this is worth anything, if not ignore.) Therefore I believe I am qualified and competent to help execute the business that would come before this body of officials in a satisfactory manner.

"In a time like this great depression we are going through, I think it judiciously wise to practice strict economy and try readjusting our financial condition for the good of the people. (You know contentment relieves the mind, where oppression irritates.)

"Now in regard to taxes, I believe in reducing them to their lowest minimum and to be extremely careful in spending the people's money. If we don't we will soon come to a finish.

"It has been suggested by some aspirants for office, that salaries be reduced. That would be acceptable to me providing it be unanimous, for it is very essential at this time to make all edges cut.

"Now to you city folks: I shall have great respect for your personal and property rights. Because I admire civic pride and believe in progressiveness, but not in a sense that it would be an infringement upon any one particular class or set of people (city or rural.)

"Now to the rural people: I also have your interest at heart, and anything that I could do for the betterment of our conditions and welfare in general, I would be glad to do it.

"Now, Roads: I am a firm believer in good roads. I like them, they are really a necessity. And I can drag them just as far and just as good as anyone else (bar none) and will do it.

"And any miscellaneous business that should come before me I would exercise my best judgment in regard to same.

"Now I have entered this race last so far. The Scripture says: 'But many that are first shall be last; and the last shall be first.'—Matt. 19:30."

"It is my intention to see each and every voter in my precinct to solicit your vote and influence.

"Yours for better service,
L. L. Chamberlain."

P. S.—To you young voters just arriving at the legal voting age, and to those of you whom have passed the three score and more, I would especially appreciate your vote and influence.—(Louis.)

TEST COTTON LAW WILL BE CARRIED TO HIGHEST COURT

Only the final word of the Texas supreme court remained as a resort for state officials testing the Texas cotton acreage reduction law, after the 10th court of civil appeals at Waco Saturday sustained a district court ruling that the law was "unconstitutional, null and void."

District Judge W. C. Davis of Franklin was upheld in his refusal to prevent Fred L. Smith, farmer of Calvert, from planting to cotton this year more than 30 per cent of the land he had in cultivation in 1931.

County Attorney T. L. Tyson of Robertson county was expected to argue the appeal from the court of civil appeals to the supreme court.

Judge Davis, in his opinion filed Feb. 1, declared that enforcement of the law passed last September at a special session of the Texas legislature would be "the essence of tyranny and destructive of the fundamental principles of our constitution and would make the bill of rights a nullity and a farce."

John Philip Sousa, Noted Bandmaster Dies Suddenly

John Philip Sousa, famous bandmaster, died suddenly early Sunday morning at the Abraham Lincoln hotel in Reading, Pa., less than two hours after a banquet in his honor, given by the Ringgold band, that city. The band, celebrating its 80th anniversary Sunday, had invited Sousa to be its guest conductor, a service he had rendered it on a number of previous Ringgold anniversaries.

He delivered a speech at the dinner, but appeared very weak.

A heart attack is ascribed as the cause of death. His home was in Washington, D. C. Sousa was 77 years old last November.

Kidnaping Is Punishable By Death In Texas

Kidnaping was made one of the few offenses punishable by the death penalty in Texas by an act passed by the 42nd legislature in 1931, according to Dennis P. Ratliff, local attorney and representative from this district.

The new law provides that any person who "forcibly detains, takes, confines or conceals" or who "fraudulently entices away" any person for the purpose of obtaining money may be punished by death or by any term of years in the penitentiary not less than five.

It provides, however, that in the event the kidnaped person is returned without having received any serious bodily injury the death penalty may not be inflicted and the punishment is any term of years in the penitentiary not less than five.

There have been several prosecutions under this law since its passage but none of them have yet been passed upon by the higher courts, according to local attorneys here.

The old kidnaping law had a punishment of from two to 99 years for abduction and from one to five years for false imprisonment.

MARCH 15 LAST DAY TO FILE INCOME TAX RETURNS

The last day Haskell people may file income tax returns will be March 15th. A collector will be at the Haskell National Bank all day Saturday March 12th to assist anyone desiring help in making out a return.

Returns must be filed by single persons whose net income in 1931 was $1,500 or more, every married person living with husband or wife whose income was $3,500 or more, and every person single or married, whose gross income was $5,000 or more.

In addition the stated exemptions of $1,500 and $3,500, a married taxpayer or head of a family may claim a credit of $400 for each dependent, defined as a person under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support, because of mental or physical defects. The taxpayer must furnish the chief support for such a person to claim credit.

Taxes on real estate and personal property paid during the taxable year 1931 are deductible. However, assessments against local benefits, such as street paving and drainage projects, are not deductible, since they are considered as an increase to the property value.

Expenditures for purchase of an automobile are not exempt for income tax. However, deductions are allowed for cost of maintenance and operation for a car used either for business or pleasure.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY IS DISTRIBUTED HERE

A new telephone directory was distributed last week by the Haskell Telephone Company for Haskell and Weinert. The printing was done by the Haskell Free Press, and the office force is very proud of the job, as they believe that it will compare very favorably with the directories the company has been issuing heretofore, and which have been printed in Dallas.

The contract for the printing of the local directories was awarded the Free Press because their splendid equipment enabled them to print the books according to plans and specifications that have been adopted by the company for a standard telephone directory.

SCHOOL CENSUS BEING TAKEN IN HASKELL COUNTY

Enumeration of all the school children in Haskell county was begun last week. Mrs. J. E. Bernard is taking the census in Haskell and each school district has its special census taker appointed by the trustees.

