TO THE PEOPLE OF TEXAS: I take this means of expressing to you my sincere thanks and appreciation for the many honors which the people of Texas have bestowed upon me. You, no doubt, know that I am a candidate for re-election for my second full term as your Railroad commissioner. Due to the depressed conditions and the heavy duties placed upon the Commission at this time, it compels me to rely upon my friends to take care of my interests in this campaign.

In the first primary, in which I was elected to my first full term and am now serving, I carried 234 of the 256 counties of our great State by a large majority, over two honorable opponents.

Since my election to the Commission, we have turned back into the General Revenue Fund more than $500,000.00. We have 'eard and rendered decisions on more than fifteen thousand cases, and have had only four reversals-a record unsurpassed by any similar body in the United States.

A faithful discharge of public duty in the past is the best guarantee of a promise to perform a like service in the future. Your vote and support earnestly

TO THE FARMERS AND BUSINESS MEN OF

Where two or three are gathered together to talk about lowering the cost of ginning beware of Attorney General Allred. Please read how he treated the Elgin people, which is told in the following article:

ELGIN, TEXAS, Meeting here Saturday July 16, a number of local business men and farmers drew up and signed the following statement addressed "to the people of Texas:"

Elgin, Texas, July 16, 1932. Last July the ginners of this vicinity met at a barbecue near Elgin, and decided that owing to the low price of cotton and other farm commodities, they should reduce charges paid by farmers.

They agreed to handle cottonseed without charging any commission and to reduce their charge for ginning from .30c per hundred pounds to .25c, thus giving the farmers of this section a considerably lower ginning cost than was prevailing generally.

As a result of this effort to help the farmers in a period of depression, ten individual ginners and three ginning companies were sued by Attorney General James V. For Attorney General:
Allred as violators of the Anti-Trust laws.

The suit was filed in the 53rd District Court at Austin, Texas, and asked penalties of $1500.00 per day of these men of moderate means whose whole offense was entering into a verbal agreement to charge the farmers For State Superintendent of Public less for their ginning.

Facing the prospect of trial away from home and the expense of employing counsel over a long period of time, the individual ginners joined with the companies in For Commissioner of Agriculture:

entering a plea of nolo contendere and paying a fine, after explanations of their action and its good purpose had failed to satisfy the Attorney General.

This punishment of men who sought to aid our farmers in a time of distress has convinced the people of this section that Texas needs a new Attorney General—one who will exercise reason in the conduct of his office and who will not make grandstand plays at the average of the last section. who will not make grandstand plays at the expense of the people and then proclaim himself their friend.

That Allred's persecution of local ginners had a political angle was evidenced by the manner in which it was given publicity at the time.

This plain statement of the case is given to the public at this time as a matter of duty to Texas. We know the man and his methods. We want a new Attorney General, and we call upon other farmers and business men to join with us in electing Clem Calhoun, an able man, a fair man and a real friend of the people.

The following is a copy of the ballot that will be used in the Democratic Primary to be held on July 28. It is complete with the exception of the names of the precinct chairmen, which will appear on the tickets in each voting precinct, and the listing of precinct offices where candidates have not filed for the place.

The ticket this year is probably the longest ever used in a primary election in Haskell county, on account of the large number of state candidates for some of the position-especially for Congressman-at-Large. With only three to be elected, the voters have a list of thirty. eight contestants from which to make their choice.

In Loving Momery of Our Dearest Marguerite.

I cannot say, and I will not say, That she is dead She is just away

She was so young so full of joyous life and hope She found the world a happy place to live and out of the fullness of her warm loving heart she imparted to others the joy she felt within.

Since the days of her childhood she has been my joy, lavishing upon me the affection and attentions of her loyal heart. She was my pal, my everything. She was love's link in the family chain

Her christian graces and cheery smile endeared her to the many who knew her in the social life and as a friend. She found her greatest joy in doing for others, anticipating the wishes of those she loved, as with loving hands she fashioned many gifts and performed the duties that to her was pleasure, and passing has left us wondering. Stunned at the thought that death has robbed us of the joy of her presence in our home. And in the home she made beautiful for her devoted husband. They were together as one in every hope and plan for a future that seemed so full of bright their problems and their pleasures.

Just when she was realizing the fullness of life and its joys, she went away; left us reaching out for the touch of a vanished hand, longing for the sound of a voice that is stilled.

