OPENING GAME OF VALLEY LEAGUE IS SET FOR APRIL 19

Tentative Schedule Calls For Twenty Games In Four-Club Loop

Opening game of the four-club Wichita Valley Baseball League has been tentatively scheduled for Sunday, April 19th, according to Eugene Tonn, president of the organization.

Organized last year as a six-club league, with Haskell, Hamlin, Goree, Munday, Stamford and Seymour teams entering, Haskell emerged pennant winner, defeating Hamlin at the end-of-the-season play-off.

This year, with clubs from only four towns forming the league—Haskell, Munday, Hamlin and Anson—a twenty game schedule has been decided upon.

The opening game of the season will take Haskell either to Anson or Hamlin, Tonn states.

Hallie Chapman of this city will likely be pilot of the Braves aggregation this year. Work-outs are being observed regularly, and a good team is in prospect.

Opening date for entries has been set for tomorrow, Friday, April 10th.

Entries are desired from every section of the county, and from each High School in the county, the sponsors have announced. The following provisions will apply:

STORM MUSIC

CHAPTER XII

OUR respective tales had been told, my disaffection forgiven, our grace had been said, and we were now standing together at the edge of the lawn. We had started to return to the car, but now with one consent we had stopped to look again upon the beauty which we were to leave.

It seemed so strange that life and death and fortune had lain in that peaceful setting, awaiting a sweet June day spring to leap to their battle stations, thence to dispute the fate of six human beings, not one of whom, till that morning, had so much as suspected the existence of such a spot. A century of dawns and sunsets had found and left it sleeping, as it was sleeping now; and then in a twinkling the earth had opened, the brook had played storm music and . . .

"To think," said Helena, "that I treated you as a child."
"The truth is," said I, "we're both children; and children hate to be treated as children, you know."
Helena lifted her head, to survey the blue of the sky. The eager look in her face would have made a sick man well.

"I wasn't," she said. "I was a woman all right. But I think—it's all your own doing, you know—but I think, my dear, you'll have a child for a wife."

There is not much more to be told.

My cousin's reception of the truth was more than handsome; and I

"Sir, you have done my duty. And that, by the grace of God; for I myself could never have done it so well."

It was he who said at once that Bugle's body would be found held down by the grill which kept foreign matter from passing into the waste-pipes that led from the moat. Sure enough, there it was. Its removal and the subsequent rites were grisly enough; but the four of us did the business without any help, because having got so far, it seemed a pity that we should explode a theory which Yoric and Yortek's neighbors had been at such pains to digest.

When my cousin broached the question of getting rid of the gold, Helena made no objection, but only begged his assistance to carry through a transaction she dared not attempt alone. This to our great surprise, till we learned that her solemn trust was now at an end, because her father had said that on her marriage the gold must be re-invested or lodged at a bank. And this in due course was done. My cousin arranged the affair with a famous house and within six weeks, a fortnight before we were wed, the bullion was out of the cellar and Helena mistress of a fortune which was considerably greater than that which her father laid up.

A letter from the Count of Yoric afforded us infinite pleasure and deserves to be set out in full:
Dear Helena:
I hope you are very well. I am not at Yoric because I was bitten by a mad dog and a good Sammarry-ton brought me straight here. I would like to thank him for that. He saved my life, you know. Fancy a mad dog worrying me. I think I must just have gone out for a walk or something and then it just leaped upon me and worried me and I knew no more. And this is the only one place that I could have been saved from going mad. It makes you get hot all over. By the way, I'm off liquor. Alcohol, I mean. They make me feel like a fool. There's a good girl, and I fairly lapp them up. And the wound's healing like a little child. They say liquor's very dangerous for hidrotobea. I nearly died, you know. All the while the good Sammarry-tones were taking me to the monastery. It was touch and go more than once. The madness was in my veins. It makes you go hot. But I'm all right now. They say I can get up for a little while on Sunday and look at the flowers. I shall like that. I see the vanity of life now all right. There is a good monk here called Father Bernard. Of course, they are all good, but he is the best. He says all is vanity and that the pumps of the world are void. You know there's a lot in that. Well, I must end now. But I thought you might wonder where I was. What a scoundrel! Fancy a mad dog like that ranging about seeking whom he might devour. I tell you, I hadn't a chance. He just leaped upon me, nashing their fangs. I can see it now.

