D CLUB WOMEN PROTEST PROPOSED CUT IN APPROPRIATION

Haskell county Home Demonstration club leaders are in Austin week where they will join the women of other sections of the state in a protest before the legislature against curtailment of rural services of the home demonstration work.

The Haskell people making the move were: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thomas, Mrs. Fred Monke, Mrs. S. G. Weinert and Miss Nora Walters of Rube.

The club women realize that an economy move is necessary in cutting the state budget, but are opposed to a cut of 41 per cent in the home extension service program. The group is willing to accept a reduction of 25 per cent according to the Eileen Partlow, Haskell county agent.

The following resolution was passed by H. D. Club women of Haskell county in a recent council meeting: "We, the Home Demonstration club women of Haskell county, State of Texas, hereby take this action of protesting the bill that is being introduced to the legislature of the State of Texas to cut the appropriation 41 per cent for the support of Extension work and Experiment Station work which is under the direction of A. & M. College of Texas.

"We implore the Legislature of the State of Texas to oppose any reduction of the state appropriation for Extension Service and Experiment Station work that will limit or render less efficient the services of these two agencies.

"We, as an organization devoted to the welfare of rural Texas and some making realize that many families in Haskell county who would have suffered actual want without the help and training they have received from these agencies have been well fed and clothed."

"Haskell County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs; Mrs. Elgin Caruthers, Rule, chairman; Mrs. Fred Monke, Weinert; Mrs. Jess Joailet, Weinert; Mrs. R. P. Barnard, Brien."

On last Friday the District Literary Events in the Intercollegiate League took place in Abilene with the result that Haskell county declaimers ranked high. With from fourteen to eighteen declaimers in every division, the directors informed the judges to select the best six from the first group, then in the finals the best three are selected and each received a medal.

Crockett English and Claud Warren won out in the first group and went to semi-finals. George William Potts, high school junior, won first place and was given a gold medal. Helen Higgins, high school senior girl, won third place and was given a gold medal also. Stella Mae Lawson of Rule won first place in junior girls division and was awarded a medal. Grady Adcock of Post, rural senior boy, won first place and captured a gold medal. Margaret Anderson, senior girl of the Haskell High School, won first place in simultaneous speaking and received her medal. These girls need hours spent long hours in preparation for these honors and deserve all that they received.

SUSPECTS IN KNOX CITY BANK ROBBERY ARE UNDER ARREST

Solutions of the robbery of the Citizens State Bank at Knox City of $15,000 on the night of March 30, and the attempted burglary of the First State Bank at Oklaunion the morning of April 11, appeared near Tuesday night at Texas rangers and city police departments of several Texas cities held six men as suspects in the two cases. It was believed the arrest of the six men also would clear up several other bank robberies, mostly in South Texas cities.

State rangers under the leadership of Capt. T. H. Odneal of Fort Worth were taking the lead in the solution of both cases.

One suspect in the Knox City robbery who had been held for several days in a North Texas city, the name of which Sheriff C. R. Elliott of Knox county refused to reveal, accompanied rangers to San Antonio and Tuesday implicated two men there in the case.

The robbery of the Knox City bank was conducted by at least three men who cut their way through the vault and safe with an acetylene torch after holding captive the town watchman during the four hours required to reach the bank's funds. After cutting all telephone wires at the telephone office, which is directly above the bank, the men abandoned their torch equipment and made their escape in an automobile, leaving the watchman bound and gagged in the bank vault.

Mrs. Fred Owen of Wichita Falls is here to spend the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Maples. She will be accompanied home by her mother Sunday for several days visit. She will be a guest at a number of parties given in honor of another daughter, Mrs. Lewis Christie, a recent bride.

NEXT SATURDAY IS DESIGNATED STRAW HAT DAY IN HASKELL

Off with the old felt! On with the new straw hat—as Saturday has been designated as "Straw Hat Day" in Haskell! As a climax to weeks of preparation the merchants of the city are cooperating in holding a "Straw Hat Day" and after tomorrow every man in Haskell will be expected to wear a straw hat. Prices on hats are lower this year than ever before, and the same applies to accessories and suits. So visit your favorite store today and purchase that new lid and be ready for the opening parade.

Mayor Emory Menefee has issued a proclamation designating Saturday as the official opening and warns all citizens to obey the edict and prepare for the warm spring and summer days ahead.

