FIFTIETH YEAR

RESIDENT TELLS OF PRINCIPLES OF HUGE WORK-RELIEF FUND

President Chat Reveals Half Dozen Precepts to be Followed on Four Billion Much for Wages

WASHINGTON—Definitely link the $4,000,000,000 (billions) work drive with his social security program, President Roosevelt outlined the country Sunday night six fundamental principles for allocating the huge jobless fund.

These principles, the chief executive said in a radio address, were projects should be useful.

A large proportion of the money should go into wages.

A considerable part of the cost should be returned to the Federal Government.

The money actually should be spent during the next fiscal year.

Projects should give employment to persons on relief and should be located in relief areas in relation to the number of workers on relief.

Simultaneously, the President outlined his legislative program for the next session of Congress. It included extension of NRA, elimination of unnecessary utility holding companies, enactment of a new anti-trust bill and passage of the anti-panic security program.

Outlining work relief objectives, the President said his responsibility was to carry out the plan in all parts of the country.

No sectional, no political distinction can be permitted," he said.

But, however recognized that an enterprise of this character extended over more than 3,000 miles throughout the Nation.

There may be occasional instances of inefficiency, bad management or waste of funds.

When cases of this kind occur, they will be those, of course, who try to tell you that the exception is characteristic of the endeavor.

It should be remembered that in the big job there are some important. There are chiselers in every walk of life, there are those in industry who are guilty of unpracticalities, every profession has its black sheep, but long experience has taught me that exceptional instances of wrong-doing in Government are probably numerous than in almost every other line of endeavor.

The most effective means of preventing such evils in this work program will be the eternal vigilance of the American people themselves. I call on my fellow-citizens everywhere to co-operate with me in making this the most efficient and the clearest example of public service the world has ever seen."

Local Ford Dealer Wins 'Square-Deal'

Cooperation with all Ford dealers in the Dallas Branch territory, the Haskell Motor Company, Authorized Ford Dealer, has been engaged in improving its service for completely reconditioning, advertising and selling used cars.

The "Square Deal" Used Car Plan of all Authorized Ford Dealers in this territory.

The idea of the "Square Deal" program identifying Authorized Dealers used car activities in many years of reputable dealing in new and used cars.

The mechanical system of every Deal Ford Dealer Used Car analyzed by the Ford Laboratory Set, the mechanical steering which is positively uncanny in elimination of guess work in mechanical diagnosis.

Reconditioning should be done which is necessary for the car in A-1 condition.

As to price asked and the unusual mileage of the car in transportation value.

Advertising in newspapers and other mediums will be used to publicize the general public the fact that the Authorized Dealer is the first place to go when seeking a used car, inasmuch as improvement in riding is such as the new spring on the new Ford V-8 cars.

They have provided low priced riding ease that is comparable with that formerly available in large and expensive automobiles.

This fact, coupled with the fact that the average motorist is kept closer watch on costs than formerly, has resulted in the trading-in of many used makes and sizes that are in good condition.

Haskell Motor Company in everyone to inspect the values in unusual used cars and insurance of a Square Deal in condition, and terms.

OFFICERS RAID FARM FOR LIQUOR

John (Cotton) Zahn Arrested Friday; Charged With Liquor Possession

A quantity of bottled-in-bond whiskey and a considerable amount of corn liquor was seized by Haskell county officers Friday on the premises of John (Cotton) Zahn, farmer, living 10 miles north of Haskell. Zahn was arrested following the raid and brought here, where bond was set at $1,000 by County Judge Chas. M. Conner, after charges of possession were filed.

Mrs. Edna Zahn, wife, was charged with assault against an officer and was placed under $250 bond.

According to Sheriff Giles Kemp, the raid on Zahn's place netted 23 pints of bottled in bond, two half-gallons of corn whiskey in fruit jars, 10 gallons of corn whiskey in a 30-gallon barrel and two empty 15-gallon kegs.

Trouble arose when Kemp separated his force of deputies, Chief Deputy Mart Clifton and Deputy Deputy McGreggor left with Zahn and his wife. According to the officers' version, Zahn intimidated that he was going to his house. Clifton remonstrated, and a scuffle took place. McGreggor pitched into the fray and was promptly struck on the head by Mrs. Zahn with a billy club which she had taken from Clifton's pocket. McGreggor's scalp was split open, and an artery opened, which necessitated five stitches.

