ESTABLISHED JANUARY 1, 1886 HASKELL, HASKELL COUNTY TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOV. 2, 1933—8 PAGES FORTY-EIGHTH YEAR

CITY BEER ELECTION IS CALLED FOR NOV. 10

ALL SHOULD REPORT NRA COMPLAINTS

Sherwood H. Avery, Compliance Director, States "Rumors" Harmful

SPECIAL FORMS READY Local NRA Committee And Postmaster Have All the Necessary Forms

Complaints of non-compliance with an approved code of fair competition should be sent to Sherwood H. Avery, Compliance Director of North Texas and Oklahoma, whose offices are at Dallas, Texas.

Special forms for filling complaints against violators of permanent codes have been furnished postmaster and local NRA committees. The use of these special forms was urged in order to assure prompt attention to the complaints.

Because of the increase of the number of approved permanent codes, it was necessary that a regional code compliance system be established. Functions of the local Compliance Board will not be altered by Mr. Avery's appointment. Since the boards will continue to handle compliance under the President's Reemployment Agreement and the Director deals with compliance under the permanent codes.

Compliance Boards have no authority to approve or enforce local codes or agreements fixing prices or regulating closing and opening hours, according to instructions received from Washington to Compliance Board Chairmen.

It is requested that citizens put a stop to false rumors, and report to the Board complaints of violation of the President's Reemployment Agreement so that the proper action might be taken. The Board is ready to investigate such complaints if people will report them. It is harmful to an honest and sincere employer who may be misinformed as to his duties, to have such rumors continue.

FREE PRESS OFFERING SUBSCRIPTION FOR $1 With the bargain rate of $1 per year no placed upon a year's subscription to the Free Press, many Haskell county people are taking advantage of the offer and are subscribing.

According to the publisher of the Free Press, a number of subscribers are delinquent, and a considerable number of those are also paying up. No definite time has been set, so it is stated for the offer to be on, but indications point to the fact that the time is limited owing to increased costs of production.

Among those persons subscribing during the past few days are the following: M. J. Lain, Star route; Haskell; C. C. Anderson, Obrien; Mrs. Jno Chambers, Haskell; Henry Alexander, Spur; J. W. Annual Roll Call of American Red Cross Will Commence November 11

Men's Bible Class of Christian Church in New Quarters Organization Operates On Income Membership Furnishes Each Year

The men's bible class of the First Christian church has rearranged the annex in the church and will use this part of the building for their class room in the future. The class has been taught for a number of years, by Judge L. D. Ratiiff and have held their meeting each Sunday morning in the main auditorium.

The new class room will be more convenient, and any man who is not a member of some other Sunday school in the city is extended an invitation to join this class.

Individual membership provides the motive power behind all the programs of the organization," the chapter chairman continued. "The generous response of the American people in past years made it possible for Red Cross to conduct the immense distribution of Farm Board wheat and cotton. This single operation was carried on at a cost of $685,000 to the organization. Acts of Congress making these Farm Board commodities available for distribution did not provide funds or means of paying overhead costs. Congress (Continued on Page Eight)

Two grand jury indictments for forgery are placed against Talkmitt both for the same amount of money. The record shows they were signed with the name of a prominent German at Sagerton.

Talkmitt's apprehension by Gatesville authorities and the subsequent transfer to this county will enable the local county sheriff to have Talkmitt's trial during the coming term.

Five Year Closed Season on Deer and Turkey This County The special game law placing a closed season on deer and turkey in Haskell, Throckmorton, Shackelford, Jones and several other counties in this section for five years, was omitted from the article published last week. This new law was passed by the State legislature last Spring—hunting is unlawful to kill deer or turkey in these counties for the next five years. The duck season opened yesterday at noon instead of on November 10th, as stated in last week's article. The error in dates were made by giving game laws applicable to south Texas.

Mrs. W. J. Kendrick Wins Cash Prize at Dallas State Fair "I am going to send in more canned products to the Dallas Fair next year," says Mrs. W. J. Kendrick of the Rose club when she was given a check for $1.50 for a prize won on her jar of tomatoes sent to the Dallas Fair.

There were three entries made from Haskell County this year and two club girls given trips to the Educational Encampment according to report from the council representatives who collected and mailed in the entries. Mrs. Jess Smith of Mid-Way Club and Mrs. Jess Josselot of the Josselot Club.

Distribution of News Items Forms Basis of Haskell Woman's "Hobby" Different people have different hobbies, with almost every conceivable thing from the collection of postage stamps to choice rattle-snakes being used to while leisure moments away, but it has remained for one Haskell woman to utilize the distribution of "exchange" newspapers as a unique hobby.

Mrs. Frank Williams is the Haskell lady in question and the manner in which she uses old newspapers proves that a person may have a hobby that will be beneficial to others.

Every newspaper receives copies of other newspapers from all sections of the state which are known as "exchanges." For instance the newspaper publishers in Brady, Seymour, Vernon, Lubbock, etc., send copies of their newspaper to the Free Press and this newspaper reciprocates. After a glance through most of them by the local publisher they are generally thrown in the waste box. That is, nearly every place except in Haskell. Mrs. Williams takes care of that.

Regularly she calls at this office for all the exchange newspapers, (Continued on Page Eight)

FARMERS TO ORGANIZE A CREDIT ASSN.

Known as Production Credit Association and Embraces Agricultural Plan MEET NEXT WEDNESDAY

District Court Room Chosen As Place of Organization; Stock Equals 5 Per Cent A meeting of farmers of Haskell County has been called for Wednesday November 8 at 8 p. m. in the district court room of the Haskell County Court House. At that time the organization of the production Credit Association will be discussed. It is likely that such an organization will be organized and start functioning soon in this section.

Such an organization will be of great benefit to farmers. Loans may be made to farmers for general agricultural purposes, including the production and harvesting of crops, the breeding purposes, fattening of livestock, and the production of livestock and poultry products.

Stock in the association must be taken to equal 5 per cent of the amount borrowed or $5 on every $100. The interest rate is small and headquarters for the association will be in Haskell where loans can be quickly and easily obtained.

According to the present set up in Government loans all loans to individual farmers except land loans must be made through the local Production Credit Association.

TURKEY BUYER SAYS POOL FIGURES WRONG

Von Clifton Disagrees With Newspaper Article Stating Turkey Farmers Gained By Pool. According to Von Clifton, manager of the Western Produce Company, operating in this city, a new dressing plant has been installed here at the company's plant. He states that this will enable the company to pay a higher price to farmers for their turkeys and at the same time provides an opportunity for Haskell county people to secure employment, which would otherwise go to other cities.

