

Warren gas plant to be 'mothballed'

Warren Petroleum Company's North Snyder Plant, one of three gas plants which operate in Scurry County on an interfaced system, will cease operations and be "mothballed" within the coming weeks.

Warren officials cited declining gas volumes and "related economic reasons" with the planned closing. Warren operates as a division of Chevron U.S.A.

Some 25 employees currently work at the facility and all of these have accepted employment at other Chevron locations.

Operations supervisor Weldon Foreman said 19 of these staffers will be required to move from the county. Six others have been moved to positions with Chevron's other local offices which includes SACROC and Chevron's pipeline operations.

Plant superintendent Richard Birdsall has been transferred to Sherman. Foreman, as the Number 2 man at the facility, said he expects to be transferred to New Mexico.

Employees at the facility have known about the pending closure for several months. It was initially to occur effective Jan. 1.

The North Snyder Plant was first brought on stream in 1950 by Chevron to process gas from its West Texas leases. It has the capacity to process 42,000 mcf per day of natural gas.

The gas currently being processed by the North Snyder Plant will be processed in the Sun Oil-operated plant located adjacent to FM 1611. The other gas processing plant interfaced in the system is operated by BHP Petroleum in the western portion of the county.

Warren officials emphasized that the decision to shut down and mothball the North Snyder Plant would have no impact on operations of Warren's other gas processing plants.

Warren started operating the North Snyder Plant in 1985 following Chevron's merger with Gulf Oil. Warren is responsible for Chevron's domestic gas liquids sales and major gas processing operations east of the Rockies.

Ask Us

Q. — I'm confused about securing a social security number for my child for tax purposes. Is it required in every case?

A. — If your child is 5-years-old or over, you'll likely want to list them as a dependent on your tax filing return, since this will entitle you to a deduction this year of some $1,900. To legally list them as a dependent, however, they must now have a social security number which should be listed on the return.

Texans recover from winter storm

By The Associated Press

Texans continued to recover today from the worst of a winter storm that is blamed for at least six deaths, hundreds of accidents on ice-glazed roads and ruined schedules for travelers on land and in the air.

Freezing rain, sleet and snow that slowed North and West Texas for two days ended by Thursday afternoon, but temperatures plunged across the northern half of the state early today.

The mercury dipped to 8 degrees at Wichita Falls early today. It was 19 at both Amarillo and Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, 20 at Abilene, 28 at Austin, 30 at Houston and 32 at San Antonio.

And forecasters were also watching an approaching weather system that could bring more precipitation to the state Saturday, when Texans may see the mercury top the freezing mark.

In the meantime, meteorologists said roads could remain slick and glazed with ice.

"It's going to take some vastly improved weather over a period of days to thaw out," said Harvie Jordan of the Texas Department of Highways in Austin.

Law officers in the Panhandle and Big Country urged motorists to stay off the road, while public safety officials said the worst conditions were north and west of Abilene.

Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, meanwhile, was still packed with stranded travelers today.

The storm's eastward movement Thursday compounded American's problem at DFW by dumping snow on the airline's hubs in Nashville, Tenn. and Raleigh-Durham, N.C. Both airports were closed at midday and the airline canceled almost 900 flights, spokesman Joe Selman said.

He said 106 flights had been canceled because of weather today.

And with the arctic blast, public health officials had a bit of advice. "Give yourself the luxury of taking care of yourself," said

Lynne Schulster, an epidemiologist with the Texas Health Department.

Schulster said the influenza season is in full swing in Texas and the frigid weather doesn't help matters.

The severe weather that might have been a holiday for some actually turned into hard work.

"I started to close this morning," said Bob Rotenberry, co-owner of the Pizza Getti restaurant in Dallas. "But it's been busy. More business than a normal day," he said as he prepared another batch of garlic bread.

Meanwhile, customers in the little restaurant entertained themselves by watching drivers try to negotiate the slanted parking lot.

At least six deaths were blamed on the severe winter weather of the past three days and traffic accidents were common around the state.

Streets improve in city

The skies cleared over Snyder around 1 p.m. Thursday, and the sunshine was sufficient to melt the thin layer of ice which had made city streets hazardous to drive over.

The long range forecast was for warmer conditions here and across most areas of West Texas.

Slick conditions reportedly remained on bridges and overpasses as well as shaded areas in the county, however.

With the improved roads, public schools returned to a normal schedule Friday.

Skies were cloudy again Friday morning, and ice remained which had formed on trees and shrubbery during the winter storm here which began Monday.

Temperatures in the city never rose above 26 degrees Thursday and the overnight low was 18.

The forecast was for improving conditions, however. The Friday night low is expected in the middle 20s with the mercury expected to rise into the upper 30s Saturday.

All of West Texas is forecast to be generally dry with a warming trend Sunday through Tuesday. Highs for the South Plains area should rise into the 40s and 50s as early as Sunday.

Across the state, a dome of high pressure spread sub-freezing temperatures across much of Texas, keeping the icy coating on streets and highways in North Texas intact.

The mercury plunged to freezing or below as far south as Houston and Corpus Christi's reading hovered only one degree above freezing during the pre-dawn hours.

Ice causes rural wrecks

A 1986 Ford pickup driven by Bobby Gene Kirkpatrick of 3003 23rd St. went out of control on ice at 8 a.m. Tuesday 11 miles north of Snyder on Highway 208 and overturned on the roadside, the Department of Public Safety reported Friday.

A DPS trooper said Kirkpatrick was not seriously injured in the accident, which took place as he was going north on 208.

His vehicle reportedly started spinning on the slick road and overturned on the shoulder as the pickup hit the dirt roadside.

A 1970 Ford pickup driven by Kenneth Ray Thompson of Aguilar, Colo., was in collision with an unidentified tractor-

Party chairmen candidates listed

A contested race has developed here for the position of Democratic Party county chairman and, on the Republican ticket, party members will see a change in the county chairman's post.

On the primary ballots due March 8, voters in the Democratic Party will have a choice between incumbent Gene Bowlin, who has held the post for six years on this his second stint as county chairman; and Earl (Hassie) Sneed, a former county commissioner for Pct. 2. Sneed retired from public office in December of 1986.

For the Republicans, current county chairman Nona Morrison, who has served the past two years, will step down and Donny Burk, who has served as a precinct chairman, announced

County chairmen for both parties have filed also with the county clerk's office the list of each's precinct chairmen.

For the Democratic Party, precinct chairmen include: Pct. 5, Louetta Turner; Pct. 6, June Greenway; Pct. 7, Pamela O. West; Pct. 10, W.J. Fuller; Pct. 11, Ruben Pena; Pct. 12, Irma Lee Emerson; Pct. 13, Jerry Clift; Pct. 14, Wañda Eicke; Pct. 15, Salome (Sam) Barrera; Pct. 16, Janelda Davis; Pct. 17, Jerry House; and Pct. 18, Martin Pena Jr.

For Republicans, chairmen include: Pct. 5, Shirley K. Jones; Pct. 8, Homer Godair; Pct. 9, J.D. Baze; Pct. 12, Carl Dillaha; Pct. 15, Art Feinsod; Pct. 18, John Thomas; and Pct. 19, Eddie Floyd.

CHILLY REMINDER — Temperatures here dipped to 18 degrees Thursday night, keeping the ice intact which had formed on trees during the winter storm which began Monday. Streets in Snyder were essentially clear, however, after skies cleared briefly Thursday afternoon. (SDN Staff Photo)

Real estate office opens

A new real estate office has opened in Snyder, Cornett Realtors under the ownership of Pat Cornett.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Vice presidents are supposed to be team players—they just don't get much playing time."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

There is a negative about having a high school football team in the playoffs. Merchants in Sweetwater know about this problem.

Fans in Sweetwater followed the District 2-4A champions all over the state before the Mustangs were finally beaten by Rockwall on the second Saturday of December. That meant that a majority of Sweetwater citizens were somewhere other than Sweetwater for all except the last weekend before Christmas.

Gail Redden, writing in the Sweetwater Reporter, told about a die-hard Mustang fan who ran into K-Bobs for a quick lunch. She forgot and left her car unlocked.