Officers participating in the raid besides Kemp, Clifton, and McGreggor were Deputy Ollie Kittley, Rule; Al Cousins, chief of police of Haskell; and Jim McCoy, chief of police, Rule.

FIRST ONIONLESS ONION FIESTA HELD

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas.—Wilacy county's seventh annual Onion Fiesta was held here in mid-April, but for the first time it was without the usual use of onions for decorations.

Reason: The onions were too valuable.

With farmers and dealers getting such a high price for their crops, it was decided to buy bunting and other cheaper decorations and to sell all possible onions while the market demand was good.

It was estimated that 350 carloads of onions shipped from the county brought $350,000.

The perfect fool is unaware of his proficiency.

Munday Ekes Out Win Over Haskell

Mixing three hits, coupled with a misjudged outfield ground ball, the Munday Moguls scored three runs in the fourth inning here Sunday afternoon and defeated the Haskell Braves 2 to 1.

The promised pitching duel between Archie Pittman, formerly of Haskell, and Lefty Hambricht, formerly of Munday, matured with a vengeance. Both hurlers bore down and the question of which one was the superior is a debated proposition. Both men allowed four hits Sunday, issued two bases on balls, but Hambricht shaded the now Munday pitcher in strikeouts, getting nine to Pittman's six.

Three of the blows off Hambricht were made in the fatal (for Haskell) fourth inning, when Munday chalked up its runs. Couch, first up for Munday, drove a hit into right for a single, which Cook misjudged after it had hit the ground, the runner advancing to third. Rayburn hit another to rightfield, scoring Couch. Robertson sacrificed, Cox to Adkins. McGlothlin then spilled the beans by driving a line drive to left field, scoring Rayburn, as Patterson's return was short.

Haskell came back in the last half of the fourth for its lone marker. Cox opened by walking. Chapman drove a hot one into right sending Cox to second, and when he attempted to reach third, King threw the ball from rightfield into the waiting hands of the third-baseman.

Has Served in Capacity for Five Years—Will Attend Annual Meet Plainview

Courtney Hunt is the unanimous choice of the local Lion's Club as director from Haskell in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the coming year. Mr. Hunt has served in this capacity for the past five years and the fact that he has been re-nominated without opposition speaks well for the work he has done as a representative from Haskell on the regional board.

Mr. Hunt has been a faithful worker and very few meetings of the directors have been held during the past five years, which he did not attend.

He is making plans to attend the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Plainview and is urging a representative group of business men to also make the trip.

FOREIGN COTTON NO MENACE TO U. S.

Bureau of Agricultural Economics Claims Such Views of No Foundation

WASHINGTON.—That foreign cotton production is not a menace to the United States is outlined in a production report prepared by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. One of the prevailing complaints about the domestic policy has been that foreign producing countries will take the market heretofore held by the United States.

For the current season, exclusive of China, foreign production is estimated at 8,842,000 bales, a slight reduction from last year. The area of foreign cotton, exclusive of Russia and China, says the bureau, is less than 34,000,000 acres, while the estimated foreign acreage, other than Russia and China, is about 5 per cent larger than the ten years for the period ending 1932-33.

The preliminary report on foreign cotton production prepared by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics is part of a comprehensive study of the world situation, intended to show the competition of foreign cotton with American production; factors affecting demand and production in the United States, and the effect of the adjustment program on cotton production and income to cotton growers.

Cotton acreage in foreign countries, as in the United States, tends to increase and decrease annually with material changes in actual cotton prices within these countries or with significant changes in cotton prices relative to prices of alternative products, it is stated.

"If American cotton prices during the current season had averaged about 10c per pound with the ratio of foreign to domestic cotton prices and the prices of other commodities as they have been," according to the report, "cotton acreage in foreign countries in 1935 would probably be but little if any greater than in 1934."

"If American cotton had been around 15c, on the other hand, and with other conditions as specified," the report continues, "foreign acreage, excluding Russia, in 1935-36, might have increased about 10 per cent over the estimated acreage for the current season."

Sentiment of Voters To Be Ascertained Regarding $150,000 PWA Project

WTU Presents Data

Asserting that two electric plants in Haskell would prove unprofitable, P. W. Schroeder, vice-president of the West Texas Utilities Company, cited utility figures to the Haskell city council members and Mayor A. P. Thurman Monday morning in a special called meeting which showed only a profit of about $3,000 in this city during the course of last year.

Schroeder's appearance before the council was at his own request so that the utility's side of the light plant question could be shown in answer to a proposed local move to spend $750 for a survey in an attempt to get a government PWA grant of $150,000.

