ALBANY, Texas (AP) — Officials planned a final flight over Shackelford County today before calling an end to a four-day battle against the wildfires that burned an estimated 350,000 acres of West Texas rangeland.

"Most all of the fire at this time is completely out, but we're going to keep working through the rest of the night," Texas Forest Service dispatcher Ronnie Rea said late Monday.

"We plan to have an aircraft up around 8 o'clock in the morning to give it one last check. After that we hope to have everybody on the road by about noon," Rea said.

Officials said the stubborn fire was declared under control Monday afternoon. But as firefighters stamped out the last of the flames, others were organizing a hay donation program for the hundreds of cattle that could face starvation on the blackened terrain.

"There's been a tremendous amount of forage lost right now," said Murry Fly, the state forest service's head of operations for fire control.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby issued a disaster proclamation for the region Monday, said Don Couch of the governor's Emergency Management Division in Austin.

Texas Gov. Bill Clements was out of the state Monday when Hobby went ahead with the decision to "activate the recovery and rehabilitation programs within the state government," said the governor's press secretary, Reggie Bashur.

Bashur said the state Department of Emergency Services has representatives in the area who plan to meet with local officials.

Banking bailout sought

1st RepublicBank to reorganize

DALLAS (AP) — First RepublicBank Corp., the biggest independent banking company in Texas, said today it will seek federal assistance as it wrestles with billions of dollars in bad real estate and commercial loans.

First RepublicBank officials said they will hold preliminary discussions with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. to restructure and recapitalize the Dallas-based company.

"The decision to approach the FDIC is, in our judgment, important to providing a stable environment for First RepublicBank's customers," said Gerald W. Fronterhouse, the firm's chairman and chief executive officer.

"Naturally, we had hoped to work our way out of the current difficulties without assistance from the FDIC," he added. "However, we are now announcing this changed course of action to help clear away any concerns our customers may have."

Fronterhouse and the company's board of directors were scheduled to meet this afternoon.

As First RepublicBank struggled with billions of dollars in bad loans, depositors have grown increasingly uneasy about the bank's future. In a five-day period last month, the Dallas bank's deposits shrank by $600 million.

First RepublicBank, formed last year in the merger of RepublicBank Corp. and Inter-First Corp., lost $656 million in 1987, primarily because about 17 percent of its $15 billion loan portfolio was either past due or renegotiated.

The bank stands to lose another $450 million this year, reports indicate.

Fronterhouse said the company will try to solve its loan problems, particularly real estate loans.

"We are taking every possible measure to serve the best interests of our customers while furthering our efforts to revitalize this financial institution, which is important to Texas," he said.

Generally, the FDIC grants assistance if it determines that keeping the bank open would be less costly to the government than letting the bank fail.

Finnell seeks Farabee senate seat

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer

Emphasizing that he is the founding chairman of the House Retirement and Aging Committee and stating positions on several issues, State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday Monday told a local gathering that he will seek the Texas Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls.

Finnell, 44, a 22-year House veteran who lives near Wichita Falls in Archer County, said the local Senior Citizens Center is an example of what government should do for senior citizens, with its inexpensively produced meals and other services.

He also extolled junior colleges and said too many have been turned into four-year schools when they were greater assets to their communities as junior colleges.

Finnell's candidacy makes him the second to officially announce. Helen Farabee, wife of the departing state senator who now serves this area, indicated she would run also in an appearance here Feb. 4.

Farabee has resigned to become vice chancellor and general counsel for the University of Texas system.

Rep. Steven Carraker of Roby has indicated an interest in the "free-for-all" race but has not announced his intention.

The governor has not set a date for the election, but Finnell said Monday that its logical date would be May 7, when Republicans and Democrats may run on the same ballot, with a 50-percent majority required for the winner.

Finnell said, however, that Republican county chairmen in Senate District 30 may wait until this fall to appoint a nominee to run against the Democratic nominee in November, when the GOP may have the advantage of having George Bush on the ticket as a presidential candidate.

Both parties have the right to appoint nominees this late summer because Farabee was running unopposed for re-election this year, although Finnell and Mrs. Farabee have said the May 7 winner, if a Democrat, should be that party's nominee.

Finnell said in his local appearance that state government should work "to help local

Unemployment said lowest in area

Scurry and Kent counties had the lowest unemployment rates in the area in January, the Texas Employment Commission has reported.

Both had a rate of 6.6 percent, better than the 9.1 percent reported for Fisher County, 8.3 percent in Mitchell County and 9.4 percent in Nolan County.

In actual numbers, Scurry County's labor force was figured at 9,829 individuals.

This is comprised of 8,437 persons said working and 592 classified as "actively seeking employment."

Scurry County's rate was up from the 5.8 percent reported for December, although TEC officials said the year-end figure was down because more than 100 fewer persons were seeking jobs than in the previous month.

The November 1987 figure was 6.8 percent.

The January total is much improved over January 1987, the TEC reported, when the unemployment rate here was 9.9 percent.

The number of persons both employed and unemployed for area counties include:

—Mitchell County: unemployment figured at 8.3 percent with a civilian labor force of 3,878 with 3,556 said working and 322 listed as seeking jobs.

