Shootin' Straight By Dave Thompson

FARMERS, RANCHERS MAY BE LIABLE

With the action of a State District Judge in Austin late last week, Texas farmers and ranchers may soon be faced with another law that means a lot more money out of their pockets. After a long fight by Austin Attorney Jim Harrington who represents a large coalition of farm workers civil rights groups, District Judge Hardy Clark stated that he would sign an order that nullifies the portion of the Texas State Workman's Compensation Law previously stating that farmers and ranchers were not required to participate in Workman's Compensation programs.

First reported by The Dallas Morning News, the orfarmers and ranchers in Texas who employ laborers will now be included under the Workman's Compensation law. The ruling was scheduled to be signed by the judge this week and will take effect ten days after the signing. State Attorney General Jim Mattox's office has publicly stated that an appeal to the ruling will be filed. If an appeal is filed, an injunction to the ruling will undoubtedly be sought to stop the ruling from becoming effective until the higher court determines the legality of the issue

After hearing a radio newscast on this Sunday morning, I made a telephone call to Ed Kasper, Director of the Workman's Compensation

Changes Urged By Hightower

Vernon -- Congressman Jack Hightower has sent an urgent telegram to President Reagan and Agriculture Secretary John Block urging them to make important changes in the 1984 farm programs to boost farmer participation. Hightower is concerned that low producer participation in programs designed to reduce crop surpluses will threaten further deterioration in farm income levels.

"I've said for some time that the current Administration's farm programs were too weak and would not really attract significant farmer support participation,' and Hightower said. "Preliminary statistics indicate that only about twenty percent of our Texas farmers have signed up for acreagereduction programs.'

Hightower explained that he thought important adjustments could be made in the Administration's programs which would encourage farmers to sign-up. "I've specifically encouraged the Administration to expand the haying and grazing provisions on the set-aside acreage and to return to last year's conservation regulations on the conservation reserve acres," Hightower said. "I've also urged the advance payment of one-half the deficiency payments, and an extension of the sign-up deadline. "It's incredible to think that we went through the drought and the PIK program in order to reduce surpluses, and now could very easily return to that situation if Secretary Block and the Administration do not act to increase participation,' Hightower said.

Cameron, 34, was born in Louisville, Kentucky, in 1949. He is currently serving his fifth year as pastor at Millsap. Bob has pastored in Texas Baptist churches for the past fifteen years. Before beginning his ministry at Millsap, he pastored First Baptist Church of O'Brien for five years. He also has served as pastor of Champion Baptist Church in Roscoe and Sardis Baptist Church in Rotan and has preached revivals throughout Texas and in Washington state. This year, he will have two Texas revivals scheduled and also one in Tennessee.

He and his wife, Kathy, have been married for 15 years and have one daughter, Beth.

Paul and Christy Newberry entered full-time music evangelism in March 1981 and make their home in Floydada where they are members of the First Baptist Church. Christy travels and sings full-time with Paul in the ministry into which they feel God has called them.

Paul, who was born in Dallas, was saved at age seven and dedicated his life to the music ministry at age 15. He became licensed to the ministry at age 27. His educational background includes receiving his bachelor of music education degree from Wayland Baptist University in Plainview; and his master of music from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. He has served as minister of music for six years in Texas Baptist Churches. Christy, who was saved at age six, has been involved in gospel singing for the past twelve years as a soprano soloist. She toured with the Continental Singers in the summers of 1975 and 1976

When these Girl Scouts begin their cookie sale on March 2, it will mark the 50th Cookieversary of the American tradition. The idea for the cookie sale was born back in the twenties when individual troops held cookie sales as fundraisers to support their activities. Word of the sales' success spread, and soon the number of participating troops grew. The first sale of commerciallybaked cookies was held 50 vears ago