A selective thief arrived, but the only thing taken were tickets to the football game in Fort Worth.

It was Redden who told of some Aggies who followed the Mustangs. All the cars in town had signs proclaiming, "BEAT CANYON."

One carload of Aggies drove right through Lubbock trying to get to the game. They thought the sign read, Be At Canyon.

James Roberts, in the Andrews County News, told about a recent holiday gathering of family members. One in attendance was an elderly, old maid aunt.

"Tell me, Aunt Emily," inquired her nephew, "why is it that you never married?"

Well, sonny, I have a dog that snarls, a parrot that swears, a chimney that smokes, and a cat that stays out all night. I guess I just never needed a husband."

Kim Pease, in the Rotan Advance, observed that success depends on the nature of man.

"Nature gives man two ends—one to sit on and one to think with. Man's success or failure is dependent on the one he uses the most."

In Brief

Lowest point

DALLAS (AP) — Texas' unemployment rate fell a full point to 7.5 percent in December, its lowest level in almost two years, but federal labor officials today said the state's economy was still failing to show any substantial strength.

The number of Texans looking for work fell to 639,000 in the final month of 1987, compared with 725,000 in November, according to U.S. Bureau of Labor statistics. Total employment held relatively steady at just over 7.8 million.

Jobless drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civilian unemployment rate dropped to 5.8 percent in December, its lowest since July 1979.

Baby is born

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A man driving his pregnant wife to the hospital during a snowstorm helped deliver the baby as they were stuck in a traffic jam, keeping one hand on the steering wheel and guiding the baby's head with the other.

Anna Rose Barr, 7 pounds and 15½ ounces, was born about 9:30 a.m. Thursday to Nancy Barr as her husband, William, snaked the family van through a 12-car pileup on Interstate 55 just south of St. Louis. The couple's three other children watched from the back seat.

Shultz plans busy final year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tanned and relaxed after a year-end vacation, Secretary of State George Shultz looks like anything but a shaky lame duck as he outlines his scenario for 1988 on the foreign policy front.

There are enough trouble spots around to put circles under his eyes. But Shultz, an optimistic pluggger who has held the job since July 1982, longer than anyone since Dean Rusk in the 1960s, does not seem fazed.

He told reporters at a State Department news conference Thursday that he was pleased with the political and economic situation in South Korea, calling it a "miracle," and that he was looking forward to early visits from the leaders of Japan, China and Egypt.

He said he was happy that Congress, in squeezing the foreign aid budget, had approved $550 million for African development. And Shultz called the INF treaty with the Soviets to ban intermediate-range nuclear missiles "a triumph" of the U.S. alliance with Western Europe.

In an effort to make the next U.S.-Soviet summit a success, Shultz said he and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze had agreed to have monthly meetings beginning in February to go over the issues.

They will meet alternately in Moscow and in Washington until President Reagan goes to the Soviet capital, probably in June.

Would the dispute over the U.S. Strategic Defense Initiative block a deal to sharply reduce long-range nuclear weapons?

Shultz recalled philosophically that "there seemed to be many irreconcilable differences as we went through the INF process, and gradually we managed to work them out."

Reagan was unable to persuade Mikhail Gorbachev at their meeting last month to give him a precise timetable for a withdrawal of the estimated 115,000 Soviet troops that have been stationed in the war-torn country for eight years.

AP analysis

But Shevardnadze on Wednesday said the Soviets hoped to remove the Red Army by the end of the year. More significant was his broad hint that the withdrawal would not depend on creation of a transitional government acceptable to Moscow.

In the Middle East, there is little sign of progress toward peace between Israel and its Arab neighbors.

Shultz concentrated on cautioning Israel's enemies not to be lulled into thinking the U.S. vote against Jerusalem this week in the U.N. Security Council on planned Palestinian deportations meant a loosening of ties between the two countries.

"It's important for everyone to understand that the United States regards its friendship and the strength of its relationship with Israel as a key and unshakable relationship," Shultz said.

Meese ownership of regional Bell stock under investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese III's investments in the regional Bell telephone companies are under criminal investigation by the same independent counsel already looking into his ties to scandal-plagued Wedtech Corp., one of Meese's attorneys says.

Meese and his wife, Ursula, held telephone stock worth $9,600 a year ago when Meese approved Justice Department recommendations to lift some restrictions on the businesses in which the regional Bell companies could engage.

Meese has refused to remove himself from the Justice Department's ongoing efforts to supervise its breakup of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Meese's much-revised financial disclosure form is in a state of limbo within the Justice Department because of the potential conflict involving the regional Bell stocks. The form was reviewed last month by a career Justice Department attorney, who spotted a possible conflict and contacted the office of independent counsel James McKay.

But law enforcement officials speaking on condition of anonymity and one of Meese's own attorneys, James Rocap, said that McKay's staff had already been investigating the matter and had opened its own investigation earlier into a possible conflict of interest.

Terry Eastland, a Justice Department spokesman, said Meese's financial disclosure form "has yet to be officially approved." He said that approval won't be forthcoming until McKay concludes his criminal investigation of Meese.

Meese has been under criminal investigation by McKay's office since last May 11 for his involvement with Wedtech Corp., a now-bankrupt Bronx, N.Y., defense contractor.

Rocap said the investment in the Bell companies has "been within his (McKay's) jurisdiction from the beginning of the investigation." Rocap predicted that McKay's inquiry will conclude that there was nothing improper about Meese's actions on behalf of the regional Bell companies at a time when he owned stock in them.

Meese approved Justice Department recommendations last February, generally supporting seven regional phone companies' requests that they be permitted to offer long-distance phone service in certain areas. Meese also said the regional Bell companies should be permitted to manufacture telephone equipment and provide electronic information services such as home banking.

Bank depositors told they may sue owners

WACO, Texas (AP) — A federal bankruptcy judge has ruled that depositors of the failed Leroy Bank may pursue litigation against the bank's former and present owners.

In making the ruling Thursday, Bankruptcy Judge Leif Clark also denied a motion by the Texas Banking Department to dismiss an involuntary bankruptcy suit. The Texas Banking Department closed the private, unincorporated and uninsured bank Aug. 7 and declared it insolvent.

Because efforts to recapitalize and reopen the bank were unsuccessful, the depositors may lose their money. About 600 depositors held $5.5 million in deposits at the bank.

The involuntary bankruptcy suit, filed in Waco's federal bankruptcy court in December, halted a suit filed in 19th State District Court by 342 depositors in the bank and froze all other pending litigation.

Gutierrez was disappointed with the judge's ruling.

"It's a delay," he said. "It's confusing. It's not clear to us whether a third closing of the bank will eliminate the judge's concerns."

The state ordered the Leroy Bank closed a second time Oct. 7 because of concerns by creditors that the first order may not have been valid. New statutes regarding the state's control over private banks became effective Aug. 31.

First Republic Bank Waco has a $1.25 million claim against the Leroy Bank, which Gutierrez said would leave nothing for the depositors.

Portugal became a republic in 1910 when King Manuel II was forced to flee as the result of a revolution.

Gift of Earrings Has Become Chain Around Woman's Neck

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for eight months to an absolutely wonderful man. We love each other very much, and our marriage would be perfect, except for one fly in the ointment: "Mums" — his mother.

On the evening of our engagement, Mums presented me with a pair of her earrings, saying I could keep them as long as her son and I stayed together. Then she added, "And if you should die, I want them to go to 'Lenore' — my eldest niece."

I didn't feel too good about the strings she attached to her gift, but I accepted them because I assumed they were family heirlooms to be kept in the family. (I later learned the earrings were given to her by a wealthy beau who later jilted her.)

Last evening I was wearing them and Mums said, "If you ever lose one, just have the remaining one duplicated, but please don't tell me because I wouldn't want to know how careless you were with 'my' earrings."

After that remark, I was tempted to take them off and give them back to her, but I didn't want to make a scene.

Abby, is there some tactful way to return them? I really don't feel as though they are mine.

