

Farabee exit could open free-for-all

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer
State Sen. Ray Farabee has indicated he might resign the Texas Senate to become a vice chancellor and general counsel for the University of Texas System — a move that could set up a "free-for-all" special election in May.

A spokesman for the Texas Democratic Party in Austin said Wednesday that candidates from both parties would have until 30 days before the May 7 election to get into the race, which could have multiple candidates from both parties because there would not be a primary.

"It would just be sort of a free-for-all," said Jim Boynton, primary director for the state Democrats, noting that a runoff, if no candidate won more than 50 percent of the votes, could feature candidates from opposite parties or the same party.

Whichever party won in May,

Boynton said, would probably forward the winner as its nominee for the Nov. 8 general election, while the county chairmen of the other party in the 30th Senatorial District would meet in September to choose a nominee.

Farabee's resignation also might affect the area state representative's race because State Rep. Steven Carriker of Roby is considered a possible candidate for the Senate seat, along with State Reps. Rick Perry of Haskell and Charles Finnell of Holliday.

Carriker is being opposed for re-election by former Snyder mayor Rod Waller.

State representatives do not have to resign to enter such a special election, however.

Farabee, who is in the middle of a four-year term, said he would know by Feb. 11 if the UT post would be offered to him and

Ask Us

Q — How much is it costing the county for lawyers, court costs, etc. in connection with the suit filed against the county for construction of the prison?

A — As of Tuesday, any costs to the county have been negligible, according to the county auditor's office. To date, the county has engaged an outside law firm to defend the county judge, who is named as an individual in one of the suits. No billings for this service have been received to date, however, nor have any significant court costs been amassed.

In Brief

More airdrops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is resuming airdrops of weapons to Nicaragua's Contra rebels, saying that only more military pressure will force the Managua government to live up to its part in a five-nation peace accord.

President Reagan took the step Tuesday after noting that a cease-fire between the rebels and the Sandinista government has failed to materialize. He blamed a lack of good faith on Managua's part.

Plane down

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A retired Corpus Christi businessman was among the eight people killed in the crash of a commuter airplane near Durango, Colo., family members of the man said today.

The Tuesday crash of a twin-engine turboprop in a mountainous area took the life of Don Emery Cox, 66, said his son, Albert Cox.

Veterans Administration Medical Center spokesman Bob Fair identified the dead man as John W. Pettit, 54.

Pettit was shot to death around 9:20 a.m. The victim's wife, Linda, who is an employee of the Veterans Administration hospital in Kerrville, was in the office and witnessed the shooting.

Special session possible...

Clements says prison needed

AUSTIN (AP) — Although bonds for only one maximum-security prison have been approved by the Texas Bond Review Board, Gov. Bill Clements said he may call a special legislative session to build another one.

"I certainly have that as an option, and I'm thinking about it," Clements said Tuesday, after the bond board approved $153.6 million in bonds for prisons.

The bonds include one 2,250-bed maximum-security prison unit. A legal roadblock put a halt to earlier plans to build two such prisons, one in Amarillo and one in Gatesville.

Gatesville now seems the most likely site for the facility because site preparation has been done there, said Texas prisons director Jim Lynaugh. Under the state's original plan, the Gatesville prison was to be built before the Amarillo prison, he said.

Clements, bond board chairman, added that he would prefer not to call a special session on the matter. He said he and Attorney General Jim Mattox are reviewing other options, including a section of the appropriations bill giving the governor emergency prison authority.

"I fully intend to have that session," Clements said.

Suspect convicted of kidnap charges late Tuesday night

A local jury rejected late Tuesday a defendant's contention that fear for his own safety kept him from intervening during the brief abduction here Oct. 27 of a 24-year-old man.

The jury in 132nd District Court found defendant Larry Dan Beard, 32, guilty of aggravated kidnapping, the most severe of five findings offered to them. The decision was reached around 10:30 p.m. after the jury received the case for deliberation at 5 p.m.

The jury had heard Beard testify Tuesday morning that he feared two companions, who also face aggravated kidnapping charges, believed he had been "part of the burn"—an incident which arose after the three said they were "ripped off" for some $60 in an attempt to purchase cocaine here.

The jury also heard from Lafayette Griffin, who was abducted at gunpoint as the three attempted to learn the whereabouts of two of his uncles, the men who allegedly promised delivery of cocaine after receiving the $60.

Griffin had told the jury he feared for his life during the incident. He was freed by the three after returning to an east Snyder cafe, located in an area referred to as the flats, and obtaining for them some $54 from two individuals there.

During his summation, District Attorney Ernie Armstrong quoted from the law, asking the jury to find that Beard had "encouraged, directed or aided other persons to commit the offense."

The suspect's defense attorney, Frank Conard of Sweetwater, had asked jurors to look at the "reasonable options" offered to Beard while the abduction occurred.

He described his client's actions as "trying to defuse a situation" which he said he believed he could not walk away from.

While he was on the stand, Griffin had testified that Beard had never directly threatened him, and had in fact attempted to calm down his two co-defendants. Beard was indicted by the November grand jury along with two other suspects, John Randal Locknane, 32, and Grady Allen Davis, 25.

Davis has remained in the Scurry County Jail since his arrest Oct. 29. Locknane has since been released after posting a $25,000 bond.

Wednesday morning, the jury returned to hear evidence in the punishment phase of Beard's case. Because of five previous felony convictions on his record, he now faces a possible sentence of from 25 to 99 years.

