SURVEY FOR TREE SHELTERBELT MADE IN HASKELL COUNTY

Edgar H. Kemp, assistant to Jno. D. Jones, state director of the National Forestry Service, was in the city Wednesday morning conferring with County Agent R. H. Maxwell and others, regarding the Federal government's plan for planting a shelter belt of trees from the Canadian border south through six states including Texas.

According to Mr. Kemp, Haskell county will form the eastern boundary of the shelter belt through this section of the state, and will extend westward as far as Scurry county. The plans that are being formulated by the Forestry Service is to plant trees on a strip of land 10 rods wide and a mile in length where possible. This land will be purchased by the Federal Government or leased for a period of years with an option to buy later. The land will be fenced by the government and someone will be employed to cultivate the plantings, probably the owner of the land if possible, Mr. Kemp said.

The idea of the shelter belt of trees is to reduce the destructive effect of the wind, thus conserving moisture, stabilizing the productivity of the land, developing game and recreational resources, and making the communities a better place in which to live.

Prices of Goods Affected Little by Processing Tax

COLLEGE STATION.—Measured in terms of its effect upon the finished product, the cotton processing tax amounts to only 3 cents on a work shirt and 8 cents on a pair of overalls, says Cully A. Cobb, director, Division of Cotton, AAA, in pointing out that "There is nothing to indicate that the processing tax, within itself, has served to restrict materially the consumption of cotton."

The low prices received by farmers for cotton did not then result in prosperity for the textile industry. In 1933 the farm price of cotton averaged 9.7 cents per pound, a cotton processing tax of approximately 4 cents per pound gross weight was in effect after August 1, wages were increased, cotton goods prices increased, cotton textile mills made substantial profits, and cotton mill consumption increased 24 per cent, to approximately 6.2 million bales.

Also our skin should be kept soft and smooth. A soft cleansing cream worked into the skin will help relieve the harshness caused by wind and dust. Our styles of dress for 1935 trend toward simple frocks of one color with no unnecessary trimming. Pockets are numerous, many are stitched to match collar and cuffs which are also stitched."

RECIPES AND MENUS

By Department of Home Economics Texas State College for Women (CMA)

DENTON, Texas.—In the routine of meal preparation it is often possible to conserve time and energy by planning each day to have some food ready for the day that is just ahead. It requires but little additional time to prepare sufficient amounts to serve from twice. The family will find repetitions more acceptable if they are alternated between he different parts of the menu. For instance, if the meat and salad are repeated today then the vegetables and dessert might be repeated tomorrow. Then perhaps the soup and some new dish of any type may be repeated next. New dishes stand repetition very well.

- Meat Loaf: 1 1/2 lb. veal, 1/2 lb. of pork, 1 lb. beef, 1/2 onion, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1 cup cracker crumbs, 4 slices pork fat.
- Grind meats in food chopper, mix with seasonings, egg, milk, and crumbs. Place in a small loaf tin and lay the pork slices on top. Bake in a hot oven (425 F) 15 minutes then reduce to a low oven (250 F) and bake about 1 1/4 hours. Serve with tomato sauce.
- Prune Rice Cream: 1 tablespoon gelatin soaked in 1/4 cup cold water and dissolved in 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 cup prune pulp, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, few grains of salt.
- Mix well. When it begins to stiffen, fold in 1 cup of whipped cream. Serve with whipped cream or a prune sauce.
- Jellied Vegetable Salad: 1 level tablespoon gelatin soaked in 1/4 cup cold water and dissolved in 1 cup of boiling water, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt.
- Combine the above ingredients. When it begins to set fold in 1 cup chopped celery, 1/2 cup shredded cabbage, 2 tablespoons green pepper or pimento. Other vegetables may be substituted as desired.

Josselet Home Demonstration Club News.

GYPSIES SAY "THANK YOU"

The Gypsy Ramblers wish to take this opportunity of thanking the public for your support and patience during our recent campaign of selling tickets to the program of the Hardin-Simmons University Choral Club. We are very sorry if anyone was annoyed by too many "ticket-sellers."

With your support we were able to exceed our expectations, and we are very proud to report a sum of somewhat over twenty dollars to use for the school.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

The Gypsy Ramblers, sponsoring the Hardin-Simmons program Thursday night, had a ticket selling contest last week in which Era and Vera, the Cass twins, chose sides.

Of course, as you know, the Cass twins look very much alike, so there was much confusion telling them apart. For example: Wilma Kuenstler worked for the wrong side the first day.

