WASP STING IS FATAL TO HASKELL WOMAN

Death from the sting of a wasp, one of the most unusual occurrences in medical annals, took the life of Mrs. J. C. Crawford of this city shortly after noon Tuesday, while she and her two children were gathering plums on the Henshaw farm two miles east of town. Local physicians state that only a very few instances are recorded in which the sting of this insect has proved fatal. Examination by physicians showed that the insect had stung Mrs. Crawford on the forearm, inside the elbow, the poison entering directly into an artery or vein, causing immediate paralysis of the lungs and heart.

Bitten by Rattler

Bill Bolin of Throckmorton, an employe on the X ranch of the Reynolds Cattle Company, was rushed to Haskell Thursday afternoon after he had been bitten by a rattlesnake. The accident occurred about noon, while Bolin was at work on the Rose ranch southeast of town, baling hay. In some way the snake was pitched unknowingly in the machine and imprisoned in a bale of hay with his head and a few inches of his body protruding, striking Bolin on the leg as he started to stack the bale. Serum was administered by Dr. D. L. Cummins of this city, and the victim is reported to be recovering from the bite, although he has suffered considerable ill effects from the poison.

STAMFORD MAN FACES CHARGE OF CHICKEN THEFT

Carl Davis of Stamford is under $1000 bond to await action of the Grand Jury, following his arrest by members of the sheriff's department in connection with the theft of fifteen hens from John Keunster, farmer residing south of town, Saturday evening. Following report of the theft, local officers learned that the chickens had been sold to a local produce house and Davis' arrest followed.

First Loan Made Emergency Farm Mortgage Act

It is reported that the first loan from the $200,000,000 fund appropriated by Congress to re-finance farm mortgage indebtedness and to aid farmers to redeem their foreclosed farms, was made in Texas this week. The loan was for the amount of $3,000, and was made to a farmer and stockman of Brasoria county, who has resided in that section for a number of years.

Watch and Rings Taken by Youthful Prowlers Recovered

A wrist watch and three rings taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ford Wednesday afternoon, were recovered this morning by Deputy Sheriff Kirkpatrick and Det. Dotsma. Two boys about 10 years of age, who admitted taking the jewelry, led officers to the spot where the loot had been hidden. No charges were preferred against the youths.

Watch Taken by Their Recovered

A watch taken from the home of Wiley Reid, last dropped, was stolen last week, was recovered Wednesday by City Marshal Walsh and returned to the owner. The watch had been made in the east, but the identity of the thief is believed known and an arrest is expected in the near future.

Saddle Stolen From Farmer Is Found At Cisco

A saddle stolen early this month from Glenn Cobb, resident of the Cobb community southeast of town early this month, was located by the sheriff's department at Cisco last week and returned to the owner. Two men who officers believe to have been implicated in the theft were arrested and placed under bond of $250 each to await action of the Grand Jury.

Mrs. Carl Garner and little son Gene of Haskell are here to visit with friends and relatives this week. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Shriver left Sunday for a month's vacation. They will go first to the Century of Progress Exposition and then back to the Ozark Mountains.

"Secure the right of way and a contract will be let as soon as the money is available" is the assurance received by County Judge Chas. M. Conner and Joe Lee Ferguson from the State Highway Department Tuesday when they appeared before the commission in the interest of Highway No. 120 across Haskell county from the Throckmorton county line through Haskell and Rule.

Judge Conner and Mr. Ferguson were highly pleased with the assurance that the road would be given attention by the department as soon as money was available. The Commissioners' Court has already passed an order to proceed with the purchase of the right of way from the Throckmorton county line to Rule, and it is believed that a contract for the grade and drainage structures will be let by the Highway department during the summer months.

OFFICERS SEIZE LARGE AMOUNT OF "BREW" IN RAIDS

Deputy Sheriffs Dan Kirkpatrick and Olin Townsend of this city, and Henry Townsend of Rule in three raids staged last week secured over 600 bottles of "home brew" and a small quantity of liquor, destroyed about fifty gallons of brew in the making, and arrested two men in connection with the seizures. Three hundred and sixty-six bottles of the potent fluid were taken from a small house in the south part of the county, near the Stamford city limits, where one man was arrested and released under $750 bond to await action of the Grand Jury. No arrests were made in the second raid which resulted in the seizure of an additional quantity of home brew.

Shrine Group to Stage Big Picnic on Fourth of July

The citizenry of Wichita Falls—men, women and children, young and old—is invited to participate in an all day picnic at Haven park July 4, to be held under the auspices of the uniformed bodies of Haskell temple. There will be games, concessions, terrapin races, horned toad races, water sports and other forms of amusement, while the Haskell temple band, under the direction of Gerald Pond, will provide musical programs throughout the day.

Cafe Closed to Await Completion of New Location

Bob McNulty, genial proprietor of the Texas Cafe, is "open" for invitations for fishing trips, golf matches, and possibly a few sessions of—"bridge" for the next few days, while he is at leisure awaiting completion of remodeling of the building next door to the Farmers State Bank, which will be occupied by the cafe. Contractors expect to have the new location ready within a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Duncan and son Bolton returned the latter part of last week from Mineral, Wash. where they had been for the past two weeks.

BARRY MILLER DIES AFTER LONG CAREER IN TEXAS POLITICS

BARRY MILLER

Barry Miller, 68, prominent in political and state affairs for many years, died Tuesday at his home in Dallas. As a lawyer, district court judge, State Senator, Lieutenant Governor and a candidate for Governor in 1930, Miller was well known in all sections of the state.