W. G. Owsley, district superintendent, Stamford; Judge L. D. Ratliff, attorney for the West Texas Utilities in Haskell; and H. C. King, local manager, were also present and made brief remarks concerning the light plant proposition.

Judge Ratliff presented a petition to the mayor and council which requested that an election be held so that property owners and qualified voters could express whether $750 should, or should not, be spent for a survey. Over 80 names were signed to the petition.

Figures presented by Schroeder to the council were on an allocation basis, he said, because of the fact that Haskell's station, like others under the utility company's control, were handled as one unit through the Abilene office, but that they were substantially correct and would be sworn to.

Gross revenue for the company was listed at $37,072.26 and disbursements at $34,075.41, with the expenditures listed as follows: Buildings, $15,000.00; machinery, $12,316.00; equipment, $54,402.00; maintenance, $1,742.79; labor, $4,568.73; depreciation, $3,965.74; insurance, $2,194.04; taxes, $2,997.69; fuel and power, $17,079.29; miscellaneous, $3,802.13.

Schroeder also claimed that light and power rates had been reduced materially since the West Texas Utility Company began operating in Haskell, and rates would be further reduced just as soon as it was possible to do so.

Mayor Thurman, in reply to rumors that the council was being "misled" into thinking that a Santa Claus existed, said that he nor none of the council members were in favor of building a municipal light plant if it meant that other bonds had to be issued or other sources of revenue tapped, and that due deliberation was being given light plant situations in other cities.

"The council members are of one mind so far as levying other taxes to pay for any plant," Thurman

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me." If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician.

Half Moon Demonstration Club News

We must prepare ourselves to look well in our clothes, by keeping our hair well shampooed and brushed every day to make it look lively and clean. And we should use a good cold cream or astringent for our face, as the winter and spring months are hard on complexion," said Mrs. Peggy Taylor, Home Demonstration Agent, giving a demonstration on "Style Trends of 1935" to a group of Half Moon Home Demonstration Club ladies Thursday, April 25 in the home of Mrs. Ed Daniels.

The raglan sleeve is a good style, either short or long sleeve is being used. Be sure sleeve is long enough, and adjust short sleeve to fit type of person wearing. The raglan sleeve is not good for a round shouldered person. Be sure we notice new length of sleeve just below elbow finished by cuff.

Seersucker, pique, and ruff corded materials, either in cotton or better material, are being used more this season. We should make our clothes plain, using trimmings of self material, buttons or a bow.

The shirt-waist dress is a good style, is plain and straight, will fit most any type of person.

Those present were Mrs. M. O. Field, Will Pope, W. W. Weatherly, Marshall Davis, Walter Viney, Earl Daniels, Tom Goodwin, Misses Peggy Taylor, Bill Edwards, Verdell Mullins, Bonnie Britte, and one visitor, Mrs. Ruth Draper of Sayles.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. M. O. Fields May 9th.

RECIPES AND MENUS

By Department of Home Economics, Texas State College for Women (SCW)

DENTON, Texas

The separate preparation of each part of the menu three times a day is too time-consuming for the homemaker. The main hot dishes require special attention every time. It is possible to prepare hot dishes in sufficient quantity to hold some over for another meal, but warmed over leftovers must be used very skillfully in order not to come into disrepute. The preparation of desserts can probably be simplified with less sacrifice of quality. Cold desserts do not become less desirable from being held over if carefully covered and kept at a low temperature. The various types of custard, tapioca, and gelatin desserts lose nothing by being prepared in sufficient quantity to serve from twice, especially if they appear in different menus or with different sauces or accompaniments.

Josselot Home Demonstration Club News

"Floors should be strong, smooth, tight, and level, comfortable to stand and walk on. Cold and damp floors cause disease, and loose boards may cause accidents," said Mrs. S. G. Perrin, program chairman in her talk on "Farm Property Improvement" to members and visitors of the Josselot Home Demonstration Club when they met in the home of Mrs. Louise Merchant on Tuesday, April 23rd.

"Every bedroom should be provided with at least one clothes closet. A convenient size is 2 1/2 by 6 feet built the entire height of the room," Mrs. Perrin stated in her talk.

"Porches are connecting links between the yard and the house. They should always be in good repair and should offer comfortable seats," she explained.

Mrs. E. B. Calloway, Recreational Chairman, directed a short recreation program, assisted by Mrs. Jesse Josselot.

