The band played for the dances, choruses, or marches as the program proceeded. The opening number was Selected Choruses, next the Sterly Dance, and then one of the most unique numbers in the program was "The Latest Things in Hats," proving what natural mimics the children are: the Indian Drill; The Drill; and then The Hobo Song featuring one of the stunts on horseback, no number in the program was more attractive. The Chorus and Dance was seen in training and also in both Nameless Pyramid and Tumble in Pyramid.

BEST-KNOWN MOROCCAN FILM COMES TO THE TEXAS THEATRE SOON
If you're looking for adventure, drama, sweeping action, colorful backgrounds and exotic atmosphere—"Beau Ideal" is coming to the Texas Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. It is the talkie sequel to the famous "Beau Geste."
It has those and in addition, promises real quality as an artistic film production, at its director, Herbert Brenon, is among the foremost in the film industry.
It is based on the fact that the fate of one of the Geste brothers—John—was left in doubt at the end of "Beau Geste." In "Beau Ideal" an American comrade of the Geste boys' childhood goes to England and claims Isabel, whom he has always loved. He discovers that she is pledged to John, and that the latter is escaping from Fort Zinderneuf, was tried for desertion and murder of an officer and sentenced to ten years hard labor in the Penal Battalion of the Foreign Legion.
The American, played by Lester Vail, joins the Foreign Legion in Morocco, then deliberately has himself sentenced to the Penal Battalion to find John Geste, played as in "Beau Geste," by Ralph Forbes.

JOAN CRAWFORD'S ROLE IN "PAID" WILL SURPRISE FANS
From all reports an agreeable surprise awaits those who see Joan Crawford in "Paid," her newest attraction which will head the bill at the Texas Theatre starting Monday.
For it seems that in direct line with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's policy of giving its stars an opportunity to play varied roles, Miss Crawford discarded her "dancing daughter" and "blushing bride" type of characterization in this film in order to tackle a part which is conceded to be her most difficult one to date, namely that of the heroine of Bayard Veiller's underworld drama, "Within the Law,"—on which the picture is based.

USE COTTON BODY TO BE ORGANIZED AT HOUSTON MEET

Through an organization committee composed of more than a score of prominent Texans, preliminary steps toward organizing the Texas division of the Association for Increased Use of Cotton has been launched at Austin.

Call for an organization meeting to be held at 2 p. m., Friday, May 22, at Houston, at the height of that city's three day King Cotton festival, was issued by the committee.

The Texas division will work, in cooperation with the national association formed recently at Atlanta, Ga., to encourage and promote the use of cotton in every conceivable way, to the end that surplus, greater than any other in the history of the South, may be consumed and cotton restored to a fair price.

Bankers, merchants, chambers of commerce, women's organizations, civic clubs, farmers, all agricultural agencies and all others "desirous of bringing depression to an end, of preventing recurrent low price, and of fostering permanent and profitable agriculture" were invited by the committee to attend the organization meeting or to communicate with J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, vice president of the national association.

COUNTRY PRINTER PROTESTS

The Tulsa Herald, took exception to a legislative measure proposed in this state to permit the state prison printing plant to file bids for state printing contracts, thereby permitting a tax-created and tax-maintained institution to compete with taxpayers. It said this would be a "dangerous law."

"Private enterprises possibly would not have invested millions and millions of dollars in Texas printing industries had they any reason to expect that the state would use tax dollars to establish competitive printing plants, manned by men who would receive little or nothing for their services. Private enterprises must pay printers and pressmen rather high wages for their services and the private concerns would not hope to compete with the prison plants, as any fair-minded person can see."

There is as much logic and justice in a bill which would permit convict labor to use a state-owned plant to compete with private printers, as there is in the law which now permits the Federal Government to print return addresses on envelopes and sell them at prices which small printers throughout the nation cannot hope to meet.

In either case government property supported by all the taxpayers, is urged in a competitive manner to injure a particular branch of business which is itself taxed to establish or maintain tax-free competition with which it cannot compete. Regardless of all finespun socialistic and political theories, this doctrine is contrary to the fundamentals of our government and should not be tolerated in a free country.

