

When Federal Liquor Agents' Guns Spat Death

"I find that a decent and law abiding citizen has been ruthlessly murdered." That is the statement of William McCraw, district attorney in Dallas, following investigation of the shooting to death of Marion McGlothlin, Dallas county country grocer, and the wounding of his wife by Federal Prohibition Agents L. C. Smith and N. D. Heaton. McGlothlin's country store was a rendezvous where the officers, posing as customers, were to meet a bootlegger and buy liquor. Mrs. McGlothlin says that their actions led her to suspect they were robbers. When she withdrew her pistol from under the counter, it was shot from her hand. McGlothlin then got his shot gun and was shot to death by the agents. McGlothlin is shown upper left; his wife, head banded where one of the officers struck her with his pistol is upper right. Below is the scene of the tragedy.

PROCLAMATION

BY THE MAYOR

The Week of April 25th to 30th, inclusive has been designated as Spring Clean-Up Week.

There are many reasons why the Spring Clean-Up Campaign this year should receive the enthusiastic support of every man, woman and child. First—Because that a city that is clean and beautiful creates cheer and banishes gloom. Cheer produces courage and confidence, and no doubt most of us are badly in need of both these attributes at this particular time. Second, Because every dollar destroyed in property by fire, which so frequently is the result of "careless" housekeeping in the home and in the average place of business, is a serious drain upon our present economic condition. Third, because every job created in connection with a Clean-Up Campaign not only develops better fire protection, but supplies better sanitation and public health. It creates an atmosphere of encouragement.

Now therefore, I, Emory Menefee, Mayor of the City of Haskell, do hereby designate the week of April 25th to 30th, inclusive, as a Spring Clean-Up Week and most respectfully call upon all departments of the city, the service clubs, and all organizations of the city and our people in general, to take an active part in this Clean-Up Campaign.

The City Council will appoint active committees to supervise the work and we earnestly request each and every one to accept the place designated.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I hereto sign my name and seal of office, this 14th day of April, A. D. 1932.

EMORY MENEFFEE, Mayor of the City of Haskell.

(SEAL) Attest: David Perrin, City Secretary.

A BUSINESS PRINCIPLE

It is an accepted business principle that lowered prices increase sales volume. Following this train of business practice, public service companies have made, and are making, every effort to stimulate increased use of service and thus reduce utility rates. These two facts go hand in hand . . . when use increases, rates decline.

—And under the modern rate structure of the West Texas Utilities Company, your individual coverage rate per kilowatt-hour declines as more kilowatt-hours are used. In fact, analyses have shown that the average customer, using fifty kilowatt-hours per month, can increase his use of service to THREE TIMES that amount for only 10 cents a day additional cost on his electric service bill—or for the cost of only one medium-priced cigar a day! The same principle produces similar results when applied to West Texas as a whole: as more service is used by all customers, the standard rate scale is reduced.

Electric utilities have made an enviable record during the past two decades. Commodity prices have fluctuated widely, and even yet have not reached the level of 1913 prices. On the other hand, the unit cost of electric service has declined steadily! A comparison between commodity and electric service costs shows that while the 1913 commodity dollar now buys less than a dollar's worth of merchandise, the same dollar, in this West Texas territory, buys over twice the amount of electric service it did in 1913!

Rate reductions have been made many times since the West Texas Utilities Company first entered West Texas. During the past ten years, the unit cost of your electric service has been LOWERED 50 PER CENT, with residential service alone showing a REDUCTION OF 14 PER CENT!

Snap Shots

A young man saved a girl from drowning, and then turned in and married her. That's where luck finally turned on her. They say that some stenographers become so proficient with the touch system that they don't confine it to the typewriter. A bridge addict threatens to have his name engraved on that ash tray the next time he wins it. Some of our foreign investments may not be any too sound, but they seem to be permanent enough. History records that George Washington never told a lie, and yet he was supposed to be an enthusiastic fisherman. A Chicago scientist arises at 4 o'clock and goes to work in his laboratory. Up and steam, professor! Heavy traffic has necessitated the widening of many thoroughfares, but the well known "straight and narrow" is no more crowded than before. A writer declares that well-timed silence is more eloquent than speech. "How wonderful! First thing you know somebody'll be teaching tuberculosis patients how to cough."