—Nolan County: unemployment figured at 9.4 percent with a civilian labor force of 7,432 with 6,730 said working and 702 listed as seeking jobs.

—Fisher County: unemployment figured at 9.1 percent with a civilian labor force of 2,341 with 2,129 said working and 212 listed as seeking jobs.

—Kent County: unemployment figured at 6.6 percent with a civilian labor force of 519 with 484 said working and 34 listed as seeking jobs.

Two 15-year-olds rescue fire victim

Two neighborhood boys on spring break were credited with helping save a 28-year-old pregnant woman and her 4-year-old son from a burning house Monday morning at 412 36th St.

Linda Atilano, reportedly 7½ months pregnant, was listed in stable condition with smoke inhalation Tuesday morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Her son, John, was treated for smoke inhalation and released Monday.

Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell said Tuesday morning that the 10:55 a.m. Monday fire was started in the living room by a child playing with a cigarette lighter.

"The living room and kitchen were gutted, and the rest of the house had heavy heat and smoke damage," he said.

McDowell said the fire was discovered by two 15-year-old boys, Kenny Ray Gambrell of 407 35th St. and Horace Lee Proctor of 406 35th St., who saw smoke coming out of it and ran to the home of a man across the street and asked him to call the fire department.

In the meantime, Atilano had been unable to unlock the front door and had fled to the smoke-filled garage.

The boys heard her screaming, McDowell said, and broke out a narrow window in the garage door about 5 ft. off the ground.

They took the 4-year-old as Atilano pushed him through the window and then helped the woman out as she climbed through the window, he said.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "For excellence ask an expert, for wisdom seek a sage, but for honesty ask a child."

Don Farmer over at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home brought us a list of amusing statements found on insurance claim forms. The actual statements were made by folks attempting to summarize the details of an accident in the fewest words possible:

- Coming home, I drove into the wrong house and collided with a tree I don't have.
- The other car collided with mine without giving warning of its intentions.
- I thought my window was open, but I found out it was up when I put my head through it.
- I collided with a stationary truck coming the other way.
- A truck backed through my windshield into my wife's face.
- A pedestrian hit me and went under my car.
- The guy was all over the road. I had to serve a number of times before I hit him.
- I pulled away from the side of the road, glanced ed at my mother-in-law and headed over the embankment.

—I had been shopping for plants all day and was on my way home. As I reached an intersection, a hedge sprang up, obscuring my vision and I did not see the other car.

—I had been driving for 40 years when I fell asleep at the wheel and had an accident.

—I was on my way to the doctor with rear-end trouble when my universal joint gave way, causing me to have an accident.

—To avoid hitting the bumper of the car in front, I struck the pedestrian.

—My car was legally parked as it backed into the other vehicle.

—An invisible car came out of nowhere, struck my car and vanished.

—The indirect cause of the accident was a little guy in a small car with a big mouth.

—As I approached the intersection a sign suddenly appeared in a place where no stop sign had ever appeared before. I was unable to stop in time to avoid the accident.

Now we know why an accident is called an accident.

In Brief

More debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deficit in the broadest measure of U.S. foreign trade surged to a record $160.7 billion in 1987 with the additional red ink pushing the country further into the hole as the world's largest debtor nation, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said that the current account deficit last year was 13.7 percent higher than the previous record of $141.4 billion set in 1986 despite the fact that the deficit for the final three months of the year narrowed slightly.

The current account covers not only the flow of merchandise across the U.S. border but also the flow of services, primarily investment earnings between countries.

While the United States has run deficits in merchandise trade for 16 of the past 17 years, the current account was in surplus as recently as 1981 as Americans' earnings on overseas investments were enough to offset the merchandise deficits.

Ongoing talks

GENEVA (AP) — The Afghanistan peace talks today reached a Soviet-set target date for their conclusion, with officials apparently still short of a final breakthrough despite nearly six years at the negotiating table.

Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev named March 15 as the date a peace package should be signed by Soviet-backed Afghanistan and Pakistan, which represents Afghan guerrilla groups, if Moscow was to start bringing home its troops in mid-May.

The current round of talks, now three weeks old, has completed all main elements of the settlement aimed at ending nine years of fighting.

Uranium-steel armor made for tanks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has secretly devised a new armor plating for its main battle tank that combines uranium with steel to produce an almost impenetrable skin, military officials say.

"We're talking about something so good the experts think it will take the Russians almost a decade to catch up," said one official who spoke only on condition of anonymity.

"This is a major advance; a very major advance."

The Pentagon sources agreed to discuss the matter Monday after the Army released a brief statement announcing plans to produce "a new model of the M-1A1 Abrams Main Battle Tank with significantly better armor."

"The armor design modification to the M-1A1 incorporates steel-encased depleted uranium," the service said.

The development of the new armor has been under way for several years as part of a highly classified "black" program, the sources said. The Army relaxed the classification somewhat on Monday only because it had to provide information to production line workers and wanted to allay health concerns about using a radioactive material in a manned vehicle, they added.

In Monday's announcement, the service insisted that the depleted uranium would pose no threat to either the soldiers who operated the tanks or to the production workers who built them because of the manner in which the tanks would be fabricated.

"Sealed within the tank, depleted uranium has a very low level of natural radiation, which is well within the acceptable range established by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission," the Army said.