The nine-man, three-woman jury was to hear summations from attorneys in the case beginning at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

They began hearing testimony in the case around 3 p.m. Monday. After recessing for the night, the trial reconvened at 9

Classes begin today...

WTC spring enrollment 'about same'

As classes for the spring term started Wednesday at Western Texas College college, officials say they are expecting approximately the same enrollment on campus as last year.

While the final figure won't be known until after next Tuesday, the count is expected to be between 1,100 and 1,200 students, which is also a "steady number" when compared to last fall.

During last term, a student count of 1,165 was reported.

At the close of registration

Tuesday, the total stood at some 900, a figure slightly under the head count for the same time last spring.

The final spring count for 1987 reached 1,262, but this figure was aided by more than 80 students enrolled in a "mini-session" conducted during the fall and spring semester break.

No such session was held this year due to changes in state law pertaining to such abbreviated class offerings.

Minus the mini-session enrollment, last spring's student count was some 1,180 students.

Dan Dever, WTC registrar, said Wednesday morning that traditionally some 200 students enroll during the first week of classes. The cutoff to register is next Tuesday, the fifth day of classes.

The dormitory rooms on campus are said filled for the spring term, as are the on-campus apartments, Dever noted.

He said just over 100 of the students enrolled are in three extension centers offered this spring at Haskell, Sweetwater and Crosbyton.

The enrollment at Haskell is expected to be the largest with some 67 students enrolled. In addition, Sweetwater has 34 and Crosbyton, 17.

Since opening for classes in the fall of 1971, WTC has exceeded the 1,300 student level at least three times. The highest student number ever counted was in the spring of 1984, when 1,414 students enrolled.

Annual chamber event date, speaker revealed

A date and the speaker for the annual Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet were revealed Tuesday.

The event will be staged March 5—a Saturday—and will feature this year a scaled down ticket price of $12.50. Past banquets have cost up to $25 per person.

The speaker will be Jerry W. Kunkel, a Methodist minister who is a well known after dinner speaker who relates a humorous message.

Kunkel now serves the Trinity United Methodist Church of Amarillo. He is a graduate of Lamesa High School who went on to be an All American in track at the U.S. Naval Academy.

His athletic abilities saw him drafted for professional football by the New Orleans Saints, but he opted instead to enter Perkins School of Theology at SMU.

He holds both a master of theology degree from SMU as well as an undergraduate degree in religion and philosophy from McMurry.

The annual event will also feature musical entertainment and a dinner of ribeye steak, two vegetables and dessert. Jerry Baird will be in charge of the meal preparation.

In charge of planning this year's banquet is chamber director Barbara Williamson. It was noted an attendance of at least 500 will be needed to make the banquet "break-even."

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The most important thing about your lot in life is whether you use it for building or for parking."

David Baugh had been named head football coach at Snyder High School for only a few hours, when we got a telephone call from an avid Iowa Park grid fan.

Bob Hamilton, publisher of the Iowa Park Leader and long-time press association friend, called and left the following message: "I don't like people from Snyder anymore!"

Hamilton is a sports nut, and his sentiment of hating to lose Baugh as head coach in Iowa Park is good testimony that the Snyder board has hired a dandy.

An attempt to get the answer to an Ask Us question concerning the total amount of tax on a gallon of gasoline revealed another interesting item. The answer is 24.1 cents, of which 9.1 is a federal excise tax.

There used to be a federal law that required service station operators to post the amount of tax on gas pumps. Now that the tax has grown so large, the federal government now prohibits the tax amount from being posted.

The "Laugh-in" producer who in 1954 booked Ronald Reagan into Las Vegas for $25,000 a week says that if Ronald wants to retire from the Oval Office and go back to his singing, dancing, and clowning act—the producer could get him a cool million for the same gig.

We like the case of "positive identification" that occurred in a federal courtroom in California.

A woman bank teller carefully studied the room and pointed out the man she said had robbed her. It turned out to be the No. 5 juror who quickly gave a not guilty plea.

Despite the teller's blunder, evidence piled up which convicted the actual robber.

Father says court system too lenient

DALLAS (AP) — The father of a champion college gymnast who was shot and killed as he tried to stop a purse snatching criticized the judicial process that ended in a manslaughter verdict against a pregnant teen-ager.

A Dallas County jury on Tuesday gave 17-year-old Shelia Ann Hill a 20-year prison term for fatally shooting Glenn Michael Sims, a former University of Oklahoma gymnast, last Aug. 1.

"I think it is far past time we were so lenient in our court system," said Glen Sims, the gymnast's father. "I think it's time we tightened it up."

Ms. Hill, who would have been a senior at a Dallas high school, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter Friday. On Tuesday, she also received a five-year prison term for burglary of a vehicle, to which she had pleaded guilty last week.

The sentence should tell criminals that they'll be held accountable for their actions, Sims' mother said.

"I certainly hope it sends a message, or it's not going to be safe for any lady to go shopping," Patricia Sims said.

State District Judge Jack Hampton ordered Ms. Hill to serve the two sentences consecutively. Prosecutors had asked the jury to convict her of murder, which carries a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

Ms. Hill was eligible for probation on both convictions because she never had been convicted of a felony.

Hazel Pugh, Ms. Hill's mother, said the teen-ager's family had prayed for a lighter sentence but expected her to serve time in prison.

"You always hope," Mrs. Pugh said, adding that she understood that people must pay for their actions.

"That could have been my child that got killed," she said.