When the contest ended at 7:45 Thursday night, the money was counted and Era's side won by fifty-five cents. The Gypsy Ramblers cleared $22. Of course we don't think it would have been possible for Era's side to win if Martelle, Marvinna, Geneva, and Ruby Sue hadn't gone to the doors and told the people that they were working their way through college!

The campaign was really exciting, particularly on account of the danger of getting on the wrong side. Daily through the hall we heard voices asking, "which is Era?" and "which is Vera" and "whose side am I on?"

We just wonder what our history teacher, Mr. Mason, thought about the charming Cleopatra in the opera Thursday night, because in our freshman history class he seems to be a great friend of Julius Caesar and especially Cleopatra. Even while the motion picture, "Cleopatra" was here he urged us to see it.

SENIORS GO VISITING

You should have been with the Seniors last Friday night when we went to Rule. We went for the purpose of seeing their Senior play, "Oh, My Stars," and that purpose was fulfilled and enjoyed to the utmost. We remained after the play for the Senior Reception, to which all the seniors of adjoining towns to Rule were invited. This gave the Haskell Seniors a very good opportunity to make many new acquaintances, (an opportunity which we are always glad to have). A very interesting program was carried out during the reception. Mr. Jack Davis of New York City played the piano and sang some of the latest and most popular songs for us.

We wish to thank the Seniors of Rule High School for the enjoyment we received from their play and the reception held afterwards.

SENIOR SKETCHES

Hugh Shelley was born in Haskell county, 1917. He began his schooling at Gilliam, continuing there five years. Then he attended North Ward for two years. After completing the seventh grade, he moved to Houston, where he obtained the eighth and ninth grade work. He came back to Haskell for his junior and senior years, having played football, basket ball, and entered track events both years. He is a "Gypsy Rambler" because he was in the Gypsy Rambler play last year. He was also in the senior play, "Gangway!" His highest ambition is to become a civil engineer.

Faye Strickland was born in Henderson, Texas, 1916. She secured the first year of her education from the North Ward. Then she went to school in the Sayles community for eight years, where she played guard on their basket ball team. She has been a member of Haskell High School two years, and has helped our girls win many basket ball games. She is a senior Gypsy Rambler. She aspires to become a nurse.

Lee Stodghill was born in Haskell Texas, 1915. He attended school at Floydada four years, Center Point, four years, Weinert, three months, Rose six months, and Haskell High School, two years. He has been interested in baseball and basket ball throughout his entire schooling. We, as the seniors of '36, will probably remember him the best in his role as a Siamese twin in the class day program. Who could be a better one?

CAMPUS FLASHES

The first of all we want to know who the romantic couple was that occupied the first bench on the campus Sunday night. (Don't all speak at once.)

Everyone seemed to enjoy the concert sponsored by the Gypsy Ramblers last week, even Howard (who claims the boys who stayed with him sang all night.)

Have you noticed how the little romance between M. B. and W. R. seems to die down sometimes and other times seems O. K.?

Annie Ruth says the reason the lions didn't eat Daniel was because he was mostly backbone and grit.

Lois is so dumb she wanted a photographer to make a life-sized picture of the Grand Canyon.

We heard a little freshman (new to the order of football) say that he just got one scratch every day.

Bill R. says a skeleton is a man with his inside out and his outside off.

A mosquito, says Crockett, is a queer thing. He never begins to bore you until he becomes silent.

Ho! Hum! Easter is nearly here so let's all get out little baskets and go Easter Egg hunting.

If you can't see any beauty in a real sunset or a real tree there is no use going to an art museum and looking at one.

We notice that Weldon was here during the week to see you guess?

Don't you wish R. C. and Winston would act their age once in a while? (Well, we do.)

Claude C. says they just doubled too much of him down for feet.

STUDENTS SELECTED TO COMPETE IN SPANISH TOURNEY

Often we have occasion to mention the names of students who represent the school in athletics or literary contests of various kinds; and we are always proud of those who represent us thus, whether they are fortunate enough to win high honors or not. It is no more than fitting therefore, to mention the names of two students who were selected to represent the two Spanish classes in an Invitation Spanish Tourney at Breckenridge during District Meet. These students were Blanche Davis to represent the first year class and Lois Davis for second year. It is most unfortunate that they did not get to make the trip to Breckenridge after all—since it's a "fur piece to walk"—but we appreciate their effort, nevertheless.

