

Cutbacks on water directed tomorrow as 'tie-in' finished

At 11 p.m. Tuesday, the water supply from Lake J.B. Thomas is to be closed off, leaving the city dependent on its stored reserve of water at least through Wednesday.

The shutoff will allow the "tie-in" of a new rapid mix basin at the water treatment plant. If all goes as planned, water from the lake should be flowing again by sunrise Thursday.

Until that time, however, individuals served by Snyder water are asked to cutback on any non-essential water uses. This includes watering lawns or gardens and washing cars.

City officials will be "topping off" all water storage facilities here during the day Tuesday. These equal an estimated 3.7 million gallons.

The work prompting the water curtailment is the installation of a new rapid mix basin at the water treatment plant. This is a small holding area where the chemicals used to treat the lake water can be mixed rapidly.

City crews and staffers with Decker Construction Company of Abilene will be installing a 24-inch loop connecting the rapid mix basin into the 21-inch line bringing water from Lake Thomas.

Cable TV buyers protest to council sale is jeopardized

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer

City council members Monday heard Landmark Cablevision representatives protest the city's proposal of a new franchise contract to go with the sale of SCAT TV Cable to Landmark.

The remarks were offered during a two-hour work session concerning the new cable TV franchise.

Area Landmark manager Dale Mathis of Colorado City, attorney Chuck Jones of Sweetwater and Sweetwater certified public accountant Ronnie Williams protested that the $7.2-million transaction is losing $1,500 per day in interest while the new franchise contract is being developed.

"I'm afraid that if we continue to put these people off, we could lose our buyer," the accountant said. "I'm sure that whoever has loaned them the $7.2 million has taken a very close look at their character and ability to perform."

Williams proposed that the existing 20-year-old franchise contract with SCAT be transferred. See CABLE, page 9

Bond election slated May 7 for TDC lines

City councilmen Monday night set May 7 for a $2,700,000 revenue bond election to finance the extension of water and sewer services to the Texas Department of Corrections unit near Snyder.

According to the resolution that was unanimously passed, balloting will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. on May 7, a Saturday, at city hall, with voters asked to decide the issue in two parts — revenue bond issuances of $1,375,000 each for the water and sewer extensions.

At Monday's session, City Secretary Jeanne Johnson agreed with assessments by the Texas Water Development Board staff in Austin last week that the city will have sufficient revenues to pay off the bonds without an increase in either city taxes or utility rates.

Both the water and sewer line projects will be 12-inch lines stretching more than five miles northeast of Snyder to the 1,000-man TDC unit. Construction on it is scheduled to begin later this spring.

City Engineer Don Osborn said the lines, booster pump station, elevated storage tank near the unit and other aspects of the utility extensions would still be adequate if the unit were quadrupled in size.

Ollie Peek was designated election judge and Dora White the alternate judge for the election.

Three filings add to contested races

With one day remaining to file, three more candidates have surfaced here for Snyder-based boards which face May 7 elections.

The new filings create a three-man race for place 5 on the Western Texas College board and two contested spots on the Snyder school board slate.

Wednesday is the final day to file for nine expiring terms and one unexpired term on the three Snyder-based boards, which include the Snyder city council. To date, the council has no contested races.

At WTC, newly filed is John Fagin, 57, an ex-mayor of Snyder who currently serves on the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

He seeks place 5, the seat to be vacated by Edwin Parks, who is not seeking re-election. Also announced for this board seat are Dennis Ball and Bob O'Day.

A resident of Snyder the past 20 years, Fagin lives at 2709 35th St. He is a petroleum engineer now employed as a private consultant.

Also newly announced for the Snyder school board are, in place 5, Mrs. Wayland (Ann) Walton; and, for place 3, Ruben C. Martinez.

Walton, age 54, is the assistant county auditor for Scurry County. She has lived in single member district 5—comprised of all rural areas of the school district—some 28 years.

Also announced for place 5 is Lesa Oudt. The board post is the single member district seat vacated by the transfer of Ben Wilcox.

Martinez, 38, also ran for the school board in a special election last April and is again seeking place 3.

He lives at 403 35th St. and has been a resident of the area he seeks to represent some 29 years. Locally, he is president of Kalko Oil Field Services.

Also announced for place 3 is Terry Martin. The post is now held by Charlene Light who has indicated she will not seek re-election.

Disaster to be 'only a drill'

Snyder residents monitoring police scanner radios Wednesday are reminded that any transmissions they hear related to a tornado striking the city are part of a mock disaster drill.

The exercise, which will involve a large segment of individuals who would normally be called on in the event of an emergency, is planned from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The second half of the exercise conducted Wednesday afternoon will primarily focus on the response of staffers at Cogdell Memorial Hospital, where "victims" will be transported.

Other individuals to be involved in the drill will be staffers with the ambulance service, fire department, sheriff's office, police department, city street crews, workers from TU Electric and Lone Star Gas as well as the members of the Snyder Amateur Radio Club.

All radio transmissions related to the exercise will be prefaced with the remark, "This is a drill." Officials said the tornado warning system will not be sounded and emergency vehicles used during the test will not employ flashing lights.

Purpose of the exercise is to evaluate the city's emergency management plan and to maintain the federally-funded portion of this plan.

The exercise Wednesday is scheduled regardless of weather conditions, planners say.

Rural filings reported here

The filing deadline is Wednesday for three seats on the Hermleigh school board and two seats on the Ira school board.

As of Tuesday morning, none had filed for the at-large board seats at Hermleigh. Anyone wishing to file may do so at the superintendent's office.

Four persons have filed at Ira, one an incumbent, Ray Sorrells for place 4. He will be opposed by Bob Barbee. In place 5, Sidney Wall will run against Joe Pierce.

At Hermleigh, the three incumbents with expiring terms are Doug Foster, Jerry Ganaway and Carol Haynes. Hermleigh school board members run at-large and the top three vote-getters will be elected.

Kidnapping trial begins

An eight-woman, four-man jury in 132nd District Court Tuesday heard testimony from a 25-year-old witness that he was "terrorized" at gunpoint here last Oct. 27 by a suspect now on trial for aggravated kidnapping.

Facing the charge is Grady A. Davis, the third of three suspects indicted by a Scurry County grand jury for the alleged kidnapping of Lafayette T. Griffin.

