WEINERT VOTERS BALLOT SATURDAY ON SCHOOL BLDG.

Structure Costing $18,000 Is Favored. With PWA Grant To Be Sought Later

Old Place Inadequate

An $18,000 school bond issue will be voted upon Saturday by Weinert citizens, with plans calling for an application for a PWA grant. Forty-five per cent of the sum called for to build the school structure will be donated outright by the U. S. Government in case the issue carries and is approved.

According to some Weinert citizens, the present building, which was erected in 1908 and an addition added in 1923, is overcrowded and wholly inadequate for the needs of the Weinert school system, which has become accredited.

A small building, formerly occupied as a church, was purchased during the past term by school authorities but in becoming accredited and adding the eleventh grade many voters believe that a new building should be voted for as an opportunity has been presented for the government to secure bond money less than the usual rate.

I. D. W. Superintendent of the Weinert school system. He has served for three years.

Work for Farm Population Is Major Problem

STILLWATER, Ok.—The rapid depopulation of American agriculture and the fact that it has been almost impossible to assimilate those persons no longer needed for farm work have created a major social problem. O. D. Duncan, rural sociologist of Oklahoma A. & M. College, points out.

With the aid of machinery, a simple farm worker today is able to produce food and raw materials for at least twice as many people as a century ago, as indicated by the fact that in 1880 the ratio of workers in agriculture to the total population was one to 5.8, while in 1920 it was one to 11.7, Duncan said.

Along with these changes there has been a 164 per cent increase in the average number of acres per farm from 1880 to 1920. 22.1 per cent increase in the number of agricultural workers, 37.5 per cent increase in the number of farms, 340.8 per cent rise in the average value of farm implements and machinery per acre, 366.7 per cent increase in the total horsepower used on farms.

It is easy to see why there has been a heavy emigration of farm population to cities in recent decades," he commented. "Furthermore, the birth rate of the farm population has remained about the same as high as that of the cities. "With the mechanical improvements already introduced and the possible mechanization yet to be seen—such as a mechanical cotton picker comparable to the combine—greater surplus of farm population than has ever been known seems imminent unless either the rate of farm people declines or agricultural industries become able to absorb the excess of farm population not necessary for a balanced agricultural program."

West Texas Makes Bid for a Part of 1936 Centennial

WEST TEXAS—West Texas made its bid before the centennial advisory board this week for recognition of factors contributing to the "winning of the west." Judge R. C. Crane of Sweetwater, president of the West Texas Historical Association, presented the large claim for recognition. He asked "substantial inexpensive marks to define sites and deeds in the information of the west from wilderness to civilization."

Among West Texas pioneers who have won a gamble and suffered hardships, Judge Crane reviewed on the board locations of West Texas forts and their history, along with recounting several important battles and locations of soldier and ranger camps. R. N. Richardson, vice-president of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, represented the 24th congressional district's centennial advisory committee. He asked parks sites for Forts Griffin and Concho, Phantom Hill, and Chadbourne in county.

Nettie and Marguerite McMinn left Saturday for a month's trip to Washington, D. C., and other places of interest. They are traveling by bus.

MUNDAY TO PLAY HASKELL SUNDAY

Reservation of Braves Will Be Invaded by Pittman And His Teammates

Another low-score, hard-fought baseball game is in prospect next Sunday afternoon when the Munday Moogus invade the reservation of the Haskell Braves. Both games between the two teams this season have been won by a margin of one score.

The feature game is expected to be hurled by Archie Pittman, of Munday, and Tanny Jones, of Haskell. Pittman, who hurled for the local team last season, has faced his former teammates only once this season, but beat them 2 to 1 upon that occasion, and if he is again chosen by Skipper Jack Mayes to pitch, the Braves will face a pitcher who will give his best to win.

Tanny Jones wrapped the scalps of the Munday players in his belt in the second encounter between the two teams, and Sunday's game is expected to see the winning pitchers facing each other—and both determined to keep their record unscathed. The Braves took the short end of the score at Seymour last Sunday, but that is no indication that a battle won't be put up each game by the local crew, according to the players. They intend to fight for every game during the second half, and the team beating them will know positively that a rampaging band of red warriors has been jumped up.

Haskell Girl In Water Pageant at Camp Waldemar

KERRVILLE, Tex.—Miss Madge Leon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Leon, Haskell, will have a prominent part in the water pageant, "A Romance of the Sea," at Camp Waldemar for Girls on July 4. The pageant comes as the climax to a day of many activities. The horse show in the morning begins the day and is followed by an old-time ranch barbecue.

Miss Leon is a member of the Comanche Tribe, which is working to retain the coveted tribal trophy won last year from the Tejas Tribe.

Mr. and Mrs. Miriam Beard returned from Los Angeles, California, Tuesday where they had been for the past six months.

Later, the officers and County Attorney B. C. Chapman searched the premises and found a gun and flashlight by a nearby fence. ## Old Timers On Hand for Cowboy Reunion Stamford

STAMFORD, Texas, July 2.—Stamford Tuesday relived once more days of the old West as pioneer cattlemen and cowboys from ranches of today thronged city streets and gaily decorated grounds of the Texas Cowboy Reunion for the sixth annual meet.

The three-day party will be climaxed Wednesday when Gov. James V. Allred will attend with other state officials. The feature parade, recalling the romantic phases of the old West, also will be held Wednesday and those in charge promise the most colorful event of recent years.

More than 400 members of the old timers' organization had registered for the event on the first day. A total of 175 contestants were registered for the rodeo events and excitement was shown in the opening day menu of wild cow miking, bronc riding, calf roping and wild steer riding. The roping are particularly vicious and are showing up their riders.