HOME ECONOMICS GIRLS PLAN TO ATTEND RALLY

Have you ever been "all a-twitter" over getting to go visiting or go on a long trip? If you haven't you don't know what you have missed. Five girls from the Home Economics department will represent Haskell at the "Home-making Rally" at Corpus Christi.

Some of the things the girls will compete in are: school girl's costume, tailored costume, judgment of (Continued on Page Seven)

CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Orion W. Carter, Pastor.

Easter Sunday is the day of the year when more people go to church than on any other one Sunday during the year. Churches everywhere will receive many into their membership on this Sunday. Men who have hardened themselves to think in the terms of the financial world and who have become altogether practical will turn Sunday morning to look again at the cross, and there viewing it, many will cry out "Man of Galilee, You Can Count on Me!"

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
"The Teaching Church"

Easter Sunday should serve to revivify every Sunday. It was the resurrection of Christ that caused the early Christians to change their day of worship from the last day of the week to the first day of the week. Therefore every Sunday in Christian lands is a commemoration of the resurrection of Christ. So let us make the first day of every week holy unto the Lord.

The Young People are to offer a sunrise Easter service. More detailed announcement of it may be found under a separate heading. The pastor will preach here at 11 a. m. but will go to Rube for the evening service, by appointment of Presbytery to make official announcement that the pastoral relationship has been dissolved, and declare the pulpit vacant. It is hoped that the Rule congregation will extend a call for a new pastor at this same service.

The attendance at Sunday School and the character of work have shown decided improvement under the leadership of the new Superintendent, Mr. Reynolds Wilson. The attendance goal is to have in regular attendance a number equal to the membership of the church. The church members are urged to be present every Sunday at 9:45 a. m. The Young People's Vesper Services are still excellent. Do not miss them.

Charles A. Tucker.

New Flavors Add Zest to All Meats

Surely if you're an adventurous cook you've found plenty of additions to the salt and pepper pots in flavoring your meats, savory stews, roasts and casserole concoctions! But perhaps you have passed by some of these delightful flavorings—they create new dishes from old and add zest and interest to this business of eating.

Fruits and Fruit Juices
Have you tried adding raisins to Swiss steak? They impart an especial flavor to the meat and gravy. Canned pineapple is a marvelous addition to ham. If you are baking a ham stick slices of pineapple all over the outside—fastening them on with tooth picks. The sweet juices will blend with the ham and the golden color of the fruit when it comes from the oven will make your ham a glorious thing.

Sukiyaki
Cook 2 tablespoons of fat, 1 tablespoon of sugar, 1 cup onion sliced, 1 1/2 cup soy sauce. Add 1 1/2 cup each of carrot, pineapple and celery. Cook and stir 3 minutes, add 1 cup raw chicken or pork cut in strips. Serve when tender.

Chicken with Prune Dressing
To prepare this dressing, take 2 cups of cooked prunes, 1 1/2 cup of cooked rice, using the prune juice in which to cook the rice. Add six large chestnuts, blanched and chopped; butter, salt and pepper to season. Mix well and stuff the fowl. Roast until tender.

Jellied Ham
Shave fine and remove most of the fat from 2 cups of boiled ham. Pour 1 cup of hot water over 1 pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin and add 1 1/2 cup of cold water, 1 1/4 cup liquid from spiced peaches or other fruit. Cool gelatin mixture slightly and pour over the shaved ham. Chill it thoroughly then unroll on to a bed of water cross, garnish with sliced gherkins and mayonnaise.

Fried Apple Rings
Slice cooking apples quite thick and fry in fat saved from bacon or sausage. Serve with these meats.

Messrs. J. D. and J. L. Collier were called to Austin the first of the week, to the bedside of their son and brother, George Collier, who underwent a major operation in a hospital in that city Sunday. His condition is reported as serious.

The following ladies from the First Baptist Church of Haskell went to Cisco Tuesday to attend the twenty-seventh annual meeting of District 17 of the Texas Woman's Missionary Union: Messames I. N. Simmons, H. R. Whatley, C. M. Conner, Ed Fouts, Sam A. Roberts, B. M. Whiteker, George Herren, Misses Audra Gayle Roberts and Geraldine Fouts.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodson are announcing the arrival of a son William Sidney, born at the Knox City Hospital Monday morning April 15th.

State Health Head Gets In Good Word For Spring Cleaning

AUSTIN, Texas.—The accumulation of winter's debris represents a distinct menace to the health of adults and particularly to little children according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, who urges everyone to clean their house and yards at this time. It is not only good housekeeping, but ordinary sanitary principles indicate the necessity of prompt removal of all waste matter in and around the neighborhood of yards of homes, but the definite lessening of the spread of diseases, especially those affecting infants, is vitally connected with this procedure.