Sims jumped into his car and chased Ms. Hill and a companion, who police say stole a purse from a woman at a shopping center in the suburb of Richardson. The companion, Sylvanna Quiroga, faces trial on burglary and murder charges later this year.

Ms. Hill testified Thursday that she was only trying to wrestle away from Sims, 25, when he was shot.

Sister's Sexual Practices Cause Pain to Her Sibling

DEAR ABBY: I just found out that my younger sister (in her 20s) is practicing sadomasochism. I know very little about the subject, and I am worried. Are people who are into S and M considered normal? My sister has a whip and assorted paraphernalia. Is there any real danger in this kind of thing? I don't want her to hurt herself. And how widespread is it? WORRIED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR WORRIED: I asked my consultant, Dr. Judd Marmor, past president of the Academy of Psychoanalysis and past president of the American Psychiatric Association. Dr. Marmor said:

"S and M fantasies are very extensive in our culture, judging from the widespread popularity of S and M pornographic literature and films. A fairly large number of men and women practice S and M in private and within groups or clubs, yet carry on apparently normal lives otherwise.

"S and M cannot be considered normal behavior, however, because the need to inflict or suffer pain in the course of sexual relations is an obvious neurotic corruption of something that would be a tender and loving exchange. In addition, there is always the danger of actual physical injury occurring — sometimes with serious consequences.

"Unfortunately, many of these individuals neither want nor seek psychotherapy, but if they could be persuaded to try to understand the reason for their deviant need, they could be helped to modify or overcome it — which would be to their long-term advantage."

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "Still in Love at 78" — the woman who loves to have her husband along to help her grocery-shop: It's all fine and dandy to have a 24-hour relationship, but what are you going to do when one of the couple dies?

A casual friend lost her husband after 46 years of marriage. She was lost — and still is, six years later.

She has no club to go to, no special interests, no hobbies, no close women friends — in fact, she's a very boring person to be around. All she does is moan about her loss.

R.M.C., CALIFORNIA

DEAR R.M.C.: I have often urged men to learn how to cook, keep house, sew, do the laundry, marketing and all the chores their wives routinely do. And I have urged women to learn how to drive and maintain an automobile, become conversant with banking, insurance, mortgage payments, investments and all those things their husbands handle — for the obvious reason that although they start out together, they rarely finish together.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the woman who complained about a dentist chatting with an assistant or someone else while working on a patient: Dentists and other medical professionals will often intentionally converse with their staff while they're working on a patient. In areas of high stress, a patient can have a panic attack if left in the silence of an intimidating office and staff, only to hear the whine of high-speed instruments and feel the drowning sensation of the water spray, as the dentist drills away.

"The technique of verbal distraction is practiced with patients of all ages. Granted, the dentist should not carry on loud, extended conversations with persons in another room, but a quiet conversation with a person nearby — or a chairside assistant — is usually considered minor mental relief, if not entertainment, for a patient lying on his back for 30 minutes or more staring at an acoustical tile ceiling.

The right way to be careful

By James Jacoby

Perhaps those of you who follow the career of Willy Nilly think that he never takes precautions in playing the hand. That is really not true. Unfortunately for Willy, too often he takes the wrong precautions. Here's how he misplayed six hearts.

Willy won dummy's ace of spades and immediately cashed his A-K of hearts. He was about to play a third heart when he realized that that would cause a problem if either defender had started with four diamonds. So he played ace of diamonds and a diamond to the king. Willy's thinking was that he could handle a bad diamond split if the long opposing trump was in the same hand with the length in diamonds. Of course if diamonds split nicely, he would draw the third trump with the jack in dummy and run the diamond suit. Too bad, since East ruffed the second diamond and led a club to set the contract two tricks.

Careful Charlie knows the answer to today's problem. He would win the ace of spades, play ace of hearts, ace of diamonds and then a low heart to dummy's 10. If trumps were dividing 3-2, Charlie would then play dummy's spade king, throwing a diamond, and next ruff a low diamond in his hand with the king of hearts. Even though diamonds are 4-1, Charlie would get back to dummy with the jack of hearts to run the diamonds and just make his contract.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — The legend of Johnny Appleseed continues to grow taller than any tree he ever planted.

Born in Leominster, Mass., in 1774, Appleseed's real name was John Chapman. He is remembered as a planter of orchards, a friend of animals and a medicine man to the Indians.

The Johnny Appleseed Festival is held each year in Fort Wayne, the place where he died in 1847. It features music, dancing, storytelling and, of course, apple dumplings, apple kuchen and apple muffins — all washed down with apple cider.

THROW MOMMA FROM THE TRAIN

Club members view slides of unique fashion designs

Members of Xi Alpha Alpha Theta of Beta Sigma Phi met Jan. 12 at the Snyder Country Club with President Carolyn House presiding. Thirteen members were in attendance.

Bette League, ways and means chairman, discussed the Valentine Dance planned for Feb. 13 at the country club. Tickets will be $15 per couple.

League gave a slide presentation of a style show she recently attended at the Hyatt Regency in Houston. The "Shining Star Fashion Show," sponsored by Fairfield Processing Corporation and Concord Fabric for Quilt Market and Quilt Festival of 1987, featured 200 designers from 35 states, Canada, Australia and the Netherlands.

The garments are all unique with quilting, painting, crocheting and knitting used in the designs. League's trip was made possible through the local quilt shop, Memories Made. Margaret Corkran and Betsy Griffin were hostesses with Jeanne Johnson receiving the hostess gift.

A good way to rust-proof rain gutters is to spray them with automotive undercoating when you've finished cleaning out all the leaves, says the Aerosol Packaging Council.