Life seems empty, now that we wait and watch in vain for her return. We know not why-we cannot understand why we must pass through this sorrow. We only know that she lived and loved and the glad return

"The Maya civilization choked itself to denth, Doctor Cooke believes, with mud washed from its own hillside corn patches. The former Maya country is marked today, Doctor Cooke reports, by many small, flat plains of sticky clay soil, almost impassable in wet weather. Each of these plains, he believes, once was a small lake, these lakes being connected by streams or by North America once did for the canoes of the Indians. The Maya citles, he believes, were built near these take highways, and maintained by this easy form of transportation. On nearby billsides, the theory continues, the Maya farmers grew the corn, which was their chief food. In so doing they cut or burned the natural hillside vegetation. Useful as Divining Rod The witch-hazel derives its name from the magic powers attributed to the slender branches of this small tree or shrub. Many believe that a held lightly while being carried along over the ground will turn toward the earth at a spot where water or gold may be found by digging. It is this divining rod characteristic which has brought it fame.

The witch-hazel, however, has some real value to mankind, for from its bark comes a medicant used in liniments for external application. The bark and leaves, which are similar to the leaves of the ordinary hazel, are a source of tannen, which is used in preparation of leather.

The tree is usually found in damp forests where its scrubby growth is stimulated. It is a two-year tree so far as bringing its flowers into bearing, for the clusters of yellow flowers in the still do not ers which appear in the fall do not develop into seed until the followng spring.

THE SMALL CITY... A Pacemaker of Progress

More and more the signs point to the greater importance of the small and medium-sized community.

We are proud of the part electric power is playing in laying the groundwork for this greater progress and prosperity. Gone is the day when the larger metropolitan centers had a monopoly of power supply, the first essential of industrial growth and development.

Widespread networks of transmission lines have given the smaller communities the same high-grade electric service as the larger cities have.

On this firm basis, industries are increasingly recognizing the advantages of location in small communities.

This trend will react most favorably to West Texas, the "Land of Opportunity"-efficiently, dependably and inexpensively, served by the West Texas Utilities Company.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schodule . . . and aids only a small amount to your total bill?

Dave Harum said, "When you get hold of ten dollars get it into you or onto you as soon as you can, for there ain't no pocket in a shroud and you're a long time dead."

If you had nothing but money you would be poor indeed. It is the things for which you can exchange the money you earn that set the standdards of your living comforts and conveniences.

You know this. But do you know that it is you who largely determines the value of your dollars?

Many things contribute to the distance a dollar will go, but the greatest agent in "value received" is Advertising.

The advertisements in this paper tell you about the best grades of merchandise. They tell you where they can be had and for how much.

They tell you of the new things that manufacturers are producing to make your dollars of real worth to you in greater comforts, better living, more enjoyment.

LOYALTY

Loyalty is one of the most essential of the virtues; likewise, one of the rarest. Just now we have in mind community loyalty-or the lack of it. In the building and growth of towns and counties and cities, or their failure to grow as they should, loyalty or disloyalty is often the determining factor.

There is one city in this region that has been pushed ahead by the loyalty of its inhabitants, nearly all of whom are constant boosters. To declare that it is the best city in all the land became a habit with the citizens there many years ago. The children of the last two or three generations have been "raised" on this brand of yeast. They are all puffed up with the idea that it is the best city in existence and they couldn't believe otherwise if they tried. They do not look elsewhere for what they want, believing it can be bought in their own city. The spirit of loyalty is a passion with most of them. There may be others who practice patronizing home enterprises with only a selfish object in view, but they also are helping to build their town. No great mental capacity is required to realize that all money spent in our own commanity helps everybody in it, sooner or later, directly or indirectly.

In the smaller towns the complaint is sometimes heard that the local merchants do not carry what the people want. Again, we hear that prices are lower somewhere else (at special sales probably) and some people make the trip to get something at a slight reduction, not counting the cost of the trip and the time. A saturation of community loyalty would change all this and the merchants would have in stock what the people want. Nothing would please the merchants better than to know the home people would buy from them the same things they order by mail or make trips to purchase in

The merchants need to do their part also. Ofttimes they have in stock the identical articles that people want, and go elsewhere because they do not know it. We were asked recently where a certain line of articles could be found in Louisa. We did not know because we had never had occasion to inquire at any of several stores that might be expected to have them in stock and could not recall having noticed them on display. They had not

If the merchants can find out what the people want they will keep it in stock. If the people can learn without too much waste of time and energy what the merchants have for sale they will buy from them more and oftener than they otherwise do. The habit of patronizing home people may be acquired in this way, along with a development of the spirit of loyalty to home.-News-Recorder, Louisa, Kentucky.

THE UNKNOWN SCOUT

At a meeting of the Boy Scouts of America, in Washington City, a bronze buffalo medal was awarded to "The Unknown Scout." The inspiration of this award was an unknown Boy Scout in London, who may be living today. This, briefly, is the story:

Some years ago, William D. Boyce, a Chicago publisher, lost his way in a London fog. A young lad, noticing his embarrassment, approached him and briskly saluting said: "May I be of service to you?" Boyce inquired the way to his destination and the lad showed him the way. Reaching the place Mr. Boyce offered the boy a shilling for his services, but the boy said: "I am a Scout; and Scouts do not accept tips for courtesies."