WHEREAS, the season of the year has arrived again when the days are getting warm and the air is getting balmy and all nature is arraying herself in a dress of newness and freshness to gladden the heart of every one;

AND, WHEREAS, the depression is gradually leaving and all of us are going through a new feeling of hopefulness and good cheer,

AND WHEREAS, it has been months and months since some of us have changed our headgear and nearly everybody is tired of seeing us wear the same old lid day in and day out,

AND WHEREAS, the merchants of Haskell now have a plentiful supply and a varied assortment of new spring straw hats selected for the purpose of pleasing the most fastidious,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Emory Menefee, Mayor of the City of Haskell, Texas, taking into consideration the above facts and by the authority vested in me as Mayor do hereby proclaim and declare Saturday, April 22, 1934 Official Straw Hat Day for our city and urge every man and boy to step forth and become the possessor of a new straw lid.

Done at the City of Haskell, this the 20th day of April, A. D. 1934.

Emory Menefee, Mayor of Haskell, Texas.
R. H. BANKE, City Secretary.

WICHITA FALLS LEGION POST TO SPONSOR RODEO

Tom L. Burnett of Iowa Park, Texas, will personally have charge of the three big days of championship rodeo competition to be staged in Wichita Falls, Texas, April 26, 29 and 30, under the auspices of Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion. All profit from the Rodeo will be used for the entertainment of the State American Legion Convention in Wichita Falls in August.

Mr. Burnett has already secured five Worlds Champions along with dozens of near, past and future Champions.

Contracts have been made with McCarty and Elliott of Cheyenne to bring their famous string of buckskin steers, headed by Midnight, 5 Minutes to Midnight, Miss Minnie, King Tut, Headlight Jr., and 75 head of other explosive outlaws; these are all in the 4ed lot now so that they will be in as good or better condition than the Cowboys that have to ride them. San Jacinto Battlefield

April 21, 1836! A date of hallowed traditions — associated with deeds of flaming patriotism and sacred memories! A date to be commemorated reverently in a great Texas Centennial celebration in 1936!

It not only marks the anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto in the war between Texas and Mexico, but is one of the greatest days of American history, because the Battle of San Jacinto brought to a successful conclusion the desperate struggle of Texas for independence from Mexican domination, and as a result a new nation was born—the Republic of Texas.

The Battle of San Jacinto was enacted on a plot of ground that has been set aside by the State as a memorial park—an enduring shrine to Texas heroism. It is situated a short distance from Houston with an extensive waterfront on the Houston Ship Canal—or Buffalo River as it was known in the days of Sam Houston. This spot on the waterway is a place of great natural beauty. The land has a gentle roll, the vegetation is exceptionally brilliant, and the wild flowers here grow in unusual profusion and fairly radiate their brightness. Huge "bearded" live oaks dot the lovely landscape.

Every year, on April 21, the battleground is a patriotic mecca that attracts thousands. Exercises are held in commemoration of the great event of the day, and each year sees no recession of the fervor or enthusiasm with which the programs have always been received.

Much has been written of the interesting human achievement of the Battle of San Jacinto when General Sam Houston and his small band of Texas pioneers wrested victory from the dictator Santa Anna and his trained army of Mexican soldiers, but probably few persons realize the vitally important results of this battle—not merely to Texas but to the entire continent of North America.

Judge Clarence R. Wharton, Houston historian, has impressively written of this angle of the conflict in his book, "The Republic of Texas." In his description of the Battle of San Jacinto he says in part: "As they fronted each other this day they were in a struggle for the boundary line of distinct civilizations. Upon the discovery of the Americas the Spaniard by his explorations and bloody conquests had fastened his domination, his language, his laws on all South America. Even after the Spanish cession of Louisiana to France and the relinquishment of Florida to the United States, Spain yet held Mexico and it included Texas and the vast country to the northwest to the 42nd parallel upon the Pacific. In North America England had become the dominant power and here, on this April day, there came the clash of Latin with Saxon sovereignty."

"Sam Houston, Sidney Sherman Tom Rusk, Edward Burleson, John Wharton and hundreds bearing English names and of English ancestry, were opposed to Antonio Lopez de Santa Ana, Castrillon, Juan Nepomuceno Almonte, Pedro Delgado and others bearing high-sounding Spanish names. The ancestors of these combatants had fought each other when the Spanish Armada sailed into the northern seas to work the destruction of England. And now they were to come to grips in the contest for a land larger than the continental empire of Charles V, with the British Isles thrown in. One million square miles of river and forest, mountain and plain were lost to his imperial highness at sundown that day."