Medications don't mix well

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband takes Coumadin. He inadvertently took a medication containing aspirin and had to have nine units of blood. Please warn your readers to check labels for ingredients.

DEAR READER — Coumadin is an anti-coagulant; that is, a drug that prevents the blood from clotting. It is very useful in certain patients whose blood tends to coagulate too rapidly. Aspirin, too, has anti-coagulant properties, although it is far weaker than Coumadin. However, aspirin can increase the effects of Coumadin. Therefore, the two drugs do not mix well, unless given under medical supervision. Patients on Coumadin must scrupulously read labels in order to avoid taking over-the-counter remedies that contain aspirin.

DEAR DR. GOTT — For the last two years I have had blood work done and my sedimentation rate is always 75 to 110. Doctors have not found the cause. What's my next step?

DEAR READER — The sedimentation rate is a test that measures the speed with which red corpuscles sink to the bottom of a tube that is standing at room temperature. This is usually expressed as millimeters of drop per one hour, 10 to 15 being normal.

Ordinarily, red blood cells — being light and plate-shaped — tend not to fall by gravity. However, when coated with antibody protein and other substances, the cells become heavier and tend to stick together. This is called rouleaux formation. Therefore, the sed rate is elevated in many disease states: in particular, infection, inflammation, cancer and certain forms of arthritis.

The sed rate is an old test and quite nonspecific. It really tells little more than that an active disease process is present in the body. By itself, it is not a diagnostic test. Nonetheless, it is useful in following the course of disease. For example, if a patient has a sed rate of 75 and, after treatment, it falls to 10, the doctor may justifiably conclude that the disease is no longer active. Thus, the sedimentation rate can be a help in monitoring a disease.

Elevated sed rates — especially ones as high as yours — almost always reflect a physical condition. This could be as mild as a normal pregnancy or as serious as an advanced arterial inflammation causing headache. If your doctors are unable to find the cause of your high sed rate, I suggest that you ask for a referral to a rheumatologist. Such a specialist should be able to identify the nature of your problem.

If you have questions about MENOPAUSE, you can get answers in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send $1 to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Menopause.

Man released after 2nd mistaken arrest

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A man who was jailed twice because he had the same name as a fugitive says he would make a citizen's arrest if he ever found the wanted man.

"I'd probably want to wrestle him to the ground and hold him for the cops," David Wayne Sutton chuckled Tuesday. "But I don't really think I would want to meet him."

Sutton was released from the Bexar County Jail Tuesday after prosecutors said he was not the man wanted on several felony charges.

To insure he is not arrested another time, Sutton plans to carry a portfolio containing newspaper clippings about his mistaken arrest and court documents, including photographs of himself and the fugitive.

His attorney, Jack Paul Leon, said he will file a lawsuit against the sheriff's department, who mixed Sutton's background information into a computer file of the wanted man. "We're trying to publicize that this is not the man that is wanted," Leon said. "If somebody stops him in Small Town, Texas, or Large Town, Texas, he'll have some documents there with reports of the incident ... to prevent it from happening again," Leon said.

The other Sutton has been charged with burglary of a building, retribution, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, possession of a controlled substance and injury to a child, officials said.

Sheriff Harlon Copeland said the innocent Sutton's record has been cleared.

"One of my people in the I.D. section made an error, causing this man to be rearrested and put in jail," Copeland said. "I don't blame that man. I would want my attorney to threaten a lawsuit too."

Sutton was first arrested in August at the San Antonio International Airport after returning from his honeymoon.

His attorneys thought they had the misunderstanding resolved until Sutton was arrested in Kendall County on Sunday because of bad computer information.

He was transferred to Bexar County Jail late Monday while his lawyers tried to clear the confusion, finally being released Tuesday afternoon through a court order.

Sutton, who had to sleep on a concrete floor in an overcrowded cell, recalled how he coped with the arrests.

"The first time I was arrested I was cooperative because I didn't know what was going on," Sutton said.

"I knew that if you came out and gave them too much trouble and said, 'Hey I'm not so and so and you'd better let me out of here,' that it would just cause more trouble," he said.

"This time when I was arrested I kept the anger inside, kept to myself, kept quiet and kind of coasted through it," he said.

District Attorney Fred Rodriguez blamed sheriff's department officials for the computer error, but also said the similarities between the Suttons were extraordinarily confusing.

"They had almost the same everything. Both were named David Wayne Sutton. One was born in 1956, the other in 1957. Both have blue eyes and brown hair. One weighs 160, the other 155; one is 5-11, the other is 5-10 and the pictures are not that different either," Rodriguez said.

He said after Sutton's first release, the sheriff's department erred when it placed Sutton's information with that of the fugitive.

"There were two sets of identifications, two sets of dates of birth, two heights, two weights, two addresses," he said.

"How or why they were merged, I don't know. We don't have access to the code. We don't even have access to add or delete," Rodriguez said.

Chevron planning 3-stage project

MIDLAND—Chevron USA Inc. announced recently it will spend $75 million, beginning in 1988, on the first phase of a three-stage enhanced oil recovery (EOR) project, utilizing injected CO2 to squeeze additional production from its North Estes oil and gas field in West Texas.

Located about 60 miles southwest of Midland, the North Ward Estes field—Chevron's fourth largest in terms of cumulative production—has yielded more than 330 million barrels of oil since it began production in 1929. The planned three-phase project calls for coaxing as much as 65 million additional barrels from the declining giant.