According to court testimony, Griffin was abducted briefly at gunpoint as the three searched for a relative of Griffin's who, they said, took $60 from one of the men in order to purchase cocaine.

Davis has been characterized as "assisting" the other two in See TRIAL, page 9

Special prosecutor implicated

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The disclosure that a former federal prosecutor may have fabricated death threats against herself and a magistrate during an extradition case has shocked her former colleagues.

On Monday, U.S. Attorney Samuel A. Alito Jr. said that Judy Russell allegedly cut out words from newspapers to form threatening messages that she received in the mail during the case she was handling against two Sikhs accused of terrorism in India.

A search of her house turned up similar threatening messages in a travel bag and scissors apparently used to clip newspapers and magazines, Alito said.

No charges were filed, but an investigation was continuing, he said.

Few lawyers in the U.S. attorney's office and in private practice would speak publicly, but almost all interviewed Monday said Ms. Russell had been a highly intelligent and hard-driven assistant U.S. attorney.

"I've been sick over this thing ever since I found out about a week and a half ago," said Thomas G. Roth, one of Ms. Russell's three partners who left the U.S. attorney's office with her last summer to form their own firm.

After leaving, Ms. Russell was appointed a special assistant U.S. attorney to enable her to continue with the case against the Sikhs, Ranjit Singh Gill, 25, and Sukhminder Singh, 26.

Singh's attorney, Ronald Kuby, called Monday's disclosures "clearly the most astounding thing I've heard" and said he would seek to have all extradition proceedings against the men dropped.

During the case, Kuby had strongly denied that any supporters of the Sikhs were behind the threats, and had suggested the Indian government may be

Mistrial declared before trial starts

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — It was a mistrial before it was ever a trial.

That's what happened Monday when a jailer escorted a chained and handcuffed murder defendant past a group of prospective jurors.

James Randall Hubbard, 29, was to be tried in the Dec. 31, 1987 stabbing death of Darrin Louis Spiess.

District Judge Temple Driver declared a mistrial in the case after learning that Hubbard had been led past prospective jurors.

A new trial was set for April 4. Driver and attorneys said appellate courts have declared mistrials in cases in which defendants are seen by the jury in chains or wearing jail clothes.

"The information that I have is that (Hubbard) was not brought (in chains) to the courtroom, but it was an anteroom," said Wichita County Sheriff Tom Callahan, who said all of the blame should not be placed on the jailer.

"Whoever called (up to the jail) did not advise that the prospective jurors were sitting around outside (of the courtroom)," Callahan said. "I think it was a lack of coordination of all parties concerned."

Callahan said later he met with jailers and other sheriff's department employees to review procedures for bringing prisoners to the courtroom for trials.

"We've taken steps to ensure that this doesn't happen again," Callahan said. "It's a very unfortunate situation that so many people were inconvenienced and that the money was spent" on the jury panel.

Wichita County Public Defender Charlotte Harris, Hubbard's attorney who was granted a protective order earlier in the case to limit publicity, declined comment on Monday's mistrial.

Harris, who asked Driver to declare the mistrial, said she is considering filing a motion for a change of venue based on heightened publicity.

Prosecutor Ed Lane said mistrials have been granted in the past based on jurors or potential jurors seeing a defendant in chains, but Monday's trial date was nipped in the bud.

appearance of impropriety."

During the hearings, Ms. Russell did not specifically accuse the two men of having sent the notes, but cited the death threats in requesting added security.

Sharpshooters lined nearby rooftops, observers passed through two metal detectors, dozens of U.S. marshals attended and nearby streets were closed.

The Justice Department's Department of Public Integrity is handling the investigation of the 36-year-old Ms. Russell, the former deputy chief of the U.S. attorney's Criminal Division, Alito said.

Robert J. Fettweis, Ms. Russell's attorney and former colleague in the U.S. attorney's office, said she was in a private hospital. He would not comment on any aspect of the case or the nature of her hospitalization.

The disclosure of the investigation came during a court session requested by Alito to "correct and supplement" the record regarding the threats.

Suspicious about the threats were raised when Ms. Russell told FBI agents on Feb. 5 that a letter saying "No more warning Federal Court death for you" was hand-delivered to the hotel where she was under 24-hour guard.

Dear Abby

Cadet's Little Joke Becomes Big Embarrassment in Print

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am the cadet at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs who wrote to you saying I had been compensated twice for the same medical bill, and was torn between the $129 and my honor. I joked that it was such a small amount compared to the national debt, so why not keep it?

It's true: I was compensated twice for the same medical bill, but never was there the slightest doubt as to what the appropriate action should be. However, one of my classmates kiddingly suggested I write to Dear Abby and ask what I should do about this "windfall." That's when I hastily scribbled my "problem" to you in just on a postcard — which was accidentally mailed!

Can you imagine how terrible I felt when I saw my words published in your column in both the Rocky Mountain News and the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph? Fortunately, I didn't sign my name — only "A Cadet." However, I felt it was my duty to inform my commanding officer that I had written that piece, which reflected on the honor of all the cadets at the Air Force Academy.

I will probably not be given any punishment from the Air Force, but the guilt weighs heavily on my heart for embarrassing my classmates before the entire country.

It is for that reason that I beg you to print this apology. The cadets of the Air Force Academy are considered among the finest group of young people in the United States, and we all live by this honor code: "We will not lie, steal or cheat, nor tolerate among us anyone who does."

I am signing my real name, but if you prefer to withhold it, I am also.

A CONTRITE CADET,
AIR FORCE ACADEMY,
COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.

DEAR CONTRITE CADET: Thank you for identifying yourself. I have spoken with Col. Stewart S. Duncan, director of public affairs at the Air Force Academy, and he informs me that you are a gentleman, a very good student and an honorable man. Now all is forgiven.

DEAR ABBY: In response to your column asking readers to write to our men and women who were stationed overseas during the holidays, the students of Cahaba Heights Community School in Birmingham, Ala., mailed 800 cards, letters and drawings to the crew aboard the USS Coral Sea. Thank you for the idea, Abby.

In some of the letters, the spelling was pretty bad and the grammar was atrocious, but the messages were loving and poignant.

The most touching letter was from a little girl in the second grade. She sent her love and closed with: "I hope you have a safe war."

KETTI MILLER,
LIBRARIAN

DEAR ABBY: I almost swallowed my false teeth when I read your comment that lieutenant colonels "wore" oak leaves. Abby, Adam and Eve wore fig leaves, but would a lieutenant colonel wear an oak leaf? Never!