Cooking of Most Vegetables Science

Now that the markets are filled with all sorts of tempting fresh vegetables, prepare to do your best by following the few basic rules best calculated to bring them to your table, fresh and colorful, tender and inviting.

Asparagus Scallop
Arrange a layer of cooked asparagus in a greased baking dish. Dot with butter and sprinkle with finely ground peanuts. Repeat until dish is nearly full. Pour a highly seasoned white sauce over all, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until crumbs are golden brown.

Celery With Brussels Sprouts
4 cups Brussels sprouts.
1 1/2 cups diced celery.
3 tablespoons butter.
3 tablespoons flour.
1 1/2 cups scalded milk.
Salt and pepper.

Slugs Gather
NEW YORK.—When his father tried to get him out of bed with a shoe in time to attend church, Gerald Kelly, 23, became enraged, grabbed a hammer and struck his father in the chest. It was found that the wall of his left lung had been punctured. It is expected he will recover, however.

A Tip From a Tailor
When sewing on buttons, I cut the thread instead of breaking it and the buttons stay on better.

Kitchen Kinks

Eraser Helps Range
A felt blackboard eraser is an excellent article with which to clean the top of a coal range.

Floating Cranberries
Stemming of cranberries can be just as simple a task as you'll make it. I save many minutes by using this method: Float a handful of the cranberries in a pan of water. Then the stemless berries may be quickly picked out from the water. Stew the remaining berries as you take them from the pan, discarding any that are not firm.

Clips for Overshoes
Where they are rows of overshoes or rubbers kept in the hall closets, our simple method of clipping each pair together with a clothes pin, marked with the owner's name, has saved a lot of confusion.

To Remove Gelatin
When making molded gelatin salads and desserts I butter the molds. Then to remove gelatin from the mold I dip them into hot water for just a second—long enough to soften the butter—but not enough to melt the gelatin. It will come out perfectly with no melting of the gelatin itself.

Rubber Thumb as Kitchen Aid
When preparing vegetables or fruit for cooking or salads I put a rubber thumb stall (the kind stenographers use to turn sheets of paper) on the thumb that the paring knife cuts against. I find that it saves my thumb from cuts and stains. When shelling nuts I put one on each thumb.

Pie Crust the Day Before
When making custard or squash pies if you have trouble with the crust breaking down and letting the filling run out in the oven, try rolling out the crust the day before and putting in a cool dry place. (In the pie plate of course.) Next day fill and bake as usual.

Onion Shoots Saved
Do not throw away the long green shoots you are apt to find in the onion sack. Finely minced, they make the delectable of all onion flavors for green salads.

A Conserve
Small left-overs of several kinds of jams, jellies and fruit juices cooked together with a bit of grated orange peel and a few nut meats will make a delicious conserve.

Add Something
Peel and core a half of an apple and add it to a meat and vegetable stew. It gives a new and pleasant flavor.

Peeling Onions
To peel small onions for stewing and chow chow, put onions in boiling water, boil one or two minutes, drain, dry in cloth and peel at once. The work is done in quarter of the time, there will be no odor on the hands and no smarting eyes.

No Lint on Dishes
If tea towels are starched slightly when laundered, they will leave no lint on the dishes.

Prairies Doomed To Be A Desert

WASHINGTON.—The western prairies are doomed to become a "wind-swept desert" within a relatively few years, H. H. Bennett, director of the federal soil erosion service, warns.

Bennett declares that unless prompt steps are taken to control wind erosion the rich top soil of the nation's most fertile farm lands will be blown away. Disclosing the results of a nationwide survey, Bennett said almost 35 million acres of land in Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, Montana, Colorado and Kansas, have already been ruined or seriously damaged for farm purposes. He declared: "Reports that these latest dust storms are even more disastrous than those of last year should be enough to awaken the interest of every citizen having any conception of the absolute necessity for conserving the nation's indispensable agricultural lands."

"It is my opinion that no greater problem confronts the nation than this matter of soil conservation. We have more rich, good land left now, and this is being impoverished and destroyed by erosion at an alarming rate."

Although lying in the path of the great storms, the federal soil erosion project covering 100,000 acres in Nebraska "indicates" conclusively that wind erosion can be controlled through proper land use practices. Measures of control being applied in wind erosion areas include planting of tall, wind-resistant crops, tree belts, construction of terraces and leaving on the land as much stubble vegetation as possible.