On May 14th the Club meets with Mrs. Paul Josselot in an all day meeting. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. A Mother's Day program will be rendered in the afternoon.

Mrs. W. C. Norton, Club Chairman, urges every club member to be present and bring their mothers.

WE SAID "YES" TO BORROWERS

That is our loan record during the past year. It is our best answer to anyone who says bankers do not want to lend.

If you have an income, and a good reputation for meeting your obligations, do not hesitate to apply for a loan.

We prefer to say "yes" to borrowers. We need good borrowers who can use the idle money of this bank safely, pay us interest for its use, and pay back the principal at the promised time. Our earnings depend upon borrowers of this type.

We say "no" only when consideration of safe banking makes it absolutely necessary.

NEW HONOR FOR E. E. S.

Our student body, individually and collectively, views with much pride the white ribbon stamped in gold that is being displayed on our bulletin board this week. This ribbon was won by Frankie Dorris Bledsoe in the State Homemaker's Rally at Corpus Christi. It signifies that she placed third in a contest in which the school dress she wore was judged for its attractiveness and suitability. We think it is "something" to be a place in a state contest, and to feel proud, as a school, of having students that are capable of winning high honors such as this. We want you to notice, too, that most all the schools in Texas were represented, including the very large and most important ones.

beer bottles, the girls felt quite safe. It was something like the old Mississippi steamboats except it didn't have a wheel. Many interesting facts were gathered about Home Economics. While attending the Home Economics club meeting we learned that other clubs were getting out and hustling for money with which to send their representatives. Although we have not done this we expect to next year. Saturday morning there was a parade in which all entrants participated. The school girl's costumes division led the parade. We went to the Ritz Theatre where prizes and awards were given. This closed the Rally. We were very fortunate in securing rooms in the Nueces Hotel, which was the headquarters of the Rally. We enjoyed the trip very much and hope to do much better in the contests next year.

HOME ECONOMICS GIRLS RETURN FROM RALLY

It is nice to get to go somewhere, much nicer to get home. At last that's how the Home Economics girls felt when they returned from Corpus Christi. As it was the first time most of them had been to the coast, it was rather an exciting adventure. Motor-rides, banquets, swimming parties, club meetings, and looking for places to go just about took all of their time. On going four miles out in the bay only one girl out of about twenty got sea-sick. The boat we were on was called the Japonica. Although it had been to the bottom of the Mississippi River, sunk by marked by clever cards picturing graduates in cap and gown—skillfully sketched in ink by Edwin Parsons. The president of the Junior class, Jack Kimbrough, welcomed the Seniors as their guests, and the president of the Senior class, Carl Maples, expressed the gratitude of the Seniors. After a delicious two-course dinner, a very entertaining program was rendered: Piano Solo—Anna Belle Stanton. Readings—Helen Ballard. Senior Class Will — Mary Ben Chapman. Vocal Solos—Louise Warren. Vocal Solos—Carl Maples. Reading—Ruth Josselet. Short Play—S. A. Moser, Geraldine Norris. The Juniors and Seniors ended the program by singing a number of popular songs while accompanied at the piano by Anna Belle, the concluding song being "Haskell High."

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

One of the most outstanding events of the year in the lives of the Juniors and Seniors occurred last Friday night, April 27. On this occasion the Juniors entertained the Seniors with a banquet — a sure-enough Junior-Senior banquet like those of pre-depression days. Assembling early at the home of Kathryn Kinney and going in a body from there to the Methodist Church annex, almost a hundred junior and senior students filed into the "banquet hall" and found their places at the long banquet table. Vases of lovely roses decorated the table at intervals, and places were

SENIORS ATTEND "SENIOR MEET"

Saturday was a delightful and interesting day for the Seniors of Haskell High School, as well as for the Seniors of sixty-four other West Texas high schools. We left Haskell about eight o'clock on our way to Hardin-Simmons University where we arrived in time for the morning program which took place on Parramore field. This, of course, was a very interesting and entertaining program. After the closing speech of the morning, made by the President of H-S U., we were told to go to the cafeteria where we would be served lunch in the shade of the large trees. This announcement didn't have to be made a second time either. In the afternoon the Fine Arts building and the Science Laboratory were open to all seniors for inspection. After coming in contact with the students of the university and listening to them make explanation of the things we knew very little about, we felt almost as if we were a part of that great institution. We, as Seniors of Haskell High School, are indeed grateful to the faculty and students of H-S. U., and to the Baptist Missionary Societies of Abilene and Haskell for giving us one of the most enjoyable days of our life, and a day we will never forget.