In an advertisement appearing in this issue, to the turkey raisers of Haskell county, Clifton, goes in to detail regarding the sale of turkeys and takes exception to an article which appeared in last week's issue of this newspaper which stated that "over $1,900 extra money was paid for turkeys through pooling efforts." He informed a Free Press representative Wednesday that facts do not bear out the statement.

"Naturally I do not know who is responsible for the 'facts' as quoted (Continued on Page Eight)

Negro Uses Cotton Scales Upon Spouse and Is Now in Jail

With a charge of attempting to kill starting him in the face, Joseph Taylor, negro, is in jail here, with plenty of leisure at his disposal to contemplate the whys and wherefores of hasty action. It is alleged that Taylor, while working in a cotton patch about 7 miles north of Haskell, became enraged at his wife over a trifling matter, and proceeded to use a pair of scales in an endeavor to make her see his side of the argument, slashing her in several places about the face and head. Late reports state his wife is in a serious condition.

The negro was brought into the sheriff's office by two white men. Those real estate men are certainly remarkable persons. They make their home multiply by subdividing.

PETITION PRESENTED ON MONDAY MORNING

Sheriff Makes Raid on County Farm; 14 Fined for Gambling 58 Voter's Names Listed As Favoring Election; Many Are Business Men

Sheriff Sorrells, accompanied by other members of the county peace office, and W. B. Davis, Rochester constable, made a raid Saturday on a farm about 7 miles northwest of Haskell which netted 24 persons. They were brought before D. T. Dotson, justice of the peace, and charged with gambling. Fourteen of these brought in were fined $14 each. The remainder were released upon questioning.

The crowd was a mixed one, so officers state, with several negroes and Mexicans besides four white men. A petition with 58 qualified voters names signed thereon was presented to the commissioner's court Monday, asking that a special election be held November 10 within the city limits of Haskell for the purpose of determining whether beer shall be sold legally. The petition was granted owing to the fact that three commissioners voted in favor of such an election and only one against.

Commissioners O. L. Darden, P. G. Kendrick and T. M. Mapes voted in favor of the election, with G. F. Mullino dissenting. According to those commissioners voting in favor of the election, laws governing such action state that when ten per cent of the qualified voters petition, the election should be held so that a majority opinion may be manifested. Majority of those signing the petition were business and professional men.

While no check was made, it was stated that several persons who voted against the sale of beer in Haskell signed the petition and intimidated that their vote would be for the legal sale at the next election.

Legal beer is being sold at three places between this city and Stamford in what is known as Justice Precinct 4, and while beer was sold at two or three places in Haskell, the lid was clamped on by county officials Saturday. According to persons who have been retailing 3.2 beer, bootleggers are still operating.

In questioning various persons for the reason why the petition for the sale of legal beer was instigated at this time, consensus of opinion seemed to be that many persons believe that 3.2 beer will tend to prevent the drinking of bootleg "choc" beer and whiskey, made in most cases, in an insanitary manner.

The sale of 3.2 beer was mainly the reason, so one county officer has stated, that drunkenness was kept at a minimum during the recent county fair. He stated that better order was maintained at the recent fair than at any fair in the history of the county.

J. HORACE BASS NEW MUNDAY SCHOOL HEAD

J. Horace Bass, formerly superintendent of the Haskell Public Schools has been elected Superintendent of the Public Schools at Munday. He succeeds G. C. Jones, who recently tendered his resignation to the Munday Board of Education, in order to look after his private business in West Texas.

Mr. Bass served as superintendent of schools here about 1927-1928, and has many warm friends in this section who will be glad to know that he will be located near Haskell. He resigned his position here in order to enter the State University at Austin and complete his work toward his A. B. degree. After securing his degree, he was elected as teacher in the history department of the State University, a position he has held for the past three or four years.

INJURIES SUSTAINED IN FALL FATAL TO CHILD

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Green, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Green, Jr. of this city attended the funeral.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED MONDAY AND CHARGED WITH MURDERING SON-IN-LAW OF ED COUCH

C. E. Kelley Beaten to Death In 1931 While Sleeping In Bed Belonging to Couch; Intended Victim A Former Resident of Haskell County The arrest of four men the first of the week, charged with the slaying of Claude E. Kelley at Edinburg, Texas, on March 18, 1931, is expected to clear up a murder mystery of long standing. Kelley was slain with a hatchet while he was asleep in the home of his father-in-law, Ed Couch. Mr. Couch formerly resided in Haskell county and is well known throughout this section. The following Associated Press news story was sent out from Edinburg Monday regarding the arrests: "Four men were charged with murder today and two of them with conspiracy to murder in connection with the killing of Claude E. Kelley, 31, who was beaten to death with a hatchet as he slept in the home of Ed Couch, prominent political leader of Hidalgo county, the night of March 18, 1931. The state alleges Kelley was a victim of mistaken identity and that the killers planned the death of Couch, new county judge. "Charges of murder were filed here today against Cam Hill, former Hidalgo county clerk, now a resident of El Paso; George C. (Continued on Page Eight)

IF IN NEED OF A MARRIAGE LICENSE, BUY IN DAY LIGHT

Any person, or persons, as it takes two to complete this "argument", are duly warned to apply for wedding licenses during regular business hours of the county clerk, or do without until the next day. Jason W. Smith, clerk, doesn't like the idea of getting up at one p. m. any better than anyone else, so a couple found Saturday night.

This particular couple requested a license at 12:00 p. m., but Smith refused pointblank, when he found out that the parties lived in this county and had had plenty of time to secure a license during regular hours. Certain types of people make a practice of waiting until late at night to secure a license, as a joke, but Smith can't see it that way.

EXAMINING TRIAL OF JIM M'KENON HELD

The examining trial of Jim McKenon, who is charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was held Tuesday afternoon before Judge D. T. Dotson, justice of the peace. Bond was set at $500 and the case bound over to await action of the grand jury.

The penalty of such a crime carries a term in the Penitentiary if so recommended instead of a stiff fine. Suit was brought against McKenon by C. C. Robinson, driver of the wagon which was wrecked slightly over one week ago by McKenon's car, and which resulted in seven persons being injured.

McKenon denies that he was intoxicated. All victims who sustained injuries in the crash between an automobile and wagon near the city limits on Saturday October 21st, have returned to their homes near Weinert with the exception of B. C. Patton, who is still in the Stamford Sanitarium with a broken neck. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jones and baby were returned from the sanitarium last Friday in a Kinney ambulance.

Mrs. C. C. Robinson who received bruises about the head and shoulders and has been confined at the home of her sister here since the wreck, returned home Sunday.