TROUBLE IN TORONTO

DEAR TROUBLE: There is no "tactful" way to give them back. Keep them as your own Nobel "peace prize" for keeping peace in the family.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is involved in a psychologically abusive relationship. She is reluctant to admit that she is being abused — instead she rationalizes and makes excuses for her lover's behavior. ("He has migraines, family stress, business problems, unresolved conflicts and a traumatic childhood." You name it.) She also blames his abusive behavior on herself — saying she provoked it, doesn't give him enough attention and is not responsive enough to his needs. At the same time she is frightened of the consequences of asking him to move out (the apartment is hers) because they work for the same company and he could make it very ugly and embarrassing for her. To top it off, he has insisted that their living together be kept a secret.

This is all subtle mental abuse — controlling, insidious and sabotaging — never loud or violent. There are no broken bones or disturbances of the peace one can point to. I care deeply for this woman, and it's sickening to observe the situation. What can I do to help her?

ANGUISHED IN MENLO PARK

DEAR ANGUISHED: Even though your assessment of your friend's situation may be accurate, there is no way you can "help" her — unless she asks for help, or at least confides that she feels abused. Should that time come, it would be appropriate for you to urge her to get into therapy in order to learn why she not only accepts this kind of punishment, but thinks she deserves it.

DEAR ABBY: Our children are all grown and on their own now, but my husband refuses to go to a restaurant for a holiday dinner because we'd have no leftovers.

Wouldn't it be nice if a restaurant would offer a nice dinner plus leftovers? Of course they would charge a little more, but I'm sure a lot of people would think it was worth it to take home some "fresh" leftover ham or turkey or whatever.

I know that doggie bags are available to carry home the leftovers from one's own dinner, but fresh leftovers could make another lunch or dinner the next day.

What do you think of this idea, Abby? It wouldn't be any more trouble for the restaurant — and it could be profitable.

HUNGRY FOR LEFTOVERS IN ELMIRA, N.Y.

DEAR HUNGRY: I think it's a great idea. (I'm reminded of this old saying: "The person who says it can't be done is usually interrupted by someone who is doing it.")

People are eating them up! To order your copy of Abby's favorite recipes, send your name and address, clearly printed, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Abby's Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Postage and handling are included.

Labor leader says...

Candidate not ready to become president

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — The leader of the powerful Mexican Oil Workers Union says the man virtually assured victory in next July's presidential election "doesn't have the necessary preparation" for the office.

Public criticism of the Institutional Revolutionary Party's candidate is rare from a figure as prominent as Joaquin Hernandez Galicia, known by his nickname "La Quina."

As longtime leader of the oil workers, a party-aligned union, he is a key political player.

In portions of an interview with a Ciudad Victoria television station that were published Thursday in the Monterrey newspaper El Norte, Hernandez Galicia said candidate Carlos Salinas de Gortari is not a career politician.

"A president isn't made during a one-year campaign," Hernandez Galicia said in the interview, aired this week on XHUT-TV. "He can't come to know the problems of the country or acquire enough preparation to be a good president in that amount of time."

Ciudad Victoria, 310 miles northeast of Mexico City, is the capital of Tamaulipas state. Hernandez Galicia lives in Tampico, on the state's Gulf coast.

Gulf States is pursuing restructuring

HOUSTON (AP) — While Gulf States Utilities Co. explores restructuring so that each state served by the utility pays its own way, the utility is negotiating a settlement with its Southeast Texas customers on a proposed rate increase.

The Gulf States board of directors Thursday authorized its committee on bankruptcy to expand its scope to study alternatives for restructuring the Beaumont-based utility, which serves customers in Texas and Louisiana.

"We still have no specific plan for restructuring," Board Chairman E. Linn Draper said. The utility wants to retain legal and management experts to give restructuring advice to the bankruptcy committee, which was formed in September 1986, he said.

Meanwhile in Austin, the Public Utility Commission recessed after two days of hearings on a rate hike proposal by Gulf States at the request of the utility and its customers to give them more time to reach a settlement on the proposed rate increase, commission spokesman Bill Dunn said.

Commissioners will hear how settlement talks are proceeding during a hearing on Wednesday, Dunn said. The commission will take up formal consideration of the case again on Jan. 18.

Commissioners questioned Gulf States lawyers about the $4.5 billion River Bend plant, which has produced electricity for Gulf States customers in Texas and Louisiana since June 1986.

The PUC's examiners recommended that Gulf States be allowed to charge customers for all but $274 million in River Bend construction costs.

Walsh won't rule out plea bargains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecutor investigating the Iran-Contra affair isn't ruling out plea bargains with central figures in the arms-for-hostages deals as his investigation heads toward an expected round of indictments.

Independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh, in an interview Thursday, declined to comment on whether his year-long probe would result in criminal charges, saying only, "The external activities that you are familiar with would suggest a maturing investigation."

Criminal indictments are expected in the weeks ahead against targets of the investigation, including fired National Security Council aide Lt. Col. Oliver L. North and retired Navy Rear Adm. John M. Poindexter, who resigned as national security adviser in November 1986 after the diversion of Iran arms-sale profits to the Nicaraguan Contras was publicly disclosed.

Walsh wouldn't comment specifically on his policy about plea bargains.

But in a "more general discussion" of prosecutorial procedures he said "we tend to be flexible rather than rigid" about tactics for advancing the investigation.

"The objective of the investigation remains to get the full story and to get it fairly and thoroughly," the 75-year-old veteran lawyer and former federal judge said.

Traditionally, prosecutors use plea bargains with suspects to get information about other members of a criminal conspiracy.

Last spring, conservative fund-raisers Carl R. "Spitz" Channell and Richard Miller pleaded guilty to charges they conspired to illegally use a tax-exempt foundation to raise money for the Contras.

Both men agreed to cooperate with Walsh's investigation and identified North as a co-conspirator.

"If you look at the history of other investigations, rarely do they make just one bite and that's it," Walsh said. "Usually it's a series of acts or reports or indictments. Sometimes the first one is the most important, sometimes it's preliminary."

Numbness lingers after dental work

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My dentist took out a wisdom tooth. The roots were wrapped around the nerve, but he took the tooth out in small pieces to minimize damage to the nerve. However, since the surgery, I have had no feeling in a large area around my lower lip and chin. Will the nerve regenerate?

DEAR READER: I cannot be certain whether the numbness you have is due to the actual wisdom-tooth extraction or whether it may have resulted from the local anesthetic that the dentist probably used.

The nerves feeding the back teeth are branches of a larger nerve that supplies the jaw and lip. Removal of a tooth would be unlikely to affect the larger nerve. On the other hand, a dentist usually numbs the operative site by injecting anesthetic into the main nerve. This is why we often experience numbness of the jaw, lip and part of the tongue when we have dental extractions. A more usual cause for your symptoms would be persisting anesthesia from the shot. In time, this should disappear. However, give your dentist a call about it to let him know.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband, 42, does not recall having had chicken pox. We have four children who are sure to catch it sooner or later. Do adults get chicken pox or do they get shingles instead? Is there anything he should do?

DEAR READER: On the basis of previous infection, either obvious or subclinical (not evident), most adults are immune to chicken pox. Therefore, they do not contract it from their children. However, in rare instances, susceptible adults can come down with chicken pox. Like most childhood diseases, it is more serious in adults because it causes greater discomfort.

People who have shingles (herpes zoster) always have had chicken pox. This relation is clear: The varicella (chicken pox) virus appears to be related to herpes. Evidently, shingles is caused by activation of latent varicella virus. Hence, if your husband has never had chicken pox, he is more likely to get the disease than to develop shingles. He probably won't get shingles unless he has inactive varicella viruses in his system.

Moment of truth is put on hold

By James Jacoby

Good declarers share one important bit of knowledge about playing slam contracts. They know that it's right to postpone the "moment of truth." Cover the East-West hands and see if you would play as well as Careful Charlie after the spade king has been led against six hearts.

One easy way to make the slam is to find the king of diamonds in the West hand. If it is outside, you can win the ace of spades, finesse to dummy's queen of diamonds and pitch your spade loser on the diamond ace. But why put all your eggs in that basket? If East has the king, you're automatically set. A better choice is to play to the diamond ace and lead the queen from dummy. If East covers with the king, ruff and get back to dummy with a trump to lead the diamond 10, intending a ruffing finesse against the jack. What if East plays low on the diamond queen? Then you shed a spade. Although West may take the king, he cannot cash a spade against you, and later you can take another diamond finesse against the hoped-for jack in the East hand.

