

Shootin' Straight

By Dave Thompson

WELCOME BACK!

As noted in a separate story in this week's newspaper, Knox City once again has the service of a full time law enforcement officer. Returning to his former position after being rehired by the city council during last week's meeting, Richard Ferguson is once again the Chief Of Police for our community.

It seems to me that thanks are in order: thanks to the city council members for taking strong affirmative action by rehiring Richard, and thanks to Richard for returning to his position of service to our community. His is a job that is often thankless, a job that everyone wants done but not too many people want to step forward and actually take on the responsibility.

Whenever most think of a Police Officer, the image of all the television cops pop into our heads and the idea is easily formed that all officers are like the ones portrayed on the tube. In reality that is not so. Real life police investigations are not all easily solved within one hour as they always seem to be on television, but that seems to be necessary to avoid carrying them over into the next program. In real life, there aren't any "next week's program" for a small town law enforcement officer. Citizens who are calling for an officer do not want or expect to wait, the need is usually immediate and needs to be taken care of right

If you multiply the number of residents and the problems they might have times just one officer, it is easy to see just how busy that one officer can be as he undertakes his job. Add the fact that Richard is a family man and deserves time off to spend with his wife and small daughter and it is evident right away that his job is not an easy one. That is where each and every citizen can help out. Keep in mind the fact that there is only one officer for our city and try to weigh your needs against that fact. Police officers have to handle calls and other matters on a priority basis.

With all council members present, the City Council of Knox City voted unanimously to fill the vacant position of Chief Of Police by rehiring Richard Ferguson to the position he held prior to his recent resignation. After interviewing three other applicants and a lengthy discussion with Ferguson about policies and guidelines, Councilmen Larry Staggs, Greg Kuehler, Carol Felts, Elmer Wall and Councilwoman Elaine Lewis all voted in favor of the motion made by Felts to rehire Richard Ferguson. Also present at the January 10 regular meeting were Mayor Buddy Angle and city Secretary Teri Anderson. Don Hawkins and Billy Bob Reynolds were also present and spoke at the meeting in support of the good job that Chief Ferguson has done in Knox City.

Plant Bare-Rooted Trees

By DAVID L. TUNMIRE Knox County Extension Agent-Ag

January is a good month to plant bare-rooted deciduous trees. This includes fruit trees, nut trees and shade trees. Many shrubs will also fall into this category.

The variety of tree is one of the most important items to consider when selecting a tree. Regardless if you are planting a fruit tree, nut tree or shade tree, the variety of the tree is an important factor affecting the survival of the tree. A list of recommended varieties for Knox County is available at the County Extension Office located in the Knox County Courthouse.

Once a sturdy, vigorous tree of the ideal variety has been selected it will be necessary to keep the root system moist at all times. If a tree can not be planted for several days, heel them in with moist soil.

Before planting, the top and roots need to be pruned. Cut off broken and bruised roots. As hard as it may be, remove a third to a half of the total top portion of the tree. This will compensate for the portion of the root system lost when the tree was dug.

Planting the tree is the last key step. Dig a hole for the tree that is just wide and deep enough so the roots are not bent when placed in the hole. Set the tree in the hole at the same depth it stood in the nursery row with the roots in their natural position. Working in a good top soil around the roots, fill the hole three-fourths full. Fill with water to settle soil and remove air pockets. Then finish filling the hole with top soil but do not pack.

It is important that the basin area be kept clean of grass and weeds to prevent competition with the youngtree for soil moisture. Optimum soil moisture is

Since its inception in April of 1982, NSHR has paid over $260,000 to National Show Horse registered winners, and ofof another $126,000 in the first nine months of 1984 to NSHRregistered winners of selected shows throughout the United States.

The Tackitts comment, 'We are especially excited about Magic's new NSHR Nominated Sire approval because as a yearling, he was one of the youngest stallions ever to receive this recognition. He is also one of less than a dozen NSHR stallions across the nation to have the exotic Pinto coloring, making their foals double eligible for registration with NSHR and the Pinto Association; foals from Purebred Arabian mares are also eligible for a third registration with the International Arabian Horse Association, which makes the foals even more exciting-and rewarding! Persons interested in the American Horse Shows Association or the National Show Horse Registry are invited to contact the Tackitts for further information.

