Hospital Hires Haskell Man As Administrator

The members of the Fisher County Hospital Board, after meeting in special session on Wednesday, July 30, hired Jerry Weatherly, age 36, of Haskell as the new Fisher County Hospital Administrator.

Weatherly will be replacing Perry Hunsaker who resigned on July 21. The new administrator plans to officially take over on September 2nd on a full time basis. The members of the Fisher County Hospital Board appointed board member Raford Hargrove as the interim administrator during the period between Hunsaker's departure and Weatherly's full time duty assumption on September 2nd.

Hargrove said last Monday morning that the new administrator would be in the local hospital this week for a day or two during a scheduled Medicare in-

Weatherly worked as a laboratory and x-ray technician, purchasing agent and maintanined the drug room at the Haskell Memorial Hospital from September 1966 until March 1974.

In March of 1974 he was named administrator of the Haskell Hospital. He has served in that capacity until resigning to take the Fisher County Administrator post.

Snake Story

How about a few Texas sized snake stories--you can believe them or not as you see fit, I'm just relaying what I

First story was told in the presence of Clay Fowler through August 16. and myself over a cup of coffee last Monday morning. It seems that this snake story became very famous several Rowdy Rasberry both vears ago after being first reported in the Rotan paper, pickedup in the Abilene Reporter News and then event. Tisa Lovett qualifiappearing in the New York Times.

The story goes--A man was milking one day and saw a away roping; Teresa Rattremendously large rattle snake near his milking pail. He lift qualified in barrels and calmly went to the end of the barn grabbed a hoe and killed the snake--throwing it in the lot outside the barn. After finishing milking, he went to the house for supper and told his wife about the snake. She asked if he got the rattlers--no he replied. She wanted to save them so asked him to go to the lot after supper and cut the rattlers off the snake. Reluctantly, it was now dark, he complied with his wife's wishes. He walked to the lot and cut the rattler off the snake and gave them to his wife. The next morning, when he walked through the lot on his way to milk-he saw the snake he had killed the day before--rattlers still attached. Draw your own conclusions. My two eldest children and I ate lunch last Monday at John's Place and heard the second snake story of the day. This time it was from Margaret Faught. She and her sister-in-law Beth Faught were picking peaches the other day and Margaret discovered a silver looking snake in the peach tree. Beth and Margaret took turns hitting at the snake with a hoe while the other picked the peaches. After they gathered all they needed, Margaret said she was going to kill the snake "by hook or crook". She went after the critter again and this time knocked it to the ground. She said, "I told Howard Faught to tell all his farmer friends that it was so dry that the snakes are taking to the trees"

When my oldest daughter visited Illinois this summer as part of a 4-H exchange program, she spent a week with a farm family in Litchfield. She was encouraged to take a few Texas items to give the host family an idea of the life here. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nimmons and their laughter Beth were shown gypsum rock, cotton seed, a miniature cotton bale, rose rock, and you guessed it, a ariety of rattlers from snakes. In tellin the story, Kellie aid that the rattlers were cut from snakes the day before he left Texas. Not exactly right, but close. When we put he word out that we needed a rattler--Bobby Yeates sponsed by saying I just ran over a snake on the way some and volunteered to go out and cut the rattlers. In he meantime, Leonard Cleveland gave us a few big attlers and Dee Bridges came through with a beauty. They weren't all killed the day before, but one certainly was. Like a true Texan-when interviewed by the local newspaper in Litchfield she fed them a line of Texas Bull that would make any Illinois resident afraid to set foot on Texas soil. It sounded like rattle snakes were being stepped over and dodged just to get from the front door

I'm reminded about the story of the tourist traveling through West Texas and the conversation he had with an old timer and his son at a filling station. "Looks as though we might have some rain", said the tourist. "Well, I hope so", replied the native, "Not so much for myself as for my boy here. I've seen rain."

Royalty Owners Hit Hearing In Force

royalty owners and independent oil producers attended a United States Senate Finance Committee field hearing which Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen termed the largest congressional hearing ever. The committee, chaired by Bentsen, is considering his and other proposals to exempt royalty owners and independent producers from the Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax Act of 1980. Also serving on the committee was Oklahoma Senator David Boren.

L. Frank Pitts, president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, drew enthusiastic cheers and applause when he stated. "The oil excise tax, the largest of its kind passed in history, is a dangerous, self-defeating measure which should never have been passed. It sets a serious precedent that will irrevocably harm the nation's energy objectives throughout the remainder of this century".

Pitts further stated, "Our association has been besieged with letters and phone calls from disturbed royalty owners who are now begining to feel the severe effects of the oil excise tax burden. As decontrol by the Department of Energy proceeds to conclusion, other royalty owner groups affiliated with the flowing Tier I oil will become equally disturbed by the tax. There are some two million royalty owners located in the U.S. It is estimated that 1.5 million of this total hold little more than 400,000 barrels per day per owner. The fact that this equates to only one fourth barrel per owner refutes the widely-held

More than 3,500 angry contention that all royalty owners are extremely wealthy.

