R.; declamation, Catherine Duff; extemporaneous speaking, Agnes Walton, Rochester; music, Ethel Houston, Brenham; choral singers, Velma Johnston, Haskell; spelling, Ellis Cobb; essay writing, Donald Haskell; three "R's", V. The Minnie Ellis, county superintendent introduced Superintendent of Schools C. B. Breedlove, who introduced A. A. Bullock.

Ellis as retiring county superintendent, called upon D. L. Graham, superintendent, and thereupon allowed Mr. Graham to preside over the organization of county league work.

An interesting sidelight of the meeting to the teachers centered around the discussion, and demonstration of the teaching of music in public schools by Miss Madge Taylor, supervisor from Taylor and a Mr. Murdock, of Abilene. The demonstrators were introduced by Miss Mann.

Haskell-Snyder Game 14-14 Tie

Coming to life in the second half, Haskell Indians powerhoused their way into a 14-14 tie game last Friday night with the Snyder Tigers after the Scurry county players had outsmarted and outplayed the locals in the first half. Haskell counted twenty-four first downs to Snyder's eight, attracted crowd of 2000 present.

After playing lethargic ball in the first half, the Indians came on in the second stanza acting as if they were on the warpath, and quit the reservation for good—some too soon if only for the sake of the howling, frantic Haskell fans. Inspired, the rampaging Indians began using running plays instead of passes. Time after time, the Snyder line and the Haskell line became as tired as a runner's thumb from pointing down.

A brief summary of the main action in the various quarters as kept in the short is as follows: Quarter: Haskell received a kicking off and returned to 30 yard line. Haskell punts and Snyder returns to own 15-yard line. Snyder punts to own 40 yard line. Haskell punts on first try by fumbling. Snyder penalized 5 yards for off-side. Haskell starts from own 35 yard line, and poor punting leaves Snyder in hole as it falls on Snyder's 25 yard line. Haskell threw Snyder for three losses behind line of scrimmage. Snyder, by better punting keeps ball in Haskell territory.

Haskell Indians To Battle Rotan Yellowhammers Here Friday Night

The football game with Rotan, which was scheduled to be played at Rotan Friday, has been transferred to Haskell and will be played here Friday night under the lights, according to local school authorities, thereby giving Haskell five home games in a row.

The Rotan Yellowhammers were champions of the district last year and smothered the Indians 27 to 0. Wade, husky Rotan end, who made his miserable life for the tribe in 1933, graduated, but thirteen lettermen reported back and with new men available, Coach Shelby Jones is rapidly welding together another fighting eleven. Rotan lost to Snyder 13 to 0 recently, but the team has clicked better since the game with the Tigers.

The game here Friday night will start at eight o'clock and the admission prices will remain the same—15, 25 and 50 cents.

AMPLE CENTENNIAL FUND IS DEMANDED

Texas Relief Load Short of Amount Expected Account of Other Employment

GALVESTON, Texas.— Prompt and ample financial provision by the State for carrying out existing plans of the Texas Centennial Commission for a commemoration that should be Texanic in its proportions was demanded by the Democratic party of Texas in the adoption in convention here of a plank in its platform endorsing such celebrations as it is proposed to hold in 1936 at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston, Dallas and other cities. This plank read:

"We unreservedly endorse the proposals of a public-spirited citizenry for a Texas Centennial that shall celebrate in 1936 one hundred years of our incomparable history and unexampled progress."

"To this end, above party or faction, we invoke the united support of all the people of Texas."

"We further call upon the Legislature of Texas at the earliest opportunity presented, to make ample financial provision for carrying out existing plans of the Texas Centennial Commission, for holding a great central exposition that shall be Texanic in its proportions, continental in its ideals and international in its scope, and for appropriate local celebrations at those historic places and shrines in Texas, treasured as our common sacred heritage."

Centennial May Have Concert By Children of State

AUSTIN, Texas.—An ambitious plan for the participation of 50,000 Texas school students in a massed musical concert during the Texas Centennial of 1936, which will be celebrated at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston, Dallas and other cities is proposed by State Superintendent of Public Instruction L. A. Woods of Waco. Letters have been sent out by Mr. Woods asking every school in the State to start making plans for a statewide musical program and it is proposed that appropriate songs shall be taught with the aid of phonographs.

Local committees over the State are being named to work out county programs.

HASKELL MAGAZINE CLUB ROUNDS OUT 32 YEARS OF WORK

Local Women's Study Organization Founded Through Exchange of Magazines

FEDERATED IN 1903

Organized in 1902 By Girls Home From School; Club's House Erected in 1917

With an opening program which contrasted vividly with that presented by the founders in 1902, the Haskell Magazine Club, local women's study organization, met last Oct. 12 for the new year's work for the thirty-second time. The local club was federated in 1903, and the beautiful club house erected in 1917.

With Mrs. H. H. Atkinson, president; Mrs. J. U. Fields, first vice-president; Mrs. Wm. G. Forgy, second vice-president; Mrs. Roy A. Sanders, recording secretary; Mrs. Ben Bagwell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. P. M. Baldwin, treasurer; Mrs. R. C. Couch, parliamentarian; Mrs. B. C. Chapman, publicist; Mrs. W. H. Cox, counselor.

With Mrs. Atkinson as hostess and Mrs. Forgy directing a program based on "These United States" was presented. Following Mrs. Atkinson's address "This United Club," the song "America" was sung by members and guests. Mrs. F. T. Sanders read a paper especially prepared on "Columbus Day." The "American Creed" was then recited in unison by those present. Mrs. Foster Davis, violinist, played "Souvenir" accompanied by Mrs. O. E. Patterson. A cast of six club members closed the program with a playlet "The Three Visitors."

The Magazine Club of Haskell was federated in 1903, and was so named on account of the fact that the exchanging of high class magazines was of prime importance in a day when Haskell was only a village of about one-half dozen stores. The present organization, which has a membership of about fifty, is an outgrowth of the Fortnightly Club of Haskell.

Mutterings by some men of "women's suffrage" which was not exactly approved of by some of those accused in 1902 were heard, but the girls just home from school knew what they wanted and stood by their original plans, which also included a library.

