CONSTRUCTIVE SCOUT PROGRAM IS UNDER WAY

Under the leadership of Thos. E. Hayden, Jr., President of the Scout activities of the Chisholm Trail Council the most constructive Scout program in the history of the Chisholm Trail Council is under way.

A large number of Scouts and parents were enthused during the week of February 1-13 with a series of Parent and Son Boy Scout Banquets held in several cities of the Council.

Many troops are working on events for the Annual Jamboree which will be held May 6-7. Last year the Jamboree attendance at Camp Tonkawa was nearly 500.

The largest attendance in the history of the Council is expected at the summer camp which will be held in the summer, starting early in June.

The Camp Tonkawa program is one of special interest to all Scouts. Fine boys become better acquainted with Scouts from many different cities and the camp program is one of advancement, instruction, excellent eats and fun.

During the past six years the Camp Tonkawa program has met with the emphatic approval of the National Camping Department of the Boy Scouts of America and the Chisholm Trail Council record enviable. During these six years the following scout advancement is reported: 10 Scouts passed Tenderfoot tests; 37 Second Class; 37 First Class; 113 merit badges awarded; 17 reached rank of Star; 4 reached Life rank and 23 reached rank of Eagle; 77 Scouts passed Junior Red Cross Life Saving Tests and 4 Scouts passed Senior Red Cross Life Saving test; 300 Scouts were taught to swim.

The next big Chisholm Trail Council event will be the Annual May Jamboree, May 6-7 and practically every troop in the Council will take part. Last year 24 troops out of a total of 50 enrolled in the Council were registered at the Jamboree.

NEW MEX. DEPUTY, FORMER RESIDENT HERE, IS SLAIN

Deputy Sheriff J. M. Clifton of Lovington, New Mexico, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Clifton of this city was fatally wounded in a gun battle with two men north of Lovington Wednesday and died in a Lubbock sanitarium Wednesday night where he was taken by airplane after the shooting. The deceased was 27 years old and was the son of Hamp Clifton. He was born in Haskell county and had been a deputy Sheriff at Lovington for the past three or four years. The following account of the gun battle was carried this morning by the associated press:

"Two men believed to be wanted in Oklahoma, were killed and Deputy Sheriff J. M. Clifton of Lea county was critically wounded in a gun battle at Cross Roads, N. M., 15 miles north of Tatum, today.

Clifton, shot three times, was taken by airplane to a hospital at Lubbock, Texas, where he was not expected to live.

The dead men, Walter Carlocke, Headton, Okla., and John O'Dell, Hobbs, N. M., were being followed by Clifton who believed them to be the men who robbed a hardware store here last night. He caught up with them at Cross Roads and after forcing them to stop, stepped from his car to question them. They opened fire on him and Clifton killed them both before he collapsed by the side of his car.

Carlocke, Sheriff Beverly of Lea county said tonight, was wanted for robbing a bank at Ringling, Okla., and O'Dell is believed to have been an escaped convict from the Oklahoma penitentiary.

A rancher who heard the shooting and was the first to reach Clifton rushed him to Tatum where he was placed aboard the airplane which flew to Lubbock.

The police said on examination of the car Carlocke and O'Dell were driving yielded no evidence to show they were connected with the robbery of the hardware store here last night in which a few articles and no money were stolen.

2.56 INCHES OF MOISTURE RESULT OF RECENT RAINS

Haskell county has experienced seven rainy days this month, in addition to a number of days that were cloudy and the weather unsettled. During this period the government gauge in charge of Mrs. P. D. Sanders registered 2.56 inches.

The first part of the month was dry, the first moisture falling on February 15th amounting to .45 of an inch. Then it rained every day until Tuesday of this week with the exception of two.

The sun came from behind the clouds Tuesday morning and the weather has been ideal, but it will be several days before the farmers will be able to get back into the fields, on account of the ground being too wet to plow.

The entire county probably has the best underground winter season this section has experienced in a number of years.

INFORMATION ON GOVERNMENT LOANS TO FARMERS IN 1932

PROMINENT HASKELL COUNTY CITIZEN DIES TUESDAY

W. M. Porter, age 63, died at his home in the northeast part of the county Tuesday afternoon after an illness of several months. Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church in Goree Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Johnson.

The deceased came to Haskell county in 1912 from Cameron, Texas, where he had been in business a number of years. He was a graduate of the University of Texas medical department and was a district steward in the Methodist Church at the time of his death. He has been identified with the farming and ranching business since coming to Haskell county. He has a host of friends throughout the county, who admired him for his honesty, integrity and loyalty to his church and his community.

The deceased is survived by his wife and two daughters, Miss Francis Porter, who is at home, and Miss Caroline Porter, who is attending school in Tennessee, and one brother, R. B. Porter of San Antonio.

Among the relatives who attended the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Pete Stoker of Graham, Ed Chamberlain of Waco, Mrs. Chas. Chamberlain of Nacogdoches, and Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain, parents of Mrs. Porter.

Funeral bearers were: Orb Coffman, W. L. Thornton, Jas. H. Bardwell, Homer Moore, Ray Toyler and S. F. Farmer.

Death Claims Mrs. Jesse Collins of Weinert

Funeral services for Mrs. Jesse home near Weinert, Friday Feb. 19, at 2:30 p. m., conducted by Rev. I. J. Duff, pastor of the Baptist church.

After a brief illness of about two weeks, the sweet spirit of Mrs. Collins left the tenement of clay to be with her Savior and loved ones gone before, Thursday, Feb. 18, at 9:00 o'clock a. m. This noble woman whose passing left sadness in the hearts of all who knew her, was born in Alabama, Sept. 1, 1867 and when life's golden bow was broken and she was called to the reward of the just, she was 64 years, 5 months and 17 days old.

She was converted and united with the Missionary Baptist Church when a child, and has lived a beautiful Christian life these many years.

Sarah Catherine Isom was married to Jesse Collins at Eddy, Tex. Sept. 1, 1881, and eleven children were born to this union, all living except one girl, who died in infancy.

She is survived by three sons and seven daughters: Mrs. W. C. Imes, Dimmitt, Texas; H. R. Collins and Mrs. R. D. Lackey, Haskell; W. J. O. B. and Miss Rosa Collins, Mrs. W. O. Lewis, Mrs. E. L. Blackstock, Mrs. J. J. Smith, and Mrs. G. C. Brockert, Weinert.