Your loving brother,
VALENTINE.

What about Fanning? I rather hope he's gone. If not, perhaps you could fire him out. He swore Spencer was your evil genius, but I thought Spencer had a good eye. Sour grapes, I guess. I suppose you knew what you were doing.

The reformation this letter foreshadowed was more than we could believe, but I am bound to record that it was fairly fulfilled. The shock or the fear of death, or perhaps, his curious communion with that honest and kindly fellowship of simple souls wrought in the count an astonishing change of heart. The weeds that had choked his qualities withered and died, and though I was most apprehensive of our relation, 24 hours' acquaintance had made us the best of friends.

His postscript brings me to Pharaoh. Of that unconscionable scoundrel I have but little to say. That the man was most swift and daring I cannot deny, but I think that his deadly reputation was to him the highwayman's mare. Carefully fed and cherished, it was this that carried him into and out of engagements without a scratch; but when at last he was standing upon his own feet, even I was able to show that, if his eye was quicker, at least his spine was as brittle as that of another man. For all that, he was bold and efficient—and something more. He served, dogged by misfortune, he nevertheless contrived almost to wring a victory out of defeat. So far as I know, he only made one mistake—and that was to kill young Florin; so far as I know, he had but one slice of luck—and that was, on blinding Helena, to find that she had in her hand her master key.

The portrait my cousin had painted will always rank for me as one of the greatest triumphs a painter ever achieved. This is not because he had rendered a beautiful likeness, nor yet because he had captured the leaping spirit that lived in the lovely flesh; but because he had marked, as I had, that the precious eager look was out of his subject's face and had painted it in from memory out of a grateful heart.

Though my life is secure and happy beyond belief, the events of those terrible days are out in stone upon my mind. But I would not forget them, if I could; for out of their wreck and turmoil I won my beautiful wife. Often and often I read their grim inscription and gaze at the rictus of the count which this calls up. I see that dreadful labor down in the sparkling dell and Dewdrop flinger the paper that I let fall; I tread the Reaping Hook's straws and I hear—as I shall hear to my dying day—the deadly voice of Pharaoh behind the door; I see him enter the room with Valentine's hand upon his shoulder and I hear him whistling for Sabre with my heart in my mouth; I hear the Carlotra coming with the rush of a mighty wind, and I hear the cough of the Bolts as her engine failed; I hear Rush plying Bugle to make my blood run cold, I hear Pharaoh bullying Freda, and I see the flame of the pistol that saved his life; I see the awful change in my darling's face, and I turn to see Pharaoh smiling behind my back; I smell the fragrance of the valley that knew no sun; and I see her stricken and trembling in Pharaoh's power, and I see the roar of our pistols and I see the man spent with hatred, staring into my eyes. . . .

It is written. Out of the eater came forth meat. I can only say I have found this saying most true. The goddess Aphrodite rose from the foam of the sea; but Helena Spencer came out of the wrath of a tempest that had risen to smite us both. Together, saving each other, we rode out that frightful storm—the remembrance of which is not grievous for our desperately perilous passage, side by side, has bound us more closely together than the sharing of any joys.

Saturday Bride

Miss Annie Ruth Johnsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnsey of Memphis, Texas, who became the bride of Marvin Branch of this city last Saturday in a ceremony performed at the home of her parents.

Wedding of Miss Annie Ruth Johnsey and Mr. Marvin Branch in Memphis, Texas.