According to Jack Goolsby, West Texas Division manager for the Southern Region of Chevron USA's Production Department, both expenditures and expected revenues for the project are very substantial. "North Ward Estes represents a long term, secure supply of high quality (37-degree API gravity) crude oil from leases in which Chevron holds 100 working percent interest," he noted.

The $75 million first stage of the project calls for well work, installation of compressors, separation facilities and other equipment. A 26-mile, 12-inch diameter pipeline will be built to bring CO2 to North Ward Estes from the existing Central Basin CO2 Pipeline.

Current production at North Ward Estes averages 8,300 barrels of oil and 9.5 million cubic feet of natural gas daily, assisted by waterflood which has been ongoing for 30 years. The CO2 project will employ the waterflood's existing injection wells and production facilities.

Goolsby said that approximately 65 billion cubic feet of CO2 will be purchased for injection in the initial phase of the project. "That's an investment that we are confident will pay off with a projected 16.5 million barrels of oil and about 8 billion cubic feet of gas," he said.

According to Goolsby, stages two and three will be targeted at producing another 48.5 million barrels of crude and 24 billion cubic feet of natural gas. "Go-ahead on those stages will depend on the success of the initial phase of the CO2 flood and on oil price," he said.

Chevron, one of Texas's pioneers in CO2 flooding, has operated a CO2 project at SACROC Unit the past 15 years. Located approximately 100 miles northeast of North Ward Estes, SACROC is Texas' oldest large scale CO2 flood. Elsewhere in the state Chevron operates a small CO2 flood at the Kingdom Abo field, and holds an interest in the giant Yates Field, which is also undergoing CO2 injection.

The CO2 for Chevron's North Ward Estes EOR project will come from one of three huge deposits in Colorado and New Mexico: Sheep Mountain, McElmo Dome or Bravo Dome. These and other major sources of CO2, partly owned by Chevron, represents access to hundreds of millions of barrels of U.S. oil that would otherwise be unrecoverable and left in the ground.

"Chevron believes that enhanced recovery—using methods such as CO2 flooding and steam flooding—represents one of our nation's most important sources of additional hydrocarbons," Goolsby said.

SHS Tigers run past Chiefs; Wortham leads off sidelines

San Angelo Lake View fans probably took a breath of relief when Snyder went to the bench early in the second quarter with only an eight-point lead here Tuesday night.

In fact, it became a six-point margin when Todd Ninnich hit a short jumper with 2:30 to go in the half. That was all before Anthony Wortham came looking for scalps.

Wortham came off the bench to lead Snyder on a 10-point tear in the final two and a half minutes of the quarter. Before the Chiefs could put on their war paint, Snyder had a 16-point lead and was enroute to a 72-38 victory.

"The ball was definitely following Anthony around and falling for him tonight," grinned Tigers coach Larry Scott. "Anthony is deceiving. He has long arms and good leaping ability. When he's in there, most of the time he's in the right place at the right time."

The victory was Snyder's 16th in 22 outings and kept the Tigers in second place in District 2-4A action with a 7-1 record. Round two of conference play tips off Friday, when the Tigers board the bus for Fort Stockton.

Wortham scored eight points in the 10-point run which put Snyder ahead 32-16 at intermission. The senior ballplayer bagged nine more in the third quarter as the Tigers blitzed the visiting Chiefs 20-5 in the period.

For the night, Wortham landed in double-doubles, scoring 19 points and chalking 10 rebounds.

Scott said team members who play a role off the bench don't receive enough credit for their efforts.

"They don't get much attention but they are a very important part of the team. They help get us ready in workouts. We use them and the junior varsity as a scout team. And, we rely on them to come off the bench and perform well anytime during the game," said the coach.

Players off the bench put in 29 of the Tigers' 72 points in the game.

Snyder started slowly, and led only 9-6 until Trey Tippens converted a three-point play with 14 seconds to go in the first quarter. Lake View stayed close for three minutes of the second quarter, but Snyder began to gain momentum. Tippens and Tracy Brazier combined for eight points as the Tigers outscored the Chiefs 8-2 to take a 22-12 advantage with 3:17 left. Wortham came in a half-minute later, and with the score 22-16, led the home team on a 10-point surge.

In addition to Wortham's efforts, Brazier scored 15 points and had 8 rebounds, while Tippens notched 13 points and 10 boards. Terry Garza also landed in double figures with 11 points.

San Angelo Lake View, which drove home nursing an 8-14 season record (2-6 in district play) was led by Mark Hernandez and Norm Lisenby - with 8 points each.

Berry, Fitch scream 'foul'

by The Associated Press
San Antonio forward Walter Berry and Houston Coach Bill Fitch think it's an idea whose time has come.

With 1:52 remaining and the Spurs trailing, the Milwaukee Bucks 101-98, Berry was whistled for his sixth foul, banishing him to the bench.

"I think they need the instant replay rule on that last call against me," Berry complained.

The Spurs rallied, however, and defeated Milwaukee 110-104 Tuesday night.

Houston wasn't as fortunate. With Akeem Olajuwon out of the game, Sacramento scored 10 straight points to begin the fourth period and went on to down the Rockets 107-104.

"That run came when we had Akeem on the bench," Fitch said. "He had five fouls and we didn't want him in there at the start of the quarter."

Elsewhere, it was Atlanta 106, Chicago 94, and Dallas 120, Portland 116.

Fitch was critical of Olajuwon's fifth foul that came in late in the third quarter that forced him to bench the 7-foot center.