Division of the State Board Of Insurance in Austin, to find out more information. Mr. Kasper was very helpful in the matter and gave me the information I was seeking to pass on to you, the readers. His office had not been officially informed of this matter yet. The only information that Mr. Kasper had was what he had read in The Dallas Morning News. His interpretation of that information is that if the judge does sign the ruling and it becomes law without an appeal, farmers and ranchers will become liable under the Workman's Compensation Law just as any other employer would be. One adamant fact stated by Director Kasper was, "Even if ranchers and farmers are included under the Workman's Compensation Laws by this ruling, they are still surance. Just as with any other employer, the Workman's Compensation insurance in Texas is not compulsory." Kasper went on to say, "If included under Workman's Comp by this action, farmers and ranchers are not required to have the insurance for their employees, but will be in the same liable position for injuries and/or work related sickness incurred by an employee just as any other employer in Texas would be." When asked to whom the ruling would apply, Director Kasper said, "The law would apply to all farm and ranch employees, whether they are full-time, part-time or just occasional hired help. It means anyone employed on

Once again it is important to remember that this ruling by Judge Clark has not become law yet. Even when he does sign it, a time period of ten days will be allowed before the new ruling actually takes effect. If, during that ten day period, an appeal is filed by the Attorney General's office and an injunction is granted, the ruling could be put off indefinitely until a higher court rules on the matter. And, it is also important to remember that the Attorney General's office has stated that they will file an appeal in this matter.

So, farmers and ranchers are cautioned that even though they do not have to rush right out and obtain Workman's Compensation Insurance right away, this matter is one that certainly deserves their attention. Mr. Kasper informed me that many farmers and ranchers in Texas already pay for the Workman's Comp insurance, just to be on the safe side in the event of an injury to an employee. To obtain the insurance, a farmer or rancher has to submit the amount of his annual employee payroll to his insurance agent and the agent then obtains a rate for the farmer or rancher. That rate will be the amount paid into the Workman's Comp in-

As more news on this develops, we here at The Knox County News will make every effort to pass it on to you in our effort to keep you informed on this very important item of interest to area ranchers and farmers.

Before closing this week, I would just like to say THANKS to all who agreed with and expressed appreciation over last week's column on our Knox City telephone service. The response was simply overwhelming and in total support of the items talked about. I guess it seems that we here in Knox City know the facts, and maybe someday the phone company will, too.

Jigsaw Puzzles Provide A Relaxing And Challenging Family Activity

Jigsaw puzzles to those who work them can be summed up in a word: relaxation. They can be worked at a leisurely pace a few pieces at a time or with concentrated effort by the family on a wintery day in front of the fire. They also provide a challenge and feeling of accomplishment when finished.

A recent survey of puzzle enthusiasts found these common threads—and others-to be the basis for the enduring appeal of puzzle-working. Families reported that puzzles drew them together for hours of shared enjoyment while providing a challenge. Some said they reserved puzzle time only for weekends so the entire family might participate; others reserved a special table where the current challenge is left to be worked out a few pieces at a time. There is a divergence of opinion on what makes puzzles appealing. Some fans prefer puzzles with a high degree of difficulty, containing intricate patterns, a predominance of a single color or shapes that fit anywhere. At the opposite end are people who prefer traditional nature scenes and pieces with distinctive shapes that fit only in the right spot.

The survey found that puzzle lovers love variety. Some, shown specific Whitman puzzles, said they would choose a challenging V.I.P.[™] puzzle (reproduc tion of fresh raspberries with a red background). This is a visually intricate optical teaser featuring identical sized hexagonal pieces. The monochrome composition presents a challenge, some of the survey group said. Others expressed preference for Guild™ puzzles of traditional panoramas and scenes of nature.

For puzzle-solvers who want challenge without weeks of frustration in seeking a solution, puzzles with an intermediate degree of difficulty, such as Whit-man's Sandpiper ™ puzzles, were preferred. These de-

Many of those surveyed found puzzles to be the right gift for relatives and friends, appealing to special interests, such as gardening, painting, photography and traveling. For shut-ins or hospital stays, puzzles can help pass idle hours.

Inexpensively priced, puzzles also can make perfect gifts, each chosen for the individual taste and interest of the recipient. From simple to complex, countryside to art deco, puzzles provide hours of fun, relaxation and challenge. As a gift of thoughtfulness, puzzles can be saved and preserved as a wall hanging or keepsake of a hard-won accomplishment.