Reading material of the "Little Women" type was of no interest to the charter members. Such Shakespearean plays similar to "As You Like It" were read, discussed and then presented for the edification (Continued on Page 5)

SUSTAINS FRACTURED HIP IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Jim Woodall, 42, farmer residing west of Haskell, sustained a fracture of his left hip Saturday night when the light sedan which he was driving collided with another car in the crowded traffic almost in front of the entrance to the Central West Texas Fair grounds. No one else was injured.

Identity of the driver of the other car figuring in the collision has not been learned. Bystanders stated that after the cars struck, stalling the engine of Woodall's car, the other car was driven away. Woodall's car was slightly damaged.

Woodall was carried to the Knox City hospital in a Kinney ambulance.

Haskell Magazine Clubhouse and Library

The Haskell Magazine Clubhouse was erected in 1917. It is surrounded by a beautiful grass lawn and shrubbery. Inside the building is a large entertainment room, library room, decorated with paintings by well-known Texas artists, and a well-equipped kitchen. The clubhouse is valued at approximately $10,000.

Rare Curios Exhibited At Fair Here Last Week; Many Valuable

As the crowds milled through the exhibit building at the Central West Texas Fair last week, not a few stopped for only a moment at the booth housing the curios. No feature of the fair was more interesting to see, if the observer paused long enough to find out some of the history pertaining to each object.

Reams of paper, and thousands upon thousands of words, could be used by a writer in detailing the many interesting things to be seen in all of the booths, but anyone could let their imagination loose and stories rivaling the best of best-selling novels turned out.

Parked on the top shelf in the booth were two hats—a swanky straw and a derby, exhibited by Fred Monke, who wore the headgear only thirty-four years ago. How proudly the gentleman must have been when he purchased those two hats! They are curios now, but were "the thing" in 1900.

How many toil-worn hands foodily handled the Bible, exhibited by Mrs. Tom Couch, which was published in 1807? Down through the years—during the wars of 1812, Mexican, Civil and Spanish—perhaps many tears dropped onto the leaves of the Book, and perhaps after reading, many hearts were cheered and the world made to look brighter.

Laughter comes next! But it was no laughing matter in 1891, because the clothes shown in the Delinicator of that year were the very "latest." And, take a close look, the dresses have a familiar look in some respects, because the smartly-dressed woman of today is wearing clothes that apex the styles of many years ago. Mrs. G. C. Cowan, of Rochester, was the exhibitor.

More laughter, and some wonderment, also. Did you "heft" that 50-year old petticoat? It was brought to the fair and Mrs. Lewellen's name was placed on the card as the exhibitor. The petticoat, which resembles those worn (by some women) today in a few respects, weighed about three pounds (Continued on Page Eight) some counties, the case load has been cut almost fifty per cent.

"This is only temporary employment, however, and in most cases, these people will have to be admitted again to the rolls."

Other reductions were brought about by close investigation of the relief rolls in accordance with instructions of the Board of Control to purge the rolls of all cases found not clearly entitled to relief.

RELIEF WORK FOR OCTOBER DECLINES

AUSTIN, Texas.—The Texas relief load, expected to reach a new high during the month of October, actually has fallen short of the September mark by nearly 2,000.

The October figure, announced by H. L. Davis, field supervisor, is 263,224. In September, there were 265,128 cases.

The decline was attributed to seasonal employment, many clients having found work in the cotton fields, and to a searching study of the relief rolls.

"The load has fallen off particularly in northeast Texas where the cotton was not so hard hit by the drought and where many clients have found jobs in the fields. In

CLOSE OF HASKELL FAIR ON SATURDAY DRAWS THOUSANDS

Despite Drouth, Celebration Is One of Best in History of Haskell County

EXHIBITS GOOD

Both Quality and Quantity in Central West Texas Fair Held Here Last Week

With at least 8,000 people streaming through the Central West Texas Fair grounds gate Saturday, one of the finest fairs ever held in Haskell came to a close.

Beginning at 7 P. M., a jostling, good-natured crowd milled around the carnival midway and through the exhibit buildings, primarily bent on forgetting drought conditions.

When the final penny was checked and last exhibit returned by the fair officials, no doubt was left that the 1934 celebration, despite the pessimistic predictions of many people, was a tremendous success.

From far and wide throughout West Texas visitors came to view, and promise local officials that they would again be present next year, but with exhibits and not as mere spectators. Plans are expected to be made by the fair directors to make the next fair better. More exhibits, a larger carnival and other interesting attractions may be booked, and although no definite announcement has been made, horse racing may be eliminated and other features substituted.

Schools Warned To Check Disease

AUSTIN, Texas.—The daily inspection of school children and the removal and isolation of those found ailing, constitutes one of the most important factors in the control of communicable diseases, declared Dr. John W. Brown, State Health officer.

Medical supervision of school children is, of course, the ideal method of disease control. However, in most communities, this is not possible. Parent and teachers can do a great deal in preventing the spread of disease. If the parent notices anything abnormal about the child, he should be kept at home.

The teacher should notify the parents of children who show any of the following symptoms: Loss of weight, pallor, pains, flushing of the face, breaking out of any kind, cold in head, especially running eyes, evidence of sore throat, cough, vomiting, etc.

If children showing the early signs of the common children's diseases are excluded and their family physician consulted early, many epidemics could be averted and loss of time prevented. It is much better to have one child miss a few days of school, rather than run the risk of spreading the disease to his classmates.

In Armenia, Egypt, and several other eastern countries, rose petals are used to make jam or jelly; the red buds are pounded and mixed with sugar, water, and icing, and cut into small squares. Whole buds are left in for decorative purposes.

Seated Tea in Fields Home Honoring Mrs. S. P. Herren.

Introducing Mrs. S. P. Herren, who has come here from San Francisco, California, to make her home, Mrs. J. U. Fields was hostess to more than a hundred guests at her home Saturday afternoon. The occasion was a seated tea.

Using green and yellow for the chosen colors, the rooms were attractively decorated with huge California chrysanthemums, gladioli and snap dragons. The dining table was covered with a banquet cloth of green laid with silver. The centerpiece consisted of a silver bowl of guinea-gold marigolds and lighted candles in silver candelabras.