"I had a better angle on it than the ref and there was no way it should have been a foul," Fitch said. "If it hadn't been for, that call, Akeem could very well have set more block records."

Olajuwon had an arena record seven blocks in the third period and eight in the game in the losing cause.

Kings 107, Rockets 104

Two free throws by Reggie Theus with eight seconds left assured Sacramento of its victory over Houston. It came after the Kings' LaSalle Thompson hit a 16-foot jumper with 17 seconds remaining and Houston's Joe Barry Carroll sank one of two free throws, giving Sacramento a 105-104 lead.

A 3-point shot by Houston's Purvis Short with three seconds left hit off the rim.

Reserve Mike McGee paced Sacramento with 28 points. Olajuwon had 23 points and 11 rebounds to lead Houston.

Spurs 110, Bucks 104

Frank Brickowski scored seven of his 26 points in the final two minutes to lead San Antonio to a come-from-behind victory over Milwaukee. The Bucks had led by as many as 12 points in the fourth quarter.

After Sidney Moncrief's free throw gave the Bucks a 102-98 lead, Brickowski and Mike Mitchell hit three-point plays, putting the Spurs in the lead for good.

Milwaukee Coach Del Harris joined Berry in questioning the officials.

"This is one of the best games we've played all year, and we deserved to win," Harris said. "I hope the officials looked at the last four minutes of the game tape to justify it. The last three or four minutes were ridiculous."

Berry had 20 points before fouling out.

Terry Cummings led the Bucks with 24 points.

Mavericks 120, Trail Blazers 116

Sam Perkins scored 10 of Dallas' last 20 points in the final 5½ minutes as the Mavericks defeated Portland. Mark Aguirre's three-point play pulled Dallas even at 100 with 5:59 remaining in the game. Then Perkins hit a layup 30 seconds later to give the Mavericks the lead for good.

Aguirre led Dallas with 34 points, while Perkins added 25.

Clyde Drexler paced Portland with 27 points.

Hawks 106, Bulls 94

Dominique Wilkins scored 24 of his 41 points in the first quarter to power Atlanta over Chicago. Michael Jordan had 38 points in a losing effort.

Wilkins' first-period scoring broke the Omni record of 22 points set by Atlanta's John Drew and tied by Bob McAdoo of Buffalo.

The Bulls pulled within 83-82 on Jordan's jumper with 8:11 left to play, but the Hawks then ran off a 16-4 streak in the next four minutes.

JV girls have tough time but nip Lake View, 48-46

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder junior varsity girls won their 18th basketball game of the season here Friday night but unlike some of the others, this one wasn't easy.

The young Lady Tigers were able to extend their already fine season to 18-2, however, by nipping the Maidens 48-46.

"It was a close ballgame all the way. They were breaking our press early and we had to get out of it," said Coach Vicki Nelms. "We shot a lot of free throws in the last quarter. We were seven out of 10 and that's what saved us."

Teena Brazier hit six-of-eight in the fourth quarter to help lead the effort. Brazier had 8 points for the night. Anne Osborn led with 16. Cindy Srna scored 11.

Brazier, Osborn and Mande Henry all had 9 rebounds each.

Lake View was led by Laura James, who scored 14 of her 16 points in the fourth quarter.

"The kids did a real good job controlling the tempo of the game in the last quarter," said Nelms. "They showed character. We had had 18 turnovers in the first half and finished with 28 so turnovers were a problem, too. We did make a couple of turnovers in the fourth quarter, but we did enough things right to win the game."

Snyder junior varsity girls are at home Friday when they host Fort Stockton at 6 p.m.

Texaco, shareholders okay by-law changes

NEW YORK (AP) — Texaco Inc.'s board of directors and the committee representing the oil company's shareholders have agreed on changes in Texaco's bylaws on the eve of a U.S. Bankruptcy Court hearing on the firm's reorganization plan.

Texaco announced the agreement late Tuesday. It amounted to an effort to solidify shareholder support for Texaco's reorganization plan against the one proposed by financier Carl C. Icahn, who controls the biggest block of Texaco stock.

The agreement was clearly intended to thwart any efforts by Icahn to take over the oil giant.

Icahn has proposed that the company be stripped of its anti-takeover defenses. He also is trying to overturn part of last month's settlement between Texaco and Pennzoil Co. of the multibillion-dollar legal dispute that has preoccupied both companies for three years.

Bankruptcy Court Judge Howard Schwartzberg is to hear arguments growing out of the settlement today in White Plains, N.Y., where Texaco is based.

The agreement with the shareholders committee alters Texaco's "poison pill" defense, which would make it prohibitively expensive for a raider to try to take the firm over, Texaco said in a statement.

It also includes a prohibition against "greenmail," the term used to describe the purchase of stock by a potential raider who later agrees to sell his stake at a premium above the market price for the shares.

The agreement would give shareholders "additional protections from certain unfair takeover practices by raiders seeking to plunder shareholder equity," Texaco said.

Texaco accused Icahn of wanting to "make as large and quick a return as possible for himself, regardless of the consequences to other shareholders or to Texaco's ability to become stronger and more productive."

Icahn was not in his office when a reporter called for comment late Tuesday.

Texaco also said the agreement would place a proposal before shareholders at the next annual meeting that would lower to two-thirds the majority required to amend the company's charter. Currently, an 80 percent majority is required.

On Tuesday, Icahn said he had raised his stake in the company to 14.3 percent of all its shares from 13.3 percent previously.