Twenty-three grand-children and two great grand-children, a brother John Isom of Eddy, Texas and a sister, Mrs. N. B. Teaff of Tye, Texas, also survive.

The deceased always led an active life, and was known far and wide for her noble Christian spirit. She was useful, kind and gentle and always sympathetic, and her greatest pleasure was found in ministering to others and making them happy. All who knew this good woman loved her, and she gave her love to all in return. Truly here was a beautiful life and a life no one can ever forget, but will live on and on in the hearts and lives of others.

After the services at the home, her remains were laid to rest in the Weinert Cemetery, beside her beloved husband, by whose side she rested for more than fifty years, and who preceded her in death by less than two months, he having passed away, Dec. 20, 1921.

QUAIL RELEASED HERE BY STATE GAME WARDEN

P. H. Hobson, game warden for this district, was a visitor in Haskell last week, and while here stated that he had recently released 24 Bob Whites in this vicinity. The birds were foundation stock furnished by the State Game Commission in an effort to restore the wild game supply in districts where they were becoming scarce. This section years ago was the home of thousands of quail, and it is hoped through the co-operation of farmers and sportsmen alike, with the State Game Commission, that the country can be restocked with birds.

Twenty-two little orphan portages of the Woodmen Circle have just moved into the recently completed Pennsylvania cottage at the Society's Home for Aged Members and Orphan Children at Sherman, Texas. "Moving day" was exciting at the Home. Previously, the children were cared for in the two-year-old administration building, now occupied by the aged guests.

The generosity of the Pennsylvania members is responsible for the new building. Texas members expect to build the next cottage at the Home. Mrs. Jeanie Willard, Denison, is national vice president of the Society. Mrs. Etta Davidson, Houston and Mrs. Margaret G. Meadows, Fort Worth, national directors. Mrs. Henrietta A. Snider, Fort Worth, junior past national president and Miss Bessie Dolan, Taylor, a member of the national legislative committee.

To say "Pennsylvania cottage" glorifies the word "cottage," for the one at the Woodmen Circle Home is a stately two-story, semi-trimmed brick companion to the administration building, of harmonizing architecture. Tall columns grace the front.

The cottage is a complete home in itself. It has living room, dining room, kitchen, sewing room, music room, study room, playrooms, and bed rooms. The study room is furnished in cheerful, warm tones. The lights are of modern daylight design, both beautiful and scientific. A huge staircase landing window, draped with monk's cloth, gives a view of miles and miles of horizon. The landing, lighted by a hanging electric light fixture of lantern design, flecked with brilliant color, is one of the beauty spots of the new building.

No one can take the place of mother and dad in a natural home, but when a child is an orphan someone must try. The Woodmen Circle is trying.

Recently a little nine-year-old orphan girl traveled alone from the state of Virginia to the society's Home at Sherman. Wherever her train made a stop of any length, wherever she had to change trains, there were Woodmen Circle members to cheer her and bid her Godspeed.

Washington.—China's Great Wall, glamorous to all who have studied geography, but usually considered significant only as a work of the dim past, has become a marker in recent news dispatches. With the fall of Chinchow to Japanese forces, the Chinese have moved south of the wall, and that ancient barrier now forms the frontier between Chinese and enemy territory as it did for centuries after its construction. A bulletin from the National Geographic society tells of this great engineering wonder of the world.

"In a world of airplanes, bombs, heavy artillery and high explosives, the Great Wall of China is of no value, as an obstacle to an enemy army," says the Bulletin. "Because this is true and has been for a long time, the Great Wall has come to be looked upon by many as a prodigious folly. But in its day it was of incalculable value to the peace-loving Chinese who were able for considerable periods to keep the 'Northern Barbarians' out of their country."

Smiles

Why take life too seriously? You'll never get out of it alive.

This is an ideal time for the return of the saloon. Most of the corners formerly occupied by banks are now available.

Judge: "And what's your connection with this divorce case?"
Rastus: "Youah honah, Ah's the grounds."

On the screen, the masterful lover has everything his own way. But in real life, somebody generally ups and marries him.

Diner: "The man who killed this chicken had a kind heart."
Waiter: "What makes you think that, sir?"
Diner: "Well, he must have hesitated five or six years before doing it."

Daughter: "Mother, is it bad luck to postpone a wedding?"
Mother: "Not if you keep postponing it."

Dr. Moore: "Can you restore my hair?"
Barber: "Hardly! But how about a nice Simenizing job?"

Why do Swiss cheese have all the holes in it when limburger needs the ventilation so badly?
"Why do you suppose there are fewer train accidents than automobile accidents?"

"I guess maybe it is because the engineer is not not in the habit of hugging the fireman."

She: "What is an echo?"
He: "An echo is the only thing that does a woman out of the last word."

Margaret: "Whenever I learn anything I store it away."
Sue: "Well, I hope you'll soon learn how to play your guitar."

Customer: "Are you sure this cleaner will really takeout the dirt?"
Clerk: "Will it? Say, mister, yesterday I rubbed some of it on a copy of Scandalous Stories and when I got through I had the Sunday School Gazette."

First Patient: "This is the most sordid, unpleasant and altogether disgusting book I ever read, and they should never allow such things to be published."

Second Patient: "Oh! May I look at it?"
First Patient: "Not yet. I have n't finished it."

"What happened to that handsome young man you had for a roomer?"

"Oh, I had to get rid of him. He told me he was a bachelor of arts and I found out later that he had a wife, and family in another city."

Actor: "I played my part so naturally that when I died a man in the audience fainted."

Friend: "That's fine, but I don't see why the man should faint."

Actor: "Well, he was the man who had just written me a big insurance policy."

She: "Our engagement is ended and don't you dare ask me to return your ring."
He: "I won't but the jeweler probably will!"

Boarder: "Your raisin pudding is no good—I found flies in it."
Landlady: "Nonsense! If it wasn't good the flies wouldn't like it."

In a certain American prison, we are told, a convict is allowed to receive home-made cake from his wife. If the prisoner has a good conduct record, however, he is not forced to eat it.

Clerk: "What do you expect for a dollar—a bull fight?"

Doctor: "Do all the patients get up bright and early?"
Nurse: "No, Doctor, just early."
Clarence: "She seemed like a good sensible girl."
Tom: "Uh huh. She didn't pay any attention to me, either."