"You would have to sit on this tank for 75 hours straight in order to get the same equivalent radiation as a single chest X-ray," added Maj. Phil Soucy, an Army spokesman.

The Abrams is made for the Army by General Dynamics Corp. at two plants — in Lima, Ohio, and Detroit — employing roughly 5,000 production workers. The armor plates are being made at a secret location, then shipped to the assembly lines, the Army said.

Depleted uranium is an inert, heavy metal that is unusually dense — 2½ times more so than steel. The term "depleted" means the uranium does not have sufficient energy to be used for commercial purposes such as in power plants.

Depleted uranium has long been used for a variety of civilian and military applications, ranging from the production of canisters for the transport of more highly radioactive materials to certain types of ammunition.

In the case of the M-1A1, the Army refused to say how much uranium would be incorporated into each tank; where on the tank body the armor with uranium would be located, or how it would produce the new armor.

The sources said, however, the new process involved "weaving" a thread mesh of uranium into the regular steel armor plating at the time of casting. The process produces an incredibly strong plate that adds "an insignificant amount of weight," they said.

"It's not only the strength of the uranium but the way it's worked into the steel," said one official. "The process is still highly classified and nobody's going to say more."

"But the experts say this plating can stop any known Soviet anti-tank round, as well as any of their more advanced rounds in development."

The Army has already acquired about 1,500 M-1A1's and they will not be retrofitted with the new armor, the service said. But the remaining 3,000 tanks scheduled for purchase will incorporate the new armor.

Nation's urban schools failing

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's urban schools are in deep trouble, beset by problems ranging from low morale and high dropout rates to dilapidated facilities and crippling bureaucratic regulations, the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching said today.

The foundation called for a "crusade on behalf of urban education" including greater financial support for inner-city schools and more freedom and accountability for teachers and principals.

In a 38-page report called, "At Risk: The Urban Schools of the 1980s," the Carnegie trustees said: "Many people have simply written off city schools as little more than human storehouses to keep young people off the streets."

"We call upon America to commit itself to a crusade on behalf of urban education," they said.

Principals and teachers "should be given more authority to run the schools," but if urban schools do not shape up, "there must be outside intervention," the report said.

"It is our deep conviction that when schools fail, swift changes must be made. No other crisis — a flood, a health epidemic, a garbage strike or even snow removal — would be as calmly accepted without full-scale emergency intervention," the report said.

The trustees suggested that an evaluation team of educators, parents and others be dispatched to a troubled school, where it could recommend sweeping changes including removing the principal and, as a last resort, closing the school.

Ernest Boyer, president of the Carnegie Foundation and former U.S. commissioner of education, said urban schools need "a radical new strategy, ... a program of intervention that confronts the bureaucracy outside the schools and the anonymity within."

"School reform is failing in the inner city because the diagnosis is wrong. Formulas for renewal — more homework, more testing, more requirements for graduation — work best for schools that already are succeeding and for students who are college bound," said Boyer.

"But to require a troubled student in an urban ghetto to take another unit in math or foreign language, without more guidance and support, is like raising a hurdle in the high jump without giving more coaching to someone who has stumbled."

Secretary of Education William J. Bennett issued a statement saying: "I am generally encouraged by this report. It's good to have major figures from the education establishment strongly endorse the principle of accountability. Now let's see if agreement on this idea can be followed by the political courage required to put it into practice."

The report said: "We are deeply troubled that a reform movement launched to upgrade the education of all students is irrelevant to many children — largely black and Hispanic — in our urban schools. In almost every big city, dropout rates are high, morale is low, facilities often are old and unattractive and school leadership is crippled by a web of regulations."

"Excellence in education ultimately must be judged by what happens to the least advantaged students. And thus far, the harsh truth is that the reform movement has largely bypassed our most deeply troubled schools."

Carnegie surveyed teachers and visited schools in six cities: Chicago, Cleveland, Houston, Los Angeles, New Orleans and New York.

Woman & daughter safely back in Texas after rescue

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas woman paid a team of retired U.S. commandos $200,000 to rescue her daughter in an incident that caused the U.S. State Department to express regret to Jordan, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

Holly Planells of Albany, N.Y., head of American Children Held Hostage, told the newspaper Monday the amount the woman paid the commandos.

Ms. Planells told the Dallas Morning News that the woman and her 7-year-old daughter were "well and very happy" and back in Texas.

The woman had been identified at Kathy Mahoon, but Ms. Planells said her name is Kathy Phelps Mahone.

Ms. Mahone has mentioned the possibility of a movie deal about the raid, Ms. Planells said.

Ms. Mahone and the commandos reportedly entered Jordan and seized the 7-year-old girl who had been the object of a custody fight.

The Texas woman claims her former husband, Jordanian-born Mohammed Ali Bayan, kidnapped the child and took it to Jordan although she was granted custody of the child following a divorce.

Dallas County court records confirm that a judge granted the woman custody of the child, but Dallas Police say they have no record of the reported kidnapping last September.

"She (Ms. Mahone) called me from Texas and said they're alive and well and very happy," Ms. Planells told the Dallas Morning News Monday.

"She's really getting assimilated back to American life," Ms. Planells said of Lauren Bayan. "It was a traumatic experience to be away from her mother like that. Jordan is a strange place."