Mrs. P. T. Sanders greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to the hostess, Mrs. Fields presented the honoree of the occasion, and Mrs. Wallace Cox introduced Miss Irma Campbell, Abilene. Other members of the house party were Mesdames A. H. Wain, J. A. Jones, Hollis Atkinson, W. G. Forgy, S. Hassen, Hill Oates, Roy A. Sanders, Bert Welsh and Foster Davis.

A short program followed the arrival of the guests. Mrs. Bert Welsh sang two numbers composed by a friend of the hostess, Mr. W. D. Davidson of Greensboro, Georgia. The songs were "Shadowy Mire" and "A Lullaby." Mrs. Wallace Cox accompanied, Mrs. Foster Davis gave as violin solos Kreisler's "Old Refrain" and Schumann's "Traumerel." Mrs. O. E. Patterson was accompanist, Miss Campbell, who is head of the Department of English, Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, gave a review of Stark Young's "So Red the Rose."

Mrs. J. A. Jones poured coffee while members of the house party passed refreshment plates carrying out the color scheme.

Cecil Lancaster Circle

The members of the North Circle met Monday afternoon October 15 at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. R. C. Couch for a Bible Study; fourteen ladies being present.

The meeting opened by singing "I Need Thee Every Hour." Prayer, led by Mrs. Mary Oates. Mrs. R. C. Couch gave the devotional after which we had a short business session.

Mrs. Jim Fouts taught our Bible lesson, reading the first twelve verses of the 5th chapter of Leviticus. Many interesting thoughts were brought out in the discussion. Meeting was dismissed with prayer. Reporter.

The Methodist Missionary Society

On Monday afternoon October 22 the women of the Methodist Missionary Society met at the church. After a very interesting devotional, led by Mrs. Quitman Gentry, the ladies formed in groups and went to visit the sick, shut-ins and new members. Everywhere we were made to feel that our visits were appreciated and some of our shut-ins make us ashamed of having ever uttered one word of complaint. These dear ones have learned to appreciate the real blessings of life, while we, who are well, often sigh and long for the unattainable. These visits are a blessing to us who make them, and for our own sakes we should make them oftener. We meet on next Monday, October 29 in our all-day Mission Study. Mrs. Wallace Cox, superintendent, will be in charge. Come promptly at 10 a. m. and listen to the very interesting program which is being prepared.—Reporter.

Mary Alexander Circle

The Mary M. Alexander Circle of the Methodist Missionary Society was delightfully entertained Oct. 15 in the home of Mrs. S. Hassen. There were 15 present, including the visitors.

The program began with a song and a prayer. Roll call was answered with a verse of scripture. Mrs. H. K. Thornton gave a talk on the meeting of the international conference and Mrs. P. A. Womble gave a description of the life of the Southern Negro.

After a discussion of the topics Mrs. Hassen served a lovely refreshment plate, consisting of kibbles, lemonade flavored with orange blossom extract, and individual pies topped with whipped cream.

Magazine Club

The Magazine Club, at their second meeting Friday Oct. 19, had a program on Parliamentary Law, with Mrs. R. C. Couch as director and Mrs. B. C. Chapman hostess. After the regular business and reports of various committees, the following program was given:

DEALER TAKES RARE DUCKBILL PLATYPUS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Ellis S. Joseph, 300-pound dealer in strange and rare animals, is famed as the only man who ever brought a duck-bill platypus into captivity.

Aside from this, Joseph once presented an Australian city with the largest chimpanzee in captivity, knows every corner of the earth by heart, and virtually can name every animal that inhabits them.

He has walked from one coast of Africa to the other collecting animals and reptiles.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hurt are the proud parents of a thirteen-pound boy born Oct. 19th. Mother and father are doing fine.

Mrs. William Breustedt and Mrs. Hugh McLendon of Waco are here visiting with relatives Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McGregor and family.

EDITORIAL

Students, don't you think it would be a good plan for us all, to develop the habit of using our own pens? There are some boys and girls whose theme paper, pencils, fountain pens, etc., have been purchased at a great sacrifice, and necessitates the utmost economy on their part and on the part of their parents. Why can't each begin using his very own pen?

A student's locker is his private property and no other student has the right whatsoever to interfere with the contents. This is a time when utmost consideration should be shown to each other—a time when kindness and thoughtfulness toward others is needed. So let us endeavor to keep these thoughts in mind every moment of each day as we go about our daily routine. Let us treat others as we'd like for them to treat us.

Thoughtfulness covers more than just this, however. It would you enjoy being on the pep squad and have someone to do your part on the assembly program and have someone to laugh or make fun of you? You would not like it one bit. Remember whether or not you are the number presented does not matter much—but there may be one near you developed along that line to appreciate or appreciate your conduct in a gentle manner. It will be no effort on your part to encourage the performer with hearty applause. Just remember it is not to show culture or good nature to openly disapprove of a number on a program and do not let the idea that it is cute to do so than behave in a gracious manner.

ARE YOU LOYAL TO THE PEP SQUAD?

Are you one of those individuals who say by words or looks or actions that it is "downright" for girls to get out there and yell their heads off? If you are, let me ask you how would you like it if H. H. S. didn't have one? Would you never have stopped to think what an organized pep squad means to high school spirit; maybe you never have considered how we would be criticized by other schools and by the general public if we didn't have school spirit enough to maintain one. After all, fellow students, the pep squad is school spirit, intensified and emphasized. In a recent publication the famous Red Grange has mentioned bands, organized cheering and football girls as "props" which make schoolboy football a pageant—props which professional football lacks. Now since we can't all be main characters in what he calls the pageant, isn't it showing the right spirit to provide the necessary "props"?

There's something admirably loyal about a pep squad girl. She cheerfully keeps her eyes on the leaders, sacrificing her chance to see the game, except in snatches—the leaders see practically none of it. And for how much glory? But that's not the point. Each girl lends her tones to resound in one exalted voice—the voice of High School Spirit—which says to the fighting Indians "You can, you can, we know you can!" and which says to the fans "They're ours, and we're proud of 'em; we're backing them, win or lose!" It's your voice and my voice, saying what we haven't the volume to say individually.