HERE AND THERE

We are proud to say that the seniors arrived home safely with only one injured member who suffered a sprained ankle and a "runner" in her best hose. (Maydell says that was "one hit and one run.") We notice that there are still two out-of-town girls that keep two Haskell boys pining, with love in their eyes. It really isn't very far to Munday or Stamford either—is it "Sleepy" and Howard? Billy W. said in Geometry the other day that a polygon was a parrot gone. When Mr. Wimbish asked Covell to name three articles containing starch, he promptly replied: "A shirt and two collars." Mary Ben just couldn't understand why she couldn't telegraph her umbrella home from Abilene when you can send flowers and money by wire any time. "The Sherman Act," explains Rose, was "Marching Through Georgia."

We wonder whose Senior ring a certain freshman boy (Jerry C. to be exact) is wearing? We think the parody "My Poor Sunburnt Nose" will apply to nearly every senior after their sunny trip to Abilene. I can see no sense in writing nothing new, and besides it's time for the bell; so that's that.

ARTICLES FROM THE SENIORS' WILLS (As read to the Juniors by Mary Ben Chapman on the night of the banquet.) Lyndell Anderson wills the time he doesn't talk, to Tom Clifton. Covell Adkins wills his red shirt to Sara Lee Walling and throws in the black and white one to calm the flash. Crockett English wills his regular attendance to Corene Laird; we hope she can manage to get here the day he doesn't. Woody Dishongh wills what's left of his Senior dignity to Eugene, who, we thought, Rose to the position. Louise McAnulty wills her May West swing to Artie Pippen whom we hope it will help later on in his business life. Beatrice Wheeler and Odell Williamson will all they've accomplished as a Senior to Norma Ankerson. Poor Norma! Ava Grindstaff wills her "nearly" trip to Washington, D. C., to Annabelle Stanton. Fare the well, Annabelle! Lois Davis wills her intelligence to Ruth Welsh — but remember, Ruth, where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise. Gordon Hallmark wills his sailor-ish wasp to George W. Fouts. Lee Stodghill wills his tall, light and handsomeness to Harvey Simmons. John E. Fouts, Jr. and Fred T. Sanders, Jr. will their baby-blue eyes, dimples, bow ties and skirts to Jack Kimbrough and S. A. Moser who will probably find very much use for them if we keep on having hard times during this depression. I (Mary Ben) will my curls to any Junior who happens to have a pair of scissors handy.

'ROUND RADIO RAVINE

You are listening to station H. S., broadcasting on the Science frequency of 800 kilocycles by authority of Mr. Richey. We bring you the morning weather report—"It's getting Fair and Warmer." Hi, Ho! everybody, this is Rudy Vallee greeting you from the N. B. C. studios in Hollywood. Our first selection is a medley of two numbers. A letter from H. J. Hambleton requesting that we sing "But Who'll Take Care of the Caretaker's Daughter" dedicating it to Katherine Kinney. The second is a request from Anna Lou Kelly, Rule, Texas. She would like "When the Cows Come Home" for a Mr. English. Well as I live and try to keep everyone in the hall from stepping on my favorite toe during the four minute intermission, if it isn't Crockett himself; he just phoned in a request that we dedicate that ever-popular song, "Contented" to his cows. Greetings and salutations to all youse guys and gals who have just stopped at the fountain before going to Mathematic class. I see you are observing the old Maestro's slogan—Drink before you think. Now, boys and girls, this is the contest you've all been waiting for. All you have to do is to solve this simple problem. Now listen carefully: Do more Haskell boys go to Rule, or Rule boys come to Haskell, or Haskell boys go to Stamford, or Stamford girls come to Haskell, or Haskell girls come and go to Rule? Boys and girls, we have thousands of problems just like this in the world, and if you would like a free trial-size sample of some of them, simply strip off the side of a barn painted dull red, print your name, address and size shoe in the top left hand corner and send it to us in care of this station, together with a trolley car and a life-size photo of your grandmother. You will receive your problem immediately. Please enclose $15.00 in stamps or money order to cover cost of mailing.

We bring you the daily market report: Little Red Rocking Chairs raining all the way from three for a nickel to two for a dime.