He says dropping the anti-takeover measures would give its management more incentive to do a better job.

Texaco's top executives counter that Icahn's plan would make the nation's third largest oil company vulnerable to dismemberment by a predator — such as Icahn — who could make a quick profit by selling it off in pieces, destroying the company's competitive future and the long-term value of stock held by other investors.

Texaco agreed last month to pay Pennzoil $3 billion to drop the $10.3 billion judgment that Pennzoil won in the Texas courts. A jury ruled that Texaco had interfered with Pennzoil's 1984 attempt to acquire part of Getty Oil Co. so it could buy Getty itself.

The settlement was the basis for Texaco's overall reorganization plan. The oil giant took refuge under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code on April 12 to avoid having to post a potentially ruinous bond while appealing the damage judgment.

The plan was worked out among Texaco, Pennzoil and committees representing Texaco's shareholders and creditors.

Under bankruptcy law, Schwartzberg must hear comments on that proposal — and any others — before deciding whether to submit it to shareholders for approval, with or without alternative proposals.

Two-thirds of the shares participating in the vote must favor one plan before Schwartzberg could give it final approval. Technically, he could overrule a negative vote, if he deemed a plan fair and equitable. But attorneys said that would be most unlikely to happen.

Schwartzberg also is to hear a suit filed by Icahn last week asking that the court void a Texaco-Pennzoil agreement requiring Pennzoil to support Texaco's reorganization plan.

Icahn claims the agreement is illegal and should be thrown out. Texaco denies the allegations.

Should the judge rule for Icahn, Pennzoil would be free to support his alternative reorganization plan. However, Pennzoil executives have given no indication they are inclined to shift allegiance to Icahn.

In another hearing on Jan. 27, Schwartzberg is scheduled to hear objections to Texaco's disclosure statement, a document filed Dec. 31 outlining the financial situation of the company.

If there are no objections that cannot be resolved at that hearing, Schwartzberg will then authorize the shareholders vote.

Texaco officials say they expect the ballots could be mailed by mid-February and returned by mid-March.

Assuming passage, the judge would hold one more hearing, probably within the first few days of April, to confirm the verdict and announce Texaco's emergence from bankruptcy.

Clements: GOP made right choice

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican Gov. Bill Clements said his party is right to ignore apparently forged signatures on petitions of GOP presidential primary candidates in Texas.

"You know we had a big fight going about all that, and it was working to the disadvantage of the candidates and working a hardship on them. I don't really believe that any of those candidates had anything to do with that," Clements said Tuesday, referring to a private firm hired to handle petitions for some of the campaigns.

Presidential candidate Pete du Pont, one of the prime beneficiaries of the Texas Republican Party's decision on the petitions, said the GOP should not have abandoned its effort to verify signatures.

But the former Delaware governor said the decision puts him back in the race for Texas delegates to the Republican National Convention.

Southwest stops free booze flow

DALLAS (AP) — Southwest Airlines Co. has made its last call on free alcoholic drinks, ending an era for a carrier once known as one of the busiest bartenders in Texas.

Earlier this year, Southwest coked the free booze on weekday flights during peak hours as a belt-tightening move, airline spokeswoman Charlotte Goddard said this week.

The Dallas-based company some time ago had stopped serving free alcoholic drinks on off-hour and weekend flights.

Ms. Goddard said she expected some adverse reaction, but not much. That's in part because she said offers will remain to frequent business travelers — the original targets of the free alcohol — for some drinks either discounted or on the house.

"We think our customers will understand that this was a business decision" to maintain competitive rates, she said. She also said Southwest's prices, $2 for cocktails and $1 for beer and wine, are similar to other airlines' menus and a bargain.

Still, it's a far cry from the past, when free-flowing alcohol was as much a part of the Dallas Love Field-based airlines' image with stewardesses clad in hot pants and the sexy "Love" advertising campaigns.

As a fledgling intrastate commuter, Southwest had used booze to battle the big boys, Ms. Goddard said.

She said in the early 1970s, Braniff Airways and Texas International offered fares between Houston and Dallas for $13. The corporate attitude at Southwest, where the same trip cost $26, was, "No one's going to shoot Southwest out of the air for losing $13," she said.

So Southwest gave Dallas-to-Houston passengers a choice — they could pay $13, or $26 and get a free premium bottle of liquor.

"Since many of the businessmen were on expense accounts, they paid the higher fare and got the liquor," she said.

The offer became one of the most popular promotions at Southwest. In company lore, Ms. Goddard said, Southwest became the largest liquor distributor in the state.

Wynell Rafkin, a travel consultant with Travel Arrangements in Dallas, said she hasn't heard of any complaints from customers.

"They like things like free drinks, but they're not up in arms," she said.

But at least one vestige of Southwest's pioneer days will remain, Ms. Goddard said — the airline has decided to give passengers free packets of peanuts on all flights, rather than only peak flights.

Southwest, founded in 1971, serves 27 cities in 13 states.

Smith to give recital at ACU

ABILENE—Melanie Smith, soprano and Snyder Junior High Choir Director, will perform a guest artist recital at 8 p.m. Thursday in Cullen Auditorium at Abilene Christian University.

She will perform works by Mozart, Handel, Berger, Copland and Barber. She will be accompanied on piano by J. David Brock.

Smith is a graduate of ACU and the Shepherd School of Music at Rice University. She also holds the Masters of Music degree. She began her teaching career in August of this year at S.J.H.

The recital is free and the public is invited.

Henry Ford introduced the first model-T Ford car in 1908.

