Larger Volume Business Shown By S. P. C. Assn.

More members and a steadily increasing volume of business was reported for the Stamford Production Credit Association, according to J. L. Hill, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the association, who returned July 16th from a meeting of the directors of a group of West Texas Production Credit Associations held at Sweetwater, July 15th and 16th. Mr. Hill declared that directors from all over this territory report that their associations are making very satisfactory progress. Farmers and stockmen are getting a better understanding of this new system of credit and are coming to like the idea of budgeting their loans. Mr. Hill pointed out that borrowers find that this method enables them to get along on less money and that getting the money as it actually is needed reduces the cost of the loan. He said that borrowers are beginning to realize just how low the cost of a production credit association loan really is.

It was reported at the meeting that the Stamford Production Credit Association had increased its volume of business from $107,813.00 at the end of June, 1935, to $198,126.00 at the end of June, 1936. It also was brought out that the association had net earnings of $4,074.00 for the year 1935, and that the net earnings during the first half of 1936 were $1,923.00. Emphasis was placed on the fact that the association is attempting to build up adequate reserve to take care of any losses which may occur in hard times. Mr. Hill declared that the facts brought out at the meeting showed that stock purchased by members of the association is being protected adequately and that in the long run it will prove to be an excellent investment.

He said that farmers and stockmen in this territory are making more and more inquiries about the association and that many of the most prominent men of this county are becoming members. Among the speakers at the meeting was J. B. Pumphrey, president of the association, and the meeting was conducted by Tully C. Garner and Virgil P. Lee of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston, who told of the progress of production credit associations over Texas and the United States. They also lead the discussion of income and expenses of the associations, presenting figures showing the financial condition of each of the association in this territory. According to Mr. Hill a great deal of emphasis was placed upon the importance of making loans upon a sound basis. A number of cases in which unsound loans had been made were studied and it was shown that such loans are detrimental both to the borrower and the association.

In addition to those mentioned the Stamford Production Credit Association was represented by J. B. Morrison, W. C. Church, and J. F. McCulloch, directors. Other associations represented at the Sweetwater meeting were

SARAH ANN'S COOKING CLASS

Spearmint and peppermint grow in practically every country of the world. In history mint is mentioned as early as 33 A. D. and is still making history by appearing in the recipes of smart hostesses. It has a distinct appeal to the appetite, and appears in the form of leaves, essence and oil.

Mint Sauce
1 tablespoon powdered sugar
1-4 cup fresh or dried mint leaves.

Heat sugar and vinegar to the boiling point, then pour over chopped mint leaves. Serve with lamb.

Dinner Punch
Pour 1 cup of strong green tea over 1 tablespoon finely chopped mint. Add 1-4 cup lemon juice, 1-2 cup orange juice, 1-2 cup sugar syrup, a few grains of salt and the rind from 1 cucumber. Cut in strips. Let stand until cool. Strain and chill. Just before serving pour into a lemonade jug half full of ice. Add 1 pint each of loganberry juice, gingerale and carbonated water. Garnish with thin slices of orange and lemon and sprig of mint.

Peppermint Ice Cream
1 pint heavy cream.
1-2 cup milk.
1-2 teaspoon mint extract.
1-2 lb. peppermint candy, crushed.

Dissolve the peppermint candy in the milk and add the flavoring. Whip the cream, add to the peppermint mixture. Freeze. Garnish with broken peppermint candy.

Fruit Cocktail
2 cups crushed pineapple.
1 grapefruit pulp and juice.
1-2 tablespoons lemon juice.
20 after-dinner mints.
Red cherries.
Mint leaves.

Mix fruit and crushed mints together and let stand until mints are dissolved. Chill. Garnish with mint leaves and cherries.

Chocolate Mint Shake
1-3 cup mint syrup.
3 1-2 cups milk.
1 small can chocolate syrup.

Place ingredients in a bowl and beat vigorously. Dip sprigs of mint in powdered sugar to produce a frosted effect and serve one on the side of each glass.

