Sebo Britton was elected as City Marshal with 399 votes a majority of 214 over his nearest opponent, Bud Thompson.

John Davis, J. W. Gholson, and Ben Bagwell were elected as Aldermen, each for a two-year term, and John S. Rike defeated Theron Cahill for the one-year place of Alderman, 560 to 325.

F. G. Alexander, successful candidate for Mayor, can aptly be termed Haskell's "Centennial Mayor". This venerable pioneer was among the first business men of Haskell, and has resided here for 52 years. During his residence of over a half-century, he has been actively identified with, and a leader in all civic enterprises.

Sebo Britton, favored by a majority of city voters for Marshal, is no stranger to law enforcement duties. Sebo, ex-service man, served as nightwatchman and deputy marshal during the past fall and winter.

For City Secretary, Austin Coburn was favored by the majority, defeating R. H. Banks and M. H. Hancock.

The New Aldermen

John V. Davis, also elected to a two-year term, has been connected with the W. W. Fields & Son grocery store here for many years. He is the son of R. H. Davis, Justice of the Peace of Precinct 1.

J. W. Gholson, elected for a two-year term, is one of Haskell's leading businessmen, having operated Gholson's Grocery for the past twenty years.

Ben Bagwell, also chosen for a two year term, is likewise a leading young business man, the proprietor of a men's furnishing store.

John S. Rike, chosen by a majority of the voters for the one-year term as Alderman, is a native son of Haskell, member of a

Heavy Voting Started Early This Morning

Evidencing an interest wholly unexpected from surface indications, Haskell voters turned out in large numbers today to ballot in the city election for candidates for Mayor, City Secretary, City Marshal and four Aldermen, three for a two-year term and one for the one-year unexpired term of Ed Fouts, resigned.

No active campaigning had been done by any candidates except those for Marshal and Secretary, but shortly after the polls opened this morning, the rush of voters furnished ample indication that the balloting would be the heaviest in any City Election for years.

Election Officials Kept Busy

Although the heavy vote was unexpected, officials in charge of the election were equal to the occasion and kept close tally on the voting, announcing the complete returns within a short time after the polls closed at 7 o'clock.

Virgil Brown was presiding judge of the election, and was assisted by J. E. Leflar, judge; and Clerks Mrs. J. T. Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Bernard, Mrs. Gene Smith, Miss Dulin Fields and Claude Menefee.

Take Office April 16th

Newly elected officials will be sworn in at a meeting of the City Council, Thursday, April 16 and take over the reins of City Government from the retiring officials.

Displaying a hearty spirit of willing cooperation several defeated candidates freely expressed the hope that cooperation of our entire citizenship would be extended to the new officials.

The Pilgrimage of Houston and Austin To Texas Narrated

(By Lela Pitman Newsom).

Who said Texas has no shrines? Yet there will be simple structures of fine stone in Texas; built by a grateful people for the sole purpose of preserving for future generations the "Old Alamo" and other historic places of interest in which Sam Houston and citizens representing every class of society tried to defend.

From these places of interest we want them to become national shrines; here has been created a center whither come those people in their awakening appreciation of the lives and souls of Sam Houston, Austin and other men that made the supreme sacrifice for Texas.

On the 2nd of March a hundred years ago, Texas was made an independent state. So we are celebrating its Centennial birthday.

What have we to tell? What is our state to us, how much does it mean to us?

We could hardly estimate its value. With true Texan hospitality in honor of the guests expected, the state legislature appropriated last year $3,000,000 to be spent for Centennial purposes. The Federal government gave that much too. Of this sum $650,000 is to be used in the name of the Alamo and San Antonio, $525,000 for a permanent Texas Museum on the grounds of the State University at Austin, $650,000 to commemorate the battle of San Jacinto, which was near Houston. The other sums go for a dozen or more points in the state.