Dan Utley of San Antonio took honors in Tuesday's contests, winning first in bronc riding and second in steer-riding. Sponsors were honor guests at the annual sponsors ball at the Country Club Tuesday night.

At the same time old timers, wives, daughters, sons and their sweethearts enjoyed old fashioned square dances at the bank house. Music was old time "fiddlin'" tunes.

AUSTIN, Texas.—It would be a glorious Fourth of July if no accidents occurred to mar the joy of celebrating our one hundred and fifty-ninth anniversary of independence, declared Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. It is most unfortunate that a day of joy and celebration leaves in its wake one of sadness and sorrow in many homes.

All delinquent taxes will be figured on a basis of an eight per cent penalty and six per cent interest instead of a graduated form, according to a new bulletin just received by M. B. Watson, assessor-collector, from the attorney general's office.

Under the ruling previously issued from the state department, ten per cent penalty and six per cent interest was the basis by which all taxes were to be figured.

HASKELL LIGHT PLANT SURVEY SUIT IS HEARD

Judge Chapman, of Abilene Takes Suit for Injunction Under Adversement

Decision July 8

A decision regarding the injunction brought by V. W. Meadors, local abstractor, against the city of Haskell in which he seeks to restrain a proposed light and power plant survey, will be handed down next Monday morning attorneys were advised.

Judge W. R. Chapman 19th district court, had under advisement a petition for permanent injunction to restrain the City of Haskell from expending $750 for a survey to determine the feasibility of seeking a federal loan and grant to finance a municipal power plant. Statement of agreed facts and other testimony and arguments of attorneys in the case were heard Monday morning.

V. W. Meadors of Haskell, plaintiff in the case, contends execution of the proposed survey would be in violation of a state law, commonly known as the budget law, which provides that cities shall prepare annual budgets and restrict expenditures to budget provided. According to testimony the city had contracted with E. E. Ward & Wadsworth, engineers, to make a survey for a municipal electric power plant and system.

The city's petition following Meadors' suit, filed July 10, in which Haskell attorney filed 176 to 193 in favor of the survey. Judge Chapman granted a temporary restraining order June 19.

The petition was addressed to 10th district court, Abilene, because of disqualification of Judge Dennis P. Ratliff of Haskell, who was engaged in practice of law here before his recent appointment to the 39th district bench.

Cause of the plaintiff was presented by Tom Davis and L. D. Ratliff of Haskell and R. M. Wagstaff of Abilene. The City of Haskell was represented by its attorney, W. H. Murchison, Jr., and French Robertson.

On Monday July 1st the Missionary Society met in the last meeting before adjourning for the summer. The president presided over a short business session. Mrs. Robt. Harrison, recording secretary, read the minutes of previous meetings. Reports of officers were called for and these gave good reports. The Circle leaders also gave satisfactory reports. Mrs. E. Martin, being director for the afternoon, now took charge. The devotional, which was most inspiring, was given by Mrs. Kimbrough. The theme of the devotional being "Spirit and Growth" Scripture reading of 121st Psalm was used. Song "Holy, Holy, Holy" was sung. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Fields. During the devotional period, songs "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Open My Eyes, That I May See" were sung. The first Missionary was sent to Japan in 1859. At the present time twenty denominations have work in that country. Mrs. Fields told of some of the important events in connection with this country. A short sketch of Dr. Ivan Lee Holt, who visited Japan as a delegate from the Federal Churches of America, was given. As being opposed to the Pacific Ocean manufatures of our Navy, 300 of the leading ministers of the U. S. sent an expression of their wish for peace. This was sent in a Spirit of Equality and Brotherhood. Mrs. Smith Mission Study Superintendent, concluded the program by inviting all to join in a general discussion of the book just finished. A lively discussion followed. Mrs. Smith thanked the society for the interest shown in this study course of which she was superintendent. ## RECIPES AND MENUS

By Department of Home Economics, Texas State College for Women (CSA).

DENTON, Texas.—There is no better way of entertaining one's friends or renewing an old acquaintance than with an invitation to spend the week-end. The only way to become an ideal hostess, calm, well-poised and refreshed is to plan ahead. It is very important that the house be clean and in order, that the food be delicious and well-cooked, but it is fatal to the success of the occasion for the hostess to be too worn out or worried to be companionable. The dishes served are soon forgotten, but the general impression that the food was well chosen and well cooked, and the pleasant atmosphere of the home remains long in the mind of the guest. Most of the dishes should be ready, except for a few last minute touches, and reheating just before serving.

The menus suggested below are delightful yet easy to prepare. It is for that reason they will give the necessary freedom from the kitchen for the hostess and guests to really enjoy each other.