That's how Careful Charlie approached the problem. However, when West won the king of diamonds and played a second spade, Charlie saw an extra chance. He ruffed the spade, picked up the defenders' trumps, and then, before leading from dummy's diamond 10-9 to take a ruffing finesse against the jack, he cashed K-A of clubs. When the club queen dropped doubleton, Charlie no longer needed to take a second diamond play.

Health centers are full

DALLAS (AP) — After an intense bout of holiday overindulgence and the promise of New Year's resolutions, thousands are trekking back to health and fitness centers to get back in shape.

"This is definitely the industry's biggest month," said Sandy Hothem, membership director of the downtown Texas Club, a fitness center. "You increase your business 100 percent."

At the downtown YMCA, representative Carol Elliott said new memberships soar in early January. Aerobics classes are full, as are swimming lanes and racquetball courts. Long-term members who haven't been around much suddenly jump back into sweatpants and start pumping iron and running laps.

But just as suddenly, the increase in activity will disappear, Ms. Elliott said.

Once the bloom has worn off the New Year's resolutions — usually around mid-February — "everything gets back to normal," she said.

David Novit, a sales manager for Busy Body Inc., a fitness equipment company in Dallas, said his firm's business increases 50 percent to 75 percent in January.

"A lot of our customers realize they have to do something because they've either just got back from the doctor or are tired of how they look and feel," he said.

Mark Herrin, owner of Sunkrups health food store in Oak Lawn, also noticed a sizeable increase in customers. "People are interested in getting back to feeling good," he said.

Paul Cromidas, executive director of a dozen Dallas-area Family Guidance Centers, said that in January, people "people kind of refocus" on their problems.

Injury to Allen doesn't help...

Central Arizona defeats Duster five

ODESSA - Playing a college basketball game with only five players is tough enough. Playing with four borders on the ridiculous.

Western Texas College's five-strong Lady Dusters team was forced to field a four-player unit for the final five minutes of the first half here Thursday as Amarillo freshman Nickey Allen suffered an eye injury and had to have stitches. The 5-11 post returned for the second half, but highly-touted Central Arizona walked away with a 75-39 victory in the Odessa Classic.

"She got her eye cut pretty good," said Coach Kelly Chadwick. "Fortunately, there was a doctor close by and she got stitches and came back. We were right there with them until that happened, but playing four-on-five, they stretched it out pretty good before halftime."

Central Arizona led 37-25 at intermission, and went to a running game in the second half to win the contest going away.

"We can't substitute anyone, we can't rest anyone, and we just wore out," said Chadwick. "I guess they (Arizona) made 10-11 layups in the second half because we couldn't get up and down the floor with them."

Allen led the Dusters with 14 points. Stephanie McKnight scored 9 and Nancy Bals put in 8. The other members of the team are Julie Roewe and Tabitha Walton, who scored 4 each.

Central Arizona had five players in double figures, led by Stacy Washington's 15.

Three girls quit the Dusters team as the semester ended, and four others failed to make their grades, leaving only five to finish the season.

"There is a lot to be said about these kids. They are playing with a lot of heart," said Chadwick.

The loss drops WTC to 12-4 on the season. The next outing will be 5 p.m. Saturday here against Wayland Baptist JV. The Dusters were to play Western Oklahoma also in the classic, but bad weather forced the Altus, Okla. team to cancel.

Tigers test Andrews tonight

Snyder varsity basketball teams can go a long way towards making bids for postseason play if the Tigers can get past Andrews squads unscathed tonight.

The contests between the Tigers and Mustangs - and between Lamesa and Big Spring boys - loom as major confrontations in loop action this weekend.

Locally, Coach Larry Scott's Tigers meet the 2-4A preseason favored Mustangs at 7:30 p.m. in the coliseum. Andrews holds the loop lead with a 5-0 mark, though Snyder and Lamesa are both a half-game back at 4-0. Big Spring, edged by Snyder earlier this week, is 3-1.

In other boys' 2-4A games, Fort Stockton, 2-3, is at San Angelo to play Lake View, 0-4; and Sweetwater, 0-4, travels to Monahans, 1-3.

"We'll have to play better Friday than we did against Big Spring," said Coach Scott, whose Tigers nipped the Steers 68-67 on Lewis Wesley's three-point shot at the final buzzer.

The Tigers trailed most of the game and hit only 12 of 25 free throws.

Meanwhile, Snyder's Lady Tigers take a 3-3 district to An-draws. Though Big Spring's Lady Steers rule the loop with a perfect 6-0 record, second place is anyboy's choice as Andrews and Pecos are both 4-3 and Snyder, Fort Stockton, San Angelo Lake View and Sweetwater all boast 3-3 marks.

Tipoff for the Lady Tigers will also be at 7:30 p.m.

In other ladies' action, Big Spring is at Lamesa, 2-4. Lake View is at Fort Stockton, and Monahans, 0-6, plays in Sweetwater.

Both Snyder-Andrews varsity games will be preceded by junior varsity contests at 6 p.m. Snyder freshmen girls also play in Andrews and the local sophomore boys host Colorado City, both at 4:30 p.m.

Kosar hoping to avoid past when Browns take on Colts

CLEVELAND (AP) - Bernie Kosar's worst performance of the season came against the Indianapolis Colts, and he's determined to avoid a repeat on Saturday.

"I don't know if embarrassed is a good word," the Cleveland Browns' quarterback said, "but I was definitely disappointed at the outcome. We're capable of better."

Both Kosar and Coach Marty Schottenheimer have been careful to spread the blame around for the Browns' poor showing in a 9-7 loss on Dec. 6 to the Colts, who visit Cleveland on Saturday for an AFC divisional playoff game.

"We really hurt ourselves with mental mistakes," Kosar said of that first game. "They had us defended and they scouted us well. I think it's important for us to learn and adjust and get better the second time around."

Kosar completed 16 of 35 passes for 178 yards in the Dec. 6 game. It was the only game this season that he completed fewer than 50 percent of his passes.

"I didn't think Bernie played that poorly against the Colts," Schottenheimer said. "If you just look at the numbers, he didn't complete 50 percent or whatever. But we had the opportunity to catch a couple of balls we didn't catch. We had a couple of other plays (a missed field goal and a goal-line fumble) where if we make them, the outcome of the game would be different. And if the outcome is different, people would say, 'See, he played all right.' That's the nature of our business."

Indianapolis Coach Ron Meyer says it was not simply a strong defense that limited the Browns to seven points.

"I think we did play very well defensively," Meyer said. "But I think we were somewhat lucky. We probably got a little help from Bernie. He had a couple of passes where the receiver was there and the pass just wasn't there. Even the greatest can have a little bit of an off day, and I think maybe Bernie was saddled with that."

The Colts, who held opponents to fewer points than any other team in the NFL this season, virtually shut down Cleveland last month by using a five-man defensive front with six defensive backs to counter the pass-oriented offense of Browns offensive coordinator Lindy Infante. Linebackers Johnnie Cooks and Duane Bickett usually played the outside spots on the line in that "5-0" defense.

"We had some problems with it," Kosar said. "They mixed up the three-, four- and five-man rush and got our guys covered. They play a certain man-to-man coverage that appears to be a zone, but it's a type of man coverage underneath. They really understand the principle of that defense."

Kosar has spent every night this week studying videotapes of that system.

Mavs top Phoenix; tie 1-1 in ejections

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - Mark Aguirre says he knew his Dallas Mavericks would have a fight on their hands when they faced Phoenix but he never guessed the Suns would take it literally.

Aguirre scored 16 points to help Dallas beat Phoenix 105-91 here Thursday night yet wasn't around to see it the NBA game end.

He was ejected 21 seconds before halftime after getting into a brief scuffle with Phoenix forward Larry Nance.