Saturday afternoon, April 4th, Miss Annie Ruth Johnsey and Mr. Marvin Branch were united in marriage at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnsey in Memphis, Texas. Rev. Orion W. Carter pastor of the Methodist Church read the impressive ring ceremony before an improvised altar of ferns and lillacs, tall baskets of coronations and gladiolus were placed on either side. Pink and green candles burning in candelabras in the background added to the setting. Preceding the ceremony Miss Frankye and Mr. Omar Johnsey, sister and brother to the bride sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. Ingram Walker, who played "Lohengrin Wedding March" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" softly during the ceremony. An informal reception was held immediately afterwards.

The bride chose for her wedding ensemble a white linen suit with navy blue accessories and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnsey of Memphis having lived there all her life finishing high school and afterwards became cashier for the West Texas Utilities Company in that city and was transferred to Haskell about a year ago where she is at present employed.

Mr. Branch is the son of Manley Branch of this city. He has lived here most of his life finishing high school with the class in '28. He entered John Tarleton college at Stephenville where he studied for two years. He is manager of Hardin Lumber Company at present. Manley Branch and daughter, Miss Myrta Bob, were among those present for the wedding.

The Methodist Missionary Society

On April 6th, the W. M. S. met in the Church auditorium. The program had been arranged by members of the Mary Alexander Circle, who had attended the Methodist Council, which met in Dallas and at which the great Japanese Christian, Kagawa, had been the principal speaker. Mrs. Persons, presided over a short business session after which Mrs. H. Pitman, director, took charge. With Mrs. O. E. Patterson at the organ, all joined in sing "God Will Take Care of You." Mrs. K. Thornton gave the devotional, basing her talk on Luke 12-27, which is a favorite of Kagawa. Mrs. Thornton concluded her devotional by reading a short poem.

Following the devotional Mrs. Bredlove offered a prayer. Mrs. Pitman and the Virginia K. Johnson Mission and the Virginia K. Johnson Home. Both of these being supported by the Methodist church. Mrs. Matt Graham gave a most interesting sketch of the life of Kagawa, who organized "The Kingdom of God" movement in Japan. We were told that in Christian education in Japan, the Methodist church ranks second.

A song entitled "Consider The Lillies" was sung as a duet by Mesdames O'dell and Thornton.

Mrs. Graham told of the area of Japan which is about that of the State of Montana, and has a population of 70,000,000. Of this great number 500,000 are Christians and there is only 173 preachers for this work. Kagawa has written a book of poems, entitled "Songs of the Slums." Mrs. Huckabee, in a most pleasing voice, read a number of these poems, and Mrs. Graham recited the poem "Discovery."

The meeting was concluded by the reciting in unison of the Lord's Prayer. The Weintert Auxiliary was invited guests for this delightful meeting. Those present from that city were Mesdames P. F. Weinert, W. A. Marr, Ernest Griffith, W. T. Goble, R. M. Baldwin, J. Aycock, H. Weinert, S. A. Miles, Richard Weinert, W. M. Culwell, and J. W. Medley.

Adding much to the interest and pleasure of the afternoon were local guests, Mesdames J. L. Hair, Robt. Sego and Miss Willie Riley. Twenty-one members of the local Auxiliary were present. All expressed appreciation for the splendid program rendered.

We meet, as usual, on next Monday at 3 p. m. Reporter.

Lady Took Cardui When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Little Mildred Chapman was the honoree Friday afternoon when her mother, Mrs. Hallie Chapman and her aunt, Mrs. Lela Mae Atchison, entertained with a party in honor of her seventh birthday.

Next came the last, but not least, exciting event, which was unwrapping of the many nice gifts.

The hostesses assisted by the honoree's sister, Frances, passed apples and candy to all. The guests departed, wishing Mildred many more happy birthdays.

Those present were: Stella Marie Frierson, Sue Collins, Jane Richey, Dorothy Lee Dodson, Maureen Sweatman, Ann Katherine Rike, Nancy Ratliff, Donold Merchant, Joy Bagwell, Rosie Johnson, Olive Ruth Hoyak, Huey and Jimmy Bledsoe, Melton Christian, Jerry Johnson, Collins and Billy Bob Welsh, Billy Jack King, Billy Barnett, and the honoree, Mildred Chapman.