- Sunday Dinner: Jellied Bouillon, Broiled Lamb Chops, Rice, Potatoes, Green Peas and Carrots, Heart of Lettuce Salad, Fresh Peaches, Whipped Cream, Cookies, Iced Chocolate.
- Sunday Night Supper: Cheese Souffle, Olives, Sweet Pickles, Toasted Graham Muffins, Fruit Punch.
- Recipes:
Melon Cocktail: Remove seed from center of ripe watermelon and cut in half inch cubes or shapes. Prepare an equal amount of cantaloupe in same manner. Chill. Arrange in sherbet glasses alternating cantaloupe and watermelon. Add a bit of lemon juice and a dash of powdered sugar to each serving.
Cabbage Salad: 3 cups shredded cabbage, 1 cup diced pineapple, 1/2 cup diced apples, and mayonnaise. Mix cabbage, pineapple and apples and blend with mayonnaise. Serve a rep apple and do not peel. Serve on lettuce.
Neapolitan Pudding: 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup cocoa, 1 1/2 cups cold water, 1 1/2 cup boiling water, 7/8 cup sugar, 1 square chocolate, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 8 marshmellow cherries, 2 teaspoons orange juice, 3 teaspoons coconut, 3 egg whites. Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes; then add boiling water and sugar and stir until dissolved. When mixture begins to thicken fold in beaten egg whites. First portion add lemon juice, cherries chopped fine and spread smoothly in bottom of a brick mold. Color second portion pink, add orange juice and coconut. When first portion is set, add second portion. To third portion add vanilla and melted chocolate and after second part is firm add the last layer. Chill and when ready to serve remove and cut in slices. Serve with whipped cream or boiled custard.

In Fashion Now

The waist-line remains normal with belts getting wider. Only one of the best French houses is featuring beltless tunics for day-time frocks.

The Oriental drapery idea, which appeared earlier this year is still good, although slightly modified. One of the most striking and lovely models of this type is a trouser dress of white silk jersey, gathered so expertly at the ankle that it is hard to distinguish from a skirt. This is worn with a midnight blue chiffon cape.

If you wish to look extremely cool and chic during these hot days, wear a suit or dress of sheer black organza or chiffon.

Sun tones with brown accessories and bright greens were the most favored colors among those viewing the first races.

The newest thing for the beach is the matching dress and bathing suit. The dress is buttoned down the front and is made of water-proofed, synthetic jersey.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

Spearmint and peppermint grow in practically every country of the world. In history mint is mentioned as early as 33 A. D. and is still making history by appearing in the recipes of smart hostesses. It has a distinct appeal to the appetite and appears in the form of leaves, essence and oil.

Mint Sauce:
1 tablespoon powdered sugar, 1/4 cup fresh or dried mint leaves, 1/2 cup vinegar.

Heat sugar and vinegar to the boiling point, then pour over chopped mint leaves. Serve with lamb.

Dinner Punch:
Pour 1 cup of strong green tea over 1 tablespoon finely chopped mint. Add 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup orange juice, 1/2 cup sugar syrup, a few grains of salt and the rind from 1 cucumber. Cut in strips. Let stand until cool. Strain

Clothes Hints By a 'Young Modern'

DENTON, Texas.—Summer vacations are being discussed throughout the country, and the question of clothes is vitally important. Of course you should have a varied assortment of sports, afternoon and evening frocks, but have you stopped to think just how important your traveling costume is.

It's in this costume people will form their first impression of you, and every detail in your appearance should be correct. Travelers from Texas State College for Women give their ideas on just how a young girl should look. First of all wear simple, plain clothes that are neither gaudy in color or design. The clothes shops describe as "spectator sport" are usually good for the effect you want to create.

Mannish suits supplemented with a feminine appeal in a set of white lingerie collars and cuffs are nice. For traveling in the cooler states, these suits are ideal in solid and mingled tweeds, Shantung, rattines and cotton tweeds are more suitable for the hotter sections of the country. Never travel in linen. It might look nice for the first thirty miles of paved highway, but after that, your appearance will fall far below par.

Your hat should be felt or a soft material—something that will not be spoiled if you should drop it and that will be comfortable on the long trip. A bright feather or ribbon will give just the needed decoration. Shoes should be in keeping with the mode of the costume, and above all must have medium heels. Have your clothes as clean as they can be, in good taste, and you will be sure to lend a well-bred appearance.

Haskell County . . . . . History

As Revealed by the Files of the Free Press 20, 30 and 40 years ago.

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

Permits to wed have been issued from the County Clerk's office since last report to the following: Roy Oliphant and Miss Lizzie Stinson; Fred Derr and Miss Nan E. Mauldin; Tom Vernon and Miss Mattie Norman; A. S. Vernon and Miss Pearl Miller; and James Grant and Lulu McClarren (colored).

Haskell county's scholastic census figures this year are 4,200, showing an increase over the previous year of 600. An increase of 168 was in the city, the rest being in the county.

C. L. Lewis returned Tuesday morning from Abilene where he had been with Mrs. Lewis who underwent a major operation at that place.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

Mrs. Henry Alexander left Thursday morning for a visit with her parents at Galesburg, Ill. Mr. Alexander accompanied her as far as Fort Worth. She will be away several weeks.

On Thursday of last week, the 29th inst., with Rev. Mangham officiating, W. J. Braag of Jones county and Miss Sue Mansell were united in marriage.

Misses Geneva and Vivian McWhirter were to arrive home from a visit to Galveston Thursday.

Mr. Mode Collins and Miss Myrtle Baldwin were married Sunday night with Rev. J. H. Shepard performing the ceremony. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a visit to Waco and other points.

With Mrs. Zora Park as chaperon, Misses Ola Fitzgerald, Florence Couch, Alice Foose, Vernon Cunningham, Lizzie Wright, Frankie Terrell, Vera Neathery, Lois McConnell, Ruby Poole and Glenn Russell spent the 4th on Mule Creek. Master John Oates went along as driver.

40 YEARS AGO TODAY

The young folks enjoyed a social entertainment in which music was a leading feature, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnson last Tuesday night.

The great 4th passed into history at 12 o'clock Thursday night with the American Eagle having screamed even a little bit in Haskell unless the erratic firing of an old anvil in the afternoon can be counted in that direction.