"Then there is the American who was handed a harp by St. Peter when he arrived in heaven and asked as a matter of habit, "How much is the first payment?"

GREAT WALL AGAIN IS FRONTIER LINE

Marks Boundary of Chinese and Enemy Land.

Washington.—China's Great Wall, glamorous to all who have studied geography, but usually considered significant only as a work of the dim past, has become a marker in recent news dispatches. With the fall of Chinchow to Japanese forces, the Chinese have moved south of the wall, and that ancient barrier now forms the frontier between Chinese and enemy territory as it did for centuries after its construction. A bulletin from the National Geographic society tells of this great engineering wonder of the world.

"In a world of airplanes, bombs, heavy artillery and high explosives, the Great Wall of China is of no value, as an obstacle to an enemy army," says the Bulletin. "Because this is true and has been for a long time, the Great Wall has come to be looked upon by many as a prodigious folly. But in its day it was of incalculable value to the peace-loving Chinese who were able for considerable periods to keep the 'Northern Barbarians' out of their country."

Once Effective Barrier.

"The wall was effective because enemies of the northern plains came against China, with inorganic armies of cavalry, which, many times, beat ineffectively against the well-mannered barrier. There were occasions, it is true, when the hordes broke through; but these successful forays and the losses that flowed from them strikingly emphasize the value of the wall through the many years when it functioned successfully."

"Astronomers have speculated that the Great Wall is one of the few works of man on earth that would be discernible by the naked eye from the moon. No other single engineering accomplishment of any age compares with it in size, extent, and construction difficulties. Starting at sea level at Shanhaiwan on the Gulf of Chihai, it reaches an altitude of 9,000 feet among the mountains of western China. In the intervening area it crosses several mountain ranges—up to or nearly a mile high.

"The Great Wall is not a single structure but a series with sections built at different times. Its magnitude can be best understood if it is imagined that it were taken bodily up and set down in the United States, with its eastern end at Philadelphia. This transplanted wall would extend half way across the American continent."

"The Great Wall is at its best in the eastern section. There its sheer faces, from 20 to 50 feet high, are constructed of carefully built masonry. In places the entire wall is of masonry. In others the space between the masonry faces is filled with stones and earth. North of Peiping (Peking) great blocks of carefully cut granite are used, held in place by mortar superior to that made by the Chinese today. In other localities the wall is faced with large bricks of a finer quality than most of those now manufactured in the western world.

China Made Great Wall Great.

"Good engineers designed the wall. Rain water accumulating on the top is carried away by stone drains set at intervals of about 100 feet. The fine preservation of much of the wall is owing to the foresight in providing these drains. More than 25,000 towers were built along the wall at intervals ranging from 100 yards to a mile.

"The first disconnected walls along the northern frontier of China were probably constructed as early as 469 B. C., when Xerxes was invading Greece. But the ruler who made the Great Wall great came two and a half centuries later. Chin Shih Huang-ti, who tried to brush aside previous Chinese history, and who insisted on being called 'First Emperor,' improving existing walls and erecting new ones. Chin created the first extensive system of defensive ramparts. Probably a thousand miles of wall was built in fifteen years under this 'First Emperor' and his immediate successor. The structure has been extended and repaired at intervals during the past 2,200 years. During the past 300 years no extensive repairs have been made, and many of the less carefully built sections of the long rampart are falling into decay."

California Forest Fire Tolls Show Increase

Sacramento, Calif.—Forest fires took a toll of $30,416.00 acres in state patrolled lands in California during the first nine months of the year, the state division of forestry reports. The damage is estimated at $1,170,903.53, or approximately three times that of the 1930 fire season.

Oil-Well Waste Takes Pennsylvania Deer Toll

Harrisburg, Pa.—Some chemical in the waste from an oil well in Leontia has caused the death of numerous deer, according to officials of the state game commission. The deer have died near the well after having licked the waste. It is reported.

LIVE-AT-HOME FOOD PROGRAM FOR FAMILY OF 5

A suggested plan for supplying a family of five with food from the farm has been worked out by agriculture teachers at John Tarleton Agricultural College, with special attention to the problems facing farmers of the Heart of Texas counties.

Working with a forty-eight acre farm as the basis for food supply, the plan provides for the care of two work animals, two dairy cows, two calves, one brood sow, five pigs, ten sheep, sixty hens and twenty-five turkeys, requiring 17 1-2 acres of pasture, 357 bushels of corn, raised on 17 1-4 acres, and 10 1-2 tons of hay, raised on 10 1-2 acres. For the family's needs, a quarter-acre back-yard garden, a two acre truck patch and a half-acre orchard would provide vegetables, fruits and syrup.

In the home garden of one-fourth acre, the average farmer could raise asparagus and rhubarb in a cold frame, English peas, followed by snap beans, two rows of turnips, followed by black-eyed peas; mustard followed by black-eyed peas, and all three followed by turnip in the fall; collards, to remain on the land all year; evergreen onions, followed by black-eyed peas; multiplier onions, replanted in the fall; two rows of Bermuda onions, early and medium late cabbage, kohlrabi, eggplant, sweet peppers, two rows of tomatoes, two rows of snap beans, lima beans, cucumbers, new Zealand spinach and squash.

The suggested field garden, covering two acres, would include three-eighths acre Irish potatoes, one-half acre watermelons, one-fourth acre cantaloupes, one-eighth acre popcorn and one-fourth acre sorghum for syrup.

Must Buy Some Food

With surplus animals, animal products, fruits and vegetables, it is estimated that the farmer could pay for the following foods which he could not raise on his farm: Flour $6.50, oatmeal $3, sugar $9.80, rice $5.20, grits $2.60, macaroni etc. $7.80, coffee $7.80, tea $8.64, salt 35c, baking powder $1, spices and extracts $1, total, $51.69.

Surplus products also could be used to defray the cost of cans in which to put up fruits and vegetables, at an average cost of $8.40 a year. With his personal wants provided for on forty-eight acres, the farmer could put the remainder of his land in cotton and peanuts for his money crop, or live on sandy land, or cotton and small grain if on San Saba clay land.

In announcing the above schedule for "living at home," Neal Gearhead director of the school of agriculture at Tarleton, stressed the fact that the data necessarily are not entirely accurate or complete, but are to be used to provoke discussion, to present economic points of view, and to lead farmers to see that a farm business could be built around this "live-at-home program."