The beginnings of the city of Houston and of Texas development are firmly implanted in this colorful event of early Texas history. In the same year of the Battle of San Jacinto the city was founded and the illustrious name of the hero of Texas' struggle for independence was given to the little settlement on the banks of Buffalo River.

Further honors were conferred on the town when the congress of the Republic of Texas, on November 30, 1836, selected Houston as the first permanent seat of government of the new nation; the authorization setting forth that this designation would be effective until the year 1840 when it was planned to move the capital to a more central location within the confines of the State.

Judge Wharton states: "The Al lens (the founders of Houston) had undertaken to provide a capitol building, and on April 16, 1837, they began its construction so as to have it ready for the session of congress which was to and did convene on May 5th following."

From this humble but auspicious beginning Houston has grown to become a commanding city of Texas and of the South. Through the transformation of the bed of Buffalo River to a deepwater channel it has achieved a port rank of international importance.

By their votes the people of Texas have authorized plans for a Texas Centennial celebration in 1936 commemorating the historic events of 1836, of which the Battle of San Jacinto was most notable and in which the picturesque San Jacinto Battlefield and State Park will play a prominent part.

"Oh, Mr. Mark, please buy a ticket for our entertainment. It's for a very worthy cause."

"What is the cause?" asked E. E. The lady replied: "It's to pay the expenses of the entertainment we held last week."

Julia (a bride)—Carl, I think it would be nice to have some roast mutton today with caper sauce, as the cook book says.

Carl—We haven't any capers, have we?

Julia—Oh, I thought you could go out in the garden and cut some.

Father—Has that young man you're engaged to got any money?

Daughter—Certainly. He's just given me a costly diamond ring.

Father—Yes, but has he any money left?

Chemistry Prof.—Name three articles containing starch.

Smart Student—A shirt and two collars.

Purchaser—You gyped me on that auto. You told me that in three months time I wouldn't part with it for three times the price.

Dealer—Well; that's all true. It's been three months and you haven't parted with it, have you?

Home Demonstration Ladies Attend Wardrobe School at Anson

Miss Nora Walters of Blue Bonnet club, Miss Mae Cothron of Josselet Club and Miss Subyl Scott of the Midway Club accompanied Miss Partlow to Anson last Friday to attend the two days Wardrobe School conducted by Mrs. Nora Barnes.

We farm women are beginning to see the good and need of these schools. As they teach us how to dress better, have higher ideals, better places to live and happier homes.

Miss Mae Cothron gave an interesting report of this school to her club last Tuesday. She first discussed the fitting of dress patterns, and demonstrated the fitting of her pattern Mrs. Barnes properly fitted to her. She showed the difference in a well fit pattern. We may have a dress from a foundation pattern made from the inexpensive materials and yet feel like we are properly dressed.

Miss Cothron stated in planning our winter wardrobe it is better to plan it around our coats as they are the most expensive garment we would have. And in selecting the colors it is better to get brown or black if we expect to wear them two or three years. Be sure it isn't too fancy, but see that it fits well.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas attended singing at Roberts Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brite and family visited in the W. T. Brite home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thomas attended Sunday School and church at Weinert Sunday.

We have no certain length of skirts. But dresses from 9 to 12 inches from floor (if becoming) is for street wear. For outdoors the smock that is made from hickory shirting material is good and is easily laundered. But if you want one for less expense you may make one from sunny sacks.

Miss Cothron says "The old fashioned elbow gloves like our mothers use to make from the discarded overall are the things for outdoor work."

If your space is scarce for your linens you may make shelves about 18 inches apart in your wardrobe for them. This space allows you room enough not to tear up everything else getting them out.

Do not use shoe bags for shoes but use racks. They are so much nicer. Miss Cothron made a temporary rack to demonstrate to the club. Every lady can have one of these without any expense. As the ends of a small wooden box will cut the sides, and any kind of a small rod will do for the rack. If nothing else a discarded rod from an end gate of a wagon will do—with these you can make a dandy shoe rack.