Ms. Planells declined to say where Ms. Mahone is, saying the woman fears her husband "will try this again."

U.S. State Department spokesman Charles Redman said Monday an American Embassy officer in Amman has been recalled to Washington for questioning by department officials about his knowledge of the incident.

The officer, who was not named, had some knowledge prior to the Jan. 28 incident that the group had arrived in Jordan but that he had been misled as to its intentions, Redman said.

"We have expressed regret to the government of Jordan for any role that an embassy officer might have played in this violation of Jordanian law," Redman said.

The Dallas woman, unable to get her daughter back through legal channels, hired former Army commandos to take the girl away from her father, who claimed legal custody of the child under Jordanian law.

Corporate Training Unlimited, a company in Fayetteville, N.C., that specializes in "hostage rescue training," plotted and carried out the seizure for expenses and a hefty, undisclosed fee, the Philadelphia Inquirer said.

Company president Donald Feeny denied the story, other well-placed sources described the company's role, the Inquirer said.

The rescue attempt began at 8:30 a.m. Jan. 28 in Jerash, north of Amman, sources close to the participants told the newspaper. J.D. Roberts, a one-time Army Delta Force hostage rescue specialist, hailed and stopped a school bus by waving a note in Arabic.

Roberts pinned the shocked driver to his seat while Mrs. Mahone took the child off the bus, smacking a teacher who tried to block their escape. They fled in a white Datsun and switched cars before crossing the border into Israeli-controlled territory, the Inquirer said.

Bayan reported his daughter had been abducted by three Americans and he published newspaper advertisements seeking information.

Sameer Salem, a Jordanian friend of Bayan's, told The Associated Press that Bayan had returned to Jordan in the fall of 1987 after selling a Dallas restaurant called The Country Skillet.

Archbishop is named for Atlanta

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Monsignor Eugene A. Marino has been named archbishop of Atlanta, the Vatican announced today. He is the first black to be named archbishop in the United States.

The 53-year-old Jesuit is currently an auxiliary bishop in Washington, D.C.

Archbishop Pio Laghi, Apostolic Pro-Nuncio in the United States, announced the appointment at the Vatican. Marino succeeds Archbishop Thomas A. Donnellan, who died Oct. 15.

Marino is the first black Catholic archbishop in the United States, said William Ryan, spokesman for the United States Catholic Conference in Washington.

The archbishop-designate has been auxiliary bishop of Washington since 1974. In 1971, he became the first black priest to hold the major office of vicar general of a religious community — the Josephite Fathers, who are headquartered in Washington.

Convicted murderer said executed in Florida

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — Convicted murderer Willie Jasper Darden, who maintained his innocence through 14 years on death row and became the focus of an international debate on capital punishment, was executed today in Florida's electric chair.

Darden, 54, was convicted of fatally shooting Lakeland businessman James C. Turman while robbing his wife of $15 in September 1973.

Earlier today, Wayne Robert Felde was executed in Louisiana's electric chair for the 1978 murder of a policeman.

It was the first time two inmates were executed the same day in the United States since Aug. 28, when three murderers were put to death, in Florida, Alabama and Utah.

Darden refused his last meal this morning, said prison spokesman Bob Macmaster. By 6 a.m., Darden had showered, and his head and lower right leg were shaved to facilitate the flow of electricity, the spokesman said.

On Monday, the U.S. Supreme Court, the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, a federal judge and the state Supreme Court rejected Darden's appeals.

To the end, Darden denied killing Turman.

"If I had committed such a crime, I would have a guilty conscience all these years. I could not have lived with it," he said in an interview taped Monday and shown on ABC-TV's "Nightline."

His last hope was a reprieve from Gov. Bob Martinez, who signed Darden's seventh black-bordered death warrant last week and said Monday he had no plans to issue a stay.

"I think of the victim at a moment like this and the family which was destroyed," Martinez said. "A hideous murder took place and that's what I keep in mind. Just because it's 15 years later, that doesn't reduce a crime that was committed at the time."

Early today, about 40 people gathered in a cow pasture across from the Florida State Prison to protest the execution.

The opponents maintained silence after 7 o'clock while the execution took place, then began singing "We Shall Overcome."

Helen Turman Baum, the victim's widow who has since remarried, told Lakeland radio station WQNN she had no doubts about Darden's guilt.

"I think it was all very fair, and Darden was the one who did it. I was in the store alone with him for a long time before Jim came in and was shot," she said. "His (Darden's) face is still impressed in the back of my memory. I can't get it out."

Ag outlook said brighter

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Texas (AP) — The chairman of the U.S. House Agriculture Committee said he is convinced that a battle to repeal or delay the 15-cent-per-gallon diesel fuel tax will be successful.

"I feel something is going to be done," said Rep. Kika de La Garza of Texas, who called the action a top priority for farmers and ranchers.

The Democrat from Mission addressed an agriculture forum at the Sulphur Springs Civic Center Monday along with U.S. Rep. Jim Chapman and the president of the Texas Farm Bureau. The forum was sponsored by the Hopkins County Chamber of Commerce.

Chapman, a Sulphur Springs Democrat, and S.M. True Jr., who heads the state Farm Bureau, said efforts are being aimed at repealing or delaying implementation of the law, which provides a break on off-road farm vehicle diesel fuel prices.