Scientist Finds Four New Birds in Big Bend Area

ALPINE, Texas.—Dr. Van Tyne, ornithologist from the Museum of Zoology at Ann Arbor, Mich., who has been in the Big Bend country studying bird life, has found 176 varieties here, four of which are new to science.

The new varieties include the green fly catcher, the red-tailed hawk, a large blue humming bird and the black-crowned timsouse, all found in or near the Chisos Mountains, 90 miles south of Alpine. He also found a flicker, which he said was one of the rarest birds on the North American continent.

"One of the interesting things I have discovered," Dr. Van Tyne said, "is the red-tailed hawk, which is often seen sitting on fence posts along the highways in the Big Bend. It is not listed or given a name in any of the books on bird life."

Of the 176 varieties he found in Brewster county, 96 are native and 80 migrant. He found 15 varieties of hawks, six varieties of owls, 15 different types of fly catchers, 16 varieties of grosbeak and one mountain plover.

DES MOINES, Ia. — Pity this poor dog! Even he has to pay taxes. Left $1,000 by his mistress, Bub, a 6-year-old dog, will have to pay the state treasury $20.97 inheritance tax.

"We are literally scouring the country to find good subjects for our films," said the great movie magnate. "Why don't you scour some of those you already have?" inquired a critic.

She—My brother doesn't smoke, drink, chew or swear. Sailor—Does he make all his own dresses, too?

Jimmie—Say, Dad? Dad—Well, what is it now? Jimmie—I bet Bobby Smith 10 cents you could lick his dad in 15 minutes, with one hand tied behind you. So be sure to keep Saturday afternoon open.

They Were Beauties, Too
Magistrate—The policeman says that you and your wife had some words. Accused—I had some, sir, but I didn't get a chance to use them.—New York Journal.

Mettler—How do you account for it that Milt Fall hasn't said a word about the fish he caught on his last trip? DeLancey—For once, he had good luck and caught so many that he knew nobody would believe him if he told about it.

One Yarn to Go
Film Star—Yes, I said I wanted a home with at least ten children. Friend—My dear, what makes you say such foolish things? Film Star—The publicity department.—Film Fun.

The teacher had given out the subject "water" and asked the pupils to write a short composition on the subject. One boy had considerable trouble with his effort but this is what he wrote: "Water is a white wet liquid which turns black when you wash in it."

Try CARDUI For Functional Monthly Pains
Women from the 'teen age to the change of life have found Cardui genuinely helpful for the relief of functional monthly pains due to lack of just the right strength from the food they eat. Mrs. Crit Haynes, of Essex, Mo., writes: "I used Cardui when a girl for cramps and found it very beneficial. I have regularly taken Cardui during the change of life. I was very nervous, had head and back pains and was in a generally run-down condition. Cardui has helped me greatly."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Skirts and Sweaters Make Smart Costume Twins

This taffeta collar uses flounces for a jabot and ensembles its smartness with a dressmaker type bag, fan top gloves, tassel tie shoes and a cheering do-ted handkerchief.

There are three cheers and a tiger due the sane and sensible soul who made sweaters and skirts the indispensable things of today. One good tweed skirt plus a good wool sweater equals one swell costume for golfing, golfing and going in general. The same good tweed skirt plus two sweaters equals two swell costumes. And so it goes, on and on!

Matching cardigans and pull-overs are simply Heavenly Twins that started life on the campus, but long since have found their way into the smart feminine wardrobe, regardless of age. Perhaps the college gals got their idea from the Married Sister and Aunt Amelia sporting sweater sets, too. Anyway, they took to wearing their cardigans back-to-front. (Buttoning a cardigan down-the-back would be too much for anyone except a limber youngster!) This proved rather a strain on shoulder seams in general, so now you can buy cardigans styled deliberately for down-the-back buttoning.

The spring crop of sweaters is something to behold. Dash right

IN MEMORY OF INEZ BRITTON JONES

Once more we are called upon to pay a tribute of respect to our good friend and neighbor, Inez, who departed this life March 31st.

We do not want to think of our noble friend as gone, rather we would think of her as called to a higher and more beautiful life, which is spiritual and eternal abiding in a better place than earth. We shall not attempt to appraise the contribution to the welfare of mankind which she made.