Safe on Mother Earth

A young man fell into a state of coma, but recovered before his friends had buried him. One of them asked what it felt like to be dead.

"Dead," he exclaimed. "I wasn't dead, and I knew I wasn't dead, because my feet were cold, and I was hungry."

"But how did that make you sure?"
"Well, I knew that if I were in heaven I shouldn't be hungry, and if I were in the other place my feet wouldn't be cold."

Scaring the Enemy

"Let other navies tag their ships with such awe-inspiring cognomens as Dauntless, Scorpion, and Terror," says the Chicago Daily News. "The U. S. Navy simply christens its newest cruiser Chicago, and lets it go at that."

CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT REVIVED FAITH IN POULTRY

Skim milk is only one of several home produced poultry feeds that helped M. H. McClarty of Bomarton, Baylor county, to make a profit of almost $100 last year from 92 hens. About to quit the chicken business in disgust in the fall of 1930, County Agent P. C. Colgin induced Mr. McClarty to try a better system for 60 days before selling off the 25 old white leghorn hens and 114 pullets. A change in the ration resulted almost immediately in more eggs from the flock and Mr. McClarty became a poultry demonstrator. He culled in May and August and at the end of the year there were 90 hens in the flock with an average production for the first 11 months of 172 eggs per bird.

The McClartys say the poultry income helped a lot last year and that the demonstration has convinced them that a farm flock can pay very well. Close culling and a good cheap farm-grown ration are two of the most important points in securing profits, Mr. McClarty believes. He has also recognized the importance of good housing by recently improving the old poultry quarters and separating chickens and turkeys. The ration used last week consisted of ground wheat, oats and barley, and skim milk. When milk became scarce in the fall he mixed in 10 pounds of cottonseed meal with each 100 pounds of mash which was balanced with two or three gallons of skim milk daily.

Columnist Requires No Special Place for "His"

NATION-WIDE DRIVE AGAINST MONEY-HOARDING

President Hoover has started the nation-wide machinery of a campaign which has as its purpose the liberation of hoarded money throughout the country, in stocks, in safe deposit boxes and in bank accounts. This campaign, similar in scope to the patriotic campaigns during the war, will attempt to make the "hoarders" as unpopular as the "slackers" were in 1917. More than fifty nation-wide organizations will turn their energies toward the task of convincing American citizens that it is unpatriotic and also unsound economics to keep money out of circulation solely because of an unreasoning fear.

Citizens throughout the country will be asked to give a few days employment to men and women out of work. Factories and business houses will be requested to hire one or more additional employees as a means of putting more money in circulation. All mediums of mass information will be mobilized in order to get over the message that hoarding is bad for the country and that normal spending will cause a general revival in business.

Those who have money and are deliberately withholding it from circulation by failing to spend within their means are hoarders just as much as those who bury cash. They are slackers just as much as those who failed to do their part during the war. It is not easy to draw the line between hoarders and those who spend normally. There is no well-defined limit where hoarding starts. It is up to every individual to figure out his own status and act accordingly. If surplus money is available over normal needs, it should be put to work in some sound investment, in real estate, buildings or in improvements to homes and business houses.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

Organization Perfected for Young Business Women.

Perfection of the organization of a club for single young business and professional women in Haskell was made Tuesday night when a constitution embodying the principles of both educational and social development was adopted. This third meeting of the group, which shall be known as the Sixty-Minute Club, was held at the home of Miss Lois Earnest. Tentative plans for the club here made at two preceding meetings held with Misses Hazel and Leita Robertson.

Completion of the staff of officers for the first year was made and standing committees were appointed to outline the year's program.

Miss Hazel Robertson will serve as the organization's first president and Mrs. Courtney Hunt and Mrs. Virgil Reynolds will have initial honors as senior and junior sponsors, respectively.

Other officers elected are: Hazel Wilson, vice-president; Mary Grindstaff, recording secretary; Mary Sherrill, corresponding secretary; Lola Welsh Bledsoe, treasurer; and Leita Robertson, sergeant-at-arms. Chairmen of standing committees are Lois Earnest, program; Elma Kinnard, recreation; Carrie Moser, social service.

Directly after the first meeting of the club, the sponsors and four representatives attended a regular meeting of the G. A. P. Club in Abilene in order to observe the plan of organization.

The object of this club is to form a nucleus for young women whose professions make them residents of Haskell, to follow an outline of study and recreation which will be beneficial to each individual as well as to the club itself. Nearly a score of members have enrolled in the organization with the determination to make it an interesting and improving experience.

Meetings will be held each second and fourth Monday of the month in the county courtroom.

The list of charter members includes Misses Hazel and Leita Robertson, Lois Earnest, Bertha Carmen, Eunice and Hazel Wilson, Ida Neinast, Mary Grindstaff, Marjorie Whiteker, Carrie Moser and Lola Welsh Bledsoe. New members are Misses Nettie and Marguerite McCollum, Edythe DeWitt, June Rosseau, Mary Ellen Cannon, Mary Sherrill, Alma Sprowls, Elma Kinnard and Ermine Daugherty.

Mrs. Sam A. Roberts Entertains For Golf Widows and Husbands.

Mrs. Sam Roberts was hostess to members of the Golf Widows Club and their husbands last Tuesday night at her home.

The Washington color theme was used throughout the party with red and white carnations arranged in blue vases combined with other spring flowers for decorations the same hues being stressed in adornment of the tables and score pads.

After a number of games of "84" the hostess served Cherry Pie topped with whipped cream and coffee to the following:

Messrs and Mesdames J. L. Southern, A. C. Pierson, R. C. Couch, A. H. Wair, O. E. Patterson, H. M. Smith, B. M. Whiteker, F. L. Daugherty, Courtney Hunt, R. C. Montgomery, Mrs. H. S. Wilson, Mrs. Jno. W. Pace and Mr. Jno. A. Couch.

The Magazine Club.

The first of a group of two lessons on Michael Angelo under the direction of Mrs. J. U. Fields was studied in the Magazine Club on Feb. 12. The roll call on Rome brought out interesting facts concerning that city.

Mrs. Wallace Cox vividly sketched the life of Michael Angelo. Mrs. Joe A. Jones described his Pieta.

A special piano number was given by Mrs. O. E. Patterson. She played Beethoven's Sonata.