M. L. Lynch and Miss Alta Yoe were married Thursday the 4th inst. at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Yoe of this place with the Rev. E. C. Boynton, Christian pastor, performing the ceremony that made them one.

M. A. Clifton of the north part was in town yesterday. He says crops are fine and everything is lovely up that way, although he doesn't expect to get more than 25 or 30 bushels of corn to the acre, on account of the worms which he says are always had in a new country.

Texas Sun Is Hot; Get Tan Slowly To Avoid Burning

Gentlemen may or may not prefer blondes, but for burning purposes the sun most definitely does, and the nearer platinum they are, the more harm it is possible for the ultra-violet rays to do with a minimum of effort. Which is by way of being a warning that the days of beet-red skins and inability to sleep on one's back are here again, with the brunettes getting one of their rare breaks in being able to take it better than their low-headed "sisters," says Lloyd Price, writing for the Dallas News.

With the exception of athlete's foot and halitosis probably more is known about sunburn than all the other ailments in Pandora's box, and less is done about it unless the case happens to be very serious.

The majority of folks deliberately expose themselves to the inconvenience and then make the lives of all who contact them miserable for the next few days complaining about their affliction.

Texas Sun Dangerous

Doctors, whose names may not be quoted because of medical ethics, warn that the Texas sun is very bright that it is dangerous to very light colored persons if they are exposed more than ten minutes during mid-day hours.

This, of course, is just for a starter, and periods can be lengthened as the skin becomes accustomed to the rays. When the skin becomes the color of a well done piece of toast it is all right to stay in the sun as long as one pleases.

If a person is unfortunate enough to become burned severely the only wise thing to do is consult a physician. Should the burn be superficial and merely uncomfortable any oil or cream preparation is the best thing and nothing but time will heal.

Periods of Danger

For the protection of those who are exceedingly sensitive to the sun's rays, and also for those who must listen to their complaints, doctors warn particularly about periods between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. This will change as days become longer, the important thing to remember being that the sun can do little damage while it is below an angle of thirty degrees with the horizon.

Light cases of sunburn may be relieved through very thin clothing, they said, but this should not discommode any but a few individuals who are hypersensitive.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y.—Complete control of tuberculosis in the next fifty years was predicted by Dr. Louis I. Dublin in an address before the National Tuberculosis Association.

Nobody's Business

BY JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

AUSTIN—The political picture in Texas has undergone swift and important changes during the past few weeks.

Atty. Gen. Bill McCraw and Chairman E. O. Thompson of the railroad commission, have each let it be definitely known that they are candidates for re-election to their respective offices next summer, "regardless of who else runs for what." Since each had been considered a certain candidate for governor in the event that Gov. Allred opposed Sen. Sheppard—and since Gov. Allred has maintained his unbroken silence on his plans—the action of McCraw and Thompson surprised some folks. But not those who carefully observe political events in Austin.

The appointment of a brother of the governor to an important post with the Federal Securities Commission regional office in Fort Worth, is the tip-off. Folks who know how federal appointments are distributed know that Allred was not appointed without the endorsement of both Texas Senators. They also know that when Sen. Morris Sheppard okayed Allred's appointment, the astute little Texas senator was very certain that Gov. Allred wasn't going to make the race against the senator next year. So now it seems certain Gov. Allred will be a candidate to succeed himself next summer. He probably will have no serious opposition—at least there is none in sight. Many other potential races which hinged on what other candidates would do, are off now. McCraw, Thompson, Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodall—all first timers—will undoubtedly seek to carry out the Democratic precedent of a second term to a faithful public servant.

Can Save Energy

MONTCLAIR, N. J.—The average housewife could save 33 per cent of her energy if she became motion-minded, according to Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, consulting engineer, who has studied the unnecessary steps that most women take around the house.

He ought to know, being one of the closest members of the senate to the White House. But vet leaders substituted the inflation bill on the floor of the senate and it was vetoed and the veto sustained. No further action on the compensation is anticipated at this session of congress.

Dies says he would relieve the depression by deporting the aliens, leaving the jobs for American citizens. His speeches have frightened some ignorant aliens, to the extent that the U. S. immigration office in principal cities of Texas have felt called upon to issue reassuring statements when floods of inquiries from alarmed foreign-born residents, fearing deportation, came to their offices. One of Dies' predecessors as representative from the second district, Congressman Box, stayed rather hot on the alien question for years, but was never able to make use of the issue successfully as a political lever. Rep. Joe Eagle, of the Houston district, an avowed candidate against Sheppard, has rather faded out of the picture in the face of Dies' recent activity. Unless more formidable opposition develops, Sheppard's friends here feel that next year's campaign will be a cinch for the senator.

Mr. Alfred M. Best, self-appointed New York "rater" of insurance companies, became known to Texans several months ago when he sent his men to Austin to tell the Texas legislature it ought not to pass a law to regulate his activities in this state. Details of that activity were chronicled in this column at the time. Now Mr. Best appears in a new role. His divorced wife, Mrs. Myrtle Bennett Best, was found dead in the home of her first husband, John Candelmo, gangster and convict, a few days after Best divorced her. Best told authorities in New York he financed Candelmo's defense on a murder charge in Rhode Island, and later married Candelmo's wife. When Candelmo finished a prison term on another charge, Mrs. Best went back to live with him. Best divorced her. Neither Best nor Candelmo was able to throw any light when questioned on the woman's death, which authorities thought was suicide. The incident, read eagerly in Austin by those who remember the lobbying activities of Best's organization last session, hasn't weakened the sentiment here for the law to curb Best's activity in Texas. It probably will come up again at a future session.