I enclose a photocopy of a page from the Washington State University Handbook for Master Gardeners, and for comparison, a copy of my lieutenant colonel's insignia (maple leaf). Note, please, that the oak leaves are pinnately lobed, while maple leaves are palmately lobed.

MARSHALL L. SHELTON,
LT. COL. USAF, RET.,
YACOLT, WASH.

DEAR MARSHALL: Shades of hemlock! I didn't know my pinnately not my palmately, and for that I am totally penitent. You can be sure you're not the only reader who wrote to correct my error. But you were the first, and I thank you.

Witnesses say no need to hire outside workers

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — There is no need to allow employers to hire workers from outside the United States to do seasonal farm work because there is no shortage of migrant farmworkers, witnesses have told a Texas House subcommittee.

Migrant workers crowded into a hearing room Monday to tell the Subcommittee on Labor and Employment Practices that Texas migrant workers are willing and able to travel to other states to do the harvesting of farm crops.

Testimony concerned revisions in a federal program which over the past decade has allowed employers to hire temporary workers from foreign countries for seasonal farm work.

Simplifications in the program (formerly called the H2 and now known as the H2A program) under the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 will cause many employers to consider hiring illegal aliens before even looking for workers in the United States, witnesses said.

State Rep. Lloyd Criss, subcommittee chairman, said one purpose of the hearing was to show the federal government that there are farm workers in Texas who are willing to travel to other states. "There's plenty of workers here and in the United States," said Criss. "There's no sense in not giving them the opportunity to work. They don't need to open it up and bring workers in from Mexico."

Criss said he would like to see a referral system set up through the Texas Employment Commission that would give American workers' applications first consideration.

A Lower Rio Grande Valley migrant worker told the subcommittee that employers like to hire illegal aliens because "they are easily intimidated and don't cause trouble."

Texas Parks & Wildlife has controversy to contend with AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has a new controversy on its hands — a variety of tropical fish whose rapid spread throughout Texas streams is cheered by some fishermen and feared by others.

Officials of the state agency said they plan to meet soon with representatives of the state's aquaculture industry to decide what to do about tilapia, a rapidly multiplying fish that can reach weights of 4 or 5 pounds and compete with native species for habitat.

"It's a fish that's potentially dangerous to the sport fishes of Texas and so, under code, we are obligated to return it to the potentially harmful list," said Nick Carter, chief of inland fisheries with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Essentially, they suppress the reproduction of largemouth bass and other species," Carter said. Proponents contend that the fish is excellent forage for game species in private lakes, is attractive for human consumption and has the potential to be a big industry in Texas.

"It's the most illogical thing that Parks and Wildlife has ever come up with," said Kenneth Zwahr, president of Lakes of Danbury, a recreational fishing and aquaculture operation near Angleton.

Putting tilapia under the proposed restrictions "would tremendously damage our ability to have a good sport fishing operation like we do," Zwahr said. "And 40 percent of our sales are tilapia to other private landowners. It would put us out of business."

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, which oversees the state's game and fish agency, has directed the department staff to meet with aquaculturists and work out a compromise, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported Monday.

Carter said he hopes to return to the commission with a proposal in May.

There are more than 180 species of tilapia, a member of the cichlid family native to Africa. First introduced into the United States as aquarium fish, tilapia became the subject of aquaculture experiments in the late 1950s. Primarily vegetarians, tilapia were touted for aquatic vegetation control in farm ponds, though they generally feed on nonvascular plants.

Three species of tilapia are found in Texas, with the first recorded when a member of the Texas Game and Fish Commission caught one in the San Marcos River in 1959.

By 1978, tilapia inhabited 14 reservoirs and three rivers in Texas.

Biologists theorize that the fish escaped from overflowing farm ponds. The fish also were introduced in some waters by recreational anglers who used them for bait.

Although they had been prohibited in Texas for years, two species — blue and Mozambique tilapia — were removed from the restricted fish list in 1979 because they were already established in Texas and aquaculturists wanted to experiment with them.

Since their removal from the restricted list, tilapia have spread to 13 more lakes as well as the lower Laguna Madre on the South Texas Gulf Coast.

Did Thomas Jefferson invent the news leak?

WASHINGTON (AP) — As a capital institution, leaking confidential information to the press has a rich heritage and long roots.
Those roots may be longer than one might think.
The news leak, in fact, may stretch back to Thomas Jefferson, or at least his political allies.
That possibility was made clear last week as the Senate was reminded that the day marked the 188th anniversary — March 18, 1800 — of the issuing of the very first contempt of Congress citation.
Thomas Duane, editor of the Philadelphia Aurora, was cited for contempt for having failed to appear as ordered to explain how he had obtained the text of a controversial but secret Senate bill and caused it to be published.
The Senate in that era still met in secret and all of its deliberations were held to be private, not public matters.
According to Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas and Senate historians, the secret bill was the product of the Senate's Federalist majority and concerned a bid to change the method of settling disputes over presidential electors.
Jefferson was vice president and leader of the Democratic-Republican Party. His supporters feared a plot to deny him the presidency in the upcoming elections.
So, Dole said, "Jefferson's allies in the Senate leaked a copy of the bill to William Duane."
"Offended Federalists demanded an investigation of Duane and his illicit sources," Dole said.
Vice President Jefferson, as the Senate's presiding officer, was directed to read Duane a list of prepared questions about who had given him the bill, he said.

Duane asked for additional time to seek counsel, a request Jefferson quickly granted.
"That was the last the Senate saw of William Duane," Dole recounted. "When he failed to reappear, the Senate issued a contempt citation in his name. Duane hid out through the remainder of the congressional session."
When the new Congress convened the situation had changed. Jefferson had won the White House and his party had captured majorities in both the Senate and House.
"Needless to say," said Dole, "the new Senate majority had no intention of pursuing charges of contempt against William Duane."
The first congressional investigation of a news leak was quietly shelved.

Williams, Travis top winners

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — Soft-spoken gentleman cowboy Randy Travis won the most trophies but the Academy of Country Music voted once again the heartland's rowdy leader of song, Hank Williams Jr., its favorite entertainer.
It was the second consecutive Entertainer of the Year trophy for the man nicknamed Bocephus, the 38-year-old son of country music great Hank Williams.
"This is what my momma wanted all the time... She would be so proud and, of course, my daddy, I know he'd be proud," Williams said after taking the top honor Monday night at Knott's Berry Farm.
The 23rd annual awards presentation was televised nationally by NBC.