After the main parts had been given, the club members gathered around and joined in round table question and discussion.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Clyde Grissom and Mrs. Alfred Pierson.

Mrs. Sam Chapman directed a study of the Renaissance by the Magazine Club on Feb. 5. Splendid parts were given by Mrs. Courtney Hunt, Mrs. S. R. Rike, Mrs. T. G. Cahill, Mrs. C. V. Payne and Mrs. H. S. Wilson in bringing out the different phases of the Renaissance.

Miss Mary Ellen Cannon sang "O Sole Mio" and "Neapolitan Nights."

Safe on Mother Earth

A young man fell into a state of coma, but recovered before his friends had buried him. One of them asked what it felt like to be dead.

"Dead," he exclaimed. "I wasn't dead, and I knew I wasn't dead, because my feet were cold, and I was hungry."

"But how did that make you sure?"

"Well, I knew that if I were in heaven I shouldn't be hungry, and if I were in the other place my feet wouldn't be cold."

Pains Stopped When Lady Got Stronger

"About a year ago, my health was not good," writes Mrs. W. F. Siveley, 5508 First Court, N., Birmingham, Ala. "I felt weak, tired, I had pains in my back."

I knew by these symptoms I needed something to build me up. My mother advised me to try Cardui, which I did. I found it was what I needed, for it built me up. The pain in my back stopped, and I felt better and stronger than I had in some time. I had about 7 bottles of Cardui in all."

ITALIANS ABROAD AID NATIVE LAND

Send Home Millions of Dollars a Year.

Rome.—Like the Jews, in that they are scattered all over the world, but differing from them in that they have a homeland, nearly 10,000,000 Italians, one-fourth of the peninsula's total population, live in foreign lands.

These 10,000,000 Italians represent an integral and important part of the Italian economic structure, for it is well known that practically every emigrant sends a portion of his savings home to his family in Italy. This has helped in some measure to counterbalance Italy's unfavorable trade deficit.

Complete figures are not available, but the Bank of Naples handles more than $20,000,000 annually as agents for emigrants who are forwarding money home. The amounts naturally vary with trade conditions, so consequently the value of emigrant remittances in the past two years has fallen off.

It is highly significant that the National Savings bank receives more than $10,000,000 yearly for deposits from Italians living abroad. These postal savings constitute a considerable part of the total savings deposits of Italy. This means that many Italians resident abroad prefer to deposit their savings in Italian rather than in the banks of the country where they are working.

The distribution of Italians living abroad is equally interesting. The Americas, North and South, claim nearly 8,000,000 of the 10,000,000. The United States comes first with over 3,000,000. Argentine comes second with nearly 2,000,000, while Brazil has practically a corresponding number. These figures refer only to Italians of the first generation born in Italy and who have temporarily settled in other countries.

Canada and Uruguay have nearly 200,000 apiece, and there is a big lapse in the list until Chile is reached with the next greatest number, Peru is estimated to have nearly 8,000 and Venezuela 7,000.

European Italians. In Europe it is estimated there are more than 1,500,000 Italians living outside the borders of Italy, of which the major part, or nearly 1,000,000, live in France. A considerable proportion of these are manual laborers who went to France during the country's shortage of labor although a certain percentage are political exiles from their homeland.

larger number, 100,000 and Great Britain third with 90,000. Germany and Austria each have about 20,000 apiece.

Corporations Turning to Air Transportation

Chicago.—Need for air travel by executives and business men is increasing. Sixty per cent of 754 corporations capitalized at $100,000 or more have executives and representatives using airplanes regularly, shows a compilation of United Air Lines.

Executives of 754 corporations in cities on its transcontinental, Middle West, Intermountain and Pacific coast routes reported:

Four hundred and seventy-seven now have executives and representatives traveling by air and 301 have not and an average of four men in each firm use planes on company business.

Of 754 reporting firms, 378 reported need for air travel is increasing.

Trio Kill 67 Rattlers in One Hour's Time

Great Falls, Mont.—Three young men recently killed 67 rattlesnakes within an hour in the hills four miles north of Vaughan near here.

Many of the snakes were from five to six feet in length and some of them were ten years old. The snake hunters said there were probably 500 of the reptiles in a small area. Most of them were found in rabbit holes.

It was believed that the snakes were preparing to "hole-up" for the winter when they were found by the men.

Turkeys Reported to Be Increasing in Size

Salem, Ore.—Trains Oregon turkeys to be larger. That's the suggestion of Edward Shearer, poultry raiser. "If Oregon turkeys continue to grow," he said, "it will soon be necessary to have them halter-broke and lead them around their stalls like cattle. Many of the Oregon toms are 50 pounds or more. To handle them is not a job for a weekling."

Arkansas Is Sure Wife Is Not Going to Vote

Bentonville, Ark.—Ralph Minor of Pan Ridge is determined that his wife is not going to vote.

Called as a witness in a trial here, Minor, in answering a question as to whether his wife had a poll tax receipt, told Judge W. A. Dickson: "None, nor will she ever have one. I'll see to that. Women haven't got any business voting."

Beautiful Yards For $1.05 A Piece

The satisfaction of living in a home set amidst trees and shrubs and flowers, and against a background of green lawns, far exceeded the small sum it cost to develop such surroundings, say the 11,970 farm women and girls who beautified farm yards in Texas last year. An average investment of $1.05 in cash made life pleasanter and in many cases added to the sale value of the farm, it is revealed in hundreds of stories written by them and submitted in annual reports by home demonstration agents in 99 counties to the Extension Service at Texas A. and M. College.

"East or West or North or South," declares Miss Inez Derryberry, extension specialist in landscape art, farm people have discovered that there is no need of living in ugly surroundings as long as the woods and prairies are full of native trees and shrubs to be had for the transplanting. They have also found that merely moving back a few fences, repairing gates, underpinning houses, leveling yards of clearing rubbish out of the yards makes a big difference in the feeling toward home.

"Of the 222,853 trees and shrubs planted by cooperating women and girls who kept records, 55 per cent came from woods and fields at no cost except the labor of transplanting," Miss Derryberry says. "This is one reason why home demonstration agents are able to show so much improvement in yard beautification work at such a low cost. In the eastern half of Texas some of the native plants that are worth transplanting at this time of year are red bud, dog wood, coral berry, buckeye, sumac, retama, winter berry, red haw, youpon, cherry laurel and wild myrtle.