The following is the third of the series.)

Up to now, we know basically what 'low level' wastes are and what they are not. We have discussed how they are measured and by what names a couple of the bad boys go by. Where does all this stuff come from? I'm glad you asked that! The 'Authority' has said time after time after time that hospitals and medical research will produce a great deal of this waste. Which in fact is not quite true. There is a "movement", for lack of a better word, towards the deregulation of some 'low level' wastes such as those whose half lives are a few days and have these disposed of in another manner than the land fill dump site. But the break down which follows does not take this into consideration and the figures will be a little different.

Hospitals, research institutions and universities together produce 25% of the volume of 'low level' waste industry 24% and commercial power reactors 43% and the Federal Government only eight percent. This is at present levels of production. One needs to keep in mind nuclear power plants in full operation by 1990, if not sooner. Another breakdown uses the curie term again which measures the toxicity of the waste, while the above mentioned was a volume breakdown. Hospitals, research and universities account for less than 1% of the curies in a dump site while reactor wastes accounts for 45% of the same. Clearly, reactor wastes pose a far more serious problem than does medical wastes. The average medical hospital produces 1.2 curies per year short lived 'low level' average The pressurized water reactor produces 1,900 curies per year while the average boiling water reactor produces 4,000 curies per year. Just which type of nuclear reactor Texas is getting, was not available at the time of this article.

Some materials produced in reactors, classified as 'low level' are cesium-137 and cobalt-60. These hazardous isotopes are found in cooling water that circulates around the reactor core. This is because pinholes develop in the cladding surrounding the nuclear fuel allowing radioactive elements inside the fuel to be released to the coolant water. This water is periodically cleaned by filtering. The filters and sludges left over after cleaning contain significant quanities of both cesuim and cobalt. Ninety-eight percent (98%) of radioactivity found in reactor waste comes from these filters and sludges. Now switching documents of research, we find that filters and sludges, according to the 'Authority' will be deposited in the dump site in a safe and manageable manner, but that will be discussed later on in another article. The comparison continues and states that 75% of radioactivity found in medical wastes shipped for hurial in dumn sites has a half life of less than one week Sixty percent of the medical shipped technetium-99m with a half life of only six hours. It is important to cite technetium-99m, the m stands for metastable, which means nothing to me personally, but read on. Technetium-99 without the m is a different material and has a half life of 210,000 years, that's right two hundred ten thousand years. It may be interesting to note that some wastes, classified as high level, have half lives of 24 million years. One material, Plutonium-240 has that Texas will have two a half life of 6,580 years and decays to Plutonium-236, which has this 24 million year half life. But as was mentioned, this is high level and only referred to as a point of Back to the main subject, other dominant materials in 'low level' wastes series are iodine-131 with a half life of eight days and comprises 76% of materials from medical wastes with half lives over seven days. Materials with these short half lives can be stored on site at a medical institution or a nearby warehouse until basically harmless. So medical research will not suffer because of a lack of dumping facilities. And with a deregulation, would be unnecessary all together. Because of this short half life and on site storage, some feel that the various agencies trying to establish the dump sites, not only in Texas, but nationwide, are showing the public by constantly pushing the medical waste issue. As far as I can tell, medium waste is not the issue. It's the other things that they don't want to talk about.

In the next article, the dump site will be discussed in some details, what the physical location will look like and how it will be constructed and basic information of why certain things are done. Also, we will bring to light certain facts about other existing dumpsites and why they have been closed

FHANEWS

By Becky Underwood Recently FHA'ers began a project of gathering used clothing for elementary students who may need it. Unfortunately, this project hasn't gotten very far.

Last Friday the FHA projects committee consisting of Sheri Evatt, Kim Gillespie, Angela Donaldson, and Becky Underwood, decided that efforts should be increased if the project is to be any help this year. So, FHA'ers are going to be contacting many people in the community asking for help in the next few weeks. If you think you can help, please do! If you aren't contacted, call the homemaking department or one of the committee members above. We'll really appreciate your cooperation.