So if you ever are inclined to speak lightly or flippantly of this organization, please sign off suddenly just before you say it. Or if you must, kindly say it where it will never reach the ears of the pep squad. Honest, fellows, it feels like a wet blanket.

FOOTBALL

The Haskell Indians rallied in the last half here Friday night to tie the Snyder Tigers, 14-14, before 1200 fans. Snyder had not been defeated this season.

Snyder scored twice in the first half when Heustis passed 20 yards to Beavers and Wolcott raced 90 yards with an intercepted pass for second touchdown.

In the third quarter Haskell marched 50 yards for their first score made by John Kimbrough and he also kicked the extra point. The next score was made on a fake punt, which turned into a pass from Jack Kimbrough to Ino. Kimbrough and was good for the second touchdown, the extra point being made by a line plunge also by John Kimbrough.

Haskell made 21 first downs to 8 for Snyder.

SOPHOMORES "KNOW-IT-ALL"

"Know-It-All" is a spirit in Sophomore Class. He will answer the three most popular questions he hears at school.

Dear Know-It-All:
 How would I feel if someone were to step in and take Elsie away from me?
 Puzzled,
 Winston Watson.

Dear Winston:
 Ask James Cassle or Harvey Simmons.

 Dear Know-It-All:

PERSONALS

We thank Mr. Atkinson for blending his salesmanship with that of the Gypsy Ramblers and helping us sell programs at the game Friday night.

Mrs. Sullivan, the student body greets you as our new vocational agriculture teacher.

I. A. Anita and Carrie Brooks are back in school from a two weeks vacation in Arkansas.

Mrs. Wimbish has been ill for about five days, but don't think she let that interfere with her Indian spirit because she was right on that side line Friday night.

Gerry Norris visited relatives in Wichita Falls Sunday.

Gerry Fouts and Gayle Roberts spent the week end in Brownwood visiting the former's relatives.

We were proud of Chrystine Tucker's acrobatics Friday night.

IT HAPPENED IN HOME EC.

The Good Luck Pals
 The Good Luck Pals had a social Monday evening at five o'clock at Geraldine Conner's residence. The program consisted of six girls, Geraldine Norris, Elsie Gholsen, Catherine Wair, Geraldine Fouts, Geraldine Conner, Annie Barnett, dressed and representing the colors of the rainbow. These gave the creed and watch-word of the Home Economics to the new members as they were received into the Club. Fun was had by the upper classmen in initiating the freshmen. Refreshments were served to forty-five of the members.

Reporter.

The second year Home Economics girls believe in the old saying that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Evidently this is why the boys of the seventh and eighth period study halls have been trailing the scent of onions, cabbage, stuffed peppers and so on right to the Home Ec. kitchen door.

Won't some of the more graceful freshmen girl teach little Maurine Moser how to count the steps?

We don't know whether Fred Gilliam, Robert Barnett, R. C. Couch and Jerry Carmichael were "high balled" or not Thursday morning, but anyway they have a wrecked flivver.

It is quite apparent that Marjorie Wright runs into everything, but poor Marjorie, love is blind.

Did you notice that members of the biology class were hunting "grasshoppers" on the school lawn Monday night?

DENTS AND INCIDENTS

Mr. Wimbish—How long does it take a mosquito to develop from a pupa to an adult stage?
 T. J. Watson—About half a page.

"Your the breath of my life," says Frederick, Jr.
 "Hold your breath then, you big boob," sighs Louise Mac.

In India, a kiss is a sniff. Did you see that blister on Covell's sniffer?

His Second Fight

Here is Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, belligerent Texas senator, who now has had two scraps with Senator Joe Moore of Greenville to his credit. In October, 1933, Holbrook tangled with Moore, and again during the present extra session, Holbrook struck Moore a glancing blow on the head after a "he" was passed. The last fist-swinging resulted when Moore stated that a $3,000 appropriation for two days was "a piece of political pie" for Holbrook. "Any man who says that is a liar," shouted the Galveston senator. "I am both advanced, Holbrook, swayed and swayed, and then they get separated and accepted in their state." (Texas News Photo)

TO WHOM THIS MAY CONCERN

As Secretary-Treasurer of Haskell-Knox County Burial Association, the following statement is made:

That on June 11th, an application came into our office for Mrs. Hester A. Harwell, Rt. 1, Sagerton. Since the death of Mrs. Harwell it has developed that we were misled as to the condition of her health at that time, and upon investigation I am convinced that Mr. Harwell, whom I have known for 27 years, nor the family were not responsible for this mis-information.

As it is our custom to have some member of the family who puts in the family sign a statement before Notary that the statements made on date of application were true on date of application, which Mr. Harwell would not do, and convincing the Secy-Treas., that he did not mislead or mis-inform solicitors who took the application, I am paying this claim from my personal funds, as I do not feel it just to ask membership to pay this claim, from information that I have.

While I am paying this claim personally, I am instructing future solicitors to be more careful, and fair with members, also warning others that there will not be other claims paid, until statement is made before Notary that condition of health as stated on application to secure this protection was true and correct on date of application. I do this in justice to the loyal members we now have responding so nobly, and to warn those who think it all right to make any statement without foundation of truth, that they may impose unfairly upon our Association, which the writer intends to handle fairly and honestly, and such future payments will be restricted to refund of actual cash paid into Association by deceased member.

Respectfully,
W. H. Littlefield, Secy-Treas.
To Whom This May Concern:

I take this method of thanking W. H. Littlefield, Secy-Treas. of Haskell-Knox County Burial Association for benefits we received from the death of my wife, Mrs. Hester A. Harwell.

Owing to the facts that I could not honestly sign a statement required and which Mr. Littlefield is now demanding from all members when claims are paid, as a protection to members of The Association, and after investigation by him from which he is assured that we, as a family, did not mislead to secure this Policy.

He is therefore paying this claim personally, as he does not feel it just to ask membership to pay it.

Mr. Littlefield's action in this is in keeping with his reputation for fair dealing, as established by him to those who have known him, as I have, for about 27 years.

of the public in general. The people of Stamford, although having an organization of like nature, were given opportunity to hear and see the Haskell stage players. Admission was charged.