"In West Texas native plants suitable for use in yards include salt cedar, bear grass, agaria, mesquite, native cedar and wild plum."

DETROIT BANKER'S RISE ENDS IN JAIL

Convicted of Embezzlement, He Gets Prison Term.

Detroit.—The star of destiny, which skyrocketed Robert Moffatt Allan, youthful banker, to the peak of Detroit finances a year ago, has fallen, leaving a trail of blasted ambitions.

Allan, who at thirty-three years of age, became president of the American State bank, the city's largest independent bank, has been convicted of embezzlement. The conviction carries a sentence of from one to twenty years in Michigan State penitentiary.

The youthful banker's career was meteoric. He started as a messenger boy, and rose rapidly through the ranks to a directorship. Three years ago, in January, 1929, his fellow directors elected him president.

Under his control, the bank grew to embrace 80 branch offices in the Greater Detroit area. It was known as a one-man institution, with the youthful "Wizard of Finance" the guiding genius. Robert Moffatt Allan became a name feared and respected in Detroit finance.

Allan's star ascended with the "boom" period of 1929 and early 1930. His bank engaged in the pyramid game of high finance, refusing to be swallowed up by other and larger institutions. Allan himself bought stock in banks, the state charged.

Then the crash. Stocks tumbling; disquieting withdrawals; the annual state banking examination, and the revelation all was not right with the Allan institution; indictment, arrest, trial, and lastly conviction.

During his ascent to power in the financial world, Allan rose to a position of equal importance socially. He joined and later became president of a golf club. He purchased a palatial suburban home, and entertained lavishly. He belonged to a yacht, university, and athletic club, as well as two lodges. His friends included all of Detroit's socially prominent.

Famed Bad Man's Bones Thought Found in West

Helena, Mont.—A skeleton, believed to have been that of James Daniels, early day "bad man," whose career was ended by a vigilantes' noose, was found buried in a Helena street by pipe-line workers recently. The skeleton was turned over to the museum of pioneer history of the Montana Historical society.

Daniels was convicted of first degree murder after killing a miner as a "climax" to a quarrel over a card game and was sentenced to serve a term of life imprisonment in the state penitentiary. He was pardoned, however, by Gov. T. F. Meagher after serving a short time in the state prison.

He returned to his old haunts. A few days after he had returned vigilantes decided to administer justice in their own efficacious way. He was hanged on the outskirts of Helena and when his body was found his pardon from the governor was still in his pocket.

Carpenter's Fall Reveals Rare Medical Disease

Wilmington, Del.—Victim of a rare malady, Paget's disease, Norwood Roe, forty-three, is now one and a half inches shorter than he was 13 years ago. And physicians believe he may shrink even more. Recently Roe, who is a carpenter, fell from a building. Rushed to a hospital an X-ray showed that his vertebrae had shrunk greatly and were abnormally thin, typical of Paget's disease, with which he must have been afflicted for years, they said.

Park Street Leads in Missing Persons

Park.—Park holds the world's record for being the city with the greatest number of missing people, according to statistics.

The Society for the Protection of the Family, which aids the French police in solving missing persons' problems, announced that 17,000 people have been traced from Paris during the past year. It is in the city of Paris that the greatest number of missing persons are reported.

Who Gets the Most for the Money He Spends?

The fellow who buys haphazard—or the one who puts his everyday purchasing on a business basis?

The latter, of course. He is the one who reads the advertisements and discovers just where he can buy what he wants.

He is the one who realizes the great value of advertising when it comes to the important business of spending his hard-earned money.

The well-informed shopper always has the advantage when it comes to the stretching of dollars. And you can't be up-to-date on the shopping news until you make a practice of reading the advertisements.

The advertisements show you how to save money—and steps—and time. Watch them carefully.

Anything that increases your purchasing power is working hard for you.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Some men have greatness thrust upon them. It rests not so much upon the commanding ability of those whom fate has chosen for her favors, as upon peculiar trains of circumstances or coincidences that have brought the man and the event together at the opportune time. That tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune, operates also in the political world. Many a man whose name has been inscribed on the roster of fame reached that high place because he rode the crest of a wave generated by forces beyond his control and in the creation of which he had no part.

Not so with Washington. His place in the hall of fame was not the accidental elevation of a mediocre man to eminence through a fortunate combination of time, the event and the opportunity. It is true that the time in which he lived and the juncture of affairs when he came to the full vigor of his manhood called for a great man, but it found him ready to play the role for which history had destined him to be cast, and in a play in which he was largely the author. It was he who rode the turbulent stream that swept away the structure of British control; it was he who guided the country into more peaceful channels and finally into the placid stream of orderly government.

A moving spirit in the struggle against British tyranny which led to the Revolution; the military genius who overcame almost insurmountable difficulties in the prosecution of the war for independence; one of the framers of the Constitution that gave stability to the government, Washington was the architect of his own destiny.

Of course he had his frailties like the rest of mankind, but the criticisms that he has received at the hands of modern historians who will allow no man to be placed on a pedestal, have not lessened his stature, but has only served to make him more human. His nobility of character, his steadfastness of purpose, his patriotism and his far-sighted political wisdom remain undimmed.

It is a fitting honor we do to his memory and an honor that we do the nation and ourselves when we celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of his birth with more than the usual ceremony attendant upon that day. It is well that the youth of the land learn more of his virtues and achievements than is contained in the usual school history. It is better that we who are older should again remind ourselves of his steadfastness under difficulties and appropriate the knowledge to the solving of our immediate governmental problems.

With the baseball season just around the corner, and many a youngster casting an eager eye on the corner lot already, the pronouncement of Connie Mack that "Old Man Boozie has put more men out of the game than all of the umpires together" is especially timely. Many a youth might well profit by his further statement that he "would not fool with a youngster who drinks at all. It spoils his batting eye."

The latest golf club plays sweet music when it hits the ball right, but that very accomplishment is "sweet music" to any golfer, whether he has the latest in clubs or not.

One wonders if the Ford eights will be able to travel as quickly as the rumors about them did.

Upshaw, president of the bank, received notice in a telegram from the acting comptroller of the granting of the charter and the new bank began operating Wednesday, taking over the assets and liabilities of the Old First National Bank of Stamford.

Why Do So Many Editors Have Gray Hairs?