Miss Cothron says she is going to make her one for her wardrobe then she feels her wardrobe will be complete.

Why can't every woman try to improve her home and wardrobe; homes are the foundation of our happiness.

We club ladies with the help of our agents feel we have accomplished many things worth while. Mrs. Horton of Floyd county once said: "The leading lady of today is a real farm woman."

Here's an itemized gas bill...

This family's bill of $7.06 for a month's natural gas service lists 9,600 cubic feet, used from March 3 to April 3, which included considerable heating weather. If these purchases (for family of four) for cooking, house heating and water heating could be itemized, this is about the way they would look:

- $1.20 to cook 72 meals (had guests five times, with extra good dinners).
- .26 extra bakings (cakes, cookies and gingerbread).
- .30 for bathroom heater for average of two hours per day.
- 1.25 hot water for 75 dish washings, for laundry, shampoos and incidentals.
- 3.53 for three room heaters (running living room heater too high on several occasions, heating room at 76 degrees).

- 30 hot water for 60 baths.
- .02 hot water for 28 shaves.
- .11 high flames (unnecessary) on range burners.
- .09 small leak in dining room heater connection. (Gas man discovered that the wall cock was a cheap lightweight one, the kind that almost always does leak.)

... Do you know of any other species that work for such low wages as your natural gas?

Jossett H. D. Club.

The Jossett H. D. Club met April 11 in the home of Miss Bonnie Brite. The program topic "The Organized Clothing Space," conducted by Miss Partlow.

"Be sure your wardrobe is wide enough so that the clothing will have plenty of space and not wrinkle by being too close to the wall." And it should be high enough so the clothing won't have to fold in at the bottom, as we don't have time to press a garment every time we wish to put it on. We should allow plenty of pocket space. Our wardrobe should be as light inside as possible. We should paint or paper the insides white. If it can be arranged, it is much nicer when a light can be inside.

A broom stick makes a good rod. Before storing clothing for the next season it is advisable to clean and remove all stains. You will find naphtha gasoline is fine for the first cleaning, then use soap and water.

Bulletin No. 1474 will help you solve this, and Bulletin No. 1384 will give you information on moth control. See our agent for these bulletins or other information.

In making the second demonstration, which was on laundry bags, Miss Partlow stated "It is best to open them at the bottom, as you will find it more convenient."

Miss Mae Cothron gave her report on the wardrobe school she attended at Anson, and gave a demonstration on shoe racks. "There is nothing to hinder anyone from having a handy shoe rack," says Miss Cothron, "as they are no expense for you can pick up enough material around the house to make one."

A social hour was enjoyed and the hostess assisted by Mrs. Jesse Jossett and Mrs. Roy Brite served refreshments of fresh prunes with whipped cream and cake to the following members and visitors: Mesdames E. B. Callaway, J. B. Edwards, C. A. Thomas, Lige Wheeler, John Thomas, Joe Fraley, J. L. Toliver, Gene Lancaster, Elvis Couch, Clarence Lewellen, Fred Monke, Steve Perrin, Misses Eileen Partlow and Mae Cothron. Visitors Mesdames Donnie Laine, Charles Smith, W. T. WHAT INFLUENCES WOMEN TO BUY

It is well known by all live merchants, and by husbands as well, that practically all buying for the home is either actually done by women or directed by them. For this reason the merchant's greatest problem is to attract the favorable attention of women to his wares.

Women are always alert to grasp opportunities to secure merchandise at a bargain, and they are more discriminating buyers than men—as a rule. They read advertisements and act upon the information obtained thereby.

In order to determine just what advertising mediums have the greatest influence on women's buying a survey recently made by a Los Angeles advertising club, developed some interesting facts. Replies from 1,000 women of all classes were obtained in answer to a questionnaire listing the various advertising mediums and asking what form of advertising influenced them most.

Newspapers were credited with greatest influence by 36 per cent of these women, magazine advertising 22 per cent, street car advertising by a fraction over 4 per cent, announcement cards and program advertising by less than 4 per cent, while booklets, pamphlets and circular letters influenced less than 2 per cent.

Thus again is demonstrated what every wide-awake merchant must have already observed—that newspaper advertising is the most potent medium for reaching women buyers. And this applies with equal force to the men buyers, too.