FIVE ROOM HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

A five room house located several blocks northeast of the square was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning between two and three o'clock. The house was the property of Mrs. Mary E. Bates of this city. It was unoccupied at the time, former tenants having moved Friday of last week, and origin of the fire is unknown. When discovered by neighbors, flames had spread throughout the structure and had broken through the roof, making it impossible for firemen to save any of the structure. A small amount of insurance was carried on the house.

Forbidden to Dump Trash, etc., Within the City Limits

City officers state that following instructions issued at the last meeting of the City Council, complaints will be filed against any person dumping or piling trash on any vacant lot, streets or alleys within the city limits. Dumping of rubbish in this manner has become such a nuisance that this action became necessary officers state, and the new order will be strictly adhered to.

On "Vacation"

Night prowlers who have been operating in Haskell for the past week or ten days seem to be "on vacation" this week, as no complaints have been made to local officers during the past three days. According to reports made to officers, between 12 and 15 houses were entered by the thieves, who in almost every instance took money, watches and jewelry from homes in practically every section of town. Although undetected to date, officers believe that the culprits will sooner or later be apprehended.

REPRESENTATIVES OF 12 COUNTIES ARE HERE TODAY

Representatives are here this afternoon from 12 counties for the purpose of formulating plans to handle the cotton acreage reduction program in this section of the state. The group is headed by Sterling Evans of the Extension department of A. & M. College. Plans were discussed this afternoon concerning the program that would be followed in each of the counties represented, making a survey of the number of acres planted in cotton and the probable course that will be pursued as soon as the final details are received from Washington.

Funeral Services for J. A. Rowan Held Thursday

The funeral services of James Allen Rowan, well known farmer of the Center Point community, were held at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon at the Capron cemetery, with Rev. I. N. Alvis officiating. Mr. Rowan died Wednesday night after a long illness. He was 74 years old. He had lived in Haskell county some 26 years, and was a kind neighbor and useful citizen. His wife preceded him in death about 14 years ago. He leaves to mourn his going, one son, T. L. Rowan of Sagerton, Texas. Funeral arrangements were in charge of W. O. Holden of Jones Cox & Co. Interment was in the Capron cemetery.

Visitors Here From Panama Canal Zone

Geo. F. Wright and W. P. Morrison of Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, are here this week on route to Chicago where they will attend the Century of Progress Exposition. While here they visited in the home of Rev. Geo. H. Morrison, who is a brother of W. P. Morrison. These two gentlemen have lived in the Canal Zone for a number of years and are delighted with the country. Mr. Morrison visited here last year and made a number of friends who were happy to meet him again.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Haskell County Fair held at the City Hall last week officers were elected for the coming year as follows: J. Leo Southern, president, Hollis Atkinson, vice president, H. K. Henry secretary, and John S. Rike, treasurer. The official dates for the fall exhibition were set for October 19th, 20th and 21st.

Plans are being made for a number of improvements on the grounds and buildings during the summer months, which will make the exhibition grounds more attractive and at the same time take care of a larger number of exhibitors than ever before. The different committees will be appointed at an early date to take charge of all departments, with the view of making the fall Fair one of the outstanding events of West Texas.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted
by William Bruchart

Washington. — President Roosevelt's departure from the White house for a fishing cruise calls attention again to the tremendous strain to which a President of the United States is subjected. Anyone holding that office has to undergo it, and despite attempts to make the job easier, none has come forward with a workable plan to lighten the burden. Presidents have been criticized in communities away from the national capital many times in the past because they took a week or a month off. In other years, it has been common to hear political attacks on the President then occupying the White House on account of vacations or recreational methods that caused their absence from the Executive Mansion. Observers here, however, can in no wise agree that such criticism is justified. On the contrary, I believe the agreement would be on a premise that were the President unable to get away from his job periodically, he would be a broken man physically, if not mentally, in a short time.

administration. He receives advice and assistance from all shades of opinion because it is human for men and women to have varying views. So the President has to sort them out and arrive at his own conclusions and those conclusions either make or break the administration. . . . In order to illustrate the truth of the statement that the job of President of the United States is a man-killer, let us review what has happened since Franklin D. Roosevelt took office. He entered the White House with the most acute banking crisis ever known staring him in the face; he assumed the Presidency when the country's agriculture was in the throes of destitution, if not actual starvation; he took over the job at a time when 12,000,000 were without work and whose resources were gone, and with the industries of the nation unable to operate as a whole at more than 50 per cent of normal activity. The President, of course, knew how desperate the conditions were and he immediately called congress into extraordinary session, he closed the banks for a holiday so they could get started fresh after they had had time to determine whether they were solvent and he began grinding out a program for legislation by congress designed to restore order out of chaos. These things were done within a period of ten days, and it was thought the strain would lessen after the banks were again operating. But the days and nights between March 4 and March 15, the period of the banking holiday, were only the beginning. Others presenting just as much of a burden have occurred until the current question is: how did the President stand it?