Veterans who hitched their adjusted compensation wagon to the star of the inflationists might have been holding valuable government bonds for their bonus certificates today, if they had stayed with a friend, and a true friend, instead of following a new Moses in this session of congress. Sen. Tom Connally obtained approval by the senate finance committee of a bill to issue government bonds for the full amount due on the bonus, and to reduce the interest rate on loans against bonus certificates to 2 per cent. He declared the president would have approved the bill, and

Here's Lowdown On Railroaders' Slang Phrases

CHICAGO—The hoghead and the tallpot mounted the groundhog and after getting the highball from the switch monkey, sent the bullfighter rattling over the hump just in time to make up the dog catcher.

Such apparent gibberish is perfectly clear to railroad men versed in the slang of the iron road. Railroad Week, celebrated in Texas and 23 other states recently, brought among other things the revelation of a list of such slang terms.

Chairman H. G. Taylor of the Western Association of Railway executives approved the suggestion that the general public be "let in" on their meaning.

Thus a translation of the sentence would be: "The engineer and the fireman entered the switch engine and after getting a signal from the worker who throws the hand switches that all was clear, sent the empty coach with enough momentum to get it over an artificial hill in the switch-yard and permit it to roll down the other side and be connected with a local train."

Some of the railroad slang words and their meanings:

Hoghead or eagle eye, engineer; tallpot, fireman; groundhog, a switch engine; getting the highball, receiving the all-clear signal; switch monkey, worker who operates hand switches in the switching classification yards; bullfighter, empty coach; battleship, steel freight car; brains, conductor; lightning slinger, telegraph operator; cinder dick, railroad detective; mud hop, yard clerk; number grabber, yard clerk working indoors; jack, locomotive; sacred ox, large locomotive, such as a Mallet type; master maniac, master mechanic; caboose, copula, little penthouse atop a caboose; riding 'em high, walking the roofs of box cars while the train is moving; gandy dancers, or snipes, section laborers; king snipe, section foreman; bug, telegraph instrument; fist, individual touch of operators on telegraph instruments; whiskers, high railroad official; car knocker, car inspector; electric owl, night operator; freeze the hub, to cool a hot box; handling monkey money, riding on a trip pass; big hook, construction train with a derrick; whale bellies, freight cars with drop bottoms; top toad, derail iron.

U. S. Leads Exports

GENEVA, Switzerland—The United States for the first time in 1934 was the world's largest exporting nation, passing Great Britain. In imports the American republic was third, dropping behind Germany. Japan, considered a trade menace in some countries, remained seventh in exports. The total volume of world trade in 1934 was 77.5 per cent of that of 1929.

New Mexico Ready To Join Highway 120 at State Line

New Mexico is ready to meet Texas with a paved highway at the state line as soon as Texas shows that she is ready to pave 84 and 120 in this state. This was the challenge made by the State Highway commission recently at a meeting attended by a number of Texas citizens.

Highway 84 begins at the New Mexico state line and runs east through Brownfield, Tahoka, Post and Jayton, connecting with 120 through Haskell, Throckmorton and Newcastle. A New Mexico highway commissioner is quoted as saying the road from Bronco to Roswell would be paved as soon as Texas gets ready to pave 84 east from the state line.

The proposed road affords the shortest and best route from Roswell and other New Mexico towns to Fort Worth and Dallas.

GOVERNOR ALLRED SAYS STATE INDUSTRIAL SURVEY BEING MADE

Says Texas Should Educate Herself and the Outside World of Resources

Governor James V. Allred announced last week completion of plans for a far-reaching industrial survey designed to provide jobs, attract outside capital into Texas and rehabilitate dormant and ruined industries.

The governor revealed that Dudley P. South of Houston, an industrial engineer of exceptional training, had already done weeks of work in determining the feasibility and possibilities of the survey.

Mr. South, a graduate of Rice Institute and Columbia University, close association of Dr. Walter B. Pitkin, will head the survey.

Survey Recommended
Governor Allred pointed out that an industrial survey of Texas, with particular reference to getting men and women off public relief rolls into gainful private occupation, had been recommended by the Democratic party in its convention last September.

"Inauguration of the Texas Industrial Survey," the Governor said, "with Dudley P. South as director, offers almost unlimited possibilities for co-ordinating public and private initiative to the end that jobs for the jobless will be provided and the entire industrial welfare of the state be promoted."

"We have already received assurances of co-operation from leading civic organizations, including chambers of commerce throughout the state, the University of Texas and Southern Methodist University, also from many public-spirited citizens. An advisory council composed of prominent commercial and industrial leaders of Texas, will be announced shortly. Also, a co-ordination committee, composed of several men who have worked with Mr. South in the preliminary surveys and will assist him in furthering the work."

Mr. South's Statement
The Governor released a statement from Mr. South briefly outlining objectives of the survey as follows:

"The function of this survey is to make available for all business enterprises such data as will enable them to expand their work, undertake new development, hire more men, and judiciously invest more capital."

"There are many types of manufacture which require little investment and use considerable hand labor. We are beginning our survey with this type in the foreground."

"There are also many major industries outside of Texas which do not have important branches in the state and which could profitably establish these branches. We hope to furnish them with data that will convince them of the wisdom of coming here."

"The survey will be entirely impartial with respect to the different cities and sections of the state and will make its findings available to all. It invites the co-operation of all institutions which have been doing this sort of work on a local or regional scale; and we have already received assurance of help from many of these."

"National and world opportunities for Texas business enterprises will be studied. We hope to increase the scope of the survey and this increase will come steadily if we receive the co-operation we have been encouraged to expect."