In her mode of living we find an incentive to higher life. A life half finished when her summons came, teaches us that all things must be left to Him who doeth all things well, and as we labor along our common way we gain by her exemplary life, new zeal, freshened hopes and an incentive to merit that eternal life.

With bleeding hearts and submissive tears we render back to Him who gave.

The floral offering at the grave was a mute tribute to the esteem in which she was held by "sorrowing friends."

The writer has known the subject of this sketch for many years and joins the many friends in expressions of sincere sympathy to the loved ones left to mourn this good woman's passing.

"I am so pleased with my hooked rugs that each time I finish one I have another planned to start," states Mrs. W. E. Johnson of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Johnston has made several rugs, nice size scatter rugs, from old clothing. The only expense is for the dyes, as she plans her own color schemes. Quite often the neighbors give her old wool clothing for these rugs.

"-- as advertised"

How many times you see those two words in the course of a day's shopping: "This article for sale—as advertised."

And those two words are as welcome as they are familiar, for they form a bond of confidence between the merchant and yourself. They are his guarantee to you of worth and value.

Here is an article that has been described in your newspaper. Its merits have been told; possibly, too, its price. You know exactly what you will get when you buy it. You know its quality, its utility; you know how it fits into your needs. And when you buy it, you know you are getting not some unproved substitute but the specified article—as represented.

It is easy to understand why that phrase, "as advertised," creates a feeling of confidence. You have learned to depend upon consistently advertised products. You know that the maker has confidence in them, else he would not spend money calling your attention to them day after day, and month after month. You know that they have been approved by the most critical of investigators—the buying public. And above all you know from experience that buying goods "as advertised" is the best investment you can make.

It pays to read the advertisements.

EASTER SUNDAY

Easter Sunday, the most joyous day of the Christian calendar, commemorates the resurrection, and this year falls on April 21. In the early history of the church, Easter was observed on various dates by different bodies of Christians, but the Council of Nice in the year 325 fixed it as the first Sunday following the full moon occurring on or next after the vernal equinox, March 21.

Easter Sunday may come as early as March 22 or as late as April 25, and its date governs all ecclesiastical days from Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, to Trinity Sunday, eight weeks after Easter.

QUESTION THE PEDDLER

The peddler that comes to your door is probably a man, or woman, trying to make an honest living. As such they deserve courtesy and kind treatment, but not your patronage.

There is no reason for prejudice against the out of town houses that try to get our money. They are only pushing their business as they have a right to do, and are to be commended for doing it.

The reason the peddlers visit this town, and the mail order catalogs come, is because there are a number of suckers living in Haskell. Most of them think they are doing the wise thing in getting "a bargain," but that is because they do not think. They do not accept a community of interest that will eventually lead to a community of progress and success.

The next time a peddler raps at your door greet him with a smile, and these questions:

"Does your company pay any taxes to support our schools?"
"Do you or your company contribute to the churches of Haskell?"

"Have you even contributed to help a neighbor of ours when stricken by disaster?"

"What, if anything, have you, or your company, ever done to help make Haskell a better place for our children to live in? Do you offer any opportunity to them when they grow older and seek places to work?"

If any of them get by these four let us know about it and we will suggest a few others. If, after interrogating the visiting brother you think it to your own best interest to ignore local merchants and home enterprises, without giving them a hearing, let your conscience be your guide.

UNCLE SAM A REAL UNCLE

Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, tells the House insular committee that no country in the world has ever treated a subject colony more generously and kindly than the United States has treated the Filipinos. This tribute is all the more worthy of notice in that it comes from an islander who has been working for the independence of his people for more than 20 years; and it is a timely reminder that our government has, after all, made a pretty fair sort of record in its dealings with its Oriental colony. There is something unique about this whole Philippine situation, when you stop to think about it; a body of people seeking their independence without any anger or bitterness, and a parent government awarding it to them without waiting for violence to log its elbow. All in all, the record is one of which the American people can be rather proud.

MEMORIAL TO 'T. R.'

The Federal Relief Administration plans to purchase two sizable tracts in the "bad lands" of North Dakota and turn them into a public recreation area. Some 42,000 acres of land have been optioned, and present plans call for construction of a scenic drive following the Little Missouri River, erection of cabins and hotels, and laying out of camping sites, footpaths, riding trails, and so on. The interesting thing about this venture is the fact that the park will be named for Theodore Roosevelt, whose old ranch lies right in the neighborhood. It would be hard to think of a more fitting memorial to "Teddy" than a western park where all the people could enjoy outdoor life. No American did as much to make us conscious of the heart-lifting openness and beauty of our great west as Theodore Roosevelt; nor did anyone do as much to preserve the natural resources of that region for the public good. Theodore Roosevelt Park should be a welcome addition to our recreational resources in more ways than one.