Cotton Must Be Dry If Gathered

In recent experiments at College Station and Lubbock with the harvesting of cotton mechanically, it was found that the cotton should be dry and practically free of green leaves and green unopen bolls and the harvested cotton should not be placed on damp ground for any great length of time prior to ginning. Cotton which had not fully matured and which contained a high percentage of moisture in the form of green leaves and green unopen bolls when piled in the field was damaged by heating, the temperature in some cases being as high as 149 degrees F. This resulted in the destruction of the germinating power of the cottonseed and the fat content of the seed was lowered. Furthermore, the grade of the lint was lowered from 1 to 4 grades and the strength of the fiber was reduced as much as 35 per cent. Matured handsnapped cotton stored in the field at Lubbock sweated slightly but apparently was not damaged by heating.

Mrs. Isabella Greenway, Democratic national committeewoman in Arizona and friend of the family of President Roosevelt, will be elected to the seat in Congress vacated by Budget Director Lewis W. Douglass.

Chairman States Red Cross Fills Essential Place

In an announcement of plans for the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Hollis Atkinson Roll Call Chairman of the Haskell County Chapter, traced the growth of an organization whose origin and development hold as dramatic and interesting story as was ever told. Springing from a desire to render voluntary service to humanity, this agency now is looking upon as an essential part of the life of the nation.

Carrying on as a pioneer in its field, the Red Cross accepts its assignments and adjusts its work to meet changing conditions always looking beyond any abnormal swing in the nation's pendulum.

Reviewing milestones in the organization's history, Mrs. Atkinson explained that the Red Cross was born on the battlefield. Her account of its founding follows:

Moved by the horrors of the Battle of Solferino in 1859, Henry Dunant, a young Swiss idealist, and a small band of villagers he had summoned, braved the danger of gunfire in a determined effort to give voluntary succor to victims of the atrocious encounter. The Roll Call chairman declared in describing the origin of the Red Cross. "Later, Dunant wrote a stirring volume on the barbaric practices among nations toward fallen warriors. Although other influences developed to crystallize sentiment for such a movement, the original aims and purposes of the Red Cross sprang from Dunant's emotions and from a sympathetic reaction which his writings captured.

"Prior to its inception in this country, in the work of Florence Nightingale during the Crimean war was born the principles of modern nursing. Thousands of lives were saved on the battlefields when she and her devoted followers nursed many back to recovery and brought order and sanitary practices out of chaos and gross neglect.

"European leaders set about to correct this wartime evil a few years after the Crimean and Solferino engagements and in 1863 assembled a committee at Geneva to study the problem of neutralizing aid to the wounded in the war. The solution was found in the Treaty of Geneva which was ratified by twelve nations in 1864. Today more than half hundred countries are banded together in this cause. There also exists an International Red Cross Society with headquarters in Paris. It is headed by John Barton Payne, American Red Cross Chairman.

"The United States, although observing the formation of the Geneva group, was extremely backward in becoming affiliated with the movement. Not until Clara Barton had spent many years of tireless effort to the Red Cross in the United States did the government finally recognize the widespread need for such a society. Surrounded by less than fifty forward-looking citizens, Miss Barton was selected as the organization's first president when the Red Cross came into being after receiving governmental sanction in 1881. Today there are nearly four million Senior memberships and seven million Junior enrollment.

"Accomplishments of the Red Cross during and since the World War are well known. Its peace-time program, reaching into practically every county in the United States, has kept alive the organization's voluntary spirit toward mankind."

When this nation last year found itself still in the grip of economic disorder, it will be recalled that it was to the Red Cross that Congress turned to distribute commodities which in a twelve-months period benefited 25,000,000 individuals, or approximately a fifth of the country's entire population.

In the last three years, tasks of this organization have been extremely heavy. While it is a semi-governmental agency, the Red Cross is entirely dependent upon enrollment of memberships. This year's Roll Call will be held between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving in its 3,700 local chapters. Community leaders, and their assistants will invite every adult citizen to become a part of this humanitarian society during the Roll Call period.

There was a slight increase in the proportion of spotted and yellow tinged cotton ginned in this section during the past week according to the report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States department of Agriculture. The summary of the report was as follows:

"There was a slight increase in the proportion of Spotted and Yellow Tinged cotton in District 3, the Red Lands and Plains, this week over last week. Strict Middling and better Extra White declined slightly in that district this week; while White Strict Middling and better declined materially this week, there being 8 per cent White Strict Middling and better this week compared with approximately 18 per cent last week. Approximately 95 per cent of the cotton in District 3 was tenderable on futures contracts this week. Only 4 per cent was shorter than 7-8 inch this week compared with 10 per cent last week. Approximately 52 per cent was 15-16 inch and longer in that area this week compared with 42 per cent last week."

Health Officer Issues Warning On Overheating

AUSTIN, TEX., Nov. 1.—"With the cold months almost here, it is again in order to advise regarding inside temperature. Undoubtedly thousands of homes are constantly overheated during the winter. In fact, there are many families who tolerate an indoor temperature in the cold months to which they would and do strenuously object in summer. Such persons not only are uneconomical with the coal pile, but are endangering their health as well," states Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

"People enjoying an overheated temperature become soft and with bodily pores behaving however, imperceptibly as they do in summer time, the system is at a decided disadvantage in defending itself against the sudden change from a tropical or sub-tropical heat to the penetrating cold.

"Consequently colds, bronchial troubles and pneumonia, taking advantage of the situation, step in and do much unnecessary, and not infrequently, fatal damage. You will agree that this is entirely too high a price to pay for a few extra degrees of unneeded heat.

"For example, a certain typical family of many hundreds, has again started on its annual program of colds and sore throats. However, this does not alter its affection for super-heat. Sixty-eight to 70 degrees is the health temperature. A thermometer kept within that range, plus proper humidity, is a great health safeguard. More than are doing so need to erect it. What does your thermometer read?"

Some women's idea of thrift is to borrow a cup of sugar or flour every few days from a neighbor.

FARMERS SEEKING DATA ON NEW COTTON PLANS

Farmers from all parts of the county have been calling at the office of county agent R. H. Maxwell, during the past week, in regards to the cotton acreage reduction.

According to the county agent the amount of reduction will be based on the amount of land in cultivation during the past five years, not including 1933. He explains that the 40 per cent reduction, in no sense, will be placed on the amount plowed up.

The contracts will be binding on the part of the planters. If the government is unable to receive enough contracts to reduce the acreage to 25 million acres, Secretary Wallace has the option of refusing the amount that is contracted, but it is the belief among some farmers that anyone not signing to receive 10 cents will simply merely delay matters, because the government has not spent the large sums for cotton plow-up to be spending money, but that the matter of reduction, whether voluntary or otherwise, will be pushed to the limit and those persons evidencing a spirit of non-cooperation will be dealt with in an other manner.

Rental payments ranging from $3 to $11 an acre will be distributed to those participating.