WHOOPS

The modern girl adores spinning wheels, but she wants four of them with a spare on the rear. Wonder if Clovis N. and Woody D. still like to fix flats. Well, regardless of the flats they seemed to enjoy the day. Dorothy Sego says that she does not know how things will turn out only maybe love will find its way. The human brain is a wonderful organ; it starts working as soon as we wake up in the morning and doesn't stop until we get to school. When Mr. Richey runs out of anything to write he says he usually uses etc. Crockett English remarks: "It certainly is to bad, isn't it, that this depression had to come just when times are so hard." Hugh Shelley looked like some big lawyer from the Big City in Abilene Saturday, with that cigar over in one corner of his mouth. From the looks of Blondie's car Saturday afternoon about two o'clock, she tried to buy out Woolworth's—with Alberta's help. The baboon in the zoo seemed to attract the attention of many people. Mary Ben says our hall motto should be "The Students Be Jammed." We think so, too.

HERE'S A HOT SCHEME

From Denver, Colorado, comes the latest scheme to take small bits of change from those susceptible to get rich quick schemes.

A man gets a letter, asking him to send a dime to an address at the top of a list, to scratch off the name he remits to and then add his name to the bottom of the list, sending the newly made up appeal to five friends.

Postal authorities say that so many of the letters appeared that postal receipts soared $20,000 in twelve days and moved upward toward the Christmas peak rush.

The idea was that when an individual's name got to the top of the list 15,625 persons would mail in dimes, giving a return of $1,650 in return for an investment of one dime, plus five stamps. This looks like what the big boys, in the old days, would call a "fair" return!

Of course, there are saps that take up such chain letters and some probably get some money back, but where the cash will come from to pay the last group that jumps into the speculation is what breaks down the idea.

COMMUNITY PATRIOTISM

To the breechy horse or steer the grass in the next field always looks greener, and some people are a good deal the same way—always willing to drive over to some nearby town to do their shopping when they could buy the same articles just as cheaply at home and save a lot of gasoline and time in so doing. But with them it does not sound so impressive to admit that they bought the new coat, dress, or what have you, in a Haskell store.

The person who buys the things he needs away from home may be gratifying his vanity, but he's committing economic suicide without knowing it. Every dollar you spend out of town is a dollar gone to help make some other town a better town, and to help pay some other man's taxes, not yours. On the other hand, the dollar spent with the home town merchant stays in the community, passing through innumerable hands and multiplying its value in business thousands of times. Most people who patronize outside merchants do so without any thought that they may be injuring themselves indirectly, but it's a difficult task to convince them of the error of their ways. It would not be difficult to make them see what would happen if everyone did as they do, but since they are only one of many and do not think that what they buy out of town will matter much. But when all those out of town purchases are tallied up they foot up a sizeable sum that would make a noticeable difference in trade at home.

We wouldn't allow anyone to question our loyalty to our country for we're proud of our patriotism. But we owe just as much loyalty to the community in which we live and we ought to be willing to prove our loyalty by patronizing those who live among us and help support our schools and local government. Let's remember that community patriotism is just as important as any other kind, for no community is going to be any better than the people who live in it.

WRONG POINT OF VIEW

Charles M. Schwab still thinks he was right when he remarked, early in the depression, that there are no rich men left in America. "I only want to point out," he said the other day in New York, "that I was practically right. There are no rich men left in the old sense of the word, but we have made up for that in happiness. We may have lost great sums of money and profits, but we now retain the sentimental fellowships of old times." All this probably sounds excellent, if you who read it are in the upper income tax brackets. But if, like the vast majority of your countrymen, you are not, it sounds just about as hollow as the original remark. There are a great many rich men left in this country, and the sharpest criticism that is made of our recovery program is that it is benefitting them more than it is benefitting the little fellows. Mr. Schwab is an immensely able industrialist, but as a commentator on the distribution of wealth he is something less than inspired.

AUTOMOBILES, INSTRUMENTS OF DEATH!

The increased number of automobiles brings about an increasing number of fatalities every year. The Free Press has several times called attention to the enormous toll taken by the craze for speed. The death and accident lists of the nation, if compiled in a daily communique, would read like the casualties of a battle.

The price that is paid escapes general attention, but the sorrow comes to those whose loved ones are injured. The citizens of Haskell, like those elsewhere, have accepted this enormous loss with little regard to the fact that it could be greatly reduced by proper preventive methods. The same casualties, if caused by an unknown, dread disease, would call forth weeping and wailing all over the nation.

Correct this sentence: "Gentlemen, I appreciate your asking me for advice but, to tell you the truth, I don't know any more than you do."