"We were playing hard and we felt a little frustration," Aguirre said. "I would never throw a punch at Larry. I respect him too much as a player. I was shocked that he threw one at me. But we talked to each other about it (outside the locker rooms) and I think we're both very ashamed that it happened."

Nance, the NBA's Player of the Month for December, had just two points at the time of the fight. He was knocked to the floor by Aguirre while battling for a defensive rebound and came up swinging.

"When Larry left the game, it really hurt us," said Suns rookie forward Armon Gilliam. "It got Aguirre out of the game, but Larry was the key. He's our captain. He gets the job done."

Dallas, snapping a two-game losing streak, never trailed en route to beating Phoenix for the 11th time in their last 13 meetings as Derek Harper scored 27 points and Sam Perkins added 23.

The Midwest Division-leading Mavericks, up 11-1 three minutes into the game, led 29-16 after the first quarter behind Aguirre's 12 points.

Mavericks Coach John MacLeod said he was glad his club survived the loss of Aguirre, who led the team in scoring 20 times in the past 27 games.

"Sam Perkins came in and gave us a big lift," MacLeod said. "He came in in the second half and got us going. He made some big blocks and had some key boards."

Danny White may retire

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dallas Cowboys quarterback Danny White says he is not certain he will return for the 1988 season, The San Antonio Light reported today.

White told the newspaper that despite finding out earlier this week that he will not require surgery on his right wrist, he is not certain he will return.

"Retiring is always a possibility," White said. "I haven't decided whether I'm going to play next year."

White said he will probably know whether he will keep playing or not by the Cowboys' mini-camp in March, although he said he may not have a definite decision even by then.

But White said whether he returns or not will not be determined on how his wrist heals during the off-season. He said he is comfortable with the condition of his wrist, which was broken against the New York Giants Nov. 2, 1986.

McCartney interviewed

DALLAS (AP) - Colorado football coach Bill McCartney says he has been interviewed by Southern Methodist University athletic director Doug Single about the SMU football coach vacancy.

McCartney, 48, returned to Denver Thursday following the interview.

"I visited with the proper authorities at SMU and was able to get an idea of the direction their program will take and the facilities that are available there," McCartney told the Dallas Times Herald. "There haven't been any decisions made."

Single will not comment concerning any of the interviews he has had with prospective coaches.

Reports indicate that he met earlier this week with fired Ohio State coach Earle Bruce. There was speculation that he had also discussed the vacancy with Green Bay Packers coach Forrest Gregg, but Gregg has indicated that his meeting with Single and SMU president A. Kenneth Pye did not constitute a job interview.

Other candidates include L.D. Bell High School coach Tim Edwards and former Kansas City Chiefs head coach and former Dallas Cowboys assistant John Mackovic.

Bears get alligator meat

CHICAGO (AP) - A restaurant owner who wants to put some bite back into the Chicago Bears is planning to feed them alligator meat before Sunday's playoff game against the Washington Redskins.

"I think alligator meat is to the Bears as spinach is to Popeye. It's super food," Steve Locke said Thursday night.

"You are what you eat," said Locke, 27, owner of the Smokehouse Express Restaurant in northwest suburban Crystal Lake. "This should make them mean and nasty like an alligator."

Locke plans to serve Coach Mike Ditka and the Bears his appetizer, "Redskins (potatoes) Stuffed with Alligator" during their stay at the McCormick Inn, near Soldier Field, on Saturday evening.

At the same time, the Washington team will be served his "Redskins Stuffed with Alfalfa Sprouts" while they are staying at the Marriott Hotel in west suburban Oak Brook.

"Alfalfa sprouts is wimp food. That's what Ditka said in his soup commercial on TV," said Locke, in explaining the Washington treat.

Two years ago, Locke served the Bears gator meat before the NFC championship game with the Los Angeles Rams. The Rams got quiche from Locke.

Not only did the Bears beat the Rams but they went on to win the Super Bowl.

Carter, Rice highlight game between Minnesota, SF 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - In his first NFL playoff game, the Minnesota Vikings' Anthony Carter had a Jerry Rice-like day.

Carter and the San Francisco 49ers' Rice, two of the most exciting wide receivers in football, will match their big-play talents on Saturday in an NFC semifinal.

The 49ers, whose 13-2 record was best in the NFL during the regular season, had last weekend off. Carter caught six passes for 79 yards and one touchdown; set a league playoff record with an 84-yard punt return for another touchdown, and led the wild-card Vikings to a 44-10 upset of the New Orleans Saints.

"He's not Jerry Rice, but he's the closest thing to Jerry Rice," said Tim McKyer, the San Francisco cornerback who works against the All-Pro Rice in practices and now must take on Carter. "I've got my work cut out for me."

Rice, in his third pro season, set an NFL record with 22 touchdown receptions, at least one in each of the 12 games he played, and totaled 1,078 yards on 65 catches.

"We don't throw to him that often, but he's a selfless player," said Coach Bill Walsh, whose offensive system features a lot of passing to running backs - particularly Roger Craig, who caught 66 passes this season.

"In our last game, he had only three catches. But he makes them count," quarterback Joe Montana said, referring to Rice's two-touchdown night against the Los Angeles Rams.

Rice, however, caught almost twice as many passes as Carter this season. The Minnesota star had 38 receptions for 922 yards and seven touchdowns and voiced some displeasure about the number of times he was the target of quarterbacks Tommy Kramer and Wade Wilson.

"Jerry Rice deserves all the notoriety he's received. In my mind, he's the most valuable player in the league this season," Carter said. "I think I'm capable of doing some of the things he's done, but a lot depends on the kind of offense. We don't feature one receiver, unfortunately, so I do the best I can with what I get."

Right now, he added, "We're a playoff team and I'm happy to be with Minnesota."

The Vikings, 8-7 in the regular season, had a 417-yard game on offense last Sunday and their defense yielded only 149 yards to the Saints, who came into the playoffs with a nine-game winning streak. On Saturday, Minnesota will try to stop San Francisco's six-game winning streak.

Carter's average gain, 24.3 yards per catch, was the league's best this season. In three USFL seasons, the former Michigan All-American caught 160 passes for 3,042 yards.

New financial regulatory body is proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission studying the October stock market plunge recommends creation of a new high-level regulatory body to oversee the nation's financial markets, administration officials say.

The officials, who spoke Thursday on the condition of anonymity, said the panel headed by former Sen. Nicholas F. Brady, R-N.J., also would propose daily limits on stock price swings and tighter requirements for buying securities on credit.

The five-member commission, named by President Reagan in the aftermath of the Oct. 19 stock market collapse which saw a record 508-point drop in the Dow Jones industrial average, was to release its findings today at a White House news conference.

The commission calls for closer regulation of the various securities markets, claiming lack of unified oversight authority added to the confusion surrounding the chaos in financial markets on Oct. 19 and Oct. 20, the sources said.

It proposes leaving in place the present Securities and Exchange Commission, which regulates stock transactions, and the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, which oversees the sale of financial futures, the officials said.

The panel reportedly rejected proposals that the two regulatory bodies be merged, or that the SEC be given expanded authority over all markets.

Instead, the sources said the commission is proposing a new umbrella panel, made up of government and Wall Street representatives, to oversee the operation of all markets.

The Wall Street Journal, which published details of the commission's recommendations on Thursday, said the Brady commission would recommend a "radical overhaul" of the regulation of stock and other financial markets.

Administration officials later in the day confirmed that the Journal story presented an accurate account of the commission's key findings.

Price movement limits, which currently exist on the Tokyo Stock Exchange, likely would be opposed by Wall Street traders who say limits would simply drive trading to European and other foreign markets.

Critics also say limits would prevent the market from immediately reflecting real declines in value and could have a "gravitational effect," the theory that once stocks approach the limit they would keep falling until they hit it.

Proponents, however, say limits could bolster investor confidence by cushioning one-day losses.

Presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, while declining to reveal the contents of the Brady report, said the Reagan administration will move slowly on whatever recommendations are offered.

"We'll look at it ... study it in a detailed way ... but we will not be having any immediate response or any immediate course of action," he said.

SEC Chairman David S. Ruder, briefed Thursday morning on the contents of the report, declined to speak on the findings.