Under the current law, producers must continue to pay the tax and then file for a refund, they said.

Chapman said the proposal to alter the budget reconciliation act, which contains the excise tax, should be on President Reagan's desk by April 1.

"It's usually very unusual for the Congress to act quickly," he said. But measures are needed to "do something about the outrageous provisions of that law."

The Sherman Antitrust Act was passed in 1890.

Amitie Study Club meets

Amitie Study Club met Thursday for a video tape of Sarah Weddington speaking at the Phi Theta Kappa Honors Institute in Charlottesville, Va., last summer.

Weddington focused on the ways we can make a difference in the world around us. She spoke of her appeal to the Supreme Court in the abortion case, Roe vs. Way, and the many ways that case has affected women's lives. Pregnant teachers are no longer fired because of that decision.

She also spoke of her service in the White House during Carter's administration. She has served on the Texas Legislature and is now on staff at the University of Texas. She was the featured speaker at the PTK State Convention in Tyler.

During the business session, members were reminded of the trash pick-up planned for April 23. Members are to meet at 10 a. m. and bring a sack lunch.

The April club meeting will feature a baked potato supper at the home of Jan Thomas. Also the president of the American Cancer Society, Thomas will show a video concerning skin cancer.

Officer installation will be held May 10.

Cue-bidding to show control

No one reading this column would be surprised to hear that it is more difficult to reach the right contract when the opposing opening bid is three spades. What should South bid when that pre-empt is passed around to him? If North had as little as the spade ace, there would probably be nine tricks in no-trump, but a takeout double by South could result in disaster. For example, with a different holding, North might jump to five diamonds, a contract that has no chance. Although South's bid of four clubs carries the partnership beyond a possible three no-trump contract, that bid seems correct. Now examine the position of North, who passed immediately over West's pre-emptive opening.

North certainly has sufficient values to bid five clubs, but note that it costs nothing for North to cue-bid four spades along the way. The message conveyed is simple. "Partner, I have more than enough to raise you to five clubs, and I can also stop the opponents from taking the first two spade tricks. If you have a super sound hand, maybe we have a slam. After the cue-bid by North, it is easy for South to bid six."

Here is the lesson for today. When you have a sound raise to game after partner has overcalled an opponent's weak pre-empt, cue-bid a control in the enemy suit to give your side a chance to bid and make a slam.

Hospital stays getting shorter

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Hospital stays for common surgical procedures have been cut dramatically since 1960, says Dr. Paul Griner, director of the University of Rochester's Strong Memorial Hospital.

A gall bladder removal hospitalized patients for 10-14 days in 1960. Today, these patients leave in 4-5 days. Cataract surgery, which confined patients 3-5 days in 1960, is now performed on an outpatient basis. Hernia repairs used to keep patients in bed for 3-4 days. Now, a person can have the operation in the morning and return to work that afternoon.

Griner says today's "better anesthesia, better sutures and other surgical materials" make a stronger wound. Therefore, patients don't have to lie around for 4-5 days waiting for healing to take place.

Wildcats hail All-Americans

NEW YORK (AP) - Arizona Coach Lute Olson sees a lesson for basketball teams in his having a player on both the first and second All-America teams.

Junior forward Sean Elliott was named to the first team on Monday and senior guard Steve Kerr was on the second team. Olson said having two players of such high caliber has not been a problem.

"The biggest thing is they're all so completely unselfish. They don't care who scores," Olson said after learning the two players from his second-ranked Wildcats were chosen. "Individual honors are the least of their concern but it's interesting to see individual honors go with teams that perform well and it's a great lesson for teams to learn."

Joining Elliott on the first team, which was selected by a 20-member panel of sportswriters from the AP and its member newspapers, were seniors Danny Manning of Kansas, Hersey Hawkins of Bradley and Gary Grant of Michigan and sophomore forward J.R. Reid of North Carolina.

Elliott averaged 19 points and 5.8 rebounds for the Wildcats who were ranked No. 1 for six weeks this season.

The 6-foot-10 Manning, named to the first team for the second straight year, managed a fine senior season despite injury and academic problems that plagued the Jayhawks.

"I think he's had a phenomenal year considering we've had so many problems this year, and it's added extra responsibility to Danny, and he's done a tremendous job," Kansas Coach Larry Brown said.

Manning, named Big Eight player of the year as a sophomore and junior, averaged 22.3 points and 8.9 rebounds this season.

Hawkins, a 6-3 guard, enters tournament play with a 36.0 scoring average, the highest since Freeman Williams of Portland State averaged 38.8 in 1977. He's also the first player to score 1,000 points in a season since Williams 11 years ago.

"He's the consummate collegiate player because he has an absolute great demeanor for the game and has seen every type of defense thrown at him and he's unflappable, yet remarkably consistent, inasmuch as he's averaging 36 points," Bradley Coach Stan Albeck said of Hawkins.

Grant averaged 22 points and 6.9 assists this year and led the Big Ten in steals three consecutive seasons.

Reid enjoyed a solid sophomore season. The 6-9 forward averaged 17.9 points and 8.7 rebounds while shooting 61 percent from the field.