Mr. South is a veteran of the World War, having served with the signal corps in the Meuse-Argonne, St. Mihiel and other offensives. He is married and has two children.

Hon. Bruce W. Bryant and Mrs. Brynat and sons, Frank and Billie spent a few days here last week in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Reynolds and the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Bryant. They returned to their home in Austin Monday.

Amateur Golfers Tournay Under Way In Abilene

Invitations have been received by Haskell golfers to attend the ninth annual Invitation Tournament at Abilene, which opens at the Abilene Country Club today (Thursday).

The tournament will be open to all amateur golfers and will extend through Sunday when the championship finals, 36 holes, will be played. Appropriate prizes will be given in all flights according to the announcement.

The tournament last year was said to be one of the largest in attendance of any tournament in the state.

SUMMER ADVERTISING GOOD

Local merchants who intend to get their share of the fall business can take a step forward by advertising in the summer.

Too many store-keepers think that the time to advertise is when everybody else is doing so, forgetting that when the other man lays off the field is wide open. Then, much of the value of advertising is to be found in the good will created, and this can be done very effectively in slack periods when other stores are content to keep silent.

The merchants who will do judicious advertising between the first of July and the fall trade will find the groundwork prepared for bigger results when the money begins to come home. Many a sale is made months before the customer comes into the store.

MODEL MILWAUKEE

American cities plagued by high homicide rates—and that includes almost all American cities—might profitably send delegations to Milwaukee to find out what that city's system is. Milwaukee's homicide squad is beginning to get rusty from sheer idleness. In the first six months of this year, Milwaukee has had no murders. Its last homicide took place on Christmas eve, 1934. There were only 11 killings in all 1934; and of the last 25 homicides in Milwaukee, only two remain unsolved. When you recollect that Milwaukee is a large city, situated only two hours' ride from turbulent Chicago, that record becomes all the more remarkable. Here is one American city which seems to have discovered the secret of that efficient, prompt, and relentless law enforcement which actually keeps crime from taking place.

FAR FROM A UNIT

The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee does the nation a service by pointing out that under our present laws only a part of our transportation system is subject to federal regulation, although the system as a whole should be a unit. It makes this comment in its report on the Eastman bill, which would vest regulation of water transport with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Quite properly, the committee remarks that the present situation is chaotic and cannot continue. The railroads are subject to the strictest sort of federal oversight; buses, trucks, and steamship lines are subject to little if any. Would not the country's industrial structure be more healthy if all our transportation agencies were subject to the same sort of regulation, with the greatest number the guiding light for the regulators?

WORTH MORE THAN A TITLE

We don't know how long the Hon. James J. Bradock will remain heavyweight champion of the United States, and other nations, but he has something of a record worth noting.

About a year ago he was on relief, receiving altogether some $367 from the government to take care of himself and family. What of it? Well, the night before he won his title he forced the New Jersey relief administrator to take his note for that amount and since the fight he has paid it in full before it became due.

Evidently, he believes in paying his bills even when there is no law to make him do so. That is worth more than a boxing championship.

FLYING HIGH

Aerial engineers believe that high flying, airplanes at forty thousand feet altitudes, will soon be available, offering all that can be desired in safety and desirability.

Airships in the stratosphere will not encounter fog, irregular wind or ice, which causes most of the dangers at low altitudes. In case of trouble it would take a plane one hour to glide from forty thousand feet to a landing and in doing so it could pick out any spot within a radius of one hundred and twenty miles.

The only objection to high-altitude flying is the possibility of monotony, for passengers might find the darkened sky and reduced visibility of the earth tiresome.

ELECTRICITY GAINS IN USE

B. W. Kerr, representing the National Electrical Manufacturers Association, appeared before the House Interstate Commerce Committee the other day in the hearings on the utility holding company regulation bill. A congressman asked him if there was any doubt that a good market for electricity exists. "None whatever," he replied. "Why, we have the best salesman in the United States selling electricity—the President." And there is something in that remark. Whatever may be said about the present electric power controversy—and there is much to be said on both sides, and little of it is being left unsaid—we are at least stepping up our electric power consumption at a tremendous rate. Whether government or private industry provides the juice, we are going to be using more and more of it from now on. The age of electricity is just beginning.

We suspect that some urban Congressmen saw farmers for the first time recently, when the farmers went to Washington for their own lobby.

-CURRENT COMMENT-

BACK TO THE FARM

(Beaver Daily Times)

Two recent surveys cast new light on the current status of agriculture.

There has been a small but encouraging rise in value of American farms. Between March 1934, and March 1935, values rose in 30 states, declined in but five and remained unchanged in the other 13.

"Back to the Farm" is becoming a reality. Where a few years ago, the farm population was being depleted by an exodus to the cities, the trend has completely reversed and streams of people are going from urban to rural areas. A number of reasons lie behind this, such as industrial unemployment, the development of profitable specialty farming, and the desire of immigrants to leave the cities for the land.

In addition, the number of individual farms is on the increase. In New England alone, there were 162,000 producing farms on January 1, 1935, in contrast to the 125,000 on April 1, 1930.

All this speaks well for the future of agriculture and a self-supporting citizenship. It is natural that people should win their living from the land. And the great progress made in developing more scientific farming methods are immeasurably improving the farmers' opportunity to till the soil at a profit. All in all, it is safe to say that the agricultural situation is basically better now than at any time since the depression set in.