Efforts are being made to have every school child enumerated, since the state apportionment is based on the number of children in a county or school district and the work must be finished by the first of April. Miss Minnie Ellis, county superintendent of public instruction urges parents to be sure to see that their children are listed. If you know of any children that may be missed be sure and call the teacher or school superintendent in your district, if you do not know the person taking the census, and they will see that the child is not overlooked. State aid at the present is $17.50 for each child and will probably be the same the next school term. Every child who is overlooked means a loss to the district of that amount.

All children who will be 6 years of age before September 1st, and not over 18 on the above date, should be enumerated. No color or race is exempted. Marriage does not bar a boy or girl from the school census if they are within the age limit.

Haskell County . . . . . History

As Revealed by the Files of the Free Press 20, 30 and 40 years ago

Twenty Years Ago Today—1912
The Haskell Oil Mill shut down Tuesday after a big run the past season. We were informed by the management that the past season had proved a most satisfactory one and that in addition to the products that had been shipped, many cattle had been fed at their feed lot.

Mr. Cogdell shipped 23 cars of fat cattle to Kansas City Sunday. He accompanied the shipment himself. Messrs. Rich and English shipped 4 cars of cattle on the same train. Mr. Rich went with the shipment.

Cleveland Pierson made a business trip to Aspermont last week.

A. P. Kinnison has opened up a barber shop next door to the printing office.

Prof. Claudis Wadden, who is teaching at the Roberts school spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wadden of this city.

A. J. Hill of this city left last week for Abilene where he has accepted a position with a wholesale grocery firm as traveling salesman.

Master Lesher McGregor and Misses Almedia McGregor, Berice and Mary Long and Mabel Baker spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Cain near Weinert.

W. E. Atchison and Miss Susie Cobb were married in the Roberts community at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. Rev. C. Jones performed the ceremony.

Thirty Years Ago Today—1903
Undeterred by the continued dry weather and unfavorable outlook some of our merchants are putting in a large stock of dry goods, that are first class in every particular, realizing that the competition they will have to meet, they determined to put in a stock so complete in every detail that there could be no reasonable plea by any citizen of Haskell county for going elsewhere for something not obtainable in Haskell.

In addition to the amount reported last week as subscribed for the waterworks and tree planting on the public square, W. H. Parsons subscribed $100. A. P. McLemore $50 or more in work with team and scraper, N. C. Smith, carpenter work and R. Y. Cox & Son of Hico $10.00 through J. F. Pinkerton.

Married on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Mr. Jno. F. Jones and Miss Mollie Whitman, at the Baptist Church, Rev. I. N. Alvis performing the ceremony.

The Commissioners Court allowed the sum of $250 or so much of same as may be required, be set aside to irrigate the courtyard, plant trees on same, provide public watering troughs, etc., provided the citizens of Haskell pay an equal amount with the county.

Walter Tandy came in several days ago from out west where he has been looking after his cattle interests.

Messrs. S. S. Cummings, S. W. Scott, W. T. Hudson and Walter Tandy and perhaps others we have not heard of will attend the big cattle convention in Fort Worth next week.

Col. Laemour of the firm of Laemour & Watson, contractors for our new courthouse is now in the city and expresses himself as being well pleased with the class of stone being used.

A. P. McLemore is having a well dug in the northeast corner of the courtyard. Sherrill Best will erect a windmill over it and fix water tanks to accommodate the public.

Two young men of Haskell went out serenading last night with a hand organ. After playing a piece at a certain lady's window they paused a moment for a cheer and heard the following startling words: "Get the gun, the cops are out there fighting over that quarter of beef." Of course they were started and a sound like a stampede of buffalo was heard—in other words they busted the Gate.

Jas. D. Johnson, brother of S. H. and W. E. Johnson, arrived in the city Tuesday night.

Miss Minnie Lindbergh entertained quite a number of her friends Tuesday night. The occasion was the celebration of her 15th birthday.

On last Friday night this place was visited by one of the greatest thunder storms ever known. The storm came up about 9 o'clock p. m., the clouds were heavy and the lightning flashed—the sun trembled and the houses shook and the moon suspended on the walls fell down—chandelier lamps vibrated in a circle. During the storm the lightning struck the Methodist parsonage, which is built in a T shape. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison were shocked.

Mr. W. Meisner with a committee of capitalists from Iowa arrived in the city Monday night with Capt. Napier for the purpose of closing a trade for one hundred sections of the H. & T. C. R. Co. Company's land in block 45 in the northern part of this county.

A Bit Too Much
A Scot was engaged in an argument with a conductor as to whether the fare was five or ten cents. Finally the disgruntled conductor picked up the Scot's suitcase and tossed it off the train, just as they passed over a bridge. It landed with a splash.

"Mon," screamed Sandy, "Isn't it enough that you've to overcharge me, but now you've to drown my little boy?"

Jones was a druggist, and when his wife ran away with another man he inserted this advertisement in the local paper: "This is to notify the party who so kindly relieved me of my wife that I can supply him with liniment, balm, ointment, sleeping powder, and trusses at rock bottom prices."

Wife (during quarrel)—You're becoming absolutely unbearable. It will soon be impossible to live with you.
Hubby (hopefully)—How soon?