Seeking to restrict the 1934 cotton acreage to 25 million acres, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has definitely determined the compensation which producers are to receive and final preparations are under way to launch an active campaign in the Cotton Belt to organize producers into the necessary county associations to attain the objective for cotton production control in 1934.

The announcement of the compensation which participating producers would receive followed an announcement from the White House concerning the organization of the Commodity Credit Corporation which will make the 10-cent per pound loan to producers on the 1933 crop.

In addition to the rental payments, producers joining in the 1934 adjustment campaign will be paid benefit on the domestic portion of their crop if the average price during next season is below the fair-exchange or parity price. Any rentals that have been advanced, will be deducted from such benefit payments.

Details of the 1934 program had previously been announced, but the amount of compensation which would be offered to participating producers was not fixed. The rental payments will be based upon the productivity of the land, as in the 1933 program.

The schedule of rental payments that will be effective for the 1934 cotton adjustment program is as follows:

Pounds Per Acre
Approximately 75 to 125 not over $3; approximately 150 to 200 not over $5; approximately 225 to 300 not over $7; approximately 325 to 400 not over $9; approximately 400 and over not over $11.

The amount of the cash rental will be determined by the county association subject to the approval of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and will be based on the above schedule.

In announcing the final major points of the 1934 program, Secretary Wallace made the following statement: "The current price of cotton is below its fair exchange value. The Administration recognizes that further efforts to aid the cotton farmer in solving this problem are imperative. The advance of ten cents per pound on the current crop will enable the producer to market his crop in an orderly way and he will not be forced to sell at prevailing low prices because he needs the money now. The government is providing the means to carry this cotton so that the man who produced it and who will cooperate in the production control program will benefit from any increase in price that may result from our efforts to obtain fair-exchange prices for farm commodities.

"Meantime, we are proceeding with plans to adjust further the over-supply of cotton by restricting the 1934 acreage. The producer who obtains a loan from the Government on this year's crop must pledge himself to cooperate in the 1934 program. It was evident after the record production this year that cotton adjustments should continue. It would have been manifestly unfair to the producers if any improvement in price resulting from next year's program had come after the present crop had passed out of his hands. The 10-cent loan will tend to prevent this. It should work to the advantage of the cotton farmers and we have assurance that they will not only seize this opportunity, but continue these cooperative efforts to insure success for the 1934 cotton adjustment program."

They say that down in Africa there are tribes that do not allow a mother-in-law and son-in-law to look at each other. And we still keep sending missionaries down there to enlighten them.

To The Turkey Raisers Haskell County

Last week we advertised advising the farmers that if they pooled their Turkeys this year to do so, on the condition that if our Direct Door price was as good or better than the pool price, that any member of the pool would be at liberty to sell their Turkeys to us—giving as the reason why we should be favored was in the fact that the hundreds of dollars paid out in picking, grading and packing would go to our own Haskell County folks and not to outsiders.

In the same issue of the paper appeared an article notifying the farmers that the meeting for forming a pool would be held Oct. 28th, asserting that the farmers received over $1,900 extra money for their Turkeys last year. We paid within one-half cent of pool price—therefore you farmers must have sold 380,000 pounds of Turkeys—about 25 live car loads.

That is evidently incorrect. The same article is incorrect in stating that the number of turkeys in the state is much less than last year—the state over. Evidently the gentleman who turned in the article is not reliably informed as to the "rise in poultry prices."

C. J. Roberts, formerly manager of the Sears, Roebuck Abilene poultry unit offered 12 cents for the November pool last year—told them a higher price was impossible and you held over until November and sold for 8 cents.

This year we are paying a direct door price and dressing at Haskell and this means I can pay you the same price I would have received last year if I had bought your Turkeys and hauled them to Stamford. If we get the Turkeys this year we will have a direct door price next year. Pool conditionally—that's fair to everybody. VON CLIFTON, Manager

An Appeal to the Voters of Haskell—

On November 10th the people of Haskell will be called upon to vote whether or not 3.2 beer can be legally sold in the town of Haskell.

We appeal to you who believe in a progressive Haskell, awake to its opportunities—to vote for this proposition.

It is a double question being on both of business and of morals. Beer has been sold openly in Haskell, it is being sold, and it will be sold. As it is, however, neither the state, the county, or the city derives any benefit. If you do legalize the sale it will mean additional revenues to every branch of your government.

It will mean furthe that legitimate business men of Haskell, paying their taxes to the state, the county and the city will be able to reap the just reward of their enterprise instead of having it diverted to the outside joints on Highway 30.

A vote for beer will be a vote for a more sober and temperate Hasnell. Only the fanatical and unreasoning can argue that 3.2 beer is an intoxicating dink. You need but ask any man who has ever consumed a bottle. It has proven itself in this very county to be a greater foe of drunkenness than the strictest of prohibition laws. During the recent Haskell County Fair, the Haskell county officers, confronted by record-breaking crowds proved it the most orderly that Haskell has even seen. They, in public statements, attributed at least 75% of this to the fact that the people could and did get a non-inotxiating beer where before it had been whiskey or nothing.

Your vote for bee will not mean the entire elimination of the boot-igger but it will mean that he will cease to be a major problem. He will become a minor one, confonted by competition such as he has never seen and a falling off of his market.

By your vote you can make Haskell more temperate. You will fall in step with the overwhelming voice of a progressive nation and a progressive state.

So on the 10th we appeal to you to remember that Haskell is your town—that all plans for its progress are plans for your progress and your profit—that a vote for 3.2 beer is a vote for a more progressive—a more temperate—and a better Haskell.

And Remembering This—Vote for 3.2 Beer

BAPTIST PEOPLE HONOR PASTOR WITH POUNDING

The members of the Baptist Church staged a unique "pounding" or gift shower Monday evening for the pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Whatley, in the basement of the church. The program was arranged in the form of a "mock wedding" and the bride's gifts were presented to Rev. and Mrs. Whatley after the ceremony was over. In order to keep the affair a secret from the pastor, Judge and Mrs. Chas. M. Conner invited them to a six o'clock dinner at their home. After the crowd assembled at the church, the pastor was telephoned that he had overlooked an appointment to marry a couple at the church. On arriving he discovered the wedding party dressed in the styles of the early 90's and the ceremony in progress with a substitute minister.

Those who took part in the ceremony were as follows:
 Joe Brooks, Minister.
 Mrs. Leon Gilliam, Bride.
 Ed F. Fouts, Groom.
 Mrs. George Herrin, mother of the bride.
 John Fouts, father of the bride.
 Mrs. Lola Welsh, matron of honor.
 Mesdames W. M. Reid, Rufus Banks, H. C. Cates, R. J. Paxton, Mack Perdue, Floyd Self, B. M. Whiteker and W. L. Norton, bridesmaids. Mesdames Anton Theis and Alfred Pierson, flower girls. Mrs. I. N. Simmons and Chas. Quattlebaum, train bearers.
 Floyd Self, ring bearer.
 W. L. Hays, best man.
 I. N. Simmons, usher
 The wedding march was played by Mrs. D. Scott and Mrs. W. P. Trice sang "O Promise Me" and Miss Mary Emma Whiteker sang "Dawning."