Travis, 28, won three awards: top male singer, song and single of the year for his hit, "Forever and Ever, Amen."
"It's still a big thing to keep winning. It makes me quite nervous. It doesn't feel any different than it did the first time," said Travis, who last year won four awards on the strength of the song "On The Other Hand."
Dolly Parton, Emmylou Harris and Linda Ronstadt won the album trophy for "Trio." The mother-daughter duo The Judds took the duet trophy. Los Angeles-based Highway 101 was best group, and Reba McEntire won top female vocalist for the fourth time.

"It's like they're saying 'Reb, you still got it,' and that's nice," Miss McEntire said.
Ricky Van Shelton won for new male vocalist.
K.T. Oslin was the new female vocalist and won the video honor for "80's Ladies."
"It's better than wonderful. It's marvelous," Van Shelton said. "It means you've finally arrived. It means you're there."

Roger Miller received the non-competitive Pioneer Award.
Highway 101's group award marked the second consecutive loss in that category for perennial favorite Alabama, although Highway member Cactus Moser didn't think the awards should be considered a horse race.
"I don't feel like we beat them," Moser said. "It's wonderful to be recognized."
Williams and Travis faced off in Entertainer of the Year, vocalist, single, song, album and video categories.
"It's a great feeling but it comes with a lot of work," Williams said of his victory.

New-fangled gadgets

Inventive bridge minds have given special meanings to bids whose traditional use is infrequent. Using special bids places a burden on the memory of the partnership and requires full disclosure to the opponents. Today's tournament player must not only be familiar with his own agreements, but must also have a rudimentary knowledge of a wide range of conventional understandings that he may encounter. Today's deal shows how modern bidding got North-South to their slam.
Three hearts by North was an unusual jump reverse, showing strong spade support and a singleton heart. South marked time with a three-spade bid, hoping that North would show a club control. When North cue-bid clubs, South asked for aces. But the partnership was not using ordinary Blackwood, but Roman key-card Blackwood, in which the king of the agreed-upon trump suit counts as a fifth ace. In addition, the step-responses are different. Thus five clubs — the cheapest response — shows either no key cards or three. It is up to the partner asking for key cards to determine which it is. That was easy. Since South knew that North could not have a strong hand with no key cards, he assumed three key cards and bid six spades.
The slam would succeed even without the king of clubs, since declarer would be able to draw trumps and throw a club loser on the dummy's long diamonds. That shows the value of a singleton when there is a good trump fit and first-round controls in the combined hands.

Macy irons out wrinkles

NEW YORK (AP) — Still smarting from a major courtroom defeat last week, Campeau Corp. says it is working on other options in its battle to acquire Federated Department Stores Inc.
Campeau got another legal setback on Monday and faces further courtroom entanglements over its attempt to acquire Federated, which has accepted a rival offer from R.H. Macy & Co. Inc.
A federal judge on Monday rebuffed Campeau's proposal to extend its $6.18 billion tender offer so it would expire simultaneously with Macy's offer, if he removed Federated's "poison pill" takeover defense.
Judge Leonard Sand, in a closed-door session, said the poison pill would remain in place at least until Federated makes a final recommendation to its shareholders, said Campeau spokeswoman Nancy Raeside.
In a key ruling on Friday, the judge had denied Campeau's request to block the use of Federated's poison pill, which Campeau says will prevent it from completing any takeover of Federated.
The defense makes a takeover prohibitively expensive by allowing Federated shareholders to buy more of the company's stock at a steep discount.
Margaret Nicolaidis, a Campeau spokeswoman, said the Toronto-based developer was "definitely working on other options." She said she could not elaborate on what those options were.

However, there were reports that Campeau was considering sweetening its bid or proposing a friendly merger. Neither tactic has met with success in the past during the company's months-long quest for Federated.
In another matter, Judge Sand scheduled a Wednesday hearing over a Macy complaint that Campeau made false statements in full-page advertisements in Thursday editions of the New York Times and Wall Street Journal.
Separately, Macy announced that the waiting period during which the federal government could ask for information about the possible antitrust implications of a Macy-Federated merger had expired with no further requests. A request would extend the waiting period automatically.
The retailer also confirmed it had agreed to sell 11 of Federated's 14 Abraham & Straus stores if it wins the takeover fight. The agreement, reached with New York state Attorney General Robert Abrams over the weekend, calls for Macy to divest New York-area A&S stores because they are in direct competition with Macy branches.

LAFF-A-DAY

DENNIS THE MENACE

Battered Tigers test Pecos in district opener at 7 p.m.

Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers, fresh from a consolation victory in their own tournament, open District 2-4A play tonight in not-so-fresh condition.

An auto accident Monday left pitcher Lee Fletcher and center fielder Bert Merritt questionable at best for the 7 p.m. game with Pecos at Moffett Field. Merritt, who apparently had stitches near an eye and on an arm, will not be listed as a starter. Fletcher, who suffered a bruised back among other minor injuries, will likely be given a chance to throw, but will not hit.

Willie Garcia will come in as designated hitter for Fletcher. Sophomore hurler Bart Morton will be ready if Fletcher can't pitch.

"The important thing is they weren't seriously hurt," said Coach Lewis. "The accident could have been a lot worse. As far as the team is concerned, we'll have to wait and see."

Brad Gartman, the senior short stop, will lead off for the Tigers tonight. He'll be followed by left fielder Kevin Dollins, Van Echols at second base, Randy Morris at right field, Bert Otto at third base and David Martinez at first. Fletcher will get the start on the mound with Garcia hitting for him. Tracy Odom will catch and bat eighth. Tracy Brazier will start in center field.

Fletcher will go into the game with a 3-3 record which includes one save. The junior righthander saw limited action in last week's tournament.

Pecos won third place in the Snyder Tournament and Lewis said the Eagles are impressive, as usual.

"They seem like the same style team as Pecos always seems to have. They are still fundamentally sound. They didn't win our tournament but I thought they executed as well fundamentally as any team here," said Lewis. "I think we can hit with them and pitch with them, but we have to do the little, fundamental things right, too. That's where they excel and that's one place we've been lacking."