SOAP Recipes

Furnished by
MISS HELEN PARTLOW
Haskell County Home Demonstrator

Numerous requests have come to the office of the home demonstration agent for proportions in making soap at home that will result in an attractive product for home and exhibit use. The following material may prove valuable suggestions in making soap from your favorite recipe or perhaps the recipes may prove helpful.

Utensils
For cooking small batches of soap, enameled or granite ware is suitable and for larger batches an iron kettle may be used. When the stir method is used, the crickery is suitable. Strong lye solutions will attack copper, zinc and tin to a certain extent. Never use aluminum utensils. A large granite or wooden spoon is best for stirring.

Ingredients
1. Lye—Pure, uniform.
2. Water—Best results are obtained by using soft water when possible.
3. Fat—Clean fats are light yellow or white and if the soap is made from clean fat it will be very light in color. Care must be taken in collecting fats. Burnt or dirty grease is not of use in that state; but if not burnt badly, it can be clarified by melting, straining, then frying a few small pieces of potato in it. Clarify the fat as it accumulates and keep it in clean tin cans, well covered, until a sufficient quantity is on hand. Both fats and oils must be washed free from salt. Rancid greases may be purified by boiling with a solution of one part of vinegar and five parts of water. Allow it to cool, then skim off the cleaned grease. If rancid greases are to be used, one of the boiling processes will give better results.

Molding
Soap may be molded in the pan in which it is made but it is better to pour it into a mold. Wooden or pasteboard boxes lined with a damp cloth make very good molds. For exhibit purposes some have used match boxes, lined with oiled paper. The box is filled level full and pushed back into the carton until soap has hardened.

Cutting
It is easier to cut the soap after removing it from the mold. A more satisfactory cut can be made with a fine wire or string than with a knife.

Curing
Soap should cure at least four weeks before using. This allows it to dry out better so it will not wash away so rapidly. It would even be better to have it six months old before using. The older soap is the better. Soaps made by the boiling process require longer ageing before they become hard and ready for use.

Blends
Excess lye forms a hard, crumbly soap.
Hard vigorous stirring will cause separation of the lye and fat in the cold process. Stir slowly and evenly. Creamy soap indicates lack of lye.

RECIPES

Hard Soap No. 1
7 pounds melted (but not heated) fat.
1 pound soda lye dissolved in 3 quarts water.
Melt fat gently to a liquid, strain through two or three thicknesses of cheese cloth. Mix the lye and water and stir to dissolve lumps, then cool to lukewarm before adding to the melted fat. In a fine stream, add the fat, which should be at the creamy consistency, and keep stirring continually until whole mixture is thick and light colored. Pour quickly into shallow pasteboard boxes or in pans which have been lined with dampened cloth. When firm and nearly cold, cut into bars or squares. Pack the soap with open spaces between and allow it to dry at least a month before using. If dried thoroughly before using, it "saponifies" better.

Soap Recipe No. 2
Dissolve a one pound can of lye in one and one-half quarts of cold water. Stir to dissolve lumps and let stand until cool. Then add:
1 cup borax.
1/2 cup ammonia.
1/2 cup kerosene.
5 pounds melted fat.
Strain the melted fat when cooled and about the consistency of thick honey. Add the dissolved and cooled lye, then add the borax, ammonia, and kerosene. If a clearer soap is desired, add one-half cupful of sugar, stirring continually, the whole mixture becomes the consistency of mush. Pour quickly into shallow boxes or pans. When nearly cold, cut and store as directed in Recipe No. 1. If the old kerosene is objectionable a half cup of water may be substituted for it. The kerosene has excellent cleaning properties.

White Floating Soap

1/2 pound lye.
1 gallon water.
2 quarts strained fat.
Dissolve the lye in one quart water. Put one gallon of water in an old porcelain or enameled bowl, add the fat, and then the lye. Mix the mixture to boil slowly for 2 or 3 hours. The soap is ready to skim out when it becomes fairly thick and the liquid looks clear. Test the soap. If it sticks on the hand when squeezed and has a greasy appearance, the soap would be improved with a little more lye; if too fat more fat is needed. Line a wooden box with a piece of wet muslin. Skim out the soap and place it in the lined box over night. Next morning cut into bars, dry, pack and store. The liquid left may be used for scrubbing.

Preparation

"Well," she replied, "because costs nothing—and, you never know."

BUILD UP HEALTH AND PAINS GO AWAY

Women who find themselves in a painful condition due to a run-down state of health should give Cardui a fair trial, for a reasonable length of time, as did Mrs. W. B. Hodnett, 1181 Hazel St., Texasboro, Texas, who writes: "I was anxious to build myself up so I could enjoy and take interest in my home. I had suffered with soreness and a constant pain in my side. My mother told me she thought I should try Cardui. Soon after I began taking it I noticed an improvement, so I kept on until I had taken three bottles. By this time I was feeling so much better, the pain and soreness were gone."

Angelina River Rises in East Tex.

This photo shows water going over Highway 35 between Lufkin and Bogdoches, Texas, for the first time since construction of the road 11 years ago. Traffic on this main highway between Houston and Shreveport was held up for some time when the Angelina River rose to unprecedented height.

Massachusetts Held as Nation's Apple Nursery

Massachusetts is the cradle of American horticulture, according to records in the division of horticulture at the Massachusetts State college. Studies conducted at various times by the college fruit specialists indicate that a total of 142 named varieties of apples have been developed in that state by fruit growers and breeders.