The presenting of plays, reading of books and exchanging of lively sayings with their 1902 "boy friends" were the highlights in the lives of the club members, but time was also found for the studying of "where this knife should be placed" and "where this fork belongs."

Perhaps the greatest thrill experienced by the early Magazine Club women came when it was time for the delegate to attend the annual meeting of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Clothes, so 1903-4 Haskell newspapers depict, were not so individualized as they are today, and the closets in the rooms of many members were searched industriously for suitable garments. A hat was donated by this member, a coat from another, and perhaps shoes from still another. The Haskell delegate had to be well-groomed.

The early dreams entertained by charter members, and concurred in by others throughout the years, for a library of merit, have been realized to such an extent that over 2000 books are now on the shelves. Sometime ago the members found that the task of keeping the library was becoming harder, and an appeal was made to the city council, and that administration body responded by hiring a librarian.

Encouragement was given the women of Haskell many times by "the men" morally and financially. When the idea of building a club-house was first broached, several Haskell men favored the project, and later, when the building had been erected, five of Haskell's citizens—Fred Sanders, R. R. English, the late W. H. Murchison, Courtney thus and I. Fields—went on the note of the club members.

Names of women which once were found upon the rolls of the Haskell Magazine Club have since been accepted by clubs and organizations in various other Texas cities, among them being Mrs. C. D. Long, mother of Attorney C. B. Long, of Wichita Falls; also Mr. Long's wife; Mrs. S. W. Scott, of San Antonio, now prominently identified with D. A. R. work; Mrs. R. R. English, of Plainview; Mrs. W. H. Murchison, of Bastrop; Mrs. E. Sutherland, Mrs. H. R. Jones, and Mrs. D. H. Boland, all of Wichita Falls. Mrs. Walter Meadors, formerly of Wichita Falls, is a life member of the local club.

Mrs. S. R. Rike is the only charter member who is still an active member of the Magazine Club.

State honors have been brought to the Haskell club by two of the club members—Mrs. J. U. Fields and Mrs. W. H. Murchison.

Mrs. Fields, now first vice-president of the club here, served as state president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs from 1926 to 1927. She was also district president during 1917-1918, and is now state chairman of the American Home Department of the state organization.

Mrs. Murchison was at one time state secretary and also filled various offices in the local club. District offices have also been held by Mrs. P. T. Sanders, Mrs. Courtney Hunt and Mrs. S. R. Rike.

The present roll call of the club is as follows: Active members—Mrs. W. H. Atkinson, Mrs. Ben Bagwell, Mrs. P. M. Baldwin, Mrs. T. G. Cahill, Mrs. J. A. Cassie, Mrs. Sam Chapman, Mrs. B. C. Chapman, Mrs. Chas. M. Conner, Mrs. J. A. Couch, Mrs. R. C. Couch, Mrs. W. H. Cox, Mrs. Foster Davis, Mrs. W. G. Forgy, Mrs. S. Hassen, Mrs. W. N. Huclabee, Mrs. Server Leon, Mrs. Guy Mays, Mrs. T. Stop! Trouble Ahead!

Cleveland, O.—After at least 40 traffic signs had disappeared in fashionable Cleveland Heights, police of the suburb moved to stop porcupining of the decorations for college and high school boys' rooms. One boy, caught in the act, told officers the signs were used for room novelties. City Manager Harry Canfield of Cleveland Heights, asked that a heavy penalty be provided for theft of such signs.

SHORT MEASURE OF GOAT BRINGS KICK

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Familiar with requests for checking all types of cents measures, the local office of the California division of weights and measures recently was perplexed by a "short measure" case.

An unnamed purchaser of a goat, in all seriousness, appeared before the division and demanded he be protected against a fraud in liquid measure.

The goat was sold to him, he said, with the guarantee it would deliver two quarts of milk a day. However, the animal delivered only one and a half quarts daily, which he contended was "short measure" and the division of weights and measures should protect his rights.

The case was settled when the original owner took back the goat and refunded the purchase price.

Tips on How and What to Improve

If you need more table space in your small kitchen, an old table flap or drop leaf hinged and hung under the kitchen window or some convenient wall space, will supply it. When in use it takes the place of the table, and occupies no space at all when not in use.

If an ant were enlarged to human size and its strength increased proportionately, it could move objects weighing 120 tons.

EDUCATED BALL PLAYERS

Among the other novel circumstances connected with the recent World Series is the fact that the rival managers both are college men, Frankie Frisch having gone straight from the campus of Fordham University to the New York Giants, from whom he was obtained by the St. Louis Cardinals in the Hornsby trade, while Mickey Cochrane, pilot of the Detroit Tigers, is an alumnus of Boston University.

Quite a number of college men have made good in the majors, among the other notables being Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, who is a graduate of Columbia University; Charlie Gehringer, Riggs Stephenson, Hal Schumacher, Eddie Collins and George Sisler. There probably are many more, and an even greater number of young men were good enough at baseball to finance their college education in professional baseball, but with most of these the game was just a means of preparing themselves for some other life work. And unless possessed of especial baseball talent this is the wiser course for the life of a baseball player is comparatively short on the diamond and the wiser ones, unless they quickly become outstanding stars, usually quit the diamond early for some profession at which they can earn a living for a much longer period than in baseball. A has-been in baseball, like a has-been in any other walk of life, leads a precarious existence unless he has been wise and saved his money when in his prime. The country is full of broken down baseball players who wasted their substance in riotous living in their heyday and now that they are no longer wanted on the diamond they find it hard to eke out a living at any other kind of work.

UNITED STATES COINS

In the midst of all the argument about the gold standard, coinage of silver, inflation, and other monetary matters, a few facts about our present coins may be of some interest.

The United States silver dollar was first minted in 1794, and has been in circulation in varying amounts ever since, but its coinage has practically ceased in recent years.

Our word "dollar," by the way, is derived from the German term "thaler," the name of a piece of money first coined in Bohemia about the year 1518. The origin of the dollar mark ($) is not known with certainty.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on a bronze 2-cent piece in 1864, and since 1865 it has been used on gold and silver coins. The eagle appeared on the first coins issued, and on most coins ever since.