Pittsburgh's Jerome Lane, who was voted to the third team as a sophomore last season, joined Kerr on the second team this year. Others on the second team were Temple freshman Mark Macon, Duke junior Danny Ferry and senior Jeff Grayer of Iowa State.

The third team was Sherman Douglas of Syracuse, Fennis Dembo of Wyoming, Byron Larkin of Xavier, Ohio, Will Perdue of Vanderbilt and Michael Smith of Brigham Young.

Longhorns' Weltlich fired despite winning last 9 of 12

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The University of Texas announced today that basketball coach Bob Weltlich has been fired after six seasons and an overall losing record.

"We're going to make a change in our basketball coaching position. Coach Weltlich will be reassigned to another position within the (athletic) department," said DeLoss Dodds, UT athletic director.

Dodds said the firing had been approved by university President William Cunningham.

Weltlich, who moved to Texas from Ole Miss in 1982, led the Longhorns to a 16-13 record this year, although they failed to make either of the post-season tournaments - the NCAA championships or the National Invitation Tournament.

Dodds said Weltlich hadn't indicated whether he would seek another coaching job or stay at UT.

The university's Men's Athletic Council decided Weltlich's fate on Monday. Dodds said he told Weltlich of the decision Monday evening. Weltlich then told his staff and began calling players.

Contacted at his home Monday night by the Austin American-Statesman, Weltlich told the newspaper, "I have no interest in talking to you. There's nothing I'm going to talk about."

Weltlich's six-year record at Texas was 77-98, and questions arose about his job security after the Longhorns lost to Rice and dropped to 7-9 overall and 1-3 in the Southwest Conference earlier this year. But Texas won nine of its last 12 games.

Dodds said UT officials wanted the program to be more competitive.

"The university's goal and expectation is to have a basketball program that is consistently a factor in the Southwest Conference and is competitive on the national level," Dodds said.

The athletic director said a committee would be assembled to "set the criteria" for hiring a new coach.

Dodds told a news conference today at the university that he had discussed the plan to fire Weltlich with several people associated with the basketball program.

The decision was based on the past six years, he said, as well as the university's long-range goals. Weltlich had two years remaining on his $74,475 a year, four-year contract. "When you evaluate a program, you look at a lot of different areas. You look at attendance, ticket sales, recruiting, coaching, public relations, academics," Dodds said.

The Longhorn basketball program lost $62,000 last year and has been plagued by slim attendance this season. Attendance at the 16,000-seat Erwin Center this year averaged 4,028 per game.

BASEBALL
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - A $2.3-million lawsuit against Cory Snyder of the Cleveland Indians over a bat he threw into the stands two years ago in a minor league game has been settled out of court.

The suit, filed by two women, stemmed from a minor league game in Rochester when Snyder was playing for the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League.

The women, Dorothy Matteson, then 61, of Rochester, and Deborah Schirtz, then 26, of Henrietta, claimed Snyder acted recklessly when he threw the bat into the stands during a game against the Rochester Red Wings.

Tigers face Brownwood; tourney opens Thursday

It's "Play Ball" time at Moffett Field in Towle Park again as the Snyder Baseball Tournament gets underway Thursday morning.

First, however, Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers have business to take care of in Brownwood. The Tigers meet the Lions at 4:15 p.m. today with Bart Morton (0-1), expected to get the call on the mound. Snyder takes a 4-3-1 record into the game, which is the Tigers' final tuneup before the Snyder Tournament, which is incidentally the final action before District 2-4A play.

Eight teams fill out the three-day tournament schedule, which ends with Saturday's 5:30 p.m. championship game.

Some solid talent takes the field in Thursday's 11 a.m. opener, as the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes and the Cubs of Brownfield battle. At 2 p.m., Big Spring matches up with Brownwood.

Coach Lewis' Tigers square off against Levelland at 5 p.m., and perennial playoff contender Pecos tests Vernon in the nightcap at 7 p.m.

Owners meeting continues

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) - NFL owners have defused part of a potential controversy by tabling their decision on what to do about the financial problems of the New England Patriots.

But they appear all set to transfer the St. Louis Cardinals to Phoenix.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle

said Monday that the Patriots sale would not be discussed at the sessions that will wind up here Thursday or Friday, largely because the case is being fought in the Boston courts. The Sullivan family that owns the team is an estimated $125 million in debt.

Rozelle said that while the matter will be watched closely, nothing will probably be done about the situation by the league this week.

"We don't want to do anything to interfere with their efforts to sell the team," Rozelle said. "But we continue to monitor the situation closely."

The owners are, however, finally expected to approve the move of the Cardinals to Phoenix despite the last-minute plea of a St. Louis civic group to disapprove it. The item is on the agenda for a session that begins today at noon EST.

Monday's session was basically used for agenda setting.

In addition to tabling the Patriots' vote, the owners also defused another potential controversy by indicating their opposition to liberalizing the rules for drafting undergraduates. Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys, said he was willing to go to court to preserve the system used in the NFL, the only major professional sports league which doesn't draft underclassmen.

Dear Abby

School 'Freshman Frolic' Too Formal for Principal's Taste

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a freshman in high school. Coming up in June is our Freshman Frolic, a formal dance for ninth-graders. Our principal just announced that she is banning the use of limousines to and from the Frolic. She has also banned the rental of tuxedos and full-length gowns. This has been allowed in all previous years.