Hutto Home Demonstration Club News

"A bed equipped with many pieces of warm, light weight covering is more convenient than one furnished with a few heavy quilts." Miss Taylor told members of Hutto Home Demonstration Club at Mrs. G. F. Williams Friday, March 13th. She said in choosing light weight covering choose wool blankets with a firm weave and fluffie nap or comforts padded with wool or fluffie cotton bats. The advantage of wool in covering is that it is lighter in weight and warmer.

Mrs. Mike Howell was elected as reporter to take the place of Miss Mildred Carter, who resigned.

Three co-operators reported three mattresses made in the past two weeks, Mesdames Lucy Day, B. H. Oliver and J. M. Williams.

CLEAN UP, PAINT UP

The first day of spring is more than two weeks past, and Summer is just around the corner.

Thoughts of gardens, the open road, golf courses, swimming pools and other summer mind-visions are crowding into the collective public mind.

Much can be done by the individual initiative of each property owner to brighten every home in this community throughout the entire summer.

Spring is the logical time for such activity. A little work—it takes only for a short while—will bring amazing results in Haskell as it has in other sections.

Take a few spare hours to trim shrubbery, plant trees or grass seeds, mow and rake your lawn, arrange for all rubbish to be moved away, and daub a coat of paint over the fence or the trellis work. It doesn't cost much money to do this, but it enhances the appearance of your home and of the town as a whole.

You would make a fine contribution to the appearance of your town and your property if you could also paint your home, but if you cannot afford this, at least beautify your premises as much as you can.

Habits formed in early spring are likely to remain throughout the summer. If your home is cleaned up early in the spring it is likely to stay that way the year round.

Haskell has natural advantages that can be communities of West Texas, if you will do your utmost to make this one of the most beautiful part.

WE ALSO MIGHT LEARN

In 1887 a total eclipse of the sun swept across Siberia and Central Asia, throwing millions of peasants into panic. On June 19 there will be another eclipse, but Russia has changed and this time the Soviet Government is making every effort to prevent a recurrence of the terror which marked the eclipse 49 years ago. Educational films and pamphlets are being distributed and lecturers are explaining the phenomenon in simple terms. It is a mass drive against superstition such as no country ever has waged on identical grounds. And while America prides itself on the high level of its national literacy, one must admit that here, too, there is an appalling lack of general knowledge about natural phenomena. It is possible that we might learn a great deal, too, from the Russian idea.

PREVENTING HIGHWAY DEATHS

The automobile death toll for January and February is given as 4,580 by the National Safety Council, which inaugurated a campaign this year to cut the number of motor accidents. In 1935, says the Council, was 4,710, which means an improvement of three per cent for this year.

The fact that more than seventy-five persons are killed every day, in the United States in motor vehicle accidents is enough to emphasize the necessity of concerted action by officials everywhere to stop this slaughter.

Here is an opportunity for an individual community to do something for itself without waiting on the State government or the Federal government. Records prove rather conclusively that where traffic regulations are enforced and motorists promptly punished for infractions, the death rate goes down. In Haskell, for example, vigorous prosecution of those who willfully violate traffic rules will lessen our contribution to the national dead from motor vehicle accidents, and, what is more important, save some family here the expense and grief that goes with these casualties.

KNOW THYSELF

The psychologists are offering a new approach to the unemployment problem. It is simply this: Persons who can't get jobs or who can't hold what they have doubtless have personality kinks that should be ironed out. Now personality kinks don't begin to account for the staggering unemployment picture we have today, but the suggestion nevertheless is worth considering. Dr. Blake Crider, of Cleveland, concludes after an extensive study that 65 per cent of those who do not hold jobs fail, not through incompetence, but because of unpleasant personal peculiarities, most of which can be cured if the individual wants to make the effort. Countless are the traits of character that annoy others and bring disaster on the heads of the possessors. The ancient Greeks recognized the trouble. They had a solution for it—"Know thyself."