Tentative starters and the order for Pecos include Rene Rayos at center field, Michael Morales at third base, Danny Gonzales at short stop, Jim Workman at pitcher with a 2-2 record, Rene Salinas at second base, Edwin Jacques at left field, Thurman Williams at right field, Herman Armendris at first base and Robbie Paz at catcher. The Eagles may use Luis Cerna as a designated hitter for Williams or Paz.

The teams come into tonight's game with similar records. Snyder is 6-5-1. Pecos is 6-5.

Cougs, Rams clash in 2nd round play of NIT competition

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) - A month or so ago, the University of Houston basketball team, but a shadow of its Phi Slamma Jamma greatness, had a 9-9 record. Colorado State, meanwhile, was a meager 13-11.

Something has happened since then to both teams, whether it be the maturing of younger players, the meshing of parts or a re-dedication toward loftier goals.

Both teams have been on a roll which has carried them into tonight's meeting in the second round of the National Invitation Tournament.

"We're 9-3 over the last 12 games, so we have had a pretty good little run toward the end," Houston coach Pat Foster said. "We're playing a lot better now than we did early. We haven't shot the ball well for a percentage, but we've still scored a lot of points."

"I don't know that much about CSU, but I do know they've had some important wins and have also had a good run at the end of the season."

The Rams, 19-12, have won six of their last seven games. The lone loss during that streak came on a last-second basket by Wyoming in the semifinals of the WAC Tournament.

CSU is a slight favorite in the game, mostly because it is at home.

The Rams drew a capacity crowd of 9,467 for their first-round, 63-54 victory over New Orleans last week and expect a similar attendance figure tonight.

"They've got a great homecourt crowd," Foster said. "It's a great atmosphere. I understand. We're looking forward to it. That's what college basketball is all about."

CSU's deliberate pace could cause problems for the Cougars, while Houston's potent scoring figures to give the Rams trouble.

Against New Orleans, the Rams employed a patient offense, taking at least a half dozen passes before finding the open man inside or settling for the outside jumper. Guard David Turcotte hit six 3-pointers in the game and finished with 24 points. Forward Pat Durham had 19 points and 12 rebounds.

"We play faster than they do," said Foster. "but it (the slow-down game) is not foreign to us. We can hold onto the ball and play that style."

CSU coach Boyd Grant says the game will be "a tough matchup for us because all of their players are scorers. Everyone on our team is going to have to play good defense. You won't be able to hide anyone on defense against Houston."

The Cougars, 18-12 after knocking off Fordham 69-61 in the first round of the NIT, are led by 6-foot-5 junior forward Richard Hollis, who is averaging 17.2 points and 6.4 rebounds per game. He also leads the team in 3-point baskets with 71.

Center Rolando Ferreira, a 7-1 native of Brazil, is averaging 14.9 points and 6.8 rebounds.

'Ghost hitting' gets O'Brien prepared for regular season

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) - On any given day this winter, Texas Rangers first baseman Pete O'Brien could be seen entering his garage with bat in hand, intent on exorcizing all his bad swings.

Green lights and eerie music didn't emanate from the window, nothing supernatural going on here.

It was just another session of what O'Brien called "ghost hitting" against the imaginary pitches of real pitchers he faces in the regular season.

Dave Righetti, Ted Higuera, Mark Langston, Mike Witt and John Candelaria provided the batting practice for O'Brien, who decided to spend his winter swinging in his garage instead of a batting cage.

"I'd visualize their breaking pitches, everything," O'Brien said. "I think it's been a big help to me this year. I think it not only maintains but increases bat speed."

O'Brien, who has averaged 22 home runs and 88 runs batted in over the past four seasons, shunned the batting cage for the first time this offseason.

"I'd rather be swinging at a (imaginary) 90 mile per hour fast ball than going down to the batting cage and hitting against a 65 mph batting practice pitcher," he said.

"I worked on things like swinging at the down and away fast ball and swinging at it right," O'Brien said.

"That was better than concentrating on hitting the baseball hard off a batting practice pitcher."

O'Brien has been an offensive leader with the Rangers for the past four seasons and last year was no exception.

He hit 23 home runs, tying his own club record for home runs in a season by a lefthander, hit 286 and drove in 88 runs.

But O'Brien is no longer happy with good seasons. He wants to move on up.

"I've plateaued a little and I'd like to put up a great year and make that the level that I can attain each year," O'Brien said. O'Brien's ghost hitting sessions centered on better concentration and making pitchers go deeper into the count.

"I've given away some at-bats in the past that maybe I didn't have to do if I would just concentrate better," he said. "You look

Tyson's IBF title stripped; he didn't wear it in Japan

by The Associated Press Heavyweight champion Mike Tyson has been stripped of his title by the International Boxing Federation, according to a published report.

Sy Roseman, public relations director for the IBF, said Tyson forfeited the title Monday when he entered the ring for his defense against Tony Tubbs without the IBF belt, the New York Times reported in its Tuesday editions.

Tyson, after wearing only his World Boxing Council and World Boxing Association belts into the ring, stopped challenger Tony Tubbs with six seconds left in the second round.

Tyson's manager, Bill Cayton, was told before the fight by IBF championship committee chairman Bill Brennan that the title would be vacated if the champion failed to wear the organization's belt into the ring, Roseman said.

Cayton said Tyson did not wear the belt and that no sanction fee was paid to the IBF because he did not want to embarrass the Japanese. The Japan Boxing Commission does not recognize the IBF.

Asked before the stripping what he would do if it occurred, Tyson said, "I'll win it back again."

Roseman said the IBF's leading contenders, Trevor Berbick and Carl Williams, would fight for the vacated title, the Times reported.

Tyson earned the first portion of his undisputed title from Berbick, then the WBC champion, with a second-round knockout on Nov. 22, 1986.

Officials study how to control spring breakers

PORT ARANSAS, Texas (AP) — Officials said they are unsure how to control it, but drinking among teen-agers, apparently was at an all-time high on the beach where a hit-and-run accident triggered a weekend riot involving students celebrating spring break.

Authorities reported Monday beach revelry was relatively tame. Teens — many of them high school students — were largely to blame for the Saturday violence, officials said.

The Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission has six agents roaming the beach issuing citations to teen-agers caught drinking, but their efforts barely make a dent in the overwhelming number of intoxicated students, many under the legal drinking age of 21.