From the Alamo Monument the pilgrims may travel a distance of perhaps 100 miles to Austin, Travis County, Texas, where the state capitol was moved from Columbia. The Lone Star State dares presume that a study of the pioneer environment and frontier lives of these men of more than a century ago would reveal the source of Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin's greatness, but she does rejoice in the fact that the best years of their lives—from young manhood until their deaths—were spent within her boundaries, with the exception of Stephen F. Austin's imprisonment in Mexico during 1834 and 1835.

We do not boast when we boldly imply that it was because of their having lived in the heart of Texas that they "absorbed the vigor of the North, the chivalry of the South, the pioneer ruggedness of the West, and the culture of the East." Some of the sites of Texas, neglected for a century, will be marked this year as hallowed ground.

It has been said that when Gen. Sam Houston became president of Texas, he begged Austin to be his Secretary of State. Austin did not want the office on account of being ill, but he accepted anyway, because he thought Texas still needed his service. "He died from pneumonia which was brought on by exposure while working in a shabby office that had no fire."

President Houston issued a proclamation which read: "The father of Texas is no more. The first pioneer of the wilderness has departed. Stephen F. Austin, secretary of State, expired this day, at half past twelve o'clock at Columbia." "He was buried in an humble grave at Peach Point, but 74 years later, in October 1910, his remains were removed to Austin and reverently interred in the State Cemetery."

It has been said that Stephen F. Austin was much quieter, much simpler, much more of a gentleman than Houston. He brought to Texas his own kind to make homes and cultivate the land. To quote of him written by E. C. Barker: "He was a man of warm affections, and loved the idea of home, but he never married. Texas was home and wife to him. He died on a pallet on the floor of a two-room clapboard shack, a month and 24 days past his forty-third birthday. He died from overwork and exposure. A tragic victory!"

General Sam Houston visited Texas in 1833 and after two years he was elected Commander-in-Chief of the Texas Army. He was awaiting his time. It came on April 21, at San Jacinto. The cry of "Remember the Alamo, Remember Goliad" was revenge now. After Santa Anna was captured, he saw wounded Houston eating from an ear of raw corn and heard him say, "You can never expect to conquer men who fight for freedom when their general can March for four days with one ear of corn for his rations." Houston was a man who liked to make speeches.

We proceed in though the stirring years that followed; we see his last triumphs—of a daring, brilliant, and powerful man. He died in 1863. His remains lie buried at Huntsville, Texas, and to this tomb and to Austin's there will probably be a constant stream of pilgrims bearing wreaths of flowers and carrying away the imprint of the lives of two great men.

The heirs of General and Mrs. Houston now number 136, the great majority are still living in Texas. The oldest of the clan living today is Col. A. J. Houston, La Porte, the only living child of Sam Houston and Margaret Lea Houston. He is 82. His home will be pointed out to millions this year.

The Houston and Austin Tombs are probably the greatest Texas shrines. Can there be greater ones unless it is the Alamo Monument? I feel sure that it will be one among the great shrines if not the greatest of Texas.

News of Haskell County Boys In C. C. C. Camp

The Camp is in good health at this time. Quite a number of the boys at Haskell are packing up. It won't be long now till they will be on their way home. We wish them the greatest of joy and success. We will miss their merry smiles and the little fairy tales that we have granted each of them in the past months. May their lives be filled with the joys of life. Today you can see them hanging around on their bunks talking about home. Most of the others are gathered around the campfire. Some of the boys have come to see their best girls as it was the last Sunday in Las Cruces some of them.

A group of the boys enjoyed a trip to the mountains today. They found that they couldn't climb. A few lost their way trying to reach the top of the hills that they found. The boys were entertained today in camp by a vaudeville show. The show was paid for out of the company fund and the boys requested to bring their own. A large number attended by the way that they laughed and were sure that they enjoyed themselves to the greatest extent. They hope so anyway.