Early Tennis
 Lord Dunedin is right in supposing that by 1875 he could have been playing lawn tennis in a rectangular court with the net at the height that it is today; but it would be incorrect to say that by that time the court had been standardized. One of the earliest manuals on the new game—Jasper Smythe was its author, and I imagine that it was just issued in the spring of 1875—makes it quite clear that for some time both the hour-glass-shaped and the rectangular courts were in use, says a correspondent in a letter to the London Times.
 Incidentally, "sphairistikoe" was by no means the first attempt at a game of tennis without walls. "Field tennis" was played in more than one place during the Eighteenth century, and there is a print of "Long or Open Tennis" dated 1887.

Locusts as Human Food
 Locusts were reckoned among the clean things which might be eaten by the Israelites (Leviticus 11:22) and being vegetable feeders are still among the articles of food in occasional use among oriental people. John the Baptist is said to have subsisted upon them and wild honey while remaining in the wilderness, although a tradition has it that his locusts were the sweet edible pods of the locust or carob (a kind of acacia) tree, used as food for sheep and cattle in Europe, and known as St. John's bread, considered holy by certain of the Jews (Matthew 3:4).

Pompeian Tragedy
 A tragedy of 1,900 years ago has been revealed by excavation of the house of Menander in the ruins of the ancient city of Pompeii. In a bedroom lay two skeletons. Beside one was a leather purse containing a hundred pieces of money. Evidently the master of the house, seeing impending destruction by the tide of lava, leaped from his bed, called to his wife to follow and snatched his purse. But both were overwhelmed.

Pelicans by the Acre
 A lonely little island in the Southern Pacific off the coast of Peru is the world's largest gathering place for pelicans, according to Boys' Life, the monthly periodical of the Boy Scouts of America. The name of the island is Lobos de Afeura, and about thirty acres are perpetually covered with pelicans, hatching their young or digesting the pouches of fish which they scoop up from the neighboring sea.

NO CONTRACTS FOR WHEAT UNDERTAKEN

Although at least seven meetings have been called in various parts of the county by the county agent relative to the government wheat plan during the past month, nothing has been accomplished and any thought of further action has been practically abandoned.
 The reason for the lack of interest in the wheat co-operative plan in this county was explained to the effect that wheat is not a major crop here, and there are only about 15 or 20 wheat growers who own their own land. Renters sow quite a bit of wheat, if the season is favorable which has not been this fall, and owing to the fact that the plan as outlined calls for a contract of three years, has made it impossible for renters to comply to any great extent.

A dead town is one that has a reputation of being only so many miles from some other town.

This would be a much better world if people would live within their means and without their means.

"Seven Seas" Figurative of All World's Oceans

The "seven seas" is a figurative term denoting all the seas and oceans of the world. It is often explained that the seven seas are the Arctic, the Antarctic, the North and South Pacific, the North and South Atlantic, and the Indian ocean. This term need not in fact be taken literally. It was part of the vernacular of several nations long before some of the oceans named were known to the inhabitants of Europe and Asia. The seven seas are referred to in the literature of the ancient Hindus, Chinese, Persians, Romans and other nations. In each case the term refers to different bodies of water. Sometimes it refers to mythical seas. To the Persians the seven seas were the streams forming the Oxus river; the Hindus applied the name to bodies of water in the Punjab. Near Venice, Italy, is a group of salt water lagoons which the Romans called septem maria, the Latin phrase for seven seas. In modern times the phrase the "seven seas" was popularized by Rudyard Kipling, who used it as the title of a volume of poems, published in 1896. The poet himself said the term might be regarded as referring to the seven oceans, although it was a very old figurative name for all the waters of the world.

Cherish John Wesley's Bible as Beyond Price

John Wesley's Bible is one of the most cherished treasures of the Methodist church. It was handed to Dr. Scott Lidgett as a symbol of the Wesleyan Methodist church, on his induction as first president of the united church. The Bible which the great evangelist carried with him is quite an ordinary pocket volume, except that it is very old. Years ago it used to be the practice of each Wesleyan president to carry the Bible with him everywhere he went. It has been in every town, village and hamlet in England.

Now the precious book has a home of steel, thief-proof, fire-proof in the safe of the Methodist bookshop in City road, London, there to remain until a new president is chosen as head of the Methodist church.

Wesley's Bible could have been sold for almost any price from time to time. America longed to possess it, but the Methodist church even in its poorest day was never so poor as to part with the little thumb-marked book in the shabby, tattered leather cover.—London Mail.

The Two Minutes Silence

The impressive two-minute silence on Armistice or Remembrance day was adopted on the initiative of Sir Percy Fitzpatrick, who placed the proposal before the late Lord Milner. In a letter to Sir Percy, dated January 30, 1920, Lord Stamfordham wrote: "The king, who learns you are shortly returning to South Africa, desires me to assure you that he ever gratefully remembers that the idea of the two minutes' pause on Armistice day was due to your initiation—a suggestion which was readily adopted and carried out with heart-felt sympathy throughout the empire."—Montreal Family Herald.

Would You--

Be willing, dear men, to return to the days when all the dapper young men wore side-whiskers, little round derbies, or high "toppers" (if you were a banker or a groom)?

Would you, dear ladies, be willing to return to the days when practically all women wore about eight or nine petticoats (so they tell us) and to the old-fashioned home that had no modern conveniences?

Would you prefer to do away with the modern radio, stoves, refrigerators, etc., and put up with make-shifts just because "others have been doing it" or would you prefer to stay modern and use the many things science has provided?

If you prefer modern, up-to-the-minute refrigerators, radios, clothing, moving pictures, why do you neglect one product of science that is the epitome of 1933 modernism—a really first-class automobile that has taken the automobile world by storm?

Why do you, if you want the best for your money, not "Look At All Three" in the low-priced automobile field, and see for yourself what the New Plymouth offers you. It's time to go modern, even if you have always bought one certain make of car. Do as others are doing—ride in a Plymouth and truly enjoy one of science's greatest triumphs!

THE "BUY NOW" CAMPAIGN

The "Buy Now" campaign of the NRA, which Administrator Johnson has urged the public to support is now under way, and its success is vital to the Nation and the well-being of practically every family in the country.

President Roosevelt's recovery program upon which so much depends, now rests upon the amount of buying by the public.