It is positively interesting, sometimes, to listen to a high-pressure salesman telling another man how he ought to spend his money.

If you don't think there's pleasure and satisfaction in helping others, try it yourself.

-CURRENT COMMENT-

SAVE THE CAPITOL

Sentimental reasons alone are sufficient to justify the protest of a group of eminent architects against drastic alterations in the front of the National Capitol.

The oldest and most historic portion of the building which, for many years, has been the scene of Presidential inaugurations.

An "innocent-looking resolution" already passed by the Senate, authorizes an appropriation of $3,500,000 for enlargement and alteration of the Capitol.

This, say the architects, would completely alter the appearance of the front of the building—in the designing of which both Washington and Jefferson had a hand—while the historic Capitol steps would be moved well out into the park facing the Congressional Library.

Another objection cited by the architects is that the plan would alter the historic portions of the building, now covered by sandstone, which constitute the rebuilding of those portions burned by the British in 1812.

Apparently the only reason for these changes is "to center the dome"—a reason which does not weigh with the architects, and which will weigh even less with the public.

We believe the American people, when they become fully aware of what is going on, will deluge the House of Representatives with demands to reject the resolution.

Perhaps nothing is sacred to "efficiency experts." But the Capitol is sacred to the American people.

At least to the extent of preserving its existing structure. Additions are one thing, alterations another. To change the famous front of that famous building for the sake of efficiency would be on a par with applying efficiency to the front of the Taj Mahal.

Planning, Plus Work, Brings Fine Results In Garden

An amount of planning and considerable amount of work, has enabled the family of Mrs. J. L. Thane, cooperator of the Howard home demonstration club, to enjoy an amazing variety of early fresh vegetables, and further their own ideas of a "live-at-home" program.

Fresh English peas, onions, lettuce, spinach, mustard and radishes are a few of the fresh vegetables which have been taken from Mrs. Thane's well-planned garden. Other vegetables have been planted, and will mature later.

Mrs. Thane's garden has been irrigated from a storage tank, and the water is pumped to the receptacle by a windmill. A strongly constructed fence surrounds the garden. The beautiful, as well as the material, has been utilized by Mrs. Thane at her farm home. Strawberry roses and gay bright flowers have been planted in her yard.

and every member is against it, but if the government would approve the PWA grant, only revenue on a percentage from the plant would be taken to retire the bonds. We believe light and power rates are too high and for the best interests of the entire community, and for just a few, we want to do the right thing. We're not trying to do as we please, but to do what's right.

However, it will be impossible to secure the PWA grant unless a survey of the city is made, the map contained, because facts and figures not mere theories would have to be presented to the government showing that a municipal plant would pay. If the government refused to O. K. the grant, we would naturally have spent $750 for the survey, but by failing an everyone individually it would not be a burdensome amount, and if the grant

President Roosevelt Sends Word To Boy Scouts of Chisholm Trail

President Franklin Roosevelt sends the following message to all Boy Scouts of the Chisholm Trail Council and of America:

It is appropriate that we are planning for the celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, which will culminate in a great National Jamboree here in the Nation's Capitol. I hope that it will be possible to have every nook and cranny every section of our Nation represented.

Every Scout in your city has the privilege of recommending and sending two Scouts whose qualifications must be as follows:

1. Must be a First Class Scout on or before July 1, 1935.
2. Must have had at least one year's service by July 1, 1935.
3. Must have had ten days camping experience.
4. Must attend preliminary Jamboree training Camp at Camp Tonkawa.

The cost, including all expenses will be approximately $100.00 per Scout, including the $25.00 National Jamboree expense.

The objectives of this, the first National Jamboree ever attempted in America, are: To promote a new sense of National Brotherhood and stimulate friendship among Scouts and Scouters, who from all over the country, will camp together and have a chance to know each other better. To provide an educational opportunity for Scouts to see the historic shrines of the Nation's Capitol. To stimulate our program of citizenship training by visits during the Jamboree to the National Government offices. To give Scouts an opportunity to observe the methods and program of Scouts of other sections of this country and many foreign countries. To see and hear the President of the United States who will take part in the program.

Stonewall County Scene of Many Historic Spots—On McKenzie Trail

ASPERMONT, Texas—While no battles of the Texas Revolution, the Centennial of which comes in 1936, were fought in this section of the State, Stonewall county can boast of its historic spots and history recites that at least once United States troops deployed for battle within its confines, convinced that they would be obliged to fight for their lives.