-CURRENT COMMENT-

ACCORDING TO THE RULES

(Christian Science Monitor)

Whether the Roosevelt Administration tried to evade a Supreme Court test of NRA or not—and some believe this was the purpose when it had the Belcher case suspended—it is in for it now. Indeed, in the words of one anonymous Department of Justice official, it is in for it "up to the neck". For it has finally chosen—perhaps under pressure—a test on a case more truly representative of the fundamentals at issue in NRA and consequently a case in which it is more likely to win or lose all than if it had gone through with the Belcher case.

The ground chosen for the test is the Schechter case, in which the New York Circuit Court of Appeals, while upholding the legality of the fair trade practice provisions of codes, denied the constitutionality of wage and hour provisions. Should such a ruling be upheld by the Supreme Court, the main structure of NRA would come crashing to the ground.

To appreciate the full significance of the test one must remember that NRA was constructed on a foundation of reciprocal concessions by labor, industry and the Government. In return for the right to organize under immunity from the long-dreaded antitrust laws, industry conceded to labor higher wages, shorter hours and the right of collective bargaining. And that organized labor felt it got a definite benefit in the trade is attested by the intense adhesion of the American Federation of Labor to both NRA and the Administration despite numerous acts of the latter which have left labor leaders temporarily fuming.

If those labor sections are thrown out, all that is worth while to labor is gone, the bargain is destroyed, labor loses its stake in NRA, and will withdraw the support which is essential in Congress for a renewal of the act. Without labor support the Administration can hardly hope to secure a new NRA.

Convicts Make Most Texas License Plates

AUSTIN, Texas.—The 1935 Texas automobile, motorcycle and truck license plates are almost 100 per cent the product of state prison labor.

The annual report of the prison system showed that an average of about 60 inmates were employed less than five months in manufacturing 2,835,000 plates.

The plates were wrapped, boxed and delivered to the 254 county seats by prison trucks to all less-than-carload points and by carload freight to three counties and to four points for redistribution.

"The design, installation and successful operation of the automobile license plate plant at the Huntsville unit is the outstanding industrial achievement of the past year and is another important step in the upbuilding of the inmate morale," reported O. J. S. Ellington, assistant general manager of the system.

Preparations started the latter part of 1933 with visits to plants in penal institutions and the commercial field. Ellington said. Plans and specifications were drawn up before the purchase of a modern gas oven, machines and materials. Actual work on the plates began in July, 1934.

Farm Families Off the General Relief In State

USTIN, Texas.—Removal of all farm families from the general relief to the rural rehabilitation program was a step nearer this week officials of the Texas Relief Commission announced that henceforth farm families residing on farm-land will be classed as rural rehabilitation families, and will receive aid only in the form of credit advances.

As a result, these families will be under all regulations of the rural program, and notes in favor of the rural corporation will be taken from these clients for all such assistance or any other advances under the relief administration.

Relief officials have estimated that from 35 to 50 per cent of the rural caseload consists of rural farm families and that the general relief load will be reduced by approximately 100,000 cases when all of them have been included in the plan.

"We want to include all of our cases in the rural rehabilitation program and get away from our outright relief grants," said A. Baugh, assistant director of the Texas Relief Commission. "Under the rural plan, we analyze the budget and farming plan for each family and provide management to the family to maintain a sufficient income to meet the needs for all advances made from the funds."

Many of the families affected by the new order are tenants on farm plots, landlords will be required to waive claims on this crops before any further advances will be made by the Relief Commission. If the landlord, or lien holder, refuses such waiver the client family will be removed from the relief roll and the lien so notified in writing, according to instructions issued by the Relief Commission.

Val M. Keating, director of relief service, said national relief officials have severely criticized the organization in refusing to file the major portion of the increase in rural areas," she said, "we believe that many land-owners have taken advantage of the organization in refusing to file tenants."

Meteorologist Says Blame for Drouth Partly Man's Fault

Man can neither stop the rain from raining nor coax showers from an unwilling sky, according to J. B. Kincer of the United States Meteorological Service. His, however, is the responsibility for some of the serious effects of last year's drouth, Mr. Kincer recently said before the American Meteorological Society in Pittsburgh. Cultivating land that never should have been put under the plow and close grazing of range lands paved the way for excessive erosion and severe dust storms when lack of moisture made huge tracts of ground dry and powdery. This situation, climatologists believe, can be improved by restoring to the denuded lands its native vegetation or any device that will diminish the surface velocity of the wind and conserve moisture.