The government has done much through the recovery codes to restore employment, increase purchasing power and start the movement toward prosperity. Most manufacturers and merchants have co-operated. It is now the duty of everyone who has an income to help the government to preserve the gains already made and lay the foundation for new ones in coming months when it is hoped and expected that full prosperity will be restored to the country.

There is another reason why the advice to buy now should be heeded. As everyone knows, prices have begun to rise, and they are not expected to go lower because of the fact that raw materials and manufacturing costs have gone up considerably.

The "Buy Now" campaign of the NRA should be supported to the limit of one's ability. We should all spend all we can afford to for the things we need, and to do so now would be to combine good business and patriotism. It will help make secure our jobs and the jobs of our neighbors and be a direct service to the Nation as a whole.

POSTOFFICE DEFICITS

The Senate investigation of mail contracts is disclosing facts that account for the ever-occurring post-office deficits.

One report shows a steamship company receiving $300,000 for carrying four pounds of mail; another $13,762 for carrying one pound of mail. This was one of the many such contracts given out under the Hoover administration.

Light is also being thrown on some ugly facts in the disposing of the merchant marine fleet that cost hundreds of millions of the people's money.

Ships taken over by one Henry Heberman had cost the government $42,000,000. Heberman paid only $1,000,000 for them, and at the same time he got mail contracts netting him $1,800,000 over a 10-year period.

C. Bascom Slem, former congressman and private secretary to President Coolidge, is shown to have picked up a neat fee of $15,000 some months later for helping Mr. Heberman obtain these ships.

There is also the little mystery of who paid expensive tailoring bills for officials of the shipping board, and the Senate committee is still seeking to learn the use to which unusual large amounts of cash was put after being drawn from Washington banks by individuals interested in mail contracts and government ship buying.

Too many people, fooled by "stunts" in the past, halfway believe that the slogan "BUY NOW" of the NRA is just another catch phrase in order that merchants may increase sales. In other words, a glorified "Fire Sale", with attendant ballyhoo.

Those persons having this thought in mind are merely deceiving themselves, and are so arranging matters to a point where they will have to pay more for goods later on. The "BUY NOW" slogan is more than a slogan—it is a warning of the first water, and wise buyers will heed the suggestion.

President Roosevelt, in speech after speech, has stated over and over that he is not yet satisfied with the prices farmers are receiving for their products, and whether inflation or price stabilization is the means used to increase such, cannot be foretold at this time, but you can bet your last dime that prices will raise on all products.

When the price of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, wool and kindred other products advance, the price on the finished article will also advance—and after all this has been accomplished, everyone of us will be paying more for what we buy. Remember the boom days?

If you are afraid of profiteering on the part of merchants, take a tip from us. No merchant who is asking a fair price for merchandise he has is the least bit chary of advertising. He is playing FAIR—and is willing to prove it BUY NOW!

It is a funny world at that! A few years ago we were all yelling for "the good old days" when prices were low, and we're now working with might and main to bring back the "good old days" when prices were high!

While we didn't like the score of the Rotan-Haskell game any better than you did, we were impressed with the fighting ability of a few Haskell players. Those few fought hard to win. It is always easy to detect the player that is fighting to win from the player who is seeking self-glorification.

Anyway, the "pep" squad remained peppy throughout. We like the costumes better, though, without the boots.

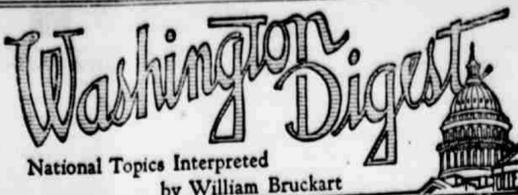

One enterprising young man of this city asked us to ask the merchants through this column to purchase new sweaters for the football boys. We would be glad to do it, mister, but who ever heard of a business man reading his home town newspaper? No one reads the paper! Those football boys do need new sweaters.

AMERICANA—Broadcasting a religious program over the radio on Sunday and calling attention to the advertising sponsor at the same time!

INK SPOTS—One Haskell business man still drinks his coffee from his saucer. . . One Haskell woman took a final "cold" serum on Monday night and woke up Tuesday with a terrific sample of the trouble she was trying to rid herself of. . . This writer as among those who once thought that when a woman received a permanent it would last forever. . . Clyde Railey, manager of the Perry store likes a little coffee in his cream. . . During the half-cold and half-warm days last week the Texas Cafe advertised either chili or ice cream. . . Sheriff Sarr's has the kind of an eye that means "business" to us. . . Whether you approve of the two bear places between here and Stamford or not you should compliment them both for not selling anything to persons already intoxicated. The managers of both places pass up that kind of business. . . Wonder if the young lady who was diked out in new hunting togs last week actually made a "killing" of anything except possibly a young man or two? . . . One county official says he'll vote for 3.3 beer the next time, instead of against as in the case of the last election. . . wish we could get more reports of the various bridge parties being had in this town, though, for the Free Press.

We've been in a lot of towns in this old U. S. A., but found very few that express more civic pride than Haskell. Most of the homes are well-kept, while the grounds surrounding all the churches, the library and school grounds are cleaner than the proverbial hound's tooth. In fact, Haskell is a DARN good place in which to live.

Well, well! Another week almost gone. Don't forget to take advantage of our bargain subscription offer this week. You won't regret doing so. We know, because we read the paper also.

National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart

Washington.—It is a scant two months until congress will be back here in the National Capital, and each day the inevitable question, "what will congress do?" is heard more and more. And when one considers the troubles of the day, it is difficult to avoid the conviction; there seems to be ample reason for wondering what congress will do!

In the minds of Washington observers, as far as I have been able to learn their views, little doubt remains that President Roosevelt will have a highly nervous and bull-headed congress on his hands. It appears certain the senators and representatives are not going to be so tractable as they were from March to June in the extraordinary session. It is equally certain that the members will come back from the hustings filled with a lot of new ideas, champing at the bit, eager to do things, demanding that things be done this way or that. Indeed, I think it can be said that Mr. Roosevelt is going to have both hands full, and if he pulls the reins successfully controlling congress, he will have demonstrated that he is not only a master politician but a super-politician. It is a test, beyond the shadow of a doubt, and a supreme test in every sense of the word.

Just stop and think of the situation; there is as much uncertainty in business as there was this time last year; there are fresh threats from labor; continuing threats from numerous agricultural sections; siber rattling from abroad, cries about the burden of taxation yet dire need for more money for the federal government, pressing social and political problems following repeal of prohibition, demands for relief for the farmer, for the debtor, for the unemployed, and generally speaking, some new crop of troubles every day.