> "The people who can least afford it are being hit hard by the tax. Many elderly people on fixed incomes depend on their monthly royalty checks to make ends meet. The tax is putting them in a critical financial condition," said Pitts. He added that the tax will take $65 billion out of Texas in the 1980's--enough money to triple the number of wells drilled each year in Texas for the next ten years.

The 35 witnesses testifying included Congressman Pickle, Attorney General Mark White, Railroad Commissioner James Nugent, plus a number of individual royalty owners and agricultural representatives.

Livestock producers are urged to begin a vaccination program against brucellosis as soon as their calves are eligible.

Vaccination with Strain 19 vaccine is an excellent tool in the control of brucellosis, and all dairy and beef producers may contact their veterinarians and set up a schedule as part of their regular vaccination program.

According to the National Brucellosis Technical Commission, Strain 19 has proven to be about 95 percent effective against brucellosis under average field conditions. The state will pay for the vaccine as part of the revised brucellosis control program.

For best results, and to decrease the number of false reactors in later tests it is recommended that heifer calves be vaccinated at four and six months of age, and beef heifer calves at four to eight months of age. Calfhood vaccination is an important element of the revised Texas brucellosis control plan and should be considered as routine as vaccination for other dis-

Powdery mildew, a fungal disease that attacks a wide variety of ornamenplants, is easily identified by a white powder on plant leaves. Affected leaves are often distorted and fail to develop properly. If not controlled the fungus may cause leaves to turn yellow and drop, thus weakening plants that fail to fruit or flower properly. Powdery mildew thrives in cool dry condtions as opposed to warm moist condtions for most leafspotting fungi. It also seems to develop most rapidly in areas of poor air movement.

Roses and crape myrtles are commonly affected plants. Depending on weather conditions they may escape damage one year and be affected seriously the next.

Gardeners should check plants closely for powdery mildew and take control measures if necessary. Fungicides that prevent powdery mildew include Benlate, Acti-dione PM, Karathane, Phaltan and sulfur. Use sulfur only

Energy Bill Forwarded

The U.S. House on Thursday approved and forwarded to the White House legislation by Senator Lloyd Bentsen to permit the diversion of $21 million in unspent energy assistance funds to the Southwest.

The House approved the Bentsen bill unanimously, completing congressional action on it. he Senate had passed the measure on Wednesday.

"Congress has acted swiftly to deal with an emergency situation caused by the drought and heat wave in the Southwestern United States," Bentsen said following the House

"More than 2,000 Americans--many of them elderly and infirm--have died over the past month from the heat. A lot of these people don't have fans. Many of them, afraid to run up their utility bills, have hesitated to turn on their window units. I am hopeful the President will quickly sign this emergency legislation into law so that we can provide them with some assistance."

The Bensen bill changes a provision in the Low Income Energy Assistance Act which prohibits the expenditure, after June 30, of energy assistance funds distributed to the individual states but un-

The bill, effectively, would allow the Community Services Administration to re-direct some $21 million in Energy Crisis Assistance Grants which has been distributed to the various states but has not been spent.

"Those of us who in the past tried to explain the necessity of energy assistance for cooling as well as for heating have faced a difficult battle. It is easy to dramatize the dangers of death from cold--high mounds of drifting snow or vehicles snowbound along the highway. These make for vivid pictures. But what drama is there in a picture of a thermometer Bentsen said. "We're not talking about a program to purchase air conditioners, any more than the current energy assistance is used to purchase furnaces in the Northeast or Midwest.

with a 115 degree reading?

We're talking about help with the higher cost of cooling for those unable to pay their utility bills," Bentsen said.

Aid Targeted For Drought Areas

Senator Lloyd Bentsen today urged the Small Business Administration (SBA) to move quickly to grant disaster aid for Texas counties that have been devastated by the drought.

"I am deeply concerned about the matter and request that the disaster declaration be handled as expeditiously as possible by your agency," Bentsen aid in a letter to SBA Administrator Vernon Weaver.

Bentsen, who last week toured the drought-racked area of northeast Texas, noted a "Clear need" for SBA emergency loans for Texas farmers and ranchers suffering enormous Roby Second agricultural losses because of the drought.

Senator Bentsen pointed out that, while Texas so far has requested disaster aid for 49 devastated counties, he expects a total of 84 counties to seek help in the near future, making the overall request include much of the state.

Bentsen said he is aware of plans to distribute SBA disaster loan applications at Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service (ASCS) offices in each county. But he also requested that the SBA send additional personnel "in the field if necessary" to speed the processing of applications.

"In addition, I urge you to consider the issuance of SBA loans from an office in Texas which will greatly reduce the time lag from approval of application to receipt of loan money. It is curcial that the federal government provide this necessary extra service to those Texans who have already suffered such great loss," Bentsen said.