TABC agents issued 350 citations last weekend, mostly to those underage or those who lacked identification.

A total of 700 citations were written last year. This year, the total already stands at 720 with two more spring break weekends left, the Houston Chronicle reported.

The citations are issued in most cases for public intoxication, said Ed Mosser, TABC's regional supervisor in Corpus Christi.

A fraction of those ticketed are arrested, he said, but most are allowed to remain on the beach provided they pour their beers on the sand.

A county commissioner whose district includes nearly 20 miles of public beaches in the Aransas Pass area said he favors putting more law enforcement officers on the beaches.

"We want the spring breakers to have a good time, but things should be worked out so that we have a better understanding of the problems," said Nueces County commissioner J.P. Luby.

"We had 35 units patrolling the area of Port Aransas and the Padre Island National Seashore. But at night, there are not as many to go around," Luby said.

"The Department of Public Safety had 18 officers out and that wasn't enough."

Authorities have considered placing a curfew on the spring break beach crowd, City Manager Gordon Beck said. But the idea is unpopular with local merchants, would be hard to enforce and may even be a violation of the Texas Open Beaches Act, Beck said.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO SECURE A CERTIFICATE OF CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY

Notice is hereby given that MIDWEST ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. (the "Utility") intends to secure a certificate of convenience and necessity to construct and operate an electrical transmission line and substation in Scurry County, Texas. The proposed transmission line is from a point just east of Snyder, Texas, near the intersection of Highway 1673 and County Road 137; thence east approximately 5 miles along the south side of Highway 1673 and County Road 134 to a point near the intersection of County Road 134 and County Road 173; thence crossing near the intersection to the site where a new substation will be constructed at the northeast corner of County Road 134 and County Road 173. The estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $475,000. The utility has filed an application for a certificate of convenience and necessity for the proposed line and substation with the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene in the proceeding or comment upon action sought, should contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas, at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or call the Public Utility Commission Affairs Division at (512) 459-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf within 15 days of this notice.

Senate overrides Reagan's veto, 73-24

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 73-24 today to override President Reagan's veto of a civil rights bill designed to reverse a Supreme Court decision that narrowed the scope of laws to prevent federally funded discrimination against women, minorities, the elderly and the handicapped.

The Civil Rights Restoration Act went directly to the House, where leaders also said they had the votes to override the veto in that chamber.

The Senate vote was more than the two-thirds majority needed to override a presidential veto. The bill initially passed 75-14.

The House and Senate votes capped a four-year struggle to overturn the 1984 Supreme Court decision.

The Senate vote came after several senators, including acting Republican Leader Alan Simpson of Wyoming, condemned what they called a misinformation campaign launched by conservative opponents of the bill.

Some opponents have claimed the bill would require churches to hire active homosexual drug addicts with AIDS to counsel children. Proponents of the bill say it offers no protection for homosexuals or drug or alcohol addicts.

Even as the Senate prepared to vote, President Reagan urged Congress to sustain his veto.

"I ask every senator and representative to rise above the pressures of an election year, to make a stand for religious liberty by sustaining my veto of this dangerous bill," Reagan said in a speech to local Republican officials from around the country.

"The truth is, this legislation isn't a civil rights bill," the president said. "It's a power grab by Washington, designed to take control away from states, localities, communities, parents and the private sector and give it to federal bureaucrats and judges."

"One dollar in federal aid — direct or indirect — would bring entire organizations under federal control, from charitable social organizations to churches and synagogues."

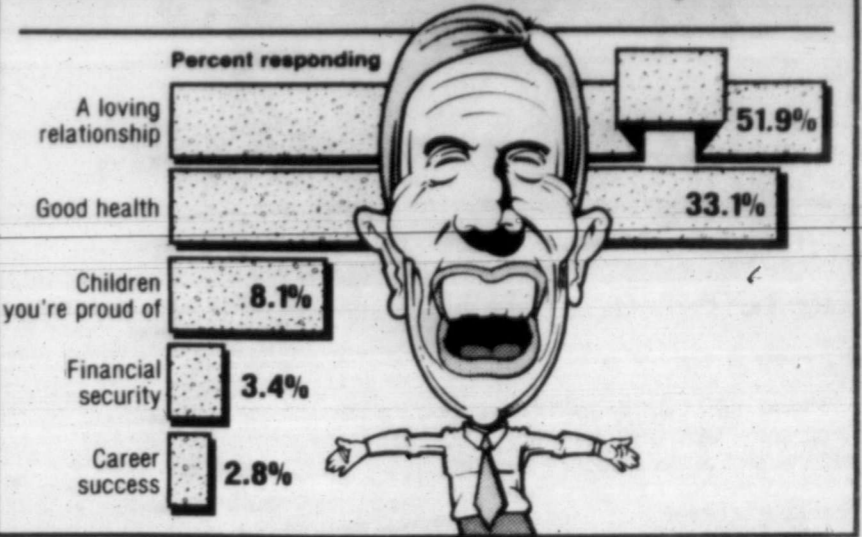

we began getting hundreds of calls (that) all said the same thing."

"I think a lot of misinformation has been spread," Byrd added. "There's a great deal of misinformation, distortion of truth and fact."

The Civil Rights Restoration Act passed both chambers earlier this year by lopsided margins far greater than the two-thirds majority needed to override a presidential veto. Supporters and opponents said there was little chance the veto would be sustained.

"One dollar in federal aid — direct or indirect — would bring entire organizations under federal control, from charitable social organizations to churches and synagogues."

BEING HAPPY: What's most important

Source: Nationwide survey conducted for Family Circle

Although Americans are often considered to be obsessed with money and success, 85 percent consider love or health as the most important factor in personal happiness. Only about 6 percent of those surveyed cited financial security or a successful career.

Passenger in wreck suffers broken leg

A woman passenger suffered a fractured leg and other injuries in a two-vehicle collision at 5:14 p.m. Monday at U.S. 84 and College Ave.

Linda Cox of 2100 Huffman Ave. was listed in fair condition Tuesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital, also suffering neck pains, bruises and contusions, a hospital spokesman said.

She was a passenger in a 1981 Ford Club Wagon driven by Willie Earnest Cox, who was treated and released along with Curtis Cox, also a passenger.

The Cox vehicle had to be towed from the scene after colliding with a 1985 Ford pickup driven by Robert Lee Anderson of 3906 Muriel Dr., police said.