It is to be remembered, too, that every time congress convenes for a new session, its members have come back to Washington filled to the brim with problems, pet or general, from a particular section or state. It is thus quite natural that in this particular circumstance, there will be partisans supporting every one of the various questions I have set down. And don't forget, these senators and representatives will make themselves heard! They have never failed at this job, heretofore, and there are no signs indicating they will fail this time.

What the result will be, no one can do more than guess. There are certain phases of the advance showing of the picture, however, which I hear discussed, and I am going to relate some of them in the hope that a better understanding of forthcoming conditions may be had.

In the first instance, the records fail to show many Presidents who have had popular faith behind them to the extent of that accorded Mr. Roosevelt. He has caught the public imagination and, although he has some bitter critics, and will have more, there seems to be no doubt that he has a rather solid base from which to begin his fight. Next, the country as a whole will listen to that which the President says. Individuals may disagree with him and may oppose him in his programs and policies, but they will read what he has to say or listen to him on the radio. That is an advantage of great importance, since he has the audience. In the case of senators or representatives, except among a few of the real leaders, a limited group of followers will read what he says or listen to his mouthings, but generally there is the tendency to read a headline and say "It's just Congressman Ump-ta-ump" and read the next column.

In the next place, there is an election facing all of the members of the house of representatives and one-third of the senators, and every day that any one of them balks on Presidential plans, he is just one day nearer the polls. If need be, you know, the President can let it be known that the individual congressman or senator is not wanted, and the cantankerous gentleman or lady member has something to worry about. In few instances can they win individually; they must have party support. So, the President can hold that club, ready to swing. I am told that he has let it drop gently in several places already, but that is outside of this discussion and constitutes purely local party differences.

Besides these, few senators or representatives have the courage to defy the President openly on the floor of their chamber if the President be of their own party. That is the record.

These things I have mentioned are things that happen in normal times, normal both politically and economically. But the discussions heard these days give rise to doubt whether normal rules will be followed. Hence, the question: "What will congress do?"

The walls of the National Press club, that famous rendezvous of writers and those who like to associate with the fourth estate, in Washington, is replete with cartoons and sketches. They are the work of the best of the profession who present the ideas of news and conditions visually. Among them is a cartoon depicting a beer keg personified. It carries the caption: "Don't make a fool of yourself!" The cartoon was drawn just after three-point-two beer was legalized. But, while the cartoon was directed to beer and beer drinkers, some of the officials of the present administration have taken the thought most seriously in its application to the general liquor question. As a result, they are now engaged in studies by which they hope to make it impossible for hard liquor to make a fool of itself when it comes back for legal sale, probably in time for Christmas celebrations.

Under Secretary Acheson, of the treasury, tells me that it is one of the most delicate problems with which he has to deal. It involves social questions of far-reaching consequences; it touches vital spots in the government financial situation because of the probable revenue from liquor taxes and besides these it still remains a political issue despite the overwhelming sentiment for repeal that has been shown.

Mr. Acheson pointed out how all of these questions were interlinked, and that fact has not made their solution easier. For instance, he suggested that the committee of representatives from several departments of the government were searching for a proper tax level. If the rate of tax were too high, it would make liquor cost more than most consumers would be willing to pay. The result most certainly would be return of a large number of bootleggers, from whom the government would get tax only when it caught them. If the rate were too low, the legalization of liquor would have netted nothing, for one thing to be said in its behalf is that it will produce revenue for a government sorely needing it.

If the federal tax rate be too high, also, there would be little of the possible tax left for assessment by the states, and they need taxes as well. Further, a tax rate too high would naturally react against the sale of the raw materials used in distilling liquor. The rate obviously would hurt the farmers who grow so much of the materials.

Besides the tax questions, there is still another. Mr. Acheson suggested that to get the maximum revenue, the committee is looking around to determine what the difference in rates should be on whisky and beer as distinguished from stuff.

Under the new amendment, repealer, it is hoped by government leaders that there can be a measure of control exercised that will rid the country of saloons to some extent. There certainly is no argument for distribution only in packages. That, however, is up to the states, but the federal government nevertheless is studying the question.

Practical problems of the liquor trade likewise must be considered and there are many numbers of questions that must be ironed out. As an example of the legal problems, I am told that while it is normal to suppose repeal will take away the foundation of the Volstead enforcement act, there are nevertheless a good many provisions of it which can stand by themselves. Congress had authority to enact them even though the features of the enforcement act must fall when the Eighteenth amendment becomes just a matter of history. This condition obtains with respect to numerous other laws, including the so-called Volstead act, which for years has prohibited shipment of liquor in states where prohibition is operative. It was predicated on power of congress to regulate interstate commerce as were several other pieces of legislation dealing with the liquor traffic.

Human Body Has Many Spare Parts Physician States

CHICAGO—The human body is largely a collection of superfluous parts, Dr. Morris L. Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, said recently in discussing operations for removal of cancerous organs.

The removal of an entire lung, affected by carcinoma, from a Pittsburgh physician by two St. Louis surgeons—Everts A. Graham and J. J. Singer—was described by Dr. Fishbein as an important contribution to the war on cancer.

Only four organs of the body—the brain, the heart, the pancreas and the adrenal glands—still defy surgical removal, he said. The St. Louis operation, he said, is the first instance of removal of an entire lung.

"The body in most cases has a 100 per cent margin of safety," Dr. Fishbein said. "We have removed stomachs, livers, bladders—almost everything that the ordinary person regards as a necessary part of himself. Yet we find it perfectly possible to live without them."

The 48-year-old Pittsburgh physician, whose name was withheld, reported five weeks after his discharge from hospital that he had gained eight pounds and was able to carry on all normal physical activities. Dr. Fishbein said in reporting the case in the Medical Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Dawson of Alpine, Texas passed through Haskell the latter part of last week on their way home from Oklahoma City where they had been to visit with Mr. Dawson's mother. Mr. Dawson is chief Deputy Sheriff of Brewster county. He paid the Sheriff's office a visit while in our city.

Increase Shown In Shipment of All Livestock

An increase of nearly 33 per cent over the 2,844 cars shipped in September, 1932, was recorded in livestock shipments of 3,776 cars from Texas to Fort Worth and interstate points during September, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Of the four classes of livestock only cattle showed a decline in carload forwardings for September. Compared with the same month last year shipments respectively were: Cattle, 1,429 and 1,617; calves, 643 and 601; hogs, 1,111 and 295; sheep, 593 and 331.

"For the year to date shipments to Fort Worth and interstate points totaled 40,279 cars, an increase of 10 per cent over the 36,636 cars forwarded during the corresponding period in 1932," the report said. "During this period shipments of cattle and sheep were about the same as last year; calf shipments increased considerably, and hog forwardings more than doubled."