Three tracks won the usual Saturday evening trip last Saturday evening. They seem to be getting to be beat. Anyway they earned their money. They reported a nice time in El Paso. Many of the boys are bringing souvenirs home from Old Mexico. They found many interesting things in their rambles in Juarez. Some of the rings will be a last memory to them of old times. One boy that I spoke of last week that got the rock dropped on his head is going home. He thinks the incident will be repeated. The work on the different projects is progressing nicely. On several of the jobs the boys have accomplished more than there was laid out for them to do. Picacho dam is going right on up. The gopher gang has made great progress in the last month. Another grader was started last week. This makes two graders and two bulldozers that we have in the field. The graders are building roads on the canals in the different district of irrigation for the Bureau of Reclamation. This is a great help to the ditch rider as it enables them to do their work more speedily and safely.

Ford Inaugurates New Sales Policy For Used Cars

"With Ford dealers the day of the 'used car' is gone," according to J. D. Montgomery of the Haskell Motor Co. "You are now offered an exclusive new standard of automotive quality in R&G cars, which you may buy with as much confidence and assurance of satisfaction as a completely new automobile."

"This new term—R&G—stands for Renewed and Guaranteed. It means that each car offered under it must meet a rigid set of specifications as to mechanical condition and appearance. And the result is a product so fine that it can be sold with a written guarantee of 'Satisfaction or Your Money Back!'"

"Under this guarantee, you are the judge of the car's quality. After purchase, you may drive it two days, and put it to any driving test you please. If it fails to measure up to your expectations in any way, you may return it to your Ford dealer's and have your money refunded in full—cheerfully, and with no questions asked."

"In addition, you will receive a written service warranty as a further protection. This double guarantee removes the elements of doubt and uncertainty that have troubled buyers of used cars for years."

"Now you can know the facts before you buy. There's no need to rely on the opinion of someone else, or trust to verbal claims. You know what you're getting for your money when you select an R&G car or truck at your Ford dealers."

WILL PAY CASH for good Chevrolet or Ford, if priced right. Have two smooth-mouth "T" models for sale or trade. What have you? No reasonable offer will be refused. Jno. E. Robinson, at Gratex Service Station. 1t.

Field Maneuvers At Fort Clark Are Slated Near Future

Field Maneuvers for troops of the First Cavalry Division of the United States Army this spring will be in the vicinity of Marfa from April 25 to about May 12, with all combatant troops of the division participating, according to advices from Fort Bliss at El Paso, headquarters of the division.

Eleven Haskell county youths, who recently enlisted in the Fifth Cavalry, will take part in the maneuvers.

They are Thos. E. Eastland, Lee Herring, Robt. L. Gilliam, R. B. Harper and Paul O. Schrick of Haskell; Gaston B. Stone and Glen Williams, Rochester; V. T. Cagle, Weinert; Benny Yarbrough Rule; Leo Sedberry and Wm. C. Evans of Rule.

The Fifth Cavalry and the headquarters troop of the First Cavalry Brigade stationed at Fort Clark will attend the exercises as components of the First brigade, along with the twelfth Cavalry, second regiment of the brigade stationed at Fort Brown near Brownsville and Fort Ringgold, which will join the Fifth and brigade headquarters troop at Clark.

The brigade will leave Fort Clark on April 13, expecting to arrive at the maneuver area on April 25, covering a distance of 278 miles by marching. Overnight camps will be made at Del Rio, Devil's River, Comstock, Shumla, Lozier, Dryden, Sanderson, Longfellow, Haymond, Marathon, Alpine and then on the thirteenth day arrival at Marfa. Two days will be spent at Dryden, one a Sunday lay-over.

The present plan for the maneuvers embraces three phases imposing interesting and active conditions. Some time during the test troops will go out for two or three days with all rations and forage for animals on the saddle and packs. No transportation will be with them.

The divided phases follow: First phase—whole division takes part in three days of drill and exercises.