Cream Mint Pudding Sauce
1-2 lb. White mint drops.
2 cups boiling water.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
3 tablespoons cornstarch.
1 cup cream.
Green vegetable coloring.

Cook candy in water until dissolved. Stir cornstarch with water to make a thin paste. Add to candy mixture, stirring constantly until thick and clear. Add lemon juice and green coloring. Chill. Whip cream and fold into mixture just before serving. Serve on chocolate bavarian cream or a steamed pudding.

Gasoline Mileage Easily Shown In V-8 Ford "Scottie"

To establish beyond doubt that it is unnecessary for car owners to sacrifice such desirable qualities as power, smoothness and pickup in order to obtain satisfactory gas mileage, standard Ford V-8's called "Scottie" cars are now being demonstrated on a national scale, according to J. D. Montgomery, local manager of the Haskell Motor Co., Ford dealers. The only addition to the regular equipment is a gallon gas jug in the driver's compartment and a Zenith tester. This is connected to the fuel line, and is marked off in fractions, so that passengers may check the speedometer reading with the amount of gasoline being used. The final result shows the actual mileage obtained on a measured gallon—and local observers are reporting results that are extremely satisfactory from the standpoint of gasoline mileage. A demonstration with the new car will be gladly arranged upon request. Mr. Montgomery states.

Undergoes Operation
District Clerk Roy Ratliff has been absent from his office for the past week, as a result of a minor operation undergone last week in the Stamford Hospital.

His many friends will be glad to learn that Roy is rapidly recuperating, and will soon be back in his accustomed place. During his absence, affairs of the office have been capably handled by Miss Alberta Orr, deputy clerk.

Increase in Sale New Cars in State Reported for June

An increase of sales of new automobiles in Texas during June over the preceding month and the like month last year is reported by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research at Austin. Reports from fifteen representative Texas counties show a total of 8,226 sales, an increase of 33 per cent over May and 64 per cent over June, 1935. Aggregate sales in these counties during the first half year were 38,731, an increase of 23 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The percentage increase in sales of the lowest price group during June over the two comparable periods was greater than the percentage increase of all groups combined. For many months past, the lowest price group had been making relatively the poorest showing.

Existence of Texas in 1540 Historians Reveal

Opinion current with many not to mention non-Texas is that the Lone Star is a new land. But as early as 1540 the present city of El Paso was very definitely on an important place of the land of fabled Coronado, the Conquistador from his fruitless search for the Golden Cities...

PROSPERITY, GOD—AND MR. BABSON

"We are standing on the threshold of prosperity for the first time in seven years," says the honorable Roger W. Babson, business priest and student of economic statistics.

Reading on we learn that "the immediate outlook is the brightest in years, barring those sections suffering from crop disaster" and that the nation "from March, 1933, to date, has covered 90 per cent of the distance between the pit of the depression and normal."

In fact, July opened with business activity just 5 per cent under normal, according to the Massachusetts prognosticator, who declares that "every outstanding trade and industrial barometer is forecasting further gains in business this fall."
So much for the prospect of prosperity. Let us call your attention again to what Mr. Babson says about the duration of our good fortune, which "we may enjoy a few years." Why a few years? Because in his words, "prosperity never lasts unless it goes hand in hand with righteousness." Moreover, "permanent prosperity cannot be built on liquor, gambling and a disregard of God."

We have never been able to underwrite Mr. Babson's dope on business but he is planting his feet on solid stuff when he puts them on the rock of righteousness. Big business and little business men, who think of nothing but profits, do more harm to the nation's welfare than all the political theorists that blight the land.

Getting down to brass tacks the lesson for the average man and woman is to realize that an economy built on righteousness has no place in it for individuals who want to acquire fortunes through rackets, schemes and routes that do not give value for the money received. The man or woman, big or little in the eyes of any community, who tries to get money without earning it, is a positive enemy to the betterment of the nation.

CONSOLIDATED RURAL SCHOOLS

It is gratifying to consider the improved schools that are now available to rural pupils all over this country. This is due, largely to consolidated schools, which take the place of several smaller schools.