Texas Rattler Proves Deadliest; Odds Even You'll Die After Bite

NEW YORK—The odds are 50 to 1 you'll be bitten if you pick up a mountain rattlesnake, but 5 to 1 you live—even without treatment. Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of Bronx Zoo and noted authority on snakes, expressed this opinion recently.

The chances of being bitten by the copperhead are about the same, but the odds on living without treatment are 10 to 1, Dr. Ditmars said. Even with treatment, however, a person has only about a fifty-fifty chance of living after a nip from a diamond or Texas rattler and no type is found in Texas, Georgia, Florida and other Southern states.

One may dance intelligently and be stupid in the head.

Texas Has Broad Law on Securities

What is a security? Under the new Texas law regulating the sale of securities, the term includes any form of stocks, bonds, mortgage certificates, any form of commercial paper, any certificate in or under a profit sharing or participation agreement, lease or royalty interest in an oil, gas or mining property. In addition there are many lesser known forms of securities.

The Texas Securities law which replaced the old Blue Sky Law, on May 23, 1935, is broad in its definitions of what constitutes a security, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

Before purchasing any form of security, such as those named above the buyer should determine if the person doing the selling has registered with the Secretary of State. Emphasis is placed on the fact that in no case does the State guarantee or endorse any security.

But registration is not the extent of responsibility on the part of the seller. Under the law he may be held accountable for representations as to fact made in the sale of a security.

GIVE YOUR SCISSORS THIS EXERCISE

Madam! Do you know that its clever to be a clipper? Here's a habit you can readily cultivate, and you'll find many of your best friends following it.

To become a clipper at one clip, so to speak, just see that the shears are handy when you sit down to read your newspaper. As you spot an advertisement of something that interests you, especially some item that you want to examine when you're shopping next time . . . clip out the notice and take it with you.

The merchants who advertise with us are glad to have you ask for specific merchandise. And sometimes it's helpful to refer to the advertisement when you're right in the store.

At all events, a clipping pinned to your shopping list helps you to remember this particular errand. It simplifies and shortens a shopping trip so much to know what you want and where to get it!

HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE

MOSES THE LEADER

International Sunday School Lesson for July 7, 1935.

Golden Text: "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." Psalm 33:12.

Lesson Text: Ex. 24:3-8, 12-18

The career of Moses is one of much interest. As a great prophet, organizer and leader, lawgiver and always a devout follower of God, his life stands out among the ancient leaders of the Jewish people.

Our readers are familiar with the story which drove Jacob and his family into Egypt, where the powerful power of Joseph enabled them to be saved. The Israelites were welcomed into the new land and treated with consideration and respect by the rulers. With the passing of generations a new dynasty was established. The growing numbers and increased prosperity of the Hebrews caused fear and envy among the Egyptian rulers, who adopted a policy of oppression.

The Hebrews were subject to the exacting and were allowed only as slaves. They were made to labor in the construction of public works and their condition was very pitiable and miserable. The ruler Pharaoh, in an effort to prevent the increase of the Hebrews, decreed the death of all male infants. At this time, Moses was born and his mother, Jochebed, managed to save his life by arousing the sympathy of an Egyptian princess.

Raised in the Egyptian court, in his own mother serving as his nurse, he had every advantage which the advanced civilization of Egypt could furnish. He received the best education available in his land and was trained in the arts and sciences of the Egyptians. Although a prospect for advancement and a career were excellent, Moses never felt that he was a Hebrew and, deeply due to his mother, he remained firm in his worship and fidelity to the God of his fathers.

One day Moses found an Egyptian mistreating one of the Israelites. Acting upon an impulse which was in response to his genuine feelings, Moses intervened and killed the aggressor, hiding his body in the sand. Another example of trying to accomplish good through evil, which acted its penalty. The next day, when Moses tried to intercede between two Hebrews engaged in a fight, one of them referred to a violent act the day before. Fearing detection and punishment (favorable commentary upon the Egyptian of that period—that a man should be punished for killing an ordinary man) Moses fled to Midian, where he remained forty years, during which time he was married.

Our lesson text tells us of the summons which came to Moses calling upon him to return to Egypt and free his people. We should not question the fact that in everyday life we now have divine summons to man. The difficulty lies in the fact that so few are able to recognize and respond to such opportunities. As Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote:

"Earth's crammed with heaven,
And every common bush afire with God;
But only he who sees, takes off his shoes,
And rest sit round it and pluck blackberries."

Moses, like many other men in similar positions, sought to evade the responsibility assigned to him. He made excuses, the first was that he was not able to accomplish the task, but God promised his own assistance. The second was that he did not know how to tell the Israelites who had sent him and God gave him a name by which he was to be known. Then, Moses declared that the Israelites would not believe him and God gave him two signs to con-

What Is Your Pet Superstition?

Regardless of Color or Sex, Nearly All People Guard Against Bad Omens

A modern Diogenes setting out in search of a man entirely free from superstitious beliefs would, undoubtedly, have equally as difficult a time as the old gentleman of ancient Greece who sought the just man. In spite of the fact that it is generally assumed that such beliefs are banished by education there is plenty of evidence that, although weakened, many of them still remain regardless of learning.

One would ordinarily think that a scientist working daily with the exact laws of chemistry and physics and who knows that certain things happen only as the result of certain conditions, or that a statesman well acquainted with the history of the world and who knows that nothing ever happened without a perfectly natural cause could be the thirteenth at a table without feeling uneasy, or could unhesitatingly accept the third light for his cigarette from a burning match. But usually this is not the case. While such persons are, as a rule, thoroughly convinced that no evil will result from such violations of "the rules" they cannot help but feel a certain amount of superstitious fear.