"Your every effort to make SBA disaster loans available to Texans as quickly as possible will be appreciated by hundreds of drought stricken farmers and ranchers in our state," Senator Bentsen

Well we finally got some rain Sunday night and everyone reports a pretty good rain. Some folks got more than 2 inches, but here at our house we got one and three-tenths which will sure help that smaller cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Kincaid attended the Williams Teachers, some 1,600 reunion on Sunuay which was held at the Northeast Community Center near Snyder. Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hyer and family from Andrews are here spending a few days visiting with the Kincaids. Anne Hyer from San Angelo is also visiting with them.

Stephanie, Nicole, Sabrina and Tonya Warren, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Warren of Snyder, are here spending a few days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Martinez.

Mrs. Hattie Aaron of Buffalo Gap and previously from Hobbs passed away Friday at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. She was buried at Hobbs on Sunday. Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to all of her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Walker and Melody went to Abilene on Tuesday and then on Friday we went to Merkel and attended the WTBRA barrel race there. Melody rode her young horse in the Open and one of the Novice classes. Saturday night we went to the Guthrie rodeo and Melody rode in the open barrel race there. Evette Gruben, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Gruben, went with us and she spent the night with us.

James Ratliff and Teresa went to Stamford on Thursday and Teresa rode in the junior rodeo they were having there. Mrs. James Ratliff and Teresa went to the Guthrie rodeo Saturday night and Teresa rode in the barrel race, flag race and the pole bending.

Mrs. Opal Phillips went to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Porters Sunday evening to help celebrate Mike's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Hardin, Wendy and Shad from Victoria, also a friend Melissa, cave to Bea Hardin's on Thursday and they stayed until Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Larry McBeth and three children from Abilene visited with Bea and her company all day Sunday. Mrs. McBeth and the children are staying with Bea until Wednesday. Grass. Stirrup-high and far as the eye could see. That's the way it was. That's the way it can be.

When the first ranchers pioneered Texas and Oklahoma they were greeted by grassland. Ranging for miles and waving a welcome to the strong-spirited ranchers and their grazing herds.

When the land was all taken, it was not all taken care of. It was fenced and overgrazed. It was parched by the dry years, and invaded by deep-rooted and "drouthy" brush. Brush destined to invade nearly every ranch, and to cut in half the grazing potential of over 88 million acres.

> But there's a new pioneer spirit among ranchers today. They want their land back from the brush...and back to its natural beauty and bounty.

And there's a new product that makes it practical. It's GraslanTM from Elanco. Graslan is a new approach to brush control. It's as revolutionary and unique as were three other Elanco products-Tylan® and Rumensin® for your cattle and Treflan® herbicide for soybeans and cotton.

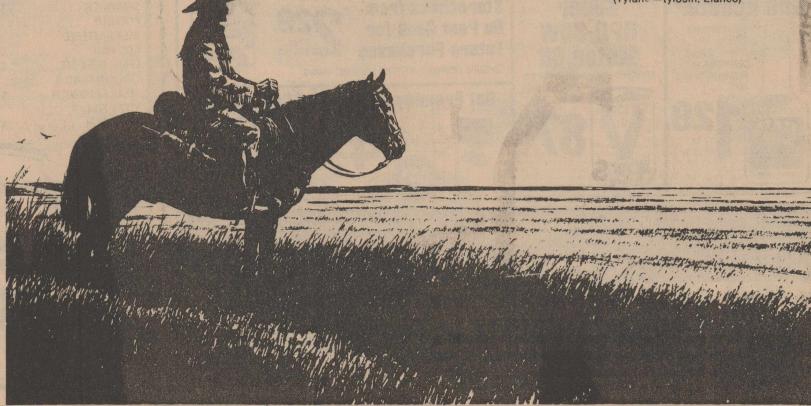

To find out more about brush control with Graslan, talk to your local SCS, Extension Agent or Range Management Specialist. Or call the toll free Elanco hotline: 1-800-428-4441. It could be the most important call you'll make for years to come.

Colonial Daughters Group Growing

Members of Tejas Chapter of Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century met recently in Abilene in the home of Mrs. Bernie C. McCrea. Special guests for the meeting were Mrs. Louis W. Patterson, President General of the National Society, and Mrs. Wiley W. Lowrey, Corresponding Secretary of the National Society, and Mrs. Wiley W. Lowrey, Corresponding Secretary General, both of Oklahoma City. Miss Delila Baird, Chapter President, presided. Mrs. Jimmy Hale, Chaplain, voiced the opening prayer before the buffet luncheon.

Following lunch, Mrs. Hale gave a brief devotional, Mrs. Whit Clark led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and gave the National Defense report.

Miss Josie Baird, chapter, registrar, reported two applications pending with the registrar general. These are Mrs. Gene L. Dulaney of Snyder and Mrs. Richard Denham of Midland. Three guests, prospective members, were introduced, Mrs. Karl E. Wallace of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Margaret Barnett and Mrs. Helen Dawson Corbean of Big Spring.

Mrs. McCrea introduced Mrs. Patterson, President General, as speaker. Mrs. Patterson is active in many patriotic societies other than Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century, and is a participant in social, service and cultural activities in her community.

The speaker gave an