The majority of our class does not believe that this is a fair decision. We feel that if the students' parents are willing to foot the bill for gown, tuxedo and limo, they should have the right to do so. We would rather not be driven by our parents, and we want to wear whatever we consider formal and nice.

Our principal has received calls for and against her decision. She explained that by allowing limousines, gowns and tuxedos, the students who can't afford them will stay home because they'll be embarrassed to arrive in an ordinary car and not dressed as fancy as others.

She also says that we will have the chance to do these expensive things in the upper grades. We feel that since it has been allowed before, and our parents are willing to pay for it, we should be entitled to enjoy such privileges. How do you feel about this?

FLUSTERED FRESHMAN,
WEST NEWBURY, MASS.

DEAR FLUSTERED: I hate to rain on your parade, but I can't believe that the parents of every ninth-grader can afford to hire a limo and rent a tuxedo. I agree with the principal. Too many children are rushing to grow up too fast these days. Thank heavens for one principal who is willing to say, "Whoa!"

DEAR ABBY: I understand that it is considered rude to talk to someone who is reading a newspaper or watching TV, and my husband says it's rude to talk at mealtimes.

When we're in the car, he always has the radio on, so we can't talk then. When he's in the garden, there is either the mower or the weed-wacker making noise, so it's useless to talk. At bedtime, it's "time to go to sleep," and other times he's at home, he's showering or shaving.

I have asked him to go for a walk with me, but he doesn't like to walk. So when are we supposed to discuss important matters — or unimportant ones?

SHUT OUT IN VICTORIA, B.C.

DEAR SHUT OUT: Good question. Why don't you schedule an "appointment" with your non-verbal man? I'm serious. Ask HIM. Perhaps counseling would bring to the surface the reason your husband consistently dodges conversing with you.

DEAR ABBY: I get so blasted angry when we go out to eat in a restaurant with a few couples, and one man in the group always collects the cash and tips from the others, then he pays the bill with his credit card.

It's always the same man. It's his way of deducting the whole amount as a "business expense." What's the protocol on this, please?

BURNED UP
IN BROOKLYN

DEAR BURNED UP: You could come right out and tell your chiseling friend how you feel about this chintzy maneuver. Or you could "facetiously" threaten to turn him in to the IRS. When he's aware that he's not getting away with it, he may change his style.

Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.

DALLAS (AP) — Costly legal fees were the reason Walker Railey decided not to contest a civil lawsuit filed by his mother-in-law that accuses him of the near-fatal choking attack on his wife, his attorney says.

"He told me that he had decided his assets would be best used in the support and maintenance of his children," said Doug Mulder, a defense attorney who represented Railey before a Dallas County grand jury investigating the attack.

Mulder said the former Methodist minister decided not to contest the lawsuit because of estimates it would cost nearly $100,000 in legal fees.

The suit was filed by Billie Jo Nicolai, seeking an undetermined amount of damages in the April attack on her daughter, Peggy Railey. Mrs. Railey remains in a coma in a Tyler nursing home.

Connally: Texas will cope

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Gov. John Connally says the nation will drift along this year while voters decide on a new president, leaving Texas to grapple alone with continuing economic problems.

Connally told members of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association on Monday night that he sees no real national leadership materializing until after the fall election.

Meanwhile, Texans will have to continue coping with the fallout from declining oil prices.

Connally, 70, is among those Texans hit hard by the depressed economy. He started a real estate and development business with former Texas Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes at the peak of the oil boom.

But the boom went bust, taking Connally, Barnes and others in tow. Connally filed personal and business bankruptcy petitions last July and he auctioned off most of his personal belongings in January to help pay his debts.

"I suppose I am in the shape I'm in today because I'm always an optimist," he told about 100 people attending the TDNA's Monday night dinner.

But his optimism fades when it comes to the world oil scenario.

Connally said he expects the U.S. will import even more foreign oil in the future and he foresees another major oil crisis in the next few years with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries substantially increasing the price of crude oil.

"They'll (OPEC) have us back right where they want us in another two to three years," he said.

Connally, who was a Democrat as governor but later switched parties, also said he didn't see much good coming out of Super Tuesday for Texas.

"I don't think Super Tuesday did what it was supposed to do (for Texas)," he said, adding that the presidential campaigns ended up in a maze of airport stops and media opportunities.

Mrs. Nicolai's attorney, Bill Arnold, said Monday he will seek a default judgment.

"The question now is, when do I want to go to court ...?" Arnold said. "It could be tomorrow or it could be a couple of months. It depends on Peggy's best interests. I'm not going to run my schedule according to Walker's schedule."

Arnold said when he formally seeks a default judgment he will ask for a jury trial to determine damages.

Railey's father-in-law said he was disappointed there was no response to the lawsuit.

"We were hopeful, but nothing came of it," Bill Nicolai said.

"We thought he might come through and answer some of our questions. It sure would help, but it didn't turn out that way," he said in a Monday night telephone interview from his rural Smith County home. "It really is disappointing. I guess we're just going to have to keep waiting."

Without a response, a judge could rule against the former senior minister of the First United Methodist Church of Dallas and award damages in his absence.