BABSON IS OPTIMISTIC

Roger W. Babson, noted economist and statistician, who forecast the stock market crash in 1929, is very optimistic over the return of prosperity. He commends the new administration and gives out the following advice and message of good cheer:

"In the past two weeks we have witnessed an extraordinary change of sentiment which has swept like a prairie fire over the length and breadth of the nation. The swift and courageous action of President Roosevelt marks the beginning of better times. If Congress and the public continue to support our President the recovery will be swifter than even the most optimistic could have dreamed two months ago. With the powers granted Mr. Roosevelt I believe the Administration will advance one powerful measure after another—and accumulate attack which will break the depression and force revival.

"Now is the time for the rest of us to get behind the President not only in support of his policies but also by active personal assistance. Our program is a simple one. As consumers let us buy and buy confidently. As sellers let us realize that the opportunity is NOW at hand to cooperate with both the public's need for goods and restored confidence in buying. The salesmen of the country are the key men in the restoration of normal conditions.

"Events of this present month have washed away the uncertainties and confusions of recent months. The man who now hoards has not even the selfish justification of self-interest to motivate him. Those who continue to hoard from now on will find they are making a very unprofitable investment. Goods and services are now rapidly going to become more desirable than gold and currency. The real hoarder now is the man who as a buyer holds on to orders he ought to place or who as a seller fails to go after orders he ought to get."

HUMBLE BEGINNINGS

It is a strange human trait that in later life a man often boasts of the very things of which he was somewhat ashamed in his youth. Successful men point with pride to their humble origins, to their early struggles and menial nature of their first employment.

And it is a just cause for pride to have overcome such obstacles through one's own energy and determination. There is no doubt that the man who has had to fight his own way from the bottom is generally better off, hard as it may have seemed to him while undergoing the experience.

It is equally true that many men fail because of a false pride which causes them to shrink from humble tasks which might lead to ultimate success. Henry Ford was a machinist's helper, Thomas A. Edison was a newsboy, John D. Rockefeller was a clerk, and neither had any early education to speak of. They and many others succeeded because they were not ashamed to toil with their hands until something better presented itself.

Not every boy can become a Ford, an Edison, or a Rockefeller, but every one who is not afraid or ashamed to work can make an honorable and useful place for himself, and he doesn't have to begin in a "white collar" job either.

SOW SPRING SAFETY SEEDS NOW

As winter begins to relax, golfers start thinking of fairways, fishermen of cool streams trickling away in the mountains, families of rides on warm, bright Sunday afternoons and in the twilight of the rapidly lengthening evenings. It is time to get the family automobile ready for another season.

Let us pause a moment to consider the new season. Will it be like the last? Will it cost the lives of 29,500 more Americans? Will it bring serious and painful injury to nearly a million more? Will it cause an economic loss to the nation of two billion dollars? That is the record of the 1932 automobile season. It should never be duplicated.

It is true that there were fewer accidents and fatalities last year than there were in 1931, but much of the reduction was accounted for by decreased use of automobiles. On the other hand, safety workers and educators in accident prevention can view the results with a certain personal pride. If their teachings are beginning to show results, or if the tragic record of the past is beginning to influence the man behind the steering wheel, we may look with greater hope to 1933.

Tip on news

LEGISLATIVE NEWS SERVICE OF THE TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION, AUSTIN

AUSTIN—The Legislature is now in the fourth month of its regular session. Under the constitution the $10 per day compensation lasts 120 days. Extension of the session beyond this period is possible, but the pay of members will be reduced by half. It is not likely that the session will be prolonged much beyond May 9 when the four months period of high pay ends, though some members believe it will last until the latter part of May. There is strong sentiment among many leaders to bring the session to a close as early as possible, due chiefly to the fact that there seems to be an almost hopeless lack of harmony on many important subjects with little prospect of composing these differences.

Up to this time, efforts to levy new taxes have failed, with the single exception of an income tax, which has House approval. But there will be a determined effort during the closing days of the session to revive the sales tax, principally on the plea that it is necessary to keep public schools open. Laws strengthening enforcement of the cigarette tax and gross production are expected to stop leaks that caused a loss of $5,000,000 last year. There is also a possibility that all of the cigarette tax will be diverted to the school fund. Many observers contend that stoppage of leaks and reasonable reorganization of the school system in the interest of economy make any new tax unnecessary.