(Publishers Auxiliary)

A certain percentage of the gray hairs that sprout each day on the editorial cranium are, no doubt, caused by the errors that sink past the copy desk and pop up in all their ugliness in the day's edition. They seem to slip through the finest editorial fine comb, and though the result is sometimes appalling, quite often it is comical enough to bring a grin even to the face of the harassed editor.

Southwestern State Teachers' College, has collected some of the more hilarious of such mistakes which are printed in a recent issue of the Quill, organ of Sigma Delta Chi. Here are some headlines which are not all they should be:

Mr. Bell recently won the golf championship of the club. At the time he made his record shot he was playing in a foursome with M. N. Kenner, Sam Rosenthal and Guy Crews. The local country club has been in existence about four years.

Plans for Two Highways Now Being Prepared.

From the Graham Leader.
Following the meeting of the meeting of the County Commissioners' Court Monday, it was announced that plans are going forward for the completion of highways 79 and 120 to the Throckmorton county line, and that contracts for the hard-surfacing are expected to be let by the State Highway Commission at an early date.

The commissioners signed up and placed in escrow with the First National Bank a sum of approximately $25,000 to be expended on the hard surfacing of Highway 79 from Olney to the Throckmorton county line. This amount was allotted for Highway 79 at the time the county road bonds were issued. The action of the commissioners was in line with a request received from the state highway department. According to a statement received from them plans and specifications are to be prepared immediately, and bids asked for as soon as possible.

Highway 120, from Newcastle to the Throckmorton county line, is also being surveyed by the state highway department in order that plans and specifications for hard surfacing may be prepared. This

SWEETEST GIRL IN HOLLYWOOD

"Sweetest Girl in Hollywood" is the universal title bestowed upon Mary Brian by all and sundry in the film capital. It never got her a thing. Hollywood doesn't crown sweetest girls. No rivals were jealous of her sweetness, her beauty or her popularity. The casting directors gave her only sweet young things to play. Mothers went away from the theatre raving about her charm and loving devotion.

But Mary Brian is from Texas. It was that old Texas spirit that got her where she is, and thirty million American girls would like to be in her shoes. But not Mary. She realizes that there is something that she has not achieved yet, and she is going right after it. That is the reason she is playing a totally different role in "Homicide Squad," which comes to the Texas Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

Mary plays a little taxi dancer in a tough dance hall, which is the headquarters of a gang of racketeers who had her sweetheart so deeply in the toils that she has to play both the police and the gangsters against each other. Neither one of them knows whether she is straight or crooked, pure or adulterated. In "Homicide Squad" you will see a new side of Mary Brian, a side Hollywood never suspected that she had. You will want to be in on the rejuvenation of the sweetest girl in Hollywood, and that is only one of the big features of "Homicide Squad."

Rural Subscribers Offered FREE Classified Ad Service in The Haskell Free Press for Two Issues

Here's something Absolutely Free to the rural subscribers of the Free Press.

Do you have something you wish to sell, trade, buy, barter or exchange? If so, a Classified Ad in the Free Press will find you a buyer, or someone who wants to deal with you.

For the first two issues in March, that is, in the issues of MARCH 3rd AND 10th—ONLY, the Free Press throws its columns "wide open" to its rural subscribers. You may advertise what you wish, with Classified ads, in these two issues Absolutely Free.

There are no "strings" to this offer. All one needs to do in order to be eligible to the Free Ad Service is to live in Haskell territory and make your living farming or raising livestock or poultry.

Ads of over 50 words in length will be rejected. Ads of 20 to 40 words are ideal.

If you wish your ad run in both the 3rd and the 10th issues, please say "run twice."

Advertisers are not limited to a single ad. Each person may run three or four separate ads if desired, and run them in both issues.

The purpose of this Free Ad Campaign is to acquaint farm readers with the value of advertising. Try an Ad—sell something, trade that radio for a milch cow, swap that old incubator or brooder for a brood sow, or tell the world you've got baby chicks or home cured meats for sale. Maybe you are overstocked on pigs and would like to trade them for seed corn. Or you might like to swap turkey eggs for stovewood or a used middle buster.

Look around the place and find something you wish to dispose of—then write the copy and mail or bring to the Free Press not later than Monday of each week.

One of the most outstanding plays of the year will be shown at the Texas on next Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Dagover, who is one of the most famous actresses of the dramatic screen, is supported by Walter Houston, who so ably made the picture "The Ruling Voice" and many other late headline features.

At the close of the program the hostess passed a pretty refreshment plate consisting of congealed salad, crackers, fruit cake and tea to Mesdames Sam A. Roberts, J. M. Diggs, R. J. Paxton, B. M. Whiteker and A. R. Couch.

Threat to Civilization

Seen by Writer in 1929

"All around us the world is convulsed by the agencies of great nations. Governments which lately seemed likely to stand during ages have been of a sudden shaken and overthrown."

The trust friends of the people have with deep sorrow viewed that interests more precious than any political privileges were in jeopardy, and that it might be necessary to sacrifice even liberty in order to save civilization.

Woodcut Designs Still Used to Stamp Fabrics

Hand woodblock, the oldest form of printing known, still survives in the modern mass production methods of the traditionally 3,000-year-old mohair textile industry.

A group of artisans whose fathers and grandfathers before them were woodcut designers and carvers, are perpetuating the art at Standard (Mo.) mills, mohair velvet weavers.

Their job is to keep on hand continuously more than 1,100 individual woodblock designs for application on mohair velvets as they come off the looms.

Methods of handblock carving have changed little since their inception. Sometimes motorized dies are used to speed production, but

Cupid Was Busy in the Surf

By COROM BIRMINGTON

"HONEY, the water is so warm and so soft, I want you out there when they are in the surf."

"But, daddy, I have somebody with me and the girl ended it."

"I know it, honey, but these men wouldn't touch a woman's daughter."

"He tried to hit me, but it was like a straw, and I felt like a cork. I had been a hippy, and I was a girl up anyway."

"Mary, on her verdict with just a racing down the red building, she forgot to give herself up."

"If one should be there, then what would I do?" she wondered.

"I never once saw a man like that. He kept coming and making me feel like a cork. I was a girl up anyway."

"Maybe I made a mistake, but I believe I'll go to my house. I'll be there in a minute."

"She took a long breath and slipped under the water. After she had been under for a few minutes, she reappeared for a fleeting instant, called a faint 'help' and was gone again."