CURRENT COMMENT

THE DRINKING DRIVER

Tri-State News
"Don't kid yourself. You're not as good a driver with a couple of drinks under your belt as you are when you're cold sober. You think you are." That is what Dr. H. A. Heise says. He has made a study of the "drinking driver" and he goes on to say:

He's not drunk. Certainly not. Nothing about his appearance or his actions indicates that he has had a drink. As long as everything goes smoothly, as long as he is not required to vary his usual driving habits he'll get along beautifully.

He'll drive straight, observe the rules of the road. He'll probably be a little more daring than usual, for under the influence of alcohol even in small quantities, confidence tends to increase in inverse ratio to ability. But he probably won't have any trouble unless suddenly he is called upon to make a split-second decision that may mean the difference between life and death for him or somebody else.

Then he is as likely as not to guess wrong. His judgment can't be relied upon. And even if he makes the right move his reactions may lag just enough to close the narrow gap between safety and disaster.

All this is backed by scientific evidence gathered over more than 10 years in laboratory and police stations and hospitals and morgues. Nor are they reformers who made the studies and testified to their accuracy. Their only interest is to make the highways safe, to end the reign of slaughter which every year exceeds a toll of some 40,000 persons killed and 1 million injured by automobiles.

"The drinking driver is more deadly than the drunk," Dr. Heise says.

"The greatest menace," says Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, "is the drinking driver—not the drunk, mind you—as extensive experiments conclusively show.

When your car is moving at a speed of 60 miles an hour, you are traveling 88 feet per second. A person reacts in about one-fifth second to what he sees or hears, psychologists reveal. This is known as reacting time.

When the mind is controlled by alcohol, this time may be slowed to two-fifths of a second, or even slower.

If you lose one-fifth second in deciding what to do, you have traveled 18 feet or 36 feet if you lose two-fifths second. Either of these distances may mean the difference between safety and crippling or death.

Haskell County

History

[As Revealed by the Files of the Free Press 20, 30 and 40 years ago.]

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

A ground-soaking rain, totaling 3.55 inches, fell in Haskell on April 2, 1916, too late to be of material benefit to wheat and oats, but assuring a good season for other crops.

Considerable interest was shown in the City Election April 4, 1916, over 300 votes being polled. The following officers were elected: Mayor, T. C. Cahill; City Attorney, F. L. Daugherty; Assessor and Collector, J. F. Collier; City Marshal, Alex Edwards; Secretary, Leon Gilliam; and three aldermen, K. D. Simmons, J. J. Guest, and John L. Robertson.

The city received a large shipment of 8-inch water pipe, to be used in extending the mains around the square.

The Orient Depot at Sagerton burned, causing a loss estimated at several thousand dollars. The fire was caused by a defective fuel. Box cars were used as a temporary depot.

The residence of J. C. Courtney in the west part of town was slightly damaged by fire which was extinguished by members of the family, aided by neighbors.

J. L. Robertson and W. N. Huckabee formed a partnership and announced the opening of the Haskell agency for Paige automobiles in Haskell, Throckmorton and Knox Counties.

Four school trustees: M. A. Clifton, Tom Ballard, Burwell Cox and Scott W. Key.

Socialists of Haskell county were planning to hold their county convention in this city.

The Commissioners Court discontinued the bounty which had been paid on rabbit and coyote scalps by the county.

Increase in receipts of the Haskell postoffice in 1916 caused the office to be placed in the list of second-class offices of the Department at Washington.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

The Haskell county Teachers Institute program for 1906 listed the following speakers: Rev. J. T. Nicholson, J. M. Reising, G. A. Daniels, B. C. Dyess, Misses Park, Isbell, Jefferson and Vaughn; Prof. L. T. Cunningham of Haskell and Prof. O. E. Chastain of Stamford.