It may not be generally known that half-dollars, quarters and dimes are legal tender for debts not exceeding $10, while nickels and cents are legal tender up to only 25 cents.

As a practical proposition, it is believed that any old kind of coins would be accepted at present as legal tender for debts of any amount. We know we'd take 'em on past due accounts, and no questions asked.

THE NEW NRA

The departure of the fiery and picturesque Gen. Hugh S. Johnson as National Recovery Administrator marks the beginning of the second phase of NRA and in the general reorganization of NRA an entirely different attitude toward industry is expected. President Roosevelt indicated in his "fireside" talk to the nation recently that some radical changes are to be made in the recovery program. The Chief Executive spoke the thoughts of the majority of those who have watched the progress of the recovery program closely when he said that the wisdom of extending code requirements suited to the great industrial centers to the great number of small employers in the smaller communities is questionable. Most observers long since were convinced that application of NRA to the small businesses in the smaller communities has been more harmful than helpful. Of course, ultimate success of NRA depends largely upon the personal element, and codes could be quite beneficial to the larger industries if employers and labor would show a greater spirit of cooperation. But the small employers find it almost impossible to compete with the "big fellow" and honestly comply with the NRA code.

It is hoped that in the reorganization of NRA, more consideration will be given to the welfare of the small employer and the President in his radio address held out the promise that the new recovery setup will provide this protection for the "little fellow." The need for speed in getting NRA in operation in the beginning eliminated any possibility of making any special provision for the small employers and most of them have made a faithful attempt to live up to their codes of fair dealing—a far greater percentage in fact, than among the larger employers. But now that the recovery program is to be completely overhauled these inequalities should be remedied, else the whole structure is doomed to collapse completely.

SKETCHES

By W. G. FORGY

We recently witnessed a picture entitled "Baby Take a Bow." We propose that Troy Post, new secretary of the Central West Texas Fair Association, by acclamation, step forward and take his bow before the public and we further propose that said public give the industrious young insurance salesman a GREAT big hand. He deserves it!

Troy, with no knowledge of the recent fair proposals, or activities, was thrust into the wide breach caused by the resignation of Herman K. Henry, who had carried practically all of the burden upon himself. Shaking his curly-locked head, Post buckled down, with only a few days preparation, and kept the wheels turning to such good purpose that Haskell staged one of the best fairs in history.

We have, so far, failed to find a single person who has envied Troy his job as secretary. Neither have we heard anyone grumbling because they were not chosen instead of the "man who made good."

Our new secretary, when notified of his "appointment" probably wished the officials had chosen someone else, but he didn't whimper about his bad luck, nor has he whined about how much he has had to do and how little all of us appreciated his work. He was sent in as a pinch-hitter, in the ninth inning, with two men out and THE BASES LOADED! A correct, and succinct, account can now be made in the box score: He Delivered! May Haskell attract more like him!

H. K. Henry, former secretary of the fair association, now an officer in the United States Army, was many miles from the scene of the Haskell fair last week, but we venture to predict that his thoughts during that time were more on the winners of various awards than in learning his duties as an army officer.

Herman Henry is no longer of Haskell. He laid down the cares of his vocational agricultural teaching in the Haskell schools, the secretary of the fair "job" and a host of other positions which tended toward the boosting of Haskell and Haskell county.

His call to the army was sudden. So sudden and imperative that no time could be wasted in making a decision. True to military technique, he was told to answer and answer soon, and while the Haskell fair means a lot to us, the army cared not one whit whether Haskell had a fair last week, or next winter. All they wanted was for H. K. Henry to report.

Haskell in every particular will miss H. K. Henry and has sustained a distinct loss. He worked for Haskell. No one denies that, and it never seemed as if he could find too much to do. If he works one-half as hard as he did as an officer as he has for Haskell, he'll become a brigadier-general soon.

When we were at the Fair Grounds one day last week, we stepped over to the poultry section and conversed with the Rev. H. R. Whatley. We spoke of Henry, his work and his chickens, and while neither of us said anything to that effect, we believe we both saluted the spirit of H. K. Henry and wished him well in his new vocation.

RANDOMLY—When asked what he would wear in the parade last Wednesday, Foster Davis, who had been asked to participate, replied that he wouldn't wear anything! He wasn't in the parade. The Haskell Free Press doesn't lead a double life, even though each section of the name does end in double letters. We recently remarked to a friend that we, at all times, tried to maintain our poise, but were told we meant "poison." Dan Kirkpatrick is one officer that holds no grudge against a lawyer who makes complimentary remarks about him. He simply grins and lets them speak on, because he knows they are only trying to impress a jury. John Willoughby, local court reporter extraordinary and Seymour's ace plenipotentiary, wanted us to write of our feelings while riding the so-called "airplane" ride at the carnival last week, but we countered with a statement to the effect that we would discuss his instead. Thusly: While riding, even though with a companion, you feel as though you were alone in the world; you imagine your last meal WILL prove your last; in spite of yourself, you try to estimate how far you would be thrown if the thing came apart; and like a true soldier, after you were on the ground again, you grinned, stuck out your chest and remarked "yeah, it sure was grand, and it didn't bother me a bit! Sure 'nuff, it didn't." Little Miss

-CURRENT COMMENT-

(Chillicothe Valley News)

We should not overlook that we have had competition for a good many years from nearby towns. That competition, taken lightly at the beginning, has continued to become more pronounced since the coming of better roads, enabling the public to reach these towns quicker. After arriving there they found larger stocks of merchandise from which to choose their needs. Being a smaller place and not having the volume of these larger towns, naturally it affected sales of Chillicothe stores.

Getting a hold on business rightfully belonging to Chillicothe these nearby towns refused to quit and instead grasped their hold more firmly, all the while making business a little less for us. Moreover, just recently, these same towns have taken further action to reach the people of this community with advertising matter. The wording of these messages create a desire to see what is being offered. The Chillicothe community public travels to these towns and usually find the advertisements not to be misleading. That continues to hurt us.