It may sound simple that the President called congress into extra session; that he closed the banks and that he did all of the other things mentioned above. Unfortunately, it is not so simple as it sounds. For example, Mr. Roosevelt was inaugurated at noon, March 4; he had luncheon with a few friends and went to work with the new members of his cabinet. A steady stream of men filed in and out of the President's office, as the new Chief Executive sought to map plans. This continued into the night after the President had gone to the White House itself and long after midnight he was working on a program for handling the banking situation. Awakened at seven o'clock the circumstances of the preceding afternoon and night were repeated although it was Sunday. Then, the banking holiday proclamation was ready.

But the banks, having been closed, must needs be reopened. Emergency legislation was required. It had to be drafted quickly, and it had to be bullet-proof. Bankers and experts in finance and in legislation were summoned; others were called by long distance telephone and their views and suggestions ascertained and members of the senate and the house had to be consulted that any slip might be avoided. That was just one problem. There were numerous others, perhaps not quite as acute at that time, but nevertheless vital to the country as a whole. In order to save precious moments, the President was eating his noonday meal on his desk in the Executive office. Perhaps he had had a group of legislators or advisors with him at breakfast. He seldom was able to dine alone in the evening because there were questions to be decided at once and people whom he had called to consult were awaiting the moment they were to have with him. It would naturally seem that the strain would subside after the first few weeks of a new administration, but such was not the case for President Roosevelt. He told the country during his campaign that he would like to have "a honeymoon" in office for awhile. He wanted to start off his administration without having congress in session and with some time to map plans. But that was not to be. The "honeymoon," if such it can be called, has been delayed until now, and even now he is not safe from the worries of his job, nor from the pestering of politicians. The newspaper correspondents of Washington are in a peculiar position to judge the load the President carries. Those who are detailed to report White House activities are thankful when the President sends out word that there will be a brief respite. It means a moment in which those writers can safely leave their job and eat a meal without fearing that the President has sent another special message to congress or has determined to call a world conference or has suddenly decided on some less consequential thing. . . . Mr. Roosevelt is taking the cruise in order to recuperate and revitalize himself. He enjoys the outdoors, just as President Hoover enjoyed outdoors and President Coolidge enjoyed fishing and as President Harding and President Wilson enjoyed golf and as President Taft enjoyed walking and President Theodore Roosevelt enjoyed horseback riding. Mr. Hoover, it will be recalled, used to spend week-ends at a mountain camp on the Rapidan river in Virginia where he could rough it and fish, and he fished in the Potomac river, too, when he had time to make a river trip. President Harding would rather play a game of golf as a member of a foursome with cronies than do anything else, thoroughly enjoying companionship. President Coolidge seemed to enjoy solitude on a yacht, although usually he had a couple of intimate friends aboard when he went on cruises. Actually the purpose of these outings is to get away from all of the demands coming upon the office of President. He must and should have some freedom. His physical wellbeing is at stake at all times, for unless he is physically fit he becomes incapable of dealing with the tasks. . . . Presidents can receive whomsoever they desire to receive in their offices, but the list of visitors has to be culled closely in order not to overcrowd the Chief Executive's time. Some of the senators and representatives, however, have adopted another method of saving time for themselves in order to get work done. They go into hiding. Otherwise, folks from the home state would occupy so much of their time they would not be able to study the problems of legislation they have before them. For of the legislators have the courage, however, that has been shown by Senator Tydings of Maryland. His home state being within street car distance, the Maryland senator has plenty of visitors. He has solved his problem by posting a notice on his office door. It says his office hours are from morning until noon, when the senate convenes. After that time, no amount of knocking on the door will cause it to be opened. It seems to me that it has required a considerable determination to take such a course, but Senator Tydings did and thus far has not caused any real howl from his constituents. . . . Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri is causing just a little bit of disturbance around the White House. Although the senator is still a freshman, so to speak, because this is his first full term, he has demonstrated already that he is like his father, the late Speaker Champ Clark, who came so near being the Democratic Presidential nominee over Woodrow Wilson. The late Speaker Clark was a thorn in the flesh of President Wilson. Senator Clark is proving he is a chip off the old block by being a thorn in the side of the present President. He broke with the President on the so-called economy bill and he refused to stand hitched to several other measures, including the industrial recovery-public construction measure. The Missouri senator always has been regarded as a Democrat through and through, but he appears to dislike portions of the "new deal" because of their unorthodox character. © 1933, Western Newspaper Union.

New Gulf-lube motor oil lasts 28 1/2% more miles per quart!

TO MAKE THIS TEST, WE BORROWED 6 CARS—both new and old. Leading 25c oils were tested against Gulf-lube in each car. Gulf-lube stood up 28 1/2% longer before a quart of oil had to be added!

Beats competing oils to a standstill in Speedway "burn up" test

FOR 4 days, 12 hours a day, 6 borrowed cars tested 4 of America's leading 25c oils . . .

And, with every step of the test supervised by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, here was the result—a result that amazed even the hard-boiled officials . . .

Gulf-lube beat every oil in every car! It averaged 28 1/2% more miles per quart than the average of its competitors.

Switch to the "high mileage" motor oil. You'll say "give me a quart of oil" less often! And you'll get a better oil—the finest motor oil 25c ever bought! Get Gulf-lube at any Gulf station.

W. E. Pitman Gave Dinner Sunday.

This year it was found possible for W. E. Pitman and wife to have most of their children and a part of their grandchildren to spend the entire day with them Sunday, it being Father's Day and the Sunday nearest to Mrs. Pitman's 73rd birthday. There was a great feast in their home. Those enjoying the day were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pitman and son Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Pitman and most of their family, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Newsom and son Alton, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin and Calvert Pitman and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Pitman and little daughter Anita Jo, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Childress and little daughter Gerriene. There were thirty-one who enjoyed the occasion.