Expansion of the cultivated area was not to blame for lack of rainfall last summer, however. In fact, Mr. Kincer says, in the early part of the century many people attributed the abundance of moisture in the Great Plains States to the sod breaking now in disrepute as a cause of drouth. From 1900 to 1915, after an enormous increase in the seeding in small grains, many of the dryer parts of the West had more than normal precipitation. Nebraska, for instance, had an accumulation of more than 20 inches above normal. But from January to August, 1934, Nebraska's rainfall was down to half the normal.

Nor, Mr. Kincer continues, has the drainage of small lakes, ponds, and marshes any appreciable effect on precipitation. Getting less than half the rain-soaking operation there is nearly always enough moisture in it to produce substantial rains. If the other part of the operation—getting the moisture out—is in good working order.—The Cattleman.

Hears Talk; Aids Discovery

HUGOTON, Kans.—Attending a lecture by Prof. H. H. Nininger, researcher on meteorites, and seeing his samples of the pitted lumps of iron and stone that occasionally fall from the heavens, J. D. Lynch, Jr., a high school senior, led the professor to a field where he had plowed up a similar stone. This led to the discovery of a stony meteorite, 35 by 22 by 21 inches, weighing about 750 pounds, which is believed to be the second largest of its kind ever found.

3000 Acres Land Terraced in Oldham County

VEGA, Texas.—More than 3000 acres of land in Oldham county were terraced during the past winter in an effort to prevent wind erosion, according to J. F. Ford, county agricultural agent. Other methods of control consist of listing, drilling, and plowing. Continued crop destruction by wind erosion constitutes one of the major problems of agricultural interests in this section of Texas. In many instances this year's wheat crops which are underlain by sufficient moisture to carry the crops for weeks are being destroyed by scouring top soil, the county agricultural agent reports.

"No Fire" Costs $1,800

MILWAUKEE. — Called to an apartment building, firemen failed to locate anything that looked like a fire and departed. An hour later they were recalled when flames were seen leaping through the roof. Two firemen were injured and the building damaged to the extent of about $1,800 by the blaze.

(Continued from Page Three) personal appearance, care of food in the home, and food selection. Probably a tour of San Antonio will be made. This trip will not only be an educational trip but will give each girl a new experience.

To begin with, the Home-Making Rally included only the modeling of dresses. But as Home Economics has changed from cooking and sewing to almost every phase of home-making, so has the rally.

This year marks a new era for the "Home-Making Rally." Schools that have departments for boys may have entrants for the different types of work given for boys. But, since we have no boys in our department, it will be something new to see boys making clothing selections and telling of their home project work.

We plan to leave April 24 and stay at least three or four days. Mrs. Young, our teacher and club sponsor, will accompany the girls.

WHOOPS

Dorothy Herren said she thought the Rule Senior play was grand, but the little boy who played the part of "Tommy" added more to it than any of the other characters.

Clovis Norton stated that he surely did think Juanita Cole played her part well.

After Loree O'Neal saw the play Friday night she was heard to state that she had never known that Rule produced such cute boys. It was the "Printer" she was speaking of, but I don't believe she would exchange Rochester for him.

Lyndell almost made a hit with some of the Rule dames Friday

RUPTURE SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. SHEVNAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Hilton Hotel, Abilene, Thursday and Friday only, April 18 and 19, from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired. Add. 6538 N. TALMAN AVE., Chicago. For fifteen years assistant to F. H. Seeley, famous rupture expert of Chicago.

Billy Williams says that no girl ever made a fool out of him and—Louise Mc says she would like to know who did, then.

Those fellows who dress to protect everything but their heads probably have a nice sense of values.

The "Babes in the Woods" are great characters when played by John E. Fouts and Fred Sanders.

Dorothy Sego gives the following advice: My love is went. He did me dirt. I did not know. He was a flirt. To all you girls—Love I forbid. Lest you be done. Like I been did.

THE FUNERAL DIRECTOR

You should know him, for he has a live interest in his community, and best of all, an appreciation of the spiritual as well as the practical value of his work.

He knows that his skill has the greatest reward when, at the last parting, a dear face looks not strange and awesome, but familiar and peaceful; that when he creates the semblance of restful slumber he bestows a priceless gift upon his living.