Second phase—free maneuver (night and day) for three or four days. The First against the Second brigade. (The latter is composed of troops from Fort Bliss, viz., the Seventh and Eighth regiments of cavalry.)

Third phase—division (less one regiment) on five days march under war conditions, being opposed by the detached regiment of cavalry.

Uniform for march and maneuvers will be campaign hats, woolen olive drab shirts, cotton olive drab breeches and boots. Black neckties will be worn, and one complete suit of woolen underwear will be taken by each trooper, as the temperature in the Marfa country drops sharply at night.

Troops will carry all arms and packs, except the rifle troops will carry four machine-guns instead of six. The heavy machine-gun troop will carry six water-cooled guns and two 37 m. m. gunds. Neither band nor pack train will accompany the movement. All horses fit for field duty will make the march. Each regiment expects to have 16 trucks and other passenger motors with it.

After remaining in the maneuver area for about 16 days, organizations will begin their return march to respective home stations. The Fifth Cavalry and the brigade headquarters troop will return to Fort Clark, evacuating Marfa on Monday, May 11, under present plans, and arriving at Clark on Saturday, May 23. The return march will involve in reverse order the same overnight camps as the trip outward, with two days, one Sunday, again being spent at Dryden. The marching column is expected to reach Alpine on the 11th; Marathon, 12th; Haymond, 13th; Longfellow, 14th; Sanderson, 15th; Dryden, 16th, lay-over 17th; Lozier, 18th; Shumla, 19th; Comstock, 20th; Devil's River, 21st; Del Rio, 22nd; Fort Clark, 23rd.

This will be the longest period in recent years for the Fifth Cavalry and the brigade headquarters unit to spend in the field. Maneuvers on large scale have been deferred the past several years in this section, and among the military the approaching extensive division operations are looked upon with interest and keen expectation.

Colonel Robert C. Richardson Jr. now commands the Fifth, with Lieutenant W. Hamilton Hunter as his adjutant; Major James V. McDowell, plans and training and intelligence; and Major Andrew J. Wynne, supply. It is not known at this time exactly how many troops will go on maneuvers from Fort Clark. The regiment has a potential strength of 700, which will be augmented by the headquarters troop of the brigade, medical and veterinary personnel.

The Twelfth Cavalry is expected to return by rail due to the extremely long distances its units must travel. One squadron and the headquarters of the Twelfth are maintained at Fort Brown, while the other squadron is at Fort Ringgold.

News of HASKELL COUNTY Farmers

(BY W. M. FREE)

M. H. Harris of Sayles, says when he came here 30 years ago that this was a fine country to live in, with plenty of good grass and other things in accordance to the well doing of the farmers of that day.

Gordon Larned of Rose, had to enlarge the cellar when he moved to the farm he is now living on before Mrs. Larned could get all of her canned goods in it.

Vernon rabbit drive at Vernon, was a success in every way except killing rabbits. The boys said rabbits were very scarce, but very few got away that were in range of the guns of the hunters. Charlie Campbell, Herman Mueller and Homer Scott cooked the meat and made the coffee and the ladies furnished the pies and cakes. It was a real feast for everyone.

V. F. Shaw of Center Point says that the tractor is a fast method of farming. He has most of his ground sown to small grain and it is needing rain very badly. His hens are paying the bills with egg production. The old hen always helps when you need it.

T. D. Strickland of Sayles, says that the best crop he has made on his farm was in 1932 when almost every acre of ground made a bale of cotton. He also made lots of feed the same year.

J. O. Jackson of Rule Route 1, returned from South Texas last week from the Gulf Coast, where he spent the winter fishing. But he was complaining because it was too wet to fish. After a few days rest he will go west and herd goats for his brother. There is a thing about herding sheep and goats that everyone does not know and he got the job because of his experience as a first class goat classer or sorter.