THE SMALL TOWN

Some people are attracted by the rush and whirl of the city where people stay out nearly all night and sleep all day, but we prefer the smaller city where life is lived a day at a time, where people are not so ruffled but what they have time to wonder what it is all about, where they are going and why.

People who insist on living their own life without any regard to the rights of their neighbors or the common decencies of life will not find much appeal to them in the small town. Here everybody knows everybody else and its hard to flourish or "high hat." In a big city a man can put on a Rolls-Royce front on a flivver income and get away with it for a while. In a small town people merely turn away and laugh and the "high-hatter" succeeds in kidding no one but himself.

The small town has its faults—plenty of them. The main one being the concern of others in your own private affairs. Offsetting this, however, is the spirit of helpfulness that exists in the small town. During the depression thousands of families in large cities suffered greatly but few suffered in small towns. The small town looks after its own. You may be ill or even die in an apartment in a big city and people living across the hall will not be interested. They do not know you and do not care.

In the small town when illness, death or misfortune comes to a home the finest qualities of the people always come to the surface. Ill feelings are forgotten. Sympathy, concern and help are shown in the highest and sincerest form.

The spirit of helpfulness does not exist in the large city. Everyone is looking out first for himself. In a small town in times of trouble everyone tries to help. We like the small town.—Chillicothe News.

25 YEARS OF SERVICE

Twenty-five years—a quarter of a century is a long time for anyone to remain as editor and publisher of a newspaper, but that is the record of our friend O. C. Harrison of the Baylor County Banner at Seymour. Mr. Harrison finished this span of years on the first of May and is still going strong. Here's congratulations "O. C." and we hope that at the end of another quarter of a century you will be able to celebrate your golden anniversary.

THE WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is being held in Lubbock this week. This is one of the greatest organizations of its kind in the world and has many noteworthy accomplishments to its credit, that will be of untold benefit to West Texas. It should be supported by every loyal West Texan. It is now being managed by some of the outstanding leaders of West Texas, who have their heart and soul in the development and progress of this vast empire. It has been placed on a sound financial basis and the future of the organization is assured. A number of Haskell's business men will attend the Lubbock meeting. The delegation will be headed by Courtney Hunt, the new director from this city.

GRADUATION TIME

Forty-seven students will finish their work this week in the Haskell High School. It is a turning point in their lives, as the most of them have been protected from the world's hardest knocks, by the shelter of home and parents. They are now ready to go out into the world to make a place for themselves and they will face the situation with confidence because they have advanced thus far and made good in the face of difficulties. Many of them we hope will be able to enter some college or university for further training. Some, no doubt will secure jobs and settle down to face life's battles and will enter upon this new venture fully confident that they can overcome all obstacles. Regardless of the course they pursue or the road they travel, our best wishes go with them.

BEAUTIFUL YARDS

There are many beautiful homes with beautiful surroundings in Haskell. A pretty yard makes a prettier home, regardless of the size or condition of the buildings. Every citizen in Haskell should co-operate with the civic clubs of the city in promoting the beautiful yard contest. A beautiful yard is an incentive for everyone who lives in the neighborhood to get busy and beautify his or her own premises until the entire town becomes a place of beauty. A well kept lawn with flowers and shrubbery not only makes your own home attractive, but it will add value to the surrounding property.

Lawyer—And where did you see him milking the cows?
Witness—Just a trifle beyond the center, sir.

Not a Paying Trade

"Can you give me a bite to eat?"
"Have you no trade, my good man?"
"Yes. I make counterfeit money, but it isn't worth what the materials cost."

Less Strenuous

Small Sister—"Let's play that we're married."
Small Brother—"Naw, let's play football and then we won't get bunged up so much."

Preparedness

"What is it?" asked the doctor who had been hurriedly summoned at midnight.
"Nothing this time, doc," answered the young father, looking at his watch. "My wife just wanted to see how soon you could get here in case the baby was suddenly taken ill."

Detoured

"I'm not a common tramp, your honor," said the tattered individual who was charged with vagrancy.
"What are you then?"
"I'm a tourist. I started out to see America."
"Your tour will be interrupted for six months. Next case."

Audience of One

Mrs. Uggins—This 'ere fellow thinks 'e can sing like Caruso.
Mrs. Uggins—Well, they do say as 'ow Caruso 'ad a beautiful voice, but 'ow could they know with 'im stranded on that island with nobody but Friday to 'ear 'im?