Railey, 40, was not charged in the April 21, 1987, attack, although both his attorney and Dallas County Assistant District Attorney Norm Kinne identified him the prime suspect.

But Railey refused to cooperate with police, denying his involvement and then invoking his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination 43 times when questioned by a grand jury.

Dallas psychologist Lucy Papillon told the same grand jury that she and Railey were roman-tically involved and had discussed marriage before the attack.

Mrs. Railey, 39, never regained consciousness after she was found on the floor of her garage last April. Her father said Monday night that her condition has not changed.

Railey is now living in San Francisco, where he rented an apartment with Ms. Papillon, and was served with notice of the Feb. 2 lawsuit in California, Arnold said.

Mulder called the lawsuit filed by Mrs. Nicolai a "publicity stunt" and predicted Railey could win if he chose to spend $50,000 to $100,000 in legal fees.

A program on ABC News' "20/20" last week outlined events surrounding the attack on Mrs. Railey.

Railey assigned his wife's guardianship to her mother, and that of his two children, ages 5 and 2, to family friends in Dallas.

Mattox rules in favor of courthouse

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox has ruled that Ector County Commissioners must meet in the courthouse, rather than an annex, but a spokesman for his office said it was uncertain whether that opinion would be applied statewide.

Commissioners in Tarrant, Harris and Dallas counties for some time have been meeting in buildings separate from the courthouses.

Elna Christopher, a spokeswoman for Mattox, said Monday that the ruling doesn't necessarily apply to other counties.

Earlier, the Odessa American reported in a copyright story that the opinion could invalidate hundreds of decisions on local bond issues and tax levies in courts throughout the state meeting in courthouse annexes.

Attorneys representing those counties said they didn't expect to be affected by the opinion, but if there were a problem, it could probably be solved through legislation.

Federal judge denies Texas stay in lawsuit

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — State attorneys plan to persist with their lawsuit against the U.S. Department of Agriculture despite two setbacks in less than a week in their efforts to keep Florida citrus out of Texas.

"Of course I'm not optimistic after having two stays denied," said Renea Hicks, a special assistant Texas attorney general who heading up the state's case.

Attorneys for Texas sued U.S. Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng on Wednesday, accusing the U.S. Department of Agriculture of violating its own rules when on Feb. 11 it lifted a 3½-year quarantine on shipments of Florida citrus to other citrus-producing areas.

Texas maintains that the USDA did not provide the opportunity for comment required by the Administrative Procedures Act.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela on Monday denied Texas' request for a stay of the Feb. 11 USDA ruling, pending the outcome of the lawsuit. The judge also denied a stay last Wednesday.

The judge gave Texas five days to provide him its body of evidence, from which he will make a ruling.

Hicks said the state may appeal if it loses at this level.

Texas officials want to keep Florida citrus out because they say they are not convinced an outbreak of bacterial citrus canker has been controlled in Florida.

USDA established the quarantine on fruit from Florida after the disease was discovered there in August 1984. Canker, which comes in different strains, can cause defoliation of trees, lesions that render the fruit unmarketable and premature dropping of fruit from trees.

Florida officials say that the most prevalent form of canker, the nursery strain, is not a threat to mature, producing groves.

Richard Gaskalla, assistant director for the Florida Department of Agriculture's division of plant industry, said he did not know of any new evidence that had been brought forward.

A Gulf Coast area of Florida infested with the aggressive Asiatic strain of canker will remain under quarantine.

"We feel like that if we can get a federal court to address whether the USDA violated their own administrative procedures, we think we'll prevail," said Ray Prewett, executive vice president of McAllen-based Texas Citrus Mutual, a growers' organization, which has joined the state in its lawsuit against Lyng.

Bobby McKown, Prewett's counterpart with Florida Citrus Mutual, said Florida suspended shipments of fresh citrus to Texas, California, Arizona and Louisiana on Friday, pending the outcome of Monday's hearing.

"We feel much encouraged and we're going to commence shipping today fruit from Florida to the citrus producing states," McKown said.

Texas officials want at least to keep the fruit out of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where the state's $65 million industry is concentrated in the three southern-most counties.

Last fall, the USDA published a proposal to lift the Florida quarantine, but on Jan. 5 withdrew the proposal after new canker outbreaks were discovered. Then on Feb. 11, it issued a new rule lifting ban.

On Feb. 15, four days after USDA lifted the quarantine, Texas imposed an emergency 30-day quarantine on fresh Florida citrus, and set up highway roadblocks.

But a federal judge in Austin on March 1 overturned the Texas quarantine, ruling the federal regulation took precedence over the state.

Gen. George Washington took command of the Continental Army in 1775 at Cambridge, Mass.

The best shoppers are newspaper readers.

The Texas Poll research data confirm once again a basic fact of marketing life:

Newspapers provide the most efficient means of reaching the best prospects in Texas.

Daily and Sunday newspaper readership is strong. The majority of adults in Texas read a daily newspaper everyday of the week; two thirds read every Sunday. In terms of where Texans get most of their shopping information, newspaper leads mail by more than 2 to 1 and TV by almost 3 to 1.

More good news — readership is even stronger among up-scale demographic groups. The highest income, occupation, and education groups are the strongest newspaper readership groups.