Of those the Baldwin apple probably is the most prominent today. This apple originated in Wilmington about the year 1740, so far as can be determined from old records, and today constitutes the principal variety in New England commercial orchards. Hubbardston is a variety which takes its name from the town in which it was originated approximately 100 years ago.

Benoni, mother, fall orange, roxbury russet, and Tolman sweet are other Massachusetts bred varieties that are still prominent today. The oldest planted fruit tree in America is a pear tree between Danvers and Salem on the farm once owned by Gov. John Endicott. There is some evidence to indicate that the tree was brought over from England in 1630 by Governor Winthrop.

Eisteddfod Goes Back to Eleventh Century

The eisteddfod is an annual Welsh national festival, accompanied by competitions in the musical arts most associated with the history of the Welsh people. Music competitions of a similar nature and under the same name are now also held chiefly among people of Welsh origin or descent, in the United States and some of the British dominions.

The Welsh word means literally "sitting" or "session." It was applied of old to the Welsh assemblies of bards, whose meetings, traditionally, go back to the Fifth and Sixth centuries. The eisteddfods of definite record, however, begin much later than that. The earliest actual account of one of these festivals is of the one held in 1170 by Lord Rhys at his castle at Aberfeldy.

In that century the eisteddfod appears also to have been a regularly constituted court of a sort, its function being to license bards and regulate their privileges. In the time of the Tudors it was still recognized as a tribunal of authority and Queen Elizabeth issued a commission for holding one in 1658.

During the next century the custom seems to have lapsed entirely, but it was revived in the Nineteenth century, and restored to its importance in Welsh life. The eisteddfod is now held every year, in North and South Wales alternately, and is attended by many thousands.

Cheese Making Industry Is On Increase in County

The making of cheese is becoming more important as an industry in the homes of Haskell county farm and home people. It is estimated that more than 1000 pounds of American cheese alone has been made.

The Cottonwood Home Demonstration Club purchased a thermometer at the cost of 75c with which more than 200 pounds of cheese was reported last year and this thermometer is yet moving from home to home keeping the pantries filled with cheese.

With an initial cost of $1.55 Mrs. Solon Lea, president of the Mitchell Home Demonstration Club has made 45 pounds of cheese and rennet and color tablets left to make many more pounds. 15 pounds of this was made for neighbors while 30 pounds made for herself, estimated at 25c per pound is valued at $7.50.

The women of the Vernon community, who do not have an organized home demonstration club have made 60 pounds of cheese with a borrowed thermometer after a demonstration on cheese making had been given in the home of Mrs. M. E. Wadzeck in that community by Home Demonstration Agent Eileen F. Partlow.

Many homes are making quantities of cheese to last during warm weather since the curing process is interfered with when temperature is too high. It takes 1/2 rennet tablet and 1/4 color tablet to make five gallons of whole sweet milk into cheese and the curing process should last 6 weeks if best flavored cheese is to result.

Two Chicago Bankers Prominent in Drive Against Depression

Charles G. Dawes (left), Chairman of the New Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago Banker.

CHICAGO and the Middle West have a double interest in the success of the gigantic Reconstruction Finance Corporation which is now being organized in Washington following speedy action by Congress. Charles G. Dawes, whose name is almost synonymous for the business community of Chicago will sit in the driver's seat as the active head of the great $2,000,000,000 Federal corporation just authorized by Congress. Another Chicago banker, a Democrat who is being repeatedly mentioned as a man of Presidential distinction has the distinction of making a vital contribution to the initial strength and success of the Reconstruction Corporation. That man is Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago who was the first to visualize and propose that the Reconstruction Corporation render some service to thousands of depositors of small banks which had failed during the past two years. The gist of Mr. Traylor's proposal before a Senate Sub-Committee was that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be authorized to make loans to closed banks as well as to financial institutions and others needing its aid. Such a step would release substantial amounts of money to depositors whose funds had been "frozen" by the failure of such banks. Mr. Traylor's suggestion made such an impression that it was embodied in the Bill as finally passed by Congress. He, more than any other man, is responsible for the timely assistance that will now be possible for many depositors of small banks throughout the country.

Hand of Time Falls on Historic Scottish Oak

The old "Covenanters' oak" at Dalzell, Scotland, which has weathered the blasts of storm and time for centuries, met with mishap recently. A violent windstorm bereft the famous "auld aik tree of Dalzell" of much of its ancient grandeur. The "Preacher's oak," as it is sometimes called, is known to visitors and picnic parties to the beautiful seat of Lord Hamilton of Dalzell as an object of great historic interest. In the troublous religious times of long ago it is on record that the ousted minister of Dalzell was sheltered and protected by the laird of Dalzell as far as possible, and that he secretly visited the parish and preached to his people from the great oak in front of Dalzell house. The great branches of the tree—each the size of an ordinary tree—grow from the top of the stem, which at four and a half feet from the ground is twenty-one feet in circumference.

Good Reading

A good book is like a symphony, some passages will strike one as glorious, at the first hearing, which a second reveals as commonplace, whereas this movement, this chapter, which sounds only blurry, at the second hearing develops into the most exquisite music of the afternoon. The plain fact is, as every reader knows, that sometimes an interesting "quotation" will elude one and never be found again. Perhaps it is just as well. It is good to know, in small affairs, that our searching is not always fruitful, that we cannot always be successful. Failure is just as inherent in the scheme of things as success. The great book of common sense teaches one that, —Charles E. Tracewell, in the Washington Star.