Mutually Complimentary

A venerable judge sat in a place of honor at a reception. As a young lady of dazzling charm walked past he exclaimed involuntarily, "What a beautiful girl!"
The young woman overheard the compliment, turned, gave him a radiant smile, and said, "What an excellent judge!"

Teacher—What do we call a man who keeps on talking when people are no longer interested?
Johnny—A teacher.

Two pickpockets had been trailing an old man whom they knew had a large roll of bills with him. Suddenly the old man turned into a lawyer's office.
"What'll we do now?" asked Sneaky Sam.
"Wait till the lawyer comes out," replied Slippery Slick.

Mother—Have you said your prayers, Eddie?
Eddie—Yes, Ma.
Mother—And did you ask to be made a better little boy?
Eddie—Yes, and I put in a word for you and daddy, too.

Housewife—If you love work, as you say, why don't you find it?
Tramp (sady) — Alas, madam, love is blind.

"When on refused Joe my hand, Daddy, did he go down on his knees?"
"Well, I didn't notice just where he lit."

"You are lying so clumsily," said the judge to the defendant, "that I would advise you to get a lawyer."

the membership at a meeting of the organization last Friday night. The action becomes effective May 16.

The dissolution places up to the city council the matter of providing a personnel for the fire department. It is expected that the department will be placed on a paid basis but it is likely that some of the present members of the volunteer organization will continue to give their services with out charge.

Dick Rowland, fire chief, said the action was taken by the volunteer firemen with the belief that the department could operate more efficiently as well as more economically on a paid basis than under the present system. Antiquated by-laws of the present organization make it wasteful and inefficient, he said.

"BEAU IDEAL" is the mighty sequel of Beau Geste. "JAWS OF HELL" is entertaining and suspenseful at times and based on Tennyson's poem, "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

L. B. DENNING

L. B. Denning, president of the Lone Star Gas Company, who is to be one of the principal speakers at the inspirational sessions of the Texas Press Association Convention which meets in San Angelo June 11, 12 and 13, has played one of the most important parts in the development of Texas natural gas service. At a time more than 20 years ago when natural gas service was only a name and was looked upon as a highly risky business, Mr. Denning took the lead in organizing the company which built the state's first long distance gas line. Under the supervision of E. R. Brown, as vice president and general manager, and W. P. Gage, as superintendent, the first pipe line was constructed by the Lone Star Gas Company from the Petrolia field near the Red River to Fort Worth and later to Dallas, this was in 1909. He became president of the Lone Star in 1915 and since then has been instrumental in building up a gas system of about 4,000 miles of pipe line, supplying complete gas service to about 300 communities in Texas and Oklahoma. Mr. Denning was born in Greensburg, Indiana. He became associated with natural gas interests in 1902 as attorney for gas companies in Southern Ohio, and his contact with the industry covers a period of almost 30 years in the leading natural gas producing areas of the country. In 1921 he was president of the Natural Gas Association of America, and during President Wilson's administration was a member of the national committee on natural gas conservation. Ever since he took the lead in building the first long distance pipe line in the state, he has been constantly at work developing the natural gas resources of this section and making natural gas service available to these towns and cities now served by this company.

Origin of Oil is a Big Mystery

It may be surprising to many to be told that the origin of petroleum is one of the major scientific mysteries of today. Although scientists can analyze it and determine its chemical composition, they do not know whether its substance was originally animal, vegetable or inorganic matter. Our scientist puts the question this way: "Is our gasoline distilled essence from former vegetation such as that which made our coal, or from the bodies of millions of animals of past ages, or is it from mere combinations of carbon and hydrogen that never was alive?" The answer has not yet been found.

On one point, however, there is general agreement and that is on the fact that like old violins and old wine, old oil is best. This is said to account for the superiority of the product of certain oil fields, notably those of the Pennsylvania district, whose deposits have been purified by nature during millions of years. Pennsylvania crude because of its adaptability to the production of the highest class of lubricants, brings a higher price than any other in the world. And oil is only one of the many things that need the purifying touch of time to achieve the supreme development of their character.