In other wrecks reported Monday, a 1983 Chevrolet Suburban driven by Linda Schattel Schwarz of Rt. 2, Box 230-A, was in collision with a 1986 Pontiac Parisienne driven by Christy Lynn Brown of Rt. 1, Box 72, at 12:53 p.m. Monday at College Ave. and 30th St., after which the Pontiac had to be towed from the scene, police said.

There were no injuries, however.

A 1977 Plymouth four-door driven by Jessie Lena Roberts of 1100 26th St. was in collision with a 1987 Chevrolet four-door driven by Ronald Thurman Anderson of 3789 Avondale at 6:20 p.m. Monday in the 100 Block of the E. Hwy.

The court ruled that an organization or governmental body getting federal support must comply with anti-discrimination rules only for the program receiving the federal aid, not for the entire organization. The bill would cut off aid for the whole organization if discrimination against minorities, women, the elderly or the disabled was practiced by any part of the organization.

"Obviously there's a very organized and promoted campaign" against the bill, said Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd said. "Apparently the White House let the word out, as

"as is" to Landmark. In reply, Mayor Troy Williamson said the development of the new contract began with Mathis' proposal that a section on rate regulation be deleted from the existing franchise.

Following a presentation by Austin cable TV consultant Jack Hopper on the 33-page proposed contract he wrote for the city, Mathis said the "whole situation, as far as we're concerned, has gone downhill from the word 'go.'"

Mathis said Landmark, although "we're not a low-budget company," does not have the accounting or engineering capability to meet all of Hopper's proposed conditions, which would entail certification of broadcast standards, frequent financial reports and other new standards.

Williamson said the council had not had a proposed document to work with until Hopper's presentation Monday night and that the document "is a skeleton, but a fat skeleton, I'll admit."

The mayor said the council wants to meet with Landmark next Monday night to go over the franchise point by point and, hopefully, come away with an agreement that night so that the transaction may be completed.

He said there was no need for a franchise that was updated to account for the rapid changes in the cable TV industry as long as SCAT continued to offer the service here because the operators were well-known local citizens who were always responsive to the customers.

But, he said, the council now feels a need to bring itself and the franchise contract up to date, although he said he has no doubt that Landmark "is a good company."

Councilman Paul Zeck said the council knew little about the cable television industry before the transaction was proposed and felt obliged to educate itself before transferring the franchise.

this search. Testimony from Griffin Tuesday morning indicated Davis held a gun on him while Griffin was in the trio's custody the night of Oct. 27.

Griffin said from the stand Davis offered such remarks as "do you know what it feels like to bleed to death?" while holding the gun pointed at him.

It was such remarks which prompted District Attorney Ernie Armstrong to tell jurors that Griffin was "terrorized" by Davis.

Testimony in a previous trial of another suspect in the case indicated Griffin was set free after relatives of his paid the three men some $54.

The trial of Davis, who has been held in Scurry County Jail since last November, began Monday with the selection of jurors. Testimony began shortly before 10 a.m. Tuesday and was continuing at noon.

Defense attorney in the case is Pete Greene. Judge Gene Dulaney is hearing it.

Legislators propose desalination project

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Thousands of West Texans, plagued for two decades by bad-tasting water containing abnormally high levels of salt, may have some relief on tap with help from legislators in Washington.

Legislation that would pave the way for a desalting project for Lake Meredith was scheduled to be introduced in Congress today, officials said.

The bill, which was introduced last month in the U.S. Senate by Lloyd Bentsen, was to be introduced by Rep. Beau Boulter, R-Amarillo, said aide Tom Williams.

Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock, is co-sponsoring the legislation, which seeks to eliminate the main source of salt pollution in Lake Meredith.

The manmade lake on the Canadian River about 35 miles northeast of Amarillo has contained high salt levels since it began supplying water to 11 cities and 430,000 people in the Panhandle and South Plains in 1968.

She died Monday at a nursing home in Altus, Okla. She was born on Aug. 9, 1894 in Coleman County, Tex.

She was married to William Clifford Birdwell in 1923 in Lubbock. He died on Dec. 12, 1954.

She is survived by a daughter, Bernice Parker of Snyder; two sons, John of Mangum and E. A. of Silvertown; eight grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; one sister, Alma Lee Scranon of Longview, Wash.; three brothers, Malcom and Tom Cooper of Abilene and Melville Cooper of Albuquerque, N. M.

Ermal Henderson

Services for Ermal H. Henderson, 78, of Snyder are set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel with the Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will follow at Hillside Memorial Gardens.

He died at approximately 5:45 a.m. Monday at Snyder Care Center. He was born on Nov. 8, 1909 in Coryell County.

He was a heavy equipment operator and a Baptist.

He married Bernice Sharp Dec. 22, 1928 in Sparda, Tex. She survives.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Frances Daleo of Beaumont; four sons, A. J. of Snyder, Hardy of Wink, C. B. of Midland and E. H. of Green Forest, Ark.; three sisters, Ruby Schermer of Bay City, Ester Sharp of Killeen and Wilma Haire of Belton; 16 grandchildren; and 20 great-grandchildren.

Mattie Nixon

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. — Services for Mrs. John (Mattie) Nixon, 76, of Grass Valley, Calif., former Scurry County resident, are pending.

She lived in Scurry County for about 20 years and was the sister-in-law of Mavis Overman and Helen Nixon, both of Snyder.

She is survived by her husband, John Nixon; one daughter, one son, five grandchildren, one great-grandchild, six sisters and two brothers.

Tissue should be removed

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 23 weeks pregnant. I have "moderate dysplasia arising in flat condyloma." Should I wait to have laser surgery until after the baby is born?

DEAR READER: Dysplasia means abnormal cells that appear, in your case, to be arising from warts in your reproductive tract. Your obstetrician is the best judge of whether you should have the tissue removed now or later. However, sooner or later, you should have it removed. The timing of the procedure is a highly individualized matter.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband sustained a blow to the inside of his knee. It is hard, swollen, about the size of a baseball and painful. He's had fluid removed five times in the last four months. The surgeon can give us no idea of how long this will continue. Will he ever improve?

DEAR READER: From the information you supply, I suspect that your husband has developed an annoying medical condition called traumatic bursitis. The blow to his knee irritated the joint covering, causing fluid build-up, commonly known as "water on the knee." This excess fluid results in a swollen knee that can be uncomfortable.