The old McKenzie Trail, in the early days, it is recalled, ran from old Fort Griffin, in Shackelford county, to Soldiers' Mound in Dickens county, and crossed Stonewall. This trail was used by United States troops engaged in frontier protection.

In this connection an amusing incident is related by old-timers who tell of how years ago there were but few mesquite trees in this part of the State, but vast beds of sunflowers grew and flourished. Late one afternoon, according to the tale, soldiers coming from the East and taking the setting sun, mistook these flowers for herds of Indians. At once, preparations for battle were made by the troops, only to find that no tribesmen were in the vicinity. The attack had been planned against a nodding field of sunflowers.

Stonewall county, created in 1875 from old Fannin county, was not organized until 1888, and named for Gen. T. J. Stonewall Jackson of the Confederate Army. Settlers began arriving in the county in 1879 and in larger numbers in the early 80's, when the Texas & Pacific Railroad was extended from Fort Worth into the West.

The first settlement was the Hodge Colony, which located on public land, known as Block "F". One year after the county was organized, an election, polling 17 votes, was held on the old Horsehoe Ranch. Mrs. T. R. Duke taught the first public school in 1886 and 1887. Stonewall county then was attached for judicial purposes to Jones county, which made it necessary for Mrs. Duke to go to that county to receive her pay. M. P. Carr, who aided in surveying the county and fixing the boundary lines, later homesteading in 1899, still resides in this section.

The present town of Aspermont, which name means "rough hills", was founded by A. L. Rhombert, wealthy Swedish ranchman and capitalist, and was moved from Rayner in 1899.

On the west side of the country there stands like a sentinel, Double Mountain, unique in a way, because no real mountain range traverses this section of Texas. This mountain is several miles in circumference at its base and about 400 feet wide at its apex. Geologists estimate its crest to be on a level with the lands in Floyd county.

Double Mountain was utilized as a guide or landmark by Indians and United States soldiers long before the settlers came. This part of the State, in those early days, was a buffalo range and hunting grounds for Indians who came this way. The last buffaloes were killed in this county in about the year 1877.

material is cool and makes delightful costumes in prints as well as sober darks.

For a stunning spring version, angular flower chiffon print can be trimmed in organdie or pique. Black and navy chiffon is smart when tailored into belted coats and trimmed with perky pique bows and collars. And, to make a chiffon ensemble give a debonaire appearance wear a crisp white hat and white kidskin gloves.

Linen comes into line for smartness when shopping along the boulevard. It just can't be beat for suits, and especially when the new crash linen in natural color is used. Put on a linen suit now, and because you feel so crisp and well-groomed in it, you'll be wearing it all summer. The latest thing is to combine printed linen with hard twist linen in natural tones.

The new chambray material makes ideal sport frocks—it's a new, cool and ultra-smart for spring. Combine this material with wool yarn and a charming creation will be your result.

was approved, a portion of the sum would return to us."

Ed F. Fouts, newly elected council member and former county tax collector, in company with Rufus Banks, city secretary, visited Bowie and Vernon, Texas, recently, at the request of the council, and investigated municipal plant conditions in those cities. Statements relating to profits and losses were secured by Fouts and Banks.

At Bowie, Texas, Banks informed the council a municipal plant was installed in 1918 at a cost of $48,000, mostly a small plant with one large unit and two large ones, but in the course of time the city plant has secured over 75 percent of the business. Last fiscal year the city collected $48,000 and paid out $21,000, leaving $27,000. The Bowie plant, Banks said, doesn't owe a penny, and has paved eight blocks with light money.

A municipal plant was installed at Vernon in 1922 and a light unit which caused rates to be dropped to only $1 for any amount used in residences and $5 for business places, and such rates are still in effect today. "Despite the low rates," Banks claimed he was told, Vernon lifted all street lights, secured 65 percent of the business, is out of debt today and has a plant estimated to be worth $350,000 in thirteen years time.

Complete Costume For $2.20 Is Made By Demonstrator

For only an expenditure of $2.20, a complete costume, consisting of a sport dress, gloves, tam and purse has been completed by Mrs. Vera Griffin, first-year wardrobe demonstrator of the Howard home demonstration club.

The sport dress, which is of an Oxford grey color, was made from crocheted material, and two weeks was needed by Mrs. Griffin to finish it, owing to the fact that she continued doing her other household duties.

A slip for the dress, according to Mrs. Griffin, was made from an old one, and dyed a red color to blend with the Oxford grey scheme.