"We'll wait for our comments until the Brady commission report has actually been released," he said.

Brady could not be reached for comment. A secretary at his office at the Wall Street firm of Dillon, Read & Co., where he is chairman, referred reporters' calls to Fitzwater.

The SEC, the General Accounting Office and two congressional panels — the Senate Banking Committee and a House Energy and Commerce subcommittee on finance — are conducting separate investigations of the market collapse.

One major recommendation of the commission is reportedly a proposal to set higher and more uniform margin — or credit — requirements for the purchase of all securities.

Currently, buyers must put up at least half the value of a stock in cash. However, investors in the futures markets can control the equivalent of a block of stocks with a down payment far less than would be required to purchase the underlying securities.

The commission also is reportedly proposing a mechanism under which trading would be halted when sharp price fluctuations surpass certain levels.

Clements to pick successor to Justice Robert Campbell

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements has decided on a new Texas Supreme Court justice, his office says.

Clements spokesman Reggie Bashur said today that the governor would name an appointed replacement for Justice Robert M. Campbell this afternoon. The successor would attend a Capitol news conference, Bashur said.

That timing allows the new justice to make the 5 p.m. deadline to file as a candidate for election to complete the term that expires in 1992. Campbell resigned Wednesday.

Clements said Thursday that finding an appointee willing to run on such short notice was a difficult job.

"We have ample people who are qualified, believe me," the governor said. "It's willingness, on short notice, to turn all their plans around and head in a different direction. And that represents a problem."

Democrat Jack Hightower, who had been seeking another court seat in this year's elections, switched races Thursday to seek the seat Campbell had held.

Clements said he can't use the list of candidates his staff had prepared for his earlier appointment of a new chief justice because "there's some people that are interested in chief justice that are not interested in only a justice. So I can't use that list."

"I'm considering several names. We're just not there yet," he said.

On the Democratic side, Hightower said it was foolish for him to campaign for the same Supreme Court seat also being sought by former state Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin, who lost a 1984 U.S. Senate race to Republican Phil Gramm. So he switched races and filed for the Place 4 seat created by Campbell's resignation.

"It makes no sense for two experienced Democratic candidates to fight a potentially divisive battle for one seat with the new opening," Hightower said.

Texas Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle echoed Hightower's comments. "It made no sense for two outstanding candidates like Jack Hightower and Lloyd Doggett to oppose each other in the primary," Slagle said.

WESTERN TEXAS College will be accepting sealed proposals on reroofing certain areas on the buildings at the campus until 11:00 a.m., January 25, 1988. Bid information can be picked up at a mandatory pre-bid conference to be held at 10:30 a.m., January 18, 1988, in the Administration Building board room at Western Texas College, or be obtained by contacting E.G. Hickman, Western Texas College, Snyder, Texas 79549, area code 915-573-8511.

What you must do Take steps to ensure your right to die

By B.D. Colon

As of last January, 38 states had Living Will laws. If your state has such a law, complete the Living Will according to your state's rules. If you've done that, no one can claim that you failed to comply with the requirements of the law.

Once that's done, you have four more things to do to protect yourself from eternal medical intrusion: You must prepare a very personal Living Will; you should prepare a durable power of attorney; you should prepare a videotaped Living Will; and you must make sure that copies of these documents are preserved in places where your attorney, physician and next-of-kin are aware of them.

The Essential GUIDE TO A LIVING WILL

More than 40 states have now passed laws allowing for durable power of attorney. By preparing a durable power of attorney, you appoint a person to act on your behalf to exercise your right to make decisions concerning your medical treatment, and to exercise your absolute right to refuse treatment.

It is absolutely essential that whoever reads your Living Will is convinced that you prepared it on an informed and knowing basis, rather than on a whim. You want to convince the reader of the will that you have thought long and hard about what life and death mean to you, and the circumstances in which death would be more desirable than life.

You must convince your physicians — and you may well have to convince a judge — that you prepared the will knowing that you could not possibly consider all the possible configurations of every medical disaster that might befall you. You are simply making your treatment decisions — they are not requests — as best they can be made in advance, and you are prepared to die as a result of those decisions.

The distinction between decisions and requests is an important one. Many physicians, including many of those sympathetic to the concept of Living Wills, view the document making advance requests. That is not what your will is or should be. Your Living Will is, in effect, your written responses to choices your physician might give you, could you respond.

You want to convince the will's reader that you have thought about what life and death mean to you, and the circumstances in which death would be more desirable than life.

States' forms should provide you with a rough idea of how you might write your Living Will. But, for your personal Living Will, you should use your own words. No one can write this for you.

While the state forms are all based on the assumption that you have a right to refuse life-sustaining treatment if you are suffering from a terminal condition, other Living Wills are simply based on the premise that anyone has an absolute right to refuse medical treatment. Unless the state can prove to a court that the state has an overwhelming interest in preserving your life — as, for instance, in the case of an otherwise healthy young single mother of three children whose children would become wards of the state if she refused a life-preserving blood transfusion — you cannot be treated against your will.

Concern For Dying (250 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10107) has an excellent program whereby, in exchange for a $25 contribution, they will keep a copy of your Living Will in their master file. You can then carry a card in your wallet informing any emergency medical personnel that you have a Living Will, and where copies of it may be found.

In exchange for a $10 membership fee, the Society for the Right to Die will send you a wallet-size Living Will.

In addition to giving signed copies of your Living Will to your family members, attorney and physician, you should also have a copy placed in your bank safe deposit box and, if you are a nursing-home resident, have a copy given to the director of the nursing home in which you reside. In at least one recent "right to die" court case, nursing-home personnel testified that they do not honor Living Wills under any circumstances. If that is the case in a nursing home you are considering for yourself or a member of your family, find it out ahead of time.

If you have a chronic, debilitating condition, such as ALS, Alzheimer's or chronic obstructive pulmonary disease and would not want to be resuscitated should you suffer cardiac arrest and be rushed to a hospital emergency room, have the words "Do Not Resuscitate" engraved on the sort of medical alert wrist bracelet you can purchase in many pharmacies. On the back of the bracelet place the message "Living Will: Call..." and place the phone number of your next-of-kin, physician or attorney.

If you are suffering from a chronic condition and there are only a few hospitals in your community, you might go to the director of each hospital's emergency room, introduce yourself, explain your situation and leave a copy of your Living Will with the director.

If you are already in a hospital or nursing home, demand that a copy of your Living Will be made a permanent part of your medical record.

ATHYLENE SIMMONS

Athylene Simmons

Services for Athylene Simmons, 80, of Hermleigh will be held at 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Bell Cypert Seale Chapel with the Rev. Jeff Culp, her nephew, officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. Rex Reynolds, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Hermleigh. Burial will follow at Pyron Cemetery.

She died at 11 p.m. Thursday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She was a housewife and was born on April 28, 1907 in Bosque County, Texas.

Athylene Maggie Culp moved with her parents, Nathan Culp and Maggie Culp, to Scurry County from Coryell County in 1920 along with six brothers and two sisters.

She married Bernard Simmons on March 29, 1925 in Snyder. He died on March 15, 1966. She was also preceded in death by one sister, four brothers and a grandson, Terry Glass, in January of 1967.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Hermleigh.

She is survived by a daughter, Juanita Glass of Hermleigh; three grandchildren, Gail Peterson of Midlothian, Jan Gladden of Los Fresnos and Greg Glass of Hermleigh; six great-grandchildren; one sister, Naomi Gleastine of Snyder; and two brothers, Odell Culp of Petersburg and Olan Culp of Meridian.

Mrs. C. Hall, Sr.

Graveside services for Mrs. Clyde Hall Sr., 93, of Snyder Oaks Care Center will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Live Oak Cemetery in Brady with the Rev. Lamar Leifeste of Brady, a retired Methodist minister, officiating.

She died at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Sydney Smiley Hall was born Nov. 18, 1894 in Hunt County. She moved to Brady in 1909 and made her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Richards. In 1912 she married Clyde Hall. He preceded her in death in 1970. She was a resident of Brady for more than 60 years and was active in civic and church affairs.