Chamber approves chairmen, budget

The 1988 budget and committee chairman appointments for the coming year were approved Tuesday at the January meeting of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

The board approved an expense operating budget estimated at $75,600 with projected income of some $73,900. In explaining the deficit, Chamber Manager Bill Moss said a membership drive planned later in the year is expected to make up the difference.

The current budget has some $46,000 included for membership dues. At present, Moss said, 347 chamber members are billed and more than half of these have already paid.

He said he expects as many as 35 new members to be recruited with the membership drive. It will be headed by Herbie Figueredo, president-elect for the chamber.

Figueredo was one of 12 committee chairmen announced Tuesday for the chamber's "program of work" for 1988. He will head four committees aimed at attracting and serving the chamber's membership. In addition to recruitment, other areas of responsibility will include a membership directory, a monthly newsletter and a monthly coffee honoring local industry.

The appointments include also the industrial development committee which led the effort to secure a Texas Department of Correction facility for Scurry County. Heading it during 1988 will be Roy McQueen.

Other committee heads will include:

—Economic division: agribusiness, Billy Huddleston; business development, Donna Gray; petroleum relations, Bill Moore; and tourist development, Dennis and Blanche Chisum.

—Community development: civic development, Sam Robertson; cultural affairs, Rick Hester.

—Public affairs: governmental, Jack Smartt; education, Harry Krenek and Dalton Moseley; Leadership Scurry County, Jim Palmer.

—Activities: chamber banquet, Barbara Williamson; with appointments still to be named for July 4th, AJRA National Finals Rodeo, White Buffalo Days and a proposed Miss Scurry County event.

Prison issue not over yet

cond Michael unit built. We have now 50 percent of our inmates that are hardened, violent criminals and we need that additional capacity of the maximum-security unit," Clements said.

Prison board Chairman Charles Terrell said his panel will make a decision on the prison unit's location at a meeting that probably will be scheduled within two weeks.

Terrell and Clements said they will work to see that two maximum-security prisons eventually are built in addition to the Mark Michael maximum-security unit built last year at Palestine.

Amarillo or Gatesville also could get a facility that is different from maximum security, Terrell said.

"We have a commitment to those two cities. We will fulfill our commitment to them. We told them they'd have prisons, and they will. It's a matter of time, or a matter of the type of unit," he said.

The bonds only include one maximum-security prison because Mattox said the Legislature only authorized one. Lawmakers authorized bonds for prison construction in one bill and authorized specific projects in another bill, said Tom Pollard, bond board executive director.

Clements said it was unfortunate that there was a conflict in the legislative package that authorized the 10,400 beds but didn't specify a second Michael unit.

The governor said although he believes the state has the authority to build a lesser-security prison, such units are not needed as much as another maximum-security unit.

Terrell, who appealed to the board to find a way for the Texas Department of Corrections to build another maximum-security unit, said the prison board construes the appropriations bill as permissive, disagreeing with Mattox's opinion.

Although the board acknowledges the opinion, action must be taken to supply the state with badly needed maximum-security facilities, Terrell told the bond board.

Correction...

In Tuesday's story related to the aggravated kidnapping trial in 132nd District Court, it was incorrectly stated that testimony indicated a gun used during the incident was acquired by suspect Grady Davis.

In fact, testimony indicated the gun was first acquired by suspect John Randal Locknane.

State of emergency lifted; 5 opposition leaders freed

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)

The government formally lifted a state of emergency, abolished its system of "people's courts," and released five opposition leaders after interrogating them for several hours.

The leaders were freed Tuesday night after being detained and questioned about meeting last week in Guatemala with the Contras rebels.

The formal lifting of the 6-year-old state of emergency and the abolition of the courts were announced Tuesday by Foreign Minister Miguel D'Escoto. The state of emergency suspended free speech, free assembly and a free press.

The steps were first announced by President Daniel Ortega at the end of a Central American summit Saturday in Costa Rica. He said at the time they were taken to further Nicaraguan compliance with a Central American peace plan.

But D'Escoto also indicated the steps were taken to persuade Congress to reject a Reagan administration request next month for more aid to the Contras.

Asked if the Sandinistas were trying to influence Congress, he said: "Of course we are. We want to stop the war. The continuation of funding for the Contras means more war, more death, more destruction."

In Washington, President Reagan on Tuesday authorized the CIA to resume airdrops of weapons to Nicaragua's Contra rebels. They were suspended because of the Central American summit in Costa Rica last week.

In Miami, Contra leaders announced Tuesday they are willing to accept Ortega's offer to hold direct talks but said they are wary about his motives.

After Ortega on Tuesday issued the legally-required decree ending the state of emergency and scrapping the court system, a lawyer for James Jordan Denby of Carlinville, Ill., said his client's detention could become illegal within 72 hours because of the abolition of the people's tribunals.

Denby, 58, whose light plane was shot down over Nicaragua, was charged in one of the courts last week with crimes against public security, acts to submit the nation to foreign domination and illegal association. He pleaded innocent.

The government has accused Denby, who owns a farm in Costa Rica, with assisting the Contras in their war against the Sandinistas.

The government did not immediately respond to the claim by Denby's lawyer.

Also Tuesday, Contra rebel leaders began arriving in Costa Rica for a meeting Thursday with Cardinal Miguel Obando y Bravo, mediator in Nicaraguan cease-fire talks.

Miryam Arguello, director of a faction of the Nicaraguan Conservative Party, was among the five opposition political leaders arrested Tuesday.