Therefore, competition is growing. Chillicothe businesses must wage a war for business; that is, if we want to continue in business. Otherwise, we should "fold up", and say no more.

What we need to do now, without any delay, is to cooperate wholeheartedly for one and the other's good. You have too much property, you have too much tax, to allow Chillicothe to deteriorate. However, if we do not make a concerted drive to bring business here, then that may happen. Let's set aside any prejudice, if there be prejudice should one store be doing a little better than some other. Instead, let's work for ALL, and then ALL will profit. If you maintain the idea that a business institution of Chillicothe, carrying a heavy overhead, can compete with a smaller business, without this overhead, you are sadly mistaken. Yet, if this larger business loses to the smaller place because of a difference of a few dollars and cents, then you are only crippling the larger business place, making it too difficult to pay its share of the school tax, the city tax, and all other taxes necessary to the operation of a town.

All these things should be realized NOW—not after it is too late. As an instance: how long would a Chillicothe lumber yard, dry goods store, grocery store, automobile sales agency, or any business place, last if the people continued to patronize elsewhere?

Emily (Twisty) Robertson, age 4 years daughter of Mr. and Mrs. French Robertson is noted for her remarks, some of them classics. One night recently, while viewing the heavenly bodies with a relative Emily asked: "Auntie, who made the stars?" "Why, God did, honey," she was told. "Is he as good as my daddy?" the little miss further inquired. The reply to that question has not been learned.

Yes, suh, and still they come! Another Haskell woman, who attended the races, offhandedly referred to the horses as "hags", until she was told that "hags" was perhaps the proper name. . . . While standing in front of the curio department the other night, minus headgear, a lady approached us and inquired "if we were the man who explained, or told, everything about the department." We disclaimed such wide powers, although wasn't given time to admit that we tried to tell everything through newspapers. . . . We're not so absent-minded as usual, but what with one thing and another during the fair, we started to call "central" for a number from the Tonkawa Hotel desk and, not hearing "number please" we found we were turning the pencil sharpener instead. How silly, but that comes from using a telephone where the 40-year ago crank system is still in effect. . . . that which is more interesting in the class are two one-act plays that the club will give sometime in November before assembly. The plays are "The Los Blue Gown," a comedy and "The Daughter She Loved," a drama that has won in many state contests. Our director, Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, says that these plays are not only high class entertainment, but splendid class study material. The class are studying comedies and dramas as "At the County Fair," "What Makes Widows Popularity," and the boys have selected what they term "funny" pieces, which makes it entertaining as well as educational.

THE SECOND QUESTION A DOCTOR ASKS.....

Here is some information that has relieved whole families from Constipation

When anyone is "out of sorts" the doctor's first question is about the bowels. And the second, what is being taken to help them. Doctors use laxatives, and expect you to use them. But they prefer a liquid laxative. Do you know why?
Doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives because they've seen the damage sometimes done by highly concentrated drugs in the form of pills or tablets. They know that a properly made liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative) does not do this harm. And they use liquid laxatives to relieve the bowels, because the dose can be easily regulated.

What to Use
There is a preparation of fine herbs, pure pepsin, cascara, and senna which does away with all need of harsh cathartics. The active senna in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is laxative enough for any adult, mild enough for any child. And there are other valuable ingredients in this delightful syrup.
Syrup Pepsin will usually relieve a case of constipation overnight. If a further dose is necessary, you give a smaller dose, each time less, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.
If you have a youngster who

My husband, who is a druggist, first recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to me. It has always helped me and made me feel better. I have used it as a laxative for the entire family for 22 years.

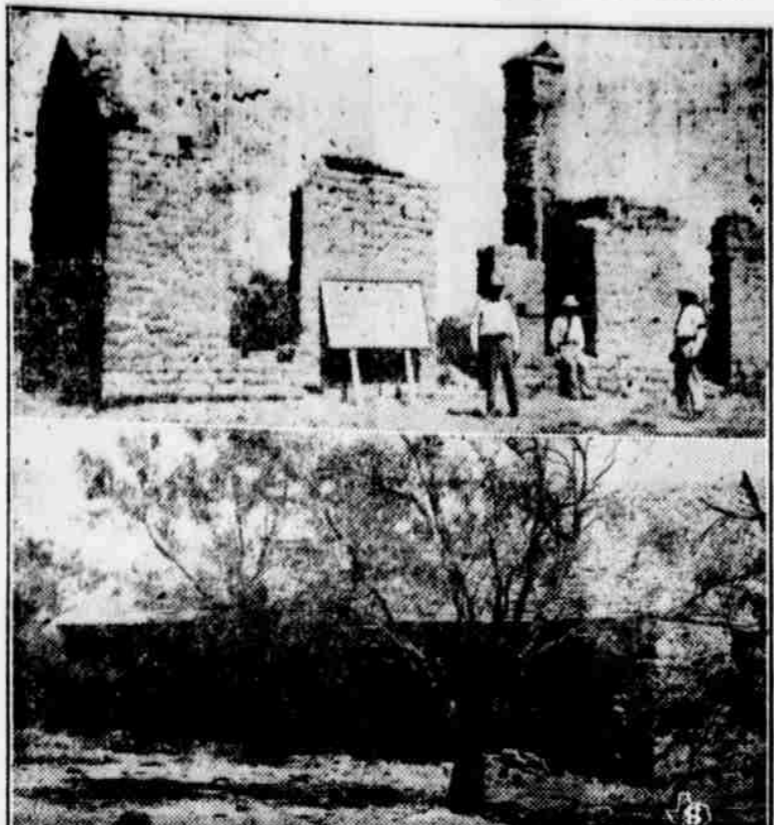

Mrs. M. McMaster,

doesn't eat, doesn't gain, gets upset and bilious no matter how careful you are about the diet—don't resort to strong cathartics which may only make matters worse.