Houndettes Up Record To 5 and 1

By Coach Wainscott

Knox City travelled to Weinert last Tuesday to win an important game by only one point. The girls had a 12 point lead and slowly three girls fouled out. At that time it was hard for the Houndettes to score. But they held on with Kathy Hernandez part in key freethrows

Friday, the girls played Old Glory at KC and pushed to make their district score 5-1.

The Houndettes are knee sore. Paula Chambers will be back in action after visiting the doctor about her knees. Vera Sweat injured her knee in warm up last Friday, we'll see what she can do. Tammy Rogers and Daveine Holcomb are holding and battling. Cindy Hernandez and Marilyn Benson also are struggling with theirs.

The battle this week will be Asperment on Friday here at KC. At Aspermont, the Houndettes lost a close one We're hoping to come back this Tuesday, a practice game was played with Jayton Varsity girls and boys and also JV girls and boys. This practice game is needed by both groups (girls and boys). The eighth grade girls had a very exciting basketball game with Haskell, Monday night. Rhonda Albus was high scorer with 11 points. Nichoel Walaski with 2 freethrows. Other points were scored by Kim Moore 1, Christy Mowery 2, Michelle Manuel 2, and Sylvia Garcia 2.

The seventh grade girls also had a good basketball game against Haskell, Monday night. The high scorer was Mary Jean Ellis with 7 points. Kim Bateman with 4 freethrows. Other points were made by Beth Underwood 4, Kelli Whitten 1, Ann Diaz 2, and Tina Espinoza 2.

Fire Chief Craig Williams

discussed Fire Department matters with the council. He presented information on current Fire Department projects and the need for more safety equipment for the volunteer firemen. The department has recently had an increase in membership from 20 to 24 firemen who all serve on a volunteer basis. Other Fire Department matters discussed were the need for a communication system between the trucks and the station and the cost of such a system. Also presented was a high natural gas bill for heating the Fire Station. Chief Williams explained that the station has to be kept heated during cold weather to insure that the water in the trucks not be allowed to freeze. If such a freeze were to occur, the cost in repairs to the pumps on the trucks could Insurance contracts up for renewal were discussed. The council voted to spread the insurance coverage between the agents in Knox City and to transfer two of the policies to another agent after a motion to that effect was made.

run into the thousands of

The re-appointment of the Election Judge was discussed. After information given by Mayor Angle that Clyde Voss was willing to do the job, all voted in favor to have Clyde Voss as the Election Judge once again.

Health insurance for city employees was next on the agenda. The current policy held with the Texas Municipal League is up for renewal. After a discussion on the subject, a decision was reached to continue with TML but to drop down to a lower plan that will result in a savings to the city.

The annual resolution needed to tax automobiles was discussed and a vote was taken in favor of continuing to tax automobiles in 1984.

One sealed bid was received by the council for the small lot that was previously advertised for sale by bid. The one bid was from Sterling Lewis, owner of Lewis Paint & Body Shop. The council agreed to accept his bid and sell him the lot.

Greg Kuehler brought up the subject of the city Health Ordinance. The ordinance is not being enforced and Kuehler thought that enforcing the ordinance would be in the best interest of the entire city. All generally agreed with Kuehler, then discussed the possibility of enacting a junk car ordinance in Knox City that is similiar to the one adopted by the city of Stamford recently. More information will be obtained from Stamford and the matter studied further by the council members

Mayor Angle presented the council with information that the employees who operate the trash truck are not being paid enough to make a decent living wage. A discussion of a raise for those employees followed. An increase of fifty cents an hour was presented, a vote on the issue was taken and all voted in favor except

Councilman Wall then brought up the position of the City Clerk. He indicated that several months ago the council voted to have her work only ten days a month and she has been working more than that lately. Mayor Angle stated that he had authorized her to work more because it was apparent that the City Secretary could not handle increased office workload without additional help. The council then voted to rescind the earlier action that stated the clerk was to work only ten days a month. Further action by the council amended the clerk's position to an "as needed" basis by City Secretary Teri Ander-