In the United States today there are more than 15,000 consolidated schools and additional consolidations are proceeding at the rate of three a day for the entire year. The work has far to go, however, when one considers that there are still approximately 160,000 one-teacher schools. This number is decreasing at the rate of 5,000 a year, it is estimated.

We do not decry the one-teacher school. It has performed its task in a splendid manner.

However, thousands of them can be eliminated through consolidated grammar schools, which will give to all students in a given district a better, more efficient school, as far as the physical plant goes. With more teachers, of equal ability, it should also afford better training.

SUCCESS APART FROM POLITICS

Once in a great while a government project manages to rise above the level of partisan attacks simply because of its sheer success. Such appears to be the story of the CCC. At least, public opinion as reflected in a recent nation-wide poll pointed to the CCC as an agency of universal good. Significantly, Republicans and Democrats alike endorsed the work of the Civilian Conservation Corps, and urged that it be continued. The criticisms of labor, the charges of "militarism" and "regimentation" that once battered the New Deal agency, now are pretty well withdrawn. In their place has developed a generally sincere recognition of the CCC, not only for what it has done toward conservation of American resources.

VOTING

Voting for public officials is an individual privilege. A man or a woman should be free to exercise that function according to his or her ideas for the good of the county, state or nation, without any undue and unfair pressure otherwise.

A family can be divided upon political races without any necessity for hard and mean feelings among itself. A business can have members of the firm and employees who differ upon issues or personalities without any disloyalty to the common enterprise.

Freedom in the exercise of the ballot is extremely desirable. Any effort to intimidate a voter from his or her free expression at the polls is undemocratic and hostile to the spirit of our form of government.

Our advice to our readers is that each vote as he or she pleases.

PLAN PARKS NOW

Organized recreation is receiving more attention every year. It is a vital question and in the course of years will be important all over the nation.

Small towns are apt to postpone the purchase of land for parks and playgrounds until too late. The citizens around at the open spaces and say, "We have plenty of room."
In a few decades their children will be wondering how they could have been so foolish.

CURRENT COMMENT

REAL ENTERTAINMENT

Mayor George Sergeant's recent survey in The Journal of the many educational and entertainment attractions of the Texas Centennial Exposition should impress Texas people with the importance of this great world's fair. While the exposition is a revelation to visitors from distant States, it is equally valuable to Texans, to say the least. Strangely, there are still many Dallas people who haven't yet visited the exposition, even though they can well afford to go.

A mere glimpse of the exposition grounds, with its attractive architecture and fantastic lighting, is enough to charm the visitor and make the admission price worth while. Without further payment, however, he can meditate in one of the religious buildings, inform himself of Texas' natural resources, the Texas rangers, the State's vast livestock industry, the history of transportation and the many activities of the Federal Government.
For small sums, he can enjoy the gala entertainment of the midway, with ice skating in July and dancing to exotic music. He can see the impressive Texas Calvalcade, laugh at the antics of puppets or witness Shakespearean plays as Elizabethan courtiers saw them.

One day is not enough to see the whole exposition. A thorough visit requires several days. Even after that, there will be special attractions of temporary duration that will make additional visits worth while.

Six years after the death of Jesus we find his church still in Jerusalem. The great commission to preach to all nations had yet to be carried out. No flaming missionary zeal had yet taken possession of the thousands of those who believed in "the way." Suddenly, all this was altered—our lesson explains the process.

During these early years the new Christian faith "got along" fairly pleasantly with the older Jewish religion. In fact, the apostles and converts were all Jews and continued in their allegiance to the Temple. The new faith was regarded friendly by the people and even numbered some priests in its ranks, but it was strictly a Jewish institution.

Within the early church were two groups of Jews. There were the Hebrews proper, inhabitants of the Messiah. When, in a vision, he testified to the heavenly presence of Jesus, his hearers condemned him.