"Whistling," says Professor Shaw of New York, "is an unmistakable sign of a moron." That's what we have always claimed, even though we've never had the nerve to tell it to a traffic cop. Power of Gold "Is the doctor treating her for nervousness?" "Oh, dear, no. She's rich enough to have psychoneurosis." British physicians are trying to diagnose the disease of which Shakespeare died. Prompt medical attention of this sort should be appreciated. Smoothing Down the Minister The minister called on Mrs. McShoddis. "By the way," he remarked after a while, "I was sorry to see your husband leave the church last Sunday right in the middle of my sermon. I trust nothing was seriously the matter with him." "Oh, no, sir," replied Mrs. McShoddis. "It was nothing very serious, but you see, the poor man does have a terrible habit of walking in his sleep." "I see by the papers that there are now courses that teach married women how to spend money." "How wonderful! First thing you know somebody'll be teaching tuberculosis patients how to cough."

KILLING THE GOOSE THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGG

Advertisers who found in the radio a new and profitable field for exploiting their products are rapidly killing the goose that lays the golden egg. The estimable fowl is being slowly and surely strangled to death by talk—advertising talk.

The average radio listener is willing to concede that the firm going to the expense of providing entertainment for the listening public is entitled to recompense by a reasonable amount of advertising, but they resent it when the advertiser, under the guise of entertainment, gets their ears and fills them with selling talk only slightly diluted with music.

Primarily the radio is a device for entertainment and instruction, and advertising should be but an incidental feature used only for defraying the cost of broadcasting. It takes but a turn of the dial to tune out a program that is long on advertising and short on entertainment. Advertisers should realize this and not make their advertising as obtrusive as to defeat its value. Good will will sell more merchandise in the long run than reiterations that alienate possible customers. Too much talk is cheapening and disgusting.

OLD RAILROAD QUILTS

After 100 years of service the oldest passenger carrying railroad in the United States will quit business, according to the United Press. It is the Ponchartrain line, five miles long, between Ponchartrain and Millersburg, La.

With its discontinuance, the ancient little locomotive "Smoky Mary" brought from England in 1832 will go out of commission. It is said that in all its 100 years of operation no passenger has ever been killed on that line.

Other distinctions claimed for the road are the following: It is the only one to operate for a century under the name given it in its original charter; the first line in the world to use a raised platform for the handling of freight; the only passenger line to operate without dispatchers or trainmasters.

There is also a story to the effect that in the old days it was the custom to attach sails to the train when the wind was favorable, in order to give it added speed and at the same time economize on fuel.

FAMOUS KIDNAPINGS

The kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby has recalled many other similar crimes, a number of which baffled all efforts to apprehend the kidnapers or find a trace of the stolen children. Among them are the following:

- Charlie Ross, stolen in Germantown, Pa., in 1874.
- Catherine Winters, kidnaped in Newcastle, Ind., in 1913.
- Jimmie Glass, abducted in Jersey City in 1915.
- Billy Gaffney, kidnaped in Brooklyn in 1927.

Children kidnaped and known to have been killed include the following: Lloyd Kent, of Springfield, Mo., in 1917. Billy Dansey, of New Jersey, in 1919. Bobby Franks, of Chicago, in 1924, for whose murder Leeb and Leopold are serving a life sentence. Marian Parker, of Los Angeles, for whose abduction and murder in 1927, William Hickman was executed. Marian McLean, kidnaped, assaulted and killed in Cincinnati in 1931, her murderer having confessed after capture.

In a number of cases kidnaped children were restored to their parents unharmed, sometimes after payment of ransom.

Several of the cases mentioned created nationwide interest, but no kidnaping in the world's history has caused such universal indignation against the perpetrators, or inspired such sincere sympathy for the parents as has the abduction of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

LEARNING TO PUT ON THE BRAKES

That we have been going through the most disastrous times in years as one will deny and yet out of its ruins we have at least learned one lesson. How to put on the brakes. Of course a lot of us hadn't had them for so long we had about forgotten where to look, but listen, brother, when you are going down hill at full speed, overloaded with confidence, and geared for a non-stop run; then look up only to see the bridge gone before it's time to take your foot off the accelerator and reach for the emergency brake before you're lost in the maelstrom of disaster.