G. E. Dennington of O'Brien was preparing a brooder house for 300 red baby chick which he expected to bring home from the hatchery Friday. He owns a good home and farm but he says that he must have plenty of laying hens on the farm. He reports a little twister Monday which blowed down a small house on the farm. The same twister wrecked a barn at the home of Mrs. George Pogue near the Dennington farm. It was a severe sandstorm all over that section.

The rabbit drive at Hutto last Thursday was the occasion of bringing a large crowd of men, women and children together. A good dinner consisting of barbecue, coffee, bread and pickles with plenty of pies and cakes, furnished by the ladies. Henry Whiteside and J. W. Herndon cooked the meat and made the coffee. It was a great feast for all. Mrs. Ida Dozier said that Hutto had never failed to bountifully feed the people at any gathering and there was no shortage on the day of the rabbit drive in that community.

H. F. Newbrough of O'Brien Route 1, has a new brooder house and has 200 baby chicks growing nicely. He has some good mules for farming.

P. A. Melton of O'Brien, Route 1, one of our leading young farmers is doing nicely. Mrs. Melton has a beautiful yard, nicely arranged and has many beautiful flowers growing. They have 100 white leghorn baby chicks and a nice flock of laying hens. They are making the farm pay.

Tom Brite—
Whenever we need a little story we call on our old friend Tom Brite and he is always ready with the goods. We stopped by his home late the other evening and he told us that he was getting along fine. He had all his ground put up and ready to plant in row crops but was waiting on a shower. He expects to plant some June corn later. He has ten or twelve good cows and most of them giving milk. He sells cream and also markets lots of eggs. He always strives to raise hogs for meat and lard for the family. Tom says that he likes to bed and rebed his ground to make the soil fine.

J. J. Wofford—

We are very sorry to report that the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wofford of Bunker Hill was suffering with a broken arm, but she was getting along nicely. Mr. Wofford is a tractor farmer. We guess he would be called that as he uses four tractors for his farm work. When they all get on the job the soil is being turned up in a rush.

Lee Cornelius—

There is no rush about Lee Cornelius farm projects. He just takes his good easy time and gets the job done with a speedy tractor. He uses his surplus feed for livestock and poultry and balances the budget.

O. L. Plumlee—

Since the first of the year O. L. Plumlee has moved from the west part of Haskell to the Bunker Hill community where he is engaged in farming. He will farm with teams and will have chickens, hogs and cows to help him stem the tide in life's battle.

Charlie Campbell—

For many years we have known Charlie and Mrs. Campbell of the Plainview community, and we know them to be our friends. We were glad to see them again after we had been away so long.

Charlie is a farmer who has made a success, and he uses good teams for his farm work. He had some bottom land and when the years are dry he can always make some good corn, cotton and other row crop feed. Mrs. Campbell has the famous Barred Rock chickens and they are good for all purposes. They always have a good garden and use the canner freely. Prospects look good for Charlig with a rain soon. Mrs. Campbell gave us a real good dinner.

Ollie Gilliland—

To our surprise we found Ollie Gilliland living in the Flat Top Community. He and his wife were both reared in the Howard community and we have known these kids most of their life. Ollie will farm quite a number of acres of ground with a tractor and he was up with his work.

Hershell Owens—

One of the finest flocks of baby chicks we have seen we found at the home of Hershell Owen in the old Joe Baily Community. Mrs. Owen had 131 black Minorca chicks at the start and has only lost 4 and they are now more than 3 weeks old. It's a pretty sight to see these chicks in the brooder pens. They have turkeys, feed a bunch of cows and sell cream and their average production of eggs per week from their flock of hens is 43 dozen.

A. B. Corzine—

There is no exception to the rule with A. B. Corzine for he is using a tractor for farming. He has lived in the Center Point community for a number of years and he is still a happy and contented farmer.

B. M. Gregory—

A club meeting was held at the B. M. Gregory home last Thursday afternoon by the ladies of the Guantt community which was well attended. B. M. went to town to avoid the rush. It must have been the Center Point club instead of Guantt. In this club there is a bunch of ladies who use the canner and they have their cellars filled with many good things to eat.