A Free Press reporter and Dr. Terrell drove to Rule, and were astonished at the rapid rate of Rule's growth.

B. T. Gibson, who spent the winter in Tampico, Mexico, returned to Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. John Therwanger of the Cliff community were trading in Haskell. Mr. Therwanger was enthusiastic in endorsing the proposed cotton mill for Haskell.

Mr. J. T. Head was in town and told a reporter that he would finish picking last year's cotton crop this week. He said he would total up fifty bales, made on 100 acres by himself and family.

Mrs. J. S. Rike was having a residence built near the Presbyterian church.

Mr. J. B. Baker was having a business house erected on the north side of the square.

The Haskell Light, Ice and Water Company was organized March 7, 1906 with a capital stock of $20,000. Board of directors for the first year were F. G. Alexander, J. T. Strickland, T. E. Ballard, H. C. McColl, G. R. Couch, Joe Irby and M. Pierson. The following scale of rates was announced: One light $1 per month; two lights $1.85 per month; three lights $2.50 per month, and 50c monthly for each additional light.

Mrs. Burwell Cox and children returned from a visit to Mrs. Cox's former home in Arkansas. Haskell merchants are doing the best business in the history of the town, notwithstanding the fact that several new towns have been established in the county during the past six months. Nearly every store in town has had to employ one or more additional clerks this spring.

40 YEARS AGO TODAY
John Selman, city marshal of El Paso and slayer of John Wesley Hardin, was shot and killed by George Scarborough, deputy U. S. Marshal and a former sheriff of Jones county.

Action of the Texas & Pacific railway in announcing special excursion fares to points in West Texas, was calculated to be of great benefit in bringing new settlers to this part of the state.

County Clerk G. R. Couch announced the following statistics as shown by the records of Haskell county: Number of marriage licenses issued during the past year, 15. Number divorces granted since organization of county, 4. Number mortgages on real estate recorded during 1895, 25, for a total amount of $32,904.00.

Capt. M. S. Pierson, president of the Haskell National Bank, returned from a business trip to Emory, Texas.

W. E. Sherrill left Waco to attend a grand lodge session of the Knights of Pythias as delegate from the Haskell lodge.

John Savage, manager of the Pole H ranch in Knox county spent Wednesday night in Haskell, en route to Abilene to meet his wife who has been visiting in East Texas.

Mrs. B. R. Chiles of Marshall and P. T. Andrews of Fort Worth, the latter a nephew of Messrs. W. W. and B. B. Fields, arrived here this week on a visit for the purpose of a having a little sport in the way of hunting and fishing.

Mr. S. L. Robertson, one of our leading merchants, and son, Emment went up to Wichita Falls to attend the wedding of Mr. Robertson's eldest son, Wiley, who is cashier of the City National Bank at that place. Mr. Robertson has eight sons and he says he has been waiting a long time for the first daughter.

The Meat Market is now in the hands of Newt Milhollon and Mart Lynch.

Back in April 1866 the farmers were feeling the need of rain and volunteer oats were reported already suffering.

TRIUMPHS OVER DEATH

International Sunday School Lesson for April 12, 1936

GOLDEN TEXT: "Because I live, ye shall live also." John 14:19.

(Lesson Text: Luke 24:1-12).

Easter takes its name from a pagan celebration but it embodies the greatest joy of the Christian believer, because it commemorates the resurrection of Jesus and carries with it an assurance of personal immortality. Far back into the misty recesses of history, we find men holding festivals and rejoicing at the renewal of life in the spring following the sleep and death of the winter. Centuries later our Germanic ancestors worshipped the goddess, Eostre, symbol of the sunrise and the spring. Our name for Easter comes from this but its meaning is more wonderful than understood by the Teutons in their dark forest.

Christians identify Easter with the resurrection of their Lord. Having been arrested in the Garden of Gethsemane late Thursday door of Haskell County, Texas for three weeks prior to said election. Witness my hand this 9th day of March, 1936.