Josset H. D. Club.

Talks on "Organization of Pantry" were presented by Mrs. C. Thomas and Mrs. Paul Josset at a meeting of Josset H. D. Club Tuesday June 13th in the home of Mrs. Paul Josset. "Meal planning and meal preparation has been made easier for pantry demonstrators by grouping on shelves, leafy vegetables, starchy vegetables, other vegetables, fruits, meats, etc.," Mrs. Thomas said, and the shelves should be 10 1/2 inches above each other, supported by stringers 31 inches apart. A pantry storage space should be protected against both heat and cold. Cellars or dug-outs are excellent places. Time and labor are saved if shelves are put in kitchen to hold a weeks supply. Mrs. Paul Josset mentioned that to prevent tin cans from rusting, wipe with an oiled cloth before storing and paste on paper labels. Be sure paste does not touch can. She also said store potatoes and similar vegetables so that air may circulate about and through them. Put them in shallow boxes with wire or slat sides. Nail legs on boxes to keep off floor. Sixteen members, a new member, Mrs. Price Kurd and visitors Mrs. Melvin Josset, Misses Henrietta Perrin, Berta Mae Thomas, Alma Josset and Eloise Toliver were present.

Entertain With Party.

Mrs. Sam Hanson, Mrs. Ernest Coleman and Mrs. George Hanson entertained a group of friends with a lovely party on Thursday afternoon at the George Hanson home north of this city. Mrs. E. E. Bland was the honor guest. Lemon punch and cake was served to Mesdames S. T. Moody, A. M. Bird, J. H. Bland, Lee Hanson, Sarah Morgan, Myrtle Coleman, Homer Scott, Bill McDaniel, Alvis Bird, Tom Coleman, W. T. Overby, Roy Overby, D. A.

Ulmer, Rufus Connell, Louis Kohout, Carry Chapman, Ira Coleman, J. V. Frizzell, J. C. Coleman, Ted Maruge, Oscar Vogelsang, Fay Hallmark, and Mesdames A. W. Hanson, M. V. Bland, B. H. Connally, and Misses Ruby and Lollie Hanson of Stamford.

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

Last Friday the Ford Motor Company completed 30 years of automobile making. It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years. Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars. Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions. Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car. But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead. Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear. That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Bible School 9:45 A. M.
 Lord's Supper 11 A. M.

In these times some of us are tempted to stay away from the services of the Church just because we cannot do what we would like to do in financial support. This we must not do. There is much more to Christianity than contributing money. Therefore, let no one stay away because he is short of funds. Let everyone do the best he can. If he must give less, let him give that. If he can give nothing, let it be so. Above all remember that the Church wants, not your money, but you. Help by your attendance.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

The Methodist Young People have come home from Assembly, bubbling over with fervent zeal, plenty of pep, new ideas, and just loads of new inspiration. It was also our pleasure to bring back with us one of McMurry's most outstanding ministerial students, Woodrow Adcock, who was elected as President of Northwest Texas Conference Young People's Division, for next year. We invite all young people to attend our service Sunday night which will be in charge of Woodrow.

Our new officers have taken their places and are at work. They have planned very interesting and educational programs for the summer that will be inspiring to you.
 Time: Each Sunday 7:30 p. m.
 Place: Methodist Church.

ECONOMY PROGRAM THREATENED

President Roosevelt does not seem to be greatly disturbed by the reported uprising in Congress against his economy program. He replies quietly but firmly to the congressional leaders who came to consult him about the "revolt" that if Congress wants to eliminate $170,000,000 in savings then it is up to Congress to provide that sum by means of new taxes.

The issue is a clear-cut one. If the administration economy program so well begun in March, and which the entire country applauded as a victory for economy, is to be scuttled at this critical moment, the public will know where the responsibility rests. The President will not be moved from his position in favor of balancing the budget. He makes that very clear. There will be no passing of the buck to the White House.

As for the particular point at issue it is not a case of avoiding honest obligations toward disabled war veterans. It is a question whether the President shall revise the pension system after careful and considerate examination or whether members of Congress shall continue to play politics with the responsibility regardless of its effect on the nation at large. The President's curtailments are not aimed at the deserving but only at expenditures never justified.

The Administration economy program, insuring a balanced budget, was equitable and thorough. It revived confidence and laid the groundwork for other recovery measures. The move in Congress, inspired by nothing save personal politics, and perhaps chagrin over delay in patronage appointments, is squarely against the will of the public and if the President decides to use the big stick he will have the hearty approval of the nation.

RESTORING PURCHASING POWER

Real trade revival reports begin to appear in newspapers all over the nation. They are such stories as the boost in wages for steel workers, including a 10 or 15 per cent increase in the common labor wage due to be made effective with the beginning of the third quarter, with the support of an agreed increase in steel prices.

Directors of the Appalachian Coals, Inc., meeting in Cincinnati, unanimously adopted a 10 per cent increase to be put in effect at all mines associated with this great sales organization.

"It is the sense of this meeting," the resolution states, "that the present selling prices of coal, and as a necessary result, the prices paid for labor are too low, and that an increase in each resulting in the larger buying power is a necessary prerequisite to a return of prosperity."