Make this Test!
If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age. Try the help of Syrup Pepsin until you are relieved, and nature restores your regularity.
When your bowels continue then to move regularly, comfortably, and completely every day—you'll know why most doctors favor a liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

TEXAS HISTORY MAKING

No. 5—Fort Griffin Was Redskin Poison

General Robert E. Lee selected the site of Fort Griffin long before the Civil War, a high hill overlooking the Clear Fork of the Brazos River. There it was built in Shackelford county, 15 miles north of Albany, in 1867. The rolicking, six-gun town of the same name soon rose in the valley below. This was one of a line of forts that formed Texas' frontier against marauding Comanches. Most notable of Indian expeditions by troops of Fort Griffin was the famous McKenzie drive, which terminated when the Federals shot to death 1,000 Comanche horses in Tule Canyon in the Panhandle, so the Comanches couldn't travel to battle. Their bleached bones may still be seen in the upper picture above in the old quarters for officers at Fort Griffin as it is today, while below is the old bakery, with ovens still preserved. Fort Griffin was abandoned in 1881. Citizens of Shackelford county hope to make the site a state park. (Camp News Photos.)

Leaking Roofs A Chief Concern

Leaky roofs are the chief concern of city home owners, while wells and other sources of water supply are the main worry of the farmers, according to an analysis of the requests for information being received by the Federal Housing Administration.

Painting comes next in both lists and frequently is coupled with roofs in the inquiries from city dwellers. Home owners and farmers are by no means the only ones seeking modernization information from the F.H.A. Owners of apartment houses are deeply interested, according to the mail analysis, as well as owners of small stores and shops. Some of the shop owners, however, can also be classed as home owners, as they own the building and live over the shop.

Texas Mills Active

But the lumber men and manufacturers of special building supplies also are keeping in close touch with the modernization program of the F.H.A. Most active of them all, apparently, are the owners of small lumber mills in Texas. That state heads the list in volume of inquiries of all kinds, with a large proportion of all the Texas lumber mills represented. Pennsylvania comes second and New York third among the States.

Nearly every phase of modernization is mentioned in the flood of mail pouring in on the F.H.A. Even termites, or "white ants", figure in the inquiries since protection against this pest is a problem in some sections of the country.

Both rooms, heating systems and plumbing generally are the subjects of some inquiries, while large numbers of home owners plan to build additional rooms to their houses to provide permanent quarters for those taken in during the "doubling up" process of recent years. "Father and Mother are living with us now," several writers state, "and we need an extra room for them."

OHIO MASONS WILL FIGHT PROPAGANDA

AKRON, O.—Ohio's 35,000 Masons are going to battle "insidious propaganda" which they believe largely responsible for "lawlessness and lowered tone of morality" throughout the country.

A resolution to that effect won unanimous support of the 105th annual grand assembly of the grand council of Royal and Select Masters held here.

"We declare our unalterable opposition to communism, socialism, sovietism and fascism, or any other administrative system opposing our representative and constitutional form of government," the resolution said. "Well knowing that in those countries in which these systems prevail, personal liberty ceases, free speech and a free press are prohibited and the institution of free industry destroyed."

Snyder passes 20 yards and receiver carries ball over for touchdown. Kick good. Score: Snyder 7, Haskell 0.

After second kickoff Haskell gains 45 yards on three passes. Good chance to score lost through fumble.

Second Quarter
Snyder gives Haskell scare in serious threat, but finally halted by intercepted pass. Haskell punts again from behind own goal line. Haskell recovers fumble on Snyder's 25 yard line, but fails to score because passes not working. Snyder intercepts pass on own goal line and runner paces down entire length of field for touchdown.
On next play Snyder kicks off and Haskell fumbles behind own goal line as half ends. Score: Snyder 14, Haskell 0.

Third Quarter

Haskell quits passing for moment and seems to be doing better on running plays. They are playing in Snyder territory most of the time. Haskell marches down field from own 40 yard line for touchdown without losing possession of ball. Punt good. Ball in midfield when quarter ends. Score: Snyder 14, Haskell 7.

Fourth Quarter

Haskell keeps ball in Snyder territory, and near goal when ball fumbled. Snyder kicks deep, but Haskell soon brings ball back. Jack Kimbrough makes long pass to John Kimbrough, who steps over line for touchdown. Jack Kimbrough elects to go over line for extra point and makes it. Game ends with Haskell still threatening to score through a terrific line bombardment. Score: Haskell 14, Snyder 14.

hibit! You'll have to, and a lot of it! Picture in your mind the type of person who first wore the 73-year old baby dress placed on exhibit by Mrs. Pres Baldwin. And, as clothes were worn by succeeding generations in many families, how about figuring out how many babies have worn that little dress.

In the long, winter evenings, while blizzards raged over the land, those fireplace tongs and shovel were lifted many times. A picture forms quickly in your mind, and even though it may not be true, with these tongs and shovel it persists, and you vision the father sitting by the fire place, in one of the most comfortable of chairs, with his wife and children ranged nearby. Ever and anon, he picks up a tong and puts a firebrand again in the fire. The glow from the blazing logs shows the mother at work darning socks or sewing. W. W. Johnson had an exhibit, 68 years old, that awakened memories, no doubt, in the minds of many. In every exhibition of curios, you'll find various types of guns, and the recent fair exhibition provided no exception. The card on two 100-year old guns denoting that Rollo Harrell and Mrs. Draper were the exhibitors contained no history; only a brief statement that the weapons were 100 years old. A 20th century writer, with no knowledge of firearms used in the 1800's would go wrong in trying to make a description, but a person can't help wondering how many "redskins bit the dust" from bullets of those two ancient pieces.

John Howard, denture, had several exhibits on display which were whittled out of wood. Scissors, pliers, eyeglasses and a variety of shower of miscellaneous articles. Uncountable hours were used in the making, and the patience of John Howard by Howard in order that a curious fair crowd could see his handiwork.

On and on, could go the description of the articles which were displayed here last week. The Hasket (negro) dollar bill exhibited Mrs. N. J. Ivy. John Rike's collection of old coins, valued at $2,000. A. E. Stack's 73-year leather-bottom chair. quilts an average age of over 60, which were exhibited by various persons. an old stem-wind placed on display by Mrs. Davis. a genuine Llama sent here from South America by H. Maxwell by his brother, looking airplane models by Rod John Clifton. and a host of other things which may be described in another piece.

A visit to a curio exhibit will exercise anyone's imagination, if carnival isn't too attractive.