Mrs. Hall made her home in Snyder since 1971 and was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include a son, Clyde Hall, Jr. of Snyder; a daughter, Sydney Richards Wood of Odessa; a sister, Ona Robertson of Dallas; two brothers, Harry Smiley and Floyd Smiley, both of Lone Oak; three grandsons, John Hallum of Fairbanks, Alaska, and Robert Hall and Richard Hall, both of Snyder; five great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild.

Tony Guzman

MULESHOE—Services are set for 11 a.m. Saturday in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church for Tony Guzman, 34, who died Tuesday in a cotton gin accident.

Burial for the Scurry County native will follow in the Muleshoe Cemetery.

Guzman was crushed by a fork lift while attempting to load bales of cotton at the co-op gin in Needmore.

Born in Snyder, he moved to Muleshoe in 1968. He married Sylvia Martinez on May 5, 1971 in Muleshoe. He was a member of the Catholic Church. A son, Jose Adolfo, died in 1972.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Steven of Muleshoe; two daughters, Stephanie Marie and Bridget, both of Muleshoe; his father, Pete Guzman of Hermleigh; two sisters, Mary Hodges of Muleshoe and Lisa Winsor of Snyder; four brothers, Louis Guzman and Frank Guzman, both of Muleshoe; Danny Guzman of Marble Falls and David Guzman of Hermleigh.

Republicans to probe signatures

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas GOP officials today asked the FBI and U.S. attorney's office to investigate allegations that some petition signatures filed by two Republican presidential candidates to get on the March 8 primary ballot may have been forged.

"Because the Republican Party of Texas is absolutely committed to maintaining the integrity of our election process, we are today asking U.S. Attorney Helen Eversberg and the FBI to investigate serious allegations raised by a Dallas newspaper report," said George Strake, Texas GOP chairman. "We hope the U.S. attorney will conduct a thorough and prompt investigation, and our Officials Committee will meet if necessary to take any action deemed appropriate based upon the findings of that investigation," Strake said.

His comments followed newspaper reports which said that dozens of questionable signatures were on petitions from the Houston area used by candidates Robert Dole and Alexander Haig to qualify for the Texas primary ballot.

The signatures may endanger the place of Dole and Haig on the ballot, Strake said.

More than 50 people randomly selected from the petitions of Haig and Dole told The Dallas Morning News they not only didn't sign the petitions but also were Democrats and had no intention of voting in the Republican presidential primary.

A handwriting expert told the News the Dole petition contained the name of a woman who died in 1982.

Spokesmen for both Dole and Haig said they were unaware of any forgery by campaign workers who obtained signatures.

"I'm sure not aware of any problems," said Tom Pauken, co-chairman of Dole's Texas campaign.

Haig's state campaign chairman, Robert Ehrlich, said if there were forgeries, that would be serious.

"All I can say is I thought everything was on the up-and-up," he said.

Both spokesmen said they were confident they had the 5,000 legitimate signatures needed to keep their candidates on the March 8 primary ballot.

"If they have 5,000 good signatures, they're on the ballot," Strake said. "If they don't, they aren't."

John Weaver, executive director of the Texas GOP, said authorities also might examine petitions filed by the four other Republican candidates — Vice President George Bush, New York Rep. Jack Kemp, former television evangelist Pat Robertson and former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont.

"We're going to offer to turn over everything," Weaver said. "This is very serious and we are going to find any bad ones (signatures)," Weaver said, adding, "We're talking about felonies being committed, and the party is not going to sit here and let the integrity of the Republican ballot stand for nothing."

All six Republican presidential hopefuls turned in more than the necessary 5,000 signatures. Party officials said they stopped verifying petitions after they counted the required number.

Some Lockheed workers to get laid off

AUSTIN (AP) — About 200 to 300 jobs will be eliminated at Lockheed's Austin division because of Defense Department budget cutbacks and the Intermediate Nuclear Force treaty, a company official said.

About 100 of the division's 2,100 employees will receive notices today that their jobs are being cut, G.M. "Mike" Laden, vice president and general manager of the division, said Thursday.

The workers will have at least three weeks to find other jobs within Lockheed Austin or other Lockheed divisions. If they cannot find work elsewhere in the company, they will be laid off, he said.

Laden said the exact number of jobs to be cut "is dependent upon the direction we receive from our military customers." Most of the division's job reductions are expected to occur in January and February, he added.

The job cuts will affect a wide range of jobs, including software programmers, engineers, documentation writers and other support workers, he said.

Lockheed will assist workers who lose jobs in finding work at other Lockheed companies and with other employers, company officials said. When Lockheed

Austin announced its last major cutback in April 1986, the company found work for about 100 employees at other Lockheed locations.

"It's tough. It's not a fun time," said Lockheed Austin spokesman Sandy Dochen. "These people can stand very tall that they've done wonderful jobs for our government."

The job cutbacks affect three Lockheed programs: unmanned air vehicles, of which the Army's Aquila spy drone was the most prominent; the Precision Location Strike System, an Air Force program designed to detect and destroy energy radar sites; and the Ground Launched Cruise Missile Program, for which Lockheed Austin designed and modified computer software.

The Air Force had already substantially reduced its Precision Location Strike System program in 1986, which forced Lockheed Austin into its first major budget cutback.

The cruise missile program, which employs about 85 people at Lockheed, will be trimmed because of the new nuclear arms treaty with the Soviets

Clerk's office notes 4 other indictments

The Scurry County district clerk's office Thursday reported four indictments that were not initially reported with 10 others from a grand jury session Monday.

Jimmy Waylon Willett, 30, of 2106 Merrill Ave., also known as Jimmy Waylon Giddens, was indicted for burglary and attempted burglary in a break-in and attempted break-in at two north Snyder convenience stores on Dec. 11.

Allen Gleghorn, 30, of Rt. 3, Box 414, was indicted for aggravated sexual assault of a child in an alleged July 24 incident involving a boy under 14 years of age.

Mary Ann Arnold, who had not been arrested, was true-billed for forgery by making in the Nov. 8 alleged forgery of a $120 check.

John Robert Burton, 23, of 1203 26th St. was indicted for aggravated assault on a police officer and criminal mischief in connection with a Dec. 31 incident involving a chase with city, state and county officers. The incident began in front of the sheriff's office when he took a 2-year-old boy away from a former Snyder convenience store and attempted to flee with the child.

A sheriff's car was damaged by a deputy forced to jump back into his car when Burton's car surged over a curb while surrounded by 11 law enforcement cars following a lengthy high-speed chase through eastern Snyder, officers said.

Icy streets continue to be accident factor

Police investigated six traffic accidents Thursday which occurred on icy streets, none involving serious injuries.

A 1987 Chevrolet Blazer driven by Donald Ray Thomas of Lubbock went out of control on ice at 8:24 a.m. on the East Highway 84 access road and overturned onto its side. Thomas was not seriously injured, but the vehicle had to be towed from the scene.

A 1976 Oldsmobile Cutlass driven by Sam Flores of 201 33rd St. was in collision with a parked 1981 Chevrolet Monte Carlo owned by Kim James of 218 31st St. at 9:23 a.m. in the 200 Block of 31st.

A 1983 GMC delivery truck driven by George Reyes of 1500 27th St. was in collision with a TU

Electric light pole at 9:34 a.m. in the 700 Block of the East Highway, causing an estimated $500 in damages to the pole.

A 1984 Chevrolet Camaro driven by Clay Jacobs of Rt. 1, Box 66-J, was in collision with a 1977 Lincoln driven by David Olivarez of 1500 College Ave. at 10:13 a.m. in the 3100 Block of 25th St.

A 1978 Chevrolet driven by Kathleen Ballard of 2811 Ave. T was in collision with a parked 1986 Ford pickup owned by Snyder National Bank at 1:48 p.m. in the 3300 Block of College.

An unknown driver and vehicle hit a parked 1983 Chevrolet owned by Diana Rodriguez of 100 37th St., No. 32, at 3:59 p.m. at the owner's address.