The soundness of such a policy will be readily admitted. There is only one way to bring back prosperity and that is to increase mass purchasing power by placing money in the hands of the people. This is the fundamental policy of the administration.

With such industries as steel and coal co-operating and leading the way toward improved conditions there is real proof that the Roosevelt drive for economic and industrial recovery is meeting with success.

A GREAT PUBLISHER DIES

Cyrus H. K. Curtis, of Philadelphia, who started his business career at the age of 12 with three cents of capital as a street newsboy, and became one of the world's greatest publishers, died a few days ago at the age of 83.

Born in Portland, Me., in 1850, Mr. Curtis received only a common school education. His first publishing venture was launched in Philadelphia at the age of 26, when he became publisher of a small periodical called the Tribune and Farmer. Later he established the Ladies' Home Journal, and afterward became head of the great Curtis Publishing Company, whose magazines include the Saturday Evening Post, The Country Gentleman, and Ladies Home Journal.

He purchased the Philadelphia Public Ledger in 1913, and the New York Evening Post in 1923, and was the active head of all these important publications until he was stricken with heart disease about a year before his death.

He was widely known as a philanthropist, although his benefactions were bestowed without ostentation. His only daughter became the wife of the late famed editor, Edward Bok, who was associated with Mr. Curtis for many years.

Few men who started to make their way with limited education and no capital have reached the heights attained by Cyrus H. K. Curtis.

UNCLE TOM PASSES

Of all the plays ever written it is said that the one given most performances was "Uncle Tom's Cabin," played for the first time in 1853 and produced continuously until a short time ago. In the heyday of its popularity dozens of companies were producing it at the same time.

But now, according to a theatrical magazine, for the first time in more than three-quarters of a century, there is not a single company playing Uncle Tom anywhere. And a writer in the Outlook remarks with a tinge of sadness:

"It is hard to believe that there are no more Elizas creaking pulleys bearing Little Eva to Heaven, no snarling from canvas ice-block to canvas ice-block, no cruel Simon Legrees in the world. Is there no audience left to shudder at Simon, chuckle at Topsy, thrill at the bloodhounds and sob at Little Eva's death?"

Apparently not, but if flesh and blood Tom people are to be seen no more, it seems that a talkie of the show that thrilled millions should be made for posterity. And who knows but what it might be a big hit on the screen?

MAIN POINTS OF INDUSTRY BILL

The President would have far-reaching authority to encourage, promote and require organization within private industry for better control of production, elimination of unfair competitive practices, relief of unemployment, improvement of standards of labor, and otherwise to rehabilitate industry and to conserve natural resources.

To make effective this policy, the President would be empowered for two years to use any agencies and persons, public and private; to prescribe such procedure as he deemed necessary; pass upon and virtually superintend "fair competition codes" to compel, by use of fine, and if necessary a system of government licenses, enforcement of these codes and provide himself a fair competition formula for industries which declined to initiate their own by agreements.

The President would be permitted to delegate the broad powers granted to him "to such officers, agents, and employes as he may designate or appoint."

Public Works

A lump sum appropriation of $3,300,000,000 would be authorized for a Federal public works program, to be expended under authority and direction of the President through a "Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works," whom he would appoint.

The public works administration would prepare, under direction of the President, a comprehensive program of public works, including construction, repair and improvement of highways, parks, public buildings, conservation and developments of natural resources; rivers and harbors improvements; slum clearance; naval construction; airplane building, army housing and mechanization and motorization of army units—these subject to any armament limitation agreements which the United States might enter.

The public works administration would also have power, subject to approval of the President, to make grants to states, municipalities and "other public bodies" for construction as outlined above, up to 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials involved.

The President would have specific authority to make grants to States for highway building up to $400,000,000.

An annual sinking fund, amounting to 2 1/2 per cent of the aggregate outstanding appropriations under the act, would be created, provision of necessary taxes being left open for Congressional decision within a week.

Further public works activities of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would be abandoned and its loan powers decreased accordingly.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS

S. J. R. No. 30

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:
Section 1. That Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto another Section, Section 51a, which shall read as follows:

"Section 51a. The Legislature shall have power to authorize by law the issuance and sale of the bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million ($20,000,000.00) Dollars, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed four and one-half (4 1/2%) per centum per annum; and payable serially or otherwise not more than ten (10) years from their date, and said bonds shall be sold for not less than par and accrued interest and no form of commission shall be allowed in any transaction involving said bonds. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people and in relieving the hardships resulting from unemployment, but to be fairly distributed over the State and upon such terms and conditions as may be provided by law and the Legislature shall make such appropriations as are necessary to pay the interest and principal of such bonds as the same become due. The power hereby granted to the Legislature to issue bonds hereunder is expressly limited to the amount stated and to two years from and after the adoption of this grant of power by the people. Provided that the Legislature shall provide for the payment of the interest and redemption of any bonds issued under the term of hereof from some source other than a tax on real property and the indebtedness as evidenced by such bonds shall never become a charge against or lien upon any property, real or personal, within this State.