CHAS. M. CONNER, County Judge, Haskell County, Texas.

On this the 9th day of March, 1936, the Commissioners Court of Haskell County, Texas, convened in

This Week's Warwhoop "Chief"

The Warwhoop takes great pleasure this week in presenting C. B. Breedlove, superintendent of Haskell Schools, as our unanimous selection for "Chief".
 When Supt. Breedlove assumed duties as superintendent of our school system in September 1929, many members of this year's graduating class will recall that they were just beginning their fifth year of school work.
 During his six years service in Haskell, Mr. Breedlove has been untiring in his efforts to improve and increase the efficiency of our schools, and his work is reflected in the present high rank of Haskell's school system.
 To him also belongs a major share of the credit for securing the new Grammar School Building now under construction. And in the recent loss of our High School building an added burden has been placed upon our superintendent, but we have implicit confidence that Mr. Breedlove can go as far as any one person in arriving at a solution of the problem now confronting the patrons and trustees.
 Supt. Breedlove holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Sul Ross State Teachers College and is recognized as a leading educator of West Texas. He taught during the summer term in McMurry College, Abilene.

EASTER

Easter is observed by Christians in commemoration of the resurrection of Christ, but its observance is really the outgrowth of the Jewish Passover.
 There is no mention of Easter in the New Testament, nor in the writings of the apostolic fathers. In fact, neither Christ nor any of his apostles suggested the keeping of this or any other festival.
 But as more of the early Christians were drawn from the Jewish festivals continued to be observed by them and gradually passed into the Christian calendar.
 In the ancient church the celebration of Easter lasted eight days, but after the eleventh century it was limited to three, later to two and finally to one.
 The proper time for the observance of Easter has been the subject of bitter controversy among the various Christian groups, and at one time no less than seven "Easters" were celebrated in a single year. In fact the Greek church did not adopt the date used by the rest of the world until 1923, so that only during the last eleven years has all of Christendom observed Easter simultaneously.
 According to present usage, which conforms to the date established by the Council of Nice in the year 325, Easter can not fall upon a date earlier than March 22, nor later than April 25th, it having been decreed that it should be the first Sunday after the full moon following the vernal equinox.
 The last time Easter fell on March 22 was in 1818, after which about three centuries must elapse before it occurs on that date again. It fell on April 25 the last time in 1843, but will not occur so late in any year of the present century.
 While Easter is a Christian festival, all nations and peoples from ancient times have acknowledged the symbolic significance of the coming of spring. Easter itself is linked to forgotten ceremonies by which the sun was welcomed and the earth re-dedicated to beauty and fruitfulness. This was always a mystery; it still is a mystery and a marvel, although man has learned a little knowledge and has made the seasons his servants. The flower that springs from the seed, the glory of green that sweeps the hills in springtime are manifest miracles. They fortify and justify the faith of those who believe that on Easter morning a stone was rolled away from the sepulcher in Palestine and death was found vanquished in the Resurrection.
 Eugene Rose has at last come out of part of his cast. Guess these spring days were just too much on him, 'cause a guy can't very well make love with a shell on his head.
 Frankie Dorris Bledsoe and Ruth Welsh were in Abilene Saturday.
 Anita Jo Simmons visited with her sister, Mrs. Frank Junell of Abilene, last Saturday.

Caring Care of Church Property

Members, beware of marking on church property. When we in H. H. S. we marked on desks and chairs sometimes. It was bad enough, but it was far worse to abuse church property. We should take care of our church property. We should take care of our church property. We should take care of our church property.

Track Boys To End District Meet

Haskell High School is honored to have several boys take part in the District meet at Breckenridge. Artie Pippen competed in the hundred yard and two-hundred yard low hurdles. Lloyd McMillin will compete in the 880 yard run, discus, vaulting and high hurdles. Jenkins, the leaping Lena, will compete in high jump. The boys will also take part in mile relay. Albert Barnett, Josselot, Bill Reeves and McMillin will be the honor guard. Bill Richey has been on the track boys very hard.