Stephen became the first Christian martyr; and marked the beginning of a determined persecution of the believers in Jerusalem, which caused them to flee to various parts so that preachers of the new faith were eventually found everywhere. Saul, subsequently Paul, reared, as a strict Pharisee and a rabbi, a member of the Sanhedrin, witnessed Stephen's death and became a most vigorous exterminator of those who confessed the new faith.

Subsequently, on the road to Damascus, on one of his fierce expeditions, he was converted, becoming the most famous Christian missionary.

The efforts of the orthodox Jews just as similar efforts later by Roman emperors, to stamp out the new religious faith by persecution, failed. In fact, the result was just the reverse; these activities accelerated the growth of the new faith. The reasons are not difficult to understand.

In the first place, persecution brought about publicity, which advertised the faith. Secondly, by scattering the converts new centers of propaganda were established. Then, under trial the believers developed in the charge that they had crude ingenuity and resourcefulness. Fourthly, the courage of the faithful was intensified and glorified. Finally, it separated the sincere and honest believer from the time-server and hypocrite.

We should profit by the experience of history, practice tolerance, and avoid seeking to force religion. Schaff in his Church History well summarized: "All sects, schools and parties, whether religious or political, when persecuted, complain of injustice and plead for toleration, but few practice it when in power. The Church after its triumph over paganism forgot this lesson and for many centuries treated all Christian heretics as well as Jews and Gentiles just as the old Romans had treated the Christians, without distinction of creed or sect. Every state church from the times of the Christian emperors of Constantinople to the times of the Russian Czar and the South American republics has more or less persecuted the dissenters in direct violation of the principles and practice of Christ and the apostles.

The disturbance came from the Grecian Jews. First, they murmured because the other Jews were neglecting their widows in the handling of charity, as we studied last week. As a result seven deacons were appointed, apparently all Grecian Jews. The first of these mentioned was Stephen, who, not content to serve, preached with unusual vigor and earnestness, resulting in the utter discomfiture of the orthodox Jews who sought to argue the cause with him.

Stephen was hailed before the Sanhedrin, charged with blasphemy. The adherents of the ancient faith, in the same narrow view which led to the death of Jesus, accused Stephen, and brought him to trial. We are given a rough outline of Stephen's stirring defense. We see him review the history of his race, relate how they always persecuted the prophets and reach his culmination of Palestine, traditionally keeping the exclusiveness of their race. Another group of Jews, however, were referred to as "Grecians," that is, they were Jews who had lived abroad, travelled, and come in contact with the Gentile world. These were cosmopolitan, broader, and readier to mingle with other races.

DEAR FRIENDS AND CITIZENS OF HASKELL COUNTY:

In this, my last appeal to you before Saturday, July 25, I wish to thank each of you for your courtesy and interest that you have manifested in my behalf during my campaign for County Judge.

It has greatly encouraged me to know that so many of you have placed your faith in me, and it makes me feel that the people of Haskell County appreciate the things that I have done, and have tried to do while serving as County Commissioner for the past 5 1-2 years. I also feel that I am being rewarded for my services by the people of Haskell County through the amount of interest you have shown in me during my campaign.

I truly hope you will continue to further my cause, and on July 25th that I may be accorded the same honors you have so graciously bestowed upon each of my opponents.

It is true, my friends, that I have had no actual experience in cases to be heard in the county courts, but I have given much of my time to studying the duties of County Judge, and I believe that my disposition and sense of justice to reason, combined with the study that I have given to the duties of the County Judge, will enable me to satisfy you in that part of the County Judge's work.

It is also true, my friends, that neither of my opponents had any actual experience in this line of work when they first asked you, by your vote, to elevate them to this high position.

Now, with the above facts before you, I ask that you make your decision and truly hope that that decision will be in my favor, and that you will so honor me by making me your County Judge for the next two years.

And I promise, if so honored, that it shall be my ever desire and purpose to repay you for that expression of confidence by making you an efficient, courteous and unbiased County Judge.