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State on the Twenty-sixth day of August, A. D., 1933, at which election all voters favoring such proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For the amendment to the Constitution providing that the Legislature may authorize the issuance of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed Twenty Million ($20,000,000.00) Dollars, for relieving the hardships of unemployment and for the necessary appropriations to pay said bonds"; Those voters opposing said amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots, the words: "Against the amendment to the Constitution providing that the Legislature may authorize the issuance of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed Twenty Million ($20,000,000.00) Dollars, for relieving the hardships of unemployment and for the necessary appropriations to pay said bonds";

Constitution providing the Legislature may authorize the issuance of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed Twenty Million ($20,000,000.00) Dollars, for relieving the hardships of unemployment and for the necessary appropriations to pay said bonds."
Section 2. The Government of the State of Texas is hereby dissolved and the necessary provisions for said election and to have published as required by the Constitution for amendments thereto.

Make Perfect Coffee . . . EVERY TIME . . . with These Automatic "Electrical Servants"

Authorities agree that the only perfect coffee is real French Drip Coffee. This is because a perfect brew requires three very definite things. First, that coffee grounds and water should come in contact but once. . . Second, that the contact should be of about 3 1/2 minutes duration. . . Third, that the water used in coffee-making should not be boiled, but maintained at a temperature about 16 degrees below the boiling point. When these three definite things are done, the result is a smooth, rich flavor. . . a clear, sparkling amber color. . . and an intriguing, appetite-awakening aroma.

Here are two appliances that enable you to make perfect coffee EVERY TIME! The Manning-Bowman French Drip Coffee Urn, and the Hotpoint Coffee-Maker automatically ensure the perfection of all your coffee. No embarrassing failures. . . no disgusting "dishwater" coffee. . . none that would "float an egg." You'll have perfect coffee every time through the automatic perfection of these modern "Electrical Servants."

Specially priced, for a limited time only, you'll find one of these modern appliances an absolute necessity in your home. Like all electrical appliances, too, they may save money for you—for this modern way requires less coffee to produce a wonderful brew. Ask any employe for a demonstration TODAY. Convenient terms if desired!

Do you know that your increased use of electricity service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule. . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS

S. J. R. No. 3 Resolved By the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That article IX of the Constitution of Texas be amended by adding thereto a section to be known as Section 3, which shall provide:

Section 3. (1) Holding the local government at the highest degree of local government which is consistent with the efficient conduct of those governmental affairs, it hereby...

Any county having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more according to the last Federal Census may by a County Home Rule Charter...

Such Charter shall provide for altering the jurisdiction or procedure of any Court. The duties of District Attorney and County Attorney may be confined to representing the State in civil cases...

Save as hereinabove and hereinafter otherwise provided, such Charters, within the limits expressed therein, may invest the governing body to be established for any county electing to operate hereunder...

Any county electing to operate hereunder shall have the power, by Charter provision, to levy, assess and collect taxes, and to fix the maximum rate for ad valorem taxes...

In addition to the powers herein provided, and in addition to powers included in County Home Rule Charters any county may, by a majority vote of the qualified electors of said county, amend its Charter to include other powers, functions, duties and rights...

Any county operating hereunder shall have the power to borrow money for all purposes lawful under its Charter, to include the refunding of a lawful debt...

vide (or omit to provide) that the governmental and-or proprietary functions of any city, town, district or other defined political subdivision...

shall make appropriate provision for the abandonment, revocation, and amendment thereof, subject only to the requirements that there must be a favoring majority of the vote cast upon such a proposal...

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the fourth Saturday in August, 1932...

For the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more...

Each voter shall scratch out one of the above listed clauses on each ballot, leaving unscratched that particular clause which expresses his vote on the proposed Amendment to which it relates.

Section 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation ordering an election in conformity herewith to determine whether or not the proposed Constitutional Amendment set forth herein shall be adopted...

W. W. HEATH, Secretary of State. (A Correct Copy)

shall make appropriate provision for the abandonment, revocation, and amendment thereof, subject only to the requirements that there must be a favoring majority of the vote cast upon such a proposal...

Taking your Dollar to Market . . .

Every year your family, and every family of your acquaintance, spends about 70 per cent of its income just for living, exclusive of rent—so economic experts tell us. Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family comfortable and happy.

That part of spending is readily understood. But do you realize that every manufacturer and retailer of these necessities is planning how he can get your dollar?

It's a big job to spend so much money wisely and well. It requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each dollar that leaves the family purse.

The clever woman goes for help to the advertisements in her newspaper. There she finds a directory of buying and selling. She learns about the offerings of merchants and manufacturers. She compares values. She weighs quality and price. She takes this opportunity of judging and selecting almost everything she needs to feed, clothe, amuse, instruct and generally bring up her family.

Do you read the advertisements? You will find them willing and able to serve you in the daily business of purchase.

RULE BANK MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

From The Rule Review

The Farmers State Bank moved into new quarters this week. The former National Bank building has been modernized and the old "Rock Hotel" has also been worked over, the two story building has been made into a one-story building and the business houses being remodeled, and when completely improved will add much to the appearance of the town.

We congratulate the Farmers State Bank officials on their progressive spirit and belief in Rule, as is evidenced by the improved building.

Sunday June 11 was a big day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. K. Head. They were made happy by the homecoming of four of their sons and their only daughter, Mrs. Todd. It was a celebration of his 89th birthday. He has been a resident of Rule since 1911. Everyone had a wonderful time and enjoyed plenty of good eats. Those present were: G. M. Head and son Morris of Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Haed and family of Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Head and family of Weibert, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Head of Rule, Mr. and Mrs. Olin McChristal and daughter of Knox City, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Todd and Mrs. J. C. Hicks and daughter of Pampa.