Pioneer Mince Pies

Tradition states that mince pies were originally oval in shape, to represent the cradle in which the Holy Child was laid, and the medieval cooks filled them with the choicest and costliest of meats, all shredded and minced together, as emblems of the gifts of the Three Wise Men. For centuries they occupied the place of honor on the banquet table, and in an old fourteenth century manuscript we find the following recipe: "Take a pheasant, a hare, a capon, and two pigeons, take out as many bones as may be, and chop them up fine, add the livers and hearts, two kidneys of sheep, salt, pepper, spice and vinegar. Put the meat into a crust made craftily into the likeness of a bird's body, close it up and bake well."

Defining Energy

Energy is the capacity for performing work. It may be either potential, as in the case of a body of water stored in a reservoir capable of doing work by means of a water wheel, or actual, sometimes called kinetic, which is the energy of a moving body. Potential energy may also exist as stored heat, as stored mechanical energy, as in fuel, or as electrical energy, the measure of these energies being the amount of work that they are capable of performing. Actual energy of a moving body is the work which it is capable of performing against a retarding resistance before being brought to rest, and is equal to the work which must be done upon it to bring it from a state of rest to its actual velocity.

Schubert's Inspiration

Schubert's "Who is Sylvia" is one of his best known compositions of his kind. At the writing of the piece, Schubert was unquestionably in love with the name, Sylvia, or his conception of her. The song was inspired by Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona." It is said that the song inspired Arthur Sullivan to write "Sylvia and the Lark." "Who is Sylvia" was published shortly after Schubert's death, together with three songs of 1817, which were called "Open Me," which were dedicated to Marie Fischer, Schubert's first love.

Poetic Tribute Paid to the "Beauty of Words"

Wilhelmina Sitche expresses "the beauty of words," in the following: "Words are such precious things! They laugh and dance and shout with glee! and some have golden wings; others are quiet and friendly like a tree. There is a word that sings; another croons most tenderly or with high courage rings. Some are arrayed so gorgeously; others wear gentle colors, like a nun; or full of vigor like a noonday sun. Some words there are like fine and rich brocade; others like stars do shine; some are alluring like a piece of jade, and some are ruby red, like wine. "Lo! There are words as still as night, and words that lie in love against the breast, and there are those that wheel like hawks in flight—and those that bring deep rest. So many things God made to give delight; blossoms of bright hue, the song of birds, the midnight sky with silver gems bedight—but none so lovely as his gift of words."

Days and Nights on Moon

All parts of the moon are bathed in direct sunshine at some time or other, and as each part is thus exposed for nearly two weeks at a time the surface temperatures must get very hot at such times. Astronomers have computed that when the sun is shining the surface lava rises to a temperature of about 210 degrees Fahrenheit, that is, several degrees higher than the temperature of boiling water. On the other hand, temperatures as low as 243 degrees below zero Fahrenheit are believed to occur in that part of the moon turned away temporarily from the sun. Because of the absence of an atmosphere, there are great contrasts of temperature from time to time and from place to place.

Bugle Calls Copied

The bugle calls now used in the United States army naturally show the influence of foreign allies with whom our soldiers of pre-Revolutionary and Revolutionary times came in contact. The English and French influence predominated as a matter of course. In comparing the bugle calls now in use in the United States service with those of other countries, it is noted that, with few exceptions, they consist generally of fragments of calls and signals used by our European neighbors. In some cases they are identical both in melodic and rhythmic structure.—Exchange.

Beautiful Phrases

The phrases, "White Man's Country" and "God's Country," are often applied to a nation or country by its sons and daughters. Not many years ago a bulletin on Australia called attention to the fact that among the white inhabitants poverty is practically unknown, the aged, infirm, and children are adequately provided for, the labor situation is satisfactory, and the territory itself offers unlimited possibilities for development, exploitation, and exercise of man's ingenuity. All these things seem to make it a favored spot.

Subsoil Test Made On Roads

When the Texas highway department lays a strip of paving it wants to be reasonably sure the paving will stay where it is laid without bulging or creeping.

To effect this, exacting tests of the material in the sub-soil of the grade are made and if the material shrinks when subjected to the test, non-shrinking substances are added to obtain the proper consistency.

The test of the sub-soil is made by taking a sample of the earth, thoroughly wetting it and placing it in a mold to dry. If it shrinks or cracks it is unsuitable and a road built on it has little chance of keeping its smoothness.

The department has experienced great difficulty in obtaining the proper sub-soil materials in the heavy black land areas.

Samples of the sub-soil have been obtained from several places in each county, enabling the engineers to ascertain without much difficulty the type of sub-surface treatment necessary before it will sustain a top properly.

Hamlin Oil Mill Stared Today.

The whistle and song and the stir of cooking meal at the Hamlin Oil Mill was a welcome sound and small last Tuesday morning. The big mill started with a large amount of seed on hand that had been accumulated during the winter season. There was a scramble for jobs, about 100 men appeared for work and only 30 were taken on. However, the starting of the mill means a great deal to the entire community. It is an industry that means much to the farmers and the labor as well.

Federal Building Site at Graham Accepted.

The Interdepartmental committee in charge of Federal Building projects, has accepted the proposed site of the Federal building in Graham, according to letters received by the Federal Chamber of Commerce and the County Judge, W. F. Parsley. In the letters, the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer stated that in all probability no appropriations would be made during the present session of Congress for public building projects and hence no immediate activity relative to the federal building project is expected by the local committee. The site offered for the Federal building is on the northwest corner of the south half of the courthouse square.