Home Ec Girls To Attend State Rally

"Oh, I surely want to go to San Angelo." "Are you going to go to go?" "Now, I ought to get to go, 'cause my aunt lives there." Perhaps you don't know what it's all about, but there is a Home-Maker's Rally to be held in San Angelo April 23, 24 and 25, and Home Ec. girls from all over the State will participate.
 Juanita Foil is going to take the dress she made last term and the girls whose dresses were next are going to go. These are not all who are going though, because almost everyone in the Freshman Home Ec. class is working toward it. Some are planning luncheon and suppers for farmers, bankers and everybody. If you were to read some of the menus, your mouth would water. Another group will judge personal appearance, and some will try in the contest for artistic arrangement of flowers.

A Word From The Freshmen

This is our issue. All of the articles, except two or three by the regular staff members, were written by members of our class. However, it was all done in an informal way, without the election of a special staff, and without advance preparations. Due to the fact that the Junior and Sophomore classes missed their opportunities of class issues when we were out of regular session, we thought it more appropriate to publish our class issue informally.

Hardin-Simmons Group Entertains High School

Haskell High School was entertained in the auditorium of the Christian Church Wednesday, April 2, 1936 by a group from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Texas. The master of ceremonies was Mr. Frank Kimbrough, football coach at the University. Miss Annie Maude Taylor gave two reading selections and Miss Smith played the piano and sang. Mr. Kimbrough discussed the advantages of entering athletics in high school and how you would benefit by it in college.

Students To Enter Literary Events At District Meet

Although dear old Haskell High burned, we saved our students entering in literary events. Some of these won in the county and are going to the district meet at Breckenridge. The Junior declaimers going are Joe Maples and Eva Joe Ratliff. The Senior declaimer that is going is John Guest. In extemporaneous speaking Jim Bob Webb is to enter the district meet. The debaters are going also. They are: Boys—George W. Fouts and Tom Clifton; Girls—Mattie Pistole and Margaret Breedlove. All that we ask of these students is to do their best.

What Is It?

Believe it—
 Or don't believe it—
 You have it—
 And I have it—
 We all have it—
 You can ask for it—
 And get it—
 Though you had it—
 When you requested it—
 And when given it—
 You have no more of it—
 Than you had of it—
 When you asked for it—
 You can give it—
 And you can take it—
 You can do it—
 And you can hear it—
 And see it—
 You can spend it—
 And buy it—
 And if you sell it—
 You still have all of it—
 And if you buy it—
 You have no more of it—
 Than you had of it—
 Before you purchased it—
 You can use it—
 And abuse it—
 You can lose it—
 And still have it—
 You can waste it—
 Yet have all of it—
 And want more of it—
 But can't get it—
 (We don't know either; wait until we get next week's Denver Post, and we'll tell you).

What The Loss of a Library Can Mean

With the loss of our high school building, our library, valued at one thousand dollars—was also lost. As a result of the accumulation of many years, we had many useful books, including a new set of reference books and several old sets, various histories, volumes of literature, magazine, Literary Digests, text books, and books for book reports. Oh yes and there was a large dictionary that many were glad they didn't have to carry around, but were glad to use during their study period.
 Many students, after studying industriously for thirty or thirty-five minutes, would go to the library to read leisurely for a few minutes; while others would go frequently for information or to look at the "red reference books." More than ever now the students know how to appreciate the Magazine Club Library.

Home Ec. Classes Express Thanks

The Home Economics classes wish to express their sincere appreciation to the Methodist Missionary Society, who is permitting the Home Economics Department to use the kitchen of the Methodist Church. When the Home Economics girls first started using the kitchen they noted how neat and tidy it was. They found it supplied with some new equipment which has been essential for our department. We also appreciate the work of the High School P. T. A. as they furnished some very necessary equipment. The work of the Home Economics Department could not have continued without the assistance of these ladies to whom we are very grateful.