Saturday night the house south of the Methodist parsonage was destroyed by fire. Louis Shelton and family lived in the house. The home and furniture was almost a complete loss.

The Methodist parsonage was in danger, but due to the prompt work of the fire boys the flames were confined to the burning home.

Mrs. Allie Carnell, age 53, died at her home in this city Wednesday of last week. Funeral services were held from the First Baptist church Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. Perry King, pastor.

Interment was in the Rule cemetery.

Deceased had made Rule her home for a number of years. She is survived by one son, Frank; three sisters, Mrs. E. J. Davis of Rule, Mrs. L. C. Cawthron of Littlefield, Mrs. Nora Smith of Abilene; six brothers, L. A. Miller of Moody, J. P. Miller of Sam Angelo, D. P. and J. G. Miller of Miles, and a half brother, J. C. Hayes of Gunter.

Dr. A. J. Lewis Back In Haskell

Dr. A. J. Lewis and family have moved back to Haskell from a two-year sojourn in Lubbock. While in Lubbock Dr. Lewis was with the Livestock Sanitary Commission of Texas, in the capacity of first assistant state veterinarian, stationed at Lubbock. He severed his connection with the commission and came back to Haskell to take up his practice of veterinary in the county.

Mrs. T. P. Brooks returned from Knox City sanitarium last Sunday after being there for treatment for several days. Mrs. Brooks is reported as doing nicely.

WORKING OF COTTON ACREAGE CONTROL PLAN GIVEN IN DETAIL

Here is how the Wallace cotton plan would work out in the case of John Doe who has a 10-acre patch over the hill:

John has been getting an average of 200 pounds of lint cotton to the acre for some years and his crop looks good for that amount again next year.

Next week when the campaign for reducing acreage gets under way, John will attend a meeting called by his county agricultural agent or some other representative of the Department of Agriculture.

At the meeting he will find he may get cash for plowing up part of his crop if enough other farmers do the same thing to justify going ahead with the plan.

He may offer to plow up one acre, three acres or the whole patch. Because John has been getting more than an average crop out of his field he will be entitled to more rent.

Would Get $14 Cash Per Acre

Three acres would be about the amount Secretary Wallace would like him to take out of production for that size farm.

Upon acceptance of his offer by Wallace, a contract would be presented to him and he would find that, since his production was between 175 and 224 pounds to the acre, he would be entitled to $14 cash rent for each of the acres plowed under, or a total of $42.

Or he might choose instead to take $10 an acre, a total of $30 for the three acres, and an option on 600 pounds of lint cotton to which his acreage and reduction would entitle him.

This 600 pounds would be equal to the amount of cotton which his three acres would be expected to produce. He could get the option without paying out any money. He simply would be credited with 600 pounds of cotton at six cents per pound.

He would be entitled to any sum over 6 cents a pound that cotton was sold for at any time he decided it ought to be sold. There will be some regulations later telling him just how to go about that.

Farm to be Checked

Anyway, he would receive the cotton at 6 cents and it is selling in the markets today for from 8 to 9 cents. The cotton may be 1,200 miles away but it is John's for the time he holds the option.

In either case, before John gets the money, a representative of the county committee will be around to see that he has plowed up the three acres.

He may plant something else on that part of his patch so long as it is eaten on the farm—or he may let it lie idle.

He will not be permitted to spend the money he took in to put a lot of extra fertilizer on the rest of his patch but must go right on with his ordinary plans for the other seven acres, picking it and selling it as he desires.

Yields vary widely in cotton, the average production being about one-third of a bale to the acre. By offering rentals on the basis of yield, Wallace will be able to avoid removing from production marginal lands or those with the poorest yield which might make a big showing in terms of acreage but would not be substantial in reducing in potential harvest.

To Give 10 Days' Notice

Wallace intends, if possible, to give at least 10 days' notice of the tax rate, which may be based on the bureau's figures for the average prices between June 15 and July 15 as that period will be the most recent for which statistics will have been compiled when the tax rate is announced.

In cases where the grower agrees to take an option at 6 cents a pound, the rental payment per acre will be based on these yields: 100 to 124 pounds of lint cotton per acre $6; 125 to 149 pounds, $7; 150 to 174 pounds, $8; 175 to 224 pounds, $10; 225 to 274 pounds, $11; 275 and upwards, $12.

In cases where the grower does not care for an option he may elect to receive a cash payment in full for plowing up a portion of his crop.

For each acre yielding from 100 to 124 pounds the payment will be $4; from 125 to 149 pounds, $9; 150 to 174 pounds, $11; 175 to 224 pounds, $14; 225 to 274 pounds, $17, and 275 pounds and upwards, $20.

The voluntary agreements or contracts to be signed by producers will constitute an irrevocable offer for a specified period of time during which Wallace may accept or reject it.

Administrators feel that offers to retire up to 20,000,000 acres may be obtained from growers and that this will make possible great selectivity in accepting offers and assure Wallace that a large amount of cotton of the potential harvest this year will be eliminated.

The job of carrying out the plan will be in the hands of Chester Davis, director of the production division; C. A. Cobb, cotton production chief, and Dr. C. W. Warburton, head of the federal extension service.

Long Slumbers Denied to Coptic "Patriarchs"

One religious office which seems to have its drawback is that of the patriarch of the Coptic sect, whose members are descendants of the early Egyptian Christians. Under the rules of the church, the patriarch, who lives in Alexandria, must be awakened every 15 minutes when he sleeps. That practice would seem to take some of the joy out of the leadership of any movement, religious or otherwise.