WINTER ISSUE OF THE SOUTHWEST REVIEW INTERESTING NUMBER

The Winter issue of the Southwest Review, just off the press, attracts attention by remarkable essays in widely various fields. The disarmament conference now meeting in Geneva is discussed by Professor Myres of Southern Methodist University, who has recently returned from a year's study in Geneva and the Near East, and by Benjamin Gerig, a member of the League of Nations Secretariat, and Tom Mahoney, a Dallas newspaper man, contributes a vivid description of Villa's raid on Columbus, N. M., in 1916, which brought about Pershing's famous punitive expedition into Mexico.

But of even more interest to Texans is Sam Acheson's essay on Joseph W. Bailey and the Spanish-American War. In this chapter from his forthcoming biography of the Texas Senator, Mr. Acheson traces in detail the growth of the war frenzy in 1897-98, and describes the birth of American imperialism.

WHERE'S THE FIRE?

There is a story going the rounds of two lady school teachers of Brooklyn, who, spending their vacation exploring Western Canada, stopped at a small, old-fashioned hotel in Alberta. One of the pair is inclined to be worrisome when traveling, and she couldn't rest until she had made a tour of the corridors to hunt out exits in case of fire. The first door she opened, unfortunately, turned out to be that of the public bath, occupied at the moment by an elderly gentleman taking a shower. "Oh, excuse me!" stammered the flustered lady. "I'm looking for the fire-escape." Then she ran for it. To her dismay, she hadn't got far along the corridor when she heard a shout behind her and, looking around, saw the gentleman, wearing only a towel, running after her. "Where's the fire?" he hollered.

In business it is not infrequent that such a remark as that of the timid, flustered teacher starts a flood of rumor resulting in real damage to banks, commercial houses and even entire communities. Much of the "news of impending disaster" is as ridiculous and unfounded as that which sent the gentleman of the bath towel racing through the halls in search of an imaginary fire.

Those who have bad news to impart should first make sure they are dealing in facts, and then, unless the telling may serve some legitimate purpose, should keep their unhappy news to themselves. During the past two years the fellows looking for the fire escapes have caused a lot of unnecessary trouble, and, figuratively, have stripped a lot of their fellows of even a bath towel.

FORD WILL RISK ALL

Recognizing the fact that whatever he has come from the American people, Henry Ford is preparing to risk his entire fortune in a large-scale production of new cars to start the wheels of industry and bring back prosperity to the country. Based upon an anticipated volume of a million and a half cars for the year, $52,000,000 per month will be distributed by the Ford organization, giving employment to countless unemployed and stimulating many branches of industry.

This is but one of the signs that faith is reviving and that before long the depression, that hangs like a pall over the land, will be over and the American business structure will once more be on a solid foundation.

It is hoped that more of the great industrial organizations will recognize their responsibilities and rise to their opportunities as Mr. Ford has done. All the country needs now is a restoration of confidence to go forward to a new prosperity.

BENEVOLENT UNCLE SAM

It is remarkable that people ever got along at all before a benevolent Uncle Sam, through the medium of his many departments and bureaus, hit upon the idea of saving their lives by a wonderful series of advisory bulletins.

A few of these amazing screeds were enumerated by Senator Pat Harrison in a facetious speech ridiculing them in his characteristic style. He mentioned among others, government bulletins on 'Utilization of Calcium in Spinach,' 'Lamb As You Like It,' 'Bringing Up Bobby,' 'Reindeer Recipes,' 'Principles of Window Curtaining,' 'How to Dress for a Sun Bath,' and even 'Love Adventures of the American Bullfrog.'

Hundreds of other bulletins and pamphlets of about equal absurdity are issued by the Labor, Agriculture and Commerce departments in Washington, and the cost of preparing and printing them is borne, of course, by the taxpayers who may or may not need this enlightenment.

One other bulletin for the edification of the faithful housewife deserves special mention. It is entitled 'Where Sheets Wear Out.' If she reads this she will know without even taking the trouble to look over her bed linen. We await eagerly a treatise on 'Where Pants Wear Out.'

And possibly, in the course of human events the bureaucrats may have material for a more practical dissertation on 'Where the Taxpayers' Patience Wears Out.'

Just now there is much talk in all sections of Texas, as elsewhere, about the absolute necessity of reducing the cost of local and State government radically. This is as it should be, for the necessity is real and urgent. But it seems to us to be in order to point out in this connection that the chief reason for this necessity is the reduced income of the people, and not merely the increase of the cost of government. It is true that the cost of government was already too high in 1928, before the depression broke over the country. Government, local and State, was costing then more than it ought to cost, and more than the people could well afford. But since then the income of the people of Texas has been reduced radically. The income from cotton during the present fiscal year, for example, will be less than one-third of that for the year 1928-29, and that is the largest single item of the income of the people of Texas. The falling-off in income from practically every other source has been nearly as great. If the cost of government, local and State, in Texas were reduced to one-half of what it was in 1928, it would require a much greater percentage of the total income of the people to pay the bill. It would be a greater burden on the people. And, of course, there has been no such reduction of the cost of government anywhere in Texas.—The Texas Weekly.

KEEP TO THE LEFT

Custom has ordained that the pedestrian on the rural highway, like the vehicles, shall "keep to the right." That is proper for the vehicle, but for the pedestrian the right side is the wrong side, according to Maxwell N. Halsey, traffic engineer of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

Two thousand persons are killed annually in the United States and many thousands injured because they cling to the ancient custom. They are struck at curves, over the crest of hills, and in narrow passes by automobiles coming from behind. Dusk, before the headlight is turned on, is very dangerous, but later in the night, when the silhouette of the pedestrian blends into the background even under the strongest headlights, is the most dangerous time of all.