The general economy program depends upon what is done within the last few weeks of the session. With a weary Legislature, anxious to finish its work and go home, some measures may win approval that earlier in the session would have had no chance of adoption. Those citizens who wish to obtain substantial reductions in their tax bill would do well to watch the proceedings closely and not hesitate to let their representatives know their wishes. A good start has been made in the direction of economy, but this can be quickly offset in a last-minute stampede. If this doesn't come it will not be due to lack of effort on the part of tax consumers. They are on the job and will not quit until adjournment is taken.

The income tax bill follows many provisions of the Federal income tax. As amended it exempts $2,500 of the income of married persons and permits an exemption of $500 for each dependent. The rates graduate from one per cent on the first $1,000 of net income for individuals to seven per cent on incomes in excess of $11,000. The corporation rate is from two per cent on the first $1,000 to six per cent on incomes in excess of $6,000. Passage by the Senate is regarded as doubtful.

The House has passed three and is yet to act on the educational appropriations. The judiciary appropriation bill has passed both branches of the Legislature and has been signed by the Governor. The eleemosynary and departmental bills are in the hands of free conference committees to adjust differences between House and Senate measures. The appropriation bills call for reductions from 25 to 35 per cent below figures of the past two years.

A bill is pending in the House raising the scholastic age from six to seven years. Its adoption would reduce the number of claimants on State school funds by about 135,000 and would result in savings to the schools estimated at upwards of $2,000,000, depending on the amount of the State apportionment. This would be in addition to savings in local funds through the resultant decrease in school enrollment. The measure is House bill No. 243.

A Chicago scientist goes to work and goes to work in the laboratory. Up and down, production.

If that famous old song were written now, its title would be "Threads Among Where the Waa."

The constitutional amendment limiting total State expenditures to $22.50 per capita per biennium, already approved by the Senate, has been reported favorably in the House. This is a very important measure. If approved, it would be impossible for the Legislature to continue increasing State expenditures. The authority of the Legislature to increase appropriations is limited only by the ability to find sources of taxation. The amendment would provide an absolute limit, where there is now virtually none.

But since it's generally the man who wears the pants in the home it's only natural that she should want to wear them on the golf course.

THE opportunities, to which we refer, are the daily bargains to be found in every shopping area. Some people find them quite by chance . . . stumble over them blindly . . . and acquire them with astonishment. Others never seem to be in the right store at the right time: If there's a 25 per cent marked-down sale of shoes at Smith's, they are buying at Brown & Co. . . . If a grocer three blocks away is clearing out his canned goods at half-price, they are at the corner store making routine purchases.

But — there are some people who always find these opportunities. Their money buys them more — and better — merchandise than their neighbors'. Why? Not through luck, you may be sure; but simply because these people read the advertisements in their newspaper.

This advertising is NEWS. It tells WHAT . . . It shows WHERE. Those who read it are informed. They save themselves time, trouble, and DOLLARS. . . . And their homes are always up-to-date, their clothes stylish . . . their meals fresh with seasonal variety . . . all through the opportunities that advertising gives them.

THE QUESTION OF THE AGES

By Rev. H. R. Whatley, Pastor First Baptist Church

Text: "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?"—Matt. 27:22.

The purpose of this page in the Haskell Free Press is to increase church attendance. We need to think more about the churches, more of the churches and have the right conception of their value to Haskell and the world. The question that we have chosen to discuss in this article is closely associated with church attendance. Our attitude toward the church and church attendance, reveals our attitude toward the Christ. Therefore, in this article we will not discuss the church, but will speak of Christ, the Head of the church. If you are right with Christ, you will be right with the church. Those who make themselves believe that they are right with Christ, but never have anything to do with the church are deceiving themselves.

"What must I then do with Jesus?" was a question that Pilate had to face several times. As he faced it, he realized that the question was a personal one. That day he sat in the judgment seat and was forced to make up his mind concerning Jesus. Just as surely as Christ was tried before Pilate, He is placed on trial before the people of Haskell. Every person occupies a judgment seat and must decide either for Christ or against Him. You will remember that many good thoughts passed through Pilate's mind while Christ was being tried. He knew Christ to be innocent and the mob delivered Him because of envy. But Pilate's good thoughts did not help him. Our thinking must be deep enough to move us to action or it will be in vain.