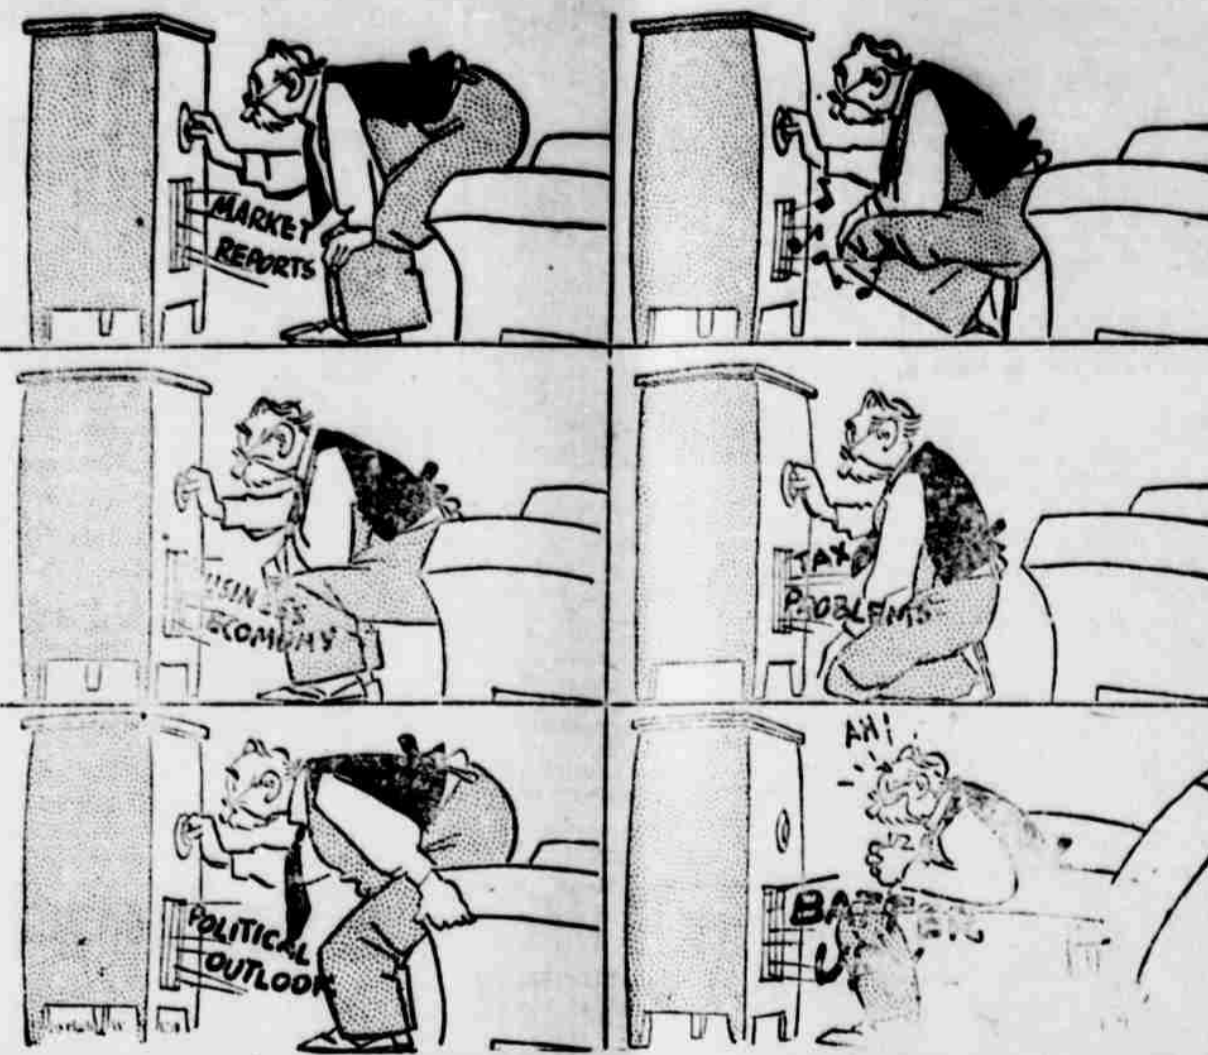

Yes, truly, we have progressed, and at a rapid rate. Speed has been our watchword and final goal below and no one cared very much what was to happen above. In fact, everybody was so busy speeding up nobody had time to think. It simply wasn't being done in the speediest families. Then what was the use of bothering about thinking, anyhow. Let the other fellow do it.

Wasn't your broker investing your money for you at a 20 per cent rate, which could never get lower? Wasn't motor cars getting cheaper and gas stations more plentiful? Didn't we have a two billion dollar Congress? Why, said the wise boys of industry, we hadn't started to go yet. Just wait until the farmers get speeded up and then things will happen—and they did.

Everybody with as much as thirteen acres bought one tractor, two automobiles and a dozen mortgage blanks, and started out to multiply and repopulate the earth, and all that's left now to multiply is mortgaged.