"Until the states provide sidewalks for the country road, the pedestrian should always keep on the left side," Mr. Halsey declares, "then at least he can see the cars coming and move to safety if the occasion demands it. It may feel awkward at first, but it will pay."

The Battle of Ballots Begins

THE PUBLIC'S REACTION TO ADVERTISING

A group of merchants wanted to decide for themselves recently, the answer to the oft-repeated question, "What Type of Advertising Attracts You Most?" In typical business style, these merchants conducted a survey and sent out questionnaires to a large number of people, asking that question. The results were extremely interesting. Here's what they found in tabulating 331 replies:

Newspaper advertising	173
Window displays	36
Friends' opinions	45
Circular letters	10
Mail order catalogs	8
Hand bills	4
Billboards	3
Radio	2

In other words, when these 331 individuals set down the advertising that attracts their attention most, more than half of that number set down newspaper advertising. Of course, this doesn't mean that other forms of advertising do not have merit, for they do. It does mean, however, that for mass circulation and reader interest, the newspapers are head and shoulder above any other advertising medium.

Who Gets the Most for the Money He Spends?

The fellow who buys haphazard—or the one who puts his everyday purchasing on a business basis?

The latter, of course. He is the one who reads the advertisements and discovers just where he can buy what he wants.

He is the one who realizes the great value of advertising when it comes to the important business of spending his hard-earned money.

The well-informed shopper always has the advantage when it comes to the stretching of dollars. And you can't be up-to-date on the shopping news until you make a practice of reading the advertisements.

The advertisements show you how to save money—and steps—and time. Watch them carefully.

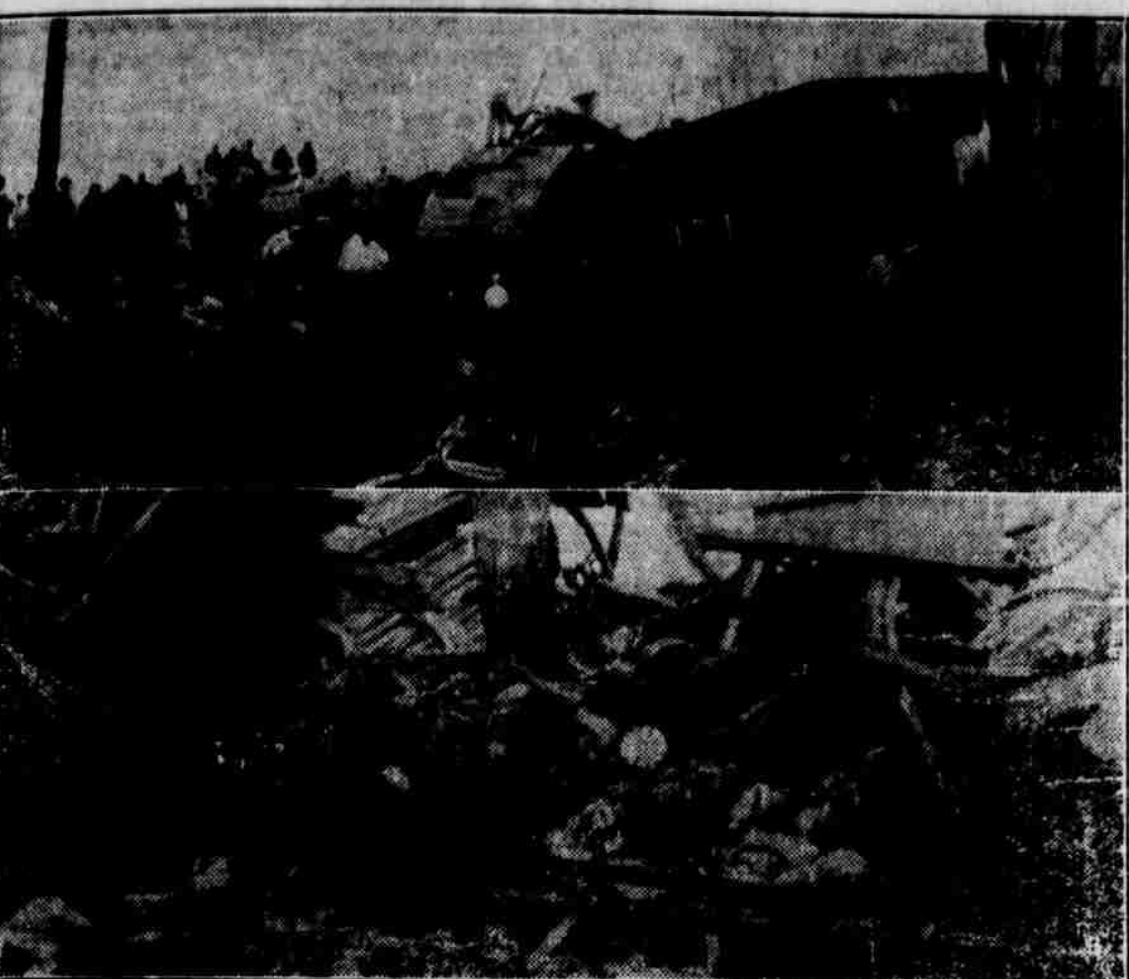

Anything that increases your purchasing power is working hard for you.