As Pilate faced the question, "What must I then do with Jesus which is called Christ?" he was warned to make the right decision. His own conscience warned him. All through the trial his conscience, like an alarm clock, would ring out "Just, innocent, I can find no fault in Him." When the Jews spoke of Christ as the Son of God, we are told that Pilate was the more afraid. Like Belshazzar, his knees smote one against another and he was seized with a terrible weakness. Conscience was warning him. But conscience is like a king without an army. It can speak in warning tones, but there is no power to enforce.

As Pilate faced the question, "What must I then do with Jesus which is called Christ?" he tried to dodge the issue. He tried to make others decide the question for him. He sent Jesus to Herod, thinking that personal responsibility could be shifted, but it soon returned to him again. You may wonder what others are going to do with Christ and the church, but you need to remember that it is your own personal responsibility to decide.

Pilate tried to dodge the issue by leaving it up to a wicked people to choose between the good and the bad. Christ, the spotless Son of God and Barabbas, a rebel, robber and murderer were stood side by side for the people to choose from. The crowd chose Barabbas, a man after their own heart. Today it is a choice between Christ and satan and for one to choose satan in preference to the spotless Saviour shows the terrible condition of the human heart. Pilate also tried to dodge by making himself believe that he was not responsible for the death of Christ. He went so far as to wash his hands in the presence of the blood-thirsty mob that they might see his innocence. He might have known that the stain was deeper than the flesh. The trouble was not the hands, but the heart. His soul needed to be plunged beneath the fountain filled with blood drawn from Immanuel's veins. Personal responsibility is the most serious thought that ever entered the mind of man. Every one is personally responsible to God. If the matter is not rightly settled, it makes one guilty of the blood of Christ.

As Pilate faced the question, "What must I then do with Jesus which is called Christ?" he let some things hinder him from making the right decision. He let the desire to be popular hinder him. He wished to please the people. He let policy outweigh righteousness. You cannot seek to be popular with the multitude and be popular with God. The favor of God should outweigh the favor of men. If God is for us, it will not make any difference who is against us. Pilate was afraid of his crowd. They cried, "You are not Caesar's friend." Pilate knew what right was and wanted to do it, but fear stood in the way. We are told not to fear man who is able to destroy the body, but fear Him who is able to destroy both body and soul in hell. May we let popularity and the fear of men go to the four winds of the earth and take a stand for God regardless of the consequences. Pilate was also hindered in his decision by postponing the question. He should have settled the matter in the early part of the trial, but he kept saying "No" to his own conscience. To postpone the question of Salvation is to say no to Christ. "Today is the day of Salvation." No promise is made to the unsaved for tomorrow.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Baptists have adopted for their motto, "Building a Big Church in a Little Town." Everything points toward success. Every Sunday school class is growing and the auditorium is crowded at both preaching services.

The evening service is given to the book of Revelation. The pastor is taking the book verse by verse and is throwing light on the many symbols and figures. You are invited to come and bring your Bible and study this marvelous book with us. It will take several months to complete the study, so do not miss the first part. The message for Sunday evening will be found in the second chapter.

After a long battle had been raging in Pilate's heart, he took his seat, called the house to order and rendered his decision. He decided against Christ. That meant a decision against his own soul. The decision brought applause from the crowd and no doubt hell was jubilant. Pilate arose and turned his back on the Sun of Righteousness that was trying to cast his rays into his soul and plunged deeper into the night that leads to eternal darkness.

"Save Me! Save Me!" Cries of danger emanating from the "No More Orchids" set on the Columbia lot, where Carole Lombard was playing opposite Lyle Talbot in the society heiress story of a girl determined to get her man, brought everyone within earshot to the rescue.

The situation however, proved no more alarming than Miss Lombard's sudden experience in the saddle of an electric horse. The huge exercise machine, weighing half a ton, unexpectedly lurches its rider forward at an alarming pace.

The lever was set at the fastest speed when Miss Lombard touched the button.

"No runaway horse is as bad as that!" exclaimed Carole, endeavoring to regain her equilibrium.

The scene in the picture, showing next week at the Texas Theatre, takes place in the ship gymnasium, where Miss Lombard goes in pursuit of Tony, played by Lyle Talbot.

"No More Orchids" adapted to the screen by Gertrude Purcell from the Grace Perkins story, and directed by Walter Lang, has Louise Closser Hale and Walter Connolly also in the cast.