Version of Origin of Term "Uncle Sam" Now Verified by Research of W. P. A. Writers

The headquarters of the Federal Writers' Projects recently announced an official solution of the 100-year-old mystery surrounding the origin of the term "Uncle Sam." After a score of WPA research writers in as many cities trailed the legend from coast to coast and finally brought it home again, they reached the conclusion that the original Uncle Sam was a Yankee meat inspector during the war of 1812.

Although none of us have ever had the pleasure of meeting the gentleman personally, we all know Uncle Sam. We recognize his picture at a single glance. His high hat, his chin tuft, his star-spangled vest and his lank form are familiar to everybody. Uncle Sam is the symbol for us all; he represents the typical citizen of the United States. Uncle Sam means the government of the United States or the American people collectively. Just how and when Uncle Sam became our national nickname had long been a subject of controversy. The original Uncle Sam was Samuel Wilson, who was born at West Cambridge, now Arlington, Mass., September 13, 1788. Samuel had a brother, Ebenezer, who was almost five years older. The father, whose name was Edward, moved with the family to Troy, N. Y., about 1789, and soon became a prominent man in the growing town.

According to Albert Matthews, who made a comprehensive study of the question the earliest known use of Uncle Sam in this sense occurred in New York and New England newspapers during the War of 1812. In an article by Matthews, entitled "Uncle Sam" there is the following interesting passage: "Immediately after the declaration of the last war with England (the war of 1812) Elbert Anderson, of New York, then a contractor, visited Troy on the Hudson, where he was concentrated and where he purchased a large quantity of provisions—beef, pork, etc. The inspectors of these articles at that place were Messrs. Ebenezer and Samuel Wilson. The latter gentleman (invariably known as 'Uncle Sam') generally superintended in person a large number of workmen, who on this occasion were employed in overhauling the provisions purchased by the contractor for the army. The casks were marked E. A.—U. S. This work fell to the lot of a facetious fellow in the employ of Messrs. Wilson, who, on being asked by some of his fellow workmen the meaning of the mark (the letters U. S. for the United States were then almost entirely new to them), said he did not know, unless it meant Elbert Anderson and Uncle Sam—alluding exclusively then to the said 'Uncle Sam' Wilson. The joke took among the workmen passed currently; and 'Uncle Sam' himself being present, was occasionally rallied by them on the increasing extent of his possessions.

"Many of the workmen being of a character denominated 'food for powder,' were found shortly after following the recruiting drum, and pushing toward the frontier lines, for the double purpose of meeting the enemy and of eating the provisions they had lately labored to put in good order. Their old jokes of course accompanied them and before the first campaign ended this identical one first appeared in print—it gained favor rapidly, till it penetrated and was recognized in every part of the country and will, no doubt continue so while the United States remains a nation. It originated precisely as above stated and the writer of this article distinctly recollects remarking, at the time when it first appeared in print, to a person who was equally aware of its origin, how odd it would be should that silly joke, originated in the midst of beef, pork, pickle, mud, salt, and hoop poles, eventually become a national cognomen."

In J. A. Weise's history of the city of Troy we find almost the same story told as follows: "Among the well known citizens of Troy in the year 1812 was Samuel Wilson. Being one of the first settlers, and besides having a kind and benevolent disposition, he won the esteem and affection of everybody in the village, and was more generally designated as Uncle Sam than by his proper name. During the military operations along the northern border in the War of 1812, Samuel and Ebenezer Wilson were engaged in an extensive slaughtering business, employing about 100 men, and were slaughtering weekly more than 1,000 head of cattle. During this year, he and his brother received a contract from Elbert Anderson, Jr., an army contractor, to supply the troops stationed at Greenbush with beef 'packed in full bound barrels of white oak. Samuel Wilson was also appointed at this time as inspector of beef for the army, and was accustomed in the time of duty to mark all the barrels of meat passing his inspection with the abbreviated title U. S. of the United States. In the army at the contonment at Greenbush there were a number of soldiers who had enlisted in Troy, and to whom 'Uncle Sam' and his business were well known. The beef they received from Troy they always alluded to as Uncle Sam's beef, and the other soldiers without any inquiry, began to recognize the letters U. S. as the initial designation of Uncle Sam. A contractor from the northern lines strengthened this impression thereafter, when, purchasing a large quantity of beef in Troy, he advertised that he had received a supply of Uncle Sam's beef of a superior quality. The name "Uncle Sam," a few only knowing its derivation became in a little while the recognized familiar designation of the United States and is now as well known to the world as is the appellation John Bull.