But at last we are, through necessity, slowing down and beginning to really think for ourselves, and when men and women begin thinking again, then will right plans be formulated and this old sphere move along in a sane and sane manner. Yes, brother, it's been a pretty hard lesson, but a very expensive one, but we have at least learned where the body guards lie—Senator Freeman in Paris, Mo., Mercury.

Baseball Is in the Air

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

THAT the growth and permanent prosperity of a city is measured entirely by its commercial activity.

It is also required that a means of livelihood for those living there be supplied.

Spending money out of a community for things that can be purchased at home is just tearing down those industries that make it possible for many to make a living.

The prosperity of your community depends in a great way on your spending your money there. Don't forget it!

The business concerns of your city should have your trade not only today but every day.

BECAUSE local concerns can serve you better than those in other cities.

BECAUSE they have large stocks at reasonable prices and can fill your every requirement. They are right on the spot in plain sight and take all responsibility for goods sold. They can give you better satisfaction.

If you and your neighbors buy elsewhere than in your own home city, you must give up hopes of having a better, brighter and busier city.

SIDELIGHTS

(By Marvin Jones, Member of Congress from Texas)

The House of Representatives has been making a real effort to reduce expenses of government. In this I am sure they are responding to a public desire.

In the six department bills which have already been passed by the House, the total appropriations have been reduced more than five hundred million dollars below the appropriations for last year. When all of the bills have been passed, it is expected that the reductions will be more than seven hundred million dollars below last year's appropriations.

This is approximately one hundred and fifty million dollars below the amount asked for by the President through the budget.

The House of Representatives has reduced the amount the President has asked in his budget recommendations every year for the last ten years since the budget law was enacted. The reductions this year will be greater than they have ever been before. However, I think they should be still further reduced.

The great problem before the American people is that of reducing the activities and expenses of government, local, state, and national.

There are a number of bureaus and commissions which should be abolished. Others should be restricted and economies practiced wherever possible.

I am opposing new appropriations as well as any increase in the old appropriations. I expect to continue this course, as further savings must be made and the cost of government reduced all along the line. Government should not engage in any line of business that is suited to private enterprise, not only because it costs the government more, but also because it interferes with private initiative.

It is advisable for the government to engage in regulation only so far as is necessary to see that there are fair dealings and equal opportunities as between individuals and enterprises and to see that monopolies and special privileges are prevented. This is the proper function, and here the activity of government should end.

Although this is Leap Year, the girl with a good job won't have to do the proposing.

St. Peter was interviewing the fair damsel at the pearly gate. "Did you, while on earth," he asked, "indulge in necking, getting, smoking, drinking, or dancing?" "Never," she retorted, emphatically. "Then, why haven't you reported sooner?" said St. Peter. "You've been dead a long time!"

"Did you ring, sir?" inquired the nurse of Billy Jones whose bell had been ringing for ten minutes. "Oh, no," replied Billy. "I was tolling the bell. I thought you were dead."

Dad—When I was your age, son, my parents never had any trouble with me.

Son—Well, I can't say that I've had any real trouble with you either, Dad.

Pat—I know a woman who gave birth to a child, and the child could talk just like its mother the first day it was born.

Rufus—Ah, go on, it's impossible.

Spending to Save through . . . ADVERTISING

Not many of us, these days, are troubled with so much money that we cannot spend it. But we ARE interested in spending the money we have, to get the most out of it.

One way—and not a new way, either—is to make a budget. Put down, week by week, the money that comes in. Put down beside it, week by week, the money that goes out. So much for food, so much for clothing, so much for rent. So much for giving, and for luxuries.

It won't always be easy, of course, to stay within the budget. That's where advertising helps you. Advertisements in this newspaper tell you how much butter, foods, meats, clothing, drugs will cost, BEFORE you go shopping! They point out ways to save money. They show you how to cut a little here, a little there. And they tell about new products, new ways of doing things, that help make this life of ours very much worth living!