"As to the destination of the September shipments the most noteworthy changes from a year ago are the five-fold increase of hogs to Fort Worth, the marked increase of cattle, calves and sheep to Los Angeles, and of sheep to Colorado points, California points other than Los Angeles, Kansas, Kansas City, other Missouri points and New Mexico.

"Similar marked changes occurred in the important livestock districts of the State, compared with last September. In the northern half of the Panhandle only half as many cattle and less than a third as many calves were shipped and no rail shipments were received, while more hogs and sheep were forwarded and three times as many sheep were received. In the southern half of the Panhandle cattle and calf shipments were only one-fourth and one-half those of last year respectively, while hog shipments were four times as great. Sheep were unimportant both years. The Trans Pecos country forwarded less than a third as many cattle and calves and double the number of sheep while the Edwards Plateau shipped slightly fewer cattle and almost double the calves and more than twice as many sheep."

Amon Hessen, Gene White and James Kirkpatrick, all of Sulphur, Oklahoma, were here one day last week visiting Mr. Hassen's brother, S. Hassen, the manager of Hassen Brothers Store in this city.

Mrs. Robert Fourqurean of Sager-ton and Miss Lillian Townsend of Rule attended the Teachers Meeting in Haskell Saturday and were the guests of Mrs. Frank Williams.

60 TOMATO PLANTS GROWN ON CONCRETE TILE ARE THRIVING

Fifty tomato plants grown on concrete garden tile withstood the summer drought and are producing all the fruit used fresh by the family of Solon Lea of the Mitchell community Haskell county.

Every vine on the tile is producing tomatoes while 400 vines irrigated on top of the soil have not produced, says Mrs. Lea.

States, converting them into flour, cloth and clothing and distributing them to the needy and distressed in practically every community in the country.

In its far reaching disaster relief work, the Red Cross is enabled to give necessary help only because it has the confidence of the American people and because millions enroll each year as members.

There are several types of memberships to be had, the chapter head explained. "The annual membership is $1, but any individual may take larger memberships with full confidence that the added support given the chapter is needed and most welcome.

Our Roll Call in Haskell county will be launched on Nov. 11th, and during the ensuing two weeks every adult in the county will be invited to join Red Cross. I am confident that an account of the service rendered in the community during the past year, and the continuing need during the months of recovery which are ahead, a larger membership than ever before will be enrolled by the chapter.

Black-Draught Clears Up Sluggish Feeling

"I have used Theford's Black-Draught for constipation for a long time," writes Mrs. Frank Champion of Wynne, Ark. "If I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, a dose of Black-Draught taken three times a day will cause the feeling to pass away, and in a day or two, I feel like a new person. After many years of use we would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine."

To reach such a total the farmers of Haskell county would have had to sell 280,000 pounds, or about 25 live cow loads.

In an advertisement that I had inserted in your newspaper last week, I advised the farmers that if they pooled their turkeys this year to do so on the condition that if our direct door price was as good, or better than the pool price any member of such pool would be at liberty to sell turkeys to for the same reason that we should be favored because the hundreds of dollars paid out in picking, grading and packing would then go to our own Haskell county folk and not to outsiders in other words, retaining every penny we could in Haskell county.

I hardly believe the farmers of Haskell county have forgotten, he said, that C. J. Roberts, formerly a manager of the Sears, Roebuck poultry unit at Abilene, offered 12 cents for the November post last year, telling them at the time that a higher price later was impossible to think of. His offer was refused and pool members held over until November and sold for 8 cents.

FOUR ARRESTED—

Slain While Asleep The complaints, filed before Justice of the Peace J. Loy Ramsour, also charged Hill and Beck with conspiracy to kill Ed. C. Couch, banker and Hidalgo county judge, for whom the town of Edcouch in the lower Rio Grande valley was named. The complaints were sworn out by Sheriff T. C. Gill and Deputy Sheriff E. F. Copeland.

Kelley, Couch's son-in-law, was killed as he slept in a room usually occupied by Couch, which the father-in-law had given up to him for the night while Kelley was his guest. Kelley had been looking after certain business interests of Couch, who at that time was active in the management of a bank at Westaco. Couch then lived in Westaco, but now lives in Edinburg.

Two Lack Bond Beck was arrested last Thursday in Dallas and brought here to jail, being liberated today under $2,000 bond. Ybarra and Cuellar were held in jail without bond. Officers here had requested El Paso authorities to take Hill into custody. Ybarra and Beck made statements to officers.

Ybarra went to Mexico in 1931, after Kelley's death, but returned to the United States in May, 1933. Beck and Hill formerly were close political adherents of the late Sheriff A. Y. Baker, millionaire sheriff of Hidalgo county and power in the Rio Grande valley politics for many years.

State rangers investigated the killing of Kelley in 1931 and questioned Ybarra, but later released him. Sheriff Gill reopened the investigation three weeks ago, after receiving new clues from a source in Mexico. The cases were expected to be presented to the grand jury which convenes Nov. 6. No date for an examining trial had been set.

Bill Kimbrough Is Making Good on the Aggie Football Team

The following story of Bill Kimbrough's work on the A & M football team appeared in the University of Texas paper. It was written by one of the University students and was mailed to the Free Press by Floyd Taylor, a Haskell boy who is a student in State University.

"One of the reasons why 'Frenchy' Domingue, Aggie backfield ace is leading the Southwest conference in scoring is that he has one of the best blockers in the conference with him in the backfield. The player to whom we refer is Bill Kimbrough. A former triple-threat high school player with Haskell, Texas, Kimbrough has been used so far this year by Matty Bell, Aggie coach, to run interference for Domingue and Fowler. A big factor in the Aggie's win over Tulane was the intercepting of several Tulane passes by Kimbrough. It seems that this player is to become a A & M what Harrison Stafford was to Texas."

(Continued from First Page) and takes them home with her. She reads through all of them and whenever she chances upon an item in which she thinks someone in Haskell will be interested in, she clips it and hands it to them.

Realizing that most people cannot subscribe for all the newspapers published, Mrs. Williams made it her duty a number of years ago to furnish newcomers with the most interesting items from the towns in which they had left. The idea has been expanded and includes persons residing here for years.

Many incidents in connection with this distribution of news items have occurred. Births, deaths, marriages, of people living hundreds of miles away have been made known to interested parties living in this section which would have been otherwise missed.

Probably one of the most outstanding events developing from Mrs. Williams' work occurred a few years past when she gave a newspaper to a party near Haskell which concerned a relative. Imagine the joy occasioned by all concerned when it transpired that the relatives, who had lost track of each other for nearly twenty years, were brought together.

The Free Press force carefully saves all the "exchanges" and while to the uninitiated it may appear that a certain copy has "no news" in it, Mrs. Williams may think, and prove otherwise.

She has proved it so many times that no one around this newspaper office even thinks of contradicting her.