Mr. Boyce was interested and impressed. He asked about the Scouts. His young friend took him to the office of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the movement, and as a result when Mr. Boyce later sailed for home he brought a trunk full of literature pertaining to scouting. Then he started the Boy Scout movement in America with the aid of others who recognized the value of such training as it affords.

The medal awarded to "The Unknown Scout" who befriended Mr. Boyce and thus caused the spread of scouting in America, was presented to the International Scout Bureau in London, where it will be kept as a permanent memorial: It is inscribed as follows:

"To the Unknown Scout, whose faithfulness in the performance of the daily good turn brought the Scout novement to the United States of America.

Perhaps never has a simple act of kindness brought forth greater or more beneficial results than that performed by this unknown London Boy Scout.

THAT the right kind of advertising will put new life into any business.

The service of advertising is dependable: it serves both buyer and seller and serves them well.

Advertising is valuable to the buyer because it tells where and what to buy at money-saving prices, and at the same time assures quality.

Discriminating buyers who have been taught the value of quality merchandise always find it profitable to read the advertisements before they buy.

The advertising of quality builds business for the seller, because everyone knows that only quality can stand the light of advertising and everyone wants the best for their money.

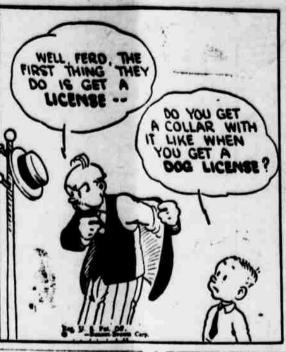

Advertising creates desire, which in turn creates the demand that is so necessary to open the door to better business.

Well advertised products are distinctive. People are always talking about them. They are in demand everywhere.

Read the advertisements before better to be safe than sorry!

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. ONE Haskell County, Texas

DON'T LET YOUR VOTING BE INFLUENCED BY LAST MINUTE FALSEHOODS THAT ARE BEING CIRCULATED AROUND BY POLITICAL ENEMIES OF MR. GEORGE B. TANNER IN HIS CANDIDACY FOR COMMISSIONER OF PRECINCT ONE, HASKELL COUNTY, TEXAS.

Mr. Tanner has lived in Haskell County, Texas, for over 42 years and all of us know him as an HONEST, RELIABLE, GOD-FEARING CHRISTIAN MAN, who has fought conscientiously for the RIGHTS OF ALL and SPECIAL PRIVILEGES FOR NONE.

THESE CHARACTER ASSASSINS STARTED THESE FALSEHOODS KNOWING FULL WELL WOULD NOT HAVE TIME TO SEE EACH OF YOU PERSONALLY TO CORRECT THEM. WHILE THESE FALSEHOODS WERE BEING CIRCULATED MR. TANNER WAS IN YOUR COURT WORKING FOR YOUR INTEREST IN LOWERING YOUR TAX VALUES OVER TWENTY PER CENT UNDER LAST YEAR'S VALUES.

Mr. George B. Tanner has strongly supported the offices of County Agent and County Home Demonstrator over much opposition. We ask you, Voters of Precinct One, what would your farms and pantries have been without their work. This shows Mr. Tanner's foresightedness in helping keep these two offices functioning.

We want you to know that during the last two years, the worst years that Haskell County has ever experienced, Mr. Tanner through his ability as a business man has been able to reduce the indebtedness of Precinct One, Haskell County, Texas, by some FORTY PER CENT., and still maintaining and giving us one of the best lateral road systems to be found in West Texas.

Through the work of Mr. Tanner and the Commissioners' Court the balance of the State Highways will be constructed without one cent of cost to the County.

A VOTE FOR GEORGE B. TANNER IS A VOTE FOR A MAN WHOSE EXPERIENCE AND ABILITY IS SUCH AS TO AS-SURE A SUCCESSFUL FIGHT FOR ECONOMY, AND GOOD GOVERNMENT. QUALIFIED-ADMITTED BY ALL. CAPABLE -RECOGNIZED BY ALL. MR. GEORGE B. TANNER, A VETERAN OF THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR: A NATIVE TEXAN; A LIBERTY-LOVING, LAW-ABIDING CITIZEN WHO WORKS FOR A LIVING.

The strongest evidence of the fitness and qualifications of Mr. George B. Tanner is the a Haskell County citizens who have known him over twenty years and who herowith presented advertisement paid for by his friends.