As proof that there was such a person the Troy Daily Times, published in Samuel Wilson's home town, printed the following statement under date of July 1, 1854: "Died—Samuel Wilson, aged 88 years, died this morning at his residence, 78 Ferry Street. The deceased was one of the oldest inhabitants of this city. He came to Troy about the year 1793, and consequently had resided here 61 years. He was about the last of those termed 'first settlers.' The Daughters of the American Revolution in Troy, N. Y., recently erected a monument to the meat inspector and former slaughter house operator, one Samuel Wilson, who was known far and wide to his contemporaries as "Uncle Sam."

One of Samuel Wilson's great-granddaughters wrote as follows: "I am a lineal descendant of Samuel Wilson, being a great granddaughter of his. This subject is not mere tradition, but well known family history and familiar to us from childhood. In the year 1909 I requested my mother to write and sign a statement or record concerning Samuel Wilson and other matters which might concern his descendants. I have the statement written and signed by my mother and the incidents related by Albert Matthews, J. A. Weise and others correspond almost word for word with the facts written by my mother. My mother, a granddaughter of Samuel Wilson, if living would be 102 years old. I am 72 years old and a few years ago I knew names and addresses of five other great grandchildren of Samuel Wilson — A Great Granddaughter of Samuel Wilson, Taborville, Mo."

MOTHER! Here are Facts!

To guide your purchase of a Refrigerator!
DON'T CHOOSE BLINDLY

- FOR HEALTH—Your refrigerator must maintain safety food temperatures below 50° all the time. Before you buy, be sure it will do this in the hot hours of the summer time, too.
- FOR CONVENIENCE—Your refrigerator must be able to freeze ice quickly—must have a high degree of usefulness. Before you buy, be sure it will produce fresh ice during the hot hours of the day.
- FOR ECONOMY—Your refrigerator must maintain the above performance at low over-all cost. Before you buy, be sure.

BUY

AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

• If you buy a refrigerator that cannot provide satisfactory, economical performance, all the time, you are wasting your money. It is inconvenient to own a refrigerator that cannot freeze desserts or plenty of fresh ice quickly during the hot hours of the day. It is wasteful to own one that has a high initial cost, though little to operate, if it cannot provide satisfactory performance, all the time . . . under all conditions.

Remember this when you buy. All refrigerators cannot provide all three of these basic requirements. Tests prove this to be true by actual use in the home. So don't buy on claims alone. Ask for and be sure you get convincing evidence of value. Only then can you be certain you are getting your money's worth. Choose carefully and you will choose a modern electric refrigerator.

★ MODERNIZE . . . CHOOSE AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

Modern Gas Cookery
 RETAINS HEALTHFUL VITAMINS AND MINERAL OILS

Vigorous boiling in lots of water destroys the valuable vitamin and mineral content of fresh vegetables. The thoughtful woman wants to retain these health-giving elements. The controlled boiling heat which the modern gas range provides does not rapidly evaporate water when boiling vegetables. Mothers can serve more healthful food by following this simple method of modern gas cookery.

1. Cooking vegetables the semi-waterless way on modern gas range requires no special type of utensil.
2. Place vegetables in pan and cover with about one-half inch water.
3. Place covered pan over simmer burner. Turn to fast heat. When boiling starts turn burner to simmering heat which maintains a gentle boiling action retaining healthful vitamins.
4. After cooking is completed nearly as much liquid remains as was originally put into vessel, and there is no loss of valuable mineral oils or vitamins.
5. Gas simmer cookery is clean and labor saving. It means cooler cooking and a cleaner kitchen for there's little escaping steam rising from a covered pot of gently boiling vegetables.