An amusing instance of where a prominent statesman felt this uneasiness and chose to rid himself of it by making use of a generally accepted charm is said to have taken place a few years ago in England. Winston Churchill, in addressing parliament, made the prediction that better days were in store for England. As he did so he raised the corner of the Union Jack which covered the table in front of him and rapped the table's wooden surface. Another wood-knocking incident, supposed to have taken place at an important conference during the World War, is that as a decision was reached and it was stated which was the best course to follow, Lord Balfour reached forward and rapped the table with his knuckles.

Many notables are admittedly superstitious. D'Annunzio, the famous Italian poet, wore a bracelet of monkey hair which he believed was a good luck charm. Paderewski, Polish pianist, considers certain days as very unlucky. Rossini, the composer, after writing the ill-fated Barber of Seville in thirteen days always considered 13 as an unlucky number.

It is interesting to note that in professions where success and failure are divided by a very thin and indefinite line, superstition holds a high place. This is probably the most noticeable on the stage. Many plays which, because of their quality and presentation, have every right to expect success are poorly received by the audiences, and others with little or no merit are very successful. For that reason many traditional superstitions have been built up. Some of the actors and actresses disregard them but as a rule they are closely followed and some of the thespians add new ones of their own. Charlie Chaplin, for instance, refuses to give up his original costume in which he first won fame, and Caruso never went upon the stage without his good-luck penny in his pocket.

Even business is affected to a certain extent by superstitions. While there is no record of any business executive sleeping with an ax under his bed to cure a headache or spitting in his hat at the sight of a cross-eyed person there is a record of an instance where the sale of a steamship line was held up for three weeks because the day originally chosen for final negotiations was considered unlucky by one of the parties. Nearly all manufacturers cater in some way to the superstitious beliefs of the consuming public and some have learned to their sorrow that it is fatal not to do so. A certain concern which manufactured toilet articles and make-up powder for use on the stage was so unwise as to put a peacock on the labels used. Knowing the aversion stage folks have for peacocks, it is not hard to guess what happened to this company. At one time several large newspapers were put to the trouble of hiring numerologists to come in and coin names for many of their editors. People refused to take seriously the writings of a person whose name, when analyzed, showed him to be fitted only for manual labor.

But the greatest surprise comes with the knowledge that in New York, where, according to the inhabitants, "everything is several generations ahead of the rest of America," superstition is very noticeable. Many towering offices and apartment buildings which pierce the skies and proclaim the progress of which New York is so proud, strangely lack their 13th floors. Watch a New Yorker as he walks the streets. He thinks nothing of dodging in and out among speeding autos or walking under laden cranes but not often will he take the chance of walking under a ladder. Take a look at the dollar-minded Wall Streeter on the first trading session of a new year, and watch him take profits of a few cents a share on his first turn-over when ordinarily he would turn up his nose at anything less than two or three full points. Not that he is superstitious but he does like to have his first transaction of the year a profitable one.

The origin of the various superstitious beliefs has little bearing upon their existence among modern, educated people. The fact that they do exist in spite of good judgment proves that their beginning was inevitable. If all of them could be wiped from the minds of the people the chances are that new ones soon would be formed to take their place. Someone might notice that more good things happened to him on Monday than any other day, another might slip and break a leg immediately after stepping on a spider. In spite of sound reasoning such things would eventually lead to the building up of superstitious beliefs, and in a short time each human mind would be filled to its particular capacity.

Nevertheless, it is interesting to trace a fallacious belief back and see what caused it. The evil power attributed to the number 13 probably dates back to the time of Christ. At the Last Supper there were 13 at the table and the first one to arise and leave was Judas, the betrayer.

In the beginning it is quite possible that spilling salt caused one's life to actually be endangered. The superstition is believed to have originated in the East, and because of the peculiar customs in that section of the world in early the days spilling a necessary food such as salt could easily be construed as an intentional insult to the host, and the unfortunate spiller might pay for his clumsiness with his life. Most of them have simpler and more meaningless origins, and others were born because of the inability of the early people to give logical explanations for certain natural phenomena. But regardless of their origin they are all passed on to us in exactly the same form—superstitions. Regardless of color or sex we all have them, and while they may vary inversely as to the degree of education, the point has never been reached where they are completely wiped out. Who is there to declare that he or she is not superstitious?—Pathfinder Magazine.

Disastrous Sandstorm and Rain in Rochester Section

Last week this section was visited by a very destructive and disagreeable sandstorm and wind. Thursday it blew from the south and on Friday turned back from the north. A good many farmers had some land to blow, covering up a good deal of cotton and some maize, ranging in amounts from five to 100 acres. Then Sunday afternoon following the disastrous sand storm a heavy rain came, washing the land in places very much. The downpour ranged from 3 to 7 inches in this immediate section. At Rochester the precipitation was 4.10, and further east and northeast it ranged from 3 to 7 inches, destroying some of the oats that had been shocked away. Altogether the sandstorm and rain was rather hurtful to many fields.—Rochester Reporter.

It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Little Known Facts About Banking

An Interesting Fact to be Remembered

It is not generally known that the banks outside the larger cities of the country have granted, all through the depression, far more loans, proportionately, than the banks from which "loan statistics" are usually gathered.

In fact, had it not been for the splendid cooperation of the independent, home-owned, home-managed banks in the smaller cities and communities, local enterprise would have suffered more than it did.

The so-called "country banker" by his knowledge of local conditions, his intimate acquaintance with his customers and his willingness to "go along" with worthy borrowers, helped far more than is generally known to cushion the heaviest blow ever felt by the American people.