Around about the beginning of this century the Copts totaled about one-twelfth of all the population of Egypt. They dress like Mohammedans, but may be distinguished by their blue or black turbans.

The center of the Coptic population is around Cairo, although the members are generously scattered all over northern Egypt. The young of the Copts are highly intelligent and learn easily when at school. They have been found to make excellent clerks and handcraftsmen. They learn their native language while at school, but Arabic is the tongue used in their normal life.

Their religious organization, headed by the patriarch, includes bishops, monks and priests. The entire clergy, excepting only the patriarch, are permitted to be married, providing the marriage ceremony is gone through before the vows of holy orders are taken. Two fast days a week, Wednesday and Friday, are observed, while the fast of Nineveh is a long-drawn-out affair which lasts for two months.—Washington Star.

Ceremonies Long Part of Vessels' Launching

The glories of the fleets of Tyre are described in the Bible; and there are historical records that relate how religious pomp and ceremony were associated with the ships of ancient Egypt. R. G. Skerrett writes, in an article in the Greece Log, shipping magazine. The mythology of that realm is full of the part played by deities in watching over its hardy mariners, and no doubt priestly blessings were bestowed upon the ships of state at the time of launching—at least that was the assumption of Du Sola and other historians. At the battle of Salamis, the Greeks went into the fight just after the conclusion of religious ceremonies, which consisted of sacrifices offered to all the gods and a special libation to Zeus, the protector, and to Poseidon, ruler of the sea. In those days, it was the common custom among Greeks to name their vessels after goddesses; and, as a further propitiation, the launching was made the occasion of religious ceremony—wine playing an important part in the ritual.

Atmospheric Power

The Atmospheric railway was a type of railway used experimentally in the last century. About 1849 Samuda and Clegg built a two-mile line from Kingstown to Dalkey, in Ireland. The railway was equipped with a pipe between the rails. On one side a sort of piston which traveled along the pipe was a vacuum and on the other side compressed air pressure. In operation, this moved railway carriages. The system was also introduced between London and Croydon and for short distances on the South Devon line. The history of operation extended over about five years, but then the scheme was abandoned. However, the general idea is used in miniature in the compressed air or pneumatic tubes used in department stores for carrying.

Young People's Conference Closes

The final breakfast was served at five o'clock to the members of the Presbyterian Young People's Conference at Westminister Encampment, Kerrville, Friday morning. "See you next year," "Be sure to write me," "I'm so glad of our friendship here," and similar good-byes followed the first good-mornings.

Four hundred and seventy-eight young people attended the conference this year, more than ever before in its twenty-four years' existence. Rev. P. D. Miller, Atlanta, Ga., who conducted the evening church services, was one of the "high lights" of the conference. Drs. Wm. M. Anderson, Dallas, and C. T. Wharton, Sherman, and L. W. McLaurin, Ballinger, and Rev. R. M. Wilson, Cleburne, conducted the four Bible classes, "Sweden" McMurry, Whitewright, was director of athletics and social activities. Drs. Lawrence Wharton, Austin, and B. M. Tenney, Austin, and Mrs. L. C. Majors, Dallas, were directors of the conference. Rev. Cecil Lang, Longview, was song leader.

Stuart Clan, composed of the young people from Dallas and Central Texas Presbyteries, won the plaque of award for best attendance and punctuality at meetings, observance of conference rules, and excellence in athletics. This plaque will be the property of the Stuart Clan until it is won by another clan in a following annual conference.

New officers elected are Richard Scobee of Houston, president; Evelyn Green, Fort Worth, vice president; and Grace McSpadden of Austin, secretary. Miss Jean Bolling of Edna was crowned Queen of the Conference at an elaborate coronation ceremony Wednesday night. Kathryn Spence, also of Edna, was princess.

As the closing inspirational feature, a "mystery raffle" to Mount Scofield took place Thursday night. A re-consecration address made by Dr. Lawrence Wharton was followed by a cross ceremony in which the members of each presbytery accepted the challenge to carry out the year's objective in personal evangelism.

A detailed report will be given to the adults next Sunday at 11 o'clock by members of the local group. Those making the trip from the church here were: Betty Ann Hancock, Velma Frierson, Pauline Frierson, Willie Belle Frierson, Dixie Orr, Alberta Orr, Ollie Hester, Ollie and Ola Frazier, and J. C. Frierson. Zelma C. McMeans of Rule also went with the local group. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Tucker in taking the group were Miss Partlow and Mr. Reynolds Wilson.

Mrs. W. M. Reid has her mother, Mrs. W. M. Oliver and sisters, Mrs. W. H. Ellis and Mrs. Anna Whiteker all of Sulphur Springs, visiting her this week.

Poultry Brings Farm Profit

A poultry flock of 166 White Leghorn hens belonging to Mrs. E. Walters of near Rule has averaged an egg production above the standard of production set by A & M College Extension Service over a period of 6 out of 7 months record. This record has shown a net profit of $235.57 or $33.26 per month. The feed cost per hen has been only 35c due to feeding of home grown feed and milk while profit per hen has been $1.43.

Mrs. Wallace attributes the failure of the flock to come above standard production during December to lack of sufficient green feed.

Standardized canned chicken, both boned and ground, is being produced by this poultry demonstrator to insure more profit for culls from the flock.