DISMISSALS: Mary Ellen Parks, Ernest Diaz, Ray Melchor, T.O. Upshaw

Births

Miguel and Olga Costaneda, 2403 Ave. M, are the parents of a 6 lb., 9 oz. baby girl. She was born at 5:20 a.m. Jan. 7 in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Wreck address is corrected

The address for a Snyder woman involved in a one-vehicle wreck Wednesday reported in the Snyder Daily News was listed by law enforcement officials as 311 29th St. Sharyon Bond reported Friday the correct address is 811 29th St.

One arrest noted

A 28-year-old man was arrested at 10:25 p.m. Thursday in the parking lot of an East Highway restaurant for public intoxication, possession of drug paraphernalia and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

The Gilbert and Phoenix island groups formed the Republic of Kiribati when the British colors were ceremoniously lowered in 1979. The Ellice islands, which had separated politically from the Gilberts in 1975, took the name Tuvalu at independence in 1978.

Bush to face tough questions

By The Associated Press

The GOP presidential candidates gathered today for their first big debate of 1988, with George Bush's campaign lashing out at rival Bob Dole for "drooling at the opportunity" to bring up the Iran-Contra affair.

The Iran-Contra affair is causing Bush to come under fire from the Democratic camp as well. Gary Hart suggested the personal problems that forced him to spend seven months on the sidelines of the Democratic race were trifling compared with the errors of the vice president and the rest of the Reagan administration.

"I would love to run in a race against Vice President Bush on just that issue — whether my personal and human mistake is on the same scale as the mistakes of the last seven years that can saddle this country with debt and wrong-headed policies abroad for the next 10 or 15 years," Hart told students at Dartmouth College.

Hart in turn was attacked by Democratic rival Bruce Babbitt, who faulted him for "arrogance" in his attitude toward the other candidates. Hart said last month one of his reasons for rejoining the field was that his ideas were not being advanced by the other Democratic contenders.

The former Colorado senator, who left the race over reports of his relationship with a Miami model, said Thursday, "I think it's time we as Americans kind of grow up, and instead of expecting our leaders to be perfect, we are going to have to expect them to be human."

A poll indicated Hart was running well ahead of the rest of the Democratic field in Iowa, a month before Democrats begin picking national convention delegates at the state's precinct caucuses. But 40 percent of the likely Democratic caucus-goers surveyed had an unfavorable opinion of him, according to the CBS-New York Times survey.

The same poll said Dole led Bush in Iowa by 12 percentage points, 41 percent to 29 percent, with the rest of the field running well behind them.

Kemp, however, warned Bush and Dole not to consider it a two-man race, telling reporters in Iowa City, "That's wishful thinking on their part."

Dole said of Bush: "I think it would be in his interest and in the interest of all Republicans to tell us precisely what he knows (about the Iran-Contra affair)...I think now is the time to lay it out."

The arms-for-hostages deal appeared to cast a lengthening shadow over Bush's campaign. He was peppered with questions about it while campaigning in Iowa.

"If we erred, the president and I... it was on the side of human life. It was over-concern about freeing Americans," Bush told reporters Thursday in Iowa.

THE PROGRESSION—Sam Smith and the Progression will be at the First Baptist Church auditorium at 7 p.m. Wednesday. The program will last for one hour in all. (Church Photo)

The Progression: slated for Wednesday showing

Sam Smith will be appearing with his multi-media production, The Progression, at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church auditorium.

The Progression is a multi-projector, laser-highlighted slide film experience entirely unique and different from just a film or a slide show. It incorporates 26 projectors, a $10,000 computer that runs these projectors, pyrotechnics and many special effects into a story plot that is both entertaining and provocative.

It includes a sound track by such artists as: Manfred Mann, REZ Band, Servant, Petra and Bob Dylan. The Progression is designed to point the audience toward the answer to life's great dilemmas.

The Progression is 30 minutes in length. Smith will also personally be introducing the presentation and will be sharing some thoughts afterwards. The entire program will last one hour.

Mexican inflation rate hits record level; stocks plunge

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Consumer prices soared a whopping 159.2 percent last year, a record gain driven in part by a recent surge in costs set in motion by the government's new inflation-fighting program.

The Mexican stock exchange, meanwhile, fell for a fourth straight day Thursday, tumbling to its lowest level since last March 20.

The Index of Prices and Quotations has lost 18 percent of its value this week, slipping to 86,606.75 at the end of trading Thursday. The index includes the prices of 52 stocks.

The fresh plunge in the stock market was attributed to the record high levels set by interest rates on Treasury bills in this week's auction. The interest rates on 28-day government certificates, known as Cetes, was 159.21 percent.

"It's logical that when 28-day interest rates rise 32 (percentage points), it has a negative effect on the stock market," said Timothy Heyman, director of analysis for the brokerage firm of Estrategia Bursatil.

The stock market had been one of the world's top performers until it began a stunning reversal in early October.

Jonathan Heath, senior economist at the forecasting firm of MACRO Asesoría Economica, said the higher interest rates are in line with the government's new inflation-fighting program.

As part of that plan, the government wants to reduce liquidity in the economy, spur domestic savings and discourage investors from taking their money out of the country and putting it into U.S. dollars.

The program, called the Economic Solidarity Pact, was quickly put into effect just a few weeks ago to halt what government officials said was the economy's spin toward hyperinflation.

"It's not surprising," said Heath. "It's never been higher."

Ira sets dedication service

The Ira Baptist Church will have a dedication service for its new fellowship hall at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. A nursery will be provided and refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Sherry Lyle to speak here

The Rev. Sherry Lyle, former recording artist now sharing the ministry of the miracle working power of God, will speak at the First Hispanic Christian Fellowship Church at 7 p.m. nightly beginning Sunday through Jan. 17. Her messages will be translated in Spanish. The church is located at 1600 25th St.

Parties look for solution to jail woes

AUSTIN (AP) — County judges and Gov. Bill Clements have met again in what continues to be a fruitless search for relief from overcrowded county jails.

"I do not have any ideas at the moment, and neither do they," Clements said after Thursday's closed-door session with 24 county judges.

Many county jails, particularly in metropolitan areas, are crowded because the Texas Department of Corrections is limiting admissions to meet a federal court order. County jails are backed up with felons awaiting transfer to prison.

AUSTIN (AP) — U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen may be a political powerhouse, but Republican Milton Fox says he's planning to wage a vigorous campaign against the Democrat.

"We're going to do the strongest race that we're capable of doing with whatever resources we have available," said Fox, who is seeking the GOP Senate nomination.

In Bentsen's last campaign, in 1982, the senator and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby were widely credited with helping Democrats oust Republican Bill Clements from the governor's office.

"I don't think there's any question they turned out additional votes," Fox said Thursday. "That did work to the detriment of the whole Republican slate."

U.S. Rep. Beau Boulter of Amarillo, also seeking the GOP Senate nomination, this week criticized Fox for allegedly planning to run a "non-aggressive" campaign.

Fox disputed that, saying Boulter appears to be a "strident" candidate.

"I don't know where he got that," Fox said. "It's going to be vigorous. But those of you who've known me for a period of time know I'm a rather low-key person by nature. I don't go around personally insulting people; I don't use flamboyant language."

"Congressman Boulter has already said that I'm a token candidate ... He said that Gov. Clements was cowed by Sen. Bentsen's political power," Fox said. "That's strident. It's intemperate. It's unwise. I think he owes the governor an apology."

Boulter said he wasn't trying to characterize Fox or his campaign as low-key but "that is what he has said. I have not said anything about the governor ... And if the governor wants to support someone who says he wants to run a low-key campaign, then he can do that."

Fox, 61, who now lives in Austin, is a petroleum engineer who served seven terms in the Texas House from Houston. He was the GOP nominee for the Railroad Commission in 1986, losing the general election to Democrat John Sharp.

Although Boulter said Monday he expects to receive the endorsement of U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, Fox said he hopes GOP officeholders would remain neutral. He declined to portray the race as a battle between Gramm and Clements wings of the Republican Party.

"Nobody asked me to run. I took the initiative and inquired (about Clements' opinion)," Fox said. "The response from him was favorable. I am not claiming his endorsement. It would be fine with me if he and Sen. Gramm both say ... Let the voters choose."