Four persons were injured when a Missouri Pacific passenger train collided with a loose freight engine which had rolled two miles from the local yards in Palestine, Texas, last Wednesday. Railroad officials investigated believing that the freight engine had been tampered with. Top picture shows a general view of the wreck, while the lower photo shows what happened to the baggage car.

Why take life too seriously? You'll never get out of it alive.

A farmer who was somewhat tired of his plain wife heard of a "Woman's Exchange." Misunderstanding the business of this institution he went to investigate. The woman in charge was a red-headed, pug-nosed, black-faced, pugilist type of a very old gal.

"I met him with her sleeves rolled up, ready for business. 'Be this the Woman's Exchange?' asked the man.

"Yes, Sir!"
"Be you the woman?"
"Yes, Sir!"
"Then I guess I'll keep Maggie."

"Uncle Mose, your first wife tells me you are three months behind with your alimony."

"Yes, Judge. Ah reckon dat am so, but you see it's jes dis way. Dat second wife of mine ain't turned out to be the worker. Ah thought she was gwine to be."

"Her car swerved suddenly, knocking a pedestrian spinning and then, at an once remembering her duty, she yelled:

"Look out!"
"Oh, my Lord," groaned the victim as he scrambled to his feet, "you ain't comin' back, are you?"

Modern Wooster—"I say, old thing, why I attend your wedding?"
"Why, I'm not even engaged."
"Oh, as a bridegroom, I mean."

First Friend—"Did you take me to the party last night?"
Second Ditto—"I don't know; was I there?"

Betsy—"Did you mail those two letters I gave you, Jack?"
Jack—"Certainly. But I noticed that you'd put the two-cent stamp on the foreign letter and the five-cent stamp on the city one."
Betsy—"Oh, dear, what a blunder!"
Jack—"But I fixed it all right. I just changed the addresses on the envelopes."

A proud young father wired the news of his happiness to his brother in these words: "A handsome boy has come to my house and claims to be your nephew. We are doing our best to give him a proper welcome." The brother, however, failed to see the point, and wired back: "I have no nephew. The young man is an imposter!"

Guide—"Why didn't you shoot at that tiger?"
Timid Soul—"Er-er, he didn't have the right kind of expression on his face for a rug."

Father—"And there, son, I have told you the story of your daddy and the Great War."
Son—"Yes, daddy, but what did they need all the other soldiers for?"

Dr. Moore—"Trouble with the modern woman, she's trying to copy the habits of the man. And when she does that she makes a perfect fool of herself."

Mrs. Moore—"Of course."
A German professor thus accosted a pupil who was usually late, but on this occasion was quite early: "I see you are early of late; you used to be behind before, and now you are first at last."

Aspiring Young Man—"May I marry your daughter?"

ber, 1931, and his second amended original petition filed in said court on the 7th day of March, 1932, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 4195, wherein J. E. Cloud is the plaintiff and Eula Mae Oatsmith, Dan Oatsmith and B. F. Neal are defendants.

The nature of plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

Plaintiff alleges that Dan Oatsmith and Eula Mae Oatsmith are husband and wife; that on the 4th day of March, 1929, the defendant, Eula Mae Oatsmith, executed and delivered to the defendant Neal her certain six vendor lien notes, each for the principal sum of $437.50, one due on or before January 1, 1930, and one due annually thereafter until all are paid; that all of said notes were executed by said defendant, Eula Mae Oatsmith, as a part of the purchase money for the following described land situated in Haskell County, Texas, to-wit:

Being 50 acres of land and known as the North one-half of the West one-half of the North one-half of Subdivision No. 2 of the Red River County School Land, League No. 71, Patent No. 345, Abst. No. 349.

That said property was on the 4th day of March, 1929, conveyed to the defendant Eula Mae Oatsmith by the defendant Neal in consideration of the notes described above and in said deed of conveyance as well as in said notes a vendor's lien was retained against the land above described to secure the payment of the same; that thereafter, the plaintiff purchased said notes from the defendant Neal and is now the legal owner of the same. That said notes by virtue of the provisions contained therein all are past due and unpaid and the defendants have refused to pay the same to the plaintiff's damage in the amount of his debt as represented by said notes sued upon.

Plaintiff prays that all the defendants be cited in the manner provided by law and that upon final hearing he have judgment foreclosing his lien against said land as against all of the defendants, and that said land be sold in the manner provided by law in such cases, for costs of suit, and for general relief.

Herein I fail Not, and have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Haskell, Texas, this 7th day of March, A. D. 1932.

Electric Refrigeration Will Protect His Health

ONLY mothers know how constant are the demands for between-meal snacks... how often that growing son of yours demands something to eat! A glass of milk, a sandwich, some cheese and crackers — something from the refrigerator.

Those foods he so confidently accepts... Are they safe? Are they health-building, or dangerous to health?

Scientists have found that any food is exposed to bacterial action when the temperature rises above fifty degrees. Thus it becomes unfit for use long before its taint is recognized by the normal senses.

But there's one certain and dependable way of eliminating this danger from your home—Electric Refrigeration. The modern Electric Refrigerator guarantees a constant cold, always below the fifty degree mark... And Electric Refrigeration is just as economical and just as convenient as it is healthful! You owe it to yourself and to your family to investigate without delay. Call in at the Merchandise Showroom or see your Electrical Dealer.

Convenient Terms

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?