Often, the fluid can be removed with a needle and syringe; however, the improvement is sometimes only temporary, as the fluid may reaccumulate. Several "joint taps" may be necessary until the knee returns to normal.

Obviously, your husband could be suffering from other causes of joint swelling, such as ligament or tendon injury from the blow he received. I suggest that you ask for a referral to an orthopedic surgeon, who will be able to more precisely define your husband's problem.

In case surgery is the answer, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, AN INFORMED APPROACH TO SURGERY, which covers everything from second opinions to outpatient surgery. Other readers who want a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I want to get sand for a child's sandbox. I read your article on resin-treated sand. How can I make sure that the sand I get is safe?

DEAR READER: Your municipal health department should be able to direct you to a supply of sand that is free of asbestos and resins.

Joe Chagra free on parole

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Former El Paso lawyer Joe Chagra, free after spending more than six years in a federal prison for his part in the only murder of a federal judge in this century, says he's not sure what he's going to do, but he's not going to do anything to jeopardize his freedom.

"I can't really tell you how good I feel," Chagra said Monday. "It's probably the most exciting experience that I've ever had, other than being there when my children were born."

Freedom after prison confinement is so profound, Chagra said, that he "won't do anything to endanger it."

Chagra, 41, was released on parole Friday from a federal prison in Safford, Ariz., after serving almost 6½ years for conspiracy in the slaying of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. of San Antonio.

Wood, known as "Maximum John" for the stiff sentences he gave drug dealers, was shot to death in San Antonio in 1979.

Charles Harrelson, accused of being the triggerman in the Wood slaying, was convicted of the murder and sentenced to life in prison. Chagra pleaded guilty to conspiracy and testified against Harrelson.

Jimmy Chagra, Joe Chagra's older brother and another major defendant in the case, was charged with conspiracy, accused of hiring Harrelson to kill Wood.

Joe Chagra pleaded guilty to a conspiracy involving his brother, but a federal court jury found Jimmy Chagra not guilty of the conspiracy charge.

Jimmy Chagra now is serving a sentence of 30 years without parole on a 1979 conviction for drug dealing. He also drew a life sentence after pleading guilty four years ago to conspiracy in the 1978 attempted assassination of James Kerr, who was then assistant U.S. attorney for West Texas.

Joe Chagra doesn't plan to talk or even think much about that decade when he succumbed to the influences of his brothers.

Lee Chagra, his oldest brother, gained fame by successfully defending alleged drug dealers until he was gunned down in his law office in December 1978.

Both of the older Chagra brothers lived flamboyant lifestyles, characterized by splashes of fast money, drugs and unrestrained gambling. Jimmy Chagra once paid off a Las Vegas casino debt of more than $900,000 in cash, and he also lost a $580,000 golf match.

In an interview three years ago, Joe Chagra said that after Lee's death he found himself consumed by Jimmy's legal problems and indulging in cocaine use. He said cocaine numbed him when he needed to be thinking clearly to cope with an avalanche of legal complications.

"Now we know what a seductive drug cocaine is," said Joe Chagra, who describes himself as a convert to health foods and exercise.

"I'm sorry that it happened," he told the El Paso Times Monday, referring to his drug use. "It did. I can't change it," Chagra said.

He described being free of drugs and prison as "just wonderful, something that you have to experience" to understand, he said.

"For all the sadness and the pain that you go through, walking out of that gate has to be the all-time high in life," he said.

"I don't anticipate any more problems in my life," he said.

Mexican president nixes intervention

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Miguel de la Madrid on Monday condemned U.S. "interventionism" in Central America and said Mexico's interests are linked to those of the troubled region.

He said the "Panamanian people are being subject to grave violations of international law."

The Reagan administration has applied economic sanctions against Panama as part of its support for an opposition campaign to force the ouster of military ruler Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

"Mexico rejects the use of violence and interventionism in the internal political life of states," De la Madrid said at ceremony inaugurating a national youth crusade.

He said the "Panamanian people are being subject to grave violations of international law."

The Reagan administration has applied economic sanctions against Panama as part of its support for an opposition campaign to force the ouster of military ruler Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

Nuclear power plant granted license

BAY CITY, Texas (AP) — A license has been granted to the South Texas Nuclear Project to start producing electricity despite allegations from several groups that the plant is not safe.

Nuclear Regulatory Commission Chairman Lando Zech said Monday it is not unusual to license a plant with outstanding allegations of wrongdoing as long as they do not involve safety.

The commission on Monday approved the full-power operating license on a 5-0 vote in Washington, D.C.

The vote was taken after a staff briefing on an investigation of some 700 allegations of intimidation, other wrongdoing or shoddy construction brought to the commission's attention by the Government Accountability Project. The Washington-based organization tries to encourage and protect "whistleblowers," people who disclose wrongdoing.

"It is the staff's judgment that South Texas can be operated without undue risk to the health and safety of the public," Jose Calvo, director of a special team that investigated the allegations, told the commission.

Calvo said of the 240 allegations of wrongdoing referred to the commission's office of investigations, 95 "involve the same areas we have covered" and 145 "have no safety content."

Commissioner Frederick Bernthal said the agency spent about 3,000 to 3,300 staff hours and $250,000 investigating the facility.

The first of two 1,250-megawatt units of the $5.5 billion plant near Bay City, about 90 miles southwest of Houston, has been operating under a license granted last August for testing at low power, not to exceed 5 percent. The second unit is more than 80 percent complete.

The plant operated for the first time March 8, but did not produce electricity.

The total cost to the plant's four owners will be about 500 percent above initial estimates.

The project manager, Houston Lighting & Power Co., has about a 48 percent share, Central Power and Light Co. of Corpus Christi has slightly more than 25 percent, the city of Austin has about 16 percent and the city of San Antonio has about 10 percent.

Austin at one point sued HL&P, charging mismanagement, but those two have reached an agreement under which HL&P would take over Austin's ownership.

The agreement has been approved by the Austin City Council and HL&P board of directors, although it is still subject to approval by regulatory bodies.

Two groups opposed to the plant engaged in last-minute efforts to block the license and got nowhere.

Time for color

That splash of blue fills just 1% of this page. But it dominates your eye and your attention. Color can do that. Adding one color to a black-and-white newspaper ad can also increase sales by 64%.* Give you any bright ideas?