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Troop No. 36 scored another victory last Friday afternoon in a game of playground ball at the Gauntt school closing. It was a fast interesting game with the Gauntt players furnishing some spectacular plays to the good crowd of rooters. During the sandstorm last Saturday afternoon Troop 36 engaged Troop No. 52 at Weinert in a game of play ground ball. Due to the wind, sand and pebble combination there were several freak plays made. At the end of the seventh inning the game was called on account of atmospheric darkness. The Troop 36 team was leading by a small margin. Troop No. 52 are determined to change the score in their return game at Haskell soon. At the regular meeting of Troop 36 last Monday night it was decided to change the meeting night to Wednesday night of each week in order to give some members of the High School Orchestra an opportunity to continue their scout work as well as their musical work. Court of Honor On Monday evening April 4, 1932 a Court of Honor was held in the Methodist Church in Haskell consisting of the following members: Rev. I. J. Duff, Rev. E. B. Thompson and H. N. Therwanger of Weinert, Ray A. Crowell and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shumway of Abilene and J. M. Crawford, F. G. PLANS UNDER WAY FOR ANNUAL W. T. C. C. CONVENTION

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has established convention headquarters in Sweetwater and plans for the fourteenth annual convention, May 12, 13 and 14, are under way.

Maury Hopkins, assistant manager, is in charge of the office, John M. Hendrix, Sweetwater Board of City Development Manager, and Chas. E. Paxton, chairman of the local committees have charge of Sweetwater's arrangements for the convention.

A program of unusual but timely interest to all West Texas is being arranged. Outstanding commercial and business leaders of the United States are being invited to attend and address the convention. Among those who have already accepted places on the program are: Dr. Herman G. James, president of the University of South Dakota; Moore Lynn, State Auditor; and James S. Carson, New York, vice-president of the American and Foreign Power Company.

Group conferences are being organized as follows: three conferences on public expenditures and taxation—one on budget making, one on county government reorganization, and the third on state government reorganization; beautification conference for furthering the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Beautification program for West Texas; and the livestock and agricultural conference. J. Thomas Davis, Dean of the John Tarleton Agricultural College, Stephenville, will be chairman of the beautification conference. Will R. Leno, Abilene, Van Zandt Jarvis of Fort Worth, and Senator Carl C. Hardin of Stephenville are being asked to head the three public expenditure conferences. Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo will head the agricultural and livestock conference. Speakers of note will address each conference.

Over fifty entries are expected in the My Home Town Speaking Contest again this year under the chairmanship of C. M. Caldwell of Abilene with Superintendent B. H. McLain of Sweetwater as secretary. The rules and entry blanks for the contest have been sent all public schools in West Texas, together with an invitation to send entrants. The winner of the contest will be awarded the Thos. Etheridge loving cup, a scholarship in a West Texas educational institution, and probably a cash prize.

A new feature of the convention will be a series of chamber of commerce exhibits from West Texas portraying chamber of commerce accomplishments and services in the various cities and towns. Every West Texas city will be asked to place an exhibit at the convention.

A new board of directors will be elected at the convention, and every West Texas city has been asked to nominate a director. Walter E. Yaggy of San Angelo is chairman of the elections committee, and has already asked each town to nominate a new director.

The Florida beach and the blue sea looked inviting to the tourist from the north, but before venturing out to swim, he thought to make sure.

"You're certain there are no alligators here," he inquired of the guide.

"Nossuh," replied that functionary, grinning broadly. "Ain't no gators hyah."

Reassured, the tourist started out and as the water lapped about his chest, he called back: "What makes you so sure there aren't any alligators?"

"Dey's got too much sense," bel-lowed the guide. "De sharks done skerted dem away."

"Times have changed." "They certainly have. You used to see dogs running wild with tin cans tied to their tails, and now you see their riding in them with their noses in the air."

HOW WELL DO YOU KNOW GEOGRAPHY?

New York is eight miles from Boston.

Alaska has a longer coastline than the United States.

Iceland has little ice.

Greenland is not green.

St. Johns, N. F., is closer by sea than Jacksonville, Fla., to Buenos Aires.

A house in the United States is often in Mexico next morning without being moved.

Kansas City, Kansas, and Kansas City, Missouri, are on the SAME bank of the Missouri River.

The Spanish colony Rio de Oro, which means "River of Gold," has no rivers and no gold.

The Cape of Good Hope is NOT at the southern tip of Africa.

And so on. These and many other facts are not jokes.

On the contrary, they are vouched for by the National Geographic society. They remind one of how little geography he knows, though the explanation of all of them is simple.

The Boston and New York which are such near neighbors, for example, are two villages in Lincolnshire, England. By sea St. Johns is 130 miles nearer Buenos Aires than Jacksonville is, because the nose of South America juts out far to the east of Florida. The Rio Grande, between Mexico and the United States, frequently changes its course by several miles overnight. And the two Kansas Cities are separated by the Kansas—not the Missouri River.

You might try some of these questions on your friends. If they can answer even one of them correctly they are better informed than most.—San Antonio Light.