Haskell Beauty Will Be Chosen Soon For Frontier Centennial

Haskell County's most beautiful young woman will be selected as this city's representative for the Texas Frontier Centennial in Fort Worth, in a contest to be sponsored by the Haskell Free Press jointly with the local Chamber of Commerce. Full details of the contest will be announced next week.

Similar contests will be held in fifty cities of Texas at the request of Billy Rose, world-famous theatrical producer who is director general of the Frontier Centennial.

That the contest is far removed from the average "beauty contest" which in practically every instance is staged for profit, can readily be understood when the attractive rewards for the winners, as announced in a letter from Mr. Rose, are considered.

The young lady chosen as Haskell representative will go to Fort Worth with all expenses paid, the last week in May, along with winners from other Texas cities. Metro-Goldwyn & Mayer Picture Corporation will send Clark Gable to Fort Worth to act as judge and select "Miss Texas Sweetheart." Thirty-six of the fifty girls will receive employment in the "Frontier Follies" show and the young woman selected as "Texas Sweetheart" will receive a six months engagement with M. G. M. as a baby star.

In addition to the trip to Fort Worth, a suitable trophy will be awarded the Haskell winner by the Free Press.

Full details of the contest, and requirements as to age, etc., will appear next week. No charge will be made for entering.

The Fall of the Alamo

Anna Rose Chapman, seventh grade pupil at North Ward school was winner in the essay writing contest and will compete in the county meet. The article which Anna Rose wrote "The Fall of the Alamo" follows:

Santa Anna, president and dictator of Mexico, was enraged when General Cos was run out of San Antonio by the colonists who lived there. This was done in the winter of 1835. He began raising a mighty army to destroy the rebellion among the Texans. He thought it would be very easy to do so. So, on February 22, 1836, the main army marched into San Antonio and pitched camp.

One hundred and eighteen years before the Spanish priests had built the Alamo on the banks of the San Antonio River. It was made of stone and used as a mission. It was enclosed by a stone wall and the enclosed space was as one of our city blocks to-day.

William B. Travis was in command here with only one hundred and fifty men. They could have easily escaped, but it never occurred to them to do so. As Santa Anna's army approached they retreated within the walls of the Alamo and prepared to defend it. The Mexicans bombarded them for several days, but little harm was done.

Although the Mexicans cannon dropped shot within the walls, the defenders kept their courage and had no thought of surrendering or retreating. Travis had hopes of getting aid, and sent a number of messages to the Colonists. On February 24, Travis sent his last and most memorable of them all.

Although messages were sent to all the colonies, the only relief which reached Travis was a little band of thirty men from Gonzales. This helped very little.

For some time artillery fire which rained upon the fortress had done little harm. Consequently a council of war was held by the Mexican officers, and it was decided to make a general assault. Early Sunday morning, March 6, the silence of the dawn was broken by a shrill bugle blast, the Mexican signal to charge. As the tramp of the onrushing troop filled the air, a Mexican battery band began vigorously to play the "assassin's song," which meant "no mercy." Bayonets flashed and the carnage began. In sight of the beleaguered Texans a black flag floated from the steeple, a sign that no prisoners were to be taken—it was victory or death for Travis and his men.

At first the Texans held the outer wall but superior numbers drove them into the church. Foot by foot, they gave way, but the Mexican dead littered the ground and fell in a heap by the walls. As the enemy scaled the walls, the defenders fought like lions but there were too many. One by one the bravest fell: Travis, Crockett, Bowie, Bonham, and all the rest. Not one surrendered. They died like heroes. Long may they live in memory. It took less than an hour until the last defender had fallen. From the fact that all the defenders of the Alamo were killed, it has been said that: "Thermopylae had his messenger of death, the Alamo had none."

We now see how brave, courageous and loyal our heroes were and how they died for us. May their memory remain with us forever.