"Reckon you'll think I'm nery," he said after a moment. "But I've been watching you ever since I came here and I'd like to be friends."

"I'm glad you aren't a city dude," she said at last. Then she told him of her own home life and of her father's warning.

"Reckon he's right. If you were mine I'd be worried, too," he answered gravely.

"By incl. consent they met each morning on the beach and played like two children in the water. Each refused to think of the day when Foster must go back to his ranch, and he put off his departure again and again."

"Mary, sweetheart, I can't go off and leave you and I've got to get back. I'm crazy about you. How about me and you going back together? Reckon you want to?" he asked.

"I'm sure glad I saved your life that morning," he said after a while, "but I'll never understand how, as good a swimmer as you could come that near drowning, shows you never knew anything about nobody," he added gravely.

"You never do," laughed Mary warmly, but not by the flicker of an eyelid did this little one reveal the tricks of the trade to her adoring Tom.

East Indian Traits

Amazing as it seems, even East Indian doctors who have studied in European universities and Indian nurses who have been trained in European hospitals sink back into the unbounded filth and foulness of the Orient if they chance to be stationed in some remote spot where they are out of touch with European methods.

This is the only explanation why the water of the Ganges is not only drunk by believers at a moment of ecstasy but is considered a sovereign remedy and invaluable cure and is shipped all over India.

There seems to be little doubt that the distinction of being the greatest private land owner in the history of the United States should go to Robert Morris, signer of the Declaration of Independence and later a senator from Pennsylvania.

At one time he owned the western half of New York state, 1,000,000 acres in Pennsylvania, 1,000,000 acres in Virginia, 1,000,000 acres in South Carolina and 2,000,000 acres in Georgia.

By way of comparison, the acreage owned by William Penn, proprietor of Pennsylvania, amounted to 1,793,250.

Harry: "A man is never older than he feels. Now this morning I feel as fresh as a two-year-old."

James: "Horse or egg?"

Precious Metals in Use as Standards of Value

The gold standard is the measure of values in a monetary system; in other words, if we wish to compare the values of certain articles, we say that one is worth so much gold, another is worth more gold, another less, etc.

Before the invention of money, all exchange was barter of trade. In the early history of this country, such objects as wampum, shells, salt, tobacco and beaver skins were used as token money.

Gold and silver were selected as the standards of value for several reasons; their value is large in proportion to weight, they are easily carried and non-perishable, and, especially in the case of gold, their value change but little from year to year.

The nations of the ancient world used both gold and silver as standards for their coins, then from the Seventh to the Thirteenth century the double standard was in general use, then Great Britain and later the United States and other nations adopted the gold standard.

In this country the gold standard implies no restriction on gold imports or exports, the redemption of currency in gold coin, and the coinage by the mint of all gold offered it.

Britain abandoned the gold standard, this involving the abandonment of some of these.

American Gardens and Homes Both Distinctive

About 1100 A. D. the Crusaders entered Byzantium and the Holy Land and carried many ideas back to the countries of central Europe.

The Persians and Arabians likewise carried the Byzantine influences to their respective countries. From this the Arabs developed a type of landscape architecture very different from previous styles.

The American Colonists found no gardens in this country when they landed. They brought with them ideas from England which were influenced by the necessity of growing their own fruits and vegetables.

Their desire for ornamental plantings was inherited from their English ancestors and this desire has now grown to the extent that the United States is outstanding in its development of small home gardens.

The growth of these gardens has kept pace with the increase in population, and the construction of homes and the style, while influenced by many others in past centuries, has become truly and distinctly American.

Measurement Systems

The sexagesimal system of circular measurement has been in existence from a very early period. It was used by the early Greek mathematicians. Their influence was so great that all the medieval astronomers, and mathematicians, Christian, Jewish and Mohammedan, used the same system.

When a particular form of measurement has become established through the ages there is always reluctance in making a change, because of the confusion that would be involved; calculations would have to be changed and the existing text books, tables and reference books would be out of date.

Wanted No Speech With Her—Giles had never been in London before, and had never used the telephone.

He felt strange and lonely amidst the roar and hustle of the traffic, and seeing a public telephone box and having heard of the wonders of this invention, he entered the box, and, taking down the receiver, demanded speech with his wife.

"The operator's voice came back, 'Number, please?'"

"Oh," replied Giles, "ma second 'n, please." Then he added in sudden horror, "For heaven's sake don't give me the first."—London Tit-Bits.

Reason for Scottish Thrift

Scotland throughout its history has been a poor country. Its land, with small exceptions, was infertile, its climate had, with long hard winters and short, frequently dry summers, and it has also, through its history, been the scene of much strife, both foreign and civil.

To surmount such conditions a people must be of a more frugal, industrious and persevering habit, and the exercise of these virtues with the times have developed into a hardness and thrift which have been commented on unfavorably and unduly much exaggerated.

England's Old Broadway—Some folks deem it a shame that such a lovely English village should possess the name of Broadway. Perhaps some New Yorkers seek it on that account that if it were called by some other name would be to its benefit.

Cotton Seed Notice. One Bushel for Three. I will be in Haskell next Thursday, Friday and Saturday March 3-4-5 to take orders for Galloway planting seed. These are pedigreed seed (Mebane Variety) grown in Oklahoma under contract. They were ginned by one gin, and no other kind of cotton was ginned on that gin. My proposition is to furnish you one bushel of above seed now, you to pay back three bushels next fall. The seed will be handled through Sanders & Crawford. You will be required to gin with them until your debt is paid, then gin where you please. You will not be required to plant all your crop in this cotton, nor to pay back Galloway Seed, any variety will do, just so that you pay the required number of bushels. You will be expected however to turn in your first seed until your debt is paid. Those wishing seed please see me next week. Unless I can place a car load, this proposition is void. The present price of gin run seed is $10.00 per ton. Should they be worth no more next fall, this means you are getting pedigreed planting seed for fifty cents per bushel, which is the cheapest you ever knew of planting seed selling. Our reason for doing this is that we have too many seed and are taking this method to try to get our money back. Mr. Sanders made a trip to Oklahoma last November to investigate our seed and cotton. He will verify my statement that it made 15-16 lint and a good turnout, grown on upland, inspite of hottest driest season for a number of years. My headquarters will be in R. D. C. Stephens Grocery Store on north side of square. Respectfully, H. A. MONTGOMERY
